Nation's Economy Weaker Than Expected In 1st Quarter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's economy was weaker in the first three months this year than earlier estimated, growing at a mere 0.6 percent annual pace, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department's measure of the nation's inflation-adjusted output earlier had been reported as growth of 1.1 percent, on an annual basis.

The figure indicates that the economy is heading into recession from a weaker base than had been anticipated, suggesting that forecasts of a relatively deep downturn may be correct.

The first-quarter growth figure was down from the 2 percent growth in the final three months of 1979 and was the poorest showing since the nation's output fell in the second quarter last year, when truckers struck and gasoline was in short supply.

An annual rate figure indicates what would occur over the course of a year if economic conditions for a single quarter continued for three more quarters.

In another report, the Commerce Department said after-tax profits of the nation's corporations rose 5.9 percent from the final quarter of 1979 to an annual $155.5 billion in the first quarter of 1980.

After adjustment for inflation, however, after-tax profits were down 12.7 percent to an annual $70.1 billion. It was the third consecutive quarterly decline in adjusted profits.

President Carter has said he expects the recession, which many economists believe began in March or April, to be "mild and short."

But others — including the corporate financial advisers to the Business Council and several of the nation's leading private forecasting companies — believe the downturn will be the worst since World War II, with the exception of the 1974-75 recession.

The "real" gross national product — the inflation-adjusted value of all the nation's goods and services — was revised downward for the first quarter because consumer spending, inventory investment, residential purchases and government purchases were not as strong as preliminary data had indicated, the Commerce report said.

Upward revisions were included for net exports and business investment, the report added.

Before adjustment for inflation, the nation's output for the first quarter of 1980 was just over an annual $2.5 trillion, up a modest 24 percent from the performance in the final quarter of 1979.

After inflation was taken into account, output totaled an annual $1.442 billion in the first quarter, compared with $1.440 billion in the fourth quarter.

Inflation, as measured by the implicit price deflator, was an annual 8.9 percent in the first three months this year, up from 8.1 percent in the final quarter last year, the report showed.

The economy had grown at an annual rate of 1.1 percent in the first quarter of 1979, then fell at an annual 2.3 percent in the second quarter. It began growing again, posting gains of 3.1 percent and 2 percent annual rates of growth in the final quarters of the year.

The corporate profits picture was somewhat gloomy. Book profits before tax were valued at an annual $257.1 billion in the first three months this year, up 5.8 percent from the fourth quarter of 1979. Before-tax profits had grown 0.3 percent from the third quarter to the fourth quarter last year. After taxes, book profits were valued at an annual $155.5 billion, up 5.9 percent from the previous quarter. After-tax profits had fallen 0.9 percent from the third to fourth quarter last year.

When adjusted for inflationary effects on inventory and capital, however, after-tax profits showed their third consecutive quarterly decline.

Truck Route Proposed

Possibilities of providing traffic a route that would enable truck traffic to by-pass the downtown Snyder area were discussed Monday afternoon at a meeting attended by officials of the city, county and Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Attention in studies now are focused on a possible route around the southwest edge of the city. Existing roads, with some minor changes, are capable of handling the truck traffic from Highway 350 (the Big Spring Highway) to the east and around to U.S. 84 on the north.

Discussed in Monday's session was the possibility of a truck route using FM 1611 from its intersection with U.S. 84 north of town on the southerly route to a point southwest of Winston Field. At that point, it would be necessary to connect with Highway 350 at its intersection with the new road that connects Highway 350 and Highway 208 (the Colorado City Highway) via Western Texas College.

The latter segment was listed in a recommendation following a traffic survey conducted here in 1978 by Turner, Collie and Braden, Inc.

Highway department officials indicated that the existing roads around the city to the east could be designated as a truck route if the county adopts a resolution requesting it. A proposal for such a resolution probably will be submitted to the commissioners court soon, it was indicated.

Also, the highway department will be asked to study the possibility of the route around the southwestern edge of town for further consideration. A local delegation including County Judge Preston Wilson, Mayor Milton Ham, City Councilmen Jerry Webb, David Holt and Don Gressett, City Manager John Gayle, City Engineer Mike Smith and Police Chief Bill Stone met with a highway department group headed by Roger Welsch, district engineer from Abilene.

No Hope For Truman

TOUTLE, Wash. (AP)—Harry R. Truman refused to budge for man or mountain. And his sister and a friend say the gruff, stubborn 84-year-old patriarch of Mount St. Helens probably is entombed in the lodge he refused to leave.

State Department of Emergency Services personnel listed Truman as missing following the explosion of the volcano Sunday.

"It all happened too fast. There was no chance, no chance at all" that Truman scrambled from his lodge to safety in a secret mine shaft he talked about, said Geraldine Whiting, his sister.

Ms. Whiting said Monday she tried to persuade Harry to seek safe quarters miles from the volcano. But he was determined to "spit in the mountain's eye" rather than relocate, as Truman once said.

Asks Consideration

AUSTIN (AP)—The House redistricting committee says it expects some of the legislative or congressional districts drawn by the 1981 Legislature will fail to gain U.S. Justice Department approval. The committee asked the department in a letter Monday not to reject entire legislative and congressional redistricting bills just because a few districts are unsatisfactory.

"In all probability you will have objections to... a few of the 207 districts that will be submitted," the committee said.

Redistricting bills cannot take effect until the Justice Department cleans them under the Federal Voting Rights Act.

173 Persons Die In Jamaica Fire

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Fire swept through a government-run poorhouse in Kingston early today and 173 people — many of them old, some invalids and some children — were believed to have perished.

Prime Minister Michael Manley said "first reports from the security forces indicate strongly that this may have been the work of arsonists."

It was Jamaica's deadliest fire ever.

Only 30 of the 203 people who lived at the home were accounted for more than four hours after the blaze was put under control, and five of them were admitted to Kingston Hospital's emergency ward suffering burns and shock.

Most of the people in the home, run by the Kingston and St. Andrew Corporation, were aged and several were believed to have been invalids. The home also housed a number of children considered poor because they are unable to look after themselves.

The Kingston and St. Andrew Corporation is equivalent to a city council.

Firemen said they responded within minutes after receiving the first call at 12:40 a.m., but that when they arrived at the scene enormous flames were already leaping from the Eventide Home.

They said much of the one-story, wood and concrete structure collapsed as they arrived.

PREPARING EXHIBIT—Karen Sears Snyder has prepared a facsimile of the booth she will have at the Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair in Kerrville this weekend. She is, among some 200 carefully-selected artists who have been selected for the event. She does basket-weaving, hand-painted eggs, print-making, drawing and painting, which she teaches in her studio on the west side of the square. The big Kerrville show is set for Saturday, Sunday and Monday. (SDN Staff Photo)

Hot Mud Clogs River By Convulsing Volcano

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—Torrents of hot mud clogged a river below the convulsing Mount St. Helens volcano today, threatening to flood several tiny towns, while an awesome cloud of billowing volcanic ash spread as far east as western Kentucky and Tennessee.

Bob Christiansen of the U.S. Geological Survey said a fresh flow of mud, pumice and ash cascaded into the valley of the North Fork of the Toutle River on Monday, forming a 200-foot-high barrier at the outlet of Spirit Lake. The mud and debris would not be able to hold back rising waters, he said.

The National Weather Service said the volcanic cloud, which closed more roads than any blizzard in the Midwest, was expected to reach northern Virginia by early tonight. However, the weather service said the cloud, wafting at between 25,000 to 41,000 feet, might not be visible in the eastern states because of weather conditions.

The cloud dropped gritty fine powder, about the consistency of loose graphite, up to seven inches deep on some communities in the Northwest.

At least six persons were known dead following the eruption of the mountain Sunday in an explosion that ripped off the top 1,300 feet of the peak, forth steaming mudflows and blasting thousands of acres of pristine forest with fine, glassy particles. Meanwhile, the daily routine of much of eastern Washington ground to a standstill as businesses and schools closed, hospitals reported numerous respiratory complaints and fine ash particles disabled hundreds of automobiles.

Hundreds of miles of state highways were closed as clouds of ash threatened visibility. The State Patrol said the closures exceeded those in the worst winters in Washington history.

The Columbia River between Oregon and Washington was closed to ship traffic as a 25-foot underwater bar of mud reduced the river's depth near Longview and boat captains waited for a 20-mile logjam of debris to pass down the river.

On Monday, Mount St. Helens continued to spew forth ash and steam in a pyrotechnic display scientists said could last for years.

The mountain sent billows of ash and steam 15,000 feet into the air Monday and black clouds of ash drifted east. A meteorologist in Boise, Idaho, said the fallout could reach New England.

The Red Cross estimated 3,000 people were evacuated from the lowlands surrounding the southwest Washington volcano, which began puffing March 27 after a silence of more than 120 years.

Portions of Castle Rock and the tiny communities of Lexington and Silver Lake were evacuated late Monday as waters rose up the fragile debris dam on Spirit Lake. The cities of Kelso and Longview, some 35 miles to the west, were put on alert.

Rescue personnel said helicopters would head back into the area today to continue the search for 29 persons listed as missing — including 84-year-old Harry Truman, who had refused to leave his mountain resort. The lodge was buried under 30 feet of muck.

Meanwhile, a wall of mud flushed down the Toutle River, taking with it a $100,000 home built by Jim and Nancy Althor. An old teakettle was the only thing left behind.

"I've lost everything," said Mrs. Althor, who watched the devastation from high ground. "Cars and trucks went floating by like toys. Then it was like the house was crushed. It took maybe five minutes."

P&Z Meet To Resume

The city's planning and zoning commission is scheduled to resume a session tonight that recessed two weeks ago during which a preliminary plat for a K mart store was being discussed.

The meeting was recessed to acquire additional information on several items included in the K mart plans for a store building near the 37th St. and College Ave. intersection. The session will be resumed at 7:30 p.m.

Chamber Board Meets Tonight

Snyder Director of Commerce Directors will meet at 7 p.m. tonight in the chamber conference room.

A report on retail merchants' committee activities and plans for the annual July 4 celebration are on the agenda.

Also to be discussed are industrial prospects and a membership breakfast.

Mt. St. Helens must be giving environmentalists nightmares. There probably has never been more particulate matter suspended over a bigger area of this country than during the past few days following the eruption of the volcano in Washington.

It makes man-induced pollution of the air seem rather insignificant. Yet, we can't forget that volcanic action has played an important role in providing some of the most fertile land in the world. Some of the Pacific islands owe their very existence to this phenomenon of nature, including the State of Hawaii. Moreover, such things as volcanic action and thunderstorms are very difficult for Madalyn Murray O'Hair and her followers to explain.

Speaking of man and his influence on the environment, the Department of Highways and Public Transportation reminds that litter tossed out of moving vehicles along our highways is a costly and unsightly problem.

Although it takes only a second to throw something out the window of a car, you may well be contributing to long-time problems. For example, a banana peel decomposes in a week to six months, a milk carton can last up to five years, a styrofoam cup will be around for 10 to 20 years. A plastic bottle will decompose in 50 to 80 years and a beer can or soft drink can could still be around after 80 to 100 years.

our biggest museum

A trip to Washington, D.C., without a tour through Smithsonian Institution would be unthinkable. The museums cover a lot of things, from First Lady gowns to locomotives, from the Hope Diamond to food fed the astronauts.

What people may not realize, however, is that if a visitor viewed every single exhibit in the 12 museums and the National Zoo, he or she would have seen less than three per cent of the Smithsonian's national collections.

The remainder - some 76 million artifacts and specimens - are not on public display. They are carefully preserved in extensive study collections, protected in storage cases, conserved in special laboratories or loaned to other museums.

Not many know, perhaps, that the Act of Congress establishing the Smithsonian in 1846 didn't even call for public exhibitions. Instead, it required the new government entity to accept the nation's collections, then to arrange and classify them so as to 'best facilitate the examination and study.'

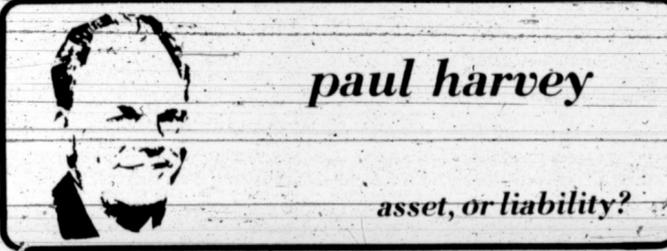

Some of the artifacts at Smithsonian are so rare they are neither placed on exhibit within the Smithsonian nor loaned to another museum. A curator reminds us we have a responsibility to future generations of researchers and museum visitors. If the last few specimens of an extinct population are damaged by light in an exhibit hall, it would be impossible to replace them.

Vehicles like the 1905 Mercedes and the Cunningham of the 1920s, now in the museums, simply cannot be replaced. Because only a small portion of the cars can be displayed at one time, the division tries to rotate them so that new acquisitions can be seen by visitors.

The B-29 cannot be viewed by tourists due to limited exhibit space, although the National Air and Space Museum has one in its possession. That would be the Enola Gay, which dropped the first atomic bomb on Japan. Its 140-foot wingspan is 20 feet longer than the museum can accommodate. (The Enola Gay is kept at a storage facility in suburban Maryland).

Other Smithsonian treasures are kept from public view because they are needed for important research. One exhibit in the Smithsonian built not for exhibition but research is the coleoptera, a display of the 7 million beetles that represents the 137 known families of this insect. The institution has 46,000 clutches of eggs, 10,000 birds, nests, 30,000 parasitic wasps and 500,000 mammals not shown to the public.

There is much to be seen in Washington (some say the living fossils are more interesting than the dead ones). At Smithsonian, chances are you could devote the rest of your life to visiting Smithsonian's 'Attic' and never see it at all.

It's easy to understand the Cuban exodus from the Cuban point of view. Castro can move his unemployment problem to the United States.

And for the refugees, reunion of fragmented families has to be a happy experience. But what about the influx of these thousands from the American points of view?

At the height of the sealift from Cuba, anything that would float was being pushed out to sea from Florida ports - from 20-foot fun boats to 50-foot shrimpers, and not all of them sea-worthy.

Captains for hire to make the 90-mile trip demanded $1,000 per refugee - and got it. During one day some $2,000 boats dotted the waters between Key West and Cuba; some didn't make it.

Our Coast Guard, helpless to prevent the traffic, did its best to respond to the hundreds of distress calls.

The whole thing is illegal. The State Department repeatedly reminds those involved that they face deportation, fines and prison.

But nobody - but nobody - believes that President Carter will punish anybody when to do so would contradict his frequently proclaimed 'human rights' obligation.

In our national climate of anything for the underdog, it may sound almost sacrilegious to question the wisdom of our open-arms policy.

But Americans are presently overtaxed for the support of 13 million non-workers and surely there are at least some "tax-payer rights" to be considered.

And further, as the recession worsens, the first victims of the most resentment will be the last ones ashore.

In previous recessions, we've witnessed a scapegoat backlash against minorities. Everybody has to blame somebody.

At this time that "somebody" - almost certainly will be the uninvited outsiders.

The immigration tradition which once enriched our nation threatens now to impoverish it.

Whereas heretofore we have limited the influx to the numbers we could absorb and employ, in recent years politicians have been so intimidated by ethnicity that they have dared not turn away anybody.

Rich as our nation was, the lifeboat analogy did not apply. It does not.

And the pronouncement by our authorities that they are helpless to prevent this potentially devastating illegal invasion in military parlance amounts to surrender.

(c) 1980, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

WASHINGTON (NEA) - When Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., embarked on his quest for the presidency, he offered the hope of a spiritually uplifting and intellectually stimulating campaign "in the best tradition of our republic."

With a few notable exceptions, however, Kennedy has failed to deliver on that promise. He has instead pursued a course that places excessive emphasis on pandering to local economic interests and engaging in petty bickering about President Carter's campaign tactics.

Both the nation and the Democratic Party have suffered as a result of Kennedy's unfortunate choice of strategy, because he is uniquely endowed with the ideological commitment, political instinct and rhetorical ability necessary to effectively challenge an incumbent who lacks any form of broad, coherent vision of where he wants to lead the country.

For the best of Kennedy, it's necessary to go back more than a year, to a widely acclaimed speech he delivered in the spring of 1979 at the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. It began a series of thoughtful and provocative questions:

"What goals shall we set for the nation in the next 10 years? What trails shall we try to blaze? Whose compass shall we use to find directions? How shall we - and how shall our children and our grandchildren - remember the decade of the '80s?"

"Will it be a rising sun or a setting sun, a forward step in the journey toward fulfillment of the American dream, or a backward step in the nostalgic search for a simpler past that can never be recaptured?"

"Will it be a time of new action and inspiration, as when Americans moved from the decade of the '50s to the '60s? Or will it be a time of continuing reaction, of drift among the surging tides of events beyond our ability to control?"

Kennedy didn't have solutions to all of the world's problems, but he concluded that address "to reclaim the opportunity that slipped away, to stake out the higher ground again."

Similar soaring rhetoric has surfaced occasionally during the senator's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination. Two notable examples are speeches he delivered at Georgetown University and the University of Northern Iowa in Cedar Falls, Iowa.

But the hallmark of the Kennedy campaign has become a simplistic, lowest-common-denominator approach to whatever parochial issues are believed to hold the greatest potential for stirring voter passions in the state holding the next election.

In Iowa, it was the economic dislocation Carter presumably caused the state's farmers by embargoing grain sales to the Soviet Union.

In Michigan, it was Carter's allegedly flawed economic policies that led to slumping sales of domestically built cars and soaring unemployment in the auto industry.

In Western Pennsylvania, it was the president's purported mismanagement of import controls that produced massive layoffs in the steel industry.

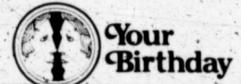

Never even mentioned in a Kennedy speech were the auto industry's failure to foresee rising buyer demand for small, fuel-efficient cars or the steel industry's refusal to modernize its antiquated plants.

While the senator was on the road blaming Carter for everything except he weather, his political operatives back in Washington were feigning indignation when they discovered that the man the president picked as chairman of the White House-controlled Democratic National Committee wasn't truly neutral in the Kennedy-Carter race.

In a publicity stunt that did little more than insult the intelligence of knowledgeable voters, the Kennedy staff demanded the chairman's resignation and was summarily rebuffed.

The politics-as-usual approach chosen by the senator for his current campaign seldom evokes criticism when adopted by countless other candidates. But it's disappointing to those who expected something better from the heir to one of the nation's great political legacies.

To The Daily News: On behalf of the Scurry County Senior Citizens' Center we would like to express our sincere appreciation to those individuals who helped make our recent "May Day Fair" in Towle Park a tremendous success. The center benefited $9,217.00.

The Senior Center operates on a budget of $80,000 plus annually. Of this $80,000 approximately $45,000 must come from local sources. Profits made from May Day will certainly help the center meet operational expenses.

A great big thank you to the many senior citizens who so willingly worked hard to make the day a success by their efforts; whether it be baked goods, working in booths, assisting in the BBQ dinner or helping to set up equipment.

Our hats are off to the community who supported our day by buying BBQ tickets, baked items, arts and crafts and supported all the many booths that were operating.

An extra-special note of appreciation to those who bid, bought and supported our quilt auction. The auction alone brought $6,970. Without those individuals who sincerely care for the Senior Center, our auction would not have experienced the success it achieved. A thank you to Mr. Grady Morris and family of Colorado City who so graciously donated their time, ability and efforts as auctioneer. Most certainly a word of appreciation to those who donated items for the auction and above all a thank you to the loving hands of our senior citizens, who made the beautiful quilts and afghans.

In closing, a prayer of thanks to everyone who supported our May Day. Because YOU care the Senior Center will continue to offer many services to the Aging in Scurry County.

To The Daily News: After the primaries, someone wrote to the questions and answers wanting to know why Scurry County had only one voting place for the Republicans. It was stated that there were not 200 people to cast ballots.

I am not a real party-minded person. I am glad we have two parties, but the man or woman interests me more. The reason there aren't more votes in the Republican ballots is because of the distance and having to vote in two places. We live 28 miles from Snyder and if we drive that far to vote, then we have to drive to get home. It is 20 miles round trip where we do go to vote. Tell me why the candidates names can't be put on the same ballot for both parties. Several times we have not voted at all because of a division in choice that isn't on the ballot. john cunniff beating inflation

NEW YORK (AP) - It cost an average of $20,517 for an urban family of four to live in moderate comfort last year, a rise of $1,895 in just a year, but a lot of Americans apparently feel they still beat inflation.

That conclusion would seem to contradict the findings of a good many surveys* to say nothing about the political oratory on the subject, but it comes from a usually reliable source, The Survey Research Center.

The center, at the University of Michigan, is the site of much research on consumer subjects, and its analyses of consumer confidence are at least glimpsed by most serious forecasters of economic events.

Last summer the center's staff questioned people on their reactions to inflation, and it found that "the majority ... reported that their families had managed to stay even or had gotten ahead of inflation."

There were frequent and often bitter complaints about inflation, the researchers found, but if you believe the respondents, they were adept enough to keep pace or even outwit their prime economic enemy.

How did they do it? Mainly, the respondents said, by changing their shopping habits, primarily through reducing their purchases of items with large price increases. That was a clear majority decision.

The survey didn't go into some of the other ways, such as adding to assets, but it seems likely that many people felt the value of their homes kept pace with prices in general, and others, it seems, added to household income by means of a second job.

But some, apparently, felt they outwitted their number one economic enemy by foregoing savings and lining up at the credit window. The percentages were small but significant, especially when broken down.

Especially when broken down in terms of education and income. Just 16 percent of those with incomes of $10,000 to $15,000 thought it was a poor idea to save. They defied history's lesson that savings erode during inflation, while the borrower repays in cheaper dollars.

For each higher income category the percentages rose, to 23 for those earning $15,000 to $20,000, 27 percent for those in the $20,000 to $25,000 category, and 36 percent for those who earned $25,000 or more.

Tips For Spring Beauty

Spring boost
Adding just one new item to your wardrobe can give it a spring 1980 look. Try a bright striped or multi-pattered cotton sweater, cropped at the waist. A classic blazer goes over frilly dresses as well as tailored pants. The new, modified baggy pants are pleated at the hips, slightly tapered at the ankles. Open toe pumps look good with both pants and dresses.

Soap story
Here's a quick guide to the various soaps in the stores today. Moisturizing or superfatted soaps contain lanolin or some other skin softener. Glycerine soaps work in a similar way to combat the ordinary drying effect of soap. Deodorant soaps contain odor fighters. Medicated soaps have bacteria fighters to aid troubled complexions. Some soaps contain oatmeal which rids the skin of dead surface cells. They're good for oily skin. Cleansing gels are for skin too dry to use soap.

Capital Crime Further Defined

WASHINGTON (AP)—Laws defining "outrageously vile, horrible, or inhuman" murders as capital offenses cannot be the basis for imposing the death penalty unless the victims actually suffered "serious physical abuse" before death, the Supreme Court says.

In striking down a Georgia death sentence Monday, the nation's highest court put all states on notice that their capital punishment laws must avoid vague or open-ended phrasing.

"A capital sentencing scheme must ... provide a meaningful basis for distinguishing the few cases in which the penalty is imposed from the many cases in which it is not," Justice Potter Stewart wrote.

If a death penalty is based on a finding that the crime was particularly outrageous, then "evidence of serious physical abuse of the victim before death" is required, Stewart said.

The decision does not represent any substantive backing away from the Supreme Court's endorsement of capital punishment's constitutionality when properly imposed. But it is sure to influence future state court rulings on whether life imprisonment or death is the proper punishment in individual cases.

Under Georgia law, one of the categories under which a convicted murderer may be sentenced to death is if the crime is found to be "outrageously or wantonly vile, horrible or inhuman in that it involved torture, depravity of mind or an aggravated battery to the victim."

Stewart said no such proof of outrageous acts was present in Robert Godfrey's 1977 shotgun slayings of his wife and mother-in-law. Godfrey's death sentence was overturned by a 6-3 vote of the justices.

It appears that only nine of the 98 persons on Georgia's death row, as of April 20, were sentenced on the basis of circumstances similar to those overturned in Godfrey's case.

In other matters Monday, the court took these actions:

—Agreed to decide whether former President Richard M. Nixon and his closest advisers can be held financially liable for unlawfully spying on U.S. citizens. At issue is a suit against Nixon, Henry Kissinger, John Mitchell and H.R. Haldeman by a former National Security Council employee whose home telephone was wiretapped by the Nixon administration without court permission.

—Refused to stop Carter administration action that may lead to the deportation of thousands of Iranian students from the United States when their visas expire. The justices refused to hear constitutional challenges to President Carter's decision last November to check on the status of all Iranians in this country.

—Agreed to decide whether Iowa can ban trucks longer than 60 feet from its interstate highways.

—Refused in a case from New Orleans to prohibit police officers from stopping and frisking someone in response to an anonymous tip.

—Agreed to decide in a Georgia case whether state courts may revoke a defendant's probation for failing to keep up with payments when the judge allows a fine to be paid on the installment plan.

Dear Abby

Good Neighbors Aren't Best Lovers

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: All through grade school, Peter, the boy who lived next door, was my childhood sweetheart. He moved away when I was 12, and we lost track of each other.

Six months ago we met at a Reagan rally and recognized each other immediately. (I'm 22 and Peter is 23.) We had a wonderful time talking about old times, and you might say it was love at second sight. We've been inseparable ever since. We are planning to marry, but here comes the bizarre part. When I told my mother about our plans to marry, she told me something that really shook me up. She said that the man I always thought was my father is not my father. My father was Peter's father. That makes Peter my half-brother. My mother is now divorced from the man she was married to when I was born, and Peter's father (and mine, according to my mother) died three years ago.

Can a woman marry her half-brother in the state of California?

STILL DAZED

DEAR STILL: Marriage between sister and brother (half as well as whole blood) is considered incestuous and therefore illegal in California — and every other state, unless they've changed the law since yesterday.

DEAR ABBY: Through you I hope to express my gratitude to those in the counseling profession who have dedicated their lives to helping others.

I am 23 and will soon graduate in a helping profession. I am a survivor of several suicide attempts. After working for three long years getting to know myself, I finally discovered that I like myself and really want to live. Most of my life I was unable to say that. I attribute my survival to my therapists, without whose steadfast support and faith I would have been dead. They never gave up on me despite my self-hatred. Now I feel like a beautiful butterfly that has finally come out of my cocoon of despair, uncertain but ready to fly. I will be forever grateful to my therapists who showed me that I could open the door and choose life.

I hope you will find room in your column to let those in the often thankless counseling profession know that there are those who are thankful.

GLAD TO BE ALIVE

DEAR GLAD: And I am glad to print your letter. Congratulations. Without your cooperation, your therapists could not have saved your life.

I recommend counseling so often I'm sure some readers regard it as a cop-out, but often it is the only helpful solution. It's heartening to observe that so many who have been "saved" from suicide, alcoholism, drug addiction or a life of crime themselves have chosen to dedicate their lives to saving others.

DEAR ABBY: This is my fourth try at having you run something that I feel would hit home with many people in all kinds of relationships, but particularly regarding physical intimacy.

Volumes have been written on the how-to's of sex, but the biggest turn-on is cleanliness — good old-fashioned soap and water clean! That means hair, fingernails, teeth, clothing — the works. Nothing is so discouraging to intimacy as slightly soiled clothing, or a hint of odor to suggest that the hair, mouth or body is less than clean. I am a woman, and the greatest turn-on to me is a scrubbed man, freshly shaven, with clean fingernails, polished shoes and clean clothing from the skin out!

Please print this, Abby. Some people need to be told.

FISH FRY COMING UP—These High Adventure Explorers from Snyder High School Post 242 brought in a load of crappie and bass from a fishing trip to hold a fish fry scheduled Thursday night.

Explorers Plan Fish Fry Here

Five members of the SHS High Adventure Explorer's Post No. 242 recently returned from a fishing trip to Lake Hubbard Creek, Breckenridge. The members making the trip were Britt Vincent, Brent Beck, Monte Gambol, Whit Parks and Gerald Hicks who were sponsored by Coach Rich Howard.

The purpose of the trip was to catch fish for the upcoming fish fry for the public to raise funds for the club. The total catch for the overnight-trip was 108 crappie and 15 bass.

The crappie were caught in a crappie house and the bass were caught while fishing out of the boat. Each person was allotted a minimum of two hours on the boat, spending the rest of time in the crappie house.

The club's first fund raising project is set for Thursday night, at 8 p.m. in the Snyder High School Cafeteria. The project is a fish fry including all the trimmings for the ticket price of $3.50 for adults and $2 for children 12 and under. Tickets are available from members and at the door. Door prizes donated by local merchants will be awarded during the meal. There will also be an auction of baked goods including one pie to be thrown in the face of Snyder High School principal Ray Courtney.

The money raised will be used to defray the expenses of the members on their upcoming club activities. Some activities already planned are a trip to Padre Island, water skiing trips and a snow skiing trip in the winter.

What Texas Electric says about setting your central air to save money.

At Texas Electric we are often asked about the cheapest way to operate a central air conditioning unit and still be comfortable.

Here's what we recommend.

- Keep the temperature at 78° or higher. Each degree below that causes the unit to use about 5% more energy.
- Leave your air conditioner's fan switch in the "auto" position. This way the fan only comes on when it's needed.
- Finally, before you leave the house, turn your air conditioner switch to "off." Even though your house may be warmer when you return, you won't be paying to air condition an empty house while you were gone.

For more energy-saving ideas and answers to your questions, call Texas Electric and arrange to attend an Operation Tighten-Up workshop in your neighborhood.

'No-Pros' Win First At Pro-Am Tourney

In an unusual finish, a fivesome of amateurs won the Pro-Am Golf Tournament held at Snyder Country Club yesterday.

The fivesome, Lance McMillan, Durwood Hopper, George Gann, Rod Waller and David Thompson, carded a 55.

Format was best ball with handicap.

The tournament was to team one area pro with three amateurs, but a large amount of players—81—led to some changes in the lineups.

David Holt was Low Amateur with a 71 while Judy Casey of Abilene was runner-up with a 73. Low Pro was Dick Weston of Winkler County Golf Course. Kermit He shot a 71.

Three teams tied for second place, including the group led by former Snyder Country Club pro Don Bryant, who currently hails from San Angelo Country Club. Bryant, Holt, Sterling Parker and Jim Simpson brought in a 56.

Also at 56 was the team of Jim Curtsinger (Lubbock Pinehills), Mal Donelson, Larry Hildreth and Tommy Lay, and the no-pro foursome of Larry Anderson, Don Sealey, Ben Givens and Ethel Patterson.

Tied for fifth was another former Snyder Country Club pro, Bill Keys, who heads up the Rangeland Hill (Midland) operation. He was grouped with Larry Wadeigh, Juanita Hester and Billie Mills for a 57 score. Also at 57 were Ted Griffin (Big Spring), Don Brock, Randy Mosley and Rhylene Stoker.

Snyder Country Club is currently holding its Ladies Match Play Tournament today, tomorrow and Friday. The next event will be the API Tournament June 14.

Getters Leave For State Meet

Eighteen Go-Getters and 10 chaperones left Snyder this morning enroute to Austin and the Special Olympics State Track and Field Meet.

The Go-Getters will compete in several athletic events during meet and will return Thursday evening.

Selmon, Fisher Receive Top Awards...

Sports Ceremony Held

Thomas Selmon and Suzanne Fisher were chosen Male and Female Athlete of the Year during All-Sports ceremonies held at Snyder High School yesterday evening.

The annual ceremonies recognized athletes from all sports and presented a number of special awards.

Jerry Worsham, speech and drama instructor, was master of ceremonies for the event.

Selmon received several honors, including co-defensive back, football; defensive player, basketball; and co-outstanding trackman.

Fisher was named co-player of the year in volleyball and was presented the Tiger Sport Award in girl's track.

Respective coaches presented awards from each sport. Special awards were announced by athletic director John Gary, who also gave a brief welcome to the audience of athletes, parents and fans.

Football awards went to Selmon and Bryan Vincent as co-defensive backs of the year, to Tony Degrate as defensive lineman, Bobby Degrate as offensive back, and to Tommy Peekas offensive lineman. John Erwin was presented as the Fightin' Heart recipient.

Most of the awards presented last night will stay at Snyder High School, engraved with individual's names and displayed throughout the campus.

Along with Fisher, Kim Harlin was named co-player of the year in volleyball. Coach Joyce Errod's volleyball team was one of six Snyder High squads which won District 3-3A championships this year.

Tracey O'Day swept two awards in girl's basketball. She was named most improved player and was the Free Throw Queen for 1979-80. Sandy Sewell received the Tiger Sport Award for girl's basketball.

Dayton Robertson was named most improved in boy's basketball. Selmon took the top defensive player award while Brent Taylor was chosen Happy Warrior.

Both basketball teams also won 3-3A championships during the 1979-80 season as did boy's track, tennis and baseball.

Foster Selected Western Texas Assistant Coach

Dave Foster, former member of the Westerners golf team, has been hired as assistant golf coach and pro shop manager at Western Texas College.

Foster, 24, played for Coach Bob O'Day's Westterners from 1975-76 to 1976-77 and was named All-Region his sophomore year. He played on two teams which qualified for the NJCAA National Tournament; the '75-76 squad, which finished fifth in the nation and the '76-77 team which placed ninth.

After leaving Western Texas, Foster spent a year at Pan American University and finished up his college education at Mary-Hardin Baylor where he was graduated with a business degree in management.

He was co-captain of the golf team while a sophomore at WTC and later at Mary-Hardin Baylor.

Foster, a native of Dallas, is the defending DGA (Dallas Golf Association) champion and is the club champion at Lakewood Country Club in Dallas.

He will be competing in the Texas State Amateur this year in June, at Dallas.

DAVE FOSTER

Lloyd Benson was named along with Selmon to receive co-outstanding trackman for the year in boy's track. Fisher was presented the Tiger Sport Award in girl's track.

Baseball, which has yet to conclude its season at Snyder High, saw Bobby Degrate and Toby Neves selected as co-most valuable players for 1980. Kyle Short and William Robinson were honored as Robert Hodge Memorial Award recipients.

Donna McGee and Neal Paige were the two athletes which "contributed most" in varsity tennis this year, while Paul Erwin took the golf award of low average Snyder cheerleaders were also introduced to the audience and led in the school song at the end of the program. Special music was provided by Laquita Reaves and Beverly Duff. Matt Taggart gave the invocation.

Dave Harlin, father of two high school students and athletes, was presented with an annual award: the Number One Fan Award.

Playoffs Slated In Snyder Today

Snyder High School begins looking for its third bi-district baseball title in four years today as the Tigers play host to District 4-3A champion Weatherford, 4 p.m. at Moffett Field.

Game Two of the best-of-three series will be held in Weatherford at 2 p.m. Friday. A third game, if necessary, will start approximately 30 minutes after the conclusion of Game Two.

The Tigers, under Coach Albert Lewis, won District 3-3A titles the past four years and served as bi-district title holders in 1977 and 1979. The teams were defeated by Pecos each year in regionals.

Weatherford comes to Snyder with a 15-7 overall record, including an 11-3 district mark which includes two playoff victories over Graham.

Snyder, 15-13-1 for the year, went 11-4 in district play, including a trio of playoff tilts with Brownfield. The Tigers have won 11 of their last 16 games.

Tabbed as the starting pitcher today for Snyder is junior hurler Tony Degrate, 7-4. Degrate picked up two wins in the district playoff series with Brownfield and holds a 6-1 district record.

Coach Lewis' game plan for the series would start William Robinson, 6-6, against the Kangaroos on Friday, rebounding with Degrate again if Game Three becomes necessary. He'll also have Mike Roemisch warming up for relief during the series.

Weatherford Coach Kenny Cox plans to start junior Gregg Ray, 7-1, today and sophomore Tommy Pina for Game Two on Friday. Ray pitched a one-hitter against Graham last week. Pina allowed five hits.

Italians May Boycott Too

By The Associated Press
Five nations said they will send teams to the Moscow Summer Olympic Games amid new support for the boycott.

Austria, the Netherlands, Ireland, Belgium and Sweden voted to send teams to the Games. The decisions by Austria, Belgium and Sweden came as no surprise while the Irish and Dutch decision were contrary to their government's wishes.

Meanwhile, the Italian government said it would support the U.S. led boycott. Italian Premier Francesco Cossiga said, however, the final decision would be left to the Italian Olympic Committee, which meets today to decide the question.

Computer Handles Calls

A computer's voice is greeting long distance callers at coin telephones in Snyder.

The computer's voice, which is not a recording but a voice actually produced by a computer, is part of the new Automatic Coin Toll Service (ACTS) being introduced by Southwestern Bell.

The female-voiced computer is programmed to tell coin telephone customers the amount of money needed to complete 1-plus Long Distance calls, said Southwestern Bell spokesman Ben Young, manager.

"The computer also tells customers when the initial calling period is over and how much money to deposit for longer calls," Young said.

"The computer is programmed to calculate the cost of a call and then verbalize that calculation to the customer. And, like operators, the computer is polite, saying 'please' and 'thank you,'" Young said.

"The system was designed to provide faster coin telephone service and help us hold down costs," he said. "Increasing call volumes normally require the addition of operators from one year to the next, but ACTS will help reduce the number of new people we need to hire."

ACTS also will free telephone operators for other duties, such as handling 0-plus Long Distance calls. Operators will take over from ACTS should there be difficulties in placing 1-plus calls.

"Since the computer system can't hear - it can only talk - we've made it possible for customers to contact an operator simply by depressing the switch hook on coin phones," Young said.

He added that the ACTS computer has the capacity to handle some 240 coin calls simultaneously and also will notify residential and business telephone customers of time and charges for Long Distance calls when requested.

BIRTHS

Kelvin and Rhonda Stagner are parents of a son, Michael James, born May 15 at Hogan-Malone Hospital, Big Spring. Grandparents are James and Doris DeFrees of Snyder and Hazel Smith of Abilene.

Platinum was first discovered in the 16th century by conquistadors looking for gold in the Pinto River sands in Colombia, according to National Geographic.

TWO CUBS HONORED—Manuel Espinosa, left, received the Bear badge, and J.D. Smith was recognized for selling the most tickets to the Scout Exposition in 1979 and 1980 at the final meeting of the season of Cub Scouts of Stanfield Elementary School. Glenn McCathern announced that Day Camp will be held in June. Smith has been a Cub and Webelo and holds the highest Cub award, the Arrow of Light.

Oilmen Urged To Inform Public

AUSTIN (AP) — Chairman John Poerner of the state Railroad Commission urged oil and gas executives today to explain the "plight" of oil and gas production to Texans.

The commission routinely set the statewide oil allowance for June at 100 percent, the 40th consecutive month the commission has maintained that production factor.

Poerner, defeated by Rep. Buddy Temple in the May 3 Democratic Primary, made no specific reference to the race at the first statewide hearing since the election.

He mentioned, however, that in traveling around the state he had learned "few Texans understand the role of the Texas Railroad Commission and the plight related to oil and gas."

He urged executives to accept speaking invitations to "inform the public... we certainly need a better understanding by the people."

Poerner, appointed to the commission by then-Gov. Dolph Briscoe, lost to Temple 697,034 to 534,810 votes.

James Nugent, the other incumbent seeking the Democratic nomination, defeated Jim Hightower, former editor of the Texas Observer, 633,423 to 588,475.

Nugent told reporters he had additional money he could have spent in the closing days but held back on the basis of advice from his campaign workers. Nugent said his vote total was within one-half of 1 percent of their predictions.

Both Temple and Nugent face Republican opponents in the November general election.

Poerner said in announcing the June oil allowance that major purchasers of Texas crude oil had indicated they wanted to acquire 2,622,425 barrels of oil a day in June, a decrease of 25,013 barrels daily from May.

He also noted crude and petroleum products imports into the United States totaled 6,659,000 barrels per day for the four-week average ending May 2, down 1,201,000 barrels per day from the same period last year.

As usual, the commission restricted the allowable for the large East Texas Field to 86 percent to avoid possible waste.

Here are the major buyers' nominations for Texas crude oil in June, in barrels per day, with any changes from May in parentheses:

- Amoco 242,000 (down 2,500)

Los Angeles Board Ired By Integration Order

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An angry Los Angeles School Board, ordered to come up with a comprehensive new integration plan for the nation's second largest school system by July, says it won't do anything until its appeal is heard.

Superior Court Judge Paul Egly ruled Monday that the sprawling 600-square-mile school district had failed to satisfactorily desegregate its classrooms with its current program of limited busing.

His ruling at the conclusion of a six-month trial says, in effect, that the board has 60 days to come back with a plan.

Egly divided the huge, 550,000-student district into 11 zones to limit the length of bus rides, saying no student should have to travel more than 20 minutes to school. Some students now travel three hours.

His order covers grades 1 through 12.

The school board reacted with a 6-1 vote to challenge the ruling.

"Irresponsible, disruptive," board member Bobbie Fiedler called the ruling, adding that it would "bring about the devastation of the public school system in Los Angeles," where 27 percent of the students are white.

"This is not an order," added the board's most recent addition, Tom Bartman. "We're going to file vigorous objections." Asked whether the board would begin planning for the fall regardless of its objections, Bartman replied, "Planning for what?"

Board member Kathleen Brown commented that Egly's ruling "says we're not even going to give you a chance," referring to those favoring voluntary integration.

"The judge has not given us a plan," added board member John Greenwood. "We don't have anything to implement."

"If I was a white parent I'd be looking for a private school or looking for a new home outside the Los Angeles Unified School District," said school board president Robert Weintraub.

The school board had claimed that the limited busing involved in the current desegregation plan had sent middle-income whites from the city.

Rita Walters, the board's only black member, opposed the challenge and said the board should study the order instead of "appealing just for the sake of appealing."

But Egly's order didn't please the pro-busing elements, either. One group, Integration Project, said it would appeal the judge's plan because the judge exempted schools in four zones where black and Hispanic percentages are the highest.

"All black, all brown kids will be left in segregated zones," said attorney Arthur Goldberg.

A spokesman for the judge said the four zones are areas where desegregation is not possible because of the long bus rides. They would fall under Egly's order that "alleviation of the harms of racial isolation" be instituted.

Water Slide Closed After Boy's Death

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A local water slide amusement facility has been temporarily closed by its owners because of the freak weekend death of a 13-year-old youth, whose body was mangled when he was sucked into the pumping machinery.

Bexar County Deputy Medical Examiner Dr. Nina Hollander ruled Sunday that Eric M. Hayden had drowned late Saturday night before his body was severed at the hips by the blades in pumping machinery.

Super Water Slides in north San Antonio features four water-filled flumes running down a 50-foot hill. Patrons ride down the stream of water on rubber mats and into a 3-foot-deep landing pool.

Police Patrolman Donald Bocock said Hayden apparently crawled through an 8-inch opening at the top of a concrete duct, which carries water from the landing pool to a covered tank leading directly into the huge pumps. The pumps circulate the water back up to the top of the hill.

Authorities said it was not immediately clear how Hayden got over the barrier and into the pumping tank.

Hayden was apparently sucked feet first through one of the pumps.

Hayden's parents, worried because their son had not returned home, were unable to find the youth when they searched the facility late Saturday night. The owner also unsuccessfully searched the park.

But when the pumps were reversed for cleaning later that night, the youth's severed upper torso floated to the surface.

The water slide facility was to be closed until a protective screen can be installed to prevent a similar occurrence, authorities said. It was not known when it would be reopened.

Termites Inevitable, But Help Available From Alexander's

You can't escape from termites. They're hard at work in every area of every state, and they may be busy devouring somebody's home right in your neighborhood — maybe even yours.

You can't afford to take chances with costly termites. Your home is your largest dollar investment. It can be protected efficiently and scientifically at a pittance of the cost compared to the damage termites can do.

Call Alexander's Pest Control for professional protection, just to be sure.

By the time termites are discovered, the cost of repairing damage done by the termites could result in thousands of dollars. Once termites gain entry to your home, they spread rapidly through joists and floors. Willy termites are careful not to break through the surface of the wood — so your first clue of termites may come when a piece of furniture sinks into soft wood. Replacing floors and supporting framework could amount to as much as 10 times their original cost.

After getting inside, the appetite of termites is insatiable. They often follow the wooden framework of the house to upper levels and floors, creating havoc as they do. Once inside the house, termites keep on with their destructive job until either the house is destroyed or until treated.

Just because your house is made of brick or concrete doesn't mean that it's safe from termites. These insidious insects are crafty and cunning in gaining access and getting to the wooden construction inside.

Voracious termites will eat anything containing wood or cellulose. They frequently damage valuable papers, books, expensive rugs and items in storage. Beside feeding themselves, worker termites carry food back to the colony for the queen, king, secondary reproductives and soldier termites. With this large family to feed, the worker isn't the least concerned about the value of your property.

A concrete foundation doesn't stop termites. Termites must return to their nests every 12 to 24 hours for moisture, and to feed the non-workers. Termite tubes under your foundation are a sure sign of infestation.

Mature termites develop wings and on a warm, moist day emerge from the colony as a swarm. This usually happens in the spring and sometimes in the fall. After flying a short distance, the wings drop off and new colonies are formed. If you see swarming termites, you had better call us for an inspection. Professional chemical treatment is the only way to be sure you're safe from termite damage — and this treatment is far more economical than repairs. Using proven methods, we'll treat the soil around and under your house to create a chemical barrier that stops subterranean termites cold. We make sure every possible point of entry is blocked.

Prevention is cheaper than costly repairs. Call today for an inspection and estimate.

Alexander's Pest Control also does all type of pest services. Owner Craig Alexander reminds you that pecan spraying time is approaching. Since time for spraying is critical, be sure you're on the list and Alexander's will take care of your pecan trees when the time is right.

PEST CONTROL—Call Manager Frank Cannon, left, or owner, Craig Alexander at Alexander's Pest Control for professional pest control and extermination.
