Ira Graduation Tonight

IRA—Commencement for Ira High School and Ira Junior High graduates will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. Both the senior and 8th grade classes will participate in the same ceremony. The speaker for the commencement will be Dave Brand, minister of the Ira Church of Christ.

Prime Rate Hits 14 1/2 %

NEW YORK (AP)—Citibank, the nation's second largest commercial bank, today slashed its prime lending rate an extraordinary 2 percentage points to 14 1/2 percent as the key lending index continued its steep slide.

The unusually large reduction brings the prime - the rate banks charge on loans to blue-chip corporate borrowers - to its lowest level of the year and undercuts the 15 percent rate posted Thursday night by No. 6 Chemical Bank.

Banks normally change their prime rates in increments of 1/2 percentage point or less, but the recent sharp decline in open-market rates that affect banks' lending costs has prompted an acceleration in the prime's fall.

As recently as last month the prime stood at a record 20 percent.

Gulf Strikers Give Up

PORT ARTHUR—Workers at Gulf Oil Corp. here have ended their five-month strike after the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union gave up trying to save three workers' jobs, union officials say.

"It was a long and bitter strike, and a bitter disappointment to me personally," head OCAW bargainer Gerald Dauphine said Thursday.

Dauphine said the union finally conceded to company demands to fire the three union members because of economic pressure. "Not a lack of principle."

About 2,400 workers at the huge refinery have been out since Jan. 8. They are set to return to work next week.

Under the agreement ratified Thursday, Gulf will fire three employees and assess lesser penalties against 12 other workers accused of picket line disturbances.

SMU Hunts A President

DALLAS (AP)—The search is on for a new president of Southern Methodist University, the school's Board of Governors has announced.

SMU lost its head when James Zumberge resigned earlier in the week to become president of the University of Southern California in Los Angeles.

The board announced Thursday that a search committee, chaired by Dallas oil company executive and SMU trustee O. Paul Corley, will begin accepting nominations and screening candidates for the job.

Safe Driving Urged

AUSTIN (AP)—Col. Jim Adams, director of the Department of Public Safety, is urging all Texas motorists to make a special effort to drive safely during the Memorial Day holidays.

During the three-day Memorial Day weekend last year there were 48 persons killed in traffic accidents while in 1978 there were 45 deaths. The DPS has made no forecast of fatalities this year.

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

The 15-story, 60-year-old Settles Hotel, Big Spring's tallest building, is being vacated and the old building's future is uncertain, the Big Spring Herald reports. It is a landmark that many people in this area have associated with Big Spring over the years.

Of course the conventional type of hotel has not fared so well in recent years, especially outside major metropolitan areas. The more convenient motels have taken over a lot of their business.

However, it was interesting to us to note that some of the long-time employees of the Settles said there was probably only one period in its history when it turned a real profit. That was in 1948-50 during the height of the "Snyder oil boom."

In recent years, the old hotel has had several permanent guests and these were put on notice to move out this month. There were reports that the building would be remodeled and converted into a high-rise condominium, but at last report some were doubtful about it.

Lynn Brisendine of the Brownfield News says he believes May has more special observances than any other month. He lists Be Kind to Animals Week, Extension Homemakers Week, National Youth Hostel Week, National Family Week, National Music Week, Small Business Week, Transportation Week, National Preservation Week, Girls Club Week, National Nursing Home Week, National Salvation Army Week, National Cable TV Week, World Trade Week, National Public World Week, Public Relations Week and Vietnam Vets Week.

But that's not all. There also are Law Day, Loyalty Day, Save the Children Day, Prayer for Peace Day, National Museum Day, Flower Day, Memorial Day. And then, it's also Home Improvement Month, National Good Car Keeping Month, National Tavern Month, Police Athletic League Month, Senior Citizens Month, Mental Health month, National High Blood Pressure Month (we thought that should have come in April), and armed forces Month.

Even with all of these, some probably have been overlooked.

Holiday Weekend Beginning

Many area residents were preparing to begin a holiday weekend as Memorial Day approached.

City, county and federal offices will be closed Monday for the holiday, along with many business firms.

Reports this morning indicated that a majority of the business firms on the Snyder square will be closed for the holiday, although a few will be open.

Elsewhere holiday situation apparently will be the same, with some stores and service establishments remaining open, while others will be closed. Snyder Public Schools, which have one more full week of classroom requirements for the spring term, will be in session as usual on Monday.

High school commencement program is scheduled for next Friday night in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The city hall, courthouse, post office, banks and savings and loan firms will be closed for the holiday, which honors the nation's war dead.

Board Sets Time Limit For Veterinary Clinic

The Snyder Zoning Board of Adjustment last night voted to give Dr. Robert Taylor 60 days to begin construction of a permanent office facility for his Scurry County Veterinary Clinic located at 37th St. and the Brick Plant Road.

The board decision also provides that the mobile home now being used for Dr. Taylor's office must be removed no later than four months after the 60-day period.

The extension was opposed by heirs of the Murphree Estate and by Colony Homes. Dr. Taylor purchased the property from the Murphree Estate in 1974 and was granted a two-year exception to the zoning at that time. Subsequently, he sold the property, but bought it again later. In the interim, the

Hospital's Sick Leave Plan Changed

A change in hospital sick leave was approved last night by the board of managers of Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The present policy allows employees of more than six months' standing to accrue a day of sick leave per month up to 30 days, with all but the first day being paid. That policy was amended to allow employees to accrue sick leave of up to 60 days, but the policy is not retroactive. The new policy takes effect June 1.

The motion to accept the policy revision was made by Sam Cross and seconded by A.Z. Glover. It received the unanimous approval of the board.

Also approved last night was the administrator's financial report. In the report, total liabilities and net worth of the hospital were pegged at $3,179,889 as of the last of April.

exception had been extended.

Dan Cotton, local attorney representing the Murphree interests, told the zoning board of adjustment that his clients understood that the exception to the zoning requirements was temporary and that they felt ample time had been granted for a permanent building to be erected. Larry Hines, representing Colony Homes, said the residential development by that firm could be affected by continuing the exception to the zoning ordinance. He said Colony already has 13 new homes on its site just south of Dr. Taylor's property and that the total is due to rise to 68 in the current phase of development. Another phase will increase it to 127 homes, he said.

Also speaking briefly in opposition to the extension was Bill Tippen, Abilene attorney, husband of the former Elsie Murphree.

Tommie Mills, local attorney, represented Dr. Taylor and he and Dr. Taylor told the board that a permanent building was planned as soon as the financial market improves. They also noted that the property has been well-maintained and that there had been no complaints about the Veterinary Clinic's operations there.

Following the hearing, Dr. Taylor said he will try to adjust plans he has for a building to provide animal shelter facilities under a contract with the city. He said he would have to determine whether financing could be arranged and

Hostage Rescue Plotted By European Socialists

By The Associated Press European socialists were reported preparing to launch a new initiative to free the American hostages in Iran, who spent their 202nd day in captivity today. The militants holding the hostages said again the captives will not be released until the deposed shah and his "plundered wealth" are returned to Iran but added "any other decision" will be up to the Iranian nation.

Meanwhile, Iran reported two more executions, raising to 31 the number of people killed by the revolutionary regime in two days.

The Spanish socialist headquarters in Madrid said Spanish socialist leader Felipe Gonzalez would fly to Tehran Saturday where he would join other European socialists for an effort "to mediate the conflict over the American hostages."

A spokesman said the Socialist International, an organization of socialist political parties, had planned the mediation effort for some time. He did not elaborate.

Unconfirmed reports said the other Europeans might include Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky and Swedish socialist leader Olof Palme.

In Vienna, Austrian officials clamped a news blackout on the socialist project, but they hinted it was unlikely Kreisky would leave the country on such short notice.

In a statement broadcast by Tehran Radio, the militants who seized the U.S. Embassy in Tehran last Nov. 4 said: "Once again, we declare that until the traitor shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and his plundered wealth are returned to Iran, the hostages will not be released."

"Any other decision will be up to the Iranian nation, and the representatives of the nation," the statement continued. This presumably referred to the inauguration of the newly elected Iranian Parliament.

Consumer Price Increases Drop Sharply In April

WASHINGTON (AP)—Consumer prices rose 0.9 percent in April, the smallest monthly rise in more than a year, as the cost of goods and services moderated across the board, the government reported today.

The increase in the Consumer Price Index last month was a marked improvement from the 1.4 percent increases registered in each of the first three months this year.

If prices continue to rise for the next 11 months at the same rate they did in April, the year will end with an inflation rate of about 11 percent, compared with 13 percent last year.

Prices had been going up at a compounded annual rate of 18 percent in the preceding three months of 1980.

The Labor Department report credited "smaller price increases for energy items, particularly gasoline" and less rise in the cost of food, clothing and home financing rates.

"About half the slowdown can be directly attributed to gasoline prices, which were unchanged in April following a nearly 4 percent increase in March," said Patrick Jackman, a Labor Department economist.

"With interest rates continuing to come down and food stable for at least another month, I'd expect next month's inflation rate to be the best we'll see in a while," he added.

In another report, the Labor Department said the inflation-adjusted average weekly earnings of Americans fell 1.2 percent from March to April. The decline came as inflation outpaced a 0.3 percent decrease in hours worked and no change in hourly earnings.

Spending earnings what a married worker with three dependents would have left to spend after federal income tax and Social Security deductions - also dropped 1.2 percent from March to a level 6.7 percent below April 1979.

The April increase matched the 0.9 percent rise in January 1979 and was the smallest since a 0.6 percent increase in December 1978.

The report gave these breakdowns:

Food prices went up 0.5 percent last month, compared with a 1 percent increase in March.

Housing costs rose 1.3 percent in April, compar-

ANITA BRYANT
...marriage on rocks

Divorce Sought By Anita Bryant

MIAMI (AP)—Singer Anita Bryant, a crusader against "the disintegration of the American family," has filed for divorce from her husband of nearly 20 years.

Her marriage to former disc jockey Bob Green was "irretrievably broken," Miss Bryant said in a petition filed Thursday in Dade Circuit Court here.

In a statement released Thursday from her Miami Beach mansion, Miss Bryant said her husband had "violated my most precious asset: my very conscience."

She claimed Green had cooperated "with certain hired staff members who conspired to control me and to use my name and reputation to build their personal careers instead of my ministry."

Green was not available for comment.

Miss Bryant, who did not name the staff members, said she is resigning from Anita Bryant Ministries, a center dedicated to preserving the American family.

In the divorce petition, Miss Bryant said she is "without sufficient funds" to support the couple's four children. She asked that Green pay child support and allow her and the children to use the 25-room mansion until it can be sold. The petition said Green had moved out of their home, but then returned, creating "an intolerable situation."

Miss Bryant has asked for custody of the children - Robert, 16, Gloria, 15, and William and Barbara, both 10 - and half of the couple's property.

Miss Bryant, a former Miss Oklahoma and runner-up in the Miss America pageant, gained national attention in 1977 for her "Save Our Children" campaign against a gay rights ordinance in Dade County.

It is not true that Japan exports its entire auto production. With three million cars on the streets, Tokyo is not only the world's largest city but the perfect locale for some of its more massive traffic jams. Elsewhere in intensely urbanized Japan, the situation is similar only on a smaller scale. The Japanese, in short, are as auto-obsessed as any people in the industrial world, which gives them a lot in common with Americans. Too much, in fact, in the opinion of some Americans. For all their frantic mobility at home, the Japanese still do export a very high percentage of a large and growing auto output, predicted to pass the American this year to take over world leadership. And a very high percentage of those exports are to the United States.

pushing sales. Of particular interest, the advice is not another lecture from Japanese exporting experts, although it does reflect considerable Japanese input, but is the view of Americans, who know the situation best, the American business community in Tokyo participating with several Japanese government and private organizations in the U.S.-Japan Trade Study Group. The point the group's report makes should be kept in mind in evaluating the launching of U.S. operations by Japan's automakers. In regearing to meet changed economic conditions and market demands, the shifting must be done by American industry, not for it.

who wants controls?

Die-hard advocates of mandatory federal controls on wages and prices seldom miss the opportunity to mention that public opinion polls show popular majorities favor use of controls to fight inflation. But when given a choice, according to a new Gallup survey, American consumers - by 2 to 1 - favor lower federal spending and deficits as a more effective way of dealing with inflation than imposition of wage-price controls. The Gallup Organization conducted the survey in March by interviewing a scientific sampling nationwide of 1,583 consumers. The survey was made for the U.S. Chamber Survey Center in Washington. The question was asked: "Looking to the future, which would be a more effective way to reduce inflation: Slow down federal government spending and deficits or put mandatory controls on wages and prices?" Forty-eight percent favor a slowdown in federal spending and deficit financing, compared with 27 percent who support controls. Thirteen percent wanted both actions. These results are rather dramatic findings that the American consumer recognizes that government is the prime source of inflation," Dr. James Morris, director of the survey center, observed. With inflation running over 18 percent the last three months, it is easily understood why some Americans still believe controls or ceilings on prices and wages might prove helpful. But most economists and President Carter's economic advisers steadfastly oppose controls because they fail to attack the underlying causes of higher prices and higher wages. Neither of these is a cause of inflation. They are simply the painful symptoms.

business is jumping

Free enterprise is not dead, at least not everywhere. It's certainly alive and jumping in Norfolk, Virginia, where a firm has found a byproduct of its original operations suddenly developing into a profitable new business. In connection with its services to government and private concerns engaged in environment-related research, according to a wire report, Environmental Consultants Inc. began raising its own test subjects for flea-killing substances. When a surplus developed there turned out to be a ready market in the manufacture of pet products, with the result that the firm now has more orders than it has fleas and is hard-pressed to expand its colony to meet the demand. Which only proves again what can be the often unexpected result of the combination of a little imagination and enterprise: New scratch.

at wits end

by erma bombeck

With the price of postage going up to 20 cents, a letter next year, I don't know how much longer I can afford to communicate. My correspondence isn't exactly sonnets from the pen of Elizabeth Barrett Browning, you know. Usually, I begin my letters with an apology for not writing, followed by a list of 15 or 20 excuses that would depress the Osmonds. This is followed by a quiz to show I really care. "How in the world are you? Are you sewing anything new? How's your mother? Did you see M-A-S-H last week? Did you ever find out why Rob's ears were ringing?" Then I move along to the current stuff, like what I am having for dinner and an update on what every member of the family is doing at the moment I am writing the letter. (Reading the paper. Teasing the dog. Hanging on to the phone. Going through my purse.) I usually take half a page to explain that the only thing I hate more than cheap gossip is the people who spread it. This is followed by three pages of cheap gossip. Then come a few cute sayings by my children with ha, ha's in parenthesis, a reprise of my penitence for not writing and a promise to do better next time, and that's it. That drivel might have been worth three cents at one time, but it is clear that the quality of my letters has not kept pace with the cost of writing increases. There are several changes in letter-writing that Americans will be looking at. 1. Assuming that delivery delays will get worse instead of better, letters should have a flexible reference of time. Example: "The baby is cutting his teeth and is crabby" (if letter is received June 1980-July 1980). "The baby is toilet-trained and no longer applying for a chafing scholarship" (if received April 1981-February 1984). "The baby has graduated and is unemployed" (if received June 2000-July 2003). 2. For 20 cents you should have something important to say in your letters. A Tupperware party is not an earthshaking event unless Burt Reynolds shows up for it. 3. Long letters will become a thing of the past. Look for Christmas newsletters that will abbreviate their accomplishments with "Overachievers still wonderful. (See Newsletters 1978, 1979, 1980, etc.)" Yes, I predict letters will become the newest status symbol in this country. I can just see a kid in college sending his mother a telegram for her birthday and his mother strutting, "He couldn't afford a letter?" Copyright Field Enterprises, Inc.

Get head start on problems

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D. DEAR DR. BLAKER - I am a 15-year-old girl who fears she has homosexual tendencies. I want to get help from a therapist now, before it is too late. I live in an area where there are very hostile feelings - even among some psychologists - toward homosexuality. How do I pick the right one? DEAR READER - All therapists cannot work with all patients. Therapists are people, too, and have prejudices that can interfere with their effectiveness. It is obviously important to seek out someone who does not have an overt distaste for the subject you want to discuss. Unfortunately, there are no lists of such therapists available. My advice is to find a therapist who specializes in adolescent treatment. That person can help you discover whether the tendencies you feel you have are a potential problem or merely a normal phase of growing up. Tell the therapist about your concerns in the first session. Watch for a negative reaction. Kindly acceptance is what you should expect. If you feel comfortable, you have probably found the right person. If not, keep looking. Some therapists give free initial consultations. I am pleased to hear that you are going to start working on your problems when you are young. That will give you a head start. DEAR DR. BLAKER - I have a chronic infection. My doctor thinks I should be hospitalized for intensive antibiotic therapy. I would rather stay home while I'm getting well. The problem is that my husband can't take care of me, the house and the children right now because of serious business difficulties. It makes me very angry to think I have to go into the hospital just because he isn't available. I feel like leaving

two big choices

NEW YORK (AP)—Do you believe, as Howard Ruff does, that waves of inflation eventually will drown the economy and leave precious metals and barter as the only medium for what little commerce remains? Or do you side with those who maintain that we have learned at last to deal with inflation, that we will bring it under control in the 1980s and that the century's final decade will be productive and prosperous? In the literature of economics these seem to be evolving as the two great choices, two large bags into which all arguments are dropped. Not that the arguments necessarily fit the bags, but because a sense of crisis envelops economics today, a feeling that the major issue is so very critical that all lesser issues are incidental to it. The feeling from all shade and coloration of economic thought is that we can't go on the way we have been, that unless we change our behavior something's going to happen. In fact, it has begun, they say. Generally what this means is that almost everyone except real estate owners is fed up with inflation and wants something done about it. But what they would do is in itself a very major issue. In Boulder, Colo., the City Council voted to set a limit on the resale prices of middle-income housing, no matter that private parties rather than the council owns the housing. Some other areas might follow. President Carter apparently feels that he is a pretty good judge of what is or isn't a fair price, and when his voluntary wage-price standards are challenged he is quick to voice his displeasure. Judging from polls, many lower-income workers favor controls, with the federal government determining what is and isn't a fair price, even though wage limitations generally are paired with price controls. Almost nobody in business agrees with that technique. They argue that the marketplace should be freed from government interference and left to impose its own disciplines, based on the laws of supply and demand. But some business people also are among those who argue that the central bank, the Federal Reserve, a pretty strong regulator, could be more influential - keeping down the price of money business borrowings. Economists such as Albert H. Cox, Jr., head of Merrill Lynch Economics, remain optimistic, believing that in this decade the political tide will turn from that of the 1970s, when it heavily favored big spending. In the 1980s, Cox feels, the tide will swamp that thinking; it will push for less government spending, taxation and regulation, "the causes, in our analysis, of the economy's dismal performance." If that takes place, such thinkers believe, we could have what we haven't had for decades, a combination of rapid growth accompanied by a downward trend in both inflation and interest rates. Medical expenses increased faster than any other major category of personal expense - rising 107 percent - over the last 10 years in the United States, says Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.

'That Girl' Honeymoons

HOLLYWOOD (AP)-Three years of dating have come to an end for actress Marlo Thomas and television talk-show host Phil Donahue - they're honeymooning in Europe today. Donahue and Ms. Thomas were wed Wednesday in a private, double-ring ceremony at the home of her parents, comedian Danny Thomas and Rosemary Thomas. Spokeswoman Gloria Luckinbill said, only family members - including Donahue's five children from his first marriage - attended the civil ceremony. Ms. Thomas wore a simple white satin street length dress and spring flowers in her hair. After a dinner reception, the couple left for Europe. It was the first marriage for the 39-year-old actress, who starred in the 1960s television series "That Girl" and has become well known in recent years for her work in feminist causes. She met the 44-year-old Donahue three years ago when she was a guest on his hit syndicated show, which is based in Chicago. The couple said they would maintain homes in both Chicago and New York.

Kids Benefit From Gardening

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)-Participating in gardening offers many advantages to children, who can and should be introduced to its jobs "as soon as they won't eat the dirt and the earthworms," says a child development specialist at Cornell University. Gardening is a good way to help children establish a feeling of caring for something, to see a process through from seed to produce, and to encourage the lasting of their own home-grown vegetables.

Shortage Solutions Suggested

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)-With the Department of Labor predicting for 1985 a nationwide shortage of 250,000 secretaries, "Personnel Journal" in a current article suggests these ideas for increasing the supply: Hiring men, who at present represent 1 percent of the profession; higher pay; higher status, to increase pride in work; clear job descriptions; flexitime and job sharing; development of in-house training programs. The restoration of the Venetian Republic was proclaimed in 1848.

Dear Abby

Clearing the Air — And Your Kids' Lungs

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just read an article stating there is now conclusive evidence that secondhand cigarette smoke is damaging to the non-smoker.

I am a non-smoker, but my wife smokes enough for both of us. She has quit several times, but she's never been able to kick the habit for good. Her excuses are that when she quits smoking she gains weight, and smoking "relaxes" her. I've even heard her say, "Well, a person has to die of something," which is the most stupid excuse of all.

What worries me now is the fact that we have three small children who are the innocent victims of secondhand smoke in our home. Abby, I know my wife would quit if she could because she's really tired. You've probably heard from hundreds of heavy smokers who have quit for good. Which method is the most successful? Cold turkey, cutting down gradually, hypnosis, stop-smoking clinics? Or are there other methods?

Please help me to help my wife without being a nag.
FREDDY IN ENCINO

DEAR FREDDY: The best thing I've ever seen on how to quit smoking is the new booklet titled, "Clearing the Air." It contains a variety of sensible approaches. What may seem silly to some may work a miracle for others. It may take a while for your wife to find the combination that will work for her, but if she really wants to quit smoking, she can.

The booklet is free to anyone who wants it and can be obtained by writing to: Clearing the Air, Box A, National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Md. 20205.

Please let me hear from you in six months, Freddy. And if any of my readers send for this booklet, I would appreciate a progress report from you, too. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend and I are having a difference of opinion.

He says it is not possible for a girl to get pregnant the first time she goes to bed with a guy. I say it is.
Who is right?

VIRGIN (AGE 15)

DEAR VIRGIN: You are. Trust me . . . not him.

DEAR READERS: A reader who prefers to remain anonymous sent me the following day brightener:

You Just Know It's Going to Be a Rotten Day When . . .

You wake up facedown on the pavement.
You put your bra on backward, and it fits better.
You call Suicide Prevention and they put you on hold.

Your birthday cake collapses from the weight of the candles.

Your son tells you he wishes Anita Bryant would mind her own business.

You want to hang up the clothes you wore home from the party and you can't find them.

You turn on the news and they're showing emergency routes out of the city.

You put both contact lenses in the same eye.
Your twin sister forgot your birthday.

Housing For One Student

Western Texas College has space for an additional female student in the duplex on campus.

The duplex houses eight students, four in each of the two-bedroom apartments. The present opening will be for the summer and is available immediately. Each occupant pays rent of $100 per month, which includes all utilities, and a $50 deposit is required.

Prospective tenants are to contact the Student Service office in the Administration Building. The office will be closed on Monday in observance of Memorial Day and will reopen on Tuesday.

The Great New England blizzard swept most of the eastern seaboard in 1888, sinking some 200 ships, shutting graph communications, trapping thousands in their homes and closing the Stock Exchange in New York.

State Museum Panel Expiring

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—The Sunset Advisory Commission tentatively has voted to kill a state museum commission that didn't want to live anyway.

On another issue, Sen. A.R. Schwartz of the Sunset Commission indicated he is ready to carry his feud with the real estate lobby to his alma mater—Texas A&M.

The Sunset Commission accepted a staff proposal Thursday to abolish the Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz Memorial Naval Museum Commission and to transfer its responsibilities to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The vote was 7-0.

A staff report said the Parks Division "has a range of experiences in administering and developing historical sites and museums," including Dwight Eisenhower's birthplace and the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park.

It said the Nimitz commission had adopted a resolution recommending that it be abolished and administration of the museum be transferred to Parks and Wildlife.

The Nimitz commission of nine members was created in 1969 to commemorate the memory of Nimitz, a World War II naval leader from Texas, and the "era of supreme U.S. naval power."

The Nimitz museum is at Fredericksburg, and attendance has grown from 10,000 a year to more than 55,000.

Schwartz, D-Galveston, questioned whether the Texas Real Estate Research Center at A&M has done "anything constructive."

He instructed the Sunset staff to find out two purportedly requested reports from the center "critical" of the Deceptive Trade Practices Act and a property tax reform bill before the Legislature.

"Given the opportunity to destroy a public interest versus a private interest, I'm sure they would destroy the public interest," Schwartz said of the real estate lobby.

In other action, the Sunset Advisory Commission—which reviews the usefulness of state agencies—tentatively voted:

—7-1 to extend the life of the Veterans Affairs Commission, with the addition of one more member to the current five-member commission. It stated two of the six members should be from the general public.

"Could we at least provide they not be conscientious objectors," said Schwartz, who wanted to keep an all-veterans commission.

—7-0 to continue the State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers.

—6-0 to continue the Texas State Board of Plumbing Examiners, raising board membership from six to nine with the addition of a plumbing inspector and two public representatives.

Sunset Chairman Bennie Bock II, D-New Braunfels, proposed that new director C.A. "Clay" Wilkins of the Texas Aeronautics Commission take more time to prepare his comments to the Sunset Commission.

Wilkins was appointed to the job six days ago, and Bock said, "It is only fair that you tell us how the (aeronautics) commission should operate and what you intend to do with it."

Searchers Expect To Discover More Bodies

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—With 17 bodies recovered and 71 persons missing near Mount St. Helens, search and rescue helicopters targeted 15 areas in the devastated region where they said more dead could be found today.

Flying conditions improved with the rains coming to an end and the forecast calling for partially clearing skies.

Late Thursday, U.S. Forest Service spokesman Terry Virgin said the death toll from Sunday's blast that leveled 150 square miles of trees stood at 17. Ben Bena, a Cowlitz County sheriff's deputy, said all 17 bodies had been recovered.

Helicopter crews Thursday were airborne despite foul weather, ferrying bodies to a temporary morgue being set up at the Toledo airport.

Virgin said a dog was found near the bodies of two victims and brought to safety Thursday, but he had no details on where it was located. He would not speculate on whether the animal's discovery could mean a chance of other survivors near the volcano.

Damage estimates from the blast, meanwhile, soared past half a billion dollars, and President Carter was visibly shaken Thursday after touring the southwest Washington region he earlier declared a major disaster area.

Robert Stevens of the Federal Emergency Management Agency said a disaster relief center would be established today in nearby Kelso. He said the government was prepared to offer low interest loans, grants, unemployment compensation and housing assistance for up to one year for people displaced by the blast, which leveled thousands of acres of pristine forest and sent mud and debris racing down rivers.

The volcano ejected only steam from its gaping crater Thursday but shot its white displays up to 20,000 feet at least once. Seismic noise — which some geologists say could mean the movement of molten rock deep within the peak — was recorded in the afternoon.

Tim Hait, a USGS geologist, called the Sunday blast "a 10,000-year event. The odds of having another within a few weeks or years are statistically very small."

Meanwhile, residents of ash-choked eastern Washington and northern Idaho got relief as rain helped settle and clear the grit that clogged machinery, made breathing difficult and stranded thousands of travelers.

And USGS scientists said Thursday that a huge dam at the top of the Toutle River formed by a slide of mud and volcanic debris may be a permanent fixture on Spirit Lake. They earlier feared it might release water in a devastating flood.

Pete Lipman, a USGS scientist, was one of two geologists who inspected the dam Thursday and flew into the crater estimated at nearly a mile deep and more than two miles wide.

Saying the mission "was not without considerable trepidation," Lipman said Spirit Lake at the foot of the mountain was "an unattractive, evil-looking place for the dead."

"It was very, very eerie to be out in places where I had spent most of the last month and a half (before the eruption) and which don't exist any more," he said.

Next to Spirit Lake once stood the lodge of Harry Truman, a feisty 84-year-old who refused to leave.

He has been missing since the blast, which was estimated by USGS scientists to have had a force equivalent to 10 to 50 megatons. A megaton equals 1 million tons of TNT.

The greatest man-made explosion, the 1951 Soviet detonation of a hydrogen bomb, equalled about 50 megatons.

"It's a horrible sight," Carter said after his helicopter tour of the area. "I don't know if there is anything else like it in the world."

Early damage estimates included $260 million in crop damage east of the Cascades, $200 million in timber felled from the mountain's blast and $40 million worth of destruction to bridges and highways from floods and mudflows.

The first federal money to arrive was $210,000 from the Department of Labor given to Spokane to hire workers for ash cleanup.

Rain — eastern Washington. "It's better than Christmas," shouted one pedestrian in Spokane. Carter told Idaho Gov. John Evans he would declare the northern part of that state, counties hit hard by ash fallout, an emergency area, opening the door for federal aid.

Pageant Fails To Pay Off For Biloxi

BLOXI, Miss. (AP)—Restaurant and hotel owners along this state's Gulf Coast have withdrawn their backing of the Miss USA Pageant, saying economic returns have not equaled the effort of staging the beauty contest here the past two years.

The move came as the Miss USA Pageant Coast Committee discussed Thursday whether to offer to host the pageant for another five years.

Businesses had backed the nationally televised contest as a way of attracting tourists. But some restaurant owners say they're not making up for the cost of providing free food and innkeepers say the pageant creates occupancy problems during the peak tourist season.

Children Work With Computers

DETROIT (AP)—A group of fourth, fifth and sixth-grade students are attending a special class in computers at Wayne State University. The pilot project, conducted in cooperation with the Detroit Teacher Center, is designed to study how younger children handle instruction in computers.

"They are very enthusiastic and pick up the concepts of computer usage faster than adults," says Gary Marchionni, director of the mathematics education resource center at the University. He plans to have the youngsters develop computer programs useful to their teachers by the time the term is over.

While the equipment the kids use is very sophisticated, a sign in the classroom is simple: "Unless your mother is enrolled in this course, clean up your own mess!"

There are more than 7,400 banking branches serving 2,000 communities throughout Canada.

A theft and two minor traffic accidents were the items investigated Thursday by the police department.

Reporting the theft was Stella Webb, 2901 Ave. M. She told officer Kerry Fritz that mechanical parts to an antique windmill had been stolen. That loss was estimated at $100.

The first accident was in the 4000 block of College Ave. at 12:55 p.m. involved in it were a 1979 Chevrolet driven by Robby Trevey and a 1971 Ford driven by Lara Moore. The accident was investigated by Sgt. Jerry Parker.

Don Cheek investigated a two-car collision at a parking lot at Cogdell Memorial Hospital at 4:35 p.m. There, a 1968 Chevrolet driven by Francisco Fierro struck a parked 1974 Chevrolet owned by Shirley Keen.

Problem Dog Becomes Hero

MARINE CITY, Mich. (AP)—A 6-year-old Doberman pinscher with a yen for nocturnal garbage can raids, may get a break from law officers here after her single-pawed capture of a robbery suspect.

"I think she's redeemed herself," Marine City Police Chief Jack Kelly said Thursday.

The Police Department had ticketed Rod Papin, Amy's owner and a Marine City police officer, for the dog's late-night ramblings after receiving a complaint.

But earlier this month, Papin and Amy were walking past a service station when Amy noticed two men emerge with quarts of oil. Amy took off in hot pursuit of one of the men and finally tracked him down.

Kelly now says he plans to ask the city's attorney to dismiss the ticket against Papin and Amy. The two men have been charged with breaking and entering into a building and await trial.

Hair-Raising Case Retrial

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—A New Jersey appeals court has ordered a new trial on a woman's charges that she was so frightened by an explosion near her home that all her hair and body hair fell out.

The Appellate Division of Superior Court overturned a judge's dismissal of the suit, ruling Thursday that doctors said Colleen Dolan's hair loss could have been caused by a 1974 explosion at Atlantic Chemical Corp.

The company's lawyers had contended the loss of hair was an "extraordinary occurrence not reasonably to be expected of a normal person."

Texan Edged Out For Poker Title

By PATRICK ARNOLD
Associated Press Writer
LAS VEGAS (AP)—Stu Ungar, the gin rummy expert who turned to professional poker only a year ago, beat one of the giants of the game to capture the $730,000 "Hold 'em" contest and the World Series of Poker.

Ungar, 26 and playing in the big game for the first time, sewed up the championship Thursday when he won a $461,000 pot from Doyle Brunson, a two-time winner and one of the many Texans who played in the annual test of nerves.

The victory capped four days' play at Binion's Horseshoe Club, in the glittering downtown Casino Center.

The 46-year-old Brunson, who won the big game in 1976 and 1977 and was vying for his third win, was philosophical about his defeat.

"They'll be saying, 'Doyle who?' in a few years," said Brunson, co-manager of the card room at a Strip hotel and author of a book on poker.

The win came only two hours after the start of the fourth day's play. Five players — each of whom finished in the money — were left from a field of 73 who bought in with $10,000 each when the game began on Monday.

Ungar adopted an aggressive stance after the game was narrowed down to him and Brunson, making large bets and trying to force Brunson to call. He said after the game it was all part of his strategy.

"I was going to try to get him out quick," he said. "I knew he was the better player. I knew someone was going to go broke fast."

Ungar won $365,000, while Brunson collected $146,000. Jay Heimowitz, 42, of Monticello, N.Y. won $109,500 for this third place win. Another two-time World Series winner, Johnny Moss, 73, of Odessa, Texas, finished fourth to collect $73,000. Charles Dunwoody, of Houston came in fifth to win $36,500.

Change in bowel habits

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband is on the diet that he's always been on but now he has a problem with his bowels. Sometimes he goes for three or four days and then has a hard movement. Then the next few days he may have diarrhea. It changes back and forth all the time. Could you give me some ideas as to what could be causing this or what I should do about it?

DEAR READER — In the first place, your husband should see a doctor. Whenever a person has an unexplained change in bowel habits, either the unexplained onset of constipation or diarrhea, he should see a doctor soon. Sometimes this is a sign of cancer of the colon. In many instances, it is not but there's no way you can tell without an examination. Cancer of the colon and rectum is the second most common cause of cancer deaths and the public needs to become much more informed about this problem.

Now in most instances the problem that you describe in your husband is related to an irritable or spastic colon. This may be associated with an inadequate amount of bulk in the diet. That's why bran, which contains cereal fiber, is recommended by so many people these days. You might want to add to your husband's diet some whole wheat cereals that contain bran such as 40% Bran Flakes or any number of other cereal foods that contain whole wheat.

I'm also sending you The Health Letter number 2-1, Irritable or Spastic Colon and Constipation. It will give you a better appreciation of the problem and some of the things that can be done about it. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

In addition to adequate amounts of bulk and drinking a sufficient amount of water, there are some benefits in bowel training. The development of a regular reflex habit on a daily basis often eliminates or minimizes the problem for many people. This is also explained in The Health Letter I'm sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My 16-year-old son had a cold a few months ago and his nose became clogged. He's been using a nasal spray now for over three months. His nose still gets clogged unless he uses a spray. He has become so used to it that if he doesn't use it, he can't sleep because of his clogged nose. What should I do about this? Is this an addiction?

DEAR READER — No, it's not an addiction, but your son probably does have a chemical irritation of the lining of his sinuses. This commonly happens when people abuse the use of nasal sprays. The chemical irritation is responsible for the clogging so a person takes more sprays to relieve the clogging and the problem continues.

I would suggest that you might try just unclogging one side of his nose. In other words, use the spray only on one side and leave the other side completely alone. When the unsprayed side completely recovers, then he can stop the other side as well.

If this doesn't work, you'll need to take him to a physician and see if he can't help him get over the chemical irritation that he has developed.

Strike Averted, Agreement Reached

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball's longest night has resulted in a settlement of the lingering contract dispute between players and management and averted a strike which threatened unprecedented interruption of the major league season.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the union, and Ray Grebey, chief negotiator for the 26 owners, struggled through a marathon day and night of negotiations, finally hammering out an agreement in a seven-hour wrap-up session.

Terms were not disclosed immediately because the settlement must be presented to the Player Association's Executive Board and membership for ratification. Neither party would comment on the final disposition of the difficult free agent compensation issue, the major stumbling block throughout the talks.

"We've reached an agreement for four years," said Grebey. "We think it's a good one. There's something in it for everybody."

Miller called the settlement a victory for both sides. "That's what collective bargaining means," the union chief said. "When you reach an agreement without a strike, it's a great victory for everybody concerned."

The settlement means today's games will be played as scheduled. Grebey said only one team might have transportation problems but that he expected the schedule to be followed.

"It's a good deal all around," said Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who made his first appearance in the talks. "There was a lot of honest good-will all around. The parties worked hard at it. I'm ecstatic."

This mutual victory was not easy to achieve and several times as the final day of negotiations stretched into night, it seemed a strike was inevitable.

The settlement provides a new collective bargaining agreement, with improvements in minimum salaries and pensions among other items.

The key issue throughout was the clubs' demand for a system of free agent compensation, allowing teams losing a "premium" free agent to

Playoffs Resume, Tigers vs 'Roos

WEATHERFORD—Snyder High School was hoping to average a 1-0 loss by sweeping Weatherford's Kangaroos in two games here today with a bi-district baseball title on the line.

Weatherford, 16-7, blanked the Tigers in Snyder Tuesday to take a one-game lead in the best-of-three playoff series.

Game Two was to begin at 2 p.m. here today, with Game Three, if necessary, to begin approximately 30 minutes after the conclusion of the early tilt.

Snyder, 15-14-1, reached the bi-district series by defeating Brownfield in district 3-3A playoff action, two games to one. Weatherford defeated Graham in two games for the 4-3A title.

Pitchers for today's 2 p.m. game were expected to be William Robinson, 6-6, for Snyder, and Tommy Pina, 4-2, for Weatherford. Game One hurlers, Snyder's Tony Degrate and 'Roo Gregg Ray, would mount the hill for a Game Three, if necessary.

Should Weatherford coaches go with Ray in Game Two, Snyder Coach Albert Lewis said he would put on Degrate, thereby making Pina and Robinson the pitchers for the possible third game of the series.

Winner of the day's work will advance to meet either Monahan's (1-3A) or Lubbock's Estacado (2-3A). Monahan holds a one-game edge in their best-of-three series.

Trio Inks With TU

TULSA, Okla.—Three women basketball players from Western Texas Junior College have followed four male counterparts in signing basketball letters of intent with The University of Tulsa, announced Hurricane women's coach, Bill Biggs.

and three assists per game during her two-year career and personally set 10 season and career records for Western. She is from Austin.

career rebounds (608) and most rebounds in a game (22). An outstanding student, Plagens sports a 3.7 grade point average.

The three women join David Brown, Paul Pressey, Greg Stewart and Phil Spradling from Western Texas's national championship team as players signing with TU from that school.

Three exceptionally quick guards, 5-8 Katie Fisher, 5-8 Joyce Plagens and 5-5 Liz Hooper have all agreed to play at Tulsa this fall. The trio combined to lead Western Texas to two regional berths with records of 23-11 and 26-10, setting 25 school records in the process.

Plagens is a sophomore from Rankin, who was twice named second-team all-conference. She averaged 11.0 points and 8.7 rebounds and set six school records including Hooper played the role of sixth man at Western but is considered by her coach, Joe Cushing, to be the team's quickest and best defensive player. She is from Hamlin.

"Obviously, Coach Nolan Richardson and his players had much to do with the signing of these players," said Biggs. "All were highly recruited by major college teams and it should be a tremendous boost to our program to have such high caliber talent with experience. Coach Cushing deserves much credit too as they are extremely well coached."

LCC Stops Bearkats; Advance In Tourney

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—Lubbock Christian College will be looking for a little more magic from the bats of Tim Leslie, Tommy Inman and Steve Brigante today when it meets Grand Canyon College of Arizona in the finals of the NAIA Area 2 baseball tournament.

Sam Houston State Grand Canyon earned its berth in the finals with a home run barrage from Rick Jones, Rick Showers and Eric Rasmussen that sank Sam Houston 8-1 in the second game Thursday.

Leslie, Inman and Brigante slugged home runs Thursday to power LCC to a 6-2 win over host

If Grand Canyon wins today, a second game will be played immediately because LCC has not yet lost in the double-elimination tournament.

Houston Does Fine, Manager Elated

NEW YORK (AP)—Houston Manager Bill Virdon was a reasonably happy man considering the curious atmosphere surrounding the Astros 8-5 victory over the New York Mets.

Two of the things that pleased him the most were home runs by Craig Reynolds and Cesar Ceedno. Those two homers lifted the Houston season total to 21 compared to the club's total of 40 for all of the 1979 season.

Reliever Frank LaCorte was another source of pleasure for Virdon as the hard-throwing right-hander earned his fourth save in relief of Joe Niekro, 5-2, who gave up 11 hits in less than seven innings.

Texas Rallies To Rip Angels

ARLINGTON (AP)—The spectre of a players' strike came in the midst of the best-start Buddy Bell has had in nine years in the major leagues.

start I don't think a layoff would be any harder for me than anybody else. I don't think I've been thinking about it, although it's been in the back of all our minds," Bell said. His 4-for-5 night raised his average to .350 for the year.

Reynolds' first-inning drive off New York starter Mark Bomback was his first of the season while Cedenio's two-run homer in the fifth off loser Kevin Kobel, 0-3, was his third.

"Usually I'm hitting .200 at this time of the season," he said after his two home runs and two singles drove in four runs and led the Texas Rangers past California 12-6 Thursday night.

Both Bell's homers came off reliever Jim Barr, who took over for starter Don Aase, 3-4, after Mickey Rivers' RBI single Bump Wills' two-run homer and Al Oliver's single in the fourth.

LaCorte has greatly improved his control," Virdon said after his reliever lowered his ERA to 0.45 for 15 appearances.

Ladies Cop Bass Prizes

Lana Heffernan and Pat Hood grabbed top prizes at the Snyder Bass Club Bass 'n' Gals Championship held recently.

But Bell greeted Barr with a towering homer into the leftfield bleachers, then came back to hit a solo home run in the sixth. California manager Jim Fregosi brought in Chris Knapp to pitch the final two innings.

Nations intending to participate in the Summer Olympics must submit their applications by midnight Saturday. The International Olympic Committee says the official list of entrants will be announced Tuesday.

of the top tournaments in West Texas this year.

Teams from Midland, Trent, Odessa, Lameasa, Big Spring, Abilene, Lubbock, Snyder, Colorado City and Sweetwater have entered the three-day meet which begins here May 30 and concludes June 1.

Redlegs Rap Del Rio Twice

DEL RIO—Snyder Redlegs swept a double header from the Del Rio Colts here recently. The 'legs will travel to San Angelo on Sunday.

Snyder took the Colts 8-7 in the opener, behind the pitching of Raymond Valdez. Robert Alderete knocked a home run for the winners. Larry Brazziel had four hits and Roxy Small added two doubles.

In the second game, Snyder won 12-6. Ricky Hernandez started on the hill, relieved in the third by Alderete. Snyder trailed going into the seventh inning when Mike Valdez hit in the tying and winning runs. Alderete got a solo home run in the game.

Reagan Becomes King With Bush 'On Hold'

By The Associated Press
With George Bush's campaign "on hold," Ronald Reagan seems to have become finally the indisputable king of the Republican mountain. President Carter, however, finds his hold on the Democratic peak under assault from new quarters.

Bush virtually conceded the GOP presidential nomination to Reagan on Thursday by canceling weekend appearances in New Jersey and closing his operations in California.

California alone, with 168 national nominating delegates at stake in its June 3 primary, would give Reagan more than enough votes to gain the 998 delegates needed for the nomination.

"We're putting the campaign on hold," said Bush's deputy campaign press secretary, Susan Morrison. "We are pulling people out of California."

The fire occurred at 1706 Ave. R, in a mobile home owned by Jesse Wells.

fornia because we do not have the money."

Bush's actions fell short of actual withdrawal, but they seemed to leave him no other real choice with only 10 days left in the primary season. He was expected to announce a decision next week, as early as Sunday, on whether he was quitting the race.

Reagan had no comment Thursday on Bush's likely withdrawal, and a Reagan spokesman, Joe Holmes, said the campaign was being cautious about interpreting the underdog's moves as a sign he was quitting.

Carter, used to attacks from Republicans and from party rival Edward M. Kennedy, found himself being criticized Thursday by fellow Democrat Henry M. Jackson.

The senator from Washington, an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972 and 1976, told a party dinner in Chicago that the Democrats are in trouble under Carter.

"Many Americans in this election year would like to vote for 'none of the above,'" he said in an apparent reference to Carter and Reagan as the likely candidates in the general election.

"We would be kidding ourselves if we failed to recognize among the voters a distinct lack of enthusiasm for the choices they are likely to face in November," he said.

Although he said his criticisms were "not directed personally" at Carter, Jackson omitted Carter's name from a list of Democratic presidents he said had "made America work."

the type of building needed.

In any event, he said, he plans to fulfill his contract with the city to provide the animal shelter facilities. The property already is zoned properly for that use and no further hearings would be required on that issue.

In other business last night, the zoning board of adjustment granted Mrs. Dean Phillips' request for a temporary variance to permit her to locate a mobile home at 3305 Ave. A temporarily.

Dr. Jack Nesbit presided over the board's session and other members attending were Vernon Young, C.A. McCown, Jack Gorman, Ira Riggs and Randy Mosley.

Herbert Hoover, we are in trouble," Jackson said. "When Democrats are accused of trying to fight inflation by throwing people out of work - the very thing we accused Richard Nixon of doing - we are in trouble."

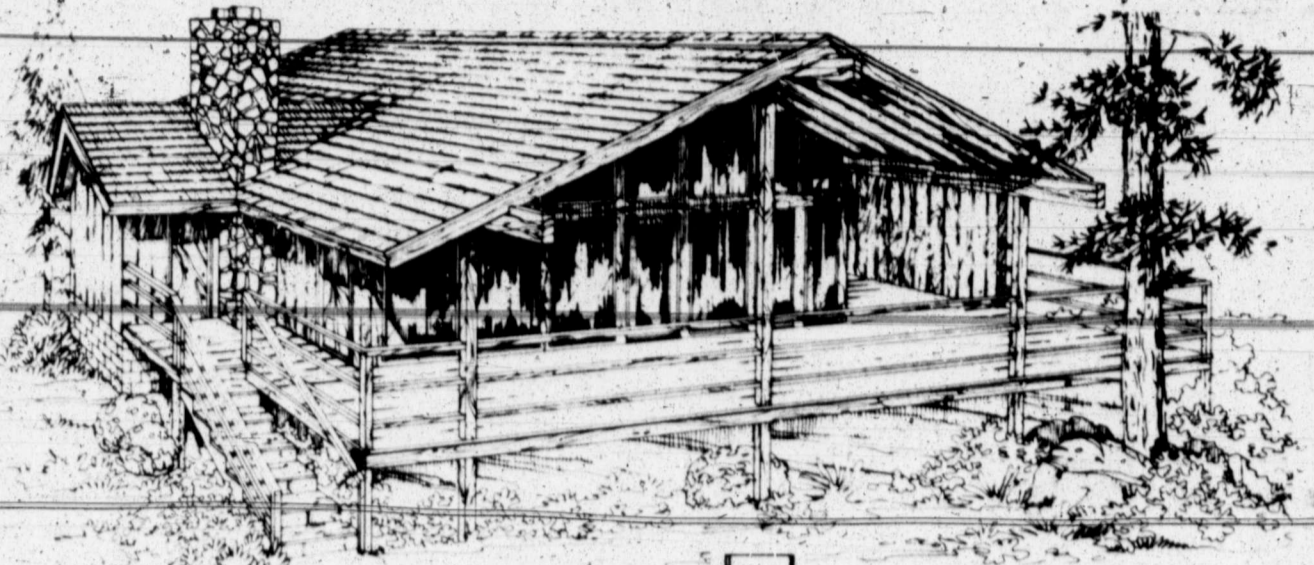

Jackson, a former Democratic national chairman, has been neutral in the battle between Carter and Kennedy. He has been mentioned as a possible compromise candidate, but Rick Cocker, his press secretary, said he "has not encouraged anyone to do anything on his behalf."

Carter spokesmen said Thursday night that they'd have no immediate comment on Jackson's blast.

Kennedy also kept up his barrage against the president on Thursday. Speaking at the Martin Luther King Hospital in Los Angeles' black section, he accused Carter of not having a commitment to "providing decent, quality health care to the citizens of this nation."

Kennedy has been campaigning hard in the three biggest states with primaries June 3 - California, Ohio and New Jersey. On Thursday, it was announced he will give a "major foreign policy speech" May 29 in Cleveland - the same day Carter appears in that and several other Ohio cities on his first openly political appearance this year.

Good Looking - Good Living

HOME DESIGN

By Larry Farnsworth

Good looking is the perfect phrase to describe this charming vacation home. Its pleasing lines make it very good to look at and its generous lineup of windows makes the "looking out" good for those within.

Build it by your favorite lake, on a scenic mountainside or wherever your vacation preferences take you. This perfect vacation home will provide comfortable living quarters plus excellent viewing of the scenes which please you most.

The huge raised covered deck, spanning the front and sides of the central portion of this 810 square foot house, provide a generous bonus of additional outdoor living space. And, see how those six windows flanking the front entrance draw together both indoor and outdoor living areas. Note, too how the good floor plan provides efficient separation of dining and living areas while maintaining a pleasing air of spaciousness. And, picture your family and friends enjoying cozy moments by the big raised hearth.

The efficient U-shaped kitchen offers an excellent amount of work and storage space and a sink window, looking out across that delightful deck to the scenery beyond. There is a utility-laundry room, too, just across the living room.

At the back of the house are two pleasant bedrooms and a full bath, as well as a handy back entry. Here, too, consideration for the owners' comfort predominates. Just see that full wall of master bedroom closets and the sliding glass doors leading to the side-of-the-house deck.

If you have long been looking for a vacation house which departs from the traditional floor plan... if you seek a retreat which offers you good viewing of your favorite scenes from all of its rooms, you will enjoy this model to the fullest. Here is a truly "good looking" design... good to look at and to look from.

You may purchase complete working drawings, material lists and plan books from Larry Farnsworth, P.O. Box 1841, Las Vegas, Nevada 89101.

Budget Worries House Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democratic leaders are worried about the chances of getting their colleagues to go along with a compromise $613.3 billion budget that contains the largest peacetime defense spending increase in history.

If the figures placed on paper by a House-Senate conference committee can withstand the reality of a worsening economy - with the possibility of lower tax revenues and higher unemployment payments - it would be the first balanced budget in 12 years.

The leadership began polling House members Thursday to get a feel for the budget's support. However, initial signs point to serious difficulty in pushing the package through the House on a vote expected next Thursday.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. and Majority Whip John Brafemas, D-Ind., agreed that the vote looked "tight" and that formidable opposition was building against the budget for fiscal 1981, which starts Oct. 1.

Already opposed by many conservative Republicans and liberal Democrats, the compromise is now under attack from an influential group of liberal-to-moderate Democrats who object to the high defense spending.

O'Neill, D-Mass., said about 40 Democrats who voted for the House version of a balanced budget earlier this month had told him "they doubt if they can vote for" the compromise.

"If we lost 40, we really have a problem," O'Neill said, adding that such a loss of Democratic votes would put the fate of the budget firmly in the hands of Republicans who traditionally vote against Democratic spending plans.

would make its approval extremely unlikely.

However, Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., Budget Committee chairman, said he was "optimistic" that the budget would clear the House, drawing votes from moderate Republicans and Democrats. Senate approval is seen as almost certain.

ed with 1.6 percent in the preceding month. "Mortgage interest rates rose less than in March, but house prices rose more," the report said. It added that home heating oil prices went up 0.5 percent, the smallest increase since the summer of 1978.

-Clothing costs advanced 0.3 percent in April after rising 2 percent in March, when many women's clothing prices were boosted.

-Transportation prices went up 0.6 percent last month, compared with 1.7 percent in March and 2.8 percent in February, as gasoline prices held steady and used-car prices fell. It was the smallest increase in almost two years for transportation items, the report said.

Treasury Secretary G. William Miller told The Associated Press in an interview earlier this week that he was confident double-digit inflation would be tamed by year's end.

Miller said he believed Federal Reserve Board action in March to restrict the growth in business and consumer credit had "remarkably corrected inflation psychology" that prompted Americans to buy now to avoid future price increases.

A similar forecast has come from Data Resources Inc. of Lexington, Mass. The nation's largest forecasting company predicts prices will rise at an annual rate of 8.5 percent in the final quarter this year.

The onset of recession may be one reason for the slowdown.
