Carter Fights Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) The Carter administration will fight the compromise balanced budget in Congress because it increases defense spending at the expense of domestic programs. The president told community leaders from 20 states Tuesday that the 1981 budget approved by a House-Senate conference committee would "severely restrain some programs that have been carefully designed to promote jobs, help cities and provide job training. We cannot afford to slice those too deeply and add money for defense that is more than we actually need," he said.

Traffic Toll Declines

By The Associated Press
Traffic accidents during the Memorial Day weekend claimed 411 lives - the lowest toll for a three-day observance of the holiday since 1974. There were 389 traffic fatalities on the Memorial Day weekend in 1974, the first year of the federal 55 mph speed limit. The death count started at 6 p.m. local time Friday and ended at midnight Monday. The National Safety Council had said between 450 and 550 highway deaths could be expected during the period. Council statisticians said the normal traffic death toll for a three-day, non-holiday period for this time of the year is 493.

Tapes Become Public

WASHINGTON (AP) Now the public can hear, dirty words and all, the tape-recorded conversations about Watergate that caused Richard Nixon to resign as president and sent his close associates to jail. Starting today, 31 of the 950 tapes secretly made by Nixon are available to the public at the National Archives. But only about 100 listeners a day can be accommodated at 24 listening posts. What they will hear are the tapes heard by the jury that convicted H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell and Robert C. Marjolin in 1975 of conspiring to obstruct justice and the jury that acquitted former Texas Gov. John B. Connally of accepting a bribe from milk producers.

Reward Shared By Six

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) More than $10,000 in reward money has been handed to each of six persons who provided information to aid the arrest and conviction of Roger Dale Stafford in the Sirlin Stockade murders, officials said. Oklahoma City Attorney Dean Brown said $60,431.52 was split between Elmer Ray Tackett, Gregory Don Martin, Pam Lynch, Rose Ann Marie Collins, Teresia Darlene Bennett and Linda McFarland Lewis. The six furnished information used by Oklahoma County District Attorney Andrew Coats to convict Stafford on six counts of first-degree murder. Stafford received six death sentences for the murders.

You hear a lot about the consumer these days. There are people in high places who sing his praises and claim they are fighting his battles. They introduce various programs, impose restrictions and adopt regulations for the benefit of the consumer. To hear them make their pitch, you would think that the consumer is some helpless, weak, ignorant individual who must have big brother's arms to lean on to keep from falling flat on his face. Most of these consumer-helpers, of course, are drawing attractive salaries at the expense of you guessed it--the consumer.

If you stop and think for a moment, everybody is a consumer. The people who derive their income from the production and marketing of gasoline, for example, are consumers of the products of the food and fabric industry. Those who grow the crops and produce the food and fabric are consumers of gasoline and implements. Those who market the products from the fields and factories are consumers of nearly everything. But it all shakes out to the fact that everybody is a consumer. And it also is a fact that some consumers have been getting more "services" from big brother than they really wanted.

So, it is somewhat heartening to learn the past few days that the consumer (anybody who consumes something, still wields some power on his own. The economists tell us that the nation is in a business recession. Why? Well, inflation had reached the boiling over state and he (the consumer) got tired of paying through the nose. Consequently, the consumer has become more cautious in his shopping habits and business dealings. He is cooling off from a red hot binge that kept demands high for nearly anything offered for sale. This attitude, in turn, has had a tendency, some of the analysts now say, to cool off the inflationary spiral. Now, big brother is suddenly worried about inflation fading out too rapidly. This should make us nervous. If big brother is really concerned about the consumer, he should let him alone for a while and see what the consumer can do under his own power, which still may be considerable, notwithstanding a lot of sympathy from the Ralph Naders.

Lease Problem Delays Midland-Odessa Plant

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) Problems with a lease have delayed American Atomic Corp.'s plans to move to Midland-Odessa, Texas, the chief licensing in the Texas Radiation Control Branch said. The former Tucson company, using the name of Santana Industries Inc., had asked for a license in January to manufacture tritium-filled exit signs, Joe Gorrell, of the Texas Health Department, said Tuesday. But he said a question has arisen over the lease. "They may have lost the lease on the property. It could delay the application considerably. There was a 'very good chance' that the lease had not fully understood the type of manufacturing planned for the property, Gorrell said. Tritium is a highly elusive gas that emits low-level radiation. Peter Biehl, president of American Atomic, now undergoing reorganization in U.S. Bankruptcy Court here, declined to discuss his plans for a new business. He confirmed that the company had been applied in Texas and had no plans for any other state. The Texas license could have been issued within the next two weeks had no complication occurred in the lease arrangements, said Gorrell. The license would allow Santana Industries to handle 26,000 curies of tritium and small amounts of carbon 14 to manufacture exit signs. If the company wanted to start manufacturing tritium-filled backlights for digital watches it would have to undergo further review, said Gorrell. Compared to the hundreds of thousands of curies of tritium American Atomic was licensed to handle in Tucson, the 26,000 limit is small, said a member of the Arizona Atomic Energy Commission. He said it was less than half of what the manufacturing company was leasing in any three-month period during its last two years of operation here. Biehl and Harry Dooley Jr. remain as officers in the newly formed company, Gorrell said.

McCown Big Winner At Fun Breakfast

C.A. McCown, owner of Snyder's Food Baskets, was winner of $200 at Wednesday morning's chamber membership Fun Breakfast held at the Smorgasbord. Winner of $10 was Jimmy Daniels, manager of Northern Electric. Those who found a dollar bill on the bottom of their chair were Elizabeth Potts, Roy McCloskey, Bob Johnson and George Killam. A total of 51 persons were present, and chamber of commerce manager Bill Warner served as master of ceremonies. Purpose of the membership breakfast is to acquaint members with chamber services and functions. To be eligible for the big prize, it was necessary to be present since the name was drawn from the entire chamber membership. The prize included $100 from this month's breakfast and $100 unclaimed from the March breakfast. The jackpot will be $100 at the next Fun Breakfast and will be kept in the jackpot if unclaimed.

Schools Set Award Event

The Snyder Public Schools administration and board of trustees will honor school personnel who have earned service awards and those retiring at a personnel awards program Saturday, at 2 p.m. in the Snyder High School Auditorium. Scurry County TSTA-Snyder CTA will provide refreshments for a reception. This program is in place of the awards night program previously scheduled May 15 which was cancelled because of the rain. The public is invited to attend the awards program and reception.

Nomination Virtually Assured...

Carter Needs Only 86 More

By WALTER MEARS, AP Special Correspondent
President Carter is one week -- and eight primary elections -- from the delegate majority that will deliver him the Democratic nomination and set up a three-way autumn campaign for the presidency. The president needs but 86 more votes, or about 12 percent of the 696 Democratic delegates to be awarded next Tuesday in the final installment of the long-running primary election serial. Carter can't miss winning enough delegates to put him in line for the competition with Republican Ronald Reagan and independent John B. Anderson for the White House in the fall. Carter defeated Sen. Edward M. Kennedy Tuesday in three more primaries, gained 66 delegates, and The Associated Press count of delegate commitments now shows him with 1,580 of the 1,666 votes that will mean re-nomination. Kennedy has 849. The Carter victories were in Kentucky, Arkansas and Nevada. He also won a preferential vote in Idaho, but that was for show, not delegates. White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said the Carter campaign figures the president is only "a handful of delegates, four or five from nominating strength. Once Carter gets his majority, only an unlikely upheaval in which Democratic rules are revised to release delegates from their commitments will stand between him and a second run for the White House. But Kennedy, campaigning in Charleston, W.Va., was conceding nothing to Carter. He said the real test would come in the big primaries next Tuesday. "I'm convinced that June 3 can be decisive, and I'm also convinced that a powerful and strong showing on June 3 by a candidate can't be denied at the Democratic convention," he said. Reagan, a three-time winner Tuesday, will be the Republican nominee, by close to acclamation. He is unopposed now, with George Bush out of the competition for lack of money and delegates. "No sooner had Bush dropped his challenge than delegates once aligned with him began to sign on with Reagan. The former California governor won another 59 delegates in the latest set of primaries, and soared

Iran's Parliament Urged To Reject All Compromises

By The Associated Press
Iran's new Parliament convened today with calls from Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini to guard against plotters, from President Abolhassen Bani Sadr to pump life into a nearly bankrupt economy, and from the militants holding the U.S. hostages to keep the captives until the shah and his wealth are returned. "If America returns the traitor deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and the wealth he has plundered, the hostages will be reprieved and expelled from Iran," the militants said. "Otherwise they will be tried and punished. Lack of compromise is the key to victory," the militants declared. The militants also said the conditions they outlined for the hostages' release represented the "nation's demand," and that if the Parliament took any other position it would have to be justified and accepted by the Iranian people. Their comments echoed views expressed Tuesday in the newspaper of the hardline Islamic Republican Party that controls the Parliament. The newspaper said the 53 American hostages, in their 207th day in captivity today, should be held until the shah and his riches are returned to Iran and America pays damages. Even though hardliners apparently will control the parliament, Yadollah Sahabi, a top adviser to moderate, former Prime Minister Mehdi Bazargan, was chosen provisional chairman and Bazargan selected as his deputy despite the shouted protest of Ayatollah Sadegh Khalkhali, a firebrand judge who has sent scores of Iranians before firing squads. Khomeini's message mirrored the religious fervor of the Parliament, which is dominated by hardline Moslem clergymen. The mullahs, or priests, wore white or black turbans in stark contrast to the red and gold hues of the ornate chamber. "Maintain a policy of neither East nor West in all domestic affairs and

Water District Okays Contract

A water sales contract with the Sayers Operating Company for secondary recovery purposes was approved Tuesday by directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. The District will furnish up to 6,000 barrels of water a day from the terminal storage and diversion works above Colorado City. Sayers will take the water, starting Sept. 1, 1980, from the District's existing lines in Mitchell County. O.H. Ivie, general manager, said that the offer to sell the City of Sweetwater from Lake Spence had not been acted upon, and that Sweetwater meantime had acquired some 1,500,000 gallons a day from Getty Oil Company wells, near Maryneal. Sweetwater also inquired if the District could extend its target area in weather modification to include Sweetwater's laked areas. Ivie said this could be done by the District serving as contractor for Sweetwater. He also reported that a P-Navajo airplane, which was damaged extensively on an aborted take-off at Boulder, Colo., had been replaced by a later model of the same make. It has been equipped with cloud physics and other scientific packages and should be in service within a few days. Insurance, salvage and repair funds should take care of the cost, he said. Ivie also told the directors he was continuing with his negotiations with Texas Utilities Services, Inc. regarding a contract for water from the Stacy project.

back stenholtz bill

A Texas Democrat and a Kansas Republican have teamed up to launch an effort in Congress to preserve a fundamental American principle.

Both came up with bills in the wake of the "windfall" profits tax designed to cushion the blow to small royalty owners.

Congressman Charles W. Stenholtz' bill would exempt the royalty owners up to 10 barrels per day of royalty interest under the so-called windfall tax. The 17th District Congressman's bill, H.R. 7211, is similar to one introduced by Congressman Keith Sebelius, a Republican from Kansas.

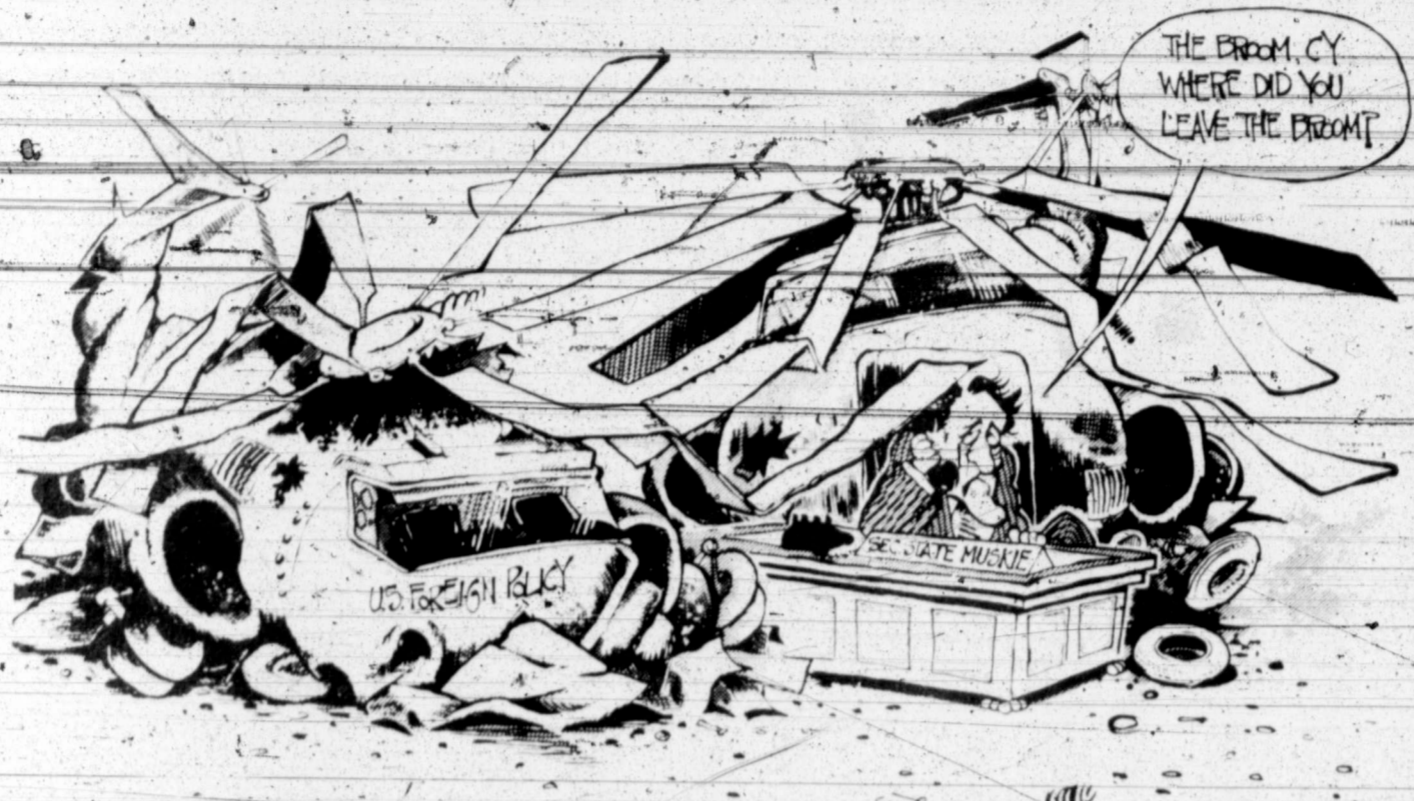

The two Congressmen, noting the similarities of their proposed legislation, have decided to join forces in hopes that they can influence enough of their colleagues to put their legislation across.

What chance does it have?

Well, there is evidence here and there that some of the Congressmen who supported the windfall profits tax may be wondering whether they went too far. Also, Stenholtz, who represents Scurry County in the Congress, has come up with a challenging argument—that the windfall profits tax flies in the face of private ownership of property in America.

Many small royalty owners today rely upon their royalty checks to counter economic problems occasioned by inflation. This is especially true, Stenholtz reminds, of retired persons whose royalty checks supplement their social security payments.

So far, Stenholtz and Sebelius have attracted around 50 co-sponsors of their legislation and the expect more. It will be a tough battle to see this through Congress, and they are going to need support out in the hinterlands as well as in the legislative halls. We should see that they get it.

democrat alternatives

While the president who never promised us a Rose Garden because he apparently wanted to keep it all to himself has been sticking close to his crisis command post, a collection of surrogates has been out campaigning for him.

Rosalynn Carter and Walter Mondale to name two. And there are some out here who are commencing to think that either one might be a more effective choice for the presidential nomination than the candidate himself.

Particularly the last named. So much so that a syndrome that might be labeled the "Mondale alternative" is spreading among liberal Democrats.

The thinking is that handicapped by the Midwest mess and dragging economy, Jimmy Carter might be persuaded to step aside and allow the convention to nominate Mondale, thereby carrying on the banner of the administration in which he served, while still giving the electorate a fresh choice.

But to those who know the two men well, it is definitely wishful thinking. Mondale, who has played every bit as meaningful a role in the Carter administration as originally promised, is reported to be particularly anxious to squelch speculation on such an alternative.

And he has the enthusiastic assistance of campaign director Robert Strauss and party chairman John White, among others. All together, and providing the Carter handicaps do not prove to be of the uncontrollably proliferating variety between now and the Democrats' August rendezvous in New York, they may be successful in squelching too vocal speculation, if not wishes.

Now about Rosalynn.

A class of fourth graders at the Grimes Center for Creative Learning are nine years old, going on bankruptcy.

They're all enrolled in a class of money management and fiscal responsibility. They perform all kinds of jobs like cleaning cabinets, dusting erasers and inspecting the locker room. For these chores, they're paid a salary and blue mimeographed money.

At the end of the week they are paid. However, 20 percent of their money is deducted for taxes for the teacher's salary. Then there's deductions for rent, water, electricity and a special fee for using the pencil sharpener.

Students are fired for being absent from or late to their jobs. If they are "evicted" for non-payment of rent, their desks are stacked at the back of the room and their belongings are piled on top.

So far the locker room inspector has been fired and had to learn to live below his means, a couple of students were "evicted" and a few of them had to form a loan company and live in the "low rent" area of the room in a cluster of desks by the door.

Is this a terrific idea? It may be just the biggest eye-opener to hit education since page 186 of the June, 1953, National Geographics magazine in the library.

I should have had such a course when I was in grade school. I got married, thinking all money was mimeographed and whenever a letter came with a see-through address, I gave it to my husband and said, "I do floors - not windows!"

I passed on through the miracle of genetics one of the greatest mathematical minds of the 14th century to my children. The first job my son got, he came in and said, "I can't believe it! I think I owe them money for working. What's FICA?"

"It's a deduction for Social Security."

"I don't want to join," he said.

"It's not a tennis club; it's a retirement benefit."

"I already paid for one in another box. What does federal withholding tax go for?"

"On your salary, a paper clip for national defense."

Look at these deductions! State tax! Charitable contributions! Medical! Dues! What a rip-off! I've worked 30 solid, long, back-breaking hours for all of this. I can't go on living like this."

I didn't have the heart to tell him that if he had to pay for his food, room, lights, air conditioning, heat, laundry, medical, cable TV, clothes and phone, we'd have to move his desk to the garage and stack his belongings on top of it.

sensible risks pay off

NEW YORK (AP)—Twelve years ago Dan M. Krausse, tired of working for others and seeing others reap the rewards, quit his job as head of Fort Worth's Champlin Petroleum. "I had no idea what I'd do," he says.

To some extent that was not true. Acclaimed as a manager, his instincts were entrepreneurial; he knew that at age 42 he wished to exercise them, and he knew also that he was willing to take big but calculated risks.

"I gave myself 12 months to think and to do," he said. "If I struck out I'd get a job." The job, he said, "was my Dan Krausse hit a grand slam. In little more than those 12 months he devised a plan, arranged $12.5 million of credit, bought a refinery and a mine, went public, repaid the loan. And soon was in the black.

There is a lesson in Krausse's experience. In his words, "There is always opportunity, even in troubled times, in times of uncertainty and apprehension." But, he said, you must take risks, sensible risks.

"Not reckless risks. Reckless means taking a risk you can't manage and hoping you can scrape through."

Krausse's pace has slowed little since 1969. Determined to "enhance shareholder wealth at an extraordinary rate," he has made his Earth Resources Co. one of the nation's premier growth enterprises.

Compustat, a firm that analyzes business performance, rates it the fastest-growing company over the past decade. Forbes magazine ranked it first among all energy companies in return on equity.

Operating Delta Refining in Memphis, the brand-new North Pole refinery in Alaska, 236 gasoline stations, a tug and barge fleet, a road paving company, a fish protein operation and other ventures, Earth Resources earned $16.5 million last year on revenues of $406.2 million.

In one year, assets rose $55 million to $221.6 million, and the equity of shareholders rose to $78.5 million from $66.5 million. Krausse says it all will continue, in spite of economic upheavals and uncertainties.

our ability to respond to change," he said during a brief visit here from his Dallas office. "...For a company like ours to compete we must have the ability to recognize change and not only adapt to it but identify opportunities and then respond more quickly than others."

In times past, growth companies have tended to lose their ability to shift. Like athletes, the accretion of weight, the sluggishness of age, the responsibility of assets have left them unable or unwilling to exploit opportunities. Will Earth Resources succumb?

Krausse, now 55, is aware of the threat and certain he can meet it. Open, full communication, teamwork and hard-nosed decision-making are part of the strategy, which he develops along with John Arnold, founder of ExecuTrak Systems Inc., a Waltham, Mass., consulting firm.

The result, Krausse hopes, will be to make clear to all executives the condition of the company and their contribution to its overall goals, constantly regenerating the spirit of entrepreneurship that launched it.

my turn

by joann nunley

The National Golf Foundation reports that more women than men are taking up golf. More leisure time, the added income produced by working women, and golf clubs designed for women have all contributed to an increasing interest in the sport.

And because of this added popularity, golf is becoming a favorite topic at luncheons and conventions. Whether you play the game or not, you'll want to understand what is meant by being trapped in a "bunker."

To help you sound like a pro, here's a list of golf terms from the experts:

Ace-is a hole scored in one stroke.

Approach-is a shot aimed to the green or the pin.

Apron-is the grassy area bordering the green, also known as the fringe.

Birdie-is one stroke under par for a particular hole.

Bogey-is one stroke over par for a particular hole.

Bunker-is a sand trap.

Chip shot-is any short shot played up toward the green from a distance of less than 20 yards.

Dogleg-is a bend to the right or left in the fairway.

Fairway-is the area between the tee and green.

Handicap-is strokes allowed a poorer player to equalize her ability with a more experienced player.

Hook-is to hit a ball so it curves to the left of target.

Itc-is the position in which the ball rests on the ground.

Pitch-is a short shot to the green.

Slice-is to hit a ball so it curves to the right of target.

These are just a few terms to help you be included in the conversation or at least understand parts of it, when your husband or friends talk golf. At one time I thought everyone played the game but me, so I signed up for summer golf lessons for women. After the fifth day I was satisfied that there are people "cut out" for the sport and some are not. Retaining a little of the lingo of the links, I can almost follow the sportscasters and some conversations.

At one time, platinum was gold-plated to make counterfeit gold coins. It was almost impossible to detect the fraud by weight because the density of both metals is almost the same.

To The Daily News; The Special Olympics team from Snyder just recently returned from the state Special Olympics track and field meet in Austin, while in Austin, our chaperones communicated with many people from throughout the state. We were amazed to find that the majority of the districts are supported strictly by their independent school systems for Special Olympics.

In Snyder, we do not have the program set up this way. A few men and women are responsible to get our athletes prepared and ready for the meets. The school system does furnish a bus when necessary. This we appreciate very much, but I would like to see Snyder have a program for Special Olympics providing coaches and support all the way.

We were particularly impressed by Levelland, Andrews and Monahans. Fees were paid for athletes and chaperones. Coaches were sent to help and the big athletic buses from Monahans and Andrews were used for the trip.

We work very hard to try to have a charter bus, so this trip can be more enjoyable for athletes and chaperones. The people of Snyder back the high school and college athletic programs in all they do. I think it is time to realize we have an athletic team of handicapped people who need our support. The Special Olympics is as important to the handicapped as is the high school and college programs for their kids. If anyone is interested in any way in helping with Special Olympics, please contact Ruth Banks at 573-0961.

Dad's choice for his Father's Day feast? Steak, of course! This year treat that special dad to a special steak flavored with Oriental flair, suggests the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Thick, juicy beef rib steaks pick up Far Eastern accents from a soy sauce marinade which also flavors a unique vegetable combination that joins the steaks on the grill in a foil packet.

Oriental Rib Steaks
Place 3 to 4 rib steaks in utility dish. Combine 1/2 cup soy sauce, 1/2 cup water, 2 tablespoons oil, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder and 1/4 teaspoon ginger, and cook, stirring to blend. Cool. Pour marinade over steaks, turning to coat. Tie bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 4 to 6 hours. Pour off marinade and heat. Place steaks on grill 2 to 3 inches from heat and broil over ash-covered coals 15 to 20 minutes for rare or 20 to 25 minutes for medium, turning and brushing with half the marinade. Combine 2 cups sliced mushrooms, 1 large cucumber (cut in pieces), 1 can (8 ounces) water chestnuts, 3 sliced green onions and 1 tablespoon sesame seed; place on double thickness of heavy duty foil; turning up sides and ends of foil. Add remaining marinade and double fold foil on top and ends to form packet. Cook on grill at moderate temperature 5 minutes. Fold in 1 package (10 ounces) defrosted frozen pea pods; continue cooking 5 to 7 minutes. 6 servings.

The doctor opened the king of spades and continued after South ducked.

Declarer saw that he needed to take the heart finesse but saw an extra chance: He wouldn't need it if he could bring in four diamond tricks.

Therefore, South cashed dummy's ace and king of diamonds. The sinister doctor dropped the 10 and then the queen. Now South had his chance to collect four diamond tricks. With three clubs and the ace of hearts still there he wouldn't need the heart finesse at all.

South fell for the play, led a diamond, took what looked to be a sure-thing finesse for the nine and watched Manch produce the nine of diamonds and three good spades.

Clements Predicts Suit On Windfall Profit Tax

By GREG THOMPSON
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Gov. Bill Clements says he's optimistic and confident Texas will file a federal court suit against the windfall profits tax, which he claims will drain $65 billion out of Texas in the next 10 years.

Clements, founder of a Dallas-based drilling firm, told a receptive audience of independent oilmen Tuesday that a federal court challenge of the new law "is being looked at at this time."

Such a suit would challenge the Carter-backed law's constitutionality, he added.

"I am optimistic and confident at this time that such a suit will be instituted by the state of Texas," he said in response to a question from the crowd at the 34th annual meeting of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association.

TIPRO passed a resolution Tuesday in which members were urged to support court challenges of the new tax.

Clements said the $65 billion figure was computed by the Texas Railroad Commission and the state comptroller's office.

"This is nothing more than rank, outright discrimination against Texas. I don't like it, and I assume you don't either," the governor declared to the applause of the crowd.

The outspoken Republican governor took repeated verbal jabs at President Carter and later vowed to reporters, "We are going to fight Mr. Carter every step of the way."

Clements also stumped for the "Texas position" as a solution to the energy crisis and offered to mail out a list of the Texas congressmen he claims have been voting against the state's interests.

Clements said 34 governors have agreed to support the "Texas position," which calls for the "unretreating" of the nation's oil and gas, coal and nuclear industries and an aggressive research and development program for other alternatives.

The proposal would include conservation in a secondary role.

Clements said he is finding increasing support for the proposal.

"Thirty-four states have signed on to the Texas position. We haven't signed Mr. Carter yet. But I guarantee you he's feeling the pressure. I'm after him," said Clements.

But Clements criticized those oil and gas companies using new profits to buy into unrelated business interests, thus giving a public relations "black eye that rubs off on Texas."

He said the industry must force itself to plow back all but a reasonable profit into finding more energy sources.

"Otherwise, it should be taxed 100 percent. That's tough. Plow back is distasteful," Clements said, adding that it would solve the energy problems and correct the bag image.

Clements, who had numerous old friends in the crowd, was interrupted numerous times by applause.

At one point, a questioner declared: "I feel we ought to secede from the United States, and you be the president of Texas. Then we could join OPEC."

"I've heard that suggestion before," responded Clements.

Earlier Tuesday, TIPRO members heard from Hazel Rollins, the administrator of the federal agency that enforces most of the Department of Energy's regulations.

Ms. Rollins flatly said that there's too much regulation of the oil and gas industry, and said she supports a gradual move toward decontrol. She criticized Congress for imposing the excessive regulations.

"If we work together, we can get out of this," she said. She praised Carter for "trying to move closer to decontrol."

"He has done it slowly, and he has taken hell for it in the consuming states," she added.

Ms. Rollins also criticized federal laws that prohibit employees of a certain industry from taking federal jobs that involve regulation of that industry.

"What regulatory agencies require is more people from the industry they purport to regulate.

It only makes us brighter," she said.

Ms. Rollins added that top federal administrators only stay in office about 18 months — much of which must be spent learning about the industry itself.

Some unproductive alliances you formed will go by the boards this coming year. New associations you make will be stronger and more mutually beneficial.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be a peacemaker, not a troublemaker, where family discussions are concerned today. A serious tumble could ensue if your judgment is hazy. Getting along with other signs is one of the actions you'll enjoy in your Astro-Graph Letter, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 439, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This is not the day to try to shift your responsibilities to others. You could become enraged if someone attempts to do so to you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be very careful of whom you take advice from concerning things that could cost you money. You'll deeply resent it if such counsel proves faulty.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Avoid situations today where you know the odds are stacked against you. It's folly to think you can beat the percentages.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Even though you may feel strongly that you have a good idea today, others might not be equally enthralled. Listen to their criticism without becoming angry.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Because you're always willing to pay your fair share, freeloaders annoy you. You may become especially disgusted with them today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Steer clear of individuals whose purposes are not in harmony with yours. Wrong associations could cause big complications.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There's a chance that you may become involved with someone in a venture where you both make mistakes. Share the blame equally instead of pointing fingers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is not a good day to poke your nose into the affairs of another. You could be drawn into a sticky situation from which you'd have difficulty extricating yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Family problems are best kept within the home today. Airing them in public could cause others to think less of all involved.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be very careful of how you deal with coworkers today. Problems could arise over how things should be done. No one should be overly insistent upon having his or her way.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't be careless with another's possessions today and don't permit them to be careless with yours. Something unfortunate could happen in either case.

Seminar On Conservation Of Energy

Energy management is continually growing in importance as one of the most critical functions in the daily operations of industrial plants, commercial and institutional facilities.

Realizing this, Texas Electric Service Co. and Western Texas College have scheduled an Energy Management Action Seminar June 3-July 1, with classes to meet at the college.

The seminar will meet on five consecutive Tuesdays from 1:30-4 p.m. Everyone completing the course will have been trained to develop and carry out a productive energy plan of action, such as techniques and methods for retrofitting energy systems in existing industrial, commercial and institutional buildings. The emphasis is on practical approaches.

Persons wishing further information may contact the Continuing Education office at WTC, 573 8511, extension 280, or Phil Fortune at Texas Electric Service Company.

Reunion Set At Tom Bean

TOM BEAN, Texas (AP)—Former residents of this small North Texas town will gather for a reunion the weekend of June 1.

Tom Bean is named after its founder, Col. Tom Bean, a 19th-century Bonham surveyor and landowner who donated 50 acres and a railroad right-of-way to start the settlement.

Carson Could Be Off For Most Of Summer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Johnny Carson, who recently won a multimillion-dollar contract and shorter hours for the "Tonight Show," may undergo surgery and could be off the popular late-night talk show for most of the summer.

He expects to find out next week whether he needs an operation to repair a blocked artery in his left leg, which has bothered him for several months.

Carson told his "Tonight Show" audience Tuesday night that he will go to the hospital next Wednesday for tests. He said his leg problem may keep him off the show until the end of July.

The 54-year-old entertainer, who won the new contract — and the concession to trim "Tonight" from 90 to 60 minutes — from NBC last month, said in an interview that "it's very possible there's a blockage in the artery in my left leg. I've noticed it for some months now — fatigue when I walk or play tennis."

"I'm going in next week, and the doctor's going to take an angiogram. If it is blocked, we'll make the decision then as to whether to repair it by surgery."

An angiogram is an X-ray of blood vessels after a tracing substance has been injected into them.

"I just wanted to tell you this so, if you hear I'm in the hospital next week, that's what it's all about," Carson said Tuesday night.

"I've always been athletic, and this thing's been bothering me and I want to take care of it. My tennis game's gone to hell."

Carson said that if surgery is required, recovery would take "three to six weeks," which, in combination with election-coverage pre-emptions and Carson's already scheduled vacation, would keep him off "Tonight" until July 23.

Carson's new hard-won "Tonight Show" pared from 90 minutes to an hour — will debut in September.

It had been reported that Carson was unhappy over having to continue with a 90-minute show during the summer.

"Good heavens, no," he said, "that's funny. No, I've been working over sweeps weeks (the intensive ratings period of May) and have no problem with it whatever."

If surgery is required, Carson hopes to recover this summer in France and England. He has plans to visit the south of France and attend the Wimbledon tennis championships on his scheduled vacation in July.

Carson had been scheduled to work the second, third and fourth weeks of June, the final week of July and the first and last week of August.

"I have some weeks off coming up," he said. "Whether I'll have to use them depends on the outcome of the tests."

Nobel Winner Going To UT

AUSTIN (AP)—Nobel Prize-winning Harvard physicist Steven Weinberg said Tuesday he will join the University of Texas next fall as a visiting professor.

Weinberg said the one-year appointment might be extended to a permanent post on the faculty here.

The scientist has been at Harvard for seven years and was actively courted by UT officials. UT physics professor William Drummond said the addition of Weinberg makes the physics department "without question one of the best in the country."

Weinberg shared the 1979 Nobel Prize with two other physicists who developed the Weinberg-Salam Theory of Weak Interactions. The hypothesis explains electromagnetism and nuclear force as manifestations of a common principle.

His wife, Louise, has accepted a professorship at the UT Law School.

Bolt Named To Commission Post

AUSTIN (AP)—Clark Bolt was named Tuesday as information director for the Texas Animal Health Commission.

Bolt has been farm editor of the Waco Tribune-Herald since 1949 and has 25 years of experience in radio and television farm programs, said Dr. John Holcombe, executive director of the commission.

Feds Say Texas Shorted On Gasoline Supplies

By JACK KEEVER, Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—While Texas motorists waited in long lines at gas pumps last year, gas wholesalers and retailers sold nearly 100 million gallons of fuel out-of-state to make more money, says a federal administrator.

Wayne Tucker of Dallas, district enforcement manager for the Department of Energy, said enough gas was sold to supply the entire state for four days.

He and Doris Dewton, assistant administrator of petroleum operations in Washington, told a U.S. House subcommittee Tuesday more than 220 jobbers and retailers declared a gas surplus in 1979 despite severe shortages in areas such as Houston and Dallas.

"It is illegal for a jobber to sell gasoline on the spot market," Ms. Dewton noted, "unless it is a genuine surplus product that has already been offered to his customers."

Asked if it was not "ludicrous" to talk about surpluses when cars are lined up for gas, Tucker told reporters, "That's kind of what we think."

He said 11 firms are being audited and one has been issued a "Notice of Probable Violation" for $513,000, which was the amount of money it allegedly made off out-of-state sales of seven million gallons.

Chairman Bob Eckhardt of the Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations identified the firm as H&A Petroleum Services, Inc., of Tomball.

Tucker said if H&A's profit was typical, those who withheld gas to sell it on the spot market made additional profits of $10 million to $12 million.

Tucker refused to identify any other companies.

He said the gas was stored in three terminals at Houston and eventually reached markets in the Midwest and the East for "prices considerably higher" than those in Texas.

Asked if withholding the gas was one reason for the Texas shortage, Tucker said, "I think it certainly was, and I'm sure it was in the Houston area and probably the Dallas area where lines were as long as any place in the country."

In addition to reviewing those who declared a surplus, Ms. Dewton said the DOE has sent notices to 100 Southwest companies it considered "most likely" to have violated its gasoline regulations during the 1979 shortage.

Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, D-Texas, joined Eckhardt, D-Texas, in listening to witnesses on the hoarding and allocation of gas. Pickle is a former member of the subcommittee and requested the hearing.

Managing Director W.H. Ligon of the Texas Service Station Association said if "branded dealers do not get some instant help, you will see about 25,000 to 30,000 additional dealers go out of business in the next five years."

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren
1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: An attractive, blonde, 53-year-old divorcee is renting our small guest house. We heard that she was involved in a scandal back East, so she left her home and family and came West to live on a limited income.

The last six months she has been chasing our 92-year-old neighbor — a wealthy widower who is alert, lively and in remarkably good health.

It all began when she started taking him special foods and phoning him several times a day. Now the affair has progressed to where she has been spending most of her nights at his place!

This lovely man has given up most of his old friends, and his faithful, Old World housekeeper of many years is, so shocked, she is quitting.

Half of my family says there's no fool like an old fool and if she takes him to the cleaners, he asked for it. The other half is so disgusted by this blatant fortune hunter that they want us to throw her out of the rental. They say that by not doing so we are a party to it.

Please give us your opinion.

TURNED-OFF LANDLORDS

DEAR TURNED OFF: Your tenant's private life is none of your business. Furthermore, if you should throw her out of your rental, the lovely, lively 92-year-old widower will probably take the poor, homeless lady in!

DEAR ABBY: I'm another one of those "Never thought I'd write to Dear Abby" persons.

I have a daughter-in-law who never calls me to extend a dinner invitation. She always has our son do the calling, which irritates me, as there is no reason why she can't call me personally.

This seems to be a common problem among mothers-in-law. I truly want a good relationship with my son's wife and will abide by your decision. If you print this as a help to other mothers-in-law in the same boat, sign me.

IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: If you truly want a good relationship with your son's wife, you will not make an issue of who does the calling. Just be grateful for the invitation. Most mothers-in-law seldom see their sons unless Mom does the inviting.

DEAR ABBY: I must comment on the controversy concerning bullfighting. What surprises us Spanish people is that Americans condemn bullfighting but see nothing wrong with the outrageous savagery of their so-called sport, "boxing."

How can you condemn bullfighting and approve the brutality of two human beings beating each other with the ultimate purpose of knocking the opponent unconscious, which at times has caused fatal results?

It is inconceivable to us that a civilized country permits such inhumane contests causing swollen eyes, bloody noses and faces beaten to a bloody pulp!

Abby, please be less concerned about our bulls, and show more compassion for your fellow man by trying to outlaw boxing.

DAVID FRONSECA, EAST RIDGE, TENN.

DEAR DAVID: At the risk of opening another bull session, I'll repeat my comment: "All sports in which blood (animal or human) is spilled should be outlawed." However, in boxing, the boxer comes into the ring voluntarily, of his own free will. In bullfighting, the poor bull has no choice.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Keep memory in shape

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read one of your columns about the husband who wrote and complained because his wife was losing her memory. My husband has had two strokes and his memory is very poor. You mentioned that the lack of vitamin B-12 can sometimes cause this problem. Does that mean that everyone should take B-12 to help prevent a loss of memory? I'm in good health now but I sure would like to know what I could do to help prevent this problem. I have had a lot of trouble with my husband after his second stroke because of this. He also has a cholesterol problem.

DEAR READER — We all need B-12. It's an important, essential vitamin for the body. People on a normal balanced diet ought to be getting enough in the foods they eat. Of course, if you have a medical problem such as an inability to absorb B-12 then you may have pernicious anemia. This can lead to personality changes, memory problems and many other findings.

If you're healthy and are eating a balanced diet, taking additional B-12 is not likely to help your memory. The point I'd like to make is that anyone who starts having unexplained memory problems and is labeled as 'senile' deserves a complete medical examination because there are many medical problems that cause such symptoms. It's wrong to just decide that this is aging and can't be corrected. That's true in a high percentage of the cases but that's no excuse for allowing the people with medical problems to stay in this condition without helping them.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 14-2, The Aging Brain. It will discuss this in more detail for you.

Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

One of the medical problems that can affect memory is a stroke or changes in the circulation to the brain. Anything that damages the brain can affect the memory. This can include physical injury to the brain as can occur from head injury.

There is one thing I believe everyone can do to help prevent memory loss. They can learn to train their memory. In our society we know a lot about training muscles. That's because of the great emphasis on athletics. The public at large knows a lot less about training the memory. Training the mind has a number of similarities to training the muscles. If you don't use it, you lose it. If you train your mind, you will increase your chances that it will be working adequately for you for a much longer period of your life.

You might want to stop by your library or bookstore and see what books they have available on memory training. There are a number of good ones that could help you in this department. Once you start training your memory, keep at it regularly year after year and it will help.

Such techniques are often helpful even in people who already have significant problems with their memory. Obviously, it's no cure-all and there are some people who will get little if any benefit from it but it certainly can help all those people who never bothered to train their memory or keep it in top shape.

IN MUSEUM—Robert Spangler displays one of the works included in the Old Master Paintings exhibit opening Sunday in the Scurry County Museum. Spangler travels with the roving exhibits from the Blaffer Foundation and provides museum personnel with valuable insight into the background of each piece being shown. This work, "Virgin and Child," is 35 inches high, typical of the large size of the Old Master works.

Equine Management Clinic Set

Dr. Daryl Atkins, a founder of Equine Breeders International, will conduct an Equine Reproduction Management Clinic at Western Texas College from June 9-13.

The clinic consists of a total of 40 hours of work. Approximately half the work is in the classroom learning equine reproductive anatomy, hormonal actions, semen collection and evaluation of stallion and broodmare management, palpation and artificial.

The other half consists of lab work in which each student collects and evaluates semen, palpates, and practices artificial insemination.

Students will pay fees of $300 each, which includes all materials. Persons wishing to register must send a non-refundable deposit of $100 to Jerry Baird, Director of Adult Vocational Education, at WTC before June 2. Information about the clinic may be obtained by contacting Kent Mills, assistant professor of Farm and Ranch Management, at his residence, 573-2073, during evening hours.

Scurry Museum Preparing For First Blaffer Exhibit In June

Sarah Campbell Blaffer, one of the major art collectors in Texas, had long dreamed of making great works of art available for viewing outside the metropolitan areas.

Now, through the Blaffer Foundation's "museum without walls" program, her dream is coming true.

The Scurry County Museum at Western Texas College will be showing four major art exhibits from the Blaffer Foundation in the next two years. Sharon Sutton, museum director, has announced.

The first of the exhibits, titled Old Master Paintings, will open on Sunday and continue through July 25. The museum is closed all this week in preparation for the opening.

The Old Master Exhibit will include 23 paintings, mostly oil paintings on canvas. There are a few temperas and one a pen and sepia watercolor. The works date from a 14th century "Virgin and Child" attributed to Bernardo Daddi to "Portrait of Andre Ernest Gretry" by Jean-Baptiste Greuze (1725-1805). Also included is "St. Francis in Meditation with Fray Leon," attributed to El Greco (1541-1614).

The second exhibit scheduled for the museum here is the American Abstract Expressionist Paintings due in January, 1981, to be followed by Goya's The Disasters of War in May. The most recent addition to the Blaffer Foundation's traveling collection, A Golden Age of Paintings, is scheduled for 1982.

Sarah Campbell Blaffer was a legend in her own right. She was heiress to two major oil fortunes. Her father, William T. Campbell, formed the original partnership that became the Texas Company (later Texaco), and her husband, Robert Lee Blaffer, was one of the founders of Humble Oil, predecessor to Exxon.

The Old Masters exhibit to be shown here includes some of Mrs. Blaffer's favorites, and the show does not have the central theme which characterizes the Abstract Expressionist display. Most of the Old Masters were dominated to the University of Houston by Mrs. Blaffer or her daughter, Princess Cecil Furstenburg, and have been borrowed back for the traveling exhibition.

Mrs. Blaffer died in 1975

at the age of 91.

According to Gilbert Denman, a long-time friend of Mrs. Blaffer, the purpose of the traveling program is "to expose as many people as possible to a view of really great art which they would ordinarily know only in reproductions or book illustrations. Mrs. Blaffer was more interested in getting this art before people who might not understand it than before scholars and connoisseurs. She wanted to be a missionary in art education."

Tigers Host Estacado, 4:30...

Regional Series Starts Today

by BILL McCLELLAN
Snyder has advanced to the state meet four times in its history, the last being 15 years ago, in 1965, when a promising young pitcher by the name of Nolan Ryan led his Alvin team to a 2-0 victory in the first round. But the state's capitol has eluded the Tigers twice in the past three years when Snyder advanced past bi-district only to be shot down by strong Pecos teams at regionals. Today's opponent, Estacado, hopes to be the next team to ride Tiger misfortune to the state meet, but the Matadors will undoubtedly find the Snyder team a tough foe in this possible three-game series. The Tigers seem to do best with their backs to the wall — as they did against Weatherford last weekend in coming from behind in games Two and Three to take the prize. The series is rated a toss-up, though some might give Snyder a slight edge for experience. The Tigers are senior-laden and playoff-aged, while Estacado is staffed largely with hungry, eager underclassmen. Neither team boasts an outstanding record. Snyder is 17-15-1 for the season, while Estacado holds a 23-10 figure. Both started the season slowly but picked up steam — and victories — in district play. Estacado won its 1-3A district outright, but like Snyder — struggled with bi-district opponent Monahans before winning games Two and Three with a devastating look.

Top pitchers for the respective squads, junior fireballer Tony DeGrate for Snyder, and sophomore Joe Benavidez for Estacado, were expected to start on the mound today. Saturday's fare begins at 1 p.m. in Estacado Field in Lubbock.

Thanks to the people of Snyder for making our four years in business so successful. We hope to serve you for many years to come.

WTSU Put On Probation

CANYON (AP) — West Texas State University was placed on two years probation by the Missouri Valley Conference for a series of violations in five athletic programs over three school years. The penalty includes one year of sanctions prohibiting the university's teams from participating in post-season competition during the 1981-80 school year. The football and basketball teams will be prohibited from competing in any post-season play that year and the university will not be allowed to share in basketball revenue generated by the conference.

Mavericks Figure On 'Tampa' Way

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Dallas Mavericks, the newest member of the National Basketball Association, have a role model for their early years' football's Tampa Bay Buccaneers. "Tampa Bay went the young route, building through the college draft, and that's the way we want to go," says Rick Sund, director of player personnel for the expansion team that begins play in the NBA next season. But for the time being, the Mavericks will also need some veterans to ride them over. And they'll get them today when they select 22 players from the expansion pool provided by the existing teams. The selection process was scheduled to be the first order of business at the three-day summer meetings of the NBA coaches and general managers, which run through Friday. Each NBA club was allowed to protect eight players, which means the pickings were expected to be quite slim. "Maybe we'll get lucky," said Mavericks vice president

Norm Sonju. "Hopefully we will be able to get a few players to build with." While some familiar names were expected to be available, they all came with negative qualifications. Some were old, some had histories of injuries or attitude problems, some had lofty salaries or were free agents. Among the players in this category who were reportedly available to Dallas — the list has not been officially released — were guards Nate Archibald and Pete Maravich of Boston, Austin Carr of Cleveland, Charlie Scott of Denver, Eric Monroe of Detroit, Earl Monroe of New York, Doug Collins of Philadelphia.

Angel's Aase Holds Rangers To Shutout

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Don Aase was California's starting pitcher and his performance also proved to be a big save. Aase, 4-4, pitched a four-hit complete game to help the Angels end a 10-game home losing streak Tuesday night with a 2-0 win over the Texas Rangers. In so doing, he also saved Angel Manager Jim Fregosi from having to go to the bullpen for the first time in 18 games. Aase's complete game was the first by an Angel starter since he went the distance in losing a 9-2 decision to Toronto May 6, which also was the first of California's 10 consecutive losses at Anaheim Stadium. Aase held Texas hitless until Bump Wills doubled with two out in the sixth. The only time he was in trouble was in the seventh when Buddy Bell led off with a single and one out later, Richie Zisk singled with Bell going to third. Jim Norris then grounded into an inning-ending double play. The Rangers' other hit was a two-out single by Mickey Rivers in the eighth. The Angels scored in the first inning when Larry Harlow opened with an infield single. Carney Lansford followed with a double, and Harlow was caught in a rundown between home and third but was able to elude the tag of Texas third baseman Bell and dived safely back to third. After Rod Carew was in-tionally walked, Dan Ford grounded into a double play, with Harlow scoring. "You'll give them the run for the double play that early," said Texas Manager Pat Corrales, "hoping you'll get something later. But Mr. Aase took care of that. He had good stuff, probably as good as I've ever seen him throw." California added another run in the eighth. With one out and runners at first and third, Ford hit a slow hopper to Bell, whose throw to the plate was low and toward first base, allowing Lansford to slide in safely. Texas starter Ferguson Jenkins, 3-4, had to leave after five innings because of a tightness in his shoulder after surrendering four hits and one run.

Two Mishaps, Vandalism Reported Here

A criminal mischief complaint and two traffic accidents were reported to city police Tuesday.

Norman Clements, manager of the U-Rent-M, reported that four tires at that establishment had been slashed. Damage in the incident was pegged at $200. The case was worked by Joe Bob Martinez.

One mishap occurred about 5:10 p.m. in the parking lot of the Snyder Shopping Center. It involved a 1974 Plymouth driven by Zola Schlegel and a 1977 GMC driven by Frances Wiman. That accident was investigated by Buddy Kinney.

Don Cheek worked a hit and run reported at 5:15 Tuesday, although the accident itself took place May 25. It involved a 1979 Buick owned by Barbara Bills that was struck by another vehicle which left the scene.

Two Charged In Felonies

Felony charges have been filed against two men.

Reymundo Dela Rosa, 100 block East Highway, has been named in a complaint charging him with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and Bruno Orosco Perez, 2011 Ave. K, has been charged with driving while intoxicated.

Dela Rosa is charged with taking a 1969 Chevrolet from Robert Fenner early Saturday morning. That incident occurred about one mile north of the Old Snyder Cemetery. Perez was arrested on the drunken driving charge May 26.

According to Germany's Munich Institute for Social Statistics, the French are the most prolific writers of love letters in the world. The English are second.

Diet-Disease Factors Argued

By WARREN E. LEARY

AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)

New questions about the role of diet in disease have spurred a controversy over whether the public should be told to eat less fat and less cholesterol.

A National Academy of Sciences panel said Tuesday that many dietary recommendations are contradictory and lack sound scientific basis, creating confusion about what types of food cause or prevent certain diseases.

The academy's Food and Nutrition Board said the best recommendations are simply for a balanced diet, exercise and weight control.

The board considers it scientifically unsound to make single, all-inclusive recommendations to the public regarding intakes of energy, protein, fat, cholesterol, carbohydrate, fiber and sodium, the report said.

The board puts together the Recommended Dietary Allowances of vitamins and nutrients used by the government and the food industry.

Dr. Alfred E. Harper of the University of Wisconsin, the board chairman, said the panel disagreed with recommendations for low-cholesterol, low-saturated fat diets, as suggested by the American Heart Association and some government agencies. Reason for the board's disagreement: little evidence that such diets help healthy people.

The board said it has not been proven that lowering the levels of blood cholesterol through diet will consistently reduce new coronary disease. Even though high blood cholesterol appears to increase risk of heart disease, the connection with diet is unclear, the group said.

However, there also is no evidence a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet does any harm if it is nutritionally balanced, Harper added.

The American Heart Association defended its recommendations to eat less cholesterol and increase the proportion of polyunsaturated vegetable fats to saturated animal fats in diet.

"They are based on the best data we have now, including 47 different studies going back to the 1960s," said an association spokesman who asked not to be identified.

"We must work from this information until we have better."

The academy board said

questionable recommendations concerning foods come from government agencies, voluntary health groups, consumer advocates and health-food interests.

Recommendations about specific food items must take into account individual differences in requirements, the board said. For example, the effects of eating fats can be very different for trim, physically active young people when compared with sedentary, middle-aged men.

The board said the American food supply generally provides adequate nutrients to protect most healthy people from deficiency diseases.

However, the country's biggest nutrition problem is obesity.
