NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Soviet troops are reported digging in on the northern and western flanks of Kabul, the Afghan capital, to face an expected new offensive from Moslem rebels seeking to oust the Kremlin's occupation army.

Afghan sources and a traveler arriving here from Afghanistan said Friday the Soviet troops were readying themselves for possible attacks on key Soviet military bases outside the capital, or on Kabul itself.

The Afghan traveler, who asked not to be identified, said about 20,000 insurgents from the provincial guerrilla strongholds of Bamian and Wardhak, in central Afghanistan, had massed in the Paghman mountains about 13 miles west of Kabul.

He said skirmishes with Russian troops had begun and that Kabul residents could hear exchanges of fire.

Another traveler, who identified himself only as an Indian student, said that while in Kabul he had heard distant artillery fire for two or three hours during each of the past three days.

The travelers said Kabul's state television had explained that the "loud reports" heard outside the city were from "normal target shooting practice" by military units.

The reports from Afghanistan could not be independently confirmed. Western reporters have been banned from the country since shortly after the Kremlin moved in 85,000 troops last December to support Afghanistan's pro-Moscow government in its war with anti-communist Moslem rebels.

One source in Kabul who has proved accurate in the past said the insurgents had been in the mountains over the past week, apparently planning to attack Khairi-Khana, a major Soviet troop base northwest of the capital. He said a large Soviet See Soviets, Page 3A

Fire Hits Stockyards

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—More than two dozen fire units were called out early today to battle a wind-whipped blaze that raced through the Livestock Exchange Building at the Oklahoma National Stockyards here.

Witnesses said the three-alarm fire, which was reported shortly before midnight, destroyed the historic block-long Spanish style office building.

Ten Fed Oven Cleaner

WESTMINSTER, Colo. (AP)—Nine nursing home patients were treated and one was hospitalized after being fed oven cleaner with their breakfasts, officials said.

Emma Coykendale, 86, was reported in fair condition Friday with severe burns of the mouth and throat, officials said.

A dietary assistant who was not identified thought the oven cleaner was pancake syrup and fed it to 10 elderly patients Friday morning at the Aspen Care West nursing home. Fire Chief Al Reffel said.

How did the Maya's feed more than two million people in the relatively small area of what is now Guatemala and Belize?

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says new technology derived from our space program may have found an answer.

A new radar system developed by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif., for NASA has detected an extensive network of irrigation canals that have been hidden for more than 1,000 years beneath dense rain forests. The canals were found in images taken during an early test of the new radar from an aircraft over the cloud-covered jungles of Guatemala and Belize, once the center of the Maya empire. It apparently has solved a mystery that has puzzled archeologists and anthropologists for many years.

They had plenty of evidence of the Maya's huge cities, their government and justice system, their religions, mathematics and astronomical sciences. But no one had been able to find where they grew enough food to support such an enormous civilization in a land characterized by either arid and mountainous territory, or swampy jungles where crops are difficult to grow.

Since the area is cloud-covered most of the time, it has been virtually impossible to obtain sharp aerial photographs. But the ability of the radar to penetrate the cloud cover enabled researchers to produce clear pictures of the varying layers of foliage, NASA reports.

While checking the radar data for evidence of ancient settlements or roadways, Richard E.W. Adams, professor of archeology at Cambridge University in England, was surprised to find unnaturally uniform grid patterns emerging from the swampy rain-forest surface. They are believed to represent irrigation canals, providing scientists with an important piece of the puzzle in reconstructing Maya Civilization.

Will people wonder about a similar situation in West Texas a thousand years hence? There wouldn't be much to show on radar from irrigation systems using well water, as is the case on the High Plains at this time. However, they still are seeking a practical way to import water from streams to the northeast of the region. Perhaps the Maya canal network will be of some use in their planning. We learn from history, you know. At least we do when we condescend to heed its messages.

Fluvanna Plans Homecoming

Committee members have been working for months to ready plans for the fifth Fluvanna Homecoming since its beginning twenty-four years ago. The reunion this year will be held at Fluvanna June 13 and 14.

Orval Mathis, general chairman, stated that all committee chairmen have reported plans and committee members functioning, and at present an attendance of around 700 is expected. He stated that there is even one parking committee planning to handle the unusual amount of traffic expected the afternoon of June 13.

Activities on Saturday will center around the old Fluvanna School building and gym while individual class parties are planned for the preceding night at the Community Center and at individual homes. An Early Settlers Tea is the highlight of Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edith Whitley McKanna south of Fluvanna.

Finance chairman for the homecoming is Hurston Lemons assisted by Leo Beaver, Burl Belew, Don Wills, Virge Wills, Roy Reeder, Cecil Boren and Buford Browning.

In charge of exhibits is Guy Turner, assisted by Azlee Reeder and Opal Beaver. The invitations committee is chaired by Esma Kingston and assisted by Sue Lloyd, Mary Ellen Keith, Lanette Patterson, Ina Lou Smith, Linda Shipp, Jacqueline Wills, Louetta Turner, and Laverne Herring.

Melva Craig is in charge of registration, being helped by Mamie Lemons, Cleone Fulford, Margaret Drum, Lynda Beaver and Nelva Jones.

Chairman of the clean-up committee is Sue Lloyd, assisted by Joe Belew, David Beaver, Margaret Beaver, Rickey Evans, Sandra Evans, Max Jones, Beth Jones, Bob Daugherty, Jerry Daugherty, and Jimmy Aaron.

For School Board...

Reports Being Prepared On Controversial Tests

Although the state schedule does not permit official reports until regular June meetings of school boards, officials in districts throughout the state already have questioned the validity of a "writing sample" included in tests mandated by the legislature for fifth-grade and ninth-grade pupils, and the Snyder district is no exception.

The report to the board is being prepared for Tuesday night's meeting. Release of aggregate scores are prohibited prior to the meeting, but widespread complaints concerning the writing sample portion have prompted some comments. Moreover, an article in the Texas Monthly Magazine has criticized the test and especially the grading system.

Supt. Bill J. Hood said it would appear that, among scores of pupils who took the test, some would have "accidentally" scored higher than the results indicate.

Texas Monthly, declaring that the tests are not worthy of any attention, says "the only skills measured by the test are the ability of the Educational Testing Service (ETS) to make up an exam, the ability of the Texas Education Agency (TEA) to administer it, and the ability of Westinghouse Data-Score Systems to grade it. They all failed."

Nevertheless, the TEA has defended the test in public statements.

It could be that the tests, which came about as the result of legislative action (S.B. 350) was developed too hastily, suggests Dr. Thomas Scanichio, assistant superintendent for instruction in Snyder.

The legislature ordered TEA to give tests, and it did, but so quickly that some details of administering it may have been left hanging in limbo.

Texas Monthly challenges the grading system, even quoting one expert as calling the results "horrifying."

Complaints have come from schools in big cities, suburbs, medium-sized cities, small towns and rural areas. All say the scores on the writing sample are abnormally low and that not only is the grading system open to challenge, but also the instructions to the students taking the tests did not make it clear what was expected of them.

Some have even accused those who developed the tests of trying to insure low scores to try to shake things up.

The writing sample is only one segment of the tests. There have been few comments on the remainder of the tests in advance of the official reports, but those who have mentioned them have indicated no complaints.

As for the Snyder district, officials would say only that "we feel encouraged."

School officials also feel that, no matter what the outcome over-all, the writing sample results will be suspect in the minds of school people and the general public because of the discrepancies that have been publicized, no matter what the TEA or the legislature says.

Solar Plant Now Churning Out The Power

NATURAL BRIDGES NATIONAL MONUMENT, Utah (AP)—The world's largest solar energy plant, costing as much as two centuries' worth of fuel for the diesel plant it replaces, is now churning out power for this remote park in southeastern Utah.

"The project was never justified on the basis that it would be an immediate cost saver for the National Park Service," park official Pete Parry said Friday.

For $3 million, it provides 100 kilowatts of direct current for six staff houses, maintenance facilities, the park visitors center and a water sanitation system. The diesel generators that had powered the area used about $15,000 worth of fuel a year.

Missing Items Recovered...

Police Report Arrests Clear Eight Burglaries

Police said they cleared eight recent burglaries, and thefts with the arrest Friday of three juveniles and an adult, and that the same suspects are thought to be involved in 16 more cases still under investigation.

The cases believed cleared Friday with the arrest of the four are the burglaries of the Smorgasbord, Town and Country Meat Market, City Laundry, the Little League baseball concession stand, the attempted burglary of the Minute Market, two thefts in Colorado City, plus the burglary of the Red Jackson gasoline station in Union.

In addition to the suspects arrested Friday, four more had been arrested earlier in the week in connection with the break-in and vandalism of the Towle Park swimming pool. In those arrests, too, the breakdown of suspects included one adult and three juveniles.

Police reported the adults, both 17-year-old males, face felony charges. The cases of the juveniles were referred to juvenile court for disposition. All the subjects arrested, even those taken into custody Friday in Hobbs, N.M., list local addresses, police said.

Police added also that the merchandise taken in the burglaries was, for the most part, recovered. Much of the money, believed to be around $230, was spent, however.

The investigations were handled by Lt. Clay Scogin and Sgt. Steve Warren.

Despite Unemployment...

Holding Fast To Economic Policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Garter administration plans to hold fast to its anti-inflation economic policies despite the second consecutive month of dramatic increase in the nation's unemployment rate, a top official says.

"Our most serious problem in the economic field is inflation," Treasury Secretary G. William Miller said Friday at a news conference. Miller commented after the government reported that unemployment surged to 7.8 percent of the labor force in May, which means there were 8.2 million workers who wanted jobs but couldn't find them. The unemployment rate was 7 percent in April and 6.2 percent in March.

The May unemployment rate was the highest since November of 1976, when it also was 7.8 percent, and was the most for any month President Carter has been in office. The sharp increase in unemployment is the result of the recession that has the nation's economy in its grip.

But while the jobless rate worsened, the inflation rate improved in May. Wholesale prices rose just 0.3 percent during the month, the lowest monthly increase in 2 1/2 years, the Labor Department reported.

Wholesale prices had increased 0.5 percent in April. The slower increases in the past two months eventually will bring price moderation for consumers at the retail level.

But Miller said the administration still must focus its policies on fighting inflation, which he said is the best way "to hasten the day when we get our unemployed back to work."

The Scurry County Museum is continuing the Old Master Painting exhibit.

The exhibit is on loan from the Sarah Campbell Blaffer Foundation of Houston and contains 23 works.

The presentation will be in the church's fellowship hall and everyone is invited, he said.

Sinkhole Biggest Thing To Hit Kermit In Years

KERMIT (AP) — An insatiable appetite for West Texas dirt has made Kermit's sinkhole a local laughing stock, but it's not nice to laugh at mother nature.

"The huge crater, dubbed 'Lake Kermit' by a local wag, continued to gobble huge chunks of earth Friday to the delight of sightseers and the consternation of scientists and oilmen.

The great West Texas sinkhole, a chasm estimated to be 400 yards long, over 200 yards wide and 85 feet deep, is one of the biggest things to happen to Kermit in years.

Business is booming in the small town where people swap sinkhole jokes and wager on the likelihood of Kermit toppling into the yawning pit.

"Everybody's getting out to see it, hear about it and talk about whether Kermit's going to fall in," said grocery store clerk Clara Kirkpatrick, who said business has about doubled since the hole opened Tuesday.

"No one's worried," she said. "Everyone's joking about Kermit's hole."

But oil company executives, law enforcement officials and people who live near the geological oddity are less amused.

A Winkler County sheriff's spokesman said two roads near the chasm were closed, and officers work 12 and 18-hour shifts to fend off the crowds that continue to come despite warnings and the 100-plus degree heat.

"We're encouraging people to stay away," she said. "It's considered very dangerous."

Atlantic-Richfield Co. said "no trespassing" signs had been posted on its land and that violators would be prosecuted.

"People climb those fences like a bunch of school kids," said Nolan Faught, an ARCO spokesman.

Patsy Henson, who lives only nine-tenths of a mile from the sinkhole, said she

Eight Classes In College For Kids Set

Eight classes in the College for Kids at Western Texas College are to get underway on June 15.

Slated to begin on that date are Story Writing, Space War Computer, Tinkertonics, Ray Gun Technology, Photography, A Look at the Old Masters, Money: How to Handle It, and a section of Beginning Swimming.

Indians of Scurry County will run June 19-20 and again on June 26-27. Paper Craft will run from June 24-July 1, new swimming classes will be starting again on June 30 to run through July 9, and Old Masters tours in the Scurry County Museum for older age groups will meet on June 17, 18 and 19.

Classes scheduled in July are Beginning Drawing, Golf, The Emerging You, Archery, Kids on TV and Puppets.

Registration for the College for Kids is being handled in the office of the Scurry County Museum except for golf and archery. Registration for all classes is requested by June 13 so plans for each class can be completed. Persons wishing details may call the museum office at 573-6107 or 573-8511, extension 210.

The College for Kids is sponsored by the Scurry County Museum and WTC.

is "plenty scared" and is looking for a place to store her furniture.

"The first time one of those tanks goes in, I'm moving," said Ms. Henson.

Workers for Petro Lewis Corp. placed a 2,100-foot deep cement cap below an oil well as cracks stretched from the sinkhole to within 100 feet of the well.

"We could lose the complete well if the crater expands," said District Superintendent Jim Harrison. "But when you lose that well, if you didn't have that zone capped down there, you would have expulsion of oil and gas into the crater."

Cracks from the sinkhole extend to within 300 feet of a highway and 1,110 feet from a Shell-Oil Co. tank farm.

Shell officials said they might pump the 122,000 barrels of oil from their tanks if the crater continues to grow.

The sinkhole, only 3 yards wide when discovered Tuesday morning, broke some pipes leading to the tank farm as it expanded. Flow from those pipes was shut off.

Gurgling muck that rose 70 feet in the crater at one point Friday had receded to 30 or 40 feet, deputies said.

Woman Hurt When Hit By Auto Here

A car-pedestrian accident early Saturday morning sent a Snyder woman to Cogdell Memorial Hospital first, and later to St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock.

Police reports identified the woman as Nicole Lane Fox, 17, Rt. 2, Box 287, Snyder. Driver of the car, a 1974 Ford, was Jay Cumbie, 2211 42nd St. The accident occurred about 4:25 a.m. in the 4300 block of College Ave. Reports indicate the woman received an ankle injury. The accident was investigated by Keith Ward.

An accident Friday night also sent a Snyder woman to Cogdell Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released. That accident occurred about 7:25 p.m. on the U.S. Highway 84 business route.

Heat From Wood On The Increase.

BOSTON (AP)—Massachusetts residents burned almost a million cords of wood to heat their homes during the winter of 1978-79, equal to what all of New England burned in 1976.

The increase, evidently a reponse to rising fuel prices, may stretch the state's forests to their cuttable limits in just three years, perhaps forcing wood prices higher than oil and raise new questions concerning air pollution and fire danger.

Those are conclusions of the first statewide survey of home wood use in the state. The report covered only the winter of 1978-79 and was released recently by the Berkshire-Franklin Resource Conservation and Development group, a nonprofit government-funded organization formed in 1968 to "promote the wise use of natural resources."

Stretching Concept Not New To Athletes
 RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The concept of stretching prior to athletic activity is not new. Flexibility has long been employed by people in ballet, karate and yoga with great success, says Robert Mangine, a physical therapist at the Medical College of Virginia here.
 In an article in USA Diving he cites the following advantages of flexibility exercises for warm-up in place of calisthenics:
 —Less energy is expended in warming up.
 —The muscles are elongated to work throughout the full range of motion.
 He also cautions that muscle must be stretched, but not to the point of pain. Once in the stretched position, it must be held 15 to 20 seconds.

Carter Vetoes Gift To Tribe Of Ute Indians

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter on Friday vetoed legislation that would have given the Ute Indian Tribe 3,000 acres of Colorado land and $5.8 million for economic development.

"This legislative relief is unwarranted," he said in a written message to the House, because it would give special advantages to the Ute Mountain Ute Tribe over others "whose circumstances may be similar." The president said the land and money was to have been considered compensation for the loss of oil and gas revenues allegedly resulting from an incorrect land survey by the United States government.

Carter noted the land was the focus of a dispute between the Navajo tribe in New Mexico and the Utes. "Both tribes claimed ownership of the same lands which formed a common boundary between their respective reservations," he said, adding that the Supreme Court ruled in favor of the Navajos in 1972.

The United States transferred 50 retired destroyers to Britain in 1940 in exchange for a lease of air and sea bases in Newfoundland and the Caribbean.

GI Home Loan Interest Drops

The Veterans Administration has announced that the interest rate on GI home loans dropped from 13 per cent to 11.5 per cent effective May 15. For a veteran buying a home with a 30-year, $50,000 GI loan, the 1.5 per cent decrease will lower the monthly payment by about $58. E.H. (Dan)

Dever, Jr., Scurry County Veterans Service Officer, said.

The rate had dropped to 13 per cent on April 28 after reaching a record high of 14 per cent.

The change does not affect existing loans, whose interest rate remains the same for the life of the agreement.

Senator Pays $100 For Trip Of 700 Miles

SEGUIN (AP)—State Sen. John Traeger says he sent $100 to the Department of Public Safety so the agency would not be "embarrassed" because a trooper drove him 700 miles out of the way to take him home.

Traeger and three friends were en route to Alaska for a fishing trip May 12 when their motor home exploded near Garden City. No one was injured, the vehicle and $1,500 in cash were destroyed.

The Seguin Democrat said he felt justified in asking DPS trooper Glen Redmon the next day to drive him to his home, 30 miles east of San Antonio, because it was an emergency.

Traeger had first told the Big Spring Herald he would not pay for expenses incurred by the DPS ride.

"After I read the story in the Big Spring Herald, I decided I would send the check so I did," Traeger told the newspaper.

"I was afraid the story may cause some embarrassment to the DPS and I don't want to see them embarrassed," he said.

In a letter accompanying the June 3 check, Traeger noted the trip was the first time he had taken advantage of the DPS service.

Lou Gossett, assistant director of the DPS, said officials would review the situation when the check arrived before accepting it.

"When I heard that this might be a possibility (receiving the money) I checked," Gossett said. "There was a provision in the appropriations bill to deposit the money into the DPS highway patrol expense fund."

SATURDAY YARD SLAVES

The downfall of most home landscapes is the lack of maintenance. It is practically impossible to maintain an attractive landscape without a few hours of care each week. Yet, too often the homeowner will tend to plant and forget, thinking that everything will somehow turn out looking okay.

Leaving our landscapes to Mother Nature's care doesn't usually work out, particularly in West Texas where summer alone can take a scorching toll. Plants basically are like pets or animals—they must be fed, watered, groomed, and occasionally treated for insects or diseases—otherwise they die, or at best live an unhealthy life.

Becoming a "Saturday Slave" to your landscape is not necessary. Plan your landscape in advance—mentally or on paper—and be sure to have a definite purpose and place for every plant, tree, shrub, or other feature you use. Plant with minimum maintenance in mind.

Here are some do's and don'ts to consider in establishing a minimum maintenance landscape:

1. Realizing that few of us have 40 hours or $40 a week to spend on our landscapes, do eliminate as many "frills" as possible. A good landscape design is based on simplicity.
2. Do keep the yard free of ornaments and even trees and shrubs, except for those absolutely needed.
3. Do avoid a scattered arrangement of flower beds and shrubs. A cluttered yard with many beds and shrubs will require a lot of hand edging and clipping.

4. Don't try to grow grass in areas too shady, too dry, too wet, or too steep to be mowed safely. Use ground cover plants in these areas.

5. Don't line walks and driveways with unnecessary plantings or place foundation plants so close to the house that they can't be maintained.

6. Do select plants carefully, considering their ultimate size (height and width).

7. Don't use fast growing plants which will require constant pruning.

8. Do consider the use of native plants since they are obviously adapted to our climate and soil and usually have few past problems.

9. Do use mowing strips or edges along walks, flower beds and around trees and shrubs. These will reduce mowing and edging problems and create a much neater landscape.

10. Do use mulches to minimize watering and reduce weeds in flower and shrub beds.

11. Don't overfertilize. Keep plants a minimum fertilization levels and mowing, pruning, and trimming will be minimized.

And last but not least, don't confuse low maintenance with no maintenance. Plants will sooner or later need water, fertilizer, and care, and the grass must be mowed. The idea is to find the easiest way to do the maintenance jobs which must be done.

Shiny Roof May Need New Shingles

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Does your roof shine brighter than it used to?

If so, it may be time for re-roofing, says Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., a shingle manufacturer.

When shingles become old and worn out, they lose their protective granules and appear shiny. The shininess indicates they may soon wear out and make it easier for water to seep through.

Granules from shingles appearing in gutters and down-spouts indicate the same problem.

Fear Slows New Products

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—A fear of failure causes many business owners to drag their feet in getting a new product to market, according to the President's Letter, a publication for chief executives.

The journal says there is a widespread impression that up to 90 percent of the new products introduced are flops. However, it reports that only one-third of the products actually introduced in the past five years have failed.

The main reasons a new product fails, it says, are inadequate market research and blunders in timing the introduction of a product.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Diggs of Lubbock are parents of a daughter weighing 6 lbs., 13 1/2 ozs., born May 5 in University Hospital. She has been named Evelyn Marie. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Diggs of Snyder.

Pluto is the smallest and outermost planet in the solar system. It was named for the Roman god of the underworld.

DEAR ABBY: We recently bought a trampoline for our children. Soon all the neighborhood youngsters started coming over to jump on it.

We talked to our lawyer about the possibility of our being sued should a child get hurt on our trampoline. We own rental property and other assets that could be lost in a lawsuit, and we wanted to be sure we were protected. He suggested we ask the parents of the children to sign the following form.

DATE: _____
 NAME OF CHILD: _____
 I hereby give my consent for my above named child to play on the trampoline located at _____ Houston, Texas, and will not hold the owners of said trampoline responsible for any injuries sustained by this named child while playing on said trampoline.

MOTHER: _____
 FATHER: _____

Some of our neighbors refused to sign it. Others said it was insulting and unnecessary, as they were "not the type" to sue.

We don't want to make enemies of our neighbors. What do you (and your readers) think of asking our neighbors to sign such a form?

HOUSTON PARENTS
 DEAR PARENTS: I think you are wise. But what about those children who come into your yard and use your trampoline without their parents' knowledge or consent? A trampoline is an attractive nuisance, you know, so in order to be fully covered, you should talk to your insurance agent. Leaving nothing to chance is a good policy.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have had a group of wonderful friends over the years. We were so close that their children called us uncle and aunt.

A few years ago we moved to another city, but we kept in close touch (writing, phoning and visiting each other).

Recently our daughter, 25, decided to follow in the ways of the times. She took to living with her boyfriend, and now they have a child. They say that marriage may — or may not — come later.

God knows how upset and heartbroken we have been, but we thought it best to tell our friends that we were new grandparents.

Abby, not one of them has written or kept in touch since. How it would have helped to ease our heartache if they had responded.

Do they think we condone our daughter's lifestyle? (We do not, but we understand the best of it.) Please comment.

HEARTSICK PARENTS
 DEAR PARENTS: "Wonderful friends" are supportive, loving and non-judgmental. I would say your friends were not so wonderful after all.

DEAR ABBY: My sister has a pair of twin boys, age 10, and two little girls, 7 and 6. She also has a beachfront summer home. Sis lets her boys swim in the nude when it's very hot, but she insists that the girls wear swimsuits at all times.

I have two children, a boy, 9, and a girl, 8, who would enjoy a vacation at the lake, but I don't like this nude boy bit.

When I discussed it with my sister, she said it was healthier for little girls to be brought up with no secrets about what little boys look like.

I half-jokingly asked her if she thought Dear Abby would agree with her, and she said she was sure you would because you were very broad-minded. I told her I'd write and ask you, "What do you say?"

WONDERING
 DEAR WONDERING: I may not be as broad-minded as your sister thinks I am. Ask her. If it's healthy for little girls to be brought up with no secrets about what little boys look like, why isn't it equally as healthy to bring up boys with no secrets about what little girls look like?

A CHURCH CAN BE A BRIDGE....

If you visit First Christian Church, you'll probably be struck by the large number of worshippers who come from infinitely varied church backgrounds! Some from conservative traditions; others come from the more liberal traditions. There is a reason for this infinite variety.

There is something about the openness and individual freedom of the Christian Church which appeals to those families and couples who are caught up in a spiritual dilemma—because husband and wife cannot reach across to the church heritage of the partner.

Somehow, without intending it, First Christian has become a "Bridge Church".... A place of worship which stands at a "Mid-Point" between widely varied spiritual backgrounds.

So, if you're looking for a place of family unity, allow First Christian Church to help you "Bridge the Gap" Worship with us!

Pearland, Westlake Claim State Tournament Titles

AUSTIN (AP)—Strong-armed pitchers, possibly Texas' best two high school shortstops and small-town slugger dominated the schoolboy baseball tournament.

Pearland belted San Antonio Roosevelt, 9-4, Friday night for the Class 4A championship, with shortstop Craig Smajstrla extending his fantastic playoff hitting binge.

Austin Westlake, with first-round pro draft choice Kelly Gruber making incredible defensive plays, edged defending champion DeSoto, 11-10, for the 3A title.

Linden-Kildare nipped La Grange, 8-7, for the 2A championship, and catcher Herbert Johnson of Waskom, cracked a 375-foot bases-loaded home run and two triples for seven RBIs and scored three times in a 13-0 rout of Falls City for the Class A crown.

Colmesneil avenged a 6-3 loss in the finals to Palmer last year by beating the defending champions, 8-0, for the Class B title.

Johnson's hitting performance was thought to be the best by a player in a single game in the tournament's 32-year history.

Smajstrla, a 5-foot-6, 140-pound junior, set a tournament record with six hits in two games. In the two-game series, he had three RBIs, scored three times and stole a base.

In nine playoff games since district competition, Smajstrla had 23 hits in 32 at-bats for a fabulous .719 average.

Pearland's John Dempsey won the championship game with a three-hitter, striking out 12 and collecting three hits himself to raise his record to 15-1.

Westlake's Calvin Schiraldi, a Texas Longhorn recruit and 15th-round draft choice of the Chicago White Sox, struggled through eight innings against a dangerous DeSoto team in a game that almost turned into a brawl in the fourth.

Schiraldi, 18-1, gave up 11 hits but left the tying run on third base by striking out the final two hitters in the eighth, or first extra inning. The score was tied 9-9 at the end of seven but Westlake got the eventual winning run on Gruber's infield hit with the bases loaded in the top of the eighth.

Gruber, selected by the Cleveland Indians in the recent draft, once raced 50 yards to grab a popup and repeatedly threw out runners from deep short.

Westlake collected 14 hits - a two-run homer by Brent Bradshaw and 13 singles, including four by second baseman Jim Arrington, off three DeSoto pitchers.

The near-brawl started after Westlake baseman Jeff Arrington tagged Brad Perrier, and Jim Arrington, his brother, bumped Perrier. Players from both benches charged the field, and several had to hold off Kevin Smith of DeSoto, who as finally escorted toward his dugout by a coach.

Afterwards, DeSoto runners upended Jim Arrington at least twice, and Barry Stachs of DeSoto taunted Jeff Arrington by backing up almost to home plate on a bunt, after first making a move toward first. Arrington tagged him out near home plate.

The '21 runs by both teams in the Westlake-DeSoto game were the most ever scored in a championship game. The game lasted three hours and four minutes.

WTC Finishes Eighth At National Tourney

LEHIGH, Fla.—Western Texas College, which raced from 15th to eighth after the first round of the NJCAA National Golf Tournament here, finished in that position Friday with a 72-hole total of 1,231.

Miami Dade North - the early leader at Mirror Lakes Country Club here - notched the 1980 Juco championship with a 1,166 total.

Richard White led Western Texas College with a 295 while Jeff Wagner carded a 306. Mike Mahan shot a 317 for the tournament while Ken Lawrence had a 318 and Chris Johnson came up with a 321.

Wagner, White and Johnson will return to the Western Texas stable next year.

Scott Crain of Miami Dade captured medalist.

Brett Leads Hitting As...

Royals Slap Rangers

ARLINGTON (AP)—Jim Frey, manager of the Kansas City Royals, says when you play on the road against a good team, you "just play along and hope things happen."

They "happened" again Friday night for Kansas City, which erupted for four successive hits and three runs and came from behind to beat the Texas Rangers 4-2. "We got some hitting again tonight, and we got good pitching out of all three of our pitchers," Frey said.

His club was 12-12 in fourth place in the American League West on May 9, but since then the Royals have put together a 19-8 record.

John Wathan, Darrell Porter and George Brett have figured prominently in Kansas City's surge.

"After the trade for Willie Aikens, I figured at the start of the year that Porter would do most of the catching and Aikens at first base, and Wathan would be a backup for both. I didn't foresee that Wathan would play much for us, to tell the truth," Frey said.

"But when Porter was not with the club, we put Wathan in there, and he turned out to be a .400 hitter for a month. We had to find a place for him in the lineup," Frey added.

Porter (.320) was the catcher and Wathan (.319) the designated hitter in Thursday's opening game of the Kansas City-Texas series. They reversed roles Friday night.

"Wathan was our most consistent hitter until George started hitting the ball so well lately," Frey said.

Brett drilled two singles and a double in four appearances Friday night, extending his hitting streak to 10 games, during which time he's gone 22-for-43 for a .512 clip. He's raised his batting average for the year to .333, an 86-point jump over the past two weeks.

Brett's third hit of the night scored the tying run and Amos Otis' single plated him with the go-ahead run in the Royals' three-run fifth inning that more than made up for Dave Roberts' two-run homer that had given the Rangers the lead in the second inning.

Floyd Streaks To 100 Meter NCAA Victory

AUSTIN (AP) — When freshman Stanley Floyd came out of Putney, Ga., Auburn track fans hoped he could replace the great sprinter Harvey Glance someday.

Someday is already here. The 5-foot-9, 160-pound speedster shocked defending champion Jerome Deal of Texas El Paso and Southern California's James Sanford in the NCAA 100-meter finals Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

Floyd sped to victory with a time of 10.10 to beat Florida State's Michael Roberson and Sanford, who finished second and third respectively in 10.12 seconds. Deal was sixth.

"Sure, I knew I had some big shoes to fill," said Floyd. "But I've got a couple of his records now."

"I won my first race and since then I've just kept on running. I'm 15-0 now."

UCLA, led by Greg Foster's easy victory in the 114-meter hurdles, took a narrow lead heading into Saturday's wind-up of the annual NCAA Track and Field Championships.

UCLA compiled 22 points to 21 for Texas-El Paso which posted victories in the hammer throw and the 10,000-meter run.

Southern California was third with 18 points, followed by Florida State and Auburn with 12 each and Houston and Washington State with 10 each.

Foster, distracted somewhat by an ugly incident in the shot put ring, ran a 13.42 time.

An accident during warm-up throws in the shot put ring caused postponement of the event until Saturday night.

Texas A&M's Tim Scott pushed off his final warm-up throw just as official James Smith walked into the ring.

Smith was struck just above the right eye by the 16-pound iron ball and bled profusely before he was carried to Brackenridge Hospital where X-rays revealed he suffered a broken nose and cracked teeth.

"Don't blame the athlete, it wasn't the athlete's fault," said Smith from his hospital bed.

Foster said, "I was somewhat distracted by the incident. I just couldn't concentrate. I felt lousy in the blocks. It was a disappointing time but I was very happy to win."

Another freshman, Houston's Carl Lewis, turned in an astounding long jump which did not count as an NCAA record because the wind was over the allowable 2.2 meters.

Lewis jumped 27 feet 4 3/4 inches to beat out defending champion Larry Doub-ley, who holds the NCAA record of 26-11 3/4. Doubly managed an effort of 26-8 for the silver medal.

"It was a really big win," said Lewis. "I had a lot of confidence and I'm certain I can jump a legal 27 feet."

Madlock Withdraws Suspension Appeal

NEW YORK (AP) — the punishment after Pittsburgh third baseman Bill Madlock withdrew his appeal of a 15-day suspension and $5,000 fine imposed by National League President Chub Feeney and was on the sidelines when the Pirates opened a four-game weekend series with the New York Mets.

Feeney had determined the punishment after Madlock apparently shoved his glove in the face of umpire Gerry Crawford during an argument in a game in Pittsburgh May 1. Madlock then appealed the decision.

Miller Forecasts Olympic Failure

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Olympic Committee official F. Don Miller, believes the boycott of the Summer Games in Moscow next month will have an adverse effect on the 1984 Games in Los Angeles.

Miller, USOC executive director, told sports editors Friday he does not believe the Soviet Union and nations friendly to the Russians will participate in the Summer Games in the United States in four years.

"The Soviets now say they will participate because it is now to their advantage to say so," Miller told the Associated Press Sports Editors convention. "When we get to 1983, depending on world tensions, the Soviets and the other socialist countries will not partici-

Protocol Chief Recalls Youth

By SOLL SUSSMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—In the bulging scrapbook kept by Abelardo Valdez, U.S. chief of protocol, the best documented event is not his greeting of Pope John Paul II or British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher or Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. What takes the most space in the scrapbook are pictures of a homecoming celebration last December in Floresville, Texas, a little town 40 miles south of San Antonio, where Valdez worked as a migrant laborer between the ages of 6 and 14.

When Valdez sprinkles his conversation with references to the "concept that we call America" or "the American way," he includes examples from his own past as a farm worker among them.

Valdez did not speak English fluently until he was 9, but graduated with honors from high school in Floresville, worked his way through Texas A&M University, graduated from Baylor Law School and received his law degree from Harvard.

Valdez spoke to about 300 children, many of them from migrant families, on a more recent homecoming trip to Texas and said he found the experience remarkable.

"It was really quite touching because I could see myself in them," he said. "It makes me feel proud, but it also makes me feel humble."

PLANTING SEASON NEARLY OVER—Delayed first by dry weather and then by floods, Scurry County cotton farmers are now in the process of winding up their planting chores for 1980. Bobby Stansell is shown checking the soil moisture in a Fluvanna field as he finishes his planting. Some area farmers already have completed their planting, and virtually all are expected to finish within the week. (SDN Staff Photo)

Man's Senses Recover After Lightning Bolt

FALMOUTH, Maine (AP)—Edwin Robinson slowly began to lose his sight after a truck accident nine years ago. He was fitted for a hearing aid and had to learn Braille. Then he was struck by a bolt of lightning that "made my head as clear as a bell" — and he can see again.

And while doctors can't entirely explain it, the lightning also restored his hearing.

"I'm still not off my cloud," the 62-year-old former truck driver said Friday as he was deluged with calls from friends, well-wishers and reporters.

Robinson's joy began Wednesday when he went into his yard during a thunderstorm to get a pet chicken out of the rain.

"I went around the garage with my aluminum cane — the chicken always comes when I call her," he recalled. "When I got under the tree — wham! If I had died, I'd have never known the difference."

Robinson said he regained consciousness 20 minutes later and went onto the house to take a nap. He first realized something good had happened when he no longer felt "a tight band around my head. I always felt like taking my cap off."

By Wednesday night, he was able to read the time on a wall clock, although "it faded back and forth, not quite in focus." The next morning, he and his wife, Doris, "broke out the pictures of the grandchildren ... and then I came outside and saw my big, fat white cat. He was little when I saw him last. Now he's a big fat horse."

Robinson lost his sight and hearing after an accident in February, 1971 when he jackknifed his tractor-trailer rig to avoid hitting a skidding car. His ophthalmologist,

Dr. Albert Moulton of Portland, who checked Robinson on Friday, said Robinson suffered a "severe head injury. He gradually went deaf and blind."

"I figured it was an occipital injury, the seeing area in the back of the brain," Moulton said. "He realized he was losing his vision very gradually. He became completely blind."

"There is no question but that his vision is back," Moulton said. "He can't move his eyes, but his central vision is back ... I can't explain it. I don't know who can."

"I know some of my peers in Washington, maybe, will say it's hysterical blindness," Moulton continued. "I can't see it. It couldn't have lasted this long. From the physical findings originally, he was definitely blind."

The doctor said he doesn't know whether Robinson's sight will remain, but "I don't know why it shouldn't last."

A second physician, Dr. William F. Taylor, also examined Robinson and confirmed he had regained both sight and hearing. Calling it "one for the books."

In 1915, William of Orange was proclaimed king of The Netherlands.

The site is a twin to a 6,212-foot dry hole and 1 1/2 miles northwest of the Rotan (Flippen sand, Canyon, upper Hope Lime and 3,372-foot) field.

Vaughn also announced plans to re-enter three dry holes in Fisher County and test them as wildcats.

He will cleanout to 3,700 feet in the former O.E. Hall of Fort Worth No. 1 Mrs. Mae Harvey, a 6,366-foot failure one mile west of the one-well Bonner (Flippen oil) pool which produces at 3,573 feet.

The location is five miles north of Hamlin.

The Spaniards called platinum "platina," or silver of little value, although they finally decided it was worth enough to begin placer mining it by 1778.

Over 2,500 Return To Ohio U...

Class Of '70 Sets Graduation

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—When Craig Lindberg learned that Ohio University was holding commencement exercises for its 1970 class today - 10 years late - he jumped at the chance to don a mortarboard.

Graduations have been unfortunate events for Lindberg. His high school commencement was nearly rained out and his college exercises were canceled because of campus rioting.

"I'm looking forward for a chance to put on my robe and gown," said the 32-year-old Lindberg, now a managing agent for a Columbus real-estate company. "I want the opportunity to graduate."

Lindberg is among 68 persons expected to join more than 2,500 members of Ohio University's 1980 class at graduation ceremonies today.

Officials decided to cancel the last month of classes and commencement exercises at the university 10 years ago because of campus disruptions that occurred after four students were killed by National Guardsmen at Kent State University, at the opposite end of the state.

Following the shootings, many of Kent State's protesters traveled to the Athens campus, according to Cynthia Weir, another 1970 graduate who planned to return to the Athens campus to graduate today.

The result was a barrage of fire bombings and tear gas raids, she said.

"It was a very sad time of my life - the closest I hope I ever come to war," said Ms. Weir, 32, manager of a Columbia Gas Co. office in Logan. "It also was sad for me to go on for four years and just walk away with no chance to graduate."

Other 1970 graduates also felt bad about receiving their diplomas in the mail rather than on a platform. So a few years ago, some asked the school to reschedule their commencement.

The university agreed, setting the ceremonies and a 10-year reunion for today. Invitations, were sent to 2,700 of the class' 4,160 members - those whose names and addresses had not been lost.

Foundation Bears All Costs For Art Exhibit

How is it possible that a small town like Snyder can have such a major art exhibit as the Old Master Paintings exhibit now being shown in the Scurry County Museum?

Credit goes to the Sarah Campbell Blaffer Foundation of Houston, which now has four traveling exhibits in its "museum without walls" project.

One of the singular aspects of the project is the fact that the Foundation pays all costs for the borrowing institutions, from insurance to transportation. It is a full-fledged "free art" program offered at a time when traveling shows are becoming scarce due to rising costs and when many museums and private collectors are reluctant to lend works due to risk of damage.

The traveling exhibits are a fitting tribute to Sarah Blaffer, benefactress of the foundation which bears her name. She was one of the state's major art collectors and amassed works ranging from the Old Masters being shown here to Abstract Expressionists and a group of works by Edward Munch that are generally considered among the most important examples outside the Munch-museum in Oslo. By the time of her death in 1975 at the age of 91, Mrs. Blaffer had acquired and disposed of more art than most Texans see in their lifetimes.

The Old Masters exhibit will remain in the Scurry County Museum through July 25, and may be seen without admission charge. The museum is open from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on weekday mornings; Afternoon hours are 1-5 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 1-4 p.m. on Fridays. Sunday hours are 1-5 p.m.

Special Student Tour Coming Up

Students in grades 1-12 will have the opportunity to take an extended, guided tour of the Old Master Paintings in the Scurry County Museum in mid-June.

Information about the Old Master classes and other College for Kids classes may be obtained by calling the museum office at 573-6107.

Politics Breeds Friendly Service

DETROIT (AP)—Politics breeds service with a smile here.

With the city playing host to its first national political convention when the Republicans meet here July 14-18, virtually everyone in Detroit is making preparations for the big event.

Cab drivers and waitresses are being sent to school. Innkeepers are drilling clerks on the fine points of customer service. Recruiters are signing up thousands of volunteers to help make visitors to the convention welcome with maximum attention being paid to their needs.

Capt. John Claus Voss arrived in England Sept. 2, 1904, after circumnavigating the globe in an Indian dugout canoe. Voss took three years, three months and 12 days to make the trip. The vessel, for which Voss paid $75, had been carved 50 years earlier by a Nootka Indian on the west coast of Vancouver Island. The canoe carried no auxiliary motor but sailed under three masts. Voss died in California in 1922.

HOW TO REMOVE MILDEW FROM CLOTHING OR PREVENT IT:

Remove mildew from clothing immediately—and better yet, prevent it—as it can stain clothing permanently without proper attention.

Remember, mildew grows in damp, warm, dark, and poorly ventilated places. It often leaves a musty odor and can eat holes in fabric if left too long.

Fabrics most susceptible to mildew are the natural fibers—cotton, wool, linen and silk—and cellulosic manmades, including rayon, acetate, and triacetate.

To prevent mildew stains remember the following:—Make sure laundered clothing is completely dry before storing in closets or drawers.

—Never store soiled clothing.

—Be sure to dry clothing that is wet or soiled before putting in a hamper.

—If possible, store clothing in a well ventilated closet—or leave the door open periodically to prevent moisture build-up in closed areas.

—Dampen clothing for ironing only as you are ready to iron—for example, using a spray pump bottle. Do not predampen a lot of clothes, thinking you will iron them all at once.

—When storing clothing use a mildew inhibitor, such as paradichlorobenzene or paraformaldehyde, in the drawer or closet. These may be obtained at your local food markets or drug stores. Read the instructions before using to prevent clothing damage or health hazards.

—To remove mildew stains, follow these steps:—Remove the stain as soon as it is discovered.

—Moisten stain with a mixture of lemon juice and salt, if the garment is launderable. If not, moisten with detergent and water. Rinse and allow it to dry in the sun.

—If stain still remains, use a mixture of two tablespoons peroxide bleach and one pint hot water if fabric can take it—if not, use lukewarm water for thirty minutes.

—As a last resort, use a solution of two tablespoons chlorine bleach in one quart water for 15 minutes. Never use chlorine bleach on silk, wool, or spandex.

The First Baptist Church, Anson, was the setting for marriage vows between Laura Marie Fohn and Robert Keith Lovelady May 31 at 1:30 p.m. Rev. Miller Robinson, pastor of Colonial Hill Baptist Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Dr. and Mrs. Donald R. Gee of Anson and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Fohn Sr. of Marion. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Lovelady of Snyder.

Mr. Fohn, father of the bride, presented his daughter in marriage as she was attired in a white satapeau trimmed with Alencon lace dress fashioned in empire style. Her neckline, bodice and hemline were adorned with the Alencon lace. The bride's finger tip veil was outlined with floral lace. A lacy half-hat embellished with flowers and pearls complimented her bridal attire.

The bride carried a bouquet of English ivy, baby's breath and carnations, with a mixture of mauve and burgundy colors intermingled.

Maid of honor, Betsy Benson wore a mauve, polychiffon waisted dress featuring accordion pleats. She wore a matching flower in her hair and carried a long stemmed cluster of carnations, English ivy and baby's breath.

Bobbie Beard served as best man. Ushers were D. Clay Fohn of Anson, the bride's brother, and Mark T. Gee, the bride's stepbrother, also of Anson.

Organist Durrell Wilson of Anson began the ceremony with traditional wedding selections. The altar area was decorated with an arch adorned with English ivy and baby's breath. Two flower arrangements in white baskets flanked the arch, all consisting of mauve and burgundy colors. Also displayed were two all-white bouquets. Paul and

Christy Newberry of Anson sang "I Pledge My Love."

A reception followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table held a three-tiered cake. The bottom layer was square and the other two were round. Serving were Cindy Boone of Merkel, Ginger Deden of Levelland and Sheila Sandbothe of Anson. From the groom's table, Belinda Hagler and Charlotte Anderson, both of Anson, served German chocolate cake. Miss Sandbothe also registered guests.

For her wedding trip to Lubbock, the bride chose a white and yellow sundress with geometric figures topped with a yellow jacket.

The bride is a graduate of Anson High School and Western Texas College with a degree in associate of arts. The bridegroom is a graduate of Snyder High School and WTC with a degree in Business Management. He is employed by Mobil Oil Co.

Special guests attending the wedding were Milton Fohn, grandfather of the bride, and other relatives of both bride and groom.

Couple Marries

In Bride's Parents Home

Charles E. Graham and Lora Snyder Hutton both of Lovington, N.M., were united in marriage May 10 at 7 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H.G. Snyder, former Snyder residents.

Rev. John Carlberg performed the ceremony in the presence of family members. Martha Snyder, sister of the bride attended her as bridesmaid and Thomas Graham, brother of the groom was best man. Chris and Ty Beasley, sons of the bride, were ring bearers.

Following a honeymoon trip to Inn of the Mountain Gods near Ruidoso, N.M., the couple will reside in Lovington where the groom is employed by Cactus Drilling Corporation.

Wilhelmina was crowned queen of The Netherlands in 1898.

Good bids after overcall

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

This is going to be a rather advanced article since it involves the way most expert players handle their own simple overcalls.

In modern bidding, the overall may well be a good hand with one or maybe two suits. In other words, a good hand that may not be suitable for a takeout double.

Hence, partner should raise an overall with any hand that represents better than a minimum raise for an opening bid.

A bid of your own suit is never a forcing bid, but merely suggests that your suit is the best spot for a final contract.

A notrump call shows a stopper in opponents bid suit and 7-11 high-card points. Seldom only seven or as many as 11 jump raises are all limit bids. The only forcing call is a cue bid of opponent's suit. It is not a game force, but at worst shows a hand with which you want to be in game unless partner's overcall is a really bad one.

Here is an example of bidding a slam after West overcalls one heart with one spade holding: S-A-K-Q-x-x-x-H-x-x-x-D-A-x-C-x-x-x and partner cue bids two hearts with S-J-x-x-H-x-D-K-Q-J-x-x-C-A-x. West jumps to three spades to show a good overcall and East goes into Blackwood and bid the slam after West shows two aces.

You don't bid many slams, but you nearly always get to game. Here is one of those rare instances when you stop below game.

West bids one spade over South's diamond, holding: S-A-J-10-9-3-H-A-8-6-D-5-4-C-J-7-6. East cue bids two diamonds and West with his minimum bids two spades which East raises to three. West hates to stop one trick short of game, but he has the sort of hand where three spades may also be too high. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

The groom wore a gray tuxedo with matching shirt and cravat. His boutonniere was a gamelia rose, matching the bride's bouquet.

Sid Sullenger attended his brother as best man. He was attired in a gray tuxedo with matching shirt and bow tie.

Ministers To Circus People

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Rev. David Hennessey's congregation is just a bunch of clowns and daredevils, lion tamers, acrobats and roustabouts. "Father David," as he is called, is America's only full-time minister to circus people.

"The nomadic life suits me," said the Roman Catholic priest. "The raveling, the fresh air, dealing with young, strong-hearted people. It's the cleanest entertainment in the world." Hennessey, 68, an Englishman who was a ship's cook before becoming a priest, was assigned to the circus ministry with Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus 18 months ago by the U.S. Roman Catholic Church Commission for Peoples on the Move. The appointment was ratified by the Vatican.

Hennessey administers Communion from a card table on a sawdust-covered floor next to the tiger cage — or sometimes in front of the elephants. With two or three performances six days a week, Mass "is sandwiched between the matinee and evening performances on Saturday and Sunday.

"There's no glamour attached to my job, but to me it's very satisfying, from a priestly point of view," said Hennessey, who travels in a battered old trailer.

Colonial Daughters Have Spring Meeting In Abilene

The spring meeting of members of Tejas Chapter of Colonial Daughters of the Seventeenth Century was held in the home of Mrs. Kenneth G. Whisenant in Abilene. Miss Delila Baird, chapter president, presided at a brief business meeting following a luncheon hosted by Mrs. Whisenant, Mrs. R.R. McIntyre of Falfurrias, Miss Josie Baird, Mrs. Connie Tutt and Mrs. Jimmy Hale of Rotan.

Mrs. Hale, chaplain, presented a brief devotional and voiced the opening prayer. The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the USA was led by Mrs. Whit Clark who also gave a National Defense report.

Mrs. Clark stressed the urgency of keeping alive the spirit of America as the only way that our country can survive. She stated that it is time to stop tearing down, time to start building up, time to write your congressman, listen to the news, vote every chance you get and encourage others to vote. She closed with the statement, "It is time to show the world that you have not given up on your country. You, and I, can make a difference. Show the world that you are one citizen who cares about America, because, with all its flaws — and there are many — it is still the greatest country on earth."

It was reported by the chapter registrar, Miss Josie Baird, that four new members were approved for Tejas Chapter at the national executive council meeting. They are Mrs. L.A. Sparks of Rotan and three junior members, Sandra, Susan Harris and Nanci Dianne Harris of crises nothing new

As painful as the energy crisis is, it is not so unlike past shortages. Though it is hard for most Americans to remember, this nation has experienced the shortages before.

There were doomsayers who predicted the shortage of the day would lead to disaster, but the market usually came up with more supply or a substitute in short order. That's when the free market was permitted to function.

In 1798 British economist Thomas Malthus, doom-sayer without peer, predicted widespread starvation owing to an imbalance between food production and population growth.

Pessimists rallied around the prediction and waited for the iron law of Malthus to manifest itself. Everytime there was a crop failure someone dug up the prediction and warned the people to prepare for the worst.

Luckily, Malthus' prediction was made on the eve of the greatest era of free enterprise ever experienced.

The industrial revolution negated the gloomy prediction and starvation was averted. What Malthus had not foreseen was the potential of the profit motive once set free in the market. Within one hundred years of his prediction of catastrophe, agriculture was completely mechanized with equipment built by machines not even dreamed of in Malthus' generation. Reapers, threshers, combines and tractors created food in literally inconceivable quantities.

These machines, and the chemicals and fertilizers which revolutionized agriculture, were not part of the equation with which Malthus dealt.

From the time of the American Revolution until the Civil War the major source of light was lamps fueled by whale oil. During the Civil War whale oil became short and the price doubled, shooting up to $2.55 per gallon.

Again, there were predictions of doom, yet with the price so high, the market was already working to solve the problem. The high price of whale oil encouraged the development of kerosene and petroleum products.

In 1875 the first generator for outdoor electric lights was built. In short, by 1896 in price of whale oil was down to 40 cents a gallon and a new and better source of light was in service throughout the nation.

The market was permitted to function in both of those situations. If based on Malthusian predictions the new government of the United States had created a Department of Food similar to the Department of Energy there is little doubt there would indeed have been widespread starvation.

If the government had taken firm control of the whale oil situation in 1861 one can only imagine the outcome. The price of whale oil would have been kept low by bureaucrats desiring to prevent poor people from being exploited by big business. The whaling monopoly would certainly have been the target of many congressional investigations.

Meanwhile, with the price of whale oil so low, no one would have been motivated to come up with an alternative, and by now every whale on the planet would have been slaughtered for its blubber. Thank goodness for Thomas Edison, and for Adam Smith of course.

The current energy shortage is no different.

For years the price of oil and gas was kept artificially low by the government, discouraging the development of alternatives. Just because the bureaucracy could not visualize those alternatives did not mean, as in the days of Thomas Malthus, that the alternatives could not be created.

The alternatives of the market are as unlimited as imagination. We should let our imagination and the market run free.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Ramsey Clark for President...of Iran."

Although President Carter is far from our first choice as President come November, we nevertheless have had rare occasions to find his actions to our liking.

One such was the attempted rescue of the American hostages in Iran. Like most folks, we had only wished that he had acted sooner in the crisis.

When the rescue mission failed, we thought it was an excellent time for an about face in our butter for guns policy of the last few years.

It seemed that the most prudent step would have been to increase military spending to once again put this nation in a commanding position world-wide.

It has been obvious that we no longer have the respect of nations, and even our allies in Europe have avoided any direct support for the American cause.

We have attempted to buy friendship, only to find teeth marks in uncle Sam's generous arm. We're not much better off in this country. We have heaped social programs on top of social programs, and yet recipients are the last to have a kind thing to say for the American way of life.

The liberals ask for more and then offer nothing in return. Even though disagreement is a Constitutional right of all Americans, there comes a point when it borders on pure treason.

Former Attorney General Ramsey Clark, a dove from the Vietnam era, has once again made headlines with his unauthorized trip to Iran to attend a conference entitled "Crimes of America."

The U.S. state department had labeled the conference as a propaganda circus, and we heartily agree. If President Carter will take Mr. Clark, the professors and the ministers making the trip and put them on trial for their actions, then we'll have at least two things with which to agree with Mr. Carter.

the big gamble

You and I have explained to ourselves the proved public preference for "bad news." Bad news equals good news -- in reverse.

In any hospital ward there is always somebody who is worse off to make us feel comparatively fortunate.

For the Hunt brothers of Dallas to be hurting financially serves a similar purpose.

The Hunt brothers, Bunker, Herbert and Lamar, inherited their dad's oil fortune -- understandably itched to prove that they could make other fortunes on their own.

They gambled heavily and they lost big.

The Hunt brothers of Dallas are not at all like the caricatured super-rich on the popular television program of that name.

The Hunt brothers love their own wives, work hard, are philanthropically generous; each is imbued with much of the religious persuasion of their saintly mother.

But with the gambling compulsion of their wild-catter father.

With the earnings of the Placid Oil Co., they invested in coal mines, cotton plantations, bowling alleys, horses, athletes, parking lots, works of art, coins.

And if only because of inflation, these investments in "things" pyramided in value.

Critics will insist their greed was their undoing. Mortgaging their assets, the Hunt brothers speculated in silver futures -- saw those prices soar from $10 to $50 an ounce -- with their investment increasing in multiples.

Convinced the price would go to a $100 -- perhaps $500 -- they invested all they had and mortgaged everything else to borrow dollars they didn't have -- and invested that.

And when government intervention and investor panic caused the silver market to plummet back to $10 -- the Hunts were in hock almost $2 billion, and in debt beyond that to the extent that their silver holdings had sagged in value.

I mean that when the banks blew the whistle, Bunker had to hock everything -- from his race properties to his oil horses to his collection of porcelain birds. Herbert had to hock his coin collection and his authentic Greek statues.

Lamar had to hock his wife's fur coat and his own Rolex wristwatch.

When a heavily invested jillionaire is in trouble financially, it sends shock waves in all directions, tending to worsen the situation. Forced to liquidate assets, they cannot demand top price.

To give you an idea of the size of this thing, from February through April of this year, 8.6 percent of all new bank lending in the United States -- went to the Hunts.

From another perspective, the interest they are having to pay on what they owe is a staggering half million dollars a day!

What did the Hunts do wrong? Obviously, they put too many eggs in one basket.

Their father, H.L. Hunt, rich as he was, when there was an expensive long-shot well to drill, shared the risk -- reserved for himself only a "piece of the action."

His sons got impatient. (c) 1980, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

thoughts

James stresses the value of patience and speaks of the farmer who patiently waits for his harvest in the time of the early and latter rains. The early rain is in the months of October and November and the latter in March and April. Crops are planted so they will grow in the rainy seasons.

"Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain." -- James 5:7

Are you down on America? "And why not?" you ask.

Things just aren't the same as they used to be. Our international prestige dwindles. Race riots erupt in Miami. Inflation continues to rage. Our hostages remain captive in Iran. The energy crisis won't let up. And good old Yankee ingenuity seems to be taking a back seat to Japan, West Germany and even the Soviet Union.

Don't look here for solutions to those problems. But if you want to refresh your love for these United States, here's a suggestion: Visit Washington, D.C. this summer. And bring your kids.

We just returned and, to quote my wife, it is downright "impressive."

We joined thousands of tourists and trekked through the White House early one morning.

At the Treasury Department we bought pewter disks and struck our own commemorative medals with the White House on one side and the American eagle on the other. It only cost a buck!

One look at a crowded beach scene makes one wonder how the words "bathing" and "beauty" ever came to be connected.

Early to bed and early to rise may make a man healthy and wealthy, but it also makes him a poor prospect as a party guest.

The word for anyone who hoarded money once was miser. These days, "miser" would seem to be more appropriate.

Please, "used-car salesman" is an out-of-date term. Let's think of these gentlemen as wheeler-dealers.

In our competitive times, some of us are survivors. But the impression grows that the rest of us are merely leftovers.

If it seems tempting, as described on the menu, abandon all hope. Someone in the kitchen will pour melted cheese on it.

Don't talk behind the boss' back. Straining to hear makes him very testy.

ments to Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. And we explained to our children just what those men did to deserve such impressive memorials.

We saw the Declaration of Independence and talked about the days when this country was still colonial England.

We visited nearby Mt. Vernon, Washington's estate. During breakfast at a nearby Howard Johnson's, we joked about whether Washington had also once eaten there.

It was five days of pure America, unabashed adoration of our country past and present.

The best of everything can be found in the Smithsonian Institution.

In the Air and Space Museum, we visited a World War I American airstrip near Verdun, which is reproduced so realistically that one can smell the gunpowder and gasoline.

Nearby an exhibit commemorated that war's flying aces. Not only did we see photos of Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, but also honored were French, British and even German aces. Where else but in America?

We also saw the Wright brothers' airplane, Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis and a piece of the moon.

My favorite place, though, was the Museum of History and Technology.

There we saw a one-room schoolhouse, transplanted right into the center of 1980 Washington. Nearby was a World War II army barracks, reproduced to, the last detail. ("Wow," said my son, age 4. "Those soldiers must have had fun. They slept in bunk beds.")

Exhibits of life in early America showed many everyday objects. My children were especially impressed with the early American Chanukah candleabra. It was not part of a display of "Jewish objects," or even "religious objects." It was simply there. Another part of America -- not Jewish America -- just America.

And what other nation would be willing to devote major parts of its national museum to the less-glorious portions of history?

America does. There are moving exhibits dealing with racial injustice. (On seeing a "Colored only" bathroom sign, my daughter first asked, "What does colored mean?" We told her it was a way of referring to black people. "Why couldn't everybody use the same bathroom?" she asked.)

In a room full of political and campaign memorabilia, an entire wall is devoted to American political dissent.

This makes a major impression. Can you imagine the Soviet National Museum devoting an exhibit to its political dissidents? Hardly.

But there it was in our Smithsonian: "HELL NO, WE WON'T GO!" Anonymous protest slogan, 1960s.

Where else but in America? It makes you want to cheer.

Help for young diabetic

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

you or anybody else feel sorry for the child—if you do, she will become a mental cripple instead of the healthy, normal child she should be.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am writing in reply to the woman who was depressed and unhappy over her 11-year-old daughter's newly diagnosed diabetes. I am 15 and have been a diabetic for 10 years and never spent a blue day thinking about my illness. I am living proof that a diabetic can be as active and independent as anyone else. I run cross country, play power volleyball and softball, swim almost daily, participate in marching bands and just returned from two weeks at camp. My parents' acceptance, guidance and gentle acknowledgment has enabled me to live such a full life. The first step to independence is learning to do your own injections. Eleven is old enough to learn. I learned when I was 5, and at 7 I helped a 42-year-old man cope with his injections, making his life bearable. The second step to independence is understanding diet; reactions and just plain proper body balance. Once the daughter understands and accepts all of this, she should be allowed to slowly break free from her mother's total care. A good cure for depression is to do something positive. I suggest the woman send her daughter to a diabetic camp. They are located all over the country and are great fun as well as a good learning experience. Most of all: Quit being depressed. I'm thankful I have a controllable disease. Besides, I'm sure a cure is right around the corner. Don't

DEAR READER—Thank you for a very nice letter and for giving my readers the benefit of your experience as a juvenile diabetic. I'm sure that your story will be an inspiration to many who have a similar problem.

I received many letters from readers who wanted to comment about the young girl with diabetes and the mother's depression. It's always heartwarming to see how many people want to help others.

Some suggested that parents of children with diabetes might want to join organizations or associations where they can get information about diabetes. These vary from one location to another, but I would suggest readers who have a child with diabetes and are interested in such organizations should contact their local chapter of the American Diabetes Association, which they might be able to find in their phone book. Ask what organizations are available in your community. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Performs Role 700th Time

BERLIN (AP)—If American soprano Anna Moffo confuses her identity with that of Violetta, heroine of Giuseppe Verdi's opera, "La Traviata," it might be understandable. The Philadelphia-born singer recently gave her 700th performance in the role at the new International Congress Center here. Singing with the famed company of the Arena di Verona, Moffo, after suffering for over a month with flu and bronchitis, received a standing ovation from the capacity crowd of 7,500.
