THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 32 NO. 34 SNYDER, TEXAS (79549) MON., JUNE 9, 1980 12 PAGES 20c

SLOW DAY AT POLLS Election officials Paul and Louetta Turner at voting precinct 5 in Fluvanna pass the time with a game of cribbage while waiting for voters to make an appearance. In the 12 hour voting period Saturday only 13 votes were cast at Fluvanna. By comparison it was one of the heavier turnouts. Precinct 10, Dunn, logged only one vote and there were only 120 votes in the entire county.

Lightest Turnout Ever...

Scurry Voters Ignore 2nd Primary Election

In the lightest turnout anyone could remember, Scurry County Democrats stayed away from the polls in droves Saturday as party nominees were selected for three important state court posts.

The law requires at least one polling place in each commissioner's precinct. As it was, the five regular voting boxes in Snyder were consolidated in two locations, with three voting at the school administration building and two voting at the Scurry County Coliseum. Also, two boxes using facilities at the Union Community Center were combined to make a total of only nine polling places in use for the day. The county has more than 8,000 qualified voters, which means that at best less 1 1/2 percent of the voters went to the polls.

Those who went to the polls in Scurry County favored John C. Phillips over James P. Wallace for Place 1 on the Texas Supreme Court by a vote of 68 to 49; Mike McCormick over W.T. Phillips for Place 2 on the Court of Criminal Appeals by a vote of 71 to 48, and Tom Davis over Edith Roberts for Place 3 on the Court of Criminal Appeals by a vote of 90 to 26.

Only 120 ballots were cast in the county in the second primary election. Gene Bowlin, county Democratic Party Chairman, said the election cost ran around $15.40 per vote. Expenditures, including personnel to operate nine polling places, rental of vote tabulating equipment, the ballots and supplies, amounted to around $1,850.

State Sen. Bill Patman, of Ganado, riding the strength of his rural popularity, narrowly defeated Nueces County Judge Robert Barnes in Saturday's Democratic runoff for the 14th congressional district.

Political newcomer Michael A. Andrews, who barely qualified for the Democratic runoff in Houston's 22nd congressional district, polled about 57 percent of the vote Saturday to end Bob Gammage's bid to retake the seat he once held.

Austin attorney Mike McCormick, a former prosecutor's lobbyist opposed by many of Texas' defense lawyers, beat incumbent Judge W.T. Phillips for Place 2 on the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Lightning, Wind Result In Damage

Thunderstorm activity late Saturday night and early Sunday resulted in some damage and produced showers over the Snyder area.

The official gauge in Snyder measured .28 inch of rain during the night and .04 more Sunday afternoon. Up to an inch was reported in the Fluvanna area. Half an inch fell during the night at Lake J.B. Thomas and .20 inch was recorded there Sunday afternoon. Only light showers were reported on the lake's watershed, and no runoff into the lake was reported.

Incumbent Judge Tom Davis defeated Austin attorney Edith Roberts for Place 3 on the state's highest criminal appellate court.

Carter To Address Miami Conference

MIAMI (AP)—Miami blacks who want justice and money from Washington, and Cuban-Americans who want their relatives freed from Communism planned to confront President Carter today with a flurry of picket signs and demands.

Racial violence claimed 16 lives and caused $100 million in damages the beginning May 17, after four white former policemen were acquitted in the beating death of Arthur McDuffie, a black Miami businessman.

"I only want that they be free," a tearful Antia Soras said Sunday as she added the names of her mother, three sisters and two brothers to the list. "I think this is my last chance to get them."

pleaded, a gray-bearded man, waving a fistful of the papers over his head before handing them to Wilfredo Navarro, head of United Cubans. Navarro said local leaders had promised to turn the list over to Carter.

Touts Local Control Of Urban Grants

SEATTLE (AP)—Americans could pay less to solve the problems of the cities but accomplish more if the federal government would give local officials greater control of expenditures, Ronald Reagan says.

The black leaders called for swift help from Washington to speed the rebuilding and improvement of riot-torn areas. The Cuban-Americans planned to give President Carter the names of thousands of loved ones, "good people", and to ask for a new boatlift of refugees from Cuba.

They said many of the Cubans for whom the boatlift was planned lost their place to undesirables dumped into the United States by President Fidel Castro.

Now, after two false alerts in four days last week, officials say they think they know what caused the problem. The computer has been taken out of use until it is fixed.

cause of a shortage

Whether one is looking for an apartment to rent or a house to buy, clearly many areas of this nation are experiencing a housing shortage. Not since the days following the Second World War has the housing problem been so acute. But it is obviously bad. It will likely get worse and the government is at fault. Most people don't remember the post-World War II housing crisis. Young men returning from the war were eager to get married and settle down. The hitch in getting hitched was finding a place to stay. House and apartment construction had ceased during the war and by 1946 a major shortage existed. Happily, the post-war generation turned to the marketplace for the solution. Motivated by the profit to be made, of course, the construction industry went to work creating the American dream the soldiers had fought for. From 1950 to 1968 over 32 million homes were built. The construction industry put home ownership within reach of the average citizen and employed tens of millions of people doing it. There is good reason to believe the outcome might have been far different had the country turned to government to solve the postwar housing problem. In Libertarian Review Doug Bandow details the horror story of government involvement in housing. Not surprisingly he found that most government housing programs result in less, not more, housing. During the period when private industry built 32 million, the government destroyed more than one million. This was not the intent of the program, but bureaucratic solutions do not always go as intended. Urban renewal has managed to eliminate an incredible amount of low income housing with very little protest from those who normally claim to speak for the poor. The Department of Housing and Urban Development estimated that from its creation in the early 1960s to 1975, 612,850 housing units were demolished and replaced by only 265,161 private units, half of which were luxury apartments. Certainly these urban development projects made the cities look better, but not to the poor people who ended up with one-half million fewer places to live. We have on numerous occasions detailed the horrendous effects of rent control, zoning, building codes and other forms of government interference in the housing industry. It is sufficient to say that most of these programs, ostensibly established to uplift living conditions, have usually had the opposite effect. Low-priced housing has all but disappeared because of the protection the government affords its citizens. It is much easier to say the solution lies with a return to the market than it is to make that solution a reality. But one thing is certain: government programs and regulations are crippling the housing industry. They exist, for the most part, because the people believe they should exist. If the people can be convinced that government involvement, and not private greed, is at the heart of the problem the country will have come a long way toward reversing a serious trend.

ERMA BOMBECK

by erma bombeck

According to the story in the Boston Herald American, it was one of those warm show-and-tell moments in running history. Four-time Marathon winner Bill Rodgers was exchanging memories of the race with the alleged first-place woman winner, Rosie Ruiz. "It was a bitch out there today, wasn't it?" he asked, referring to the heat. He noted she didn't seem to be breathing hard. Then he observed she didn't seem to know much about running. She didn't even look tired. Finally, Charlie Rodgers joined his brother at the interview platform and iced everyone's suspicions with, "Look at her legs! They look like Erma Bombeck's!" That's when the credibility began to crumble. Now I hope all of you realize what is at stake here. It has nothing to do with who ran the race or who didn't. My legs are on the line. And very frankly, my legs represent a majority in this country. There are conservatively 35 million of us who regard party-hose commercials as science-fiction. Trust me. Any political candidate who courts the blousy knees vote and gets it, can pick out his dish pattern at the White House. Heaven knows we've tried to live in harmony with women runners. Take those little shorts with the racing vent which we invented to give us extra leg room. We were glad to share the style with runners. And don't we restrain our dogs when women runners are warming up on fire hydrants and street signs, stretching their calf muscles and hamstrings? I personally make it a point not to notice a prominent quadriceps muscle when a female runner is out in public and trying to have a good time. Why, my sorority even adopted a woman runner for Christmas last year. There were tears in our eyes as we presented her with a turkey stuffed with dressing, pumpkin pie with whipped cream, and a pair of long warm-up pants to cover those pitiful muscular legs that looked like an unpaved road. Yes, for every pair of legs pounding the pavement at Boston, there were 8,000 of them like mine that stretched out on a chaise, reached for an accelerator pedal, tucked under and supported a good book, or balanced a dessert. I wouldn't be surprised if Rosie had heard the remark and answered, "Thank you." Copyright 1980 Field Enterprises, Inc.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If misery loves company, the millions of American women who work two shifts — one on the job and the other managing a household — will be happy to learn that their burden is shared by a worldwide sisterhood. "Equal opportunity for women will turn out to be a recipe for overwork" if they must continue to juggle the responsibilities of career, marriage, motherhood and housework without additional assistance from their spouses, warns a new study. The report on "Women, Men and the Division of Labor," written by Kathleen Newland, has just been published by the Worldwatch Institute, a Washington-based organization devoted to public policy research. The report documents what homemakers (single or married) have long known — their work, not only is unpaid but usually unrecognized and unappreciated as well. In lesser developed countries, for example, women invariably are assigned the indispensable task of hauling water from the village well or a nearby stream to their homes for use by members of their families. But one authoritative survey of how gross national product is measured in 70 developing countries found that "only six counted the value of carrying water to its point of use in their GNP's and only two countries assigned any economic value to housewives' services." In the rural communities of impoverished nations, that work often is "extremely arduous," says the report. One study of activity in a Pakistani village showed that women typically devoted 14½ hours daily to domestic chores. Communist theoretician Frederick Engels argued almost 100 years ago that "the emancipation of women become possible only when... domestic duties require their attention only to a minor degree." But the average working woman in the Soviet Union today must spend three or four additional hours on housework. The disparity between the sexes produced by the burden of housework in the United States was illustrated in the 1967-68 survey of husbands and wives employed full-time. The total work-week was 71 hours for women and 55 hours for men. A 1975 United Nations survey of 12 countries — including the United States and Soviet Union as well as France, Germany and other European nations — produced similar results: The work-week for employed women was slightly more than 70 hours compared with 60 hours for working men. Despite all the publicity devoted to female entry and advancement in the labor market, "the sharing of unpaid household labor receives only a fraction of the attention given to equality in formal employment," said the Worldwatch study. "If women are to take full advantage of newly won access to the formal labor market, men must increase their share of the essential work that goes on outside of it," the report says in proposing a "symmetrical family" relationship. Only in magazine advertisements and television commercials does there exist the "superwoman" who zips through a glamorous workday in the dress for success tailored suit, briefly dons an apron to whip up a gourmet dinner for her family, then slips into a $400 dress for a fast-paced evening of entertainment in a theater, disco or nightclub. The working wives and mothers of the world already know that's a myth; but the husbands and fathers haven't fully discovered — or accepted — the need for shared household responsibilities. "A few governments — China, Cuba and Sweden being the most prominent examples — have made the sharing of housework a tenet of official policy. But all three recognize that official endorsement of the idea is a rhetorical device and that the policy is impossible to enforce in practical terms." The division of household labor "remains a privately determined matter, a subject for communication and negotiation between the man and woman directly involved," the Worldwatch Institute report concludes.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Your Birthday

June 10, 1980
This coming year you are likely to add a new dimension to your personality that will win you the admiration of your peers. Your tenacity will enable you to finish whatever you begin.
CEMINT (May 21-June 20) Have faith in the unknown when your hunches tell you so, even if coworkers try to steer you in the opposite direction. You're the one who's right. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph letter, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) If there are some tough problems that need solving, take the responsibility of handling them. You're quite capable, whereas others may flounder.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Big rewards could be in store for you today if you keep your goals realistic. You could be led right down the garden path if you don't.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Use methods that have worked for you in the past. This is not the time to experiment with new twists or concepts. Haste makes waste.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If possible today, work with the resources and means of others, rather than with your own. Don't be stingy, just be practical.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If an associate has a better way of doing something than you do, step out of the spotlight. Recognition should be your least concern.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Success will not elude you today if you stick to what you start. Hang in there, even if unusual disruptions occur or the going gets tough.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You can find yourself a bit more in demand socially today than usual. Enjoy your popularity, but try to pay more attention to old pals than to new acquaintances.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Materially, this should be a profitable day provided your sights aren't set too high. You know your limitations, so operate within that framework.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You will have greater respect for yourself and so will others if you don't dodge difficult decisions. Make judgments without fear or prejudice.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your material prospects look pretty good today, as long as you're willing to work for them. Don't let others get involved. They'll only rock your boat.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's important today to do your own thing in your own way. Letting erratic associates get involved may cause headaches you might not be able to forgive.

value of a garden

NEW YORK (AP)—Rarely does the ordinary American get much economic encouragement any more because, it seems, when the news turns bad it tends to be very, very bad, smothering the good news with it.
But there is good news, if you look for it.
"Horticulturists tell us, for example, that backyard farmers can cut $25 to $100, and in some instances much more, if they don't put a price on their own labor.

Says Ricardo Gomez, an Agriculture Department horticulturist, "If you don't count your labor, you'll probably get back $5 to $10 for every dollar spent on a garden."
"A system that helps you to build savings is beginning to make headway. Under the system, various shops give cash discounts that are applied to a customer's savings account at the local savings and loan association. The idea seems to have developed simultaneously in several parts of the country as a way to serve three needs: the need of shops for sales, the need of S&Ls for funds, and the need of customers for savings."

"Homeowners, especially those with access to a water well, are getting good news about heating and air conditioning. Big savings, it is said, are available because of refinements in the heat pump.
During winter the pumps, which draw warmth from the air for home heating and heat from household air for summer cooling, have been of little use in northern tier states.
Now, however, the pumps are making their way north, drawing their energy from well water, which seldom dips below

The first clinical indication that specific genes influence dental disease has resulted from research conducted by a geneticist from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and a dental researcher from the University of Pennsylvania.
As reported in the UIR-Research Newsletter: "Dental decay your children develop may depend on the kind of saliva they inherited as well as on their liking for candy bars. People lacking certain proteins in saliva — or producing certain other protein types — may be 'more susceptible to tooth decay and inflammation of the gums than others.'"

Jesus said at the Last Supper that one of the disciples would betray him. They wanted to know who it was. Jesus told them it was the one to whom he would give a sop. A sop was a morsel of bread used to dip food from the common platter.
"Jesus answered. He it is, to whom I shall give a sop, when I have dipped it. And when he had dipped the sop, he gave it to Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon." — John 13:26

A piano recital featuring duets, boogies, Spanish selections, marches, rag-time rhythms, classical, romantic and contemporary selections was held by students of Mrs. Billy Tune at the Martha Ann Woman's Club recently. Following the recital, awards of a treble clef engraved on a case containing a comb and nail file were presented to students for their participation in music events during the school year. They were Heather Roemisch, Brandy Robbins, Larrae Farr, Leslie Flenniken, LaFon Williams, Melissa Hodges, Becky Hanzalik, Stacy Dunn, Julie Williams, David Trevey, Connie Ray, Jennifer Goodwin, Janna Burrow, Gina Brooks, Janna Tate, Fred Fleming, Kathy Norris, Mickey Broach, Paul Tate, Janetta Pylant, Penny Wolfe, Sharon Bynum, Marika Sitton and Teresa Young.

performance award. The most outstanding student of the year award was shared by two students; Janna Tate and Marika Sitton.

In conclusion, Mrs. Tune expressed appreciation to the parents for their encouragement and support; they gave their children through the year.

Also receiving awards but unable to attend were Michelle Pepoff, Kaila Barbee and Joleigh York. Receiving recognition for the National Fraternity of Student Musicians May 20 sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers were: state honors - Leslie Flenniken, LaFon Williams, Melissa Hodges, Connie Ray, Penny Wolfe and Marika Sitton. National honors - Brandy Robbins, Larrae Farr, Becky Hanzalik, Julie Williams, David Trevey, Janna Burrow, Joleigh York, Janna Tate, Janetta Pylant and Teresa Young. The top five in Guild were Robbins, Misses Williams, Young, Sitton and Tate.

Performance points award was earned through a contest Mrs. Tune had for the students during the last three months. Each week the students performed for someone and brought their signatures to class. In this contest, third place prize, $3 cash award went to Gina Brooks with 535 points; second place, $5, 735 points to David Trevey; and first place, $10 for 1,030 points went to LaFon Williams. Memorization award was presented to Teresa Young, best attitude award was presented to Brandy Robbins and the most progress award was presented to Stacy Dunn. Paul Tate won the best

A chemical present in chocolate as well as in the human brain is directly related to the emotional ups and downs of being in love, according to New York State researchers. Preliminary findings suggest that people who frequently suffer extreme depression over unrequited love have an irregular production of the chemical, phenylethylamine. The researchers have found that such individuals often binge on chocolate during their depressed periods and that chocolate is particularly high in phenylethylamine. It is speculated that the bingeing may be an unconscious effort at self-medication. Modern Medicine.

Deaf Actress Wins Top Tony Award

By JAY SHARRITT
 AP Drama Writer
 NEW YORK (AP)—Phyllis Frelich acknowledged the honor but couldn't hear the cheers as she accepted the best actress prize for her performance in "Children of a Lesser God" in Broadway's 34th annual Tony awards. Miss Frelich has been deaf since birth. The drama, along with the musical "Evita," was a big winner. Miss Frelich celebrated, with co-star

John Rubinstein, who was named best actor, and "Children" author Mark Medoff, who took home the award for best play. She captured the hearts of the audience by giving a glowing acceptance speech in the sign language of the deaf. Miss Frelich seemed to gasp with glee and joy as she signed her thanks to the theater community and to Medoff for writing me such a beautiful story, that of a stubborn deaf student falling love with her determined teacher. Her speech was translated by her husband, Robert Steinberg. It was the story of their love—between a deaf woman and a man who can hear—that inspired New Mexico State University drama professor Medoff to write "Children." Evita, shared seven awards, including best musical and best director for Harold Prince, running his Tony record to 14. No one else comes close. The sentimental loser was Mickey Rooney, 59, wildly cheered when his nomination for best actor in a musical, "Sugar Babies," was announced. Rooney, who lost out on an Academy Award in April when he was nominated for best supporting actor in "The Black Stallion," lost again Sunday to Bronson Pinchot, whose effervescent portrayal of P.T. Barnum in the musical

"Barnum," earned him best acting honors. "It's not exactly our biography," Steinberg and Miss Frelich, a founding member of the National Theater of the Deaf, said at the supper hall following the awards presentation. "But it's our information. We're his (Medoff's) resource, his collaborators. For what he wrote. And he sure wrote. Everything has been too good," added Miss Frelich in sign language. "It's been so wonderful up until now that this didn't matter. But to win was wonderful. And all three of us... That was too wonderful." Appetizers are a promise of good foods to come. Perfect starters are slices of Brick, Camembert or Gouda cheese served on apple slices. Another palate pleaser is pears slices accompanied by Cheddar or Muenster cheese.

Novelist Miller Dead At Age 88

PACIFIC PALISADES, Calif. (AP)—Author Henry Miller, who admitted his novels, including "Tropic of Cancer," were obscene but stoutly denied they were pornographic, has died at his home here. He was 88.

Miller, whose popularity was partly tied to the fact that some of his novels were banned in this country for three decades, died peacefully at his home Saturday afternoon, according to his publisher, Noel Young. The author had been suffering from circulatory problems for some time, Young said.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

The author of several sexually explicit novels didn't object to being called an obscene writer.

"Obscenity, like sex, has its rightful place in literature," Miller maintained. But he was strongly opposed to pornography, which he defined as presenting sex for purely prurient purposes.

"I have no connection with slop turned out in the name of freedom," he declared a decade ago.

Born in New York City on Dec. 26, 1891, Miller attended City College of New York briefly. After an odyssey across the country working at various jobs, Miller moved to Paris in 1930 where he became part of the Bohemian colony.

"Tropic of Cancer," his best-known novel, dealt with Parisian lowlife in the '30s and was largely autobiographical. Although it was finished in 1934, it was nearly four years before a French publisher printed it and the book remained unpublished in this country until 1961.

Nevertheless, it sold millions of copies worldwide and thousands of Americans returning from Europe smuggled copies of the novel and other Miller works through customs until the U.S. ban was lifted.

An impoverished Miller returned to the United States when World War II erupted in Europe and lived a primitive existence in the Big Sur area near Monterey on the central California coast. He sold watercolors to pay his bills.

Changing moral standards finally helped bring Miller success and honors in the latter years of his life when American publishers began handling his books. Even then, the explicit sex in "Tropic of Cancer" and "Tropic of Capricorn" shocked readers across the country.

Other Miller works include "Black Spring," "Sexus," "Nexus," "Plexus," "The Cosmological Eye," and "The Colossus of Maroussi." The last volume, which is a travel book about Greece, is generally considered one of the best of his kind.

His current publisher said a book about D.H. Lawrence, which had languished since the 1930s, was reissued last month.

In 1972, at the age of 80, Miller summed up his feelings:

"As you come near the end, you wonder in creases and maybe you get a little more sense, too, a little more wisdom. When I die, if you were to say, 'What is your last word?' I'd say, 'Mystery.'"

Miller also said: "We're all creative, we all have the urge to sing, to dance, to paint, to write—but most of us have squelched it."

Production By CRMWD Moving Up

May production figures of the Colorado River Municipal Water District flashed signs that water output for the year should pull about even with 1979 during June.

The disparity was reduced to 5.50 per cent in May, when 1,509,681,958 gallons were pumped to cities and industries. Moreover, municipalities increased their quantities by 2.33 per cent, and in June, the cut-off of Texas Electric Service in Ward County will have run its one-year comparative span.

During May the cities took 1,342,697,000 gallons, and there was about one week during a period of thundershowers when consumption was down. If the percentage gain is applied to last year's totals, cities could use 1.5 billion gallons in June.

Oil companies and industries used only 166,984,958 gallons in May, down 41.30 per cent from a year ago. However, all but 6,000,000 of a 117,495,000-gallon decline was represented in the cut-off of TESCO from the Ward County well supply as a conservation measure to insure ample deliveries to Odessa. The cut-off was effective as of June 1, 1979, so it will not be a factor in June for comparative purposes.

Deliveries to cities in May showed: Odessa 627,049,000 gallons, up 5.23 per cent; Big Spring 219,532,000, down 2.78 per cent; Snyder 97,702,000, up 16.18 per cent; Stanton 8,785,000 gallons, down 26.99 per cent; Midland 393,629,000, down 95 of one per cent.

Some consumers are beginning to prefer the European habit of non-sweet deserts. That means any number of combinations of fruit and cheese, crackers and cheese and well as dried or fresh fruits with nuts.

COLLEGE STATION—Two adult 4-H leaders from Roby were among 28 in Texas honored at the 1980 State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University June 4.

Mrs. Kathy Spencer and Freddie Stuart were recognized as the top adult leaders in District 3 (Rolling Plains), of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, 4-H's parents organization. Each received a plaque provided by the Texas 4-H Foundation, 4-H's state service organization.

Mrs. Spencer, a homemaker and church secretary, has been an adult 4-H leader for five years. She is currently an organizational and project leader for the 75 members of the Fisher County Junior Leaders 4-H Club, the membership having more than doubled since she's been a leader.

A dedicated 4-H leader, Mrs. Spencer has spent many hours helping members prepare record books as well as training method demonstration teams and share the fun groups. Her senior share-the-fun groups have been district winners for four years and have also placed at State 4-H Roundup.

She conducted a state-wide share-the-fun clinic at the Texas 4-H Center last winter and has also helped with county showmanship clinics.

Stuart has been an adult leader for 13 years and works with sheep projects for the 60-member Roby 4-H Club.

President of the Fisher County Sheep Producers, Stuart annually conducts the sheep session at county showmanship clinics as well as provides training in all phases of sheep production. His efforts have resulted in numerous champion lambs being raised as 4-H projects.

Fisher 4-H Leaders Honored At Roundup

The farmer and rancher was recognized as the Outstanding Fisher County Adult 4-H leader in 1973. He is currently president of the county program building committee.

LEADERSHIP AWARD—Freddie Stuart of Fisher County, left, received an award as a distinguished 4-H adult leader during the recent State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University. At right is J.L. "Curly" Hays, Texas 4-H Foundation trustee.

HONORED AT ROUNDUP—Mrs. Kathy Spencer of Fisher County received the award for distinguished 4-H leaders at the annual State 4-H Roundup. Making the presentation is Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Two leaders from each of the state's 11 extension districts were honored.

Truck Mishap Kills Inmate

SUGAR LAND (AP)—A prison inmate was killed while working at the Texas Department of Corrections unit here over the weekend, a prison spokesman said Sunday.

He identified the inmate as Albert Scott Fischer, 24, of Victoria County. He was killed Saturday night.

Hartley said no other details would be available until today.

Fischer was sentenced to five years in prison after he pleaded guilty to an aggravated assault charge in August 1978.

Dear Abby

Children View Childbirth? Report Says They're Bored

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: As the director of Emergency Nursing Services at St. Joseph Hospital in Orange, Calif., I have seen it all, so if you aren't already sick to death of the controversy over whether children should be present in the delivery room when Mama gives birth, I submit the results of such an experiment:

"A team of doctors observed the behavior of 28 girls and 12 boys who witnessed delivery in an alternative birth center. The children ranged in age from 3 to 14; 18 children were aged 4 to 6 years, and 10 were aged 7 to 9. All youngsters were prepared in advance through books, films and childbirth education classes. Children were accompanied by a support person (other than the parents) who answered questions and provided comfort if needed.

"Two children slept through the entire process, and two others slept during their mother's labor but awakened for the delivery. During the early labor, three children played with the support person, eight watched from a distance and 25 interacted with the mother, asking questions and timing contractions.

"In the late stages of labor, eight children wandered in and out of the delivery room and three were asked to leave because they were distracting the mother, who appeared to be overly upset by their behavior.

"Of the 33 children who were in the room during delivery of the infant, 29 watched, whereas the other four showed no interest whatsoever.

"Only five children watched the delivery of the placenta. The other youngsters were preoccupied with the infant, who usually was near the mother's breast.

"Children were more conscious of the sounds and sights of labor and delivery, although most were not upset by the mother's cries. Despite curiosity about the birth process, youngsters appeared bored during labor.

"Their excitement after birth was short, and they usually resumed their normal routine as soon as the baby was born.

"The observers concluded that childbirth is an adult event and the presence of children meets the parents' rather than the siblings' needs and wishes."

KATE REEVES, R.N.

DEAR ABBY: I see so many letters in your column from women who are in love with married men and are waiting for them to get a divorce. Take it from a woman who wasted nine years on a married man. No matter how much he loves you and how little feeling he has for his wife, one thing will always hold them together: money!

My married lover begged me to be patient until he could work it out so we could marry. Of course, he was never able to work it out.

Married men will stall because their children "need" them, or because their wives are "emotionally unstable" or "physically ill." But if they told the truth, they would admit that they stay married because divorce is too expensive.

Abby, why do these men lie through their teeth?

NINE YEARS WASTED

DEAR WASTED: Not all men lie through their teeth. Some pay through the nose.

DEAR ABBY: We may be moving into another home soon. It's a lovely home, but one thing bothers me—a lot. The former owner had lung cancer and spent the last six years of his life in that house before he died.

I know that cancer isn't supposed to be "catching," but I can't help wondering if there isn't a possibility of contracting the disease from whatever conditions caused the cancer—perhaps within the house itself?

We must make a decision soon, so please hurry your answer.

MARYLAND READER

DEAR READER: Cancer is not contagious and your fears are groundless. However, unless you are absolutely convinced that there is no risk of pre-existing conditions, you'd be wise to find another house.

(Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Who thought of giving the Design Line phone?

People will ask. Because it's the sort of special gift that says something nice about the person who gives it, as well as the one who receives it.

At your Bell PhoneCenter Store, you'll discover lots of gift ideas. And even if it's Early American on the outside, all our phones are 20th Century Bell on the inside. So you know you're giving the best there is. And because the working parts remain the property of Southwestern Bell, you can be sure they'll work. Or we'll fix them at no extra charge.

Between anniversaries, graduations, Mother's Day and Father's Day, not to mention weddings, chances are you'll be shopping for a gift in the next few weeks. So come on in, because we've got as many gift ideas as you've got gifts to give.

Who thought of buying a wedding gift at the Bell PhoneCenter Store? Somebody very clever.

Three House Members Defeated

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

Three Texas House members were sent packing in Democratic runoff elections Saturday, and a fourth squeaked past his opponent to win the nomination.

Reps. Emmett Whitehead of Rusk, Herman Lauhoff of Houston and Don Cartwright of San Antonio were ousted from office by voters in their districts.

Rep. Smith Gilley of Greenville, who had heavy backing from the Texas Trial Lawyers Association, defeated business-backed Lowell Cable of Sulphur Springs by about 150 votes, according to unofficial returns.

But House speaker Bill Clayton predicted recounts would be requested in that race and in two others. Clayton said Beeville Mayor Pro Tem Joe Moron defeated Pleasonton businessman Bob Lunsford by 114 votes, and Russell Tow of Woodlands, a former legislative aide, downed Russell Wiggins of Conroe by fewer than 200 votes.

"I just bet you they are going to ask for a recount. I know I would if I had a race that close," Clayton said.

Although Clayton said results of the 14 runoffs for House seats were 8-to-6 for conservatives, the losing incumbents were from the conservative side of the House.

Lauhoff, considered the most moderate of the lot, lost to political newcomer Clint Hackney, 28, a lawyer, Whitehead, who was best known for his efforts to put a halfway house for juvenile delinquents next door to U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice of Tyler, was defeated by 33-year-old Jim Turner, a Crockett lawyer.

Cartwright, backed by the San Antonio Right to Life Committee and business, fell to former legislative aide Joyce Dorrycott, a Southwest Texas State University political science teacher.

Ms. Dorrycott, Turner and Hackney are regarded as supporters of moderate-to-liberal Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, who is challenging Clayton in his bid for an unprecedented fourth term as speaker.

Several other candidates want to succeed Clayton if he drops out of the race, which he says he will do if his Brilab difficulties continues past Labor Day. The leading conservative contender to succeed Clayton is Rep. Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth.

Bryant's forces claimed nine of the 14 runoffs were won by candidates who would vote for Bryant over Lewis.

Clayton said his own vote count was not changed materially by the run-offs.

"I can't tell it made much difference. I think as far as my business (speaker's race) is concerned, it looks about the same," he said.

A greater-than-usual number of Republicans seek election in November. GOP candidates, including 24 incumbents, seek 89 of the 150 House seats. In the Senate, 13 of the 16 open seats have Republican candidates.

The GOP had only two legislative runoffs Saturday.

Houston lawyer Richard Parker Jr., former legislative counsel to U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, defeated real estate man O.J. Striegler for the right to oppose Sen. Jack Ogg of Houston in November.

Aspirin isn't the answer

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR LAMB — Would you comment on a theory I have regarding hypertension? I believe plain aspirin will hold the pressure down. Why don't doctors recommend this? My pressure was running fairly high and I wasn't on any medicine but my doctor said it required watching. I started taking daily aspirin for arthritis and it really helped. Then when I had a check up, my pressure dropped to 125 over 82. The nurse was so surprised she took it a second time. I'm really curious as to whether this is a coincidence or does aspirin really help? If it's useful, I think doctors should be prescribing it. It would help a lot of people.

DEAR READER — I wish the diagnosis and treatment of high blood pressure were that easy but it's not. Your observation reminds me of a favorite old article of mine about the treatment of high blood pressure with watermelon seeds.

The truth is if you search the medical literature you'll find that high blood pressure has been treated with almost everything known to man and almost any of them will have some beneficial effects in some people. Why? Because whenever a person is relaxed or taking medicine, even if it's pink water, he often improves.

Many people have intermittently elevated blood pressure rather than persistently high blood pressure. Often this is associated with a reaction to the examination or anxiety about the danger of having high blood pressure. We often call these "vascular hyper-reactors" as opposed to people who have true hypertension.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 15-8. Blood Pressure, which will give you a great deal more information about what controls blood pressure and what can be done about it. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

For the reasons I've mentioned I'm not at all surprised that your blood pressure dropped but I'm not sure that it's because of aspirin. You could very well have gotten the same effect by taking sugar pills if you thought it was medicine. Or it might have just been a good day for you.

Also we know that people who have pain sometimes will have elevated blood pressure as a pain response. If aspirin relieved your arthritis pain and you're a vascular hyper-reactor, then it's not at all surprising that your blood pressure would be lower during your examination.

Perhaps I should emphasize for the benefit of other readers that I do not believe that taking aspirin regularly is going to lower people's blood pressure. Moreover, some people who have high blood pressure may be more prone to having a brain hemorrhage if they use it.

Aspirin appears to be useful in preventing strokes or at least their recurrence in men but that's due to its ability to prevent blood clots. That same mechanism increases the chances of bleeding in the brain in people with high blood pressure.

'T' Hill Claims Belmont Prize

NEW YORK (AP)—Temperence Hill, a 53-1 shot, edged Genuine Risk by two lengths to win the Belmont Stakes here Saturday.

This horse, in my opinion, had no business to be a 50-1 shot, if for no other reason that someone had the confidence to put up $20,000," said John Ed Anthony.

remaining Rockhill Native, the beaten favorite in the Kentucky Derby, was half length behind Genuine Risk, and Hill third, only a head back.

Astros Rolling Again; Ease Past Giants, 5-4

HOUSTON (AP)—Nolan Ryan, Houston's multi-million dollar strikeout artist, has some bad news for National League haters.

He had good stuff tonight and I'm pitching better now than I was later this season," Ryan said. "My fastball is moving real well and I'm getting my breaking pitches over now."

Ryan struck out 10 batters, but was not the pitcher of record as Houston rolled to a 5-4 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

against winning pitcher Joe Sambito, 2-0.

The Astros came back with an unearned run in the bottom of the inning to extend their winning streak to five games.

All Hovis started the rally with a single off losing pitcher Greg Minton, 2-4. Luis Pujols sacrificed pinch runner Julio Gonzalez preceding an intentional walk to Bruce Roche.

Gonzalez came home from second with the winning run when San Francisco second baseman Breno Stennett fielded Mitchell Landestoy's grounder and threw wildly to second base in an attempt to force Roche.

Ryan allowed only three hits over the first seven innings, but was removed after surrendering a two-run home run to Jack Buck with two outs in the eighth inning.

Foreigners Garner Top Points...

UTEP Wins NCAA Crown

AUSTIN (AP)—Ted Banks won't be recruiting any foreigners for his newly minted NCAA track and field champions next year at the University of Texas-El Paso.

He doesn't have to visit such countries as Tanzania and Kenya because he returns every single point-maker in 1981 from his "foreign legions," which ran and jumped from the field in the 80th NCAA championships over the weekend at Wagner Memorial Stadium.

UTEP, winning 175-1 place medals in the 400-, 5,000- and 10,000-meter runs, the hammer throw and the triple jump, scored 69 points to 46 for runnerup UCLA. Florida State was third with 39 and Southern California fourth with 38.

Sixty of the 69 Miner points came from "foreigners," which Banks heavily recruits, much to the dismay of his fellow collegiate coaches.

"If we keep everybody healthy, we stand a great chance next year," said Banks, who has won three NCAA championships in six years for UTEP.

In fact, Banks has compiled 13 NCAA titles in seven years at the NCAA Indoor-Outdoor and Cross-Country meets.

Banks Miners now own the distinction of being the only school to hold the indoor, outdoor and cross-country titles in one year.

"There are no seniors here. We won't be offering scholarships unless someone has scholastic difficulty," said Banks, who is particularly pleased with the performances of his American-born shot-putter Carlos Scott, who scored an unexpected eight points with a second-place in the discus, and triple jump winner Steve Hanna, also of the United States.

His squad of foreigners includes 28-year-old sophomore distance runner Suleiman Nyambui of Tanzania.

Nyambui won his seventh individual NCAA title with his 5,000-meter run victory Saturday and needs only one more to tie the record of eight NCAA championships by the late Jesse Owens.

The meet produced numerous surprises, including Auburn freshman Stanley Floyd's victory in the 100-meter dash and Alabama's Jeff Woodward, who tied an American record of 7-7 1/2 in the high jump.

Floyd upset defending champion Jerome Deal and James Sanford of Southern California.

Texas A&M's Randy Hall established an NCAA record of 18 feet 2 1/2 inches in the pole vault.

Altogether, nine stadium records were set despite temperatures in the 90s and high humidity.

Woodard said he certainly had no designs on a world record this year in the high jump.

Woodard added, "Realistically, I've got to do some weight training. I've got to build myself up."

Golf Lessons Offered At WTC

Women wishing to learn to play golf may enroll in a Continuing Education course, scheduled June 16-20 at Western Texas College.

Classes will meet 9:10 a.m. on those dates. Bob O'Day, WTC golf coach, will be the instructor. Fee is $20 per person.

Details concerning the course may be obtained by calling the Continuing Education Office at 573-8511, extension 249, or the pro shop, 573-9291.

Bell Put On Disabled List

ARLINGTON (AP)—The Texas Rangers placed third baseman Buddy Bell on the 15-day disabled list Sunday, retroactive to June 4, because of a pulled muscle behind his right knee.

Bell suffered the injury last Tuesday in Chicago.

To fill his spot on the roster, the Rangers called up third baseman Tucker Ashford, 25, of their Class AAA Charlotte-W.Va. Club. Ashford is batting .291 with 31 RBIs.

Bell, who was hitting .118, had taken batting practice and threw the ball both Saturday and Sunday. But he stepped out of the batting cage after only a few swings before Sunday night's game with Kansas City and told manager Pat Corrales he couldn't hit.

Rangers Edged 5-4 By Hot Kansas City

ARLINGTON (AP)—The Kansas City Royals have been putting the victories together in such convincing fashion lately that they kept the faith right until the end, knowing somehow that they'd come through against the Texas Rangers.

We were down 3 to 1, but no one on the bench panicked but Manager Jim Frey. We were just relaxing, sitting back and waiting to take advantage of our opportunity when it came," third baseman George Brett said after KC's 5-4 victory on Sunday night.

Four straight singles tied the game in the seventh inning. Brett singled to give the Royals the lead, and Fred Whitney's first base hit on the big and Washington's blow to first base beat Norris by a step for the game-winning double play.

It's the most excited I've been this year," Brett admitted.

Pray confessed to being nervous about the outcome.

When they got three runs in the first two innings, and as poorly as we played the first three or four innings, it didn't look good for us at all," the Royals manager said.

White Makes Second Team All-American

Western Texas College's Richard White shot a 295 to qualify for the NJCAA second team All-American at the National Juco Golf Tournament last week.

White and his golfmates paced Western Texas to an eighth place finish in the four-day, 72-hole tournament, held at Fort Myers, Fla. (For tourney results see Sunday's edition of The Snyder Daily News.)

The Pecos native, a freshman, was runner-up medalist in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference this season and was named to the All-Conference Team with a 72 average. He also ranked sixth in Region V with a 73.3 average, qualifying for All-Region honors.

White is one of three freshmen who competed for Western Texas in the National Tournament and who will return to Coach Bob O'Day's well-stocked stable next year. Others are Jeff Wagner of Norman, Okla., who shot a 306; Chris Johnson of Seminole, who shot a 321; and Mike Cotter of Albany, who served as an alternate.

Sophomores representing WTC at nationals were Mike Mahan of Midland, a 316, and Ken Lawrence of Albany, a 318.

Lawrence and Wagner both made the All-Conference and All-Region teams and Cotter was named All-Region. Wagner led the team in conference play this year with a tournament average of 72.7. He was WJCA medalist with a 71.1 average.

No Smoking In Shower... Gas Found In Water Supply

WEATHERFORD (AP)—In this era of energy shortages, gasoline was the last thing Rick Arlington expected to find in his drinking water.

At first, the Arlington family thought a natural metal or sulphur deposit was adding the strange taste to their water. Then they discovered they could set the water on fire.

The problem became so acute that Parker County health officials warned Arlington the water could kill him. Tests by the Texas Department of Water Resources determined the water was contaminated by gasoline.

Now, every time Arlington turns on a faucet, a mixture of water and gasoline pours out, and when a member of the family takes a shower, he says, the gasoline fumes are so strong he has to open the windows.

Arlington discovered the problem after he bought his old house outside his Northeast Texas town, where he hoped to raise five prize cutting horses. The natural stone house sits on five acres of rolling, wooded land and the water comes from a new, deep well.

Records show a Gulf Oil Co. pipeline, less than 200 feet from the Arlington property, broke in 1966. State officials now believe gasoline from that old rupture collected in an underground crevice, and began seeping into the water supply when the previous owner drilled the new water well.

Water Resources investigator Gary Barton said the contractor who drilled the new well was aware of the gasoline contamination and, in fact, used fuel siphoned from the old well to run his automobile.

Barton's report said it is possible the gasoline has contaminated the underground aquifer that serves other homes, and neighbors now are complaining of funny-smelling water, too.

Steve Adams said he has to haul water from town for drinking and cooking. His mother, Delicia Adams, 71, lives next door. She has stopped bathing in the water, she said, because it makes her skin crack.

Dave Gill, regional director for the water resources department, said the Arlington's case was referred to Austin headquarters to see if further action is warranted.

Meanwhile, Arlington says wryly, there are new rules in his house: no smoking in the shower, no cigarette butts in the toilet and, "for goodness sake, don't use well water if a grass fire breaks out."

Complete Family On Gunman's List

RANKIN (AP)—A man wanted in the shotgun slaying of his mother-in-law in her downtown Odessa office intended "to kill the rest of his family because his wife had left him," says a witness whose car was stolen during a bloody statewide crime spree.

Mark Edward Powell, 27, of Big Spring, was shot and killed late Saturday after deputies and state game wardens forced his car off the road, about one mile east of Rankin on U.S. Highway 67, an Upton County sheriff's spokesman said.

Kevin Worthington, 23, said Powell stole his car near the West Texas community of Iraan. In an interview with The San Angelo Standard-Times, Worthington said he stopped after Powell pulled up behind him on a desolate highway to ask for a road map.

"When I looked up he had a 12-gauge pointed in my face," Worthington said. "He said, 'Get out or you're dead,' so I did."

Worthington said he was locked in the trunk of a car Powell was driving with two teen-age girls that the gunman allegedly took hostage in Odessa.

"He (Powell) said he had killed his mother-in-law and shot at his father-in-law and he was off to kill the rest of his family because his wife had left him," Worthington said. "But he said he wouldn't hurt us."

The trio later freed themselves by kicking out the back seat of the car, Worthington said.

Before Powell was shot, he went on a shooting spree through several West Texas towns and wounded four persons, one of them seriously, said Sgt. Glenn Willeford of the sheriff's department.

Powell was named in a murder warrant in connection with the slaying Friday of Loyce Chapman, 46, at her office at the Odessa Chamber of Commerce.

A man returned to the office with a shotgun after engaging in an argument with the victim, witnesses told police.

Mrs. Chapman was struck in the neck, and chest by two shotgun blasts fired at close range, police said.

The day Mrs. Chapman was shot, Powell took three teen-age girls hostage and went to Houston, where he "tried to kill his ex-father-in-law," Willeford said.

On the way back to Odessa, Powell released two of the girls, keeping a 16-year-old hostage, he said.

Powell then took a 14-year-old boy hostage, wounded four persons with random shots at two passing vehicles and fired on officers in Rankin who tried to intercept him, Willeford said.

When Powell turned around and headed back for Rankin, officers "made the determination that the subject could not be allowed to get back to town," Willeford said. "The subject (Powell) was terminated one mile east of Rankin."

Powell's car nearly overturned when he hit a bridge, he said.

The car "came to a stop and the kids jumped out and ran back toward the patrol car," he said. The hostages were not injured.

Day Camp Has Room For More Cubs

Room is still available for boys wanting to participate in a Cub Scout Day Camp that begins June 17 and lasts through June 21, said Thelma Deere, day camp director.

Those wanting to participate but who have not already signed up should mail in their application forms by June 13 or contact Mrs. Deere at 573-6576 or Eloise Gunset at 573-4441.

The day camp will be held at the National Guard Armory, and the cost per scout is $11. Scouts 8, 9, and 10 years old are eligible. Scouts in the day camp will work on wolf, bear, or webeo badges, plus participate in arts and crafts.

IN FLUVANNA—These two buildings, located side by side on the main street of Fluvanna, exemplify the range in the variety of styles of architecture found in the tiny farming community in northwest Scurry County. The Post Office, built in 1966, is modern, compact and functional and serves about 200 patrons, says Postmaster Lynda Beaver. The barber shop building was erected by the Young Farmers organization some years before out of lumber salvaged from the old Baptist Church. Its styling is typical of an earlier brand of architecture found in West Texas. However the less than 100 residents of the community could not grow hair fast enough to keep a barber busy and now as before the nearest barber shop is in Snyder 21 miles away. But the many adamant domino players in Fluvanna have saved the building from vacancy and between hands swap news, gossip and not often enough for most, rainfall reports. Fluvanna will celebrate homecoming this weekend. (SDN Staff Photos)

Five Persons Sentenced In District Court

Five persons were sentenced Friday in 132nd District Court, with one receiving a prison term.

The prison sentence was levied against Isidro Gutierrez, 505 32nd St., for a term of one year. Gutierrez was charged with driving while intoxicated, a charge to which he pleaded guilty. He was arrested Feb. 15.

As a part of a "shock probation," Johnny Fuentes was sentenced to 90 days in the penitentiary, he will resume his probation.

Two Mishaps Are Reported

Two traffic accidents have been investigated by troopers of the Department of Public Safety.

The first occurred Friday, approximately 2.8 miles west of Snyder at the intersection of Farm to Market Roads 1607 and 1611. Involved in the accident were a 1976 Buick driven by Billie Voss Franks and a 1979 Ford driven by Edward Charles Anderson, both of Snyder. The accident took place about 7:45 a.m.

Sunday at 5:40 p.m., a one car rollover was investigated. The car, a 1979 Pontiac driven by Grady Gafford of Snyder overturned about 2.7 miles east of Snyder on Highway 180.

Edward Earl Jones, 2701 Ave. X, was assessed a five-year probation on a burglary charge. He is alleged to have broken into a residence owned by David Meyer on April 5. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

The final case involved a 90-day stay in the county jail and a $500 fine for Ray Martinez Jr., 1008 14th St. Martinez was charged with drunken driving, a charge to which he pleaded guilty. He is to return for final sentencing in the case June 20.

their $4. Industry analysts said the deal would add about 7.5 cents a gallon to U.S. gasoline and heating oil prices and boost OPEC's oil income by about $15 billion a year from $315 billion.

The compromise's overall effect would be an average price increase because countries raising prices produce a larger volume of oil than countries lowering them. Prices range now from $28 charged by Saudi Arabia to $38.21 charged by Algeria. The Saudis produce 9.5 million barrels a day, or about a-third of OPEC's total.

Some OPEC militants; including Algeria, Libya and Nigeria, declined to say whether they would lower prices to reach a compromise, and Moinfar, the Iranian minister, said "there was no way" Iran would cut its price by $3-a-barrel, from $35, to achieve unity.

Test Your Financial I.Q....

How Much Do You Know About Your Money?

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

How much do you know about your money?

There never seems to be enough of it, of course. And what there is, doesn't go as far as it used to.

It is also important, however, to know the rules and regulations that govern the way you borrow and spend. You can test your money I.Q. with the following quiz, based on information from Citibank, the nation's second-largest commercial bank.

Mark each of the statements "true" or "false," then check the answers that follow. Guesses don't count. "If you have to guess," say the bank economists, "you don't know."

Here are the test statements:

1. If you borrow money from a bank and default, the bank has a "right of set off," allowing it to take money to pay off the loan from any checking or savings account you have with the bank.

2. You are not liable for your spouse's debt if it was signed for without your knowledge.

3. If you authorize a deduction from your day-to-day savings account and the bank takes it from your checking account, you can be charged for an overdraft if the checking balance wasn't big enough to cover the withdrawal.

4. Under a new regulation, if you take out a bank loan, the bank can insist, as a condition of lending you money, that you authorize automatic deductions from an account you have at the bank.

5. State laws set the maximum amount of personal credit you can get from a lending institution through either a credit card or a loan.

6. If you change your marital status, you must tell your creditors in order to reestablish your credit-worthiness.

If you're taking a credit scoring test and you think you'll get a low score on a specific question, you may do better to leave the answer blank.

Here are the answers:

1. True.
2. False. In you have a non-working, homemaker spouse in a separate-property state a court may hold you liable for debts incurred for necessities.
3. False. If a bank makes an error in an automatic transaction, it must take full responsibility and involved working husbands and non-working wives, but Citibank experts say that in the future, a working wife may be held responsible for some debts of a homemaker husband. You would also be responsible for your spouse's debt if the loan was granted on the basis of joint-credit-worthiness.

4. False. Automatic deductions are voluntary.
5. True. Maximums range from $15,000 in New York to $25,000 in California. They apply to personal credit, not mortgages.
6. False. You need to inform the creditor only if the credit was granted solely on the basis of your previous spouse's income.

correct the problem usually within 10 business days after it was told of the mistake.

7. False. A poor answer will get you a low score but no answers gets you zero points.

Combine vegetables with a cheese sauce to make a nutritious casserole. It may be just as satisfying on occasion as a more expensive meal of meat and potatoes. Remember to include the four main food groups as often as possible: vegetable-fruit, bread-cereal, milk, cheese, and meat.

Correct the problem usually within 10 business days after it was told of the mistake.
