Plea of Guilty Brings 9 Years Prison Term

A plea of guilty to indictments for burglary and theft over $50 brought a 9-year prison sentence in each case for Leery Scarborough of O'Brien, in 39th District Court Thursday. However, the sentences will run concurrently.

Scarborough was charged in one Grand Jury indictment with theft of a truck from Brooks Campsey, assistant manager of the O'Brien Co-Op Gin in November, 1959.

In another indictment, Scarborough was charged with burglary of the H. A. (Pete) Barnard Grocery in O'Brien Nov. 9, 1959.

The defendant was represented by T. R. Odell, Lubbock attorney. Several witnesses were placed on the stand by the State prosecutor, District Attorney Royce Adkins, to establish facts contained in the indictments.

The trial was heard by District Judge Ben Charlie Chapman. After the judgment was rendered, Scarborough waived the customary three days before sentencing, and was sentenced immediately by Judge Chapman.

State's Economy Changing, Rotary Members Told

The economy of our state, once almost entirely dependent on agricultural products and natural resources has shifted in the past two decades to manufacturing and industrial production, Rotarians were told Thursday by Billy Sayles, Abilene, an executive in the public service department of West Texas Utilities Company.

He was guest speaker at the noon meeting and luncheon of the club and was introduced by Tom Barfield, program chairman.

The trend from farm to industry has resulted in a population shift from rural to urban areas, as people move to new jobs created by expanding industry. As a result, small towns and communities have lost population. He illustrated his talks with charts giving data on population, natural resources, and industrial production in the state.

"This period of transition has not been easy for the average town, and changing times call for action in order for the community to grow in the future," he stated.

He described the type of community or city which had a good chance to attract industry are "Middling good towns, with good schools and churches, a not unreasonably high tax rate, a labor supply willing to do a good day's work in return for a day's fair pay, a progressive citizenship, along with a few soreheads."

"If you have that kind of town, you can expect to grow and develop. If you do not, you need to make some changes," the speaker admonished.

President Hooper Wilkinson reminded members that the June 23 meeting would be observed as Ladies Night, with a picnic supper to be served at WTU's Paint Creek power plant. A planning committee to make arrangements for the affair is composed of Tom Barfield, Bob Herren, Henry Withers, Bill Holden, Carl Anderson.

Guests at the meeting were Desmond Dulaney, new manager of Brazelton Lumber Co. here, M. E. Trice of Rule, Herman Gamble of Rochester, K. K. Francis of Stamford, Roff Hardy and Jim Longley, both of Abilene and both vice presidents of West Texas Utilities Company.

Haskell County voters polled 2,929 ballots Saturday in nominating three new officials, while returning one official to office for his first elective term. In the only state-wide race on the primary ballot, county voters gave a majority vote to the losing candidate.

In the race for State Representative of the 33rd district, J. C. (Carl) Wheatley of Haskell defeated Bill Sams of Benjamin by better than 2-to-1 vote in the four-county district, 2,428 to 1,600, while Haskell County gave Wheatley a vote of more than four-to-one, Wheatley receiving 2,386 to Sams' 523.

Sheriff Bill Pennington, seeking a third term, was defeated by G. T. (Garth) Garrett, a former deputy. The vote was Pennington 1,159, Garrett 1,770.

Commissioner Claude Ashley of Precinct 1 lost his bid for a third term, polling 669 votes while his opponent, John Brock, received 900 votes to win the nomination.

Constable A. L. (Ace) Davis was retained in office for his first elective term, receiving a 96-vote majority over his opponent H. K. (Bud) Thompson of Haskell. Constable Davis received a total of 917 votes, while Thompson polled 821.

In the state-wide race for Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals, Haskell County voters favored the incumbent, Judge Lloyd Davidson with 1,590 votes while giving his opponent, W. T. McDonald, 1,088 votes.

Total vote of 2,929 Saturday was more than 800 below balloting in the first primary, when 3,761 votes were polled.

In state-wide voting, McDonald won nomination to the court post, polling 380,687 votes, while Davidson trailed with 346,413.

Wheatley Carries Three Counties

In winning the nomination for State Representative, Wheatley carried three of the four counties in the 33rd district.

Throckmorton County voters gave Wheatley 265 votes, Sams 143. The Baylor County vote was Wheatley 383, Sams 317, while in Knox, Sams polled 617 Wheatley 394.

Part of Wheat Crop Lost in Fire Friday

Fire burned over an estimated five acres of wheat stubble and ripened wheat, belonging to Layne and Wayne Wells about six miles southeast of Haskell around 2:30 p. m. Friday.

Haskell firemen, using the county's grass-fire truck, made a run to the burning field and quickly had the blaze under control. Firemen said this was the first occasion they had had to use the equipment on a major fire of this kind. They praised the efficiency of the unit.

In all, the Wells brothers had about 50 acres of grain in this field. It is averaging 35 bushels per acre, it was reported.

VISITING IN DALLAS

Mr. and Mrs. George Henshaw are in Dallas visiting their daughter, Mrs. Bill Taylor and family.

Harvest of Wheat Crop In County About Finished

Harvesting of Haskell County's best wheat crop in years had been completed at mid-week, with only scattered small fields remaining to be combined, local buyers reported.

Grain harvest has been interrupted by intermittent rains, and some damage has been caused by severe weather and in some instances destructive hail has wiped out entire crops.

Over the county as a whole, however, grain producers had favorable weather for gathering the crop.

Wheat yield was the highest in years, with some fields producing 40 bushels or more per acre.

Local grain men estimate that yield from the 1960 wheat crop would average 20 bushels per acre for the county.

Other small grain, oats and barley, made only average yields.

Practically all of the 1960 wheat was sold on the local market and was shipped out immediately to Fort Worth and other terminal points by truck and rail.

Rail shipments of wheat from Haskell had exceeded 200 cars Wednesday, Agent A. C. Williams of the Fort Worth & Denver Railway reported. This is about a third more than last year, when 150 cars were shipped.

Commendation Due for a Job Well Done

Commendation is due W. R. (Roy) Johnson, Haskell banker, who is retiring this month as one of this city's directors on the board of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority...

He will be succeeded by another Haskell businessman, Chas. E. (Smitty) Smith, appointed by the City Council recently to replace Johnson, effective this month. Haskell's other director is R. W. (Bob) Herren.

During the time he has served as director, Mr. Johnson has helped administer the affairs of the Water Authority in a critical, formative period during which numerous obstacles and discouraging situations had to be overcome. Indicative of his ability and the confidence in which he was held by fellow directors, is the fact that Mr. Johnson was elected president of the Authority and has served in that responsible position with credit to himself and to Haskell.

Because he accepted a responsible appointment which required a sacrifice of his time from other important personal business affairs to serve his community without pay or hope of personal gain, and because he has served in that appointment in a highly creditable and trustworthy manner, Mr. Johnson, as the retiring Water Authority president and director is due commendation and thanks from our entire community.

Although there are some who disagree with the Water Authority Project, we believe that they, too, appreciate the conscientious manner in which Mr. Johnson has discharged the responsible duties of a public official in a position he did not seek, but one in which he was requested to serve.

Some Tax Gripes Justified

(Ochiltree County Herald) Most of us gripe about paying taxes, but we don't mind it as much if everybody else is taxed on the same basis. When we pay taxes that our neighbors don't is when the situation looks unjust.

We have a long way to go before taxes are assessed on an equal basis in Ochiltree county, for example. Farm land is not assessed at same percent of market value as is city residential property. Business inventories and equipment are soaked harder than personal property. Despite attempts to be equal, some houses are taxed a bigger percent of their worth than are others.

But the thing that draws the most inequities are personal taxes. Personal taxes assessed against cars and house trailers can go unpaid and very little seems to be done about it. If a person owns no real estate, the personal property tax put on his car by the school and city often goes ignored. When the car leaves town, so does the tax. It costs more to try and collect it than the tax is worth.

But Kansas has a way of collecting these taxes. This device, which virtually guarantees the eventual collection of ad valorem taxes on personal property and motor vehicles, is the requirement that all, or at least half, of personal taxes must be paid on schedule before an applicant can qualify for new license plates.

Since there is no question but that license plates are required every year, it follows that the school and city tax must be paid every year. It makes no difference if the person moves—he still must present a personal property tax receipt from somewhere before he can get his tags.

Owners of cars and house trailers who move a lot don't like this way of collecting taxes in Kansas. But Kansas lawmakers hold to the idea that if an owner of a house and lot must pay a personal tax on his car, so should the fellow who owns a house on wheels. It makes sense to us, and we don't think anyone would object seriously. We could learn something from these Kansans.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

By A. PATE

June is the anniversary month for two of the heaviest rains in Haskell's history and while everyone, generally speaking, would like to see a good rain few would want a repetition of the "floods" of 1909 and 1930.

Monday is the 30th anniversary of a four-inch rain which fell within an hour's time on the afternoon of June 13, 1930 and flooded Haskell, causing heavy property damage. Only loss of life was on Miller Creek, where a family of three drowned when their home was swept away in the stream's floodwaters.

For a brief period during and after the downpour, the area from the Wichita Valley railway tracks to the courthouse square was a sea of water ranging in depth from a foot or more, to several inches.

Bales of cotton floated from the gins in North Haskell, south until lodging against the mesquites south of the Fairgrounds.

The 1909 "flood" came on June 8 and 9, according to old-timers and more than eight inches fell during the two days, accompanied by devastating hail and windstorms.

The frequency of severe weather "alerts" in the past two weeks has resulted in most of us becoming habitual cellar dwellers. And it could be that this practice has already prevented possible serious injury although no tornadoes (thank goodness) have struck in the Haskell area.

During one of the alerts recently, marked by a severe electrical disturbance, lightning played a queer prank at the home of District Clerk Carrie McAnulty.

In some inexplicable manner, lightning burned out an electric toaster which was set on a plastic topped cabinet in her kitchen. A package of cookies near the toaster was burned and charred, and metal objects on the cabinet were "fused" to the plastic surface. One small hole was burned through the toaster and its heating elements were "burned out" but the connecting electrical cord was apparently undamaged!

We learned recently that raising Shetlands has been developed into big business. In fact, some of those registered and pedigreed ponies are almost worth their weight in gold.

The judge at the recent Shetland show during the Roundup, Perry Carlie, is owner of the world's largest Shetland farm, located at Perry, Okla. Sales are held three times a year at his farm. Carlie said, and he averages, selling more than $1 million worth of Shetlands each year!

Highest price brought by an individual Shetland from his farm, Carlie said, was $60,000, while another one sold for $56,000.

Shetlands from his farm have been shipped all over the world. Only a few months ago, Carlie shipped 40 registered Shetlands to Hawaii by steamship and at the same time sent a prize stallion by plane to the new Pacific state.

Members of the fire department are highly pleased with the performance of the new truck added to the department's equipment last year for use in fighting grass and similar fires in rural areas.

One day recently the truck was sent out when a wheatfield on the Wayne and Layne Wells farm about six miles from town caught fire. City Fireman "Satch" Lusk said this was the first time the truck had been called on a fire of the nature it was designed to be used on.

After arriving at the farm, the blazing wheatfield was quickly extinguished. Indicating the efficiency of the truck and its operators, only about five acres of the field was burned over from the time the fire started until the firemen could be summoned, make the six mile run and check the flames completely.

Assisting Fireman Lusk in the exceptionally fast job of fire-fighting were department members Dugan Starr, Ray Overton Jr., Belton Duncan, E. J. Stewart, Jack Medford, and "Bull" Barnett.

Departure of Jim Byrd to Dallas recently, where he is to be associated with a home building and development concern, breaks up a coffee-drinking threesome of many years standing, composed of E. J. Stewart, Geo. "Tuccus" Neely and Byrd. Although they were frequently joined by friends, the trio was about as regular as the sunrise in the methodical observance of their coffee break.

A stranger, if he happened to overhear the conversation at one of these coffee sessions (and none of the three ever spoke in whispers) would have gained the impression that the three men had a very low opinion of each other! Although Jim will be missed by his myriads of friends here, including the entire membership of the fire department and the City Council on which he had been elected to his fourth term as Alderman, none will miss him more than Neely and Stewart.

Kirby Smith of Stamford, who lived here when a boy around the turn of the century, is a frequent visitor in Haskell and enjoys recalling early days here.

His father at one time was associated with the late F. G. Alexander in one of his stores here.

While in Haskell the other day, Smith told how, as a boy, he came into possession of the first Water Spaniel he had ever seen.

The dog, little more than a puppy, had been given to Lennis and Chester Jones, two of Smith's boyhood friends. Shortly afterwards, when the Jones family was to be gone on a visit for several weeks, Lennis and Chester left their dog with young Smith.

"That water spaniel and I took a real shine to each other," Smith recalled. Then, when the two Jones boys returned from their visit and reclaimed their dog, the animal would have nothing to do with them. Lennis and Chester carried the puppy home and tied him up with a leash.

Sometime that night, the puppy chewed the leash, a small rope, in two and the next morning was at the home of Smith, his new friend.

Lennis and Chester then decided just to give me the dog, rather than having to keep him penned up until he would stay at home," Smith recalled.

The Stamford man, learning that Lennis Jones still lives in Kule, plans an early visit there to renew boyhood acquaintance and talk over old times.

The Stamford man's experience with his first water spaniel had a happier ending than the story old timers tell of an Abilene man's German police dog which developed into a "killer" after seeing its first flock of sheep.

The incident took place around 1900, before railroads built through this section.

The Abilene man, traveling in a buggy and accompanied by his German police dog which he had had for several years, came to this section to look at some land in the east part of the county.

When he drove by what was called the Old Bledsoe Ranch east of town, he passed a large herd of sheep and numerous lambs. Noticing the dog was becoming restive, the man made the animal get in the buggy until he had driven well past the grazing sheep.

It was the same way when he returned along the same road, with the dog watching intently as they neared the flock which had by that time grazed fully a mile away from the road.

The man continued on to his home at Abilene, his dog with him, the trip requiring two days.

Sometime the next day his dog disappeared, but he gave the matter little concern.

Then, about a week later, he learned from a Haskell friend that a German police dog had been shot by a shepherd on the Bledsoe Ranch after the dog had slaughtered more than a

WANTED BY THE FBI

JOSEPH CORBETT, JR.

Corbett, one of the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives," is wanted for escape from the California Institution for Men, Chino, Calif., where he was serving a 5 years' life sentence for murdering an Air Force sergeant. A Federal warrant was issued at Los Angeles, Calif., on March 21, 1960, charging him with unlawful interstate flight to avoid confinement for murder.

A white American, born on October 25, 1928, at Seattle, Wash., Corbett is 6 feet 1 inch to 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 160 to 170 pounds. He has light brown hair, hazel eyes, a fair complexion, a medium build, and has worked as a clerk-typist, laborer, warehouseman, laboratory technician, and glycol-resin cooker for a paint manufacturer. His two upper front teeth slant inward and he wears glasses, reportedly being extremely nearsighted and capable of seeing only close objects without them. He has a mole under his chin and a C-shaped scar on his right thumb.

Corbett, once a premedical student, is interested in scientific matters, avidly reads technical and travel books, and is intensely interested in firearms and target practice. He reportedly has a superior general intelligence and generally lives quietly and neatly but becomes erratic when drinking alcoholic beverages.

Convicted of second-degree murder, he is considered armed and dangerous. Anyone having information concerning him should immediately notify the nearest office of the FBI, the telephone number of which can be found on the first page of local telephone directories. GPO 561200-74

PAINT CREEK... COMMUNITY NEWS

BY MRS. GENE OVERTON

The rain Tuesday evening stopped most farm work in the community for a day or two. Almost everyone was through with their gain harvest, and concentrating on their cotton land and planting cotton. Many have cotton up, and have good stands. May have started breaking wheat and oat stubble, and some are caught up and have gone fishing.

Paint Creek Homecoming dates have been set for Saturday, Oct. 1.

The following class agents have been selected to notify the members of their graduating classes: Class of 1959, Mrs. Leroy Isbell; 1940, Mrs. Allen Isbell; 1941, Mrs. J. B. Kuenstler; 1942, Mrs. Wilbur Bunkley; 1944, Ray Perry; 1945, Mrs. Gerald Lytle; 1946, Wayne Wells; 1947, Mrs. Billy Elise; 1948, Clois Thomas; 1949, Mrs. Winford Andress; 1951, Mrs. James Raughton; 1952, Sonny Coleman; 1953, Twain Mickler; 1954, Billy Middlebrook; 1955, Mrs. Wayne Peiser; 1956, Glenda Walton; 1957, Nelva Walton; 1958, Mrs. Gary Gore; 1959, Jimmy Griffith; 1960, Margaret Fischer.

The meal will be catered by Underwoods of Abilene, and it will be necessary for former students who plan to attend to send in reservations for the number of plates they will want at the barbecue.

Willie Medford is president of the Ex-Students and Mrs. Gene Overton is secretary, so anyone wanting to attend can let one of them know if they have no class agent. It is impossible to obtain rolls or lists of students of all the schools that made up Paint Creek, so those will have to notify us. Former students and faculty members of Post, McConnell, Weaver, Howard, Rose, Rockdale, Ericdale and Plainview are cordially invited since their schools have turned into Paint Creek.

Honoring Willie Lee Medford groom-elect of Shirley Thane, Mike, Wallar and William Overton and Dub Sims entertained with a "stag" shower Saturday evening at the Overton home. Games of bingo were enjoyed with many useful gifts as the "prizes," such as tea towels marked "His," a cookbook, etc. Favors were tiny rolling pins. A refreshment plate of chicken salad sandwiches, butter-pecan sandwiches, potato salad, olives, cake and Cokes were served to Dolin Hughes, John R. Watson, Jeff Smith, Dan Griffith, Arvie Bergstrom and the hosts.

Mina Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Griffith, underwent eye surgery Friday in Abilene. Her family was at her bedside.

Pat Morrison and daughter, and Margaret Fischer left Sunday afternoon for T. C. U. where they will attend summer school. Mr. Morrison is on a Science scholarship.

Mrs. Paul Fischer returned home from the Haskell Hospital last Friday. She is recuperating nicely from surgery on her back.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kuenstler and Mrs. Gene Overton attended the funeral of Mrs. W. L. McCandless in Rule Saturday morning. Mrs. McCandless was the maternal aunt of Mrs. John R. Watson Jr.

Willie Lee Medford, Vocational Agriculture teacher, and FFA members Mike Shaw, Jeff Smith and Mike Overton were in Midland last Thursday and Friday for the Area 2 FFA meeting. Jeff Smith represented this district in the Public Speaking contest and won second place with his speech "The Need of Leadership in Agriculture."

Wayne and Layne Wells called and asked me to thank all neighbors who helped them fight their wheat fire. They lost 4 acres, and would have lost the whole crop if the neighbors hadn't helped them fight it, and the Haskell Fire Department hadn't come. In fact, the men were so exhausted by the time the fire boys came, they couldn't have saved it. Wayne said he was so excited he couldn't remember everyone who helped, but he did know that Ray Overton, Howard Montgomery, Arthur Montgomery and Mr. Hamilton of the Dave Ballard place helped him.

Wayne was taken to the hospital after the fire and was under oxygen from Thursday afternoon until the following Monday. He is at home now, and feeling better, but his lungs hurt and burned every-time he was taken out from under the oxygen tent while he was in the hospital.

Mary and Jimmy Ballard have been under observation for polio the past week. They both ran high temperature and had many polio symptoms. They are better now, and it is still questionable that they had polio. Neither of them had the shots, but they are taking them now. Mary is 16 and Jimmy is 9, and they are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Ballard, who manage the Anchor at the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Champion and daughters have moved to Haskell from the WTU Power plant. They have lived in our community two years, and we regret losing these fine people. Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Tucker have moved to the WTU home where the Champions lived. We welcome them.

BY VERN SANFORD

admit that if he is a successful bass fisherman, there must be something to what he says. This, even though his own thoughts may sometimes be in conflict with each other. Yet, when you stop to think about it, fish themselves don't always follow the same patern, strike the same bait, or act the same way, day in and day out. Some anglers say you must think like a fish to catch fish. Others say you've got to out-think them.

One old-time fisherman contends that the big trouble with most fishermen is that they use the same bait that every other fisherman uses. Net results is that the bass become so familiar with that particular bait or type of bait, that they just won't strike any longer.

In other words, every bass fisherman, by using the same method of bass fishing that the bass have seen for years, finally educates the finny creatures to the dangers of attacking such a lure. Result is spotty fishing.

On the other hand, there is the other type of fisherman who says that as soon as your partner lands one, switch to his identical lure. He figures his chance of success is greater when he offers the same attraction.

Another fisherman says that if you want to land the big ones, do your fishing from a boat. Fishing from a bank or wading in a lake, river or stream is okay in his opinion, but the far better method is from a boat.

Yet the largest fish we ever hooked was while spin casting from a rock bank in a narrow cove.

All of which might lead one to think that the fish doesn't care where his meal comes from, as long as it looks appetizing.

Now let's see what another fisherman has to say. Speaking of boats, this avid angler says that he prefers a 14-foot flat bottomed, wooden fishing boat, painted a dark gray or green. Better yet, a black-bottomed boat.

His preference for the wooden boat is that makes less noise than any other type manufactured. He absolutely will not use a metal boat. But he says fiber-glass might be a close second choice to a wooden boat.

He contends that the drumming sound of the metal boat scares the fish away. He even argues that the splash of waves on the metal boat will echo so loudly that it scares them to other sections of the lake. He also contends that waves lapping up against the side of a metal boat make a drumming noise under water.

A fishing buddy chimed in to stress the importance of being quiet when fishing. Noisy use of the oars in paddling is just as bad as dropping a pair of pliers to the bottom of a metal boat.

He advocates extreme caution while rowing and says to move along slowly. His contention is that when rowing you never should take the oar out of the water. He says further—return it to forward position by bringing it forward parallel to the boat, then row with a figure-8 motion, so as to get the greatest disturbance of the water. Also, if you must raise the oar out of the water, don't raise it more than a few inches above the surface. Then dip it straight down into the water and break the surface as lightly as possible.

A fishing guide at Falcon Lake tells us that one of the better ways to oar a boat quietly is to finish your stroke fully before lifting your oars out of the water. This, whether it is a pulling stroke, or a back stroke.

Reason is, of course, that you are clear of the water you have generated and thereby eliminate the slushing of the stirred-up water against your paddle.

In other words, avoid short, choppy strokes. Make them long and complete. Every fisherman seems to agree on one thing. That is that you should approach your fishing spot quietly, with the least disturbance of the water, and with the slightest noise possible.

One ardent angler even recommends that you make no attempt to cast your line into the water for about five minutes. Just sit there and relax until the bass have become accustomed to the boat being around.

Tackle boxes were the object of another angler's concern. He favors the wooden boxes over the fiberglass ones, and absolutely abhors the metal boxes.

What about clothing? That provokes a lot of conversation. A man sticks up quite a way above the seat of a boat says one angler. He warns that there should be no bright colors in the fisherman's clothing, or any colors that will reflect a lot of light.

Khaki seems to be about as fitting a garb for the fisherman as any, say most anglers. Second choice is GI fatigue clothing.

Those in the class were Larry Ashorn, Harold Bredthauer, Tommy Nierdeck, Lanora Baitz, Helen Lowack and Kenny Spitzer. Mrs. Buford Letz and children, Martha Kay and Rickey, went to Fort Worth Thursday of last week for the graduation

Dr. T. W. Williams Named Haskell's WTCC Director

Dr. T. W. Williams has been chosen director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for Haskell.

Announcement was made by J. Carter King Jr., of Albany, newly-elected president of the 132-county regional chamber.

Local directors of the WTCC represent local members of the regional chamber in meetings of the organization's board. They determine policy for the nearly 4,000-member body and are responsible for maintaining local financial support for work of the WTCC. Six major fields of activity for the organization are state and national affairs, community services, industrial development, agriculture and livestock and water resources.

The 42nd annual convention of the organization was held recently in San Angelo. The 1961 convention is to be conducted in Mineral Wells.

Rabies Reported In Many Areas Of Texas

Many reports of rabid animals—chiefly foxes and skunks—are coming in from over the State, says Edwin Cooper, extension wildlife specialist.

Since complete eradication of animals subject to carrying rabies is almost impossible, everyone should be aware of methods which lessen the possibility of contracting the disease, Cooper continues.

Contrary to popular belief, rabid animals do not have "running fits" nor "froth at the mouth." A rabid animal is usually characterized by symptoms of paralysis and loss of fear of natural enemies. Therefore, Cooper says children should be cautioned to avoid any animal which appears to be acting strangely.

Foxes, dogs and skunks especially should be avoided. Rabies also can be carried by domestic livestock, squirrels, bats and several other animals. Rabies may occur during any season of the year, Cooper emphasizes. A "deodorized" pet skunk, for example, may be a dangerous creature to have around in spite of the novelty and interest it may afford.

If a person is bitten by any type of wild or domestic animal, the person should immediately report to the family doctor after making every effort to capture and pen the attacking animal for observation purposes if this can be done safely. If it is a wild animal, it should be killed unless capture can be accomplished without risk of another attack. Instructions for having the animal checked for rabies can be obtained from your doctor or veterinarian.

Consult your veterinarian to make certain your pets are properly vaccinated. Stray, untagged or suspicious acting domestic or wild animals should be reported immediately.

VISITORS FLY IN FROM AMARILLO

Mr. and Mrs. Sam K. Broyles and children Sam III and Betty Kay of Amarillo spent Sunday with Mrs. Broyles' mother, Mrs. Mart Clifton. The Broyles flew to Haskell in their private plane and landed on Haskell's landing strip north of town.

Rotary Lawn Mower Can Be Lethal Weapon

Did you know a rotary power lawn mower blade travels at speeds up to 150 miles per hour and is capable of throwing sticks, stones, or other objects at comparable speeds? Imagine what would happen if you were hit by one of these fast-flying objects.

Power lawn mowers are now in the majority both in town and among farm people. Along with their increased use has been a closely related increase in accidents involving both operators and bystanders. Most accidents have been due to carelessness or lack of knowledge on the part of the individual.

W. L. Ulrich, extension agricultural engineer, offers these suggestions on how to operate your rotary power lawn mower safely and efficiently.

Always disconnect spark plug before working on the blade.

A clean sharp blade does a better cutting job and requires less power.

Never operate with safety shields removed.

Make sure all rocks and debris are removed from the area before close mowing.

Do not fill the gasoline tank when engine is hot or running.

Run mower as slow as possible to do good work.

Keep children and pets away from mowers.

Always be of sure footing when mowing on steep slopes.

Never leave engine running when mower is unattended.

Make sure mower is steady and under full control before starting engine.

Always be aware of the hazards involved when you are using a power mower. Don't get caught napping.

Falcon is having the best first year any car ever had ... over 250,000 already sold since introduction ... going at the record rate of 10,000 every week. What makes Falcon the world's most successful new car?

Economy!

To begin with, Falcon is America's very lowest-priced 6-passenger car* ... $64 to $154 less than the other compacts.

"Falcon delivers the best fuel economy of the three new compact cars," says Motor Trend magazine. Owner reports and fleet logs consistently show Falcon mileage figures of up to 30 per gallon with regular gas.

Falcon goes 4,000 miles between oil changes, costs less to license and in most places less to insure.

Falcon saves you more and gives you full room for 6 people and all their luggage. So wonder Falcon has become so fast!

More Than 300 Visitors Inspect New Home of the R. L. Burtons

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Burton were hosts Sunday, June 5 from 3 to 5 p. m. when they held open house in their new home in Shook Addition.

Miss Margaret Toliver presided at the register and the Burton's daughter, Mrs. Bailey Toliver assisted in greeting guests. More than three hundred were present to see this new "Medallion Home," the first of its kind to be built in Haskell.

Garland C. Sparks of Abilene was architect and builder. Throughout, it is of the highest quality and the mood of the house is for informal living and entertaining. Most imaginative in design architecturally, the use of materials and planning the garden area as an integral part of the construction add much to the beauty and comfort of this new home.

The house is built on a reinforced concrete slab foundation with brick veneer exterior and wood cedar shingle roof. The den-kitchen-dining area is of open planning for ease of access and expansion. The living room is off the den, connected through a cased opening, making possible the use of both rooms as one for entertaining large groups. The fireplace wall at the end of the den can be seen from the living room. Bedrooms and baths are conveniently located off the hall from the entrance.

HASKELL, TEXAS

interior decorator, has achieved the luxury look throughout the house with soft colors, all wool carpeting and with beautiful and unique lighting. The guest room is a conversation piece with its French provincial furnishings, elaborate silk drapes in French influence. The antique fruitwood beds have gold silk bedspreads woven in gold diamond pattern. Paper in the bedrooms is white with gold. The brick terrace and garden have been successfully brought inside by the use of a glass wall beautifully draped in white and gold silk. Landscaping of the back area which is enclosed with a high stockade fence, done by Ray Campbell of the Abilene Garden Gate Nursery, was planned, as an outdoor living room with a minimum of grass. Formal planting of boxwood hedge, roses and holly in the front area and terrace was done by Conner Nursery. Planting material was selected for proportionate size, color and time of bloom. During the growing season the landscape will have changing bloom and in the winter will have evergreen and colored foliage and bedded plants.

Of much interest was a framed plaque composed and designed by Mr. Burton and placed on the entrance wall of the house which reads: This house built of brick, stone and mortar, cotton, wood and steel materials. All from God's good Earth. Loaned us, to enjoy for a Season—Pass on to others—Back to earth according To God's Plan.

We are also grateful to the attending physician, the hospital staff, the pastors of the various churches, and to others for their special services. God bless you.—W. H. McCann, less and family. 22p
