

Bani-Sadr Shuffles Top Iran Military Command

By The Associated Press
Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr shuffled Iran's top military command today in what appeared to be an effort to strengthen his hand against Moslem hardliners seeking to undermine him. Less than 24 hours earlier he urged the nation's revolutionary guards to "unify behind him."

Iran's official news agency and radio said Bani-Sadr accepted the resignation of the acting military chief of staff, Gen. Mohammad Hadi Shadmehr, and that Gen. Valiollah Fallahi was made the new acting chief of staff. It said Shadmehr became Bani-Sadr's military adviser.

The report also said Gen. Ghasemali Zahirnejad has been appointed commander of land forces. Col. Javad Fakouri, a pilot, was named the air force chief. The news agency did not say who they replaced.

ported Moslem hardliners were plotting to oust him as a "tool of America."

Tehran Radio said Bani-Sadr went to a revolutionary guards' barracks to appeal for an end to the feuding that prompted the resignation of his hand-picked guard commander, Abu Sharif. The radio also said Bani-Sadr rejected Sharif's resignation.

The report did not say who was fighting whom in the guards, but the squabbling was presumed to be between Bani-Sadr's moderate supporters and the extreme Moslem fundamentalists who back the clergy-dominated Islamic Republican Party, which controls Iran's Parliament.

A party leader, Dr. Hassan Ayat, was reported Wednesday to be plotting the overthrow of Bani-Sadr and was quoted as labeling him "a tool of America."

The Tehran newspaper Enghlab Eslami, owned by Bani-Sadr, published what it said was the text of a tape recording quoting Ayat as saying the president "will be ousted soon." It did not say who he was talking to.

"I have not been conspiring against anybody," Ayat fired back after the paper hit the stands. He said he would expose "a shameful plot that directors of Enghlab Eslami are involved in against me against the Islamic Republican Party and against the man Iranian Revolutionary leader Ayatollah Khomeini. The newspaper report highlighted the growing rift between Bani-Sadr, who has called for a speedy end to the 229-day-old hostage crisis, and the Moslem hardliners of the Islamic Republican Party, many of whom are urging spy trials for the 53 captive Americans.

"We feel if we can effectively communicate with royalty owners we can have an influence on passing the bills," he said.

Royalty Owners Poised To Map Goals Tonight

An organizational meeting of West Texas royalty owners will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Scurry County Coliseum.

One purpose of the meeting, said Billy McCormick, president of West Texas Royalty Owners, is the formal incorporation of the group into an association with a constitution and by-laws. A slate of officers and directors will be elected tonight, and a name change is also anticipated. The West Texas Royalty Owners Association is expected to be renamed West Texas Land and Royalty Owners Association.

McCormick said a formal statement of the goals and objectives of the association will be read tonight in which the group specifically states its support for the passage of Senate Bill 2521 and House Bill HR-7211, two measures royalty owners believe will eliminate what they feel is an inequitable bias against them in government regulations and will provide an incentive for land-owning royalty owners to release unexplored property for new oil development.

"The thrust of this meeting is to gain support for these bills," said McCor-

Bolivia Bombing Kills 1

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—A bombing in a crowded bar near Bolivia's main government offices killed one person and injured two, and clashes in the nation's second largest city left two dead, five injured and the U.S. Consulate and cultural center looted in a violent countdown to elections just 10 days off.

A second bomb exploded almost simultaneously on Jaen Road, a 10-foot-wide cobblestone alley in La Paz that houses several museums and shops and is a major tourist attraction. There were no injuries, but windows were blown out 200 feet away.

Alamo Protestor Convicted

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A man who helped take down a Texas flag three months ago and replaced it with an all-red banner over the Alamo during a protest has been found guilty of disorderly conduct by a municipal court jury.

Hayden Fisher was assessed the maximum fine of $200 following his conviction Wednesday. Fisher was one of six self-professed Marxists taken into custody during an anti-Anglo demonstration at the shrine March 20.

Four others went on trial today. A fifth, Damian Garcia, 31, was stabbed to death in April while distributing leaflets in a Los Angeles housing project.

Rioting Leaves 42 Dead

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The four-day spasm of rioting, looting, arson and vandalism in South Africa's black and colored townships reportedly left at least 42 people dead in the worst racial clashes this white-ruled nation has seen since 1976. Damage was estimated in the millions.

Terrorists Attack Embassy

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Three terrorists shot their way into the British Embassy in Baghdad today on the eve of Iraq's first parliamentary election in 22 years, but Iraqi security forces stormed the mission and killed three intruders, the official Iraqi news agency reported.

It said the three men hurled grenades into the embassy and then rushed firing their automatic weapons.

July 4th Ticket Distribution Set

Clubs and organizations who plan to participate in the annual July 4th Celebration this year are scheduled to pick up their tickets tomorrow at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce office.

They also may list their candidates for July 4th Queen at the same time.

The queen's contest is being conducted for the first time since the celebration was inaugurated in 1961. There have been tractor pull queens and for several years a swimming queen was named when contests were held at the pool in the park, but no over-all Independence Day queen has been selected before.

The candidate who has the most tickets sold in her behalf will be the queen and she will be crowned just prior to the big fireworks display, closing feature on the day's program.

There is no age limit for queen nominees, and any club or organization participating is entitled to name a candidate.

Meanwhile, reservations are coming in for the arts and crafts show, which has become one of the most popular events held during the celebration.

Also, plans are progressing for the annual July 4th Art Show. Entries are due July 2 and they will be hung on July 3 and judged on the morning of July 4.

IT'S UP THERE—The calendar says summer doesn't begin till Saturday, but local thermometers paid no attention Wednesday, hitting the 101-degree mark officially. This photo of the West Texas State Bank thermometer was taken at 6:44 p.m., which turned out to be the hottest time of day. It was the first time this season for the reading to exceed 100. It hit 100 even on June 7. The city water department also felt the pressure as 4.4 million gallons were processed Wednesday by the treatment plant. (SDN Staff Photo)

The SDN Column

Events of the past couple of weeks have projected some new questions that our federal government, especially the Department of Justice, must resolve. These questions keep popping up, like "Why should a barrel of foreign oil be worth more than a barrel of U.S. oil?"

Now, add to that, "Would it be any worse for the U.S. Olympic team to defy the president and go off to Moscow for the 1980 Olympic Games than for Ramsey Clark, et al, to go to Iran in defiance of an order for Americans to stay away?"

Indeed, Clark's expedition could be even more serious due to the fact that he once held the title of Attorney General of the U.S. and Iranians as well as others in foreign nations might easily be convinced that he speaks for our nation's government.

It will be no fun to deal with this question during a political year, but Americans and the entire world are due some answers.

Calls On Allies For United Front

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter, leaving on an eight-day European trip aimed at restoring unity to the Western alliance, called today for the allies to present a unified front against Soviet aggression.

"I will be totally frank with you, as I will be with leaders of the alliance," the president said in his statement for a White House departure ceremony. "The industrial democracies are being tested. We must sustain world opposition to Soviet aggression and not allow the Soviets to derive any permanent benefits from their invasions of a neutral nation."

Stalls Vote On Death Penalty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., resorted to complicated parliamentary maneuvering today in hopes of preventing a Senate vote on restoring the death penalty for some federal crimes.

Byrd offered a package of substitute legislation to the death penalty measure, a move that at least temporarily threw the Senate into a stall as clerks read the lengthy measures.

The Byrd substitute package included a fair housing bill that has passed the House and is regarded as the most important piece of civil rights legislation pending in the current congressional session.

But it appeared that rather than trying to win passage of the fair housing measure and the other bills, Byrd was engaging in a test of wills with death-penalty advocates. He appealed to them to back down from their efforts to force a vote now on capital punishment.

The Senate rebuffed Byrd Wednesday night in its eagerness to take an election-year stand on capital punishment.

By a startling 50-36 vote, it rejected Byrd's plea to postpone action on the issue until there can be a more thorough debate later in the summer.

Byrd succeeded in delaying the vote until today, giving him only overnight to convince some of his colleagues to change their minds. He argued that the Senate was being impetuous by rushing to judgment.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., a strong supporter of capital punishment who engineered the move to force a vote, said that if the Senate doesn't vote now, it probably won't have the chance anytime this year.

Sweetwater Interested In CRMWD Ties

BIG SPRING—Representatives from the City of Sweetwater have expressed an interest in renewing negotiations with the Colorado River Municipal Water District for 3,000 acre feet of water from Lake E.V. Spence annually.

Four members of the city council, together with City Manager Joe Benton, conferred with O.H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, relative to the possibility of an offer from CRMWD in October 1979 to make the water available. Sweetwater had held this proposal in suspension while exploring the possibility of developing wells in proximity to its main supply lines. Water from Lake Spence would be transferred to Sweetwater's Oak Creek Lake via an 18-mile pipeline should a contract be entered into between the two parties. Councilmen indicated a decision in the matter will be reached within a week.

Ask Us

Q—I have noticed that temperature readings in all seasons may vary by several degrees from different sources and was wondering where the SDN gets the figure it uses each day in its weather report.

A—The SDN uses temperatures and rainfall figures as recorded on official National Weather Service instruments at the city water treatment plant. Of course temperatures and rainfall measurements at another location may be accurate there, although different from those at the water plant. However, these are the ones that go into the official records for Snyder.

Storms Rumble Through Texas

By The Associated Press
Heavy thunderstorms, some accompanied by hail and high winds rumbled across Northwest Texas and portions of North Central Texas early today.

There were no immediate reports of serious damage and no reports of significant rainfall.

The storms were reported weakening along the Red River North of the Dallas-Fort Worth area before dawn.

Numerous weather watches and warnings were issued late Wednesday and early today as the storms moved slowly southeastward.

Forecasts called for the possibility of more such thunderstorm activity in portions of North Texas by late today.

The entire state was to have partly cloudy skies and continued unseasonably hot temperatures. Highs were to be in the 90s and some as high as 100 or slightly above. Readings in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas were expected to approach the 110-degree mark.

Sweetwater Firm Denied Branch Here

A request by Sweetwater Savings and Loan Association to establish a branch in Snyder has been denied by the State Savings and Loan Dept., it was learned today.

The Sweetwater firm had filed the request several months ago and a hearing was held in March. It had been granted a second location in Abilene in a recent decision, but the application for a Snyder branch was turned down, according to notices made public today.

Snyder is served by two savings firms, Snyder Savings and Loan and First Federal of Big Spring.

china's new tactics

There have been some amazing developments out of China in the few short years of its turnabout from xenophobic keeper of the ultra-radical communist faith to cooperative member of the world community. It has turned from reviling the industrialists of the capitalist world to inviting their business and advice. Instead of slamming its door on the outside world, it is now promoting itself as a tourist attraction. After decades of squaring off against the American paper dragon, it is now a virtual ally. An authoritarian society in which there is only one truth and that is the one laid down in Peking, it even briefly experimented with semi-free speech. But the most amazing may be yet to come.

Deng Xiaoping, the diminutive vice premier who is the political giant of the post-Mao regime, has repeated his intention to retire from his government post shortly. To be sure, he will remain Communist Party vice chairman and thus in position to continue exercising real power. But even this job he intends to relinquish by 1985. By that time, he anticipates he won't be functioning so effectively and, as he recently told visiting American journalists, he wishes "to live a little longer." An attitude that many Western leaders, political and business, will find not the least bit inscrutable. Deng by then will be 81, so there is nothing unusual in thinking of retirement. But there definitely is so in the context of Communist leadership. In opting for voluntary withdrawal from the active exercise of supreme power, he had for all practical purposes no predecessors. If communism's strongmen are known for one thing other than the ruthlessness necessary to achieve power it is their determination to hold on to it until the end - ultimate in the form of departure from this earth, naturally or otherwise, or forced abdication.

Lenin, Stalin, Mao and even heretic Tito went with their official boots on. Brezhnev appears intent upon following suit. Khrushchev, Poland's Gomułka, Czechoslovakia's Novotny and other lesser lights had to be shown the door. The pattern holds largely true even among the non-governing parties of the West.

Deng's phased retirement is reported to have a very practical purpose. He wants to position in power younger pragmatists of his own bent well before his final departure in order to ensure against a return of the hardliners.

In so doing, he is turning once again to the West, employing a tactic democratic leaders have often found of use in promoting continuation of policies.

And if he carries it off, he will be doing more than effecting a turnabout of Communist custom. He also will be going against thousands of years of Chinese custom. Emperors and dynasties, like commissars and central committees, traditionally have hung on to the bitter end.

And in a past-conscious culture, where today's communist rulers have just rehabilitated the reputation of the last emperor, that could be the more challenging reversal.

selecting judges

The United States Supreme Court is every American's court of last resort. What kind of men do you want to entrust with those most awesome judgmental decisions? Within the next presidential administration it is likely that two and possibly four new members will be appointed to the presently left-leaning Supreme Court. Before the time comes and urgency and impatience influence our choice, let's consider the qualification by which candidates should be measured. Theoretically, jurists should be individuals of impartial objectivity. In truth, of course, there is no such thing. Anybody worth his salt is "for" certain things and "against" certain things and inevitably his personal philosophy will influence his judgment. If we will consider first of all a nominee's "equality of legal performance," we could have a pretty good measure of the fairness and equitability of his record.

This necessarily recommends men or women of wide and exemplary judicial experience. Making judges of judges does not necessarily guarantee excellence - but the complexity of twentieth century considerations certainly handicaps any non-judge judge. This will pose a problem: Most present appellate judges were appointed, by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson. That limits the number of available constructionists.

If we have to go outside the judiciary, we should seek somebodies with similar experience in dealing with constitutional interpretation. Bill Webster and Griffin Bell, for examples, would have wide-spectrum experience. Our talent search for prospective jurists should seek nominees with physical stamina. On the High Bench the incredible workload requires a year on no more than 4,000 cases a year - with 160 or so involving oral argument. Finally, the candidates for the Highest Court should have the capacity to express themselves simply and clearly. Academicians won't like this. Law school professors favor esoterics. They favor optimum obscurity so that their elaborations can sound profound.

U.S. News surveyed leading judges and lawyers and 84 percent said the Supreme Court opinions should be made more concise, more clear.

Respectfully, as a journalist, I second the notion. There are days in the newsroom when AP and UPI will diametrically disagree on the meaning of some Supreme Court decision, so unnecessarily complicated is the verbiage even in the "summary opinion." Chief Justice Burger has demonstrated that complex opinions can be condensed to shirt-sleeve English. Finally - let's choose High Court justices from out of the "real world" - not from Washington, D.C.

(c) 1980, Los Angeles Times Syndicate.

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Earlier this week the House passed the Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1980, a bill which some have called the most important civil rights legislation of the decade. Despite this claim, I voted against this measure for two reasons: 1) it attacks basic principles of private ownership of property, and 2) it leaves the federal bureaucracy - and not our judicial system - in charge of handling complaints regarding alleged discrimination in housing. This means that seven Housing and Urban Development (HUD) bureaucrats, administrative law judges, will have to handle approximately 3,000 housing discrimination disputes that arise each year across the United States. Ideally, these cases should be under the jurisdiction of federal courts. During debate on the floor, I supported an amendment, the Sensenbrenner-Volkmer Amendment, which would use federal magistrates to expedite handling of housing discrimination disputes. Unfortunately my colleagues rejected this amendment by one vote, making HUD the investigator, prosecutor, judge, and jury in these suits.

By voting down the Sensenbrenner-Volkmer Amendment and subsequently passing the Fair Housing Amendments Act bill, the Congress has created a system where the victims of housing discrimination cannot be compensated for their misfortunes even if their complaint is upheld. This occurs because HUD's administrative law judges do not have the authority to award civil damages to the complainant. These civil servants can only levy civil penalties - up to $10,000 - against the party guilty of discrimination. Any civil damages awarded by the administrative law judges would be unconstitutional. As a result, the discrimination victim receives neither monetary compensation nor the property which he had originally been denied.

According to the provisions of this bill, as passed by the full House, if the property has been sold to another purchaser in the meantime, that purchaser keeps it regardless of the results of the HUD investigation. This bill, then, only gives discrimination victims the satisfaction of having their complaint upheld. Otherwise, the complainant has not gotten a thing.

In spite of these major problems, there was one amendment to this Fair Housing bill that I especially supported, and which was agreed to by the full House. This amendment, proposed by Congressman Sam Hall (D-Tex.), provides two exemptions to the Act. The first is for single-family homes sold or rented by the owner, and states that an owner of not more than three single-family homes may sell or rent to anyone he chooses, so long as he does not use a real estate agency or salesman. The Hall Amendment also exempts the rental of rooms in a four-family dwelling in which the owner lives. Without these exemptions, persons renting out a portion of their home for subsistence income and servicemen leasing their homes while on extended tours of duty, for example, would be subject to possible HUD administrative action and Federal Government harassment.

SAN DIEGO (NEA) - Law enforcement officials here recount with special satisfaction the saga of two men arrested several years ago and charged with more than 20 counts of robbery.

Both suspects, familiar with the notoriously inefficient criminal justice system, expected quick release on low bail, followed by plea bargaining negotiations, pro forma convictions and relatively short prison sentences. But when they sought to enter guilty pleas to drastically reduced charges, the prosecutors wouldn't bargain with them. One defendant took a chance, went to trial, was convicted of all major charges and sentenced to life in prison.

The other defendant pleaded guilty to all major charges - the only "deal" the prosecutor would accept - and drew a sentence of 14 years in prison.

Both men had been identified as career criminals by San Diego's Major Violator Unit, dedicated to eliminating "revolving door justices" that too often place criminals back on the street after a quick whirl through the courts and the prisons.

The first such special prosecutorial operation dates back to early 1973, when the district attorney's office in the Bronx, New York established a Major Offense Bureau devoted exclusively to identification and prosecution of suspects accused of serious crimes. The New York City Experiment was so successful that it became a model for the Career Criminal Program funded by the Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in scores of cities throughout the country.

Since the LEAA program was launched in 1975, 46 cities have received more than $20 million in federal funds to establish similar programs. Local funds are used exclusively in 20 to 30 other cities, while California and New York have statewide programs.

Major cities with criminal justice programs targeted against habitual criminals include New Orleans, Detroit, Salt Lake City, Houston, Indianapolis, Dallas, Kansas City, St. Louis, Memphis, San Francisco, Chicago, Denver, Miami, Los Angeles, New York and Philadelphia.

Small cities include Columbus, Ohio; Portsmouth, Va.; Baton Rouge, La.; Clearwater, Fla.; Eugene, Ore.; Springfield, Mass.; New Haven, Conn.; Austin, Texas, and Jacksonville, Fla.

Of slightly more than 8,500 defendants identified and prosecuted as career criminals in those communities between mid-1976 and late 1978, almost 8,000 were convicted - an extraordinary conviction rate of just under 94 percent.

The key to the success of targeted prosecution is not allowing career criminals to manipulate the criminal justice system to their advantage by dealing with different prosecutors at each stage of their case, "shopping" for lenient judges and striking deals to minimize or even eliminate prison time.

Concentration on career criminals also produces truly impressive results because repeated studies have shown that habitual offenders are responsible for crimes far out of proportion to the number of criminals involved.

One Rand Corporation analysis found that 49 criminals were responsible for more than 10,500 crimes. Another Rand study, of inmates in California's state prisons, indicated that the most active 8 percent of all prisoners had committed more than 60 crimes per year apiece before being arrested.

The Major Violator Unit here consists of six senior deputy district attorneys, a research analyst and three clerical personnel who follow the cases of repeat robbery and burglary offenders from arrest through final adjudication in the courts.

They maintain regular liaison with law enforcement officials assigned to their cases, attend bail hearings, keep in contact with witnesses and personally prepare for all court proceedings.

"Our goals are very simple," says Richard U. Neely, in charge of the special unit. "We identify those people responsible for a disproportionate number of serious crimes in our community, give them special attention and incapacitate them for the longest period of time we can."

A clean-up television crusade is being launched, and while it may have a valid point in regard to the display of sex and violence, I believe its backers are missing a larger and more important point.

The backers of the get-the-smut-out-of-television campaign believe that excessive television viewing can be deleterious to children because of the sex and violence to which they are exposed. I am opposed to the excessive viewing of television, not because of the sex or violence aspect of it, but because of the extreme banality of it.

Turning on the tube and watching 12 dancing bunny rabbits, with each holding up a roll of Brand X toilet paper and singing a little ditty about the joys of using that particular brand of toilet paper, is certainly not stimulating. Such spectacles are downright insulting to the intellect.

Watching television is silly. Who wants to watch television when he can do something more constructive with his time? When a person watches television he isn't doing anything. There are those who will disagree with me by pointing out that a person who watches television is doing something, namely watching television. But I contend that the person who watches television is doing nothing.

Television has got to be the most passive form of entertainment in the world. Have you ever interrupted your own television viewing long enough to watch someone else watching television? The glazed eyes, blank look, passive demeanor, with the viewer's features bathed in a flickering blue light, all speak of one mesmerized.

Who wants to spend his time watching television when he could be reading a book, writing a letter, pursuing a hobby, or spending that time in simple, contemplative silence?

Television scripts all follow predictable lines. Situation comedies are the worst. We in this country have produced an entire generation of young people who have grown up hearing canned, background laughter in comedies. Whatever happened to real human laughter?

Yes, our television viewing habits need to be changed, but the sex and violence part of television viewing are merely incidental.

Bolding Clan Meets At Joshua

Members of one of Scurry County's pioneer families met recently for a reunion. They were the descendents of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Bolding, who were long-time residents of the Dunn community.

Life, Works Of Poets Reviewed By Society

Monday night's meeting of the Scurry County Poetry Society marked its final scheduled meeting for the summer.

The society is a chapter of The Poetry Society of Texas whose purpose is to secure fuller public recognition of the art of poetry, to encourage the writing of poetry by Texans, and to kindle a finer and more intelligent appreciation of poetry, especially the work of living poets who interpret the spirit and heritage of Texas.

Membership is open to anyone who is in sympathy with the general purposes of the society. Further details may be obtained by calling Ana Ferguson, president of the Scurry County chapter, at 573-5762.

Monday's program was conducted by Jean Everett and Susan Miller. The session included a discussion of the definition and six senses of poetry, a slide presentation of the life and works of E.E. Cummings, and the reading of Robert Frost's poetry.

The regular monthly meetings of the Poetry Society will resume Sept. 15. Interested persons are invited to attend the meeting.

The term vinegar comes from the French word vinaigre, which means sour wine.

Unlike his grandfather, John Porter Bolding, who in 1867 floated his family from Luka, Miss., down the Mississippi River to Galveston, then overland by way of wagon and team to Williamson County, Ernest, in 1907, moved his wife, Pina, and his son, Floyd, from that county by rail as far as Colorado City, then by wagon to Dunn, where other members of his family had already settled. Later, two daughters were born to Ernest and Pina. They were Eunice, who is now Mrs. George Jackson, and Dorothy, who is now Mrs. Edward Cox.

The two-day reunion was held at Joshua at the country home of Ernest's grandson, Ernest Jackson, and his wife Betty. Travel trailers and campers were parked in the shade of a large stand of native oak trees, and picnic-style meals were served. Swings, a merry-go-round and a slide were provided for the great-grandchildren, and games of dominoes and cards were provided for the adults. The group was involved in hours of picture taking and reminiscing.

Those attending the event were Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gilly, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Jackson and daughters, Tammy and Bobina, Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Jackson and daughter, Donna, and Mrs. Genelda Smothermon, all of Fort Worth.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Gary Allen and daughters, Angela and Amber of Burleson, Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Jackson and daughter, Krista of Tulsa, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jackson of Joshua, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cox of Snyder.

the best chance. He covered the 10 of spades with dummy's jack to give the impression that he didn't hold the king.

It didn't do him any good. East was looking at all the high hearts and assumed that South would not open a notrump with no face card in either major. Then East asked himself the $64,000 question: "How can I beat this hand?"

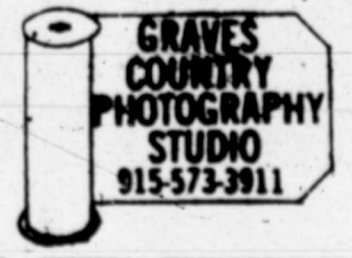

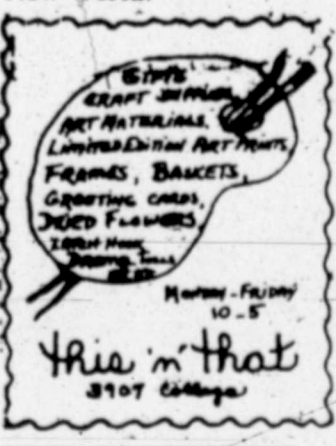

Then East saw that a shift to the deuce of hearts would be a winner if West held the 10 or maybe even the nine and if West could get in with a diamond or club.

So, East did shift to the deuce of hearts. West's 10 knocked out one of dummy's honors. West got in with the club king and led a heart to give East three heart tricks and a top score. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

At State-Funded Colleges...

Recommends Doubling Tuition Fee

AUSTIN (AP)—A special citizens committee wants the 1981 Legislature to at least double tuition at state-financed colleges.

Doubling tuition, which has not been raised since 1957, would raise it from $4 to $8 a semester credit hour or from $60 to $120 for a normal 15-hour semester load.

The committee, which was created by the Legislature to study the financing of higher education, made its recommendation on a 10-0 vote Wednesday.

It also recommended on voice vote that legislators raise annual medical school tuition from $400 to $3,600 and dental tuition from $400 to $2,500. None of the 10 members voting asked to be recorded against the proposals.

To offset doubling tuition costs, the committee proposed setting aside 10 percent of the increased tuition revenue for undergraduate and graduate scholarships.

The committee proposed reserving 20 percent of the increased medical tuition for loans to needy students. If the new physicians practiced in Texas for three years after completing their residencies, they would not have to repay the loans.

Speaker Bill Clayton offered the loan fund amendment, stating, "Texas taxpayers should not have to subsidize doctors who go elsewhere to practice."

A proposal to increase medical and dental school tuition to about half of the recommended rate was presented by former Chairman Frank Erwin of the University of Texas Board of Regents.

"The only way we're going to get doctors and dentists in West Texas and in our cities is to flood the market with them," said Erwin.

Tuition for non-resident and foreign students would be set at "not less than 50 percent of the total cost" of educating the students. Higher Education Commissioner Kenneth Ashworth said this would raise non-resident tuition from $1,200 to about $1,300 a year.

The committee also recommended:

A constitutional amendment extending the Permanent and Available University funds to all schools in the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems.

Increasing the bonding capacity of the fund from 20 percent to 30 percent. The UT board of regents, for example, could issue bonds totaling 20 percent of the value of the Permanent University Fund, excluding real estate, and A&M's bonds could reach 10 percent of the PUF's value.

That none of the new tuition money be used to pay off existing bonded indebtedness.

The committee scheduled a July 23 hearing to consider a proposal that money from a tuition increase be placed in a special state fund for new construction at all schools not in the UT and A&M systems.

Your Birthday

June 20, 1980

Your prospects for the coming year are encouraging, provided you don't attempt to make major changes impulsively or without having all the facts. Plan your moves wisely and, above all, be patient.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Manage your resources with wisdom today, or you may suffer a loss. If you do any gambling be sure it is for very small stakes. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph letter, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't ask others to do things you wouldn't do yourself. Others will follow your lead, and if it's a poor one, you can expect problems.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Normally you're the type who lays all the cards on the table, but today others may have difficulty knowing where you stand because you're reluctant to truly speak your mind.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The temptation to spend unnecessarily could be very strong today, and you may make some unwise purchases. Shop sensibly and buy only what you need.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Instead of challenges awakening your resourcefulness today, they may have just the opposite effect and cause you to back off before you really try.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your splendid imagination could play tricks today and cause you to see things as being more negative than they really are. Look for sunshine, not clouds.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Business and pleasure make a poor mix today. Settle for one or the other. The odds aren't with you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Associates whose aims are not in harmony with yours will be more of a liability today than an asset. Instead of trying to drag them along, go it on your own.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Duties or responsibilities cannot be rationalized away today, nor should they be postponed to a later date. Delays aren't a substitute for solutions.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This is not a good day to let someone else manage your personal affairs, or for you to try to direct theirs.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You and your mate may not be in the proper mood today to discuss volatile issues. Table these matters till you each feel they can be handled calmly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Assistants or coworkers won't appreciate it if you behave bossily or don't shoulder your share of the burden. Do your duties with a smile.

Proposing A Tax Boost To Balance '81 Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee is proposing raising taxes by $4.2 billion primarily on large corporations as its chief contribution to the beleaguered drive to balance the 1981 budget.

Meanwhile, the House seemed to shed its recent rhetoric about budget restraint Wednesday as it expanded from $15 billion to $16.5 billion an emergency spending bill needed to keep some federal programs solvent.

The package includes money for refugee aid, disaster relief, black lung benefits to disabled coal miners and a special federal unemployment fund that went broke earlier this month.

The House hoped to complete action on the spending bill today and send it to the Senate.

In a change made Wednesday, the House approved $100 million to resettle Cuban and Haitian refugees who have flooded into south Florida, but the lawmakers barred use of the money to aid convicted felons and prostitutes.

The bill's $1.7 billion for disaster relief provides $50 million to rebuild Tampa Bay's Sunshine Skyway bridge, one span of which was destroyed May 9 when it was hit by a ship, and $784 million to repair damage caused by the eruption of Mount St. Helens in Washington state nine days later.

During a day of closed-door meetings, the Ways and Means Committee on Wednesday approved the $4.2 billion package of tax changes and agreed to $2 billion in cuts in programs under its jurisdiction.

The bulk of the new tax money—$3.1 billion—would be raised through a revised version of President Carter's plan to speed up payments of estimated taxes by large corporations.

The panel, however, steered clear of Carter's more controversial plan to raise $3.4 billion by imposing withholding on savings interest and dividends.

The committee also refused to include Carter's hospital cost containment plan in its package of savings.

Centenarian Sues Kin For Ousting Her

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP)—A 105-year-old woman has sued her niece and nephew, claiming they hit her and threw her out of her own house.

Evarista Serrata, born in this border city in 1875, a year before Custer's last stand, filed a complaint Wednesday with Cameron County Justice of the Peace Alex Perez.

Leaning on her walking stick, Mrs. Serrata told Perez in Spanish she had been staying with another relative, almost two months since her niece and nephew slapped her and cut a hole out of her dress pocket to take her coin purse.

Perez said he will start proceedings to evict the niece, who moved in ostensibly for "a few days" but never left.

Luis Flores, a social service counselor, helped Mrs. Serrata to the court house. The widow had gone to police but was afraid to file a complaint and turned to Flores for assistance.

Dear Abby Active Life Possible For MS Sufferers

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to PREPARED FOR THE WORST, the woman with MS (multiple sclerosis) who was told by her doctor that eventually she would be paralyzed and confined to a wheelchair. How right you were to tell her not to accept her doctor's gloomy prognosis. She was debating whether to tell her 13-year-old about her disease in the hope that she might be more cooperative and understanding — yet she didn't want to frighten or upset her younger children.

I think all her children should be told. She should also contact her local MS society. Members will invite her to meetings, put her in touch with other MS victims and provide her with a lot of helpful information. PREPARED FOR THE WORST should also read "The Pursuit of Hope," an excellent and inspiring book by Miriam Ottenberg, a Pulitzer journalist, herself a person with MS.

I know firsthand about MS because I have it, too. My 8-year-old daughter and 11-year-old son were told what I have and how they can help. They are among my greatest assets. Without their help and my husband's constant assurance, I wouldn't be able to do the things I do today. I'm a substitute teacher, Brownie leader, team mom for my son's baseball team and active in my church and PTA.

I manage to keep my home going and keep up a moderately active social life. I realize that someday I could be paralyzed and in a wheelchair. But right now I am not, and I intend to use to the fullest everything I have. Every day I fight to keep my body on its feet and walking. It's a struggle, but it's well worth the effort when I see what I can still accomplish.

LAT HERMAN, OXNARD, CALIF.

DEAR PAT: Thank you for a wonderful letter. I received hundreds of letters from those with MS, and all were in complete agreement that no one should expect the worst and resign him/herself to a wheelchair. They also told me that telling the children and asking for their help bring the family closer together.

For those who want more information about MS, write to the National MS Society, 205 E. 42nd St., New York, N.Y. 10017.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I both work in jobs covered by Social Security. We have three young children. I know that if my husband becomes disabled or dies, the children would get monthly Social Security payments. Would the children be able to get any benefits if something happens to me?

ALICE

DEAR ALICE: You have the same rights and benefits under Social Security as your husband. If you become disabled or die after working long enough under Social Security, your children can get monthly Social Security checks until age 18 or 22 if they go to school full time and remain unmarried.

If you have a child disabled before 22, your disabled child would get monthly checks as long as the disability lasts.

DEAR ABBY: I chuckled over the letters from women with deep voices who were constantly called "sir" on the telephone.

My telephone voice is also misleading. Very often when I answer my telephone, the calling party will say, "May I please speak to your mother, honey?" This happened only yesterday, so I replied, "My mother is 78 years old, and I am 56. What can I do for you, honey?"

Joblessness Rate To Peak At 8 1/4 %

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor Secretary Ray Marshall has offered the highest unemployment prediction yet from a top Carter administration official, saying the nation's jobless rate may peak at 8 1/2 percent early in 1981.

The unemployment rate last month was 7.8 percent and officially, the administration has said that the rate would peak at 7.2 percent.

Marshall's prediction Wednesday of a rise in the figure was buttressed by statistics from the Labor Department. The figures show that initial claims for state unemployment insurance in the first week of June were 675,000, up 50,000 from the previous week.

The figures mean "unemployment will continue to rise," Marshall told a news conference. "I think it could get to 8 1/2 percent, maybe." He said he would be "terribly surprised" if the figure rose to 9 percent, the peak rate during the 1974-75 recession.

Marshall said he would be "very surprised" if Carter proposes an across-the-board tax cut next year to stimulate the economy.

Another Cabinet member, Treasury Secretary G. William Miller, said Wednesday that Carter "has made no decision yet on tax proposals which might be considered for implementation after 1980."

Dirty Sally Is Back At Home

BOSTON (AP)—Dirty Sally is no more.

The woman known as Dirty Sally who wandered aimlessly for years in New Orleans' French Quarter begging and sleeping in doorways is back today in her own, spic and span home as a South Boston housewife, surrounded by her husband and two children.

"This has been a miracle," said Evelyn Wilson, 53.

She flew from New Orleans on Tuesday night for an emotional reunion, seeing her kin for the first time since eight years ago when she wandered away from a state hospital for patients with mental problems.

"I'm overjoyed to see my family," she said on Wednesday. "I feel wonderful. I'm well for a change. I had forgotten who I was, entirely. I blocked things out. I heard voices. I became a character."

"But everything went perfectly. My children are happy. My husband is happy, and I'm happy."

"Those Rebels certainly came through," said her husband, Fred, 55, a welder for 20 years for the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, the Boston-area's mass transit service. "Those doctors did a great job in Louisiana. At heart, I'm a Confederate."

"She hasn't changed at all. A little older, a little heavier."

The reunion ended a search started when she wandered from Boston State Hospital in 1972 suffering from amnesia and eventually reached New Orleans.

Long-Separated Gatlins Re-Establish Contact

LYNNWOOD, Wash. (AP) - The Gatlin Brothers, a country-western singing trio, were receiving an award on TV when a Lynnwood woman first noticed a faint resemblance to her long-lost brother.

Sylvia Draheim telephoned the trio's father, William Wayne Gatlin, on Father's Day to ask if he was the brother she'd spent three decades searching for.

He tearfully responded he was.

The elder Gatlin said he is anxious to meet Mrs. Draheim and another sister, Ruby Helzer of Portland, Ore.

"I always felt like sometime, somewhere, one of my sisters would walk up to one of the boys and tell them who she was," Gatlin said Tuesday from his home in Odessa, Texas.

Mrs. Draheim says it was the sight of young Larry Gatlin on the television program that really started her wondering. "It was his curly hair and his eyes," Mrs. Draheim said. "He looked just like I recall my brother looking when I last saw him 33 years ago."

In 1943, Mrs. Draheim's mother died, leaving the 5-year-old child to live with her older sister, now Mrs. Helzer.

The sister had three daughters of her own, was separated from her husband and had a hard time rearing the children. They moved to pursue better employment, finally to Toledo, Ohio.

Gatlin lived with his father but the sisters lost track of "Curley."

"The last contact I had with him was when he sent me a Bible for a present on my ninth birthday," Mrs. Draheim said. She married Thomas Draheim and moved to Lynnwood, a north-Seattle suburb.

Their eldest daughter, Barbara Ann, 21, recently was married and carried the Gatlin Bible.

Mrs. Helzer resettled in Portland.

When Mrs. Draheim noted the Gatlin resemblance on television, she telephoned his sister, Mrs. Helzer, who went to search through Texas telephone books and finally found a W.W. Gatlin listed in Odessa.

A friend of Mrs. Draheim's, Anna Mesdag of Bothell, Wash., dialed the number Sunday.

She asked Gatlin if he had a sister named Ruby and a little sister Sylvia. When he responded affirmatively, Ms. Mesdag handed Mrs. Draheim the telephone.

When heard his sister's voice, he began to cry.

"It was what I had been praying for for many years," he said Tuesday, explaining he had searched 25 years for his sisters. The trail stopped cold in Toledo.

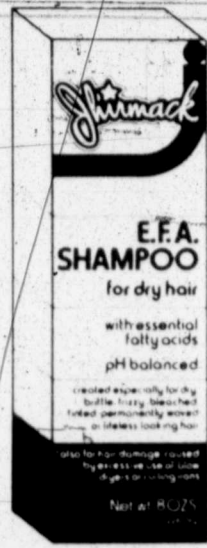

"I had taken their pictures and the pictures of my mother out of a cedar chest about a week before they called, so I could get them blown up and framed," Gatlin said. "The pictures were sitting here on my desk when I got the call on Father's Day. It just wiped me out."

After talking with Mrs. Draheim for an hour, Gatlin telephoned Mrs. Helzer. They have scheduled a reunion at his home in August.

"I might take Larry's plane and come up and see you any day," Gatlin told Mrs. Draheim Tuesday. "I don't think I can wait until August."

Stalemate Stalls Chrysler Corp.

By GUY DARST
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) - A group of small banks and the Chrysler Corp. are stalemated over a debt-restructuring plan, threatening to push the nation's No. 3 automaker into bankruptcy.

While Chrysler said several more banks have agreed to participate in the bailout plan, officials for two small Midwest banks say they do not see their positions changing.

The American National Bank & Trust Co. in Rockford, Ill., and the Peoples Trust Bank in Fort Wayne, Ind., are the only two banks to publicly acknowledge their opposition to the lengthy attempt to rescue Chrysler.

Under the plan to re-align the automaker's $4.4 billion debt and provide $1.5 billion in federally guaranteed loans, all of Chrysler's 400 lenders must agree to the proposal. If they do not, the company could be forced into bankruptcy or a new lender-aid pact might have to be negotiated.

Much of the attention in the dispute between Chrysler and the small U.S. banks is focused on American National Bank & Trust, because of its "hometown" status. The bank, which is owed $525,000 by the Chrysler Financial Corp., is located near one of Chrysler's largest plants, the Belvidere assembly plant. Nearly 150 Rockford-area firms supply the plant.

Three Chrysler executives visited Rockford Wednesday while the other holdouts were being pressured to fall into line.

A Chrysler spokesman said in Detroit "several" more banks agreed to join the bailout plan during the day, including a large Belgian bank. In Washington, the Chrysler Loan Guarantee Board postponed until Friday a meeting set to give final approval to $500 million in guaranteed notes, the second postponement this week.

Reagan's Record Is One Of Contrasting Themes

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - In part, Ronald Reagan is running on his record.

He likes to talk of his accomplishments as governor of California, a post he describes as "the second highest executive job in the country." He punctuates his basic stump speech with examples of his deeds in office from 1967 to 1975.

"We stopped the bureaucracy 'dead in its tracks,'" he says.

"We brought welfare under control.

"We balanced the budget, even created surpluses.

One piece of his campaign literature describes Reagan as "the greatest tax cutter in the state's history."

the state's spending on California's university system, while ridiculing hippies, protesters and liberal professors as underserving of such support.

He attacked the growth of government spending, but state outlays - fueled by a booming economy - doubled during his years in charge.

In short, his actions, like those of most any political officeholder, often differed from his rhetoric.

As president, Reagan's style would also probably be much like his years as governor. In Sacramento, Reagan stayed aloof from the details of government, delegating much authority to aides after setting the basic policy. In contrast to the long workday of President Carter, Reagan's White House schedule would more likely resemble Reagan's normal 9-to-5 gubernatorial workday.

Reagan did not appreciate lengthy, complex reports; if he is elected in November, the voluminous briefing papers favored by President Carter would likely be replaced by one-page decision memos, the sort Reagan regularly received from aides in Sacramento.

Once a decision is made, Reagan would cling to it stubbornly, refusing to deal with interest groups seeking a change in the policy.

He once vowed to "cut and squeeze and trim until every ounce of fat is removed" from state government, and in campaign speeches this year, Reagan regularly pledges to freeze federal hiring. He says he'd use the savings to cut taxes.

"I did it in California, and it worked," he says.

Reagan's hiring freeze in California was not a complete success, however.

In the first few days after taking the oath of office in 1967, he did freeze state hiring and order 10 percent spending cuts in state agencies. But a flood of exceptions made the freeze almost meaningless; in his first year as governor, the state work force grew by 4,273. By the end of Reagan's reign, the state work force increased by 45,000 workers, a 28 percent boost during a period in which the California population grew 10 percent.

The trend, at least, was downward. There was a 55 percent increase in the state bureaucracy during the administration of Reagan's predecessor, Gov. Edmund G. Brown, the current governor's father.

Reagan currently embraces a tax-cut and balanced budget strategy for the federal government, and says his experience in California proves both are possible. Again, his Sacramento record is mixed - he did bring the state's budget into balance, but he used tax increases to offset ever-higher spending.

Reagan signed the biggest tax increases in California's 130-year history and presided over an 123 percent increase in spending.

He signed legislation raising the sales tax from four to six cents per dollar, the bank and corporation tax from 5.5 percent to 9 percent, and the top bracket of the state personal income tax from 7 percent to 11 percent. He also raised cigarette taxes and extended the sales tax to gasoline.

Reagan inherited a state government which was running a deficit of close to $1 million daily and was about to exhaust its accumulated surplus. Within two months, he sought a billion-dollar tax hike instead.

Eight years later, Reagan left a balanced budget with a $564 million surplus. Along the way, Reagan refunded $5.7 billion to taxpayers. He created a homeowner's property tax relief program that grew to $668 million annually, or an average of $225 per home.

Reagan says he accomplished that turnaround by applying modern business practices to government and by adopting 1,600 cost-saving recommendations of unpaid task forces of citizens. After a flood of news stories pointing to large tax increases which created the surplus and made the rebates and refunds possible, Reagan added this line to his speech: "We raised taxes because we had to, but whenever we developed a surplus, we gave it back."

At least part of Reagan's flipflops on taxes and spending as governor can be traced to the economy. While he was governor from 1967 through 1974, both the state and the nation underwent massive economic shifts - from the end of the boom of the 1960s to the inflation and deep recession of the mid-1970s. Those economic changes forced shifts in the state budget - ballooning tax receipts one year and spending the next.

Some of Reagan's campaign recollections have become subject to debate and interpretation; some of them, in fact, are wrong. In any event, Reagan's eight-year Statehouse tenure may provide the best indication of what voters can expect if the Republican candidate is elected to the presidency.

Far from being a rigid ideologue, Reagan compiled a record of contrasting themes.

He greatly expanded the state's park system, but supported logging in a virgin forest that housed California's magnificent giant redwoods.

He raised welfare payments, but made it more difficult to qualify for them.

He railed against high taxes, but raised them more than any other governor in the state's history.

He more than doubled

Nursing Home Found Filthy

DALLAS (AP)—A court-ordered report on a North Dallas nursing home has revealed filthy conditions and at least one incident of patient abuse.

Robert Routh, temporary administrator of the 180-bed Theall Nursing Home, told District Judge Fred K. Harless that the facility had "problems so glaring that anyone with a nose could smell them or eyes could see them."

Harless appointed Routh temporary administrator on May 23, one day after the state attorney general's consumer protection division filed a civil suit against the home.

The suit against the home is set for a June 30 hearing.

In his Thursday report, Routh said he found "uniformly dirty" floors, a severe infestation of flies, roaches and rodents, dirty linens mixed with clean linens, and other filthy conditions.

"Walking down the hall, I found my eyes watering from the smell," Routh said. "I saw puddles of what was obviously urine in the patient rooms." The over-bed table bases were covered with feces, urine, food particles, etc. Bed rails likewise.

Routh said he discovered storerooms stacked to the ceiling with feces-covered bedpans and bedside commodes and so crammed with "additional equipment all dirty" that they couldn't be used as intended.

Routh said he had frozen admissions to the home because he was unable "to assure myself that people will get the proper care they deserve."

He said he had fired one employee "for slapping a patient repeatedly," and had encountered nurse's aides who could not speak English.

ERA Rejected Again By Illinois Lawmakers

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—After a day of feverish lobbying, including telephone calls from the White House, the Illinois House again rejected the Equal Rights Amendment. But ERA supporters say their battle for this state's ratification isn't over yet.

"We've determined people who are the kind of people who fold up our tents and go away," said Eleanor Smeal, president of the National Organization for Women, after a proposal to ratify the amendment fell five votes short of the 107 needed to pass the House.

The vote Wednesday was 102-71, three fewer than the ERA got in the last House vote in June 1978. It was also three votes short of the total supporters said they had when they canceled a planned House vote last month. The defeat was the seventh in Illinois since 1972 for the proposed amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

"My sense of it is we ought to keep trying until it passes, period," said Gov. James R. Thompson, who lobbied hard for the ERA.

"We can vote every day as far as I'm concerned," Phyllis Schlafly, head of Stop ERA, said. "I think it means they would not dare to bring it up again, because they were so far short of the number of votes they need."

However, Rep. James C. Taylor, an ERA sponsor, said he may call the amendment for a vote again before the legislature adjourns its spring session on June 30.

"I think we know exactly where we are at," said Taylor. "I think it's easier to work on five than on 107."

The House vote came after more than 1 1/2 hours of debate and a day of intense lobbying by pro-ERA forces. President Carter called two black lawmakers who had threatened to withhold their votes, both voted "yes" while Rosalynn Carter said she tried unsuccessfully to win over the vote of Rep. Gary Hanning.

She told a $250-a-plate ERA fund-raiser in Washington that Illinois' failure to ratify the proposed amendment was "the greatest disappointment I have had."

Sponsors said all day they had the votes to approve the ERA. But Rep. John Matijevich, a chief ERA sponsor, told reporters later, "I've been saying this all along, but not to you people, that the votes weren't certain."

Even if it had passed the House, the ERA would have faced a vote in the Senate, where it has been defeated four times since 1972.

The amendment to ban sex discrimination has been ratified by 35 of the needed 38 states. Five states have rescinded approval, but the validity of the action is in question.

Illinois, the only major Northern industrial state not to approve the ERA, was targeted for a major ratification drive this spring.

Congress Being Warned...

Prolonged Recession Could Stall SS Payments In 1983

By Christopher Connell
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) Trustees of the Social Security system warned Congress today that a prolonged recession could prevent the system from paying benefits on time in 1983.

In their annual report, the trustees said that under adverse economic conditions, the system still might need more revenues in three years even with the Carter administration's proposal to allow borrowing among the three trust funds - Old Age and Survivors Insurance and Hospital Insurance (Medicare).

Without borrowing, the trustees said, Old Age and Survivors Insurance - the biggest trust fund - will be unable to pay benefits by late 1981 or early 1982.

The report outlined three possible economic scenarios.

The most pessimistic view foresees declines in the real Gross National Product of 1.7 percent in 1980 and 1 percent in 1981, before the GNP increases again. It also figures inflation rates no lower than 9.8 percent until 1985 and unemployment between 7 percent and 9.1 percent.

With that projection, "beginning in 1983, the three combined funds would be unable to pay benefits when due," the report said. "Thus, under adverse conditions, inter-fund borrowing only would postpone but not eliminate the need for additional income."

Under the other two economic scenarios, the trustees said commingling of funds would allow the system to escape its financial crisis.

The trustees - Treasury Secretary G. William Miller, Labor Secretary Ray Marshall and Secretary of Health and Human Services Patricia Roberts Harris - did not make specific proposals for raising revenues. They did, however, repeat previous advice that the big payroll tax increase scheduled for 1981 should not be reduced.

The report cautioned that all projections "contain some uncertainty because they depend on economic and demographic factors, including birth and death rates, that are subject to change.

In their report last year, the trustees also said a recession could jeopardize the system's ability to pay retirement benefits on time beginning in 1983. But they described it then as simply a monthly cash-flow problem - not enough in the till at the start of each month to send out the checks - and they said commingling the three trust funds probably would tide the system over during such crunches.

The $128.4 billion Social Security program sent monthly benefit checks to 35 million Americans and collected taxes from 114 million workers and employers in 1979.

Says Exxon President...

Synfuels Could Triple Lifespan Of Reserves

HOUSTON (AP) - The president of Exxon Co. USA says domestic coal and oil shale reserves are sufficient to sustain a new synthetic fuels industry producing 15 million barrels a day for 175 years.

"Known recoverable reserves of coal and oil shale, even after deducting coal to be used conventionally and the energy to be consumed in processing, are capable of providing synthetic fuels equivalent to one trillion barrels of oil," Randall Meyer said.

"That's three times as much energy as the U. S. Geological Survey estimates can be provided by the country's remaining proved and undiscovered reserves of oil and gas."

Meyer briefed newsmen Wednesday on an Exxon study of the potential for a synthetic fuels industry for the aiding in the nation's long period of transition from dependency on oil and gas to substantial reliance on renewable and nondepleting sources of energy.

He said demand for synthetic fuels from oil shale and coal is likely to reach 15 million barrels a day by the year 2010. There are no limitations from technical and economic viewpoints, he said, but the cost will be something like $780 to $800 billion dollars.

Emphasizing he was not talking about an Exxon plan, project or proposal, Meyer said the new industry will require many companies, large and small, and demand collaboration by government, industry, labor and the public.

"Development on a timeable consistent with national security and economic needs will require cooperation of a degree that may be unprecedented in peacetime," he said.

Meyer said the study indicates a potential 2010 production of eight million barrels a day of synthetics from oil shale and seven million from coal.

"Over the span of 30 years or more, the new industry would directly increase the nation's total number of jobs, over current levels, by 60 percent in mining, 55 percent in the applicable design engineering specialties," he said.

Backed by R.P. Larkins, manager of Exxon's new synthetics department, Meyer rejected published report Exxon alone has an $800 million synthetics program that includes about $500 billion for 150 oil shale plants in just two Colorado counties.

"That report involved an industry type plan that somehow got an Exxon label placed on it," Larkins said.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Alcohol & liver woes

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - The doctor says that my husband has some liver damage. Is this cirrhosis of the liver? He took some blood tests that evidently showed the damage. My husband feels OK and if it were not for the blood tests you wouldn't know there was anything wrong.

The doctor left him on a regular diet but told him to be sure to get plenty of protein and to go light on the salt. He suggested that he take vitamins every day. He also told Bud not to drink any alcohol, not even one beer. Does that mean the liver damage was caused by alcohol?

I'm confused about that because Bud has never been a heavy drinker. He drinks an occasional cocktail but mostly a can of beer in the evening or several on the week ends.

If you eat a good diet regularly won't that keep you from damaging the liver with alcohol? Just what is the outlook for him? Will he develop symptoms from his liver damage and if so, what?

DEAR READER - Evidently your husband is one of those people who have blood tests indicative of abnormal liver function even though he has no symptoms. Liver disease can be insidious and may cause only mild fatigue. Of course, there are many other things that cause fatigue as well.

Those blood tests are very sensitive and often don't mean there is extensive damage. If your doctor had suspected more serious disease, he would probably have asked for other tests including a biopsy of the liver to look at it under the microscope. He probably will repeat the tests and if they stay mildly abnormal or return to normal, he may decide to do nothing else about it.

If your husband does develop more serious liver disease, he may have digestive complaints, particularly indigestion. Or he could even develop some mild jaundice. There are a number of physical signs that people with liver disease may develop.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-8, Living with Your Liver, to give you more information on what the liver does and what changes occur when it is not functioning properly. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I doubt your husband has cirrhosis of the liver. That usually occurs after a relatively long period of disease. It is simply replacement of liver tissue with scar tissue. Cirrhosis can be caused by many different liver diseases, including inflammation of the small bile ducts inside the liver, as a complication of long-standing heart failure or as a complication of viral hepatitis and various toxins, including alcohol.

The fact that your doctor asked your husband not to use alcohol does not mean that he thinks alcohol caused his problem. Alcohol is a direct toxin to the liver cells. If the liver is damaged for any reason, alcohol should not be used. The liver normally metabolizes alcohol. Eating a good diet is helpful when the liver is being insulted with alcohol. Protein but nutrition cannot prevent all the toxic effects of alcohol.

Incidentally, cirrhosis of the liver is the fourth most common cause of death in American men between the ages of 35 and 54. Sixty percent of these are caused from the excess use of alcohol.

Mexican Miner Goes On Strike To Break Cycle

REAL DE MONTE, Mexico (AP) - For five generations, members of Venancio Rosales Estrada's family have crawled through tunnels digging out gold and silver from one of Mexico's richest mines.

But he is now leading a strike against the 450-year-old mine because his $4.80 daily salary is not enough to break the "vicious cycle" he says will force his children into the mines.

"My grandfather and his grandfather suffered in this mine and things are not much different now," said the 36-year-old miner, his raspy voice broken by coughs caused by 20 years in the dust-filled mine. "The work here is the same as our ancestors," said another miner. "Workers die from the gases and we still run through the tunnels like rats."

Rosales said, "I don't even have money to buy clothes. I don't want my children to work in the mines, but to get good jobs you need a high school education. That costs money ... money that I don't have. The only legacy I can leave is what my father left me: to become a miner."

The Miners and Metallurgical Workers Union went on strike at the government-owned mine May 12. They are demanding a 50-percent salary increase, a social security program and better working conditions. Some workers have agreed to accept the state corporation's offer of 20 percent plus benefits, but a majority are still holding out.

Real de Monte was founded in the 1540s by Spanish conquistadors. The mine's nearly 2,500 miles of tunnels, which would nearly stretch from New York to San Francisco, once made it the world's largest silver mine. It still produces 1,100 pounds of gold and 80 tons of silver annually, making it about the fourth largest mine in Mexico.

Enrique Ibarra, the director of the company, said the workers deserve more money, but not as much as they are asking.

He also said the $4.80 a day can be stretched by an incentive program with bonus payments.

Union Secretary General Napoleon Gomez Sada said that Real de Monte's pay scale is lower than any other major mine in Mexico including Penoles near Guanajuato, which is the world's largest producing silver mine and where wages average $12 a day.

"We are just asking for a just salary," said Jesus Madrid, a 38-year-old miner standing on a picket line. "We are the producers. We sustain all those people making thousands of pesos a week who sit at desks, sign checks and drink coffee while we go down 1500 feet, eat dust and breath venomous gases."

The workers also said they would have to be "supermen" to qualify for bonuses in the company's incentive program. Rosales, who used to be a driller, said "Sure the company says you can earn $675 a month by getting the bonus of 100 pesos ($4.38) for every meter over 20 meters a day. You would have to work 16 hours a day, and that doesn't take into account the heat, the noise and the cramped space."

The miners claim the company is not concerned about the workers' health. They say the mine should be ventilated for six hours after an eight-hour shift, but claim the company works two eight-hour shifts before ventilation. They also claim the six company-supplied doctors for the 4,500 workers often prescribe medicine without an examination.

Ibarra said, "We think it is one of the hardest jobs a man can have. But the workers want more money for less work."

Ibarra did not discuss company profits but at current world prices the mine would produce nearly $50 million dollars of the precious metals each year.

"Business is going up. Prices of gold and silver are high. We are taking it out of the ground and getting paid with paper scraps that don't mean anything anymore," said Madrid.

Astros Blank Cardinals, 3-0

HOUSTON (AP) - Fellow members of the Houston Astros' potent pitching staff will apparently have to pick on someone other than Joe Niekro.

At least I no longer have the highest ERA on the team," quipped the veteran knuckleballer after Wednesday night's six-hit, 3-0 shutout against the St. Louis Cardinals.

The performance dropped Niekro's earned run average to 3.34 and lowered the team's remarkable ERA to 2.61 as he silenced the sweet swinging Cardinals. Niekro, who had five strikeouts and issued only one walk, is now 7-5.

Enroute to his second shutout of the season, Niekro ended a 12-game hitting streak for Garry Templeton, who leads the National League in hits, and extended the Astros' current home win streak to a club record tying 11 games.

Admittedly "more comfortable pitching in the Astrodome because this team was made for the Astrodome," Niekro surprisingly threw mostly fast balls in the late innings to complete the job after starting off with 3 2-3 perfect innings before Keith Hernandez lined a sharp single to center for the Cards' first hit.

"The Cardinals are a good hitting team," Niekro acknowledged. "They make contact and strike out very little. I was getting them out on fast balls and curves and threw only one knuckleball in the ninth."

Appreciative of Niekro's performance, Manager

Bill Virdon said, "He pitched well, when he had to."

Catcher Luis Pujols agreed, adding, "He had great control and threw strikes. You have to challenge the hard-hitting clubs like the Cincinnati Reds, Pittsburgh and the Cards."

Niekro even contributed offensively, pushing across the Astros' final run as he grounded into a double play in the fourth.

The hitting was evenly distributed among seven different players with a single by Enos Cabell driving in a run in the first and the second. Cabell also scored on Cesar Cedeño's ground out in the third as the Astros collected two of their seven hits in each of three of the first four innings.

Texas Defeats Milwaukee...

Surprise Homer Lifts Rangers

ARLINGTON (AP) - Bud Harrelson never saw it. But that's not so unusual. He's never seen any of his seven homers in 14 years of major league baseball.

Harrelson smashed a ball to leftfield in the sixth inning of Texas' 8-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers Wednesday night then dashed around the bases like he was trying to stretch a single into a double.

Much to the shock of Harrelson, his teammates, and the Brewers, including the amazed pitcher, Jerry Augustine, the ball went over the fence. It was Harrelson's first home run since 1977 and only the sixth in his career that has cleared a fence.

"I've never seen one of my homers," said Harrelson. "I was digging like crazy for second base. I don't like to take any chances. There were some shocked looks on faces as I circled the bases."

Harrelson was greeted by silence in the Ranger dugout. Al Oliver, who hit a three-run homer, was lying flat on his back. "I flat passed out," said Oliver.

Harrelson walked to his locker on a carpet of towels after the game.

"Good Lord, everybody in the league is going to start going for home runs now," kidded pitcher Gaylord Perry.

Harrelson said "It was a weird feeling. I'm kinda excited."

Asked what kind of pitch he hit, Harrelson quipped "A knuckleball. No, it was a fast ball up in my wheelhouse."

The 36-year-old Harrelson said "My wife is going to be here tomorrow night. I wish she could have seen it. Now, she is going to have to wait another 10 years."

Harrelson said the last homer he hit was off of Jim Kaat of Philadelphia. "I used to remember 'em all," said Harrelson. "The first one I hit was an inside park deal off Juan Pizarro at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh. It just kind of rolled along the fence. Nobody could catch it."

Doc Medich scattered six hits, allowing only a solo homer by Ben Oglivie in the seventh inning as he earned his seventh victory in 10 decisions.

'Welters' Ready To Stage Bout

MONTREAL (AP) - It's the calm before the storm for Sugar Ray Leonard and Roberto Duran. But the calm is not necessarily an easy one.

The physical preparation is finished and it's a time of edginess for the fighters, a time to think about their high-anticipated showdown for Leonard's World Boxing Council welterweight championship defense Friday night at Olympic Stadium.

"I just want to get in there and get it over with," said Leonard.

"Leonard, two more days. Remember," snarled

Duran Wednesday when the fighters showed up at the Place de Jardins to sign some required documents and to be unofficially weighed.

"We worked harder for Benitez (Leonard won the title by stopping Wilfred Benitez in the 15th round last Nov. 30) because that was his first fight at 15 rounds," said Dave Jacobs, a Leonard trainer.

"For this fight we've worked longer."

"He trained as hard for Buchanan but you got to remember that for Buchanan he didn't know anything," said Freddie Brown, a Duran trainer. A 21-year-old Duran won the world lightweight championship stopping Ken Buchanan in the 13th round June 26, 1972.

Nicklaus Going For Canadian

ILE BIZARD, Quebec (AP) - Jack Nicklaus' record-setting victory in the United States Open presented a turning point in his incomparable career.

There had been speculation - Nicklaus had talked of it - that continued frustration built up by a two-year non-winning string could force him into retirement.

That all changed, he said, with his dramatic triumph last weekend at Baltusrol.

"It gave me confidence that I can go on and play well for several years to come," the 40-year-old Nicklaus said before teeing off today in the first round of the $350,000 Canadian Open, one of the few events remaining on his schedule this year.

"Winning any major tournament is important," said Nicklaus, who has built his golfing life around the world's four major tests of golfing greatness: the U. S. and British Opens, the PGA

Lawler Gets UT&EP Post

EL PASO (AP) - The University of Texas at El Paso has named Jim Lawler, 29, head baseball coach, the school's athletic director announced Wednesday.

Athletic Director Jim Bowden said Lawler's appointment becomes effective June 23. Lawler replaces Larry McFarlin, who resigned in May after two years with the Miners.

Lawler coached for the past two years at Gonzaga University in Spokane, Wash., where he posted a 39-15 overall 1980 record and finished second in the Far West Regional of the NCAA baseball playoffs.

Molitor Getting Share Of Votes

NEW YORK (AP) - Paul Molitor, the top hitter in the major leagues, has taken over the lead among second basemen in the American League All-Star voting.

The voting, announced Wednesday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office, showed Milwaukee's Molitor, currently hitting .358, holding a lead of almost 34,000 votes over California's Bobby Grich, the starting second baseman in the 1975 All-Star game.

The only infield position where the voting is close also involves a Brewer, shortstop Robin Yount. Yount is trailing Bucky Dent of the New York Yankees by just 24,000 votes in the closest race at any position.

California first baseman Rod Carew leads all the American League vote-getters as his total approaches the 1,000,000 mark. Carew, with 979,538 votes is well ahead of Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, who has 521,570 votes.

The third base spot belongs to Kansas City's George Brett who holds a comfortable lead of more than 380,000 over Craig Nettles of the Yankees.

The catching chores will probably wind up in the hands of Carlton Fisk of Boston. Fisk has received 828,969 votes to 672,579 for runnerup Jim Sundberg of Texas.

The outfield voting remains the same as last week's. Fred Lynn of Boston, 804,390 votes, his teammate Jim Rice, 649,422, and Reggie Jackson of New York, 638,159 are the top three with California's Don Baylor in fourth place almost 200,000 votes behind.

The balloting, sponsored by Gillette, will continue June 25.

Pokes Sign Two More

DALLAS (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys signed two more draft choices Wednesday, to bring their 1980 draft picks under contract to eight.

Three Cowboy draft picks still are without contracts.

Eighth-round choice Larry Savage of Michigan State, 6-2, 213-pounds, was signed to a series of one-year contracts. Gil Brandt, director of player personnel, said Savage was an outside linebacker prospect.

Norm Wells, a 6-5, 249-pound defensive tackle from Northwester, was also signed to one-year contracts. Wells was a 12th-round pick in the draft.

Sideline Glances... Fights Grow Bigger Still

By BILL MCCLELLAN

I SUPPOSE today's sports page should include something about the Sugar Ray Leonard-Roberto Duran fight. I've held off because frankly, it galls me to plug something only a handful of people can see.

Remember Friday night fights? Came on every week. I can recall when you didn't have football windows - they were boxing windows. Watching the fights on Friday nights was the big thing.

Finally the fans began to lose interest in boxing and only an occasional heavyweight fight would be shown. Then came Ali - so they say - and boxing became popular again.

Of course riding herd over the new wave of boxers and the new popularity were a group of promoters. Their job was and is to see how much money they can make from a fight.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S Leonard-Duran WBC welterweight championship bout, held in the Olympic Stadium at Montreal, is to be one of those closed-circuit TV things. You see, it's gotten too big for prime time television. How big is it?

BOB ARUM, who with Don King is co-promoting the closed telecast, says, "No way Leonard is going to make less than $10 million. In my heart I think he could make $10 million."

Frankly, I didn't know there was a heck of a lot of difference. But it does show where Arum's heart is, doesn't it?

It's hard to believe that Leonard - so carefully cultivated by ABC from four years back at the Montreal Olympics - has gotten too big for television. But the big bucks aren't to be found in prime time TV anymore. They've moved.

"THIS IS the beginning of a revolution in boxing and television because it means we are moving closer to the day when almost all boxing will be seen, not on network television, but on pay cable," Arum said.

"We have seen the last of the big fights on network television. The networks know they have only two years left in boxing."

And he added, "As pay TV grows, we will get to the point, say, where 500,000 subscribers might be willing to pay $3 to see a fight that the networks wouldn't want because it couldn't command a 30 percent share of the audience on commercial television."

AND AS Fred Rothenberg, a sports analyst for Associated Press notes, "King and Arum, of course, will take their business wherever the money is the greenest. It's uncertain, however, how much interest there would be on pay TV for less marketable fights."

Actually, Friday's fight will be shown as a taped broadcast by ABC. Would you believe July 19? Twenty-nine days after the fight actually occurs. And I understand ABC had to pay a mint for those rights!

I'VE NEVER been what you'd call a conservative, and I realize all things must change. I just wish more things would change for the good of the people instead of the designers.

No doubt pay-for-play TV is the coming thing, and boxing may do well in it. But in these times - with everything going up in price and little relief in sight - I have to wonder if boxing is pricing itself out of the market altogether.

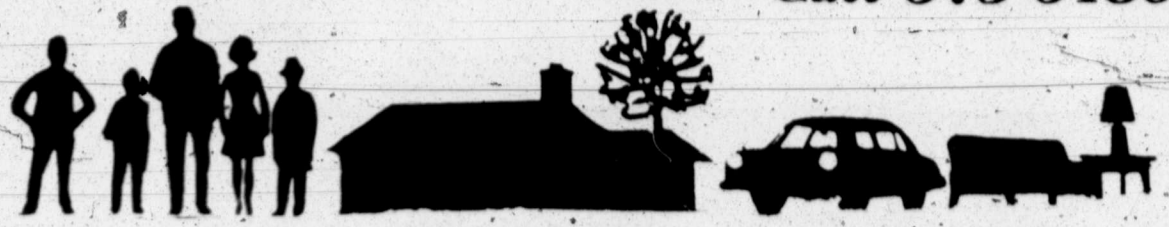

It wouldn't be the first time boxing took a 10-count, but this time it looks like a few folks plan to go down smiling - and very rich.

Texas GOP To Go Along With Reagan

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas Republicans, a vital factor in the upcoming general election because of the 26 electoral votes, apparently will go along with Ronald Reagan in their platform recommendations.

The state Resolutions Committee heard testimony Wednesday from spokesmen for an anti-abortion plank and the use of nuclear power and against the Equal Rights Amendment.

Later they were to listen to representatives of the Texas Farm Bureau, the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, the League of United Latin American Citizens, and spokesmen on Cuban immigration and the right to work law. The committee made it rather clear Wednesday that it would support an anti-abortion plank and showed a desire to support the use of more nuclear energy.

Cecilia McDonald of Houston, representing the Texas Right To Life organization, told the committee, "we need a resolution to the Republican platform to protect the life of those unborn children. We need to call for a constitutional amendment. We must have some law that will include the unborn child as a person, not as a thing."

Ray Balch of Houston, a teacher of government, asked the committee to scrap the anti-abortion plank because it could be "political suicide and also abortion is a moral question, not a political one."

He said, "The Right To Life people could care less if the Republicans win the election. They just want to get a major party to endorse their stand. Our party should take no stand on an issue backed by a special interest group that represents a minority of Americans."

Then Balch came under sharp questioning from several committee members, especially Dr. Steven Hotze of Austin.

He said several congressional races have been won by Republicans on the abortion issue and that some liberal Democrats are in danger this year because of their stand for abortion."

Two other committee members said Reagan had won several primaries because of his support of the right-to-life issue.

John Gordon, a consulting engineer from Round Rock, Texas, requested a plank endorsing the use of nuclear power.

Gordon said a recent study showed "a little bit more radiation than normally received may be helpful and that is something the press never mentions."

"The disposal problem is solved. The engineers have gone as far as they can, now it is up to the politicians."

Kennedy Fans Hope To Retain Some Say At State Convention

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—President Jimmy Carter's supporters outnumber those of Sen. Edward Kennedy at the State Democratic Convention but Kennedy forces hope to retain some say in party affairs.

The state convention with its 3,900 delegates and almost as many alternates formally opens Friday and continues Saturday.

However, pre-convention activities began today with a meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee set for 5 p.m.

The major duty of the committee meeting is to canvass votes cast in the June 7 Democratic runoff primary.

Possible changes in state party rules may be discussed.

Nationwide, Kennedy's backers are urging a change in party rules to release national convention delegates from any pledges made to presidential candidates at state conventions.

"I am firm on this," said State Democratic Chairman Billy Goldberg, Houston, an avowed Carter supporter. "I don't think we should do any tampering with party rules for the 1980 convention. I think it would be destructive and disastrous to throw out the decisions already made in the primaries."

Other sources predicted Kennedy supporters in Texas would try to offer the "open convention" rule change.

According to reports from county conventions, there will be 2,462 local supporters of Carter at the state convention, plus 770 for Kennedy and 621 uncommitted.

The way delegates sign in at the 31 state senatorial district caucuses Friday night will determine exactly the division of delegates between Carter and Kennedy. Both sides hope to win over some of the uncommitted delegates.

Another duty of the state convention is to choose four men and four women for the Democratic National Committee, one more than the state has now.

A final action of the San Antonio convention will be a meeting of the 152 national convention delegates to choose a delegation chairman for the New York convention. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, former Attorney General John Hill and Goldberg all are in the running.

Behind-the-scenes action will include campaigning for a new State Democratic chairman to be named at the September state convention. Bob Slagle of Sherman, a backer of former Gov. Dolph Briscoe, and Rep. Luther Jones, D-El Paso, a backer of Hill in 1978, are considered top runners.

Pair Sought In Houston Death

HOUSTON (AP)—Police are searching for two men involved in the shooting death of a 26-year-old electrician after the victim apparently argued with the suspects over a traffic incident.

Police say Steven Scott was shot in the left eye after trying to pass two men in a van late Tuesday night. Scott's wife, who was in the car with her husband, said the van was weaving across the road.

Scott apparently pulled up next to the suspects and told them to pull over when a passenger in the van pulled a .22-caliber pistol and shot Scott.

Mrs. Scott and her 19-month-old son were not injured.
