

Missile Plan Wins Backing Of Italians

ROME (AP)—President Carter today won a reiteration of Italy's support for deploying middle-range American nuclear weapons in Europe—a plan that threatens to pit the United States against West Germany.

Carter, who will discuss the subject with Chancellor Helmut Schmidt of West Germany in Venice on Sunday, issued a joint statement with Italian Prime Minister Francesco Cossiga—restating Italy's "active support" for deploying the powerful missiles designed to offset Soviet nuclear superiority in Europe.

While American officials earlier had expressed concern that Schmidt might propose a freeze on the missile deployment, Secretary of State Edmund

S. Muskie said Thursday he expected Carter and Schmidt to find common ground in their talks now set to precede the seven-nation economic summit that brings both men to Italy.

The Carter-Cossiga statement expressed the two leaders' agreement on several issues, ranging from Afghanistan to the Middle East.

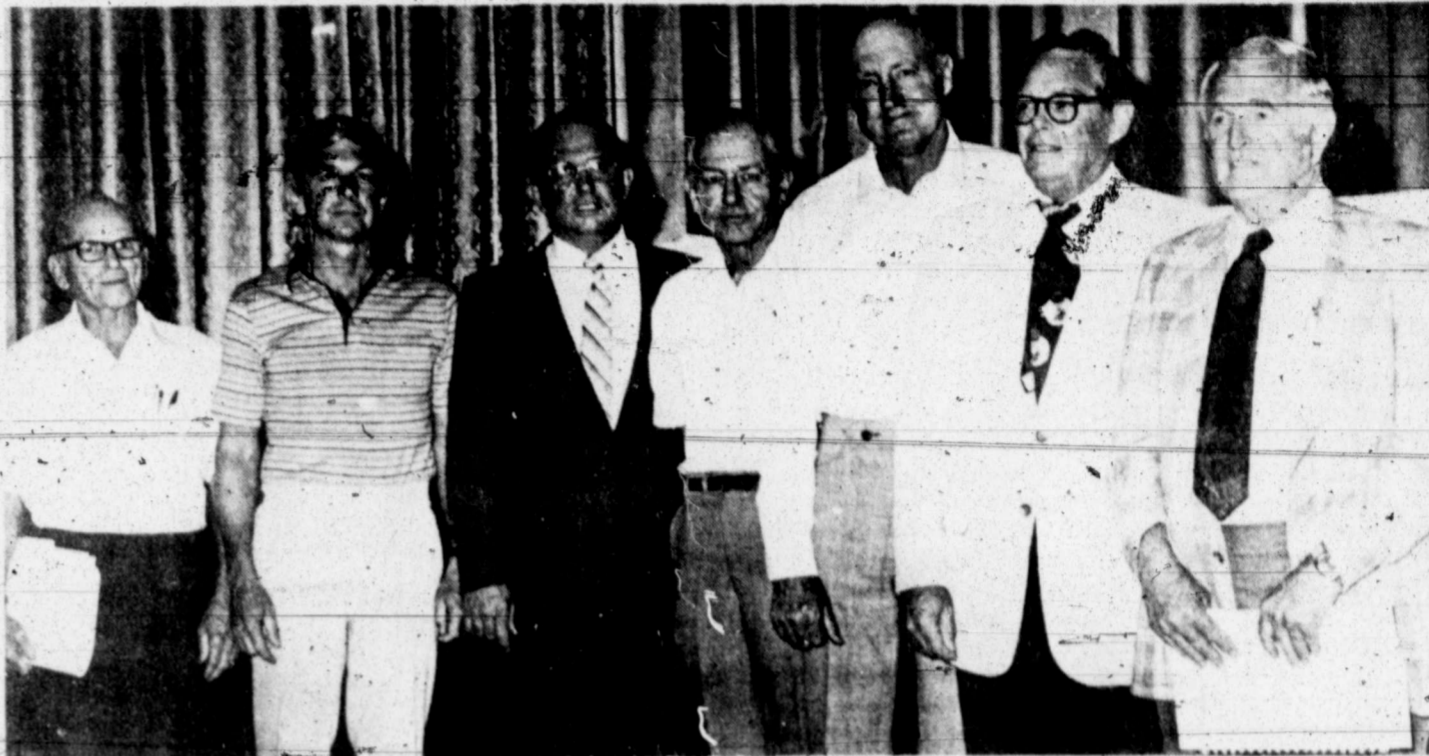

"The international situation created by the Soviet Union's armed intervention and continuing occupation of Afghanistan was examined in depth," the statement said. "It was agreed that this Soviet action, taken in flagrant violation of the United Nations Charter, constitutes a threat to peace, poses a grave challenge to the West and to its interests in Southwest Asia and the Persian Gulf, and that it has created a serious obstacle to the continuation of Keeping tab on our neighbors.

The SDN Column

A couple of weeks ago we noted in this column that the Hereford Brand had reported a lively meeting there concerning a proposal to "pair" its elementary schools. "Pairing" involves mingling students of different attendance zones as a method of making more efficient use of personnel and it also can be an effective tool to put a school district in compliance with racial balances in its classrooms.

We were interested in the Hereford report on this subject because Snyder had a similar situation in the spring of 1979. The only difference was that Hereford had only one public meeting, while Snyder had three such meetings for the public to comment on the proposal. As the Snyder people did, those in Hereford expressed opposition to it, and, according to the Brand's report, some of them were angry.

The final chapter was written on the night of June 10, and since we relayed the report on the public meeting, we feel duty bound to report the ultimate decision.

So, here it is: On June 10, the Hereford School Board voted 5-2 to adopt the pairing plan for its elementary schools.

To my son—Equity on my car; now he'll have to go to work to meet the payments.

To the banker—My soul; he's got the mortgage on it anyway.

To my neighbor—My clown suit; he'll need it if he continues to farm as he has in the past.

To the SCS people—My farm plan; maybe they can understand it.

To the junk man—My machinery; he's had his eye on it for years.

To my undertaker—A special request; six implement and fertilizer dealers for pallbearers, please—they're used to carrying me.

To the weatherman—Rain, sleet and snow for the funeral, please; no sense in having nice weather now.

To the grave digger—Don't bother; the hole I'm in should be big enough.

And last, to the monument maker—Set up a jig for the epitaph. "Here lies a farmer who has now properly assumed all his obligations."

Asks For Speedy Trial...

Clayton Pleads Innocent Today

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton pleaded innocent and asked for a speedy trial on indictments from a federal grand jury investigation of alleged insurance kickback schemes.

Also appearing for arraignment before U.S. Magistrate Frank Waltermire were Houston labor leader L.G. Moore and two Austin attorneys, Randall Wood and Donald W. Ray.

All joined Clayton in pleading innocent. The U.S. attorney's office filed two motions, one asking that tape recordings made of conversations involving the defendants and FBI informant Joseph Hauser be made available to defense attorneys but that none of the information on the tapes be released to the news media.

Mike Ramsey, Moore's attorney, said he did not expect the case to go to trial within the 70 days required by the federal speedy trial act.

"I'll be shocked and amazed if it does," Ramsey said.

After the hearing attorneys were asked to meet with the magistrate in closed chambers.

The indictments, handed down by a federal grand jury recently, were the first to come from the FBI undercover investigation of alleged insurance kickback schemes, a probe code-named Brilab.

Brilab spread from the Louisiana underworld to the Texas legislature and involved Speaker Billy Clayton, once one of the most powerful political figures in Texas, a man who is a Baptist deacon and who became a rich man by building the family farm into a highly productive operation and by investing in banks.

Scheduled to appear with him for arraignment are L.G. Moore, a Texas labor leader, and two Austin attorneys, Randall D. Wood and Donald W. Ray. Clayton's attorneys are expected to ask for a speedy trial.

The speaker, who once said he would withdraw from the race for re-election to the powerful post if convicted, wants to get the legal matters settled before it is too late to make his bid for an unprecedented four consecutive terms as head of the House.

Mishap Kills '80 Snyder High Grad

Thomas Waylen Holder Jr., 19, a 1980 graduate of Snyder High School, was killed Thursday in a two-vehicle collision on a caliche road about 20 miles southeast of Colorado City.

He was pronounced dead at the scene by Mary Lee Moore, justice of the peace, after the pickup truck he was driving was in collision with a larger truck driven by Jerry Rhone of Clyde.

Rosary will be said at 7:30 p.m. this evening in the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel, and funeral rites are set for 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church. Fr. James Coleman will officiate and burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Waylen Holder Sr., 4505 Denison; two sisters,

THOMAS HOLDER

Grace Anne and Michelle Holder, both of the home, and a grandmother, Mrs. C.O. Holdef of Snyder.

Pallbearers will be Bryan Hargrove, Tim Holder, Joe Beuerlein, Mike Hammack, Stan Talbott and Tommy Peek.

West Texas Fries Under Heat Wave

FORT WORTH (AP)—Temperatures in North and West Texas consistently have been rising over the 100 degree mark and summer hasn't even arrived.

Weather forecasters attribute the heat wave to a reticent mass of hot air that has settled in for the duration—similar to conditions in July 1978, when North Texas temperatures hit at least 100 for 18 days straight.

During that period, at least two dozen persons died of heat-related causes in the Dallas-Fort Worth area alone.

Dallas-Fort Worth already has experienced eight days in a row of 100-plus degree weather.

Forecaster Dick Elder of the National Weather Service office in Fort Worth said a cold front has been trying to break through the hot air for several days but has not made it south of the Red River.

"It is a summertime weather pattern. It just formed earlier than usual," Elder said.

Elder said only a disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico could break the heat.

"We can get easterly waves and tropical depressions coming up from the Gulf and the cloud cover can drop temperatures as much as 10 degrees," he said.

Parts of West Texas were also broiling in record heat. El Paso meteorologist John Chambers said high temperatures there have been 100 or higher for the past ten days, including eight days when the record was equaled or broken.

Summer is scheduled to arrive Saturday, however, so at least the heat will be legal.

UPS TRUCK FLIPS—Frank Gonzales, 28, of Abilene sustained what were thought to be minor injuries when the United Parcel Service truck he was driving Thursday overturned. The mishap occurred about 4:15 p.m. one-and-a-half miles south of Ira on Texas Highway 350. Wrecker driver, C.E. "Shot" Allen and helper are shown preparing the truck for towing. Highway patrolman, Pat Alexander, investigated the accident. (SDN Staff Photo)

Royalty Owners Elect Board, Map Strategy

Directors and officers of the West Texas Land and Royalty Owners Association were installed last night and the windfall profits tax was taken to task.

The meeting, held at the Scurry County Coliseum, was attended by about 75 persons. Although a few came from the Panhandle area or Austin, most were from Scurry County.

Installed as directors for the association were J.C. Williamson, Lee Smyth, Jimmie Joe Key, Edwin Parks, Tommie Mills, Billy McCormick, Prentis Bass, Ted Crenwelge, and Brud Boren. In addition to their offices as directors, McCormick was named president of the association, Mills the vice president, Smyth the secretary, and Boren the treasurer.

Although there were no speeches at the gathering last night, McCormick read from a prepared statement setting forth the aims and goals of the association.

"One of the objectives of the association," said McCormick, "is to work for an exemption for royalty income to the extent of 10 barrels of oil per day."

Two more objectives of the association are to campaign for the passage of Senate Bill 2521, introduced by Sen. Robert Dole, and House Bill HR7211, introduced by Texas' Charles Stenholm.

The passage of the two bills, McCormick said, will eliminate what he called an inequitable bias against royalty owners, plus provide an incentive for land-owning royalty owners to release unexplored property for new oil development.

"Senate Bill 2521 and House Bill HR7211," said McCormick, "will remedy a major weakness in the Windfall Profit Tax Act. They will eliminate the existing penalties imposed on small and retired royalty owners without altering the apparent intent of the Congress, to include large royalty owners under the windfall profit tax."

According to figures compiled through the association with the help of Anaron Corp., a computer service, approximately 50 percent of all royalty recipients are 65 years of age or older. Because many of them live on a fixed income, McCormick said they are often the most affected by the wind-

Refugees' Parole Extended

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Carter administration said today it will grant a six-month extension of parole to the 130,000 Cubans and Haitians who entered the United States this spring.

The administration will also submit special legislation to Congress "as soon as possible" to govern the eventual normalization of the refugees' status, the State Department announced.

In the meantime, the department said, the United States will continue to prohibit boats from coming into the United States with more undocumented aliens.

Step Toward Synthetic Fuel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven years after the Arab oil embargo, the United States has taken the first big step toward energy independence, say supporters of a massive energy bill now heading for final congressional approval.

The measure, which includes a $20 billion program to launch a domestic synthetic fuels industry as an alternative to imported oil, was approved on a 78-12 vote Thursday in the Senate. It now goes to the House, where quick passage also is expected.

Snyder Set For Big Trades Day

The stage is set for a big Trades Day event Saturday in Snyder.

Area residents have been invited to bring in any items they may wish to sell or trade and set up shop in temporary locations in town.

The parking areas on the courthouse property will be available for this purpose downtown, as well as sidewalk space in front of offices that are regularly closed on Saturdays.

There also will be space in shopping centers. Any items available, ranging from farm produce to machinery, etc., may be offered by those participating.

At the same time, Snyder merchants will be offering a big range of merchandise at special sale prices, with displays to be set up on the sidewalks in front of the stores, as well as in the stores themselves.

The Trades Day is the second such event to be held here. The first Trades Day last year attracted widespread participation and indications are that the community is looking forward to another successful event.

The special day is sponsored by the merchants committee of the chamber of commerce, headed by Howard Limmer.

Use of the parking areas at the courthouse and the other available space on sidewalks will make it unnecessary to block off any streets this year, Limmer said. This should help avoid a parking problem that was encountered last year when a portion of the street around the square was roped off.

Keep Your Art Young And Healthy

By Ellie Grossman

NEW YORK (NEA) There's one sure way to keep a painting looking good forever: keep it in a box and don't look at it.

If, however, you want to preserve and enjoy Washington crossing the whatever, or that watercolor from the flea market, take it to a conservation framer.

If you can find one. "I don't know how many there are in the country, but there are only a few of us in New York," says Nancy Stein who frames long-lastingly for individuals, museums, galleries and institutions. "Still," she says, "more and more picture framers are becoming aware of conserving art these days. Five years ago, I was called neurotic by an experienced framer. He said, 'you'll be dead in 50 years—why should you care how long the painting lasts?'"

To which she answered, "Each piece of art I frame is precious to me and the only way I can enjoy my work, which I love, is to do the best I know possible."

So, as Ms. Stein eyes art for esthetic display—the work usually suggests a feeling and I go through my mental file of 500 frames for a swirl, a line, etc.—she also considers keeping it young and healthy.

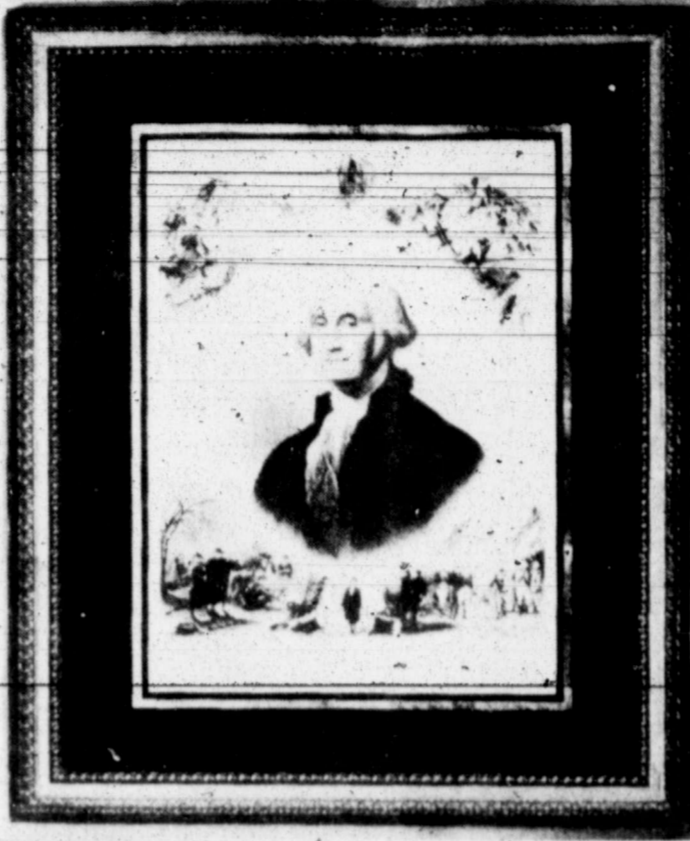

For instance, step one in framing is to mount Washington on a mat board and cover him with a "window" mat—which you don't do simply to make him stand out, she says. "Moisture collects between the surface of the art and the glass or plastic covering it, so there should always be something between them."

You don't want that "something" to eventually stain or fade the president so, she says, "You should hinge the art on four-ply, acid free, 100 percent rag board and use the same for the window mat covering it. And these two mats should be joined with linen tape, which is a cloth tape that's 1,000 times better than the others."

Masking tape is verboten because "the glue in the tape bleeds through and eventually damages the network." In which case, you wouldn't use masking tape either to attach the art itself to the mat.

What you would use, ideally, she says, are Japanese "hinges." Japanese paper hinges (what you use to attach the art to the mat) are the best because they're handmade, free of contaminants and you attach them with a wheat starch paste that you cook with water for half an hour to an hour.

The beauty of the paste is that it's pure and "completely reversible." A conservation framer can remove these hinges at any time without damaging the artwork. So if you tire of Washington in a mauve mat and metal frame, you can redo him just like that.

LIMITED EDITION engraving of George Washington, designed and framed by Nancy Stein for American Heritage Publishing Co. The frame is an egg-and-dart pattern; the mat is black egline (painted glass) and Mr. Washington is bordered with 22 karat gold.

But getting the Japanese hinges on right in the first place takes some doing. "The way you apply the starch paste requires a lot of experience because you can buckle or tear the painting or get glue on it without realizing it." You could, in short, rip the wig off George's head.

For Ms. Stein, though, learning proper paste procedures was easy. "I grew up with paper and paste, and decoupage because my father was a lamp designer and as a child I was decorating lamps with antique engravings and gold leaf. And when the teacher said bring in a crayon box you've decorated yourself, mine was a handpainted banded box covered with gold leaf."

But back to George who's now matted and waiting for a frame (you and the framer collaborate on that, as you did on the color of the mat), and something to keep the dust off him: i.e. glass or Plexiglas, depending.

"Pastels should never be covered with Plexiglas because it generates static electricity and, since pastels are like chalk," she says, "the electricity would draw them up from the paper."

So you would use glass, making sure to keep the glass two mat thicknesses, or one-eighth inch, away from the picture.

Plexiglas, lighter than glass and non-breakable, is fine, she says, "if you have a large poster and you're afraid the frame won't hold up over a number of years, or for when a picture travels. And you can use UF 3 Plexiglas to filter out 95 percent of the sun's rays, if necessary. But artwork under no circumstances should ever be exposed to sunlight."

What the art should be exposed to are your eyes. "Art is for the living," she says, "and if there's no conservation framer in your area, have the art framed the best you can (linen tape, for instance, instead of Japanese hinges) and then hang it up and enjoy it."

Oswald Jacoby, in age. The others are all in their early 20s and younger than Alan Sontag.

They got off to a fast start in the final match when West stunk in a super-weak jump overcall.

Bud is allergic to being pushed around in the bidding. He took very aggressive action, and Russ found himself in a spade slam before you could say "Harold S. Vanderbilt."

Russ, who played brilliantly throughout the whole tournament, had to do a good deal of work to bring in the slam. But with the aid of the hint given by the jump overcall he got there.

The play was straightforward and effective.

He won the diamond lead with the ace, led a heart to dummy and then led dummy's jack of trumps. East played low and Russ let it go to West's king. A club was returned and won in dummy. Now came the key play. He led a second trump and finessed his eight. Back to dummy with a diamond ruff and a further trump finesse allowed him to pick up the rest of the trumps and claim. Abilene Man Planning Monument To Buffalo

ABILENE (AP) — Oilman Jack Grimm has spent part of his millions searching for the sunken Titanic and the Loch Ness monster.

Now the Abilene millionaire plans to carve a monument to the buffalo on his ranch about 15 miles south of here and, appropriately, near the community of Buffalo Gap.

New York sculptor Robert Berks will engrave a series of pictures 2,000 feet long and 40 feet high portraying the creature's history.

The stone carving will be the largest in the world — four to five times the width of Mt. Rushmore, Grimm said Thursday.

Grimm said the project would take about five years to complete, and estimated it would cost $2 million to $3 million.

"I've been looking at that mountain for a long time, and I just thought there should be something up there," Grimm said.

The settlement of West Texas is closely linked with the life and death of the buffalo," he told a luncheon group at the Petroleum Club.

"Our story will be engraved into the cap rock, which has not changed

Extrication To Be Demonstrated

An extrication demonstration on freeing humans from wrecked cars will be featured Saturday at Bill's Auto Salvage on the traffic Y southeast of Snyder.

Helping put on the extrication demonstration is Kerrie Palmer, operator of Palmer EMS. Mrs. Palmer said that, in addition to the demonstration, an ambulance will be present for display.

The demonstration will be staged from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

SIDE GLANCES

"We're not seeing eye to eye with our daughter. She wants to find a nice young man and settle down, and we want her to get married!"

for 80 million years. It will endure as the Pyramids have endured, and it will hand our story down through the millennia.

"It will make Abilene the center for the new culture, which is the Sunbelt," Berks said. "The future of our country lies in the Sunbelt. As Florence attracted the greatest artists of the Renaissance, so should Abilene attract the artists of the new culture. This is my hope."

Berks said the engravings would start out with a large herd of buffalo and then would show Indians, hunters, and pioneers, and finally a desert scene strewn with buffalo bones and two lone buffalo.

"Imagine the anthropologists of the future. By looking at this chronicle, they can know what the costumes were, who were the Indians, the pioneers. We will be leaving our historical statement in the rocks," Berks said. Berks, who lives on the eastern tip of Long Island, N.Y., said he would spend half of every year in this area until the project is finished. He said he expected to have a final design ready within six months. The drawing will be enlarged to scale, sectioned into grids and projected onto the smooth rock wall.

He said workers under his supervision would paint the pattern onto the rock and then use saws or torches to carve wedges as deep as four feet, forming the various shapes used in the pictures.

Grimm's Titanic expedition is scheduled to cast off July 11 from Florida on its mission to try to recover the ocean liner that struck a North Atlantic Ocean iceberg in 1912 and sank, killing more than 1,500 people. Grimm has sold the movie rights to the expedition to Paramount, Inc.

CRMWD Figures Still Distorted

A seasonal distortion of lower expenses continued through May for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, but heavier demands of summer likely will level this out soon.

Otherwise, the monthly financial report closely tracks the budget by showing revenues of $3,063,701 compared with a budget projection of $3,172,408 for five months. Three-fourths of this difference is in revenue from cities, which will erase the deficit in the summer months. Oil and industrial revenues of $456,163 were within a few dollars of the five-month budget projection.

Operating expenditures were $1,451,968 through May, barely more than a year ago but $225,000 less than the budget estimates for the period. Lower electric energy expenses, due to less pumping, amounted to $755,606, or $230,000 less than estimated for the five months. Rising summer demands for water are expected to evaporate most of this under-run. Administrative and general expenses of $200,475 was $9,000 over budget for the period, but this was largely in earlier payment of insurance premiums. Recreation expenses of $36,847 were $1,000 under budget. Recreational revenues of $34,256 were $4,000 over estimates.

Dear Abby

Fascination with Panties Doesn't Mean He's Gay

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am very upset and hope you can shed some light on a problem concerning our son who is now 19. (I'll call him Mike.)

About five years ago I found several pair of girl's panties hidden under Mike's mattress. I was shocked and told my husband about it. He spoke to Mike, who explained that he and a neighbor boy had "found" them in a trash can behind an apartment building. His father told him to get rid of them, and nothing more was said about it.

All through high school Mike was active in sports, music, clubs, etc. He was very popular with boys and girls. He is now in his sophomore year at college and has been going steady with the same girl for two years. (I'm sure they're doing more than just holding hands.)

Mike is now home for summer vacation. While cleaning his closet, I found a bra, panties and garter belt stuffed into his tennis shoes. I asked him what they were doing there. He got red in the face, said they weren't his and accused me of snooping. Believe me, I was not.

Abby, I am sick. Can our son be a homosexual? He seems so normal. Please help me. I don't know how to handle this. WORRIED IN ST. PAUL

DEAR WORRIED: Apparently your son has had a fascination for female undergarments since adolescence. Don't be upset. It does not mean he is homosexual. Many males share this kind of behavior and function normally as men.

If your son feels that he has a problem, he should get professional help. (The University of Minnesota has an excellent Human Sexuality Department.)

And it might relieve your mind and your husband's to look into the program, too. The more you understand about a subject, the less worried and upset you will be.

DEAR ABBY: When I became pregnant four years ago — at age 43 — I was surprised and certainly not prepared for another child. (I had three grown children.) My sister-in-law gave us an old beat-up baby bed she had had in her basement for years. My husband sanded it down and painted it, and it looked like new. We used it until our baby outgrew it, then we sold it along with some other used furniture.

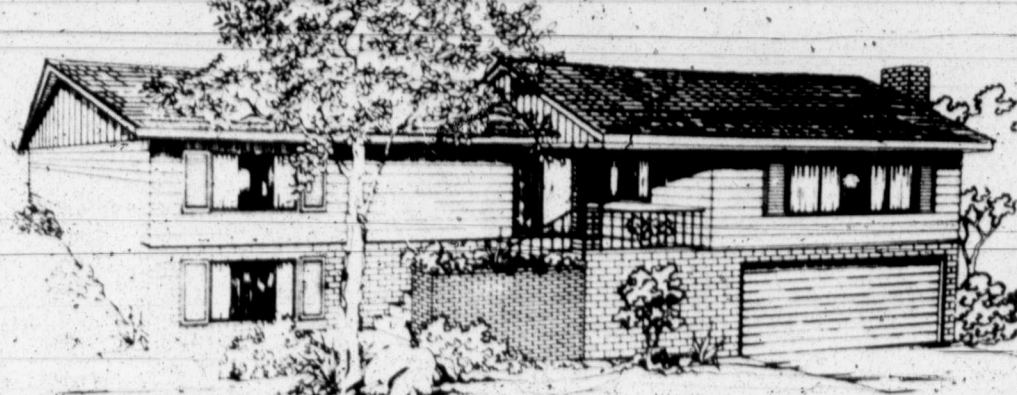

When my sister-in-law heard that we had sold the bed, she demanded that we give her part of the money we got for it. Abby, that baby bed was junk when she gave it to us, and nothing was said about returning it.

Do we owe her anything? STEAMED IN DAYTONA BEACH

DEAR STEAMED: If she gave it to you, all you owe her is a "thank-you."

CONFIDENTIAL TO LOVING SISTER IN BREMER-TON, WASH.: If you truly want to help your brother get well, let him know that you love him, are confident that he will recover and admire him for finally going into therapy. Offer no suggestions. To tell a person who is undergoing psychoanalysis that all he needs to get well is "common sense," and that permitting his doctor to probe into his early unhappy childhood is causing his depression, is doing him more harm than good.

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How To Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Split Level Effect

HOME DESIGN By Larry Farnsworth

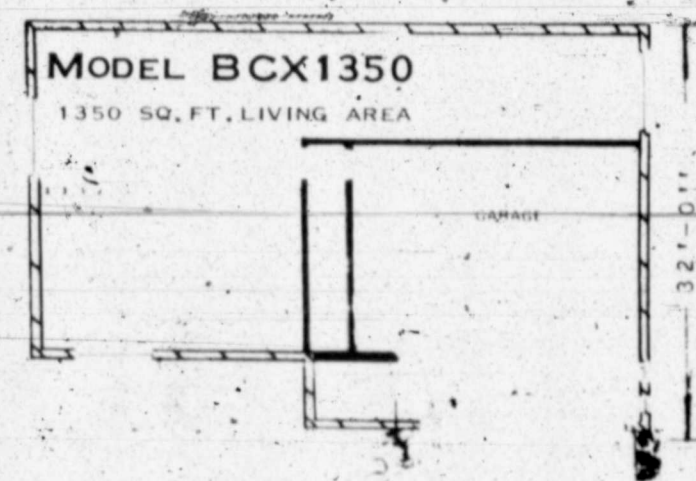

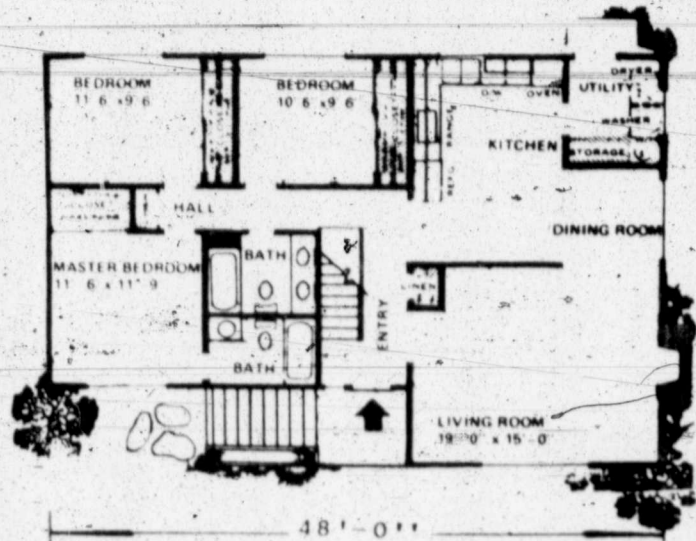

This interesting three-bedroom house makes the most of any size lot by capitalizing on the space-saving techniques of the traditional two-story home. Yet it also offers the selective homeowner the advantages of all-in-one-floor living areas, plus room for future expansion — adjacent to the ground-level garage.

The attractive entrance stairs behind the distinctive tall planter lead to a compact, wrought-iron-trimmed front porch.

Inside, a generous entry insures both privacy and a smooth traffic flow pattern to the living areas and the garage level as well.

The well conceived living room is fully separate, yet the floor plan allows it to derive extra dimension from the adjacent dining room. And an ingenious offset arrangement gives the dining room an equal feeling of separateness, although it is actually combined with the kitchen in an open plan which adds spaciousness to each area.

The L-shaped kitchen work area and an adjacent laundry-storage-utility room with an outside exit are added dividends for the efficiency-minded homemaker.

The exterior of this plan, with its interesting gables and happy blend of brick and vertical siding, has an air of dignity and substance which is universally appealing.

You may purchase complete working drawings, material lists and plan books from Larry Farnsworth, P.O. Box 1841, Las Vegas, Nevada 89101.

Congress To Shore Up Strapped SS System

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress will move quickly to shore up the financially fragile Social Security system and make sure that retirement benefits continue to be paid on time, the chairman of a House subcommittee promises.

However, an analyst for a senior citizens' group said the outlook for Social Security in the next few years may be even bleaker than the system's trustees indicated in their annual report to Congress on Thursday.

The trustees said the Old

Age and Survivors trust fund, which paid out almost three-quarters of the $124.9 billion in Social Security benefits in 1979, could run out of money in late 1981 or early 1982 unless it is able to borrow from the Disability Insurance and Hospital Insurance Medicaid funds.

And under adverse economic circumstances, the trustees said, the three funds together might not have enough money to pay benefits on time beginning in 1983.

Rep. J.J. Pickle, D-Texas, chairman of the House Ways and Means subcommittee on Social Security, said his panel is "concerned about the report, but the word should go out that there is nothing to be alarmed about."

"The Social Security program will continue, as it has for 40 years, to pay benefits on time," he vowed. "The report is the Congress' warning signal and the Congress will act."

Pickle said the subcommittee will meet next Thursday to consider the Carter administration's proposal to allow inter-fund borrowing and also to shift some of the payroll tax from the burgeoning disability fund to the old-age fund.

Pickle's optimistic outlook wasn't shared by James M. Hacking, assistant legislative counsel for the American Association of Retired Persons.

"The immediate future looks rather pessimistic," he said. "What is worse, after reviewing the assumptions the trustees made, their worst case might turn out to be optimistic."

Hacking said Congress should act this year to allow inter-fund borrowing, then move next year to pump some general tax dollars into Social Security to repair the damage done by high inflation and unemployment.

Under the worst of three possible economic scenarios, the trustees forecast inflation rates of 16.6 percent this year, 13.7 percent in 1981 and 11 percent in 1982 before a drop to 9.8 percent in 1985. The outlook also included declines in the real gross national product of 1.7 percent this year and 1 percent in 1981, and unemployment of 7.4 percent this year, 9.1 percent in 1981 and 6.8 percent by 1985.

The payroll tax, now 6.13 percent, already is due to climb to 6.65 percent next year, 6.7 percent in 1982, 7.05 percent in 1985 and 7.66 percent in 1990. Eventually, those higher taxes are expected to put the Old Age and Disability fund in the black for 50 years.

Disturbing rapid heart action

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 61-year-old woman, 75 pounds overweight and doctoring for high blood pressure. What I really want to ask you about, though, is the sudden pounding of my heart I've had for more than 40 years. It's so bad I have to lie down or I think I would pass out. In the past as soon as I was flat on my back, the pounding would stop and the heart would go back to beating normally. I could get up and I'm OK, but last week this happened and my heart did not stop pounding for six or seven hours. I had to stay in bed. This happens once or twice a year.

I know I'm dangerously overweight but this pounding of the heart began when I was 18 years old and I only weighed 155 then. I'm 5-foot-7 and big-boned. I live on a farm alone and I keep a cow and take care of a house garden, mow my big lawn and cut wood so I get plenty of exercise. I would like to know more about this pounding condition. I never have any pain when the heart pounds.

DEAR READER — You've given a fairly elassical description of what doctors call paroxysmal tachycardia. These are attacks when the heart beats rapidly, some people call them rapid heart action. Usually the attack begins suddenly and in many people it stops just as quickly. These are often caused by one irritable spot in the heart. It's literally considered an extra spark plug (pacemaker) to run the heart and it has its own inherent rate that rate, of course, is fast.

Often these attacks occur in people who do not have any underlying heart disease. When you were 18 you probably didn't have any heart disease and probably didn't have high blood pressure either and still you had these attacks. Now you're older and you have high blood pressure and you probably have some changes in your heart and arteries. But that doesn't mean that either your high blood pressure or any other changes you might have in the arteries are the cause of your disorder.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats and Tachycardias. It will give you far more detailed information about this problem. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Now the fact that such attacks of rapid heart action can occur in people who don't have underlying heart disease doesn't mean that they can't be disabling. They affect the mechanical action of the heart to the point that it doesn't pump efficiently and, of course, some of them do produce symptoms which are disabling as you've experienced.

You've probably learned that lying down kept you from feeling faint. The only reason you feel faint during the attacks is because the mechanical efficiency of the heart has been compromised to the point that you're not getting enough circulation to the brain.

If you lose weight, it will help your high blood pressure but it probably won't affect your tachycardia. Nevertheless, I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, to give you some guidelines to help you in that department.

Course To Begin In Basket Making

The Continuing Education department of Western Texas College has scheduled a basket making course Monday through Friday nights next week.

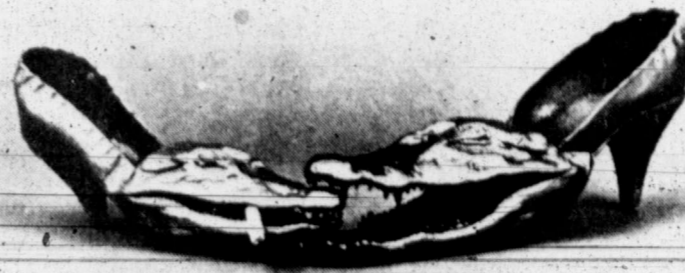

Karen Sears will be instructor for the class, which will teach the basic techniques of making coiled baskets and other useful and decorative items. Students will pay fees of $15 each and will need to provide their own supplies.

The art of making coiled baskets is very old, Miss Sears said. The American Indians made coiled baskets using grasses and reeds as their basic materials. Basket makers today more often use rope and yarn, and can choose from an infinite array of colors. The techniques used in making baskets can also be used to make place mats, coasters, etc.

Persons wishing details about the course are invited to contact the Continuing Education office at 573-8511, extension 240, or Miss Sears.

Classes are to meet from 7-10 p.m. Monday through Thursday in the Fine Arts Building.

WHY GO BAREFOOT? When you can stick your toes between the teeth of two alligators, one of which has a nicotine habit (upper left). When you can wear the devil around the house every day (upper right). When you can slip your toes into crocheted foot gloves (lower right). Or when you can button up your "high button" knee-length button-and-tassled boots. These and other exhibits are part of "The Great American Foot" show at The Museum of Texas Tech University June 29-Aug. 3.

Museum At Texas Tech Planning Foot Contest

LUBBOCK — Put your little foot, put your little foot, put your little foot right down," and you could prove to have a most unusual foot.

On June 29, The Museum of Texas Tech University wants you to put your best foot forward in contests which will mark the opening of "The Great American Foot" exhibition.

Art, crafts, music and photographs will bring "the foot" right down to West Texas earth.

Contestants will compare their tootsies during judging of the longest, shortest, widest, narrowest and most talented feet. The contests from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday (June 29) are open to the public.

Entrants also can vie for the longest toes, ugliest tennis shoes, slickest cowboy boots and most original footwear awards.

Those interested in competing should call Judy Hunter at (806) 742-2499.

The exhibition was organized by the Museum of Contemporary Crafts of the American Crafts Council in New York. The contests were devised by the museum staff at Texas Tech. Arts and crafts by more than 75 U.S. foot and footwear art creators will be displayed through Aug. 3.

Whether stepping first on the moon or a continent, marching for social reforms or war, dancing or running, jumping or kicking, shuffling or stomping, the foot can be found parading through most if not all art forms, says the Western Association of Art Museums, one of the exhibition's sponsors. Kinney Shoe Corp. is the other sponsor.

Ceramic, wood, glass and fiberglass sculpture and fiber, nylon and leather footwear are among the exhibits from such artists as Jim Dine, Les Levine, Tom Wesselmann, Roy Lichtenstein, Jan Axel, Joe Bova, Karen Breschi, Lawrence Williams, Marvin Lipofsky, Bruce Guttin, Elizabeth Gurrier, Norma Minkowitz, L. A. Shapiro and Ann Slavitt.

Fantasy footwear crocheted, beaded, fiber-filled, tie-dyed, cast, hand-built, slab-built, curved, painted, varnished, molded, wet-formed, feathered, glazed and quilted will be shown.

Faith Porter's "Dragon Boots" boast 1,600 mother-of-pearl buttons, goat hair, black satin and suede.

"Ethno — Eccentric Boots," by Marcia Floor, are made of cowhide, clay face, silk and bird's heads.

Photographs by Aaron Siskind, Eve Sonneman and Ralph Gibson focus on images wrought by foot and shoe.

The historical selections reflect America's varied ethnic origins. They include late 19th Century French satin slippers, Afghanistan boots with silk embroidery, Japanese clogs, beaded Sioux Indian moccasins from about 1830, Yugoslavian shoes, Moroccan slippers, a Chinese shoe of satin and ribbons and turn-of-the-century high button shoes. Baby shoes are also in the show.

Among the 20th Century designs are 1938 Ferragamo sandals, 1940 kid pumps by Seymour Troy, 1964 patent leather boots by Pierre Cardin and 1965 stocking boots by Herbert Levine.

The Indian moccasin, the teenager's sneaker and the cowboy boot form an important part of the show.

Shoes worn by such famous people as Agnes DeMille, Richard Burton, Mary Martin and the rock group, Kiss, are shown beside specialty shoes for sports and NASA space shots.

Music accompanies the show with marches and waltzes joining the Charleston and such songs as "Tiptoe Through the Tulips," "These Boots Are Made for Walking," and "Shuffle Off to Buffalo."

Astros Defeat St. Louis Cards

HOUSTON (AP)—Despite combining with Joe Sambito on a one-hitter, Houston's Nolan Ryan remained unimpressed with his most recent performance.

Ryan struck out seven and allowed only one hit—Garry Templeton's third inning double—in seven innings of work as the Astros trimmed the St. Louis Cardinals 2-0 Thursday night.

"I'm still not throwing my curve ball consistently for strikes," said Ryan, 5-5. "This was not the best game I've pitched this year. The game I pitched against Philadelphia last month was better."

Ryan was removed for a pinch-hitter in the seventh after complaining of feeling ill throughout the contest. He later admitted he felt sick while warming up before the game.

Jose Cruz drove in both Houston runs as the Astros set a club record by winning their twelfth consecutive home game.

A first-inning triple by Rafael Landestoy and Cruz's one-out sacrifice fly provided Houston with its first run against losing pitcher Bob Sykes, 1-6.

A sixth-inning single by Landestoy, Terry Puhl's sacrifice and a run-scoring by Cruz accounted for the Astro's only other run. Sambito hurled the final two innings for the Astros to pick up his sixth save of the season.

Stove Stalls Navratilova

EASTBOURNE, England (AP)—Betty Stove of the Netherlands upset top-seeded Martina Navratilova 6-3, 3-6, 7-5 in the third round of Women's Grass Courts Tournament.

Back-To-School Sales To Provide Merchants Barometer For Future

HOUSTON (AP)—Edward F. Gibbons, chief executive officer of F. W. Woolworth Co., believes retail merchants will get a preview of things to come when the back-to-school sales begin in August.

Gibbons, talking with newsmen before speaking to Woolworth shareholders in Houston, said August "would be a clinical test of the economy, how much consumers have to spend, how much they will spend for the children's clothes and shoes and other things."

And, he said, Christmas sales also will be a barometer. "We are being careful about our inventory level, but the shelves won't be bare, you can never tell about the American consumer. They may say things have been so tough, lets have a good Christmas anyway."

The Woolworth chairman predicted Thursday the current recession would continue through this year and probably into the first months of 1981.

Hardest hit, Gibbons said, have been the sale of furniture, rugs, appliances. He explained, "with the home mortgage money dried-up, people were not moving, as they had in the past, from the two-bedroom to the three-bedroom homes. So the sales of home furnishings plunged."

Despite the cloud of recession, Gibbons said the company would open 16 J. Brannam stores, a name-brand outlet of Woolworth, in Houston on the same day in August.

"We think this is sound business now," Gibbons said, "because the people of Houston are the type who want style, want name-brands, but because of the recession will be shopping for bargains."

August is the back-to-school sales and of course December is Christmas. These will tell us something," he said.

In the shareholders, Gibbons said income of consolidated companies before income taxes totaled $1 million in the first quarter of 1980, compared to $13.8 million in the same period a year ago.

He said, "consumer spending patterns in the United States and Canada varied markedly by geographical area, reflecting the unfavorable economic conditions in industrialized areas."

And the authentic old-time hollers are dying off. "We know the old-school hollers are out there, but the thing is getting them to come out and be heard. I feel like there'll be some of 'em out there Saturday, but most of the people who enter will just stand up there and scream."

Past winners, most of whom are in their 70s and 80s, are not allowed to enter again, so new hollers must be found each year.

In 1977, the winners were a dairy farmer and his three-legged dog who hollered out their rendition of "Precious Memories."

Godwin, who claims that he's never hollered a note in his life but that he can spot an authentic holler a mile away, has seen more than his share of "screamers and yellors" since the contest started in a backyard in 1969.

For the untrained ear, it's all just so much noise. But Godwin says there are four basic hollers that were practiced daily back before telephones came into being: the functional, the expressive, the communicative and the distress.

The functional holler, sometimes mistaken for a hog call, is not only used to call the farm animals in, but also to let your neighbor know all is well, supper's on the table or you need a fresh bucket of water in the field. It's a favorite of women contestants.

The expressive holler falls in the category of loud social conversation and is generally practiced just for the sheer ecstasy of hearing yourself. It comes in handy when singing, particularly if you don't know all the words.

The communicative holler is used simply to touch base with another soul. A man working along in a field might holler just to hear a reassuring answer from his neighbor in the next field five miles away.

The distress holler, often heard at weddings and wakes, obviously means something is wrong and is easily distinguished from the others since it is usually done in a tormented falsetto.

The functional holler, sometimes mistaken for a hog call, is not only used to call the farm animals in, but also to let your neighbor know all is well, supper's on the table or you need a fresh bucket of water in the field. It's a favorite of women contestants.

The expressive holler falls in the category of loud social conversation and is generally practiced just for the sheer ecstasy of hearing yourself. It comes in handy when singing, particularly if you don't know all the words.

The communicative holler is used simply to touch base with another soul. A man working along in a field might holler just to hear a reassuring answer from his neighbor in the next field five miles away.

The distress holler, often heard at weddings and wakes, obviously means something is wrong and is easily distinguished from the others since it is usually done in a tormented falsetto.

For the untrained ear, it's all just so much noise. But Godwin says there are four basic hollers that were practiced daily back before telephones came into being: the functional, the expressive, the communicative and the distress.

Thinks Photo Of Hitchhiker Is Of Marine Thought Dead

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A Tampa mother believes a photograph she saw in a newspaper is that of her Marine son who supposedly was killed in North Carolina two years ago. The picture, printed Wednesday, was of a hitchhiker in Dallas holding a sign that read: "I JUST HAD A BATH."

The name's the same, says Clara Elder. And more than that, the hitchhiker looks like her son.

Greg Elder, 17 and Beth, 18, agreed with their mother.

"How many Michael Elders look like Michael Elder?" a friend of the family asked.

On March 3, 1978, the body of a man identified by the U. S. Marine Corps as Michael Elder was buried in Tampa by the Elder family.

"We never thought it looked like him," said Mrs. Elder. "We were taking the word of authorities."

Greg, who was 15 years old when his brother was reported killed, returned to the funeral home asking about the body at the time. He said he remembers the military uniform was pinching the dead man's neck, distorting facial features. And he said he searched for identifying marks.

"Michael had a scar on his forehead," said Greg. "We couldn't see it at all."

Beth Elder, 18, says some traits of the man in the photograph remind her of her brother. "He always wore shirts like that. And he always pushed them above his elbows."

The only difference, says them of an intensive investigation by both military and civil authorities, they said.

After the letter from Delux, the Elders say they heard nothing more.

A letter from a friend of Elders estranged wife was the only word they said they had received. The friend said Michael was shot by another Marine.

Mrs. Elder says she was probably remiss in not taking more action two years ago. But she was so distraught, she says. And it's only been recently that she has been able to mention her son's name without crying.

Either to confirm or dispel her hopes, she says, she's going to press military and civilian officials for some details.

Layne Murdoch, a photographer for The Dallas Times Herald, snapped the picture of the 25-year-old hitchhiker. He said he could shed little light on the man, other than that he said he was headed to California.

The Elders said in February 1978 they received a telegram from the Marine Corps at Camp LeJeune telling them Michael had been shot to death outside the base in Sneads Ferry, N.C. A Maj. T.R. Delux assured Cancer Victim...

Gives Birth Just 5 Hours Before Death

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — Witness died of massive hemorrhaging caused by a tumor in her jaw. She had refused chemotherapy for fear of endangering her unborn child.

Essentially, Anita was giving her life for that of a child she had not yet had," cancer surgeon Ronald Lapin said Thursday.

"She was positive, laughing and joking until the very last," said her husband Tom Brown. She gave birth Tuesday by Caesarian section to the 4-pound baby three weeks prematurely at University of California-Irvine Medical Center. The infant has no trace of cancer and is given a good chance of survival, doctors said.

Mrs. Brown's story is all the more tragic, Lapin said, because her tumor could have been removed in its early stages if she had found a surgeon who would operate — as Lapin eventually did — without using the blood transfusions barred by her religion.

The cancer came to light more than 2½ years ago, when she went to a dentist complaining of pain in her jaw. When X-rays failed to pinpoint the cause, a thin slice of tissue was examined under a microscope and the disease was discovered. Surgeons in her native Nevada refused to operate without transfusions, so she began a fruitless quest for a cure, including trips to Mexico for Lactril treatments.

A year and a half ago, she married Tom Brown, a hay truck driver in Nevada, who knew of her condition.

Brown finally located Lapin at Esperanza Intercommunity Hospital in Yorba Linda.

When Lapin took Mrs. Brown's case, she looked "as though a big rubber ball was blocking her mouth and protruding outside the lips by two inches, plugging up her airway."

Lapin and his surgical team removed most of the cancerous tissue in January, using a special electric knife that sealed off blood vessels, preventing excessive bleeding by applying heat to the cut ends.

The surgeons also performed a tracheotomy, cutting a hole below the blockage in her throat so she could breathe and take in food.

Three months pregnant at the time of the operation, Mrs. Brown refused to take cancer drugs that could hurt her child.

Six months later, the tumor had grown back and she was down to 80 pounds.

"She knew she was dying and just going to live long enough to deliver this baby," Lapin said.

"That 80-pound weakling has really taught me a lesson about faith and life and what these people stand for. She's been a lift to others — a little dynamo."

A memorial service at the Esperanza hospital today was to be followed by funeral services in her native Lovelock, Nev.

Major Drought In Texas Feared

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Texas may be too dry to sizzle in this summer's heat, if Texas A&M scientists' fears of a major drought prove correct.

"Another drought is not a matter of 'if,' but a matter of 'when,'" said Dr. Jack Runkles, director of A&M's Texas Water Resources Institute.

"Statewide droughts seem to follow a cycle of every 20 to 25 years," Runkles said. "The last major drought in the state ended 23 years ago, and the threat of inadequate rainfall looms with each passing day."

The State Climatologist's office at A&M says the areas hardest hit since last October are the High Plains, the Trans-Pecos region, the Edwards Plateau and the South Texas border area, where rainfall has been 20 to 70 percent of the normal.

"Since February, those areas and most of the rest of Texas received only 30 to 70 percent of normal precipitation, and levels at lakes and reservoirs as well as underground water tables are way down."

The last major Texas drought lasted from 1950 to 1957, when 235 of the state's 254 counties were declared federal disaster areas. Runkles said a drought would hit Texas harder today than it did during the '50s.

"An extended drought would mean water use restrictions in most Texas cities," he said.

the process of detente." Carter and Cossiga added it is indispensable that the Western allies carry out a comprehensive political strategy "to make clear to the Soviet Union by the application of tangible measures the necessity of a prompt and complete withdrawal of its troops from Afghanistan."

Carter spokesman Jody Powell said earlier the American president's talks with Cossiga and Italy's 83-year-old Socialist president, Alessandro Pertini, had gone very well, with Carter thanking the Italians for being among the first to call on Iran to free the American hostages.

As Carter began a week of talks in Europe, he and his aides sought to minimize their differences with America's allies over how to deal with Soviet aggression.

After the private session with Pertini in a tapestried room of the 16th century presidential palace, Carter flew by helicopter to the Villa Madama, another of this city's renaissance palaces, for a meeting and working lunch with Prime Minister Cossiga.

Two Mishaps Reported Here

Two traffic accidents were reported to city police Thursday.

The first, reported at 2:30 p.m., occurred in the parking lot of Snyder Shopping Center. It involved a 1977 Oldsmobile driven by Bonnie McDorman and a 1973 Oldsmobile driven by Joyce Gorman. It was worked by officer Kerry Fritz.

The other wreck was at 4:40 p.m. at the post office. In that accident, a 1963 Chevrolet driven by Carl Couch collided with a parked 1971 Ford owned by William John Shiebel. The mishap was worked by officers Don Cheek and Edwin Neeley.

Daughters' Deaths Blamed On Mother

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) — When James Doolittle walked into Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Stella Almarez was kneeling at the altar alone. Outside in the waning daylight, her four young daughters were playing he said.

At about midnight, the girls, ranging in age from 2 to 10, were found dead in bed — two with single gunshot wounds in the head, two with knife wounds in the neck.

"Authorities say they were killed Wednesday by their mother, who then put a .32-caliber revolver to her forehead and pulled the trigger."

The 29-year-old woman was arrested Thursday for first-degree murder after police conducted a bedside interview at Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital.

Under police guard, Mrs. Almarez was in stable condition. No formal charges had been filed against her as of late Thursday night.

"Stunned by the killings and by the arrest, friends and neighbors in this community of 16,600 say the family was deeply religious and the girls were 'good kids.'" Mrs. Almarez was a nice, quiet woman who was a PTA block mother. She and her husband Anthony struck people as a "perfect couple."

ERA Backers Looking To Fall Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of the Equal Rights Amendment, with the chance for ratification this year virtually gone, are turning to the fall elections as their best and possibly last hope.

The Illinois legislature's failure to ratify the amendment Wednesday left the ERA three states shy of the 38 needed to make it part of the Constitution.

No other state legislature is scheduled to vote on the measure this year, and 1981 sessions will be the last for many state assemblies before the June 1982 deadline for ratification.

Fund-raising already has begun for pro-ERA legislative candidates this fall, and plans are being formulated to take the campaign to the Democratic and Republican national platform committees.

"We're going to be very active in the fall elections — the presidential one and all the ones in between," said Eleanor Smeal, president of the National Organization for Women.

Ira Boosters To Operate Concessions

IRA — The Ira Booster Club will operate a booth selling snow cones, baked goods and knick-knacks during the Trades Day event Saturday in Snyder, Bob Mitchell, chairman of the project, announced at a meeting held Tuesday.

Also, Joe Rigsby reported that the Dr. Pepper Co. will furnish a concession trailer for the booster club booth in Towle Memorial Park on July 3-4.

Max Preston is chairman of the men's invitational softball tournament set for July 11-12.

Next meeting of the booster club is set for 8 p.m. July 8 at the school.

Suspect In Ax Murder

WYLIE (AP) — Investigators confirmed they have a "major suspect" in connection with the brutal weekend ax murder of Betty Gore, 30, who was hacked to death in her home.

"We have a major suspect as well as other suspects. We do have a finger print," said Police Chief Royce Abbott. "We will not identify male or female, man, woman or child at this time, and have no plans at present to make an arrest until further investigation is completed."

The Collin County district attorney's office said on Thursday that Abbott told them he was looking for a young woman, a friend of Mrs. Gore's husband Allan, whose fingerprints matched bloody prints on the Gore's refrigerator door.
