

Soviets Say Tanks. Troops Pulled Out

MOSCOW (AP) Radio Moscow announced today one Soviet troop division and 108 tanks were being withdrawn from Afghanistan and returned home. There are typically between 7,000 and 11,000 men in a Soviet division. It was the first time the Kremlin has said how many of its troops were being pulled from the war-torn country at its southern border, where an estimated 85,000 Soviet troops were sent last Christmas. The Communist Party newspaper Pravda said today that tanks, armored personnel carriers and infantry already had begun withdrawing in keeping with the Kremlin's announced partial pullout from Afghanistan—a withdrawal that has been greeted with heavy skepticism in the west.

The official Tass news agency reported from the Afghan capital of Kabul on Sunday that "according to information from the command of Soviet military contingents now staying in Afghanistan, some army units whose stay in Afghanistan is not necessary at present are being withdrawn these days to the territory of the Soviet Union on agreement with the Afghan government."

In a followup labeled an eyewitness account from the Afghan capital, Pravda correspondent L. Mironov described sunnied Russian soldiers saying goodbye to grizzled Afghan villagers after battling anti-communist Moslem rebels for six months and "fulfilling their international duty."

"Early this morning from the city's outskirts a long line of tanks and infantry began to stretch out. The residents of the villages and towns came out to see them off. The Soviet and Afghan friends made their parting handshakes and embraces," Mironov said in a dispatch dated Sunday.

He said after all the farewells were said the Soviet troops and war machines began their 300-mile journey home by road.

College Board To Study Bids

The meeting is set for 7 a.m. in the WTC cafeteria. The board also will discuss golf carts at the special session.

More Candidates For Queen Sought

Plans for various July 4th activities are moving along, but more candidates for Independence Day Queen are needed; chamber officials reported this morning.

Organizations have been slow to pick up their tickets and name their queen candidates for the annual celebration. The queen contest winner will be determined on the basis of ticket sales. So far, the Senior Citizens Center-RSVP and the 20th Century Club are the only organizations to register their candidates and pick up their tickets. Their candidates are June Deen and Stephanie Weaver, respectively.

Plans are taking shape for the annual July 4th Tractor Pull. It will be held from 5:30 p.m. to 8

Carter Closes Summit...

Unified Opposition To Russians Pledged

VENICE, Italy (AP) President Carter ended the Allied summit today with a declaration that the "ruthless" Soviet intervention in Afghanistan would be opposed with "our combined strength." He called this a moral and strategic imperative.

Carter's statement came one day after the Soviets announced a partial withdrawal of troops from Afghanistan.

Allied leaders already had expressed skepticism over the significance of the Soviet move, and Carter said today, "We have committed our combined strength and our influence and our voices against a ruthless power's invasion of a nearby defenseless neighbor which threatens the stability of a crucial area of the world."

As the two-day summit concluded, Carter called the Soviet move into Afghanistan on Dec. 27 "a profound assault against the laws of nations and a grave threat to the stability of that vital region."

"We pledge to oppose this Soviet invasion with the means at our disposal," Carter said. "We do this because it is a moral imperative and also a strategic imperative."

Carter and leaders of the other six industrialized nations—West Germany, Great Britain, Italy, France, Canada and Japan—gave individual speeches as the summit closed with agreement on energy and economic issues.

The meeting was convened to discuss economic issues but was dominated by the situation in Afghanistan.

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher called the occupation of Afghanistan a new manifestation of the old difference between East and West.

In his address, Carter also said the challenges facing the free world "are both political and economic in nature," and said the nations were "resolved to break the link between our economic growth and our oil consumption."

The leaders developed new goals to reduce oil imports, double coal production by 1990, and expand use of nuclear power and other alternate fuels. The participants also declared combating inflation to be their No. 1 priority and ranked energy concerns second.

The economic and energy agreements amounted to ratification of almost identical goals set last month by the 29-nation International Energy Agency. There was little debate on the goals and agreement was so perfunctory the conference ended 2½ hours early.

The economic summit was dominated more by politics than economy. On Sunday, as the Allied leaders met for the first time in a year, the Soviet Union announced it was making a partial withdrawal of troops from Afghanistan.

Carter and his colleagues had planned all along to issue a fresh condemnation here of the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, but they speeded their timetable by 24 hours and issued their declaration Sunday. The Allies were cautious in discussing the Soviet move.

Carter said the Soviet announcement would have "very little significance" unless it signified a permanent and complete withdrawal of Soviet troops.

On Monday, the economic issues were made final.

The conferees estimated that over the next decade they could increase energy sources other than oil at the equivalent of 15 to 20 million barrels of oil a day.

They pledged to make "a coordinated, vigorous effort to realize this potential" by increasing use of coal, nuclear power and synthetic fuels.

A doubling of the production and use of coal, long a neglected energy resource, would mean boom times for the coal mining sections of the United States, which have a significant export trade.

In addition, the leaders agreed that oil conservation goals set a year ago at the last economic summit in Tokyo will be made obsolete because of an anticipated reduction in world oil output in the years ahead.

As a consequence, the leaders decided to call for a further oil import cut-back of 4 million barrels a day, to about 22 million barrels, by 1985. Individual targets for each country were not set.

Shooting In Church At Daingerfield Kills Five

DAINGERFIELD, Texas (AP) Investigators say a man who burst into a church and sprayed the packed congregation with rifle fire was to have gone on trial today for incest, and has been turned down by several church members when he asked them to be character witnesses.

Five persons, including a 7-year-old girl, were killed. Ten other members of the First Baptist Church of this normally quiet East Texas town were wounded by the gunman during Sunday morning services. Witnesses said the assailant had four guns, wore combat gear and yelled "This is war" before opening fire. Afterward, he ran from the church and shot himself in the head. He was hospitalized in critical condition. Doctors said he would probably survive.

The sounds of the shooting were broadcast live on radio station KEGG, which normally carries Sunday services. Police confiscated a tape recording of the incident.

Capital murder charges were filed against Alvin Lee King, 45, a former high school math teacher who holds a doctorate in psychology from East Texas State University. He quit teaching seven years ago and was a farmer at the time of Sunday's shooting.

Police said the assailant was armed with M-1 and AR-15 rifles and .38-caliber and a .22-caliber revolver, and wore a steel helmet and two flak jackets.

"We could have shot at him all day long," said Police Chief Jim Keene.

Witnesses said the gunman kicked in the front doors of the church about 11:20 a.m. while the congregation of 350 persons was singing the hymn, "More About Jesus."

"Then those bullets were flying," said Arthur Greaves, 69, who was shot in the shoulder. "Some of the congregation started falling in between the pews and some started jumping up and down. People were screaming and crying and taking on. Boy, was it pitiful."

Police said the gunman fired at random into the congregation with the M-1 rifle, hitting 13 victims and killing Gina Linam, 7, and Thelma Richardson, 78, who were both shot in the head.

Kenneth Truitt and J.Y. "Red" McDaniel, both 49, leaped up and tried to stop the gunman. They managed to wrestle him out of the church, but he shot both of them to death during the struggle.

"They just bear-hugged him out the door, and all the time I could hear a gun shooting," said church member Chris Hall, 28. McDaniel was shot in the stomach four times and died on the church steps. Truitt was shot in the side and died shortly after noon in a hospital.

The gunman ran across the street and shot himself in the head with his .22-caliber pistol. He was ordered sent to John Sealey Hospital in Galveston, which has a criminal detention unit. He was in critical condition.

The fifth victim, Gene Gandy, 50, died of a gunshot wound to the stomach about 11 hours later in a hospital in nearby Pittsburgh.

District Attorney Charles M. Cobb of Mount Pleasant said King was indicted last fall on charges of incest based on a complaint filed by King's 21-year-old daughter, Cynthia, who now lives in Dallas.

Oklahoma Royalty Group Organizes

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) Owners of oil royalties from Oklahoma and several other states have formed a national association to fight the effects of the federal windfall profits tax.

The group has appointed a board of governors and executive officers to operate the National Association of Royalty Owners, a non-profit corporation that received a state charter last week.

The group was born Saturday when about 350 "small-time royalty owners" met to hear a panel of speakers urge them to fight for the repeal of the tax, which some said could cost Oklahomans more than $650,000 in the next two years.

"We have to go to Washington and convince congressmen it's going to impact their constituents. That's when you'll get their attention," said Harvey Gardner, state coordinator for the American Agriculture Movement.

Gov. George Nigh and state Sens. Tim Leonard and Don Nickles promised to support the drive.

Jim Stafford, an Ada oilman who organized the rally, was named chairman of the association's executive council.

He said the organization eventually will move its offices from Ada to Oklahoma City when it gets more financial support.

New Cuban Flood Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) Fidel Castro appears to be preparing to unload truckloads of refugees outside the U.S. Marine base at Guantanamo in an attempt to force new negotiations on trade and other matters, the chairman of a House intelligence subcommittee says.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said Sunday all evidence indicates that Castro "is willing and able to use the threat of a refugee flood in an effort to leverage the American government to the negotiating table." Castro has said he wants the United States to lift its trade embargo against Cuba, turn the Guantanamo base over to Cuba and eliminate spy flights over Cuba, Aspin said.

Police Find No Bugs

WASHINGTON (AP) Weekend searches by private electronic experts and the city uncovered no bugs in the office of the Republican National Committee's No. 2 official. But party co-chairman Mary Crisp says that doesn't mean her office was not under surveillance last week.

Ms. Crisp, highly criticized in recent months by the conservative wing of the party, ignited five days of tense meetings by top-ranking GOP officials and concern about another political bugging scandal when she said Wednesday that her office might be under surveillance.

Death Rows Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) The drive to reinstate capital punishment is accelerating, with the number of prisoners on death row nearing the peak reached just before the Supreme Court invalidated most state death penalty laws in 1972, the Justice Department said today.

The department's Bureau of Justice Statistics said 103 more prisoners were placed on death row in 1979, bringing the total number in 29 states to 567, including seven women. The record was 620 in 1971.

Pilot's Appeal Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) The Supreme Court today turned down the appeal of a Michigan man jailed for refusing to tell a grand jury, under immunity, about the crash of a marijuana-laden airplane in Marfa, Texas.

The justices refused to hear Jackie Wayne Scarborough's arguments that he should not have to testify because he later may be prosecuted by Mexico.

Law enforcement officials say Scarborough was the pilot of a plane that crashed not far from the Texas-Mexico border in March 1976.

He was called before a federal grand jury in El Paso last Sept. 18 but refused to talk about the plane crash—even after being given immunity from prosecution for anything he might say. Scarborough said he feared subsequent prosecution by Mexican authorities.

Ask Us

Q—Did recent rains cause city water to become murky looking over the weekend?

A—It isn't likely, but instead it probably was caused by a break in an eight-inch line that had the effect of flushing out much of the system. It was repaired over the weekend, but not before considerable water was lost.

Construction Set By Telephone Co.

Work is scheduled to begin here July 7 on a major construction project of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

The project involves installation of underground telephone cable from the central business district to the south down College Avenue.

City officials have received word that a contract was awarded to Clouse Construction Co. of Odessa, and that a pre-construction conference has been set for 10 a.m.

July 7, the day work is scheduled to begin.

The conference will be held at the telephone company's work center at 22nd St. and Ave. R.

Buried cable will be installed from the phone company's office building at 27th and Ave. R. west to College Ave., and then south to a point south of 46th St.

The underground system will replace the overhead cables now in use along College Ave.

nature snaps back

A recent brief report from the Mount-St. Helens area is in a way more dramatic than the eruptions that are kept that particular big story on the front pages. Even as the volcano continues to blow its top, life insists upon returning to its slopes. Vegetation, a National Forest Service biologist reports, is poking up through the ashes. The survivors are perennial plants that had not yet emerged from winter dormancy at the time of the initial eruptions. Also some hardy varieties that lost their tops but had deep enough, and thus protected, roots to enable them to make a comeback. It is possible that if the agitated peak gets it all out of its system shortly, the area will be green again - admittedly a weedy green for the most part by the end of summer. More, returning animal life should not be far behind the plants. Tracks are already being spotted. Welcome and reassuring news. Apparently there is no disaster so cataclysmic that nature, which includes man, cannot snap back. And that, if we're lucky, might even include the current presidential campaign.

The Wall Street Journal, as legions of devoted readers well know, is a gold mine of fascinating information of our times and lifestyles. And not all of the nuggets are in the news columns. Take the auto advertisement that appeared in a recent edition. It is not just any old set of wheels being pushed to the Journal's readership but a "VIP Security Sedan" that is both bullet and bomb proof. And that's far from all. Special features include a remote ignition, effective up to a quarter-mile distance, to provide safety against any explosive devices that business competitors of the VIP owner might be inclined to plant in the vehicle. Also a "kidnap recovery system" to track down and abducted passenger and - are you with us, 007? - an "oil slick emission device to deter vehicles in pursuit." Not to mention a device to detect electronic bugs, recording and emergency communication systems, ram bumpers and a hidden escape vehicle. Well! And here, in these geared-down, energy-short times, we've been wondering if we could make do without air conditioning.

paul harvey car phones

On the news beat we have experimented for years with mobile telephones.

From hand-held walkie-talkies to central system "beepers" to short-wave communication similar to what police use.

Not until now has there been one that works the way it should.

And the FCC could - and surely eventually will - make it available to you.

Until a year ago the best mobile telephone suitable for use in your car required that you lift a receiver, wait for a clear channel, try to get the attention of an operator, identify yourself by code number and the callee by phone number.

Maybe you would get through. If you did, reception would sound like a relayed communication from the moon.

Then Ma Bell went to work on the problem and developed the niftiest mobile telephone you can imagine.

It's called AMPS - Advanced Mobile Phone Service. I'm told it "sub-divides service areas into cells, each containing a low-powered transmitter."

As a mobile phone user drives through one "cell" and into another - calls in progress are switched automatically and without interruption.

You hold in your hand a single-piece, touch-dial telephone into which you speak and through which you hear with the clarity of a local house-to-house call.

The previous best mobile system allows only a dozen or so callers simultaneously to make calls in New York City.

With the AMPS system, 100,000 customers could be talking at the same time on a no-wait, low-cost, land line quality telephone service.

Then why aren't they? I don't know.

The Federal Communications Commission is sitting on AMPS, for some reason.

It is the FCC which allocates radio frequency bands to such specific uses as police, fire services, commercial broadcasting and mobile telephone service.

That is a lot of responsibility and I suppose phones in cars get lesser priority.

It has been my observation and experience, however, that the car phone is more than a convenient working tool. AMPS trial customers in the Chicago area report impressive gains in personal and professional productivity, savings in time and in fuel. Multiply those benefits and savings in time and in fuel. Multiply those benefits and savings nationally, and our country becomes more efficient.

Won't telephones in cars distract drivers? No more than dialing a car radio distracts the driver. He learns to use each convenience sensibly and safely.

Americans recently have seen so much electric gadgetry that is difficult to use and expensive to maintain that it is refreshing to be able to welcome from Bell Labs a device that does what it is designed to do, reliably and inexpensively.

The FCC has promised a decision before the end of this year; you'll have a phone as efficient as your home phone in your own car - maybe next year.

Stripped-Down Gander Is Sauce for Goose

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: One night after bowling, three of us women (all married) decided on an impulse to stop at a club that features male striptease dancers.

We were amazed to find it packed with screaming women of all ages having the time of their lives. The male strippers had gorgeous bodies; their dancing was rather suggestive, but they were all talented singers and dancers. They stripped down to practically nothing, but you could see as much at any public beach.

The evening turned out to be a lot of fun, and we thought we'd probably go again and maybe even take our husbands. But when we told our husbands about our little adventure, one said he was shocked and disappointed to learn that his wife had such cheap, vulgar, low-down taste.

Another husband took it personally, saying it was a putdown to him, that a wife who was satisfied with her own husband wouldn't go out of her way to look at another man's body.

My husband said if I got a kick out of it, it was OK with him, and it might even improve our marriage to have a few new fantasies to draw on.

Abby, how do you feel about women who go to see male strippers?

BEV IN PENN.

DEAR BEV: If a woman gets goosebumps from taking a gander at a good-looking guy, I say what's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander!

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been employed at the same place for a number of years. He enjoys his work and earns a good living there.

Recently a new man became his boss. The first time this man came to our home I thought he was a nice person, but the next time he made a pass at me. I told him I wasn't interested in him in that way and to please leave me alone, but he didn't seem to get the message. Now every time he sees me he starts up again.

I know my husband would quit his job if he knew about this, so I haven't told him. I don't want him to leave his job as long as he's happy there. What should I do?

CONFUSED IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR CONFUSED: Assume a polite but clearly impersonal attitude toward this man. And keep your distance. You don't need your husband's help to protect you from unwanted attention.

DEAR ABBY: I am a drunk who hasn't had a drink in four years and eight months. I have been reading your column since its inception.

At times I've read it through blurred, red-rimmed eyes. I've read it sitting on a bunk in a cell in Leavenworth, New York. Thank God, I am reading it with clear eyes and a clear head. I read your column because I think you have great wit, tremendous insight, compassion and understanding. But your recent column about AA was the frosting on the cake! My disease, alcoholism, is terminal, progressive and incurable. Only through AA was I able to arrest it and learn how to achieve peace of mind, serenity, sobriety and freedom.

I suspect AA was a divinely inspired program, for there is still a subtle mystery as to why, after 30 years of destructive drinking, I suddenly took myself to an AA meeting. I, like many others, was amazed to find doctors, lawyers, judges, school teachers and other pariahs like myself there who had to reach rock bottom before trying AA.

I have now come to realize that in a group of any dozen people, one is either an alcoholic or will cross the line from social drinking to alcoholism.

Ten men have walked on the moon. One was an alcoholic. He spoke last year on skid row where I got sober in 1975. Thanks for all you've done, Abby.

Three winners of the Our Little Miss Pageant sponsored by the American Business Women's Association in April have been preparing to enter the state competition in San Angelo. The contest will begin June 24 and end June 28 at 7:30 p.m.

Leigh Van Hook, 5, competing for state "Miss La Petite," is sponsored by Snyder National Bank, Lou's Kiddie Cottage, J. C. Penney Co., Medical Arts Lab, Halliburton and Pizza Inn.

Miss Van Hook will be entered in two categories, modeling sportswear and party dress, and a close-up interview. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell E. Van Hook, 4100 Jacksboro.

Where A Nibble Is Half A Byte

BOSTON (AP)—Bus, "ram" and "nibble" have special meanings in the computer industry. For example, a "bus" is a group of circuits that carries information from one location to another. "Ram" is shorthand for Random Access Memory, a type of information storage. And "nibble," as might be expected, is half a "byte," a basic unit of information, says American Computer Appraisal here.

Ghandi Heir-Apparent Killed In Plane Crash

By GENE KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Sanjay Gandhi, the heir-apparent to an Indian political dynasty ruled by his mother, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, was killed today along with his flight instructor when their light-stunt plane stalled during a series of acrobatic loops and plummeted into a clump of trees, witnesses said.

India's vice president said the nation was "thunderstruck" by the death. Numerous shops in the bustling capital closed their doors as news of the crash spread and people gathered in groups to discuss it.

The 33-year-old Sanjay, who leaves a wife and infant son, is to be cremated Tuesday after a funeral service.

The grandson of Jawaharlal Nehru, India's first prime minister, Sanjay was one of his mother's closest advisers and following his election to Parliament in January appeared to be preparing to follow in the family's political footsteps.

"I thought each, and every bone of that young man is fractured," said an Indian police officer who saw Sanjay's body at the scene of the crash.

Sanjay was pronounced dead at a hospital along with Capt. Sibash Saxena, chief instructor of the Delhi Flying Club.

The two men had been doing loops in a U.S.-built Pitt SA-2 biplane when the craft stalled and crashed near the Safdarjāng Airport, a small field in southern New Delhi.

The plane fell near the official residence of the prime minister, Mrs. Gandhi sped to the scene, which was cordoned off by hundreds of police, and later went to the hospital where she was seen trying to comfort the mother of instructor Saxena.

It was not immediately known who had control of the high-performance single-engine biplane when it crashed. The plane, specially designed for aerobatics, had arrived in India earlier this month, airport sources said.

The government ordered an immediate investigation of the crash.

Sanjay started flying in 1976 and got his license the following year, during his mother's first term as prime minister. He piloted small planes during the 1977 re-election campaign. His license was suspended after Mrs. Gandhi's election defeat in 1977. He resumed flying recently and would often go up for an hour in the early morning.

His name stirred deep emotion among Indians, ranging from bitter dislike to blind adoration.

Opposition leaders charged that Mrs. Gandhi was grooming Sanjay as a successor, which she denied. Nonetheless his critics continued to refer to him as the "crown prince," even as he stood trial in a number of criminal cases, including alleged assault and battery against a police official.

Several political commentators considered Sanjay to be India's second most powerful political figure after Mrs. Gandhi herself.

Sanjay won his first seat in Parliament in the January voting and emerged after that as a vocal member of the legislature.

Sweetwater Citizens Say Prayers Answered

SWEETWATER (AP)—This West Texas town's prayers were answered this weekend when five inches of rain relieved a critical water shortage.

"I've become a total believer. Amen," said City Manager Joe Benton as he looked out over his lawn Sunday, rain dripping from his face.

A thunderstorm pelted this Nolan County town of 12,000 Saturday night.

The rain ended a drought so severe that 500 persons had held hands, prayed and sang hymns on the grounds of the Nolan County Courthouse June 1.

The Saturday night deluge eclipsed overnight the less-than-five inches of rain that had fallen the previous six months here.

bringing the annual moisture total up to nearly normal for this time of year in West Central Texas.

The Rev. Orval Brantley, a Baptist pastor who had organized the prayer service, had asked "God to give us rain in your own good time."

Benton said it was the biggest rainfall here in more than a year.

The city manager said that "while I wasn't at the prayer service because I was out of town, I will most certainly endeavor to be present at all prayer services for rain in the future."

Public water usage had been cut back drastically because of the low water in the city's reservoirs. The rain produce at least a two-foot rise in the level at Oak Creek Lake, at least 6 inches at Lake Sweetwater and a slight rise at Lake Trammell.

Before the rain, the three lakes were holding less than 9,000 acre feet of water, compared with total capacity of 52,000 acre feet.

The rain was widespread enough to benefit other communities, with acute water shortages, such as Roy, McCaulley, Sylvester and Longworth.

Chips Off Bricks To Make Living

FORT WORTH (AP)—When it comes to making money, Bill Bess is just a chip off the old brick. That's what he does for a living: chip off the old brick.

And it's not bad, he says. "Twenty-five dollars a thousand," he says. "I run about 12, 15-hundred to 2,000 a day."

Bess has been chipping old mortar off and cleaning bricks for the past 12 years. All it takes is a small hatchet, heavy cotton work gloves and time, he says.

Need for cataract surgery?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Is the ultrasonic method of cataract removal accepted and approved by the medical profession? If so, where can I find a doctor who uses this procedure?

DEAR READER—Yes, this method enables the eye surgeon to make a very small incision, fragment the cataract and suck out the little pieces. There is some advantage to having a very small incision as opposed to a larger incision.

A decision as to whether a person needs a cataract operation and what kind of surgery should be done depends on the nature of each individual case. To find out if you're really a candidate for surgery and, if so, what kind of surgery you need, you'll certainly need the evaluation by a competent ophthalmologist.

Meanwhile, I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-6, Your Cataracts Are Coming. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My nine-week-old niece was diagnosed as having galactosemia. She was only two weeks old. She had all the symptoms and a blood test showed that she was lacking an enzyme. She also had jaundice and an enlarged liver. Her liver is still enlarged. Is this normal?

We understand that with the galactosemia she will never be able to have any milk products or sugar in her diet. We're told that if she stays on a very strict diet, free of milk and sugar, that she can live a normal healthy life. Is this correct?

DEAR READER—This is a very rare disease and there are two types of enzyme deficiencies that can cause galactosemia. And, of course, I can't tell from your letter which form your niece has. Galactose is one of the three basic single sugars. It's only formed in making milk. It is not found in any sugar except milk sugar. The other two single sugars are glucose and fructose. The combination of these two provide ordinary table sugar. Glucose and fructose are the source of starch in vegetables and the sugars in fruit.

Babies with galactosemia are deficient in an enzyme that enables the body to metabolize or break down the galactose sugar into carbon dioxide and release its energy. Because of this, in the classic form the galactose products will accumulate in the liver, causing the liver enlargement and they can also accumulate in the eyes causing cataracts. It's perfectly true that if the child's problem is discovered very early and all sources of galactose are eliminated from the diet that the child will get along all right, provided there are no other metabolic problems present.

Now since ordinary table sugar does not contain any galactose, in the classic form of the disease it shouldn't cause any difficulty unless there are other enzymes missing that interfere with the metabolism of these sugars as well. Your niece's doctor, I'm sure, will be familiar with this and know whether it's advisable or not. If your niece just has the pure galactosemia and does not use any milk or any foods made with any milk at all in her early life, she should have a good chance of leading a normal life.

Now I really have something to cheer about: 58 pounds lost!

Gladys Conway's True Story:

I never worried about my weight, until my husband started telling me a couple of years ago that I needed to slim down. He was right. At 170 pounds, I was just too heavy. Now, I'm the successful one! I'm down to 112 pounds, and I've lost a total of 68 inches from my waist alone. I love the way my figure has stayed firm and smooth all along. Pat Walker's Symmetron passive exercise unit takes care of that.

My husband and I go to every football game we can (we haven't missed one University of Texas game in 18 years). I enjoy going more than ever now, because I look as good as I feel!

Holbrook Death Is Ruled Suicide

MEXIA, Texas (AP)—Prominent psychiatrist John Holbrook, who became famous for his testimony at the Jack Ruby trial, committed suicide, a justice of the peace ruled today.

Holbrook's death last Monday was due to an "overdose of a combination of alcohol and Valium," Justice of the Peace Opaline Bonner ruled.

Judge Bonner said that because of the nature of the death she wanted her inquest to be very thorough before she ruled and didn't want anyone to think she was "withholding anything." She said she relied heavily on the police investigation report and the autopsy results.

Holbrook's body was found in a Mexia motel. Authorities said the 56-year-old psychiatrist left a note beside his body and another at his Dallas home.

Limestone County officials said they found bottles containing alcohol and pills.

Mrs. Bonner said Holbrook checked into the motel the day before his death.

Holbrook, licensed as both a psychiatrist and psychologist, had worked with law enforcement since the early 1960s when he was one of 10 doctors to testify at Ruby's murder trial in Dallas.

Ruby was charged with killing Lee Harvey Oswald Nov. 23, 1963. Oswald, according to the Warren Commission, killed President John Kennedy Nov. 22.

Ruby had claimed he suffered from "psychomotor epilepsy," which made him insane at the time of the Oswald shooting.

But Holbrook, testifying for the state, said Ruby did not have the disorder.

Holbrook later worked for the Texas Department of Corrections, where he established the prison system's first psychiatric program. He resumed private practice in Dallas in 1973.

Carter Gets 104 Of Texas Democrat Delegates

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP)—President Jimmy Carter won most of Texas delegates to the Democratic national convention, but Sen. Edward Kennedy's backers will have a say in everything that happens.

"We improved our position in this convention and we are in better shape for New York," said Billie Carr, of Houston, a member of the National Democratic Committee and statewide Kennedy campaigner.

The Democratic state convention ended Saturday night with Carter getting 104 of Texas' 152 delegates, or 68.4 percent. However, Kennedy increased his holdings from 38 delegates, or 25 percent. It had been estimated after county conventions he would get only 35 or 36 delegates.

Kennedy also won three positions among Texas' eight members of the powerful National Democratic Committee. Currently there is only one Kennedy member.

Ten uncommitted delegates will go to New York.

In a meeting of the national convention delegation following the state convention, State Democratic Chairman Billy Goldberg announced that seven Texas would serve on each of seven national convention committees. On each committee there will be five Carter backers and two Kennedy backers from Texas.

Delegation leaders will be Goldberg, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and former Attorney General John Hill, serving as co-delegation chairmen. Honorary delegation chairmen are Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, and House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas. All five are Carter supporters.

The final hours of the two-day state convention were enlivened by floor debates and record votes over gay rights and the DNC membership.

The Lesbian-Gay Caucus supported two resolutions that would repeal Texas sodomy laws and condemn discrimination against homosexuals. Both were approved in committee and supported on the floor by former Houston Mayor Fred Hofheinz, head of the Kennedy caucus, and U. S. Rep. Mickey Leland, D-Texas, of Houston.

The resolution that urged repeal of state laws against homosexual acts among consenting adults failed by a vote of 2,073 to 1,692. The second resolution failed on voice vote after long arguments.

Dallas' moderate Millie Bruner, named to the national Democratic committee by a convention nominating committee, fought off a challenge from current DNC member Carrin Patman, who was bumped by the committee.

Pittsburgh Snaps Astro Home Winning Streak

HOUSTON (AP)—Pittsburgh's Jim Bibby considers his fastball on a par with those of the Astros' J.R. Richard and Nolan Ryan, and he demonstrated it for them Sunday night.

Bibby and Grant Jackson combined on a four-hitter to lead the Pirates to a 2-1 triumph over Houston that broke the Pirates' six-game losing streak.

A season-high Astro home crowd of 46,213 saw two Astros' strings broke - six wins in a row and 14 straight home victories.

Despite the loss, Houston remained three games ahead in the National League West.

"I think I've matured as a pitcher," Bibby said. "I'm 35 years old, but I feel like I've got a 25-year-old arm. I've got good velocity on my fastball. I think I rank up there with J.R. and Nolan."

It was the eighth win in nine decisions for Bibby, who didn't enter the majors until he was 28 years old. That was after four years of college, two years of military service and a back operation.

"I've learned how to pitch now," Bibby said. "It came late in my career but I started late."

Pittsburgh manager Chuck Tanner agreed.

"The fastball used to be all he threw, but he's added a curve ball and some other pitches. He and Bruce Kison were our two best pitchers coming down the stretch last year," Tanner said.

Losing pitcher Joe Niekro, 7-6, surrendered a first-inning run and a solo home run by John Milner in the sixth.

Omar Moreno led off the game with a single and

Publicity Locates Glider Following Canadian Effort

ILE BIZARD, Quebec (AP)—Although he's a winner again, that burning desire for success, the all-consuming drive for perfection that dominates the lives of many athletes, does not afflict Bob Gilder.

"I may have different goals from some of your superstars," Gilder said after completing a front-running, two-stroke victory in the Canadian Open Golf championship Sunday.

"First of all, I'm not a superstar," he said. "I am not sure I even want to be."

"I want to win, but if I don't, it's not the end of the world."

"Mainly, I just love to play the game. My object is to make a living without too much publicity. And I've made a heck of a living."

He has, indeed. The $63,000 he collected from the total purse of $350,000 pushed his earnings for the year to $134,650. The quiet, low-key Gilder, who is 29, also won $134,000 last year and has collected almost one-half million dollars in his five years of PGA Tour activity.

But the acquisition of the Canadian national championship, a title that has yet to be won by such stars as Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Tom Watson, may produce more publicity than is welcomed by the shy man from Corvallis, Ore. Among other things, the triumph puts him in such showcase events as the 1980 World Series of Golf and the 1981 Masters and Tournament of Champions.

Gilder, an Arizona State product, had a relatively easy-time picking up his second tour title. The other camp in the Phoenix Open in his rookie season of 1976.

This time he started the final round with a 2-stroke lead, birdied three of the first six holes, led by 3-4 shots most of the warm, sunny day and eventually finished two strokes in front with a 274 total, six shots under par on the 6,628 yard Royal Montreal Golf Club course.

scored on Bill Madlock's single after Niekro had loaded the bases on walks to Milner and Mike Easter.

Terry Puhl got two of the four hits Bibby surrendered, including his sixth home run of the season in the sixth inning.

Carner Controls Lady Keystone

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—It's murder going through a slump. Seems endless - but you can't come out until you win again. I feel terrific.

That's what JoAnne Carner said Sunday after she ended a 14-week slump with a wire-to-wire victory in the LPGA's $100,000 Lady Keystone Open over the West Course of Hershey Country Club.

The tournament drew an Ladies Professional Golf Association record crowd of 27,350, according to Ruffin Beckwith, director of public relations for the LPGA.

Carner shot a final round 1-under par 71 for a 54-hole total of 9-under 207.

Borg, Navratilova Top Seeds...

Wimbledon Unveiled

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—This is a very important Wimbledon for me," said Bjorn Borg as he prepared to meet Ismail El Shafei of Egypt in Monday's first round of the world's major tennis tournament.

"If I reach the quarter-finals I will beat Rod Laver's record. Winning the tournament itself is the most important thing, that's for sure," he added shyly. "If I win the title for the fifth year in succession, that will be amazing."

Laver's record was winning 31 matches at Wimbledon in a row - through it was a row stretched over nine years.

The red-haired Australian won the Wimbledon title in 1961 and 1962. He was locked out as a professional for six years. Then, when tennis went open, he came back to win again in 1968 and 1969 and finally lost to Britain's Roger Taylor in the fourth round in 1970.

Borg, 24, earlier this month, has won Wimbledon for the last four years and has had a run of 28 victories. He is a strong favorite to take the title again.

Four Americans were expected to present the strongest challenge to the athletic, muscular Swede. In order of seeding, they were John McEnroe, Jimmy Connors, Vitas Gerulaitis and Roscoe Tanner.

Tanner took Borg to five close sets in last year's final.

Among the unseeded players, Brian Gottfried came to Wimbledon looking good. After a patch of indifferent form, he bounced back Saturday to beat Sandy Mayer 6-3, 6-3 in the final of the Surrey Grass Courts Championships at Surbiton.

Even though Wimbledon's top five were not competing, Gottfried's success was impressive. Tracy Austin won the last warmup women's event, at Eastbourne, by overcoming Wendy Turnbull 7-6, 6-2 in a troublesome wind.

She faltered in each set, losing a 5-1 lead in the first and missing a match point at 5-0 in the second.

Austin, 17, hopes to be the youngest Wimbledon champion since Lottie Dod, who was 15½ when she won the title nearly 100 years ago.

Martina Navratilova, seeking her third straight Wimbledon crown, is seeded No. 1 with Austin No. 2. The women's singles begin Tuesday.

Toronto's Jays Rally To Trim Rangers, 6-5

ARLINGTON (AP)—Sunday was supposed to be Jerry Garvin's day off.

And Toronto Manager Bob Matlack tried to give him one.

Then the Blue Jays made an incredible rally and finally had to call on Garvin to preserve a 10-inning, come-from-behind 6-5 victory over the Texas Rangers Sunday night.

"I've been pitching a lot lately and Mattiek told me I had the day off," said Garvin. "I was just sort of looking around at the stands and enjoying myself. Then Garth Iorg hit his first major league homer. Things changed real fast after that."

Iorg drilled a two-run homer off Ranger reliever Sparky Lyle in the eighth inning after Ranger starter Gaylord Perry had tired and taken himself out of the game with a 5-1 lead.

"We were glad to see him go," said Iorg. "Perry was simply awesome."

Toronto scored three runs in the eighth, then tied it off Jim Kern in the ninth inning on a run-scoring single by Alfredo Griffin.

Lloyd Moseby's sacrifice fly in the 10th inning provided the victory margin for Garvin.

Jack Kucek started for Toronto but yielded to Bolor Moore. Tom Buskey, Paul Mirabella and Joey McLaughlin all pitched before Garvin entered the game in the eighth inning.

"I got really pumped up and I think that's why I had trouble finding the plate for awhile," said Garvin, who is now 2-3. "It was a great win. We haven't won one like this all year. It should give our team a real big lift."

Perry allowed only four hits while the Rangers piled up a lead as Bump Wills and Al Oliver each knocked in two runs and catcher Jim Sundberg knocked in another.

Ranger Manager Pat Corrales said, "Gaylord told me he was done. You couldn't ask for any more than what he did. You couldn't ask for more than a four run lead. But I still have to go to my bullpen. Right now the bullpen just isn't doing the job."

Kern's record dropped to 2-9 after a 13-5 season in 1979 which included 29 saves. Kern has two saves this year.

Texas Republicans Resolve Differences Early

HOUSTON (AP)—Listening to a call from state Republican leaders for unity in this election year, the 3,875 delegates to Texas GOP convention settled most of their differences in caucus, keeping them off the floor and leaving with no major divisions in their ranks. There was a brief flare-up over a tough anti-abortion resolution that eventually was approved. Some delegates grumbled about the fact they would be represented at the Detroit national convention by those pledged to George Bush, who has unofficially ended his campaign for the nomination. But that was settled in a May primary when Reagan won 61 delegates and Bush 19. Bush has said he would ask his supporters to vote for Reagan on the first ballot. Gov. William Clements, Sen. John Tower, R-Texas; Rep. Bill Archer, R-Texas; and former ambassador Anne Armstrong took turns in lashing out at President Carter and the delegates gave them each numerous cheers. Clements brought the loudest response from the crowd, which interrupted his speech at least 50 times. The controversial anti-abortion resolution called for a constitutional ament "protecting the unborn child at any stage of biological development." Classified Ads 573-5486 Use Snyder Daily News
