

Nuremberg-Like Trial Urged For Hostages In Iran

By The Associated Press
An influential member of Iran's new Parliament today urged that the American hostages face a court similar to the one that tried Nazi war criminals in Nuremberg. Meanwhile, Iran's female civil servants were threatened with immediate dismissal unless they report to work in Islamic veils.

Hejazi received the most votes of any parliamentary candidate who ran in Tehran, the Iranian capital. He is a staunch supporter of the Islamic Republican Party, which favors spy trials for some of the hostages and dominates the Parliament, which is to decide their fate. Hejazi spoke in the town of Estahbanat in the southern province of Fars. His remarks were carried by Iran's official news media. Nuremberg was the German city where the United States and its allies tried Nazi criminals after World War II. The militants holding the U.S. hostages said Sunday that some of their captives had been moved again from three cities because the U.S. government was plotting to kill them, and more would be transferred.

"In view of military aggression by the world-devouring U.S.A. against Iran and its satanic plots against the life of the hostage-spies, we have decided to transfer them to different parts of the country so as to have them under the control of the nation, until such time as their final fate is decided by the Islamic Mujahids," the militants said in a statement broadcast by Tehran Radio.

Carter To Confer With Hua

PLAINS, Ga. (AP)—President Carter will confer with Chinese Premier Hua Guofeng when he visits Tokyo this week to attend a memorial service for the late Japanese Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira. The traveling White House announced the meeting between the two leaders Sunday when it released the president's schedule for the 21-hour visit to Tokyo.

Traffic Deaths Fall Short

By The Associated Press
The number of traffic deaths over the Fourth of July weekend apparently was slightly below the levels predicted by the National Safety Council before the three-day holiday began. By midnight Sunday, 429 persons had been reported killed on the nation's highways. The National Safety Council had estimated that between 500 and 600 people could die in traffic accidents over the holiday, which began at 6 p.m. Thursday. During a three-day, non-holiday period at this time of year, Safety Council statisticians estimated 500 traffic deaths could be expected. During a one-day observance last year, there were 164 highway deaths. The highest number of traffic fatalities on a Fourth of July three-day weekend was 638 in 1971. The highest toll for the holiday was 758 during a four-day weekend in 1972.

No Agreement In Sight

DETROIT (AP)—A strike by 9,000 municipal workers entered its seventh day today, a union spokesman conceded that bargainers for the city and its striking employees still were far from agreement eight days from the start of the Republican National Convention. Talks between the city and Council 25 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees recessed early today to allow union representatives to review a new counter-proposal.

Pope Escapes Surging Crowd

SALVADOR, Brazil (AP)—Pope John Paul II had to take refuge in a bus today when thousands of barefooted slum dwellers mobbed around him in this northeastern Brazilian city. Vatican and local prelates formed a quick protective cordon around John Paul after security arrangements in this foul-smelling shantytown of 130,000 people broke down. Only one little girl actually managed to grab the pope for an instant—and the pontiff's white cassock was spattered with mud as he moved to escape the surging throng. The pope ducked into a bus reserved for the papal party.

Grand Jury To Hear 8 Cases

No fewer than eight cases were tentatively scheduled for presentation before a Scurry County grand jury that convened this morning. Four of the eight cases involved Ricky Dale Slaughter, 2011 KSNV Drive, arrested following a series of break-ins around June 4. Slaughter is charged with burglarizing establishments owned by Murry Jackson, James Smiley, Ruben Bingham, and Gary Abrahams. Also charged with burglary is Sherman "Sedge" Merritt Jr., 2206 45th St. On June 2 he is alleged to have broken into the Towle Park swimming pool. One of the cases involved an escape charge filed against William David Atkinson, Atkinson, an inmate at the Scurry County Jail, walked away from the facility June 23. A criminal mischief charge against D.W. Lynch of Big Spring was also scheduled for presentation before the grand jury. Lynch is charged with destroying a commode in his jail cell at the police station June 28. Another Big Spring man, Jerry Thomas Walton, was scheduled to have his drunken driving case go before the grand jury. Walton was arrested on the driving while intoxicated charge June 21.

June Water Deliveries Up

Heavy demands for the last half of June made it the first month in 1980 to show a delivery gain for the Colorado River Municipal Water District. An unusually cold first quarter and a cut-off or reduction of deliveries to oil companies had caused the district total to run 8.72 per cent behind 1979 through May. However, June deliveries amounted to 1,767,961,578 gallons, representing a gain of 19.01 per cent or 282,000,000 gallons for the month. This reduced the production deficit through the first half to 3.56 per cent by totalling 7,698,696,476 gallons. July has started with record deliveries and it is possible that a gain may be registered by the end of the month.

Cities took 1,620,599,400 gallons in June, 21.73 per cent or 289,000,000 gallons more than in June 1979. This brought to 6,782,523,000 gallons the amount used by cities in the first half of 1980, up 7.80 per cent. Water for mining and industrial use totalled 147,362,178 gallons for June, down 4.42 percent from a year ago, or 92,189,000 gallons. Before deliveries to these users was restricted to conserve supplies for municipal use, an average month was 500,000,000 and some ran up to 775,000,000. Through the first half of 1980, mining and industrial deliveries aggregated only 916,173,496 gallons, down 45.82 percent from the previous year, or 45.82 per cent.

The Snyder City council meets at 6:30 p.m. today at city hall and will take its first formal look at the proposed 1980-81 budget. The tentative budget totals $3.5 million compared to $3 million for the current fiscal year. City Manager John Gayle said approximately $325,000 of the increase is for water line, replacements and sanitation equipment. The figure also includes pay increases for city personnel.

The council is expected to set Aug. 4 as the date for a public hearing on the proposed budget. Also on the agenda is an executive session requested by City Attorney Ernie Armstrong concerning possible litigation. First on the agenda is a public hearing for a zone change request by Mrs. Odell Sanderford Jenkins. The council also will consider approval of the K mart store plan as submitted by C&W Manhattan and Associates of Houston. Under old business, the council will again consider a proposal by Sig Line to give 37 acres to the city, adjacent to Deep Creek and south of 30th St., for use as a park. The city will hear a

Rate Hike Would Finance Expansion...

Ma Bell Wants More Money

By KEN HERMAN
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP)—Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. today asked the Texas Public Utility Commission for rate increases totaling $326.3 million, including $1.75 per month more from residential customers. Bell also wants to reduce the number of free directory assistance calls from 10 to five per month, with a 25-cent charge for each additional "information" call. Customers now pay

20 cents for each directory assistance over 10. Paul Roth, vice president for revenue and public affairs in Texas, said the company needs the money to continue necessary expansion. "We can't refuse to expand. We can't wait for lower interest rates," he said at a news conference. "We see no prospects for relief, even in the long-term future." The rate request includes a $1.25 per month increase for one-party residential service, plus another 50 cents a month if a customer used a telephone provided by Bell. One-party business service would go up by $3.75 per month. No increase is sought for in-state long distance calls, WATS service, or coin telephones. One-time connection charges for residential service would go up $2.25 to $56.50. Customers who pick up and connect their phones could save more than $20 under the proposal. Bell is also seeking a change in measured service, an option now used by only 29,000 of Bell's 3.5 million residential customers in Texas. The service provides reduced rates for customers who make fewer than 25 calls per month, with a charge of 8 cents for each additional call. Bell wants to charge for each call but give customers a $1.85 monthly "usage allowance" and bill only for calls exceeding that amount. Bell also wants to bill measured service customers for the distance, duration and time of day of each call, similar to long distance billing. Last year, Bell requested rate increases totaling $145 million and received increases amounting to $138.7 million per year, including higher pay phone and business telephone charges.

More Hot Days On Way

By The Associated Press
After a sizzling holiday weekend, the South and Southwest faced more blistering temperatures as the heat wave that has claimed at least 142 lives entered its 15th day. The death toll today stood at 86 in Texas, 29 in Arkansas, 17 in Oklahoma, 5 in Kansas, 3 in Louisiana and one each in Missouri, Mississippi and Alabama.

In Arkansas, the National Weather Service said the outlook for the rest of the summer was for continued sizzling temperatures. "The type-weather pattern we're seeing usually comes later in the summer," said forecaster Mike Thompson at Little Rock. "But because it has been established earlier than normal we have a chance of seeing above normal temperatures later this summer."

Three Arkansas residents succumbed to the heat Sunday. One person collapsed after digging in the yard and two others were found inside their homes in Lawrence County, where temperatures reached 104 degrees Sunday. In Oklahoma, railroad tracks expanded after two weeks of sweltering temperatures and caused a 15-car freight train to derail near Fort Gibson late Saturday, said Missouri Pacific Railroad officials. No injuries were reported. Temperatures were at or above 100 degrees in many parts of Kansas on the last day of the holiday weekend and forecasts predicted no letup in the heat.

County Takes Lone Bid On Motor Grader

Scurry County Commissioners Monday morning accepted a bid from Traenor Equipment Co., of Abilene for the purchase of a motor grader for precinct two. The net bid of $82,615 was the only bid received. In other business Monday, the court heard a budget request from Bill Gunter of the Texas Extension Service. The court presently is working on the 1981 budget. The court also reported that a test pump has been placed on a water well drilled for the Hermleigh Water Works last year. The well is pumping about 60 gallons per minute. It was also reported that three members of the court are expected to represent Scurry County at a public hearing on the MX missile site to be held in Lubbock Wednesday. Those expecting to attend are Commissioners Hassie Sneed, Eldon Perry and Charlie Yoast.

SAN JOSE, Calif. (NEA) — Back in the good old days, when life was simple and government was benign, the sole federal building in most communities was the post office. Only in the country's largest cities was there also a modest courthouse.

But today there are hundreds of massive federal office buildings scattered throughout the nation — and the recent rapid growth of government is only partially responsible for the proliferation of those structures; many of them multi-million-dollar skyscrapers.

No, self-respecting community large enough to call itself a city wants to be without a sparkling new federal building. This is the story of one typically unnecessary structure — a status symbol Washington didn't want but San Jose needed to demonstrate that it finally had emerged from San Francisco's shadow.

San Jose's bid for its very own federal building dates back to the mid-1970s, but the proposal was turned aside for two years by the White House's Office of Management and Budget on the grounds that existing facilities in the city were adequate and a new building would be a wasteful extravagance.

That's because there is little federal presence in San Jose while San Francisco, less than 45 miles to the north, serves as regional headquarters for virtually every government department and agency and is the home of thousands of federal employees.

But that arrangement didn't satisfy the proud local civic and political leaders, including Rep. Norman Y. Mineta, D-Calif., an otherwise conscientious legislator who was elected to Congress in 1974 after serving as mayor of San Jose.

When the 96th Congress was organized in January 1977, Mineta was named chairman of the public buildings and grounds subcommittee of the House Public Works and Transportation Committee. The subcommittee's responsibilities included authorizing new federal buildings.

Less than a month after he assumed the post, Mineta boasted that he had devised a scheme under which the San Jose building proposal "will bypass the Office of Management and Budget and go straight to the Congress for consideration."

By the end of 1977, Mineta had secured not only authorizing legislation but also a congressional appropriation of more than $34.1 million to construct an earthquake-resistant, handicapped-accessible, 297,000-square-foot building with 200 parking spaces in the basement and an adjacent multi-tiered garage.

Even when applying generous projections of space demands, the General Services Administration was able to find occupants for only about three-fourths of the proposed building — but then GSA Administrator Joel W. Solomon was glad to oblige the chairman of the subcommittee with jurisdiction over his agency.

In fact, several GSA officials say Mineta and Solomon agreed to trade GSA support of the San Jose building for subcommittee backing of a plan to spend more than $3.3 million to refurbish GSA's most notorious white elephant, the federal building in Laguna Niguel, Calif.

Almost six years after it was purchased by the federal government in a deal that generated a storm of controversy, the Laguna Niguel building remains less than 30 percent occupied because of its isolated location.

"It was a bad deal and we never should have been suckered into it," Mineta said in December 1977. But in February 1978 — only two months later — Solomon received a favorable hearing when he presented Mineta's subcommittee with a plan to install carpeting, office dividers and other amenities in a largely vacant building.

Mineta insists that "there was absolutely no connection" between the San Jose and Laguna Niguel projects — but he interrupted Solomon's February 1978 testimony and insisted upon receiving a construction commitment in San Jose before allowing the GSA administrator to continue his pitch for Laguna Niguel. The Senate fortunately rejected the plan to remodel the desolate Laguna Niguel facility, but construction is expected to begin next year in San Jose — and the estimated cost of that unneeded building now probably exceeds $40 million.

missing messages

You can entice a viewer to the tube but you can't make him understand everything he sees, or so a recent study of public comprehension of television programming suggests. Questioning 2,700 viewers on their understanding of several test tapes, researchers found that the overwhelming majority missed significant portions of the messages. The results are of particular concern to advertisers because it suggests they are not getting full value for the billions they spend on TV. But even so, commercials scored higher in audience comprehension than entertainment programming. On the basis of their statistics, the researchers concluded that more than 90 percent of the television audience may not be catching from a quarter to a third of the import of such popular programs as "Charlie's Angels," "Three's Company" and "Sheriff Lobo." That's bad?

airbags not a priority

The campaign to make installation of air bags mandatory in American cars is not in the public interest. Yes, air bags can reduce the chance of injury in head-on collision to automobile passengers not wearing seatbelts. They are of no use, though, when a car is struck from the side and are often useless in multiple collisions, when a car strikes several objects. Seat belts are better. Nonetheless, some persons will not wear them. That is their business; it is not possible for the government to make such persons use seat belts, unless they are so constructed that their use is automatic. Even in that case, some will find ways to short circuit the system. In the end, it is an individual's choice whether or not to use seat belts. Why should those who wear seat belts have to pay extra to get air-bags they do not need? By lulling motorists into a false sense of security, air bags might encourage motorists to forego use of their seat belts, which provide more versatile protection. Air bags are unnecessary, and it is unjust to force car buyers to pay for them if they do not want them. They are better than nothing, so perhaps they ought to be available as an option. They should not be required.

Okay, America, this is the time to play it cool. A few dozen teenagers have gotten burr hairstyles. It doesn't mean we're into a hair recession, but we all have a shot at having our young people look like our high school graduation pictures if we just keep our heads.

I cannot caution you enough on what a sensitive and crucial time this is. You probably think I'm over-reacting, but if one just-one-parent gets a burr haircut, it's all over. We've blown it. For centuries young people have tried desperately to get a "look" that is their own. Every time they do, their parents come along and imitate it and young people move on to something else.

They loved miniskirts, loud music, tinted glasses, gold chains around the neck, causes, marches, relationships, meaningful conversations, tight jeans, tape decks and frizzy hair until their parents discovered them too and their popularity began to wane. I never knew what solitude was until I poked my head into my son's bedroom one day when his stereo was going 86 decibel and shouted, "Could you turn it up? I can't hear all the words in the kitchen." From then on, his music became private. For parents who yearn to see their son's ears once more, may I suggest you pick out a boy in the neighborhood who has a ponytail down his back and say to your son, "Why can't you let your hair grow like George? It's neat caught up in a rubber band instead of sticking up in the air like a porcupine in heat?" Tell him it's his "patriotic duty" to keep his hair long like George Washington. Tell him he can't go visiting with you until he lets his hair grow as you're ashamed of him. Tell him he looks like his sister with short hair and not to be surprised if the coach tells him to let his hair grow before he can play football. Nag at him for not using enough shampoo and water. ("How can you hair be clean if you use only one towel to dry it?") Remind him of the good old days when his hair used to clog the drains every two weeks or so. But mostly, what we all must do is to let our hair grow. Remember, the longer ours becomes, the shorter theirs will become. I know I'm asking a lot. It's going to be a long, hot summer, but we can do it, parents. For America! congressional comment

WASHINGTON, D.C.— Late last month the House passed the controversial Motor Carrier Act of 1980, better known as the trucking deregulation bill, by a vote of 367-13. This legislation removes many government regulations, and I supported it because it is a further step toward allowing free enterprise to work on its own merits — without government interference — while maintaining quality service. This act will make it easier for newcomers to enter the trucking industry, thus creating increased competition. The deregulation bill will grant truckers greater flexibility in pricing and should lead to more efficient trucking service. Curtailed federal restrictions should also result in fuel savings and lower prices for consumers. Some of the major elements of this bill include removal of some collective rate-setting, more pricing freedom, and easier entry into the trucking business. This measure, as it was passed by the House, will end anti-trust immunity for setting single-line rates—rates charged by one carrier handling an individual haul—by Jan. 1, 1984. The legislation also directs the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) to eliminate rules that require trucks to stop at specific intermediate points. Truckers will, in addition, no longer be required by the ICC to take roundabout routes. These restrictions have, in the past, added to trucking costs. The trucking deregulation bill will allow individual trucking firms to alter their fares within a 10 percent range without fear of intervention by rate bureaus or the ICC, which regulates the industry. This law also expands the exemptions of agricultural products to include livestock, poultry feed, certain seeds and plants, and other previously regulated items. In addition, the measure removes many restrictions on processed foods, thereby giving independent carriers and others a better opportunity to enter the processed foods transportation market.

During consideration of this proposal, I received a large volume of mail from constituents in the 17th District expressing concern and interest in the possible effects of deregulation in the trucking industry, both pro and con. Small shippers and farmers were encouraged by the bill's provisions that would expand their markets and cause a reduction in rates. This legislative action was not designed as an attempt to completely revolutionize the trucking industry. It did, however, begin to reduce unnecessary government intervention in this segment of private enterprise. I feel that this legislation can accomplish these goals and that it is a step in the right direction. Certainly, my major concern on this bill was a consideration of its probable effect on our small towns and communities. I am confident that the overall direction of trucking deregulation is in the best interest of rural America and in the best interest of our nation as a whole.

Oswald: "Greed is a terrible thing and South's greed cost him the rubber when he found an unusual way to get himself set at his five-heart contract." Alan: "After that remark, I think I can work out what South did. Just answer one question. Did he lead a spade at trick two?"

Oswald: "Yes. East won and led a second trump." Alan: "I'm ready now. South won in dummy, led the jack of clubs and let it ride. He didn't care if the finesse were going to lose because West could not lead another trump. He had shown out on the second trump lead. As we can see that club queen is in the West hand. If West takes his queen South will be able to ruff one spade with dummy's last trump, draw trumps and eventually discard his last spade on the long club in dummy. But, West doesn't take his queen at that first opportunity."

Oswald: "You have it. West let the jack hold. Now South overlooked that possibility and led a second club to his ten. He intended to make an overtrick by ruffing his last spade, coming back to his hand with the king of clubs, drawing trumps, etc."

Alan: "Then West produced his queen, led a third club and East ruffed." (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Controlling Sugar Consumption

By Gaynor Maddox

Sweet tooth, beware. Sugar prices are destined to rise far beyond current levels. So say producers of sugar, sugar-related products and, especially, soft drinks. And don't expect those prices to come down again, they warn. The causes of this price rise include a poor sugar crop in most of the world last year and an improvement in the diets of many third-world peoples.

All of this provides another reason for us to control our consumption of cookies, chocolate bars and Mother's three-layer cake. If present trends continue, that bottle of cola will someday seem as expensive as a glass of champagne. As if there is not reason enough already for us to reduce our sugar intake. If you doubt that Americans eat too much sugar, consider that each of us consumes more than 130 pounds of sugars and sweeteners a year. That not only includes spoonfuls from the sugar bowl but also sugars and syrups in jam, jelly, candy, soft drinks, ice cream, sweetened breakfast cereal, ketchup and hundreds of other foods.

The dietary guidelines recently issued by the federal government recommend that Americans eat less sugar. That includes not only white sugar but brown sugar, raw sugar, honey and syrup. The government also advises that we reduce our consumption of foods and beverages containing sugar.

Why? Because sugar provides what are termed "empty calories" — that is, calories but little else of nutritional value, such as protein, vitamins or minerals. And because sugar is so highly refined that we digest it quickly and soon are hungry again. Too much sugar can cause you to gain weight, of course.

Too much sugar can also threaten your teeth with cavities.

Here's a disturbing statistic from the Agriculture Department: If all 100,000 dentists in the United States worked day and night for a year filling cavities, there would still be as many new cavities to fill at the end of the year as when they began.

How much sugar you eat at one sitting is not as important in the development of cavities as how often you eat it. The danger of tooth decay increases each time you snack without brushing your teeth afterward.

So, why not substitute fresh fruits and vegetables for some of those sweet treats — for the good of your pocketbook, your waistline and your teeth?

Van Pools Hailed As Short-Term Solutions

By JIM TEEL
Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP)—The fastest-growing mass transit system in Texas provides door-to-door service, accepts no federal subsidies and is hailed by many as a short-term solution to Houston's traffic congestion.

At last count it consisted of more than 1,000 vans operated by employers fed up with crowded highways, sky-high gasoline prices and an inadequate city bus service.

The vans already transport as many as one-fifth the number of passengers using Metropolitan Transit Authority buses and more of the 12- to 15-passenger vehicles are being put on the streets every day.

"We have a transportation success story," said Donald L. Williams, president of Rice Center, a non-profit urban research institute.

"It's probably one of the most successful programs in the country."

In 1975 there were 10 vans operating as commuter service in Houston. That figure reached 242 in 1978, 861 in 1979 and may top the 1,300 mark by the end of 1980.

About 3,000 vans operate in commuter pools nationwide. Almost half of those are in Texas, while more than one-third operate in Houston.

Van pooling began in Houston as a small-scale operation by a handful of large corporations and has expanded to 52 operators including Houston Independent School District, one hospital and two department stores.

The backbone for most of the large-scale operators is a computer capable of matching riders by location and work schedule.

Texas Medical Center, the sprawling medical complex which employs as many as 40,000 persons, is serviced by a third-party operator with a fleet of 21 vans.

A spokesperson for the service said several thousand Medical Center employees are on waiting lists for van seats. As soon as funding is approved more vans will be added to the service. Hermann Hospital, one of the medical centers in the complex operates its own 20-van fleet. HISD is planning a 100-van fleet for this fall. All of the district's 1,500 employees have been entered in a computer memory making them instantly available for car pool or van pool matching.

The two largest van pool operators are Gulf Oil Corp. and Brown & Root, Inc., which each run more than 100 vans in Houston. Cost of a 50-mile round trip on any of the dozens of van pools ranges from $15 to $50 a month, with most services breaking even at approximately $35.

Employers say they have been forced to provide their own transportation solutions due to MTA's inadequate bus service. Harris County voters passed a 1 percent sales tax two years ago to overhaul the MTA, but most of the money is being saved for long-range plans.

MTA has upgraded many of its existing bus routes, but, according to an MTA spokesperson, it has not significantly increased the number of buses in the last year.

Rice Center estimates only 8 percent of the city's commuters will depend on MTA by 1990. The other 92 percent will be driving alone, car pooling and van pooling.

According to Williams, commuters cannot expect much relief in the next five years from either an increase in highway lanes or MTA transport systems.

"The short-term solutions are in car pooling and van pooling — anything that takes the existing system and allows it to handle more people," he said.

MTA has encouraged these short-term solutions by developing a computerized car pool matching service and by helping develop a contraflow lane for use by buses and vans with more than eight passengers.

Approximately 20,000 potential car poolers register with the car pool program every month.

Williams said congestion will get worse before it gets better, but he added the problem has already been alleviated by a higher average of occupants per vehicle.

"Look at it this way," he said. "If we raise the average number of occupants from 1.2 to 2.4 we'll have half as many cars on the road."

Nichols Grabs Double Victory As...

'Fourth' Netters Tourney Concluded

LOCAL WINNER—Mike Stipe's Plowboy's Pride came up with top prize in the 6,200 Economy Tractor division of the annual Fourth of July Tractor Pull held here Friday and Saturday. A number of local pullers fared well in the two-day meet. Saturday's results were particularly favorable. See article, this page. (Photo by Kay Shifflett)

Snyder's annual Fourth of July Tennis Tournament concluded under fair skies here with some well-fought matches in the adult division. The juniors finished their rounds on Friday. Marci Nichols, at times leaping with the grace of a ballet dancer in pursuit of well-placed shots from her opponents, took victories in both events she entered. Nichols teamed with Jamey Easterling to win mixed doubles, taking a 6-4, 6-7, 6-3 final victory over DeDe and Larry Wiggins, and paired with her mother, Edna, to win women's doubles, 7-6, 2-6, 7-6 over Janis Key and Bekky Butler. Wiggins, a former winner here, met with stronger competition this time and succumbed to Big Spring's Harrison Bowes in the men's singles, 6-4, 6-3. Other top performers at the annual tournament, Tony and Chop Love of Colorado City, were defeated in the semi-finals of men's singles by Wiggins and Bowes, respectively, but rallied to win men's doubles, 6-3, 6-3 over Snyder's Bob Womack and Howard Sterling. In women's singles, Nancy Wilson overcame a strong rally by Donna Gafford to win, 6-1, 7-5.

Western Open Prize Handed To Simpson

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP)—Despite the large doses of publicity given to the blighted greens at Butler National Golf Club, 24-year-old Scott Simpson's victory in the 77th Western Open came down to excellent golf played over one of the most difficult courses on the PGA tour.

Simpson, a 1977 and 1978 NCAA champion for the University of Southern California who joined the tour in January 1979, finished a sizzling 281 Sunday for the new Western Open record over the Butler course. His score over the 7,097-yard, par-72 course tops Andy Bean's record of 282, set in 1978.

Simpson admitted there had been some "grumbling" among the pros in the early rounds over the conditions of the Butler greens, affected by what experts called "red leaf spot." The disease had turned most of the greens to a dead rust color, with the only green coming from a weed that wasn't supposed to be there. The unsightly putting surfaces were sprayed with a dye for the pro-am earlier in the week and for Saturday's and Sunday's televised rounds.

"I don't think anyone had much of an advantage," Simpson said of the greens, adding that "Everyone had the same chances over 72 holes. Whoever hit the most good putts is probably going to make the most putts." Simpson's win Sunday netted him top prize of $54,000, boosting his earnings this year to $102,000. His victory exempts him from qualifying for next year's Western, and puts him into the World Series of Golf and the Masters.

Astros Finally Nip Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Give Houston knuckleball thrower Joe Niekro an open-air stadium with gentle breezes and he can do baffling things with his favorite pitch. "More than half my pitches today were knuckleballs. It was breaking well today," said Niekro, who frustrated everyone in the Cincinnati lineup except Johnny Bench for a 3-2 victory over the Reds.

Niekro's six hits off Niekro, 9-7, including a solo homer in the ninth. But the Astros, with last-out relief help from Frank Lacorte, held on for their only victory in the four-game series with the Reds. Niekro extended his personal winning streak over the Reds to three this season with the help of the light winds. "With the breeze blowing gently toward me today, the knuckler was very effective," said Niekro. "The knuckler breaks in Riverfront (Stadium) a lot better than it breaks in the Astrodome. The breeze helps it."

Terry Puhl, Jose Cruz and Cesar Cedeno singled in the first to give Houston a 1-0 lead against Frank Pastore, 10-5. But Dave Collins led off the Reds' first with a single, stole second and scored on Dave Concepcion's single. Lead-off singles by Bench and Junior Kennedy in the second went wasted when Sam Mejias hit into a double play and Pastore fouled out.

LeDoux Hopeful Tonight As...

Holmes' Title On Line

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP)—Larry Holmes and Scott LeDoux, a couple of onetime truck drivers, who have met with varying degrees of success in the prize ring, fight tonight for the World Boxing Council title held by Holmes. At ringside will be a former employer of Holmes—Muhammad Ali, who has several of his fights promoted by King, and Holmes, who is tied closely to King. But first the 30-year-old unbeaten Holmes must get past the 31-year-old LeDoux who has had a checkered career. Holmes is an overwhelming favorite to succeed.

"There is going to be a fight. That's definite sometime in September or October," said promoter Don King, who is talking about Egypt as a site. But some boxing observers feel the fight will end up at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas. Of course, King is thinking of a bout with Ali, who had several of his fights promoted by King, and Holmes, who is tied closely to King. But first the 30-year-old unbeaten Holmes must get past the 31-year-old LeDoux who has had a checkered career. Holmes is an overwhelming favorite to succeed.

"I'm going to make this an easy fight. Believe me," said Holmes, who scored knockouts in his six previous defenses of the title he won on a split decision over Ken Norton on June 9, 1978. The record for consecutive knockouts in heavyweight title defenses is seven. Joe Louis reached that figure twice. "I've been nervous for a month and a half," said LeDoux who lives in nearby Anoka, Minn. "I'm not nervous because of the fear of Larry Holmes, the biggest fear of all is failure." LeDoux, who has a 26-8-4 record with 17 knockouts, will get his big chance at the 16,800-seat Met Center and before a national television audience. The ABC show will also include a WBC super-lightweight title fight by Saul Mambly of New York and Esteban DeJesus of Puerto Rico, the former WBC lightweight champ and the only man to ever beat Roberto Duran. Mambly, who has a 27-12-5 record with 13 knockouts, won the title by stopping Kim San-Hyun of South Korea in the 14th round in Korea last Feb. 23.

DeJesus has a 56-4 record, with 31 knockouts. His victory over Duran, the former lightweight and now WBC welterweight champ, was a 10-round decision in 1972.

Growing Sinkhole Feeds Fifty-Year-Old Feud

WINKLER COUNTY (AP)—The folks in Kermit and Wink have been feuding over football teams and population size for more than 50 years. But the object of their most heated rivalry is a giant hole that nibbles at surrounding earth and gurgles with murky green water.

to be a nickname for the yawning expanse: the Kermit Krater or the Wink Sink. "It's raised a lot of static between these two towns," said Kermit pilot Lonnie Collins. "It should have been called the Winkler County What Ever."

between the two towns, it has gobbled up oil field pipelines, telephone poles and untold tons of earth and become something of a tourist attraction. "It's just a hole," said a disgusted Vera Johnson, who drove 115 miles from Andrews to gaze disappointedly at the cavern. "It's not exactly 'just a hole,' since the giant cavity measures 400 yards by 360 yards and is more than 70 feet deep."

Curious tourists, journalists, television crews and geology students descend daily upon the area to get a peek at the geological puzzle. "Flies never swarmed on manure like people have on this place," said Mike Davidson, a leather-faces later, "that hole was nearly 150 yards long." Local residents frequently joke about the abyss, but many businessmen are not as amused. The pit's insatiable appetite has seriously threatened a Shell Oil Co. tank farm, spooked travelers driving along Texas Highway 115, and cost Atlantic Richfield almost $20,000 in fencing and round-the-clock security.

Dubbed the "guacamole hole-y" because of the avocado-green water, the hole continues to grow sporadically and devours mesquite trees, pipelines and telephone poles that stand in its path. The feud between the two communities dates back to the 1920s when Wink — then a bawdy, brawling boom town of 25,000 — forced a county referendum to move the courthouse from Kermit.

The British 7th Armored Division encircled Benghazi, Libya, put out of action Gen. Annibale Berdred unconditionally two days later.

If Control Ever Achieved...

Reagan Advisers Say Arms Race Necessary

By ROBERT B. CULLEN Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)—Key advisers to Ronald Reagan believe the United States must challenge the Soviet Union to an accelerated nuclear arms race before the two countries can achieve adequate arms control.

Only if the Soviets are convinced that the United States will modernize and expand its nuclear forces will they make significant concessions, the Reagan men said in recent interviews.

stance to force the Soviets to accept more favorable SALT terms, but be patient if they do not immediately make concessions. Many of those proposals are reflected in a draft of the 1980 Republican platform, obtained by The Associated Press.

Reagan, who has no direct experience in strategic affairs, thus far has reflected the thinking of three strategic experts among his 10 top foreign policy advisers: retired Gen. Edward Rowley, Fred Ikle and William Van Cleave.

“Once we clearly demonstrate to the Soviet leadership that we are determined to compete, arms control negotiations will again have a chance,” Reagan said in a Chicago campaign speech in March

17 Charged In Oil Theft Ring

HOUSTON (AP)—Ten persons have been charged with organized criminal activity and another seven with theft as lawmen wind down a six-month investigation into an oil theft ring that netted $1 million a month in hijacked petroleum property, officials said.

Those arrested included the owner of a tugboat and barge cleaning service, an oil company owner and one of his employees, authorities said.

Bond for those charged with theft was set at $1,000 and ranged from $1,000 to $30,000 for those charged with organized criminal activity.

“I imagine there are several (similar) operations from Brownsville to Florida,” said Detective J.C. Moseley after Coast Guard officers, police and Texas Department of Public Safety personnel made the weekend arrests.

If Reagan, the Republican near-nominee, is elected in November, these advisers—all veterans of past strategic arms negotiations—said they would advise that he:—Abandon SALT II, the controversial arms treaty signed in 1979 by President Carter and his Moscow counterparts. The treaty has not yet been ratified by the U.S. Senate.

—Embark immediately on a costly program to protect U.S. missiles and improve their capability to fight a limited nuclear war.

Moseley said the investigation began six months ago when authorities became suspicious of an oil company's reported losses.

Lawmen confiscated a tugboat, two barges loaded with stolen petrochemicals and six tractor-trailer trucks used to steal the products from barges in the Saturday morning raid, Moseley said.

He advocates immediately starting to dig new underground silos for the Minuteman III missiles, then shutting them secretly from hole to hole to confuse Soviet targeters. The administration rejected that idea because of fears that it would violate SALT provisions designed to insure that each side can check the number of launchers deployed by the other.

Too dependent on laxatives

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I'm a 27-year-old female, I'm 5 feet 5 and weigh 110 pounds. I have had a problem with constipation for about 10 years since the birth of my first child when my tailbone popped during delivery. I have been to doctor after doctor and they've told me I have spastic colon.

I have had upper and lower GI X-rays and a sigmoidoscopy many times and nothing was found to be wrong. I have tried different diets, stool softeners, Metamucil, tablets from health food stores and I still have this problem. The only thing that seems to work is laxatives. My questions are, could it be my nerves and could there be some kind of blockage that would not show up on these tests?

I get plenty of exercise and drink plenty of liquids. Is there anything you can suggest for me to do? I don't want to be dependent on laxatives for the rest of my life.

DEAR READER—You'll probably need some help to get off the laxative habit. Since you've had sigmoidoscopic examinations, you obviously do not have any significant obstruction of the outlet.

I'm not sure what you mean occurred during your delivery, but if you mean your coccyx bone (the little extension of the vertebral column) broke, that's not a cause for constipation. Sometimes there are mechanical problems associated with elimination. This could be from faulty reflex action. A common cause in women who have had several pregnancies is a rectocele where the rectum actually ruptures through the wall between the rectum and the vagina. Your examination should have made it clear whether you had such a defect or not.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 2-1 Irritable or Spastic Colon and Constipation. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. I know you've tried a lot of different things in the past and apparently have used bulk agents but I wonder if you've used enough and whether you've stayed with the program long enough. I would suggest that you try to increase the amount of bran in your diet and if you wish you may also want to use the bulk-forming agents such as Metamucil that you've used in the past.

In addition, try the stool training method described in The Health Letter I'm sending you. There is a normal reflex mechanism that helps aid elimination and if it's properly trained, it often helps a person develop a regular habit.

You should eliminate the use of all chemical laxatives entirely and use only bulk-forming agents. If you continue to have trouble in the early stages of bowel training, you might want to use a tap water enema about every three days if you need to. But eventually I would hope you could get off that habit as well.

Now about nerves. Yes, they certainly can cause a lot of bowel problems. It's often overlooked that symptoms such as constipation can be caused by underlying emotional problems. Constipation can even be a sign of depression. Nevertheless, a good dietary regimen along with bowel training to develop good habits will be helpful. If your doctor has any reason to think you have underlying emotional problems, he might recommend a professional consultation for you in that area.

Waiting Occupies Time Of Refugees

FORT INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa. (AP)—Waiting. It has become the primary activity for the Cuban refugees temporarily housed here—about 11,000 of them—while volunteer agencies work at the tedious task of finding and confirming potential sponsors.

Residents of Area Three mostly sit around all day with nothing to do, he said. The degree of idleness is such that even a small distraction like a dominoes game can draw enormous audiences among the Cubans.

In Area Five, which houses families and some youngsters, children can be seen playing on an improvised teeter-totter—a board placed on the side of a coal bin.

Parents, meanwhile, sit and watch nearby in the shade of a barracks. Some of the Cubans arrived at this resettlement center, which federal officials dubbed "Freedom City," as long ago as May 18. The first question usually asked of a visitor is "When may I leave?"

The Red Cross oversees recreation and education activities at the camp.

Beginning English, of course, is the most popular," said Nan Clingman, of the relief agency. Other classes taught are American history and "basic survival," she said.

In the mess halls, Cubans can be seen sweeping floors and wiping tables, explaining that they simply want to be active.

BIRTHS

Jack and Lanette Callaway of 2104 42nd are parents of a 7 lb. 8 oz. baby boy born at Cogdell Hospital at 8:15 a.m. July 6.

Kent and Deanie Mills of Hermleigh are parents of a baby girl born at Cogdell Hospital weighing 8 lbs. 11 1/2 ozs. She was born at 12:40 p.m. July 5.

Officials emphasize that resettlement is proceeding as quickly as possible.

"They come here by the plane load, but they leave one by one," said Petty Petrush, a Federal Emergency Management Agency spokeswoman.

Cuban Gays In Latest Arrivals

WASHINGTON (AP)—As many as 20,000 homosexuals may be among the large group of Cuban refugees who entered the United States in the recent boat lift, the Washington Post reports.

The Post, in its Monday editions, said gays may account for as many as half the 40,000 refugees who are still in camps across the country. But specific figures are hard to come by, the newspaper noted.

Nor is it known why so many homosexuals were among the refugees, the Post said.

United States policy does not bar entry to refugees who are homosexual.

Erma Bombeck: Your heroine in the kitchen

Erma Bombeck must dodge over-active kids, the family's menagerie of pets, over-zealous housewives and still do the housework, balance the family budget and write a newspaper column.

In her Snyder Daily News column, she's a humorous spokeswoman for millions of women who work hard in the home, raise kids, try to make a husband happy and attempt to avoid the foibles of everyday living. She takes the ordinary and makes it resoundingly funny.

You can read about Erma Bombeck's household heroics Monday, Wednesday and Friday in the Snyder Daily News. Her column is one of the many ways the Snyder Daily News helps keep today's women entertained and informed. To order home delivery, call 573-5486 or see your carrier salesman.

A Healthy Cure For Kissing Cause

DEAR ABBY: Last year my hospital auxiliary had a fund-raiser that proved hugely successful. We put on an "Evening in Monte Carlo," and the biggest money-raiser of all was our "kissing booth." It was staffed by three attractive college girls (daughters of members) who volunteered their services. Kisses lasting three seconds were sold for $10 each; kisses lasting seven seconds went for $25; kisses lasting 15 seconds went for $50; and all kisses over 15 seconds went for $100. One man bought three $100 kisses and said it was the best tax-deductible donation he ever made!

Although we're planning to have a dinner dance this year, some of the women want to have the kissing booth again, but some objections have been raised on the grounds that it's unhygienic and, therefore, risky. What is your opinion?

FOR A GOOD CAUSE

DEAR ABBY: We are employed as librarians in Iowa City, Iowa. The enclosed item from your column was recently found in our suggestion box.

"Dear Abby: I am a girl, 12, very inexperienced and I need to know the correct way to kiss a boy. My mother says it will just come naturally, but in case it doesn't, can you give me a few pointers?"

"Should the girl quit breathing? I heard she isn't supposed to make a 'smack' sound when kissing a boy, but what about kissing relatives, right?"

Another question: Am I supposed to move my head? Or do I just move my lips? One last thing: What am I supposed to do with my nose? — Never Been Kissed"

"Dear Never: You should not quit breathing. No 'smack' sounds — not even with relatives. It's not necessary to move anything. And all you do with your nose is breathe through it."

Attached to the above exchange was this message: "Dear Librarians: How come you never answer questions like this one? They would be a lot more interesting than how hot or cold the library should be, or if business students belong here. — Dedicated Reader"

Abby, we thought you might enjoy the following reply offered by our resident problem-solver: "Dear Dedicated: We answer all questions found in the suggestion box. Up to this point we haven't received any of the type illustrated here. We have a feeling, though, that you really are concerned about this particular problem and are a bit hesitant to admit your own lack of experience in this area. Rest assured we will do our best to help you. File this under 'Youth Wants to Know.'"

"1. The girl should definitely not quit breathing. Cessation of breathing will inevitably end in death unless CPR measures are employed. Contrary to what you may think, mouth-to-mouth resuscitation is not the same as kissing."

"2. Don't make a 'smack' sound unless your partner starts to do more than kiss, in which case a firm smack applied to his face would be both appropriate and effective."

"3. Once your lips are engaged, moving your head can be kind of messy unless your partner moves with you. Work this out beforehand."

"4. Leave your nose in the middle of your face. Most noses look fine there."

Watch the Miss Universe pageant on CBS, 9 p.m. (ET). It's live from South Korea, and Abby is there, as one of the judges.

Paraphernalia Pushers Fight Ban On Products

By Marianne McGowan
Associated Press Writer
CLEVELAND (AP)—The people who sell "bongs" and "roach clips" and the people who are worried about easy drug use are moving into what may be a decisive battle in their long war.

For several years, states and communities across the nation have been trying to outlaw so-called "head shops" that specialize in drug paraphernalia. Results have been mixed.

The industry, a formidable foe, is worth an estimated $500 million to $3 billion a year. It sells marijuana-cigarette rolling papers, cocaine spoons, hashish pipes, and other devices like "bongs"—large pipes and "roach clips," which are used to hold the end of dwindling marijuana cigarettes.

But now, a model law drafted by the Drug Enforcement Administration and enacted in several states and many communities nationwide has reached the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

The case was brought by a Parma record dealer, who says the law was enacted to put him out of business. A federal district judge upheld the measure almost intact. It's the first test of the DEA model law to reach an appeals court.

The decision of the appeals court, which heard arguments last month, "will be a precedent for all of the remaining courts in the U.S.," said Harry L. Myers, the DEA attorney who drafted the model law.

If the law survives, DEA officials say, more states and communities are likely to enact it. And some states that have already done so will begin enforcement.

Among the states that already have the DEA model law or a similar statute on the books are Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Maryland, New Jersey and North Dakota. New York Gov. Hugh Carey signed a new "head shop" law last week.

Proponents of the laws say distribution of accessories of drug use encourages young people to indulge in illegal activities by glamorizing drug use.

"We've got to turn around the 'do drug' messages children are receiving," said Lee Dogoloff, director for drug policy at the White House, which was involved in drafting the model legislation.

"One is the proliferation of paraphernalia, much of which is designed and marketed for that population."

However, opponents say banning the sale of such devices is unconstitutional and misguided.

"It's like thinking you can remove alcohol by removing swizzle sticks," says Mark Heutlinger, an officer of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws.

One problem, opponents say, is that many of the items sold in "head shops" have legitimate uses, for example, cigarette papers that can be used to roll real cigarettes or marijuana joints.

So, at the request of the White House, the DEA looked for precedents involving paraphernalia used in other illegal activities, such as counterfeiting, gambling, moonshining and tobacco bootlegging.

"There is a federal moonshining paraphernalia statute that makes a crime and provides for confiscation of all properties intended for use to violate federal liquor law," said Myers. "It's been upheld and applied for 60 years."

Under the Parma law, making, selling or possessing drug paraphernalia is a second-degree misdemeanor, carrying a fine of $750 and 90 days in jail.

Police Work Accidents, Thefts

Thefts and traffic accidents were worked during the weekend by city police officers.

Saturday morning, police officer Kerry Fritz was dispatched to Bill's Body Shop, 2400 25th St., where he took a complaint concerning four stolen hubcaps.

The other theft was worked by Sgt. Ed Covington Sunday afternoon. David Hensley, 2604 Ave. K, reported the theft of a stereo valued at $240.

The first traffic accident occurred Saturday at 2:10 p.m. at 602 29th St. It involved a 1973 Chevrolet owned by Alan Roberts that was struck by a vehicle which left the scene. It was worked by Fritz.

Don Whittenburg investigated a hit and run at the Taco Villa at 3:25 p.m. Saturday. There, a parked 1979 Buick owned by Roeky Hale was struck by a vehicle which left the scene.

Keith Ward worked a one vehicle accident about 2:30 a.m. Sunday in the 900 block of 22nd St. Reports show a 1979 Chevrolet driven by Hector Perez struck some bushes.

The final accident of the weekend was at 9:20 p.m. Sunday at City Automatic Laundry. A parked 1973 Toyota owned by Rita Black was struck by a vehicle which left the scene. That accident was investigated by Edwin Neeley.

Injured While Working In Yard

Dean Cochran, 1611 17th St., suffered a gash above his right eye requiring 10 stitches in an accident that occurred while he was working in his yard Friday.

Cochran was digging with a grubbing hoe when it hit a clothesline causing it to deflect and strike his head. He was treated and released at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Burn Victim Still Critical

A 31-year-old Snyder man remains in critical condition at Parkland Hospital in Dallas.

Rubin Pena, burned nearly a month ago in an industrial accident at the American Magnesium plant outside Snyder, was taken first to Cogdell Memorial Hospital and later transferred by air ambulance to Parkland.

Reports indicate he received second and third degree burns over about 85 percent of his body when a cell at the AM plant blew out, covering him in hot salt.

Snyderite Is On Baylor Honor List

Matthew F. McCarty, a junior from Snyder, has been named to the Dean's Distinguished Academic Honor List for the spring semester at Baylor University.

The honor list requires a grade point average of 3.8 or above to qualify.

Gold Coats To Meet Tuesday

Tommy Davis, president of the Snyder Gold Coats, has called a special meeting of the organization at 4 p.m. Tuesday at the chamber office.

Subject of the meeting will be a request presented by Ralph Miller, chairman of the chamber's American Junior Rodeo Association (AJRA) committee.

Firemen Douse 2 Grass Fires

Snyder firefighters doused two grass fires during the weekend.

The first, reported Saturday at 12:25 p.m., occurred about 10 miles north of town on the Clarendon Highway.

The second, which occurred about six miles south of town on Highway 208, was reported Sunday at 1:10 p.m.

New Dangers For Smokers

WASHINGTON (AP)—There may be a new danger in cigarette smoking: carbon monoxide.

The government previously has warned smokers about nicotine and tar contents of cigarettes. Now, the Federal Trade Commission will begin tests to discover the carbon monoxide levels.

A report on smoking last year by the surgeon general said that carbon monoxide may be a "possible critical factor" in heart disease and other ailments.

The FTC results will be published in January. But the figures may show that cigarettes low in tar and nicotine are not necessarily also low in carbon monoxide, the FTC cautioned.

Tar and nicotine levels have been published for cigarettes for nine years, since they were identified by the government as health factors. The listings have led to a shift by the smoking public to cigarettes low in tar and nicotine, the FTC says.

Federal officials have repeatedly warned about the health dangers of smoking since a 1964 surgeon general's report linked smoking to lung cancer and heart disease.

But the tobacco industry claims there is not yet any conclusive proof that smoking and various diseases are related.

Bouncing Baby Survives Crash

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 2-month-old baby received a hairline skull fracture and bruises but survived when she was thrown from her father's pickup truck in a wreck, bounced off the hood of an oncoming car and landed on her head in the street, officials say.

Danielle Montoya of Canoga Park was released by the Medical Center of Tarzana on Sunday after being held for observation.

"It's amazing, I can't believe it," said Dr. Bruce Littman, attending pediatrician. "Based on the history of the incident, the other doctors felt there was no way anyone could've survived it."

"It's funny how those little bodies are so flexible. I guess a baby is looser than an adult. They bounce like rubber balls."

Police said Andrea Montoya, 21, was holding the baby in the front seat Friday night when the truck driven by Daniel Montoya, 22, collided with another vehicle. The truck spun and hit a third car and Danielle, wrapped in a padded pouch, was thrown from the vehicle, officials said.

Holiday Death Toll Hits 37

By The Associated Press

Fourth of July weekend traffic accidents left at least 37 people dead, 10 short of Department of Public Safety predictions for holiday fatalities.

The DPS had predicted 47 people would die on Texas highways during the three-day weekend that ended at midnight Sunday.

In 1977, the last time the July 4th holiday was part of a three-day weekend that ended at midnight Sunday.

In 1977, the last time the July 4th holiday was part of a three-day weekend, 35 persons were killed in traffic mishaps, DPS spokesman Larry Todd said.

Mark E. Green, 23, of Grand Saline, died early Sunday when his car ran off the road near the East Texas town.

William J. Sarlis, 27, of Victoria, was killed when the motorcycle he was riding collided with an automobile southwest of Victoria.

Richard E. Moore, 24, of Creston, Iowa, died late Saturday when his motorcycle ran off a Harrison County road and struck a tree.

Sammie Williams Jr., 44 of Dallas, was killed Saturday night when his pickup struck a bridge north of Wills Point.

Olivia Sparks Korbrow, 52, of Abilene, was killed Saturday night while crossing a street in Kingsville.

A 30-year-old Lancaster man, Deryl B. Almon, died Saturday when his car ran off the road outside Wichita Falls and overturned several times.

Salvadorans Made Desperate Tries At Survival

By LES SCHLANGEN
Associated Press Writer
AJO, Ariz. (AP)—Robbed and abandoned by smugglers who ferried them over the border, a group of Salvadorans, including three children, drank aftershave lotion and fought over drops of urine in a desperate attempt to stay alive in searing desert heat, a survivor says.

"We put it (urine) in rags and we wiped our faces with it," said 20-year-old Yolanda Estela Hernandez. "It was so hot and we were so thirsty." She was one of 13 survivors, from a group of 40 to 50, rescued from the sun-baked desert, where the air temperature reached 110 degrees and the soil reached 150.

Thirteen Salvadorans were found dead from dehydration and three children were among the missing.

The middle-class Salvadorans, who officials say may have fled their country to escape civil strife, paid up to $1,200 each to be smuggled into the United States and were abandoned in Organ Pipe Cactus National Monument Park at least four days ago.

Officials say there's no hope of finding more survivors, but a "low profile search" for more bodies was being conducted today in the 516-square-mile park.

A search by horseback and helicopter began Friday after a motorist reported seeing a man lying by the roadside. Two bodies and 10 survivors were found Saturday, and 11 more dead and three survivors were found Sunday.

"After being tormented by the extreme desert heat," they had stripped off much of their clothing and were found covered with cactus thorns, said Dr. Joseph Rustick, who treated the survivors.

"There were thorns in their feet, thorns in their back, legs, thighs, buttocks and face—everywhere that you can imagine."

He said they drank aftershave, deodorant and their own urine. "Some of them managed to drink the moisture from cactus, and they were the smart ones."

Near a cluster of bodies found Sunday were mirrors and traces of a fire the Salvadorans had set to alert aircraft to their plight.

"It's a dirty, dirty business," said Border Patrol Agent Earl Scott, who helped search for the aliens in the well-traveled smugglers' territory.

The group included some husbands and wives, some strangers, a 6-year-old, a 2½-year-old and a young mother who said the smugglers took her 13-month-old child, according to The Arizona Republic.

Mrs. Hernandez said the group fought over drops of urine, deodorant and cologne, and some aliens threatened to kill others if they did not share their urine.

She also said "I had my baby when we started and the 'coyotes' (alien smugglers) took him away. I don't know where my baby is. I want my baby."

Scott promised the smugglers would be caught, adding "This is going to be an international deal."

He said he believed the abandonment was "hebrerate because all they had to do was say, 'See those mountains? Go three miles in that direction and you'll be on the highway.'"

The identities of the Salvadorans were not immediately available, although Scott said some came from the Santana region of El Salvador.

"We've had a lot of El Salvadorans through here, but never the middle class like you're seeing right now," he said.

"It's probably because of the civil strife in their country."

"They feel that El Salvador is going to fall to the leftists, but they haven't claimed political asylum as such, and they're probably not entitled to it under current rules."
