Farmers' Heat Losses To Cost $750,000,000

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' August 1, Brown said after a random survey of Texas Agricultural Extension Service agents across the state. The loss figures do not include losses in livestock and poultry production. "The most honest assessment of the situation is that we are now facing a severe financial crisis in many segments of agriculture. Farmers went into debt fairly heavily this season, most at high rates of interest at planting time. A drought could not have come at a worse time," Brown said. He said the major crops threatened are cotton, sorghum and dryland corn. "Loss estimates are based mainly on dryland production, but there are reports from some counties that even irrigated crops are going to have lower than average yields."

Brown gave these high spots of his survey: "Some of the worst crop losses are expected in grain sorghum, with only 19 percent of the acreage irrigated. In Karnes and Nueces counties in South Texas 5 to 15 percent of the crop is being plowed under. Only half the average yield is expected in several Central and South Texas counties. In western Hidalgo County the crop is all but lost with yield of only 300 to 400 pounds per acre expected. Cotton, the state's major cash crop, needs moisture throughout the state although 65 percent of the acreage is irrigated. Nueces County expects 25 to 30 percent reduced production. Blackland cotton is either in a holding pattern of shedding squares. Rolling Plains farmers say cotton there can hold out for two or three weeks without rain. The High Plains is the center of Texas' corn production and most acreage is irrigated. In Central Texas many dryland fields have been abandoned. For the rest of the state a 40 percent decrease is expected. Brown said the next month would be critical for ranchers. Hay and water are adequate now but grass is being depleted rapidly, with little regrowth. Adding to the misery of drought, Brown said, grasshoppers are moving into cotton and other crops in the Plains and Cross Timbers areas."

GOP Calls For Lift Of Ban

By MIKE FEINSIBER Associated Press Writer DETROIT (AP)—Republican platform drafters have written an agricultural plank calling for lifting the U.S. embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union - leading Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland to call the Republicans "pussycats" when it comes to standing up to the Soviets. A draft of the farm plank shows that the Republican platform also evades the matter of parity by avoiding use of the word. Parity is an issue which caused Ronald Reagan an uneasy moment in Kansas last March when he confessed in a campaign appearance before a farm audience that he did not know much about it. Parity is a formula that reflects in part the cost of producing farm commodities. Instead of advocating any specific level of parity, the Republicans pledged "an administration dedicated to restoring profitability to agriculture." The draft plank denounces suspensions of agricultural sales for political reasons as merely "symbolic" and "ineffective tools of foreign policy" and adds: "We oppose singling out American farmers to bear the brunt of President Carter's ill-conceived, ineffective and improperly implemented grain embargo. The Carter grain embargo should be terminated immediately."

Anderson In Accident

JERUSALEM (AP)—Independent presidential candidate John Anderson was shaken up but not hurt today when his official automobile was hit by a small car as it pulled away from Jerusalem's King David hotel, witnesses said. Anderson's bodyguards, fearing the collision might signal an attack on the candidate, jumped from limousine with pistols drawn, a tourist who saw the incident told The Associated Press. But other witnesses said the guards did not draw their weapons. No one was reported hurt in the crash, but the vehicles were damaged.

Carter Inks Spending Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter has signed a bill that provides $16.9 billion to keep a number of federal programs from running out of money before the current fiscal year ends Sept. 30. Most of the money will go for routine programs such as food stamps and black lung benefits for coal miners. But the bill also includes money to take care of the recent flood of Cuban refugees and the volcanic eruption of Mount St. Helens. The bill, a result of a Senate-House compromise last week, will keep the federal spending level barely under the $72.6 billion budget ceiling for fiscal 1980.

3 Quakes In Greece

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Three powerful earthquakes rocked eastern Greece early today, killing one person, injuring 17 and causing widespread damage, officials said. Police said scores of houses in the area of the eastern port city of Volos collapsed and that many buildings were damaged. The Athens Seismological Bureau said the quakes took place between 5:10 a.m. and 5:37 a.m. The most powerful measured 6.3 on the Richter scale. The quakes were centered 93 miles northwest of Athens, the Bureau said. It added that a series of aftershocks measuring between 3 and 5 on the Richter scale were continuing.

Purge In South Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—South Korea's military rulers fired 232 senior officials in the most sweeping political purge since the nation was founded in 1948. Those fired represented 17 percent of South Korea's top bureaucracy. Fifteen officials involved in the "most flagrant cases" were seized for investigation into misconduct while in office, the Special Committee for National Security Measures said in announcing the dismissals today.

Despite Failures... Plan Guidelines For Third Year

By GLENN RITT Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)—The Carter administration is planning a third year of anti-inflation wage and price guidelines, despite acknowledging they have been "essentially powerless" against rising interest rates and oil and food costs and may be less useful because of the recession. Robert Russell, director of the president's Council on Wage and Price Stability, pointed to a resurgence in wholesale prices last month and emphasizes that "inflation certainly is, not over."

The Labor Department reported Tuesday that wholesale prices rose 0.8 percent in June, more than in the previous two months - although energy prices fell for the first time since March 1978. The index for finished goods other than food and energy rose 1.1 percent in June. "We must have continued restraint," Russell said. "We've had moderation in food and energy prices recently, but how long we can rely on (that) is worrisome."

The second year of the voluntary wage and price standards ends Sept. 30. Russell warned that the underlying rate of inflation - which excludes food, energy and interest rates - will be at least 8 percent when recovery from the recession begins next year and a tax cut is expected to go into effect. Moreover, the administration's mid-year budget review, due July 21, is expected to predict that consumer prices will rise at an annual rate of 11.9 percent in 1980 and 9.8 percent next year. That same review is expected to predict an unemployment rate peaking at or near 8.5 percent, which means 8.9 million people out of work. The revised forecast is considerably higher than the administration's March prediction of 7.2 percent joblessness by year's end, but it still is somewhat more optimistic than projections of some private economists. Russell, unveiling a detailed evaluation of the wage and price guidelines, conceded that they have had limited effect to date in controlling crude oil price rises - which jumped 110 percent between early 1979 and early 1980 - or increases in mortgage interest rates. These two items were responsible for nearly half the inflation in 1979 and even more than that in the first three months of 1980, when consumer prices were rising at an annual rate exceeding 18 percent, Russell said. But even with these limitations, Russell said, the voluntary guidelines have held down price increases and wage demands. 3/10 of 1% Higher...

School Board Okays Budget

A budget increase of only three-tenths of 1 percent was approved by school board trustees last night in accepting the 1980-81 school budget. The budget that was approved came to a total of $7,476,283, only a fraction above the $7,455,304 sum that was the 1979-80 school budget. That minuscule increase was accomplished despite an over-all 8.6 percent increase in local tax needs. Of the $7,476,283 allocated for the 1980-81 budget, $5,918,571 will be raised by local revenues. That is up nearly $500,000 from the $5,451,304 raised from local revenues in last year's budget. The motion to approve the budget was made by Jerry Rice and seconded by Bill Seale. It received the unanimous approval of the board.

In other matters to come before the board last night, trustees voted to pursue the feasibility of having the new, single-unit appraisal district perform tax collections for the school district. Trustees decided to pursue that course of action because they felt it might represent a savings to the school district if tax collections could be handled through the appraisal office rather than the tax assessor-collector's office. In personnel matters, trustees went into a brief executive session to discuss salary adjustment for Patty Grimm and Ken Housden, two coaches. No salary adjustments, however, were granted. In routine personnel matters, board members approved the resignations of Patsy Williams, a business teacher at the high school, and of Cynthia Klepper, a social studies coach at the junior high. Approved was the hiring of nine new teachers. They are Beverly Robertson, sixth grade, East Elementary; Susan Scott, sixth grade, West Elementary; Sherman Birks, tennis science, high school; Sheila Collier, secretary, Central Elementary; Carolyn Derouen, homemaking, high school; Betty Boswell, fifth grade, Northeast Elementary; Brenda Raulston, sixth grade, Central Elementary; Sheila Musselman, business, high school; and Gail Koening, sixth grade, North Elementary. In policy adoptions, board members approved a set of high school attendance regulations. The regulations define tardiness, excused and unexcused absences, etc., but also make allowance for absences brought on through extended illness. Board members granted a request by Joyce Elrod (See Budget Page 11)

Ask Us

Q-Is shoplifting a felony or misdemeanor, and if one is convicted is he deprived of voting and serving on a jury? A-Whether it is a felony or a misdemeanor depends on the value of the goods shoplifted. If the sum is less than $200 it is a misdemeanor. If it is $200 or more, it is a felony. If one is convicted of a felony he loses his rights to vote and serve on a jury, although those rights can be restored by a pardon by the governor.

Man Wounded In Altercation

A 22-year-old man was treated and released for a gunshot wound to the leg and a 26-year-old man was arrested for aggravated assault. Police reports show that Darwin Garvin, 22, was struck once in the thigh by a .38-caliber bullet fired in an altercation at the Park Village Apartments about 7:25 p.m. Tuesday. The suspect was arrested a short time later. He has been released after posting a $1,500 bond. Working the case was Sgt. Ed Covington. Reports also indicate a vehicle stolen from Eugenio Davilla here in Snyder last week has been found in Baird. The vehicle, reported officers, was found abandoned and no arrests have been made. No arrests have been made in an unauthorized use of a motor vehicle complaint filed yesterday by W.D. Wilson, 315 33rd St. Wilson at first told officer

Jerry Parker that his vehicle had been stolen, but the vehicle was found a short time later in the 300 block of 30th St. That incident was reported about 7:15 a.m. A two-vehicle traffic accident was worked Tuesday afternoon by Don Whittenburg. The accident involved a 1970 AMC driven by Deborah Jean Tucker and a 1978 Oldsmobile driven by Peggy Highfield. It occurred about 3:45 p.m. in the 400 block of 34th St.

Six Trampled In Rush To See Pope

FORTALEZA, Brazil (AP)—Crowds rushing into a stadium to see Pope John Paul II trampled six people to death today and another died of a heart attack, officials said. The tragedy, similar to one that marred the papal visit to Zaire in May, occurred two hours before the pope's arrival. Officials said dozens were injured. The pope, on the 10th day of his 12-day visit to the world's largest Roman Catholic country, arrived at the stadium later, apparently unaware of the tragedy. He came to inaugurate a Eucharistic conference organized by Brazilian bishops in this northeast seaport of 1.2 million people, built on the edge of silvery sands and emerald green waters. He had spent the night in the town of Belem, at the mouth of the Amazon River, after visiting a leper colony Tuesday.

Gives Birth At Nine Years Old

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A 9-year-old girl of South West Africa's Damara tribe has given birth to a boy, the Rand Daily Mail reported today. It said the young mother and infant were in good condition. The newspaper, in a dispatch from Windhoek, capital of the South African-controlled territory, said the child was delivered by Caesarean section last Wednesday at a hospital in Otjiwarongo. The newspaper quoted a hospital spokesman as saying very young mothers are "not uncommon" at Otjiwarongo. "At the moment we have three expectant girls aged 13 or 14," the spokesman was quoted as saying. The South African Health Department said the girl, identified as Venesia Xoagus, is probably the youngest mother on record in South Africa or South West Africa. The identity of the father was not immediately available. In London, a spokesman at the offices of the Guinness Book of Records said the world's youngest mother in a medically documented case was Lina Medina of Peru, who in 1939 produced an infant at the age of 5 years, 6 months. The spokesman said the record is not included in the annual because, "We're a family book and that's not the sort of thing we really feel able to publish."

Hunt Brothers Investigated

DALLAS (AP)—Justice Department investigators are checking to see if the billionaire Hunt brothers or one of their former top aides lied to a congressional panel looking into the silver market crash, according to published reports. ### friendly warrant?

Why, it's only OSHA, dropping in for a friendly hello, a neighborly chat to let you know that everybody loves everybody and one lump of sugar will be enough, thank you!

Oh, yes, and there's a little something for you. It's a warrant. OSHA - the Occupational Safety and Health Administration - has proposed regulations that would specifically confirm the agency's authority to obtain ex parte warrants.

This is the word received in a news release handout from the U.S. Department of Labor office in Dallas. The OSHA is the DOL's hatchet wielder.

An ex parte warrant is a warrant obtained without notice to the employer.

The OSHA, and the DOL, of course, are keenly interested in the employer. Everyone knows that. They would like to catch him with his hands in the narrow neck of the cookie jar.

An ex parte warrant will permit the agency, meaning OSHA, to inspect workplaces in the event an employer denies inspectors entry and, under the proposed rule, could be sought prior to attempting entry for inspection.

There! The cat's out of the bag. The OSHA without an ex parte warrant as such has been showing a lot of muscle since its addition to the federal bureaucracy and there is something quite disturbing in the wording of the release that states the proposed regulations "would specifically confirm the agency's authority to obtain the warrants."

Current OSHA regulations governing inspections require referrals of denials of entry to the assistant regional solicitor for appropriate action, including compulsory process, the DOL announcement pointed out. OSHA has interpreted "compulsory process" to include orders to compel entry and ex parte warrants.

The proposed rule specifies ex parte warrants as an appropriate form of compulsory process. Both current field instructions and the proposed rule permit inspectors to seek ex parte warrants prior to attempting an inspection based on an employer's previous history or refusal to permit inspections.

DOL points out that ex parte warrants preserve the element of surprise required by the OSHA Act which includes an express prohibition of advance notice of an inspection.

The Third Circuit Court of Appeals recently upheld a district court's ruling in the case of Cerro Metal Products vs. Marchall, enjoining OSHA from seeking ex parte warrants.

This set back the OSHA somewhat on its heels, and hence the proposed regulation now discussed. It is now requesting public comments, and just so the strongman agency won't be unhappy, we are making this comment. The OSHA should be eliminated, along with its proposal to be given authority to obtain ex parte warrants.

We have to fill out forms for almost everything these days and at one time or another almost everyone has had to cope with the omifus blanks spaces on a job application.

It might give you some comic relief to know, however, that employers don't always get the information they seek even when their nosey inquiries are answered accurately. The following were taken from a boss's magazine, Management Digest:

In filling out the form, one job seeker answered a question of "length of residence" in his community by writing "about 75 feet."

One job seeker was puzzled over the line: "Are you a natural-born citizen of the United States?" Finally the applicant wrote: "No, Caesarian."

Filling out a job application form, one young lady listed her single disability as: "Freckles."

Under remarks, a young man penned: "I have no influential father, uncles or friends; no political ties, no drag, no pull; result: No job. Ambitious, intelligent. Want connection with a future."

Another young man completed a job application by writing: "Need a desk and upholstered chair with a job attached. Work must be amusing or interesting. Am an amiable young fellow who is good to his mother. Employers must furnish references."

One standard employment form includes a question, "Have you ever been arrested?" On the following line, for the benefit of those whose answer is "Yes," is the question, "Why?" One applicant wrote in this answer to the first question, "No. Never got caught."

From the younger side: On one job form, a blank to be filled in is "Language spoken in the home." A teenager filled in this blank with "Clean."

A 38-year-old woman lost out on a job when she gave her correct age on an application blank. The next time she was confronted with the question, she wrote in the space: "I refuse to answer on the grounds that it might eliminate me."

In the personnel office a young farmer was applying for a job. After filling out the items on the application form, he came to a space for "remarks." He chewed his pencil thoughtfully for a few minutes, then spelled out: "Mighty purty day."

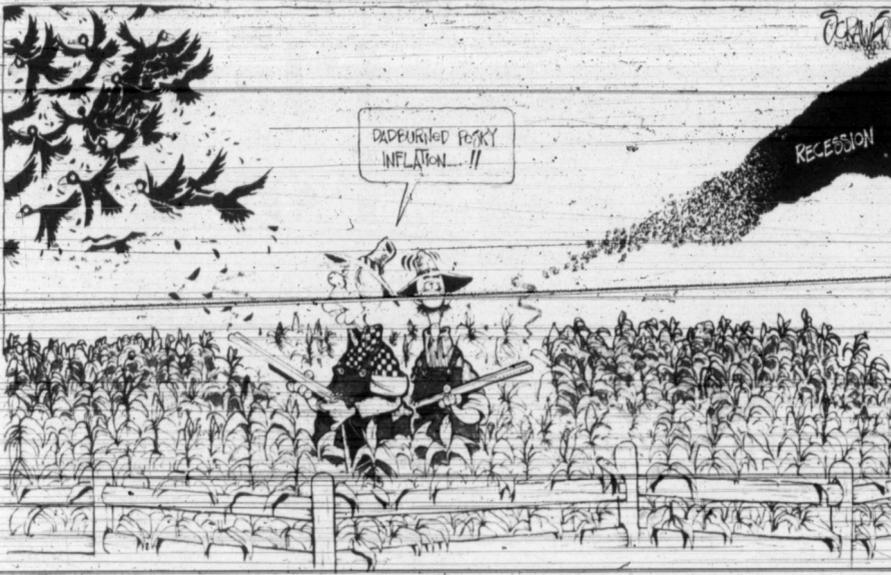

Under office experience, the young lady wrote: "I'm familiar with all phases of office procedure, including bowling, coffee-breaking, crossword puzzle doodling, personal letter writing and collecting stamps."

The bewildered young man noted the question, "Are you a responsible man?" Then he carefully wrote in his answer: "I'm your man. In all my jobs when anything went wrong, I was always held responsible."

A newlywed completing his form came to this question, "Do you have any children?" He wrote in "Watch this space."

In answer to the question: "Do you believe in an efficiency system?" an applicant wrote: "Not Somebody has to get the work done."

The challenges in this world are disappearing one by one.

We paint by number, connect little dots, and consult bumper stickers for our philosophy.

There are few surprises to titillate our curiosity or to test our skills anymore. The networks tell us who won the election three hours before the polls close. The media tell us how the movie ends. The sex of our unborn child has become predictable.

I am glad my father did not live to see the appearance of the sonar fishfinder.

The sonar fishfinder looks like a hair dryer. You put the nose end under water and pull the trigger. As you move it back and forth, a reading shows on the digital board. When the numbers jump, you're over the fish. Gotcha!

When I was a kid, my father went fishing four or five times a week. One Sunday in Covington, Ohio, he caught his first glimpse of a fish so big it could have swallowed Jonah and still had room left over for dessert.

Week after week, we made the pilgrimage to Covington to watch my father try to outsmart this giant carp. There were countless times he had him on the hook, but always he broke the line, ran with it behind a rock or overpowered my dad to the point where he lost his footing and ended up in the water thrashing and cussing.

One day in June after months of struggle, my dad cast his line upon the water and the carp went for it. An hour and 15 minutes later, the fish lay at Dad's feet gasping with exhaustion. Dad had won. He didn't want the fish. He wanted to have his picture taken with it, weigh it, and show it to his friends. He took it to the city park pond where he worked and gave the fish his freedom. By the next morning the 29-pound carp had eaten every exotic fish in the pond and was asked to leave. He was returned to the river.

Somehow the sonar fishfinder is just another short cut in a world that already abounds in "just add water," "blow horn for service," "instant replay" and "condensed books."

If the sonar fishfinder had prevailed years ago, there would have been no Moby Dick, no Old Man and the Sea, no Jaws, and no large picture of my dad cradling a 29-pound carp in his arms with the inscription, "Baiting my hook in Covington, Ohio."

misguided judgement

NEW YORK (AP)—Unless a high-handed regulatory decision is cancelled - and soon - many would-be homebuyers will be turned down at the mortgage window later this year, a major lending group is claiming.

The U.S. League of Savings Associations, whose members account for more than half the residential mortgages outstanding, maintains the decision also would condemn Americans to double-digit mortgage rates.

So misguided was the decision, the league says, that it represents a fundamental departure of government support for housing and threatens the country with the worst recession since the unlauded 1930s.

Perhaps more to the point, it threatens league members with the loss to commercial banks of billions of dollars in deposits, as much as $17 billion in the next six months alone, the league says.

The decision that so offends the league was made May 28 by the six-member Depository Institutions Deregulation Committee, set up to oversee an orderly, six-year phase-out of savings rate controls.

Included in those controls is a one-quarter point interest rate advantage that savings institutions have long enjoyed over their commercial bank counterparts, the better to attract money for housing. Housing, the savings institutions remind you, is the strongest commitment they have. And that one-quarter point advantage, they argue, helps attract deposits for funneling into mortgage loans.

In effect, the DIDC suddenly took away the advantage, at least as it relates to six-month savings certificates, the most popular form of deposits at savings institutions in recent months.

Since then, the league has levied one blast after another, beginning with a statement from its chief economist that the action was "misguided monetary policy formulated in a period of stress from misguided fiscal policy." It appealed to Congress. It went to court.

The league accused the "banker dominated" DIDC of "violating a law that Congress passed only two months earlier," that law being the one that set up the DIDC and ordained it to oversee orderly deregulation.

A few men, said a league spokesman, took it upon themselves to change the nation's housing policy without any public hearings. In doing so, it said, they violated a clear understanding about their role.

Their role, said Edwin Brooks, league president, was to retain the interest rate advantage until the savings institutions could adjust to the change. But, he said, they took it away in weeks, not years.

The league has appealed to the president, who appointed the committee, to Congress and to the U.S. District Court in Washington asking that the action be overturned because the DIDC disregarded the law.

The league seeks to limit the DIDC's power to alter rules, and to give each house of Congress the option of vetoing DIDC actions within 60 days. Simultaneously, it is bringing its case directly to the public.

The Israelites used horses in war, and the one described in the book of Job is, quite clearly a war horse.

"He paweth in the valley, and rejoiceth in his strength; he goeth on to meet the armed men. He mocketh at fear, and is not affrighted; neither turneth he back from the sword. The quiver rattleth against him, the glittering spear and the shield. He swalloweth the ground with fierceness and rage..." - Job 39:21-24 washed away by one major storm. At other coastal locations across the nation, supposed marvels of engineering such as groins, jetties, seawalls, bulkheads and breakwaters already have fallen victim to the awesome, ceaseless pounding of the ocean.

If the coast is to remain a national asset, its protection will come not from temporary artificial measures but from restrained development and controlled preservation efforts.

The Coastal Zone Management Act seeks to encourage states to pursue that goal - but only 19 of the 35 coastal states have met those federal standards and the law expires this year.

The Coast Alliance, sponsor of the "Year of the Coast," is seeking reauthorization and strengthening of the law. If that effort fails, the country's shoreline may be doomed to a future of irrevocable erosion, contamination and industrialization.

declarer's queen of trumps with the king and uttered the immortal words, "No better place for it." The player's name is long forgotten, except for a corporal's guard of old timers, but the remark remains a classic example of misspeaking.

South's two-spade bid was one of those weak jump overalls, but in spite of that, North felt justified in jumping to game.

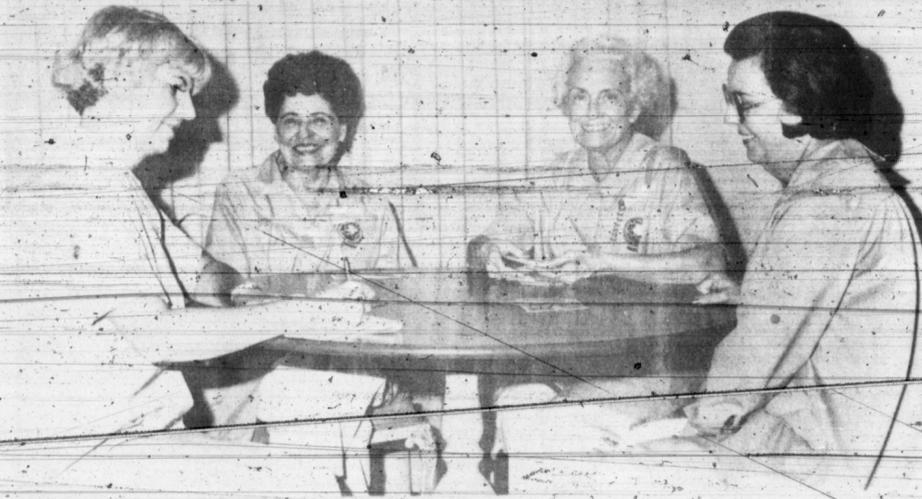

East wins the heart lead and continues the suit. South ruffs with the queen and West has the opportunity to make the "no better place for it" play and let South romp home with the rubber.

He also sees that he doesn't have to overruff and simply discards a low club. South's contract is now down the drain, but he doesn't know it yet. He enters dummy with a club, leads a spade and finesses his jack.

Now West takes his king. He leads a diamond to East's ace and East plays another heart. South has to ruff high and all of a sudden the combination of the nine showing up with East and two ruffs by South with high cards had promoted West's eight of spades to be the setting trick. Do you remember when Cheese Spreads were one of the least expensive sandwich fillings? Now it's like buying gold! Here are a couple of ways to make your own, at prices that compare to those of "the good old days."

CHEESE WHIZ
I probably get as many requests for this as any recipe I have. You can make your own cheese spread for so much less and it tastes as good as the expensive brand you've been buying.
1 lb. Cheese (Cheddar or processed)
2 cups evaporated milk (regular or skim)
1 1/2 tsp. salt
2 beaten eggs
1 1/2 tsp. dry mustard

Cut cheese in small pieces and melt in double boiler. When melted, add the evaporated milk, salt and mustard. Remove from heat and stir in eggs. Return to double boiler and stir and cook until eggs thicken slightly. Remove from heat. Pour into a dish and cool slowly. Stir as it cools to prevent a crust from forming. Put in jars, cover and store in refrigerator. Keeps several weeks.

PIMIENTO CHEESE SPREAD
Great for kid's sandwiches and for grownups spread on crackers and Party Rye. A real "cheapie" that tastes expensive!
2-thirds cups Evaporated Milk
1 Tbsp. flour
1 tsp. sugar
1 Tbsp. vinegar
1 tsp. dry mustard
1 egg, beaten
1 Tbsp. margarine
Combine in saucepan and cook over low heat till it thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and pour over: 1 lb.

processed American Cheese which you have cubed. Stir and mash to blend. Add: 4 oz. pimientos, chopped, 2 Tbsp. Mayonnaise, and salt & pepper to taste.

Dear Ruth:
When I make a lemon or cream pie, the crust ends up soggy. Any solution?
J.M. Beloit, Wis.
Dear J.M.:
My readers have some good tips for you. A baker from Iowa writes he sprinkles the crust with a fine sprinkle of sugar before pouring in filling. From Los Angeles: "Sprinkle tapioca on bottom crust to absorb moisture and add flavor." A

Chicago reader says "remove crust from a slice or two of bread. Tear into large crumbs and scatter over bottom of pie shell. Pour hot filling over crumbs, cover with meringue. Seal well and brown in oven. It works!! The crumbs just disappear! Remember, though, keeping pie in the refrigerator too long will undo any crispy crust."
Try my recipe for flaky crust that melts in your mouth. Guaranteed never to fail. Makes 5 single crusts. Dough freezes well, so you can always have it on hand.
PERFECT PIE CRUST
Mix together:

4 cups flour
1 Tbsp. sugar
2 tsp. salt
Add:
1 3/4 cup shortening and mix till crumbly.
Beat together in small bowl:

1/2 cup ice water
1 Tbsp. vinegar
1 egg
Add to flour mixture and stir till ingredients are moist. Divide dough into 5 balls. Wrap each and refrigerate at least 1/2 hour before rolling. Keeps in refrigerator 3 days. For longer time, put in plastic baggies and store in freezer.

Dear Abby

Parents of Problem Child: Take a Closer Look

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Eight years ago I wrote to you concerning a problem we were having with our son who was then in the third grade. His teacher told us he was having difficulty keeping up with his class because he couldn't read. (She even hinted that he might be "slightly retarded.") She said he was also a discipline problem and she couldn't recommend him for the fourth grade.

I wrote to you in desperation, and you suggested I write to the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. I did, and want you to know that this organization has helped us enormously. Our "problem child" is now a high school senior who qualifies for college.

Abby, please acquaint others with this wonderful group. Had it not been for you, we never would have known about it.

GRATEFUL IN ELIZABETH, N.J.

DEAR GRATEFUL: Thanks for this opportunity to advise other parents to take a closer look at their "clumsy" 3-year-old who can't sit still and seems hard to handle, or the slow learner who's a troublemaker and disrupts the class.

That child could be brighter than average but afflicted with a learning disability that is treatable if detected early.

A letter requesting information can be sent to: The Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities, 4156 Library Rd., Pittsburgh, Pa. 15234. It is not a high-pressure group and does not solicit public funds. It helps by sending educational material. It's non-profit, so when writing, please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: How do you know if you are really in love? ON CLOUD NINE

DEAR ON: If you have to ask — you aren't.

DEAR ABBY: Andy (not his real name) and I have been married for two years, and we have a problem I am sure many other married couples have.

Every time my sister and her husband ask us to go out with them, I almost have to get down on my hands and knees to get Andy to go. Then he sits like a bump on a log all evening and never opens his mouth except to say, "Let's go home."

This has happened so many times, I'm surprised they still ask us to go out with them. I know Andy can be sociable if he wants to be, because he is with other couples. I am not crazy about all his relatives, but I try to be good company when I'm with them.

Andy knows how much this hurts me. Why does he act this way, and what can I do about it?

TICKED OFF IN MEMPHIS

DEAR TICKED: He acts that way because he doesn't enjoy the company of your sister and her husband, and it's his way of punishing you for insisting he go out with them. Mature adults realize that there are some social situations (and business, too) that are a drag, but for the sake of the spouse, one should try to enter into the spirit of it and try to be good company.

Your husband figures if he makes you miserable enough, often enough, you'll go only where he wants to go. He's selfish and childish. Appeal to his sense of fair play, and tell him it's time he grew up.

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How To Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Science Breakthroughs

The Associated Press Here is a brief wrapup of scientific developments in the news today:

LUNG CANCER

In Baltimore, Johns Hopkins Hospital doctors said they may have found a way to determine whether a lung tumor is harmless without depending on surgery.

They said the procedure could eliminate the need for thousands of operations nationwide.

The doctors said that they can use a computer-controlled radiological scanner to determine the density of a tumor, and that if the density is low, there is an 80 percent likelihood that the tumor is malignant. If the density is high, then the tumor is almost assuredly benign.

Until now, 60 percent of tumor cases required surgery or other "invasive" diagnoses.

DIABETES
Scientists at Washington University Medical School in St. Louis said new research raises the possibility of transplanting insulin-producing cells from animals to man as a radical new approach to treating diabetes.

The first successful transplants of insulin-making cells between different animal species — rats to mice — was announced Tuesday.

Ten diabetic mice received transplanted cells which continued to function in their bodies. In seven of the 10, the cells produced insulin and maintained normal blood-sugar levels for at least 116 days, the researchers said.

The scientists stressed that even preliminary application of these techniques to treating human diabetes is at least three to five years away.

ARTIFICIAL BLOOD

A Japanese surgeon says that by the year 2000, blood banks may store only chemicals — no liquid blood.

Dr. Kenji Honda said in Mexico City that a kind of artificial blood now used experimentally in the United States can imitate the oxygen-carrying capacity of real blood.

If it can substitute for blood in situations where ordinary plasma or salt solution — two blood substitutes that do not carry oxygen — would be insufficient.

However, artificial blood cannot carry nutrients like real blood. Honda said he will begin work this year with Dr. Claude Romeu, a French surgeon, to develop an artificial blood that fulfills both functions as well as carrying vitamins and minerals.

Swim Classes To Start July 14

A beginning swimming class for children and one for women will start at Western Texas College on July 14.

The children's class will meet from 9-10 a.m. July 14-18 and July 21-24. Fees are $35 per person.

The women's class will meet from 5:30-6:30 p.m.

on Mondays and Wednesdays through Aug. 6. Fees here will also be $35 per person.

Carol Darby will be instructor for the classes.

Persons wishing to reserve space in either class are to call the Continuing Education Office at 573-8511, extension 240.

"Gee, honey... I guess we'd better pick an alias for him!"

Birks Named SHS Net Coach

Bud Birks, former coach at Nazareth for the past five years, has been hired as varsity tennis coach at Snyder High School, replacing Bill Boles. Boles, who has taken a number of Snyder youth to the state tennis tournament during his stay at the varsity level, will continue his coaching at the junior high.

Birks took his Nazareth boys basketball team to the state tournament this past season, and his girls doubles-tennis team won the class B championship. He will coach varsity tennis, ninth grade basketball and teach science when the 1980-81 school year begins here. Boles will be in charge of junior high tennis and will teach science also. Birks, who went to high school in Canada, is unmarried. He is a graduate of Texas Tech University.

Western Texas Inks Another To Links

Western Texas College has added another freshman to its golf squad with the signing of Tony Don Freeman of Sapulpa, Okla.

Freeman was in the upper 15 percent of his graduating class at Sapulpa High School last spring and was a member of the National Spanish Honor Society, the National French Honor Society, the Student Council, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the All-State Choir.

Freeman is now employed at the Sapulpa Golf Course, working and practicing under the guidance of Lawrence Bailey, P.G.A. member, and Alice Bauer, L.P.G.A. member.

O'Day had previously announced the signing of Gary Ray of Borger, Matt Vincent of Stratford, James Cotton of Round Rock, Philip Polk Jones of Gatesville, and George Gonzales of Fort Stockton.

'Too Tall' Jones Back In The Saddle Again

GRAPEVINE (AP)—Dallas Cowboy coach Tom Landry smiled — not once but many times — while he waited for the arrival of his prodigal player Ed "Too Tall" Jones, who has returned to the fold.

The defensive end flew into Dallas-Fort Worth Regional airport from New York late Tuesday night and was whisked to a back room where he signed a multi-year contract, ending his brief fling with professional boxing.

Landry said the 6-foot-9, 265-pound Jones — whom the Cowboys made the No. 1 pick in the 1974 NFL draft — will have to earn his way back into the starting lineup.

"Right now, he wouldn't step in as No. 1 left end. John Dutton has that slot," Landry said. "But whether there'll be a challenge or whether Dutton will move to left tackle, we'll just have to see."

"I was sure we'd reached agreement about 10 minutes ago," joked Cowboy player personnel director Gil Brandt at the press conference following Jones' arrival. "But I was optimistic a year ago that he'd come back."

Brandt and Jones' lawyer, Don Cronson, conducted a long series of negotiations before the 28-year-old veteran agreed to sign on with the National Football League team.

Jones said he is excited about the prospect of playing football again.

"I've prepared myself to accept a challenge from one of my teammates and I'm in the best shape I've ever been, strength-wise especially," said Jones, who retired from football in June of 1979 to pursue a pro career in boxing, which he called his first love.

The Cowboys called members of the media

Tuesday afternoon to announce that Jones had agreed to terms, that he was en route from New York to Dallas, and that a press conference would take place at the airport upon his arrival.

Jones, who said he weighs 265 pounds now and plans to play at 260, said he had no regrets about boxing, though his career was undistinguished and he hadn't fought since February.

"If I had to do it over again, I'd do it. I learned a lot. It may make me a better football player. My hands and reflexes are a lot quicker now."

Snyder Summer Ball Leagues

ALL-STAR COACHES, MANAGERS: Please contact The Snyder Daily News as to All-Star playoff dates and rosters. We would also like to schedule All-Star team photos at your convenience.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Snyder Little League teams concluded the 1980 regular summer season last evening with the naming of the All-Star Team. The team will play Hamlin in Rotan at 8 p.m. Monday in the first game of a four-team, double-elimination tournament.

All-Star Team: Tim Key, Ricky Hunter, Mike McWilliams, Michael Carter, Jerry Villarreal, Todd Odum, Tim Mitchell, Mark Valasquez, Tony Romero, Chris Sanders, Stacy Forbes, Steve Parker, Don Osborn and Jimmy Cowen. Bill Murray will be manager, Jackie Murray coach, with aid from several other Little League coaches and managers.

Braves 11, Yankees 11 (tie)

The Braves, led by Pat Malone's double and three singles, became only the second team to hold off the league-winning Yankees this season as they forced an 11-11 tie last night. The Yanks had been beaten once, and concluded the season with a 12-1-1 record.

Ricky Gomez also powered a double and a single for the Braves, while Stacy Kellams hit a double, Lance Aldridge knocked two singles and Kenneth Pickering and Mike Wenken added one single each.

Mark Velasquez rapped a triple and a single for the Yankees, while Mike McWilliams, Tim Key and Don Osborn added one single apiece.

White Sox 9, Indians 6

The White Sox came from a 6-1 deficit to defeat the Indians in this season closer, marathon contest which stretched until almost 11:30 yesterday evening. Mark Camire hit two doubles, Steve Parker added two singles, and Mike Adams rapped a single for the Sox. Toby Ubando was the winning pitcher.

For the Indians, Todd Pollard and Michael Carter hit a double each and Van Echols knocked a single.

FARM LEAGUE

Playoffs—The Farm League White Sox defeated the Indians 13-3 last evening (see below) to set up a playoff contest with the Yankees on Thursday. Farm League All-Stars will be announced following Thursday's 7:30 p.m. game which will be held at the Little League Field. The annual Farm League All-Star Game will then be held Saturday, also at 7:30, and at the Little League Field.

Cubs 11, Giants 10

In action Monday night, inadvertently omitted from Tuesday's Snyder Leagues, the Cubs nipped the Giants, 11-10.

Stacy Browning belted a triple and two singles, while Mitch Gutierrez rapped a double and Jerry McNew added a single for the Cubs.

John Zalmon, Brad Gambrell, Simon Gutierrez, Todd Owens, Bert Otto, David Trevey, Todd Lewis and Richard Greer all slapped one single apiece for the Giants.

Braves 9, Yankees 7

Jamie McCravy and Gene Wells were credited with the only two Braves' hits shown, but the winners also received 10 walks to help them get past the Yankees.

National League Wins, Of Course; Griffey MVP

LOS ANGELES (AP)—No one, not the managers, the players or even the fans can explain the overwhelming superiority of the National League over the American in baseball's All-Star game. It happened again, a ninth-straight time, even after Steve Stone of Baltimore pitched a perfect first three innings for the Americans on Tuesday night at Dodger Stadium.

Ken Griffey, not even voted to a starting position by the nation's fans, belted Tommy John's first pitch to him in the fifth inning for a home run which gave the National League its first hit and sparked a 4-2 victory. Later, Griffey received Most Valuable Player honors.

Griffey's Cincinnati teammate Ray Knight commented after the game: "His home run kind of fired us up and everybody started going about the task."

The NL task was helped by an error on a tough play by New York Yankees second baseman Willie Randolph in a two-run sixth inning. The Nationals now have won 17 of the past 18 meetings, the last AL victory coming in 1971.

Manager Earl Weaver of Baltimore, who piloted the American Leaguers in 1971, was at a loss to explain why his charges lost this time and why the string of losses.

"I know they wanted to win and they played to win," said Weaver. "You watched the game. You tell me."

Chuck Tanner of the World Champion Pittsburgh Pirates, said the "difference this time was defense. I knew our squad had too good hitters to be shut down all the way. I can't explain the streak."

The Americans had taken a 2-0 lead on Fred Lynn's homer with Rod Carew on base in the fifth inning. The homer wasn't too hard to take for the pro-National League crowd of 56,088 in Dodger Stadium because Lynn is a product of the nearby University of Southern California.

With one out in the sixth, after Griffey's homer the previous inning, Knight singled with one out. Phil Garner grounded another single and George Hendrick singled to score Knight with the tying run. Ed Farmer relieved John and was greeted with the tough grounder by Winfield that got through Randolph.

"I don't see how they can give me an error on that play," the Yankees infielder said. "The ball was hit to my left, it had a knuckleball spin. I'd try to play it the same way if it happened again."

Weaver said, "If he comes up with it, it changes things around, but it was a tough play."

Garner scored on the play and the NL was ahead. They added the fourth run in the seventh when Dave Concepcion scored on a wild pitch by Dave Steib of Toronto who earlier had thrown another wild pitch in an inning that also saw a passed ball by Darrell Porter of Kansas City.

Houston Signs Skaugstad, NG

HOUSTON (AP)—The University of California-Berkeley and Mount Rainier High School in Seattle, Wash., will be pleased to learn that a former student, nose guard Daryle Skaugstad, has signed his contract with the Houston Oilers.

Part of Skaugstad's earnings will go to his alma maters. "I'm trying to retrace my roots and use whatever athletic success I have to benefit the citizens of Houston and the other people that have been fair with me in the past," Skaugstad said Tuesday.

Skaugstad, 6-5, 260, reeled off 51 tackles before suffering a knee injury last season.

Skaugstad plans to repay his tuition to Cal-Berkeley and will establish a scholarship fund at the high school he attended.

The Ronald McDonald House, a local facility for families of children being treated here for cancer, also will be a beneficiary of Skaugstad's contract.

Oiler rookies and free agents will report to training camp Monday at San Angelo State University.

After Decade Of Study...

Superport Gets Okay

By JIM TEEL
Associated Press Writer
GALVESTON (AP)—After a decade of study and controversy Galveston officials finally got the approval they needed to construct $330-million supertanker port. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers issued permits Tuesday that cleared the way for construction of the terminal and pipelines to move the crude from the port to inland refineries.

Completion of the project, expected to take two years, will give the Port of Galveston a 50-foot working draft, the deepest facility of its kind in the nation, said C.S. Devoy, executive director of the port. U.S. Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, said the project had been at the top of his legislative priority list for more than a decade.

"It will provide our nation with a major trading link to the rest of the world and it will provide opportunities and jobs for Texans far into the future," he said.

Col. James M. Sigler, district engineer for the Corps, announced the approval of permits for deepening the channel and building berths and pipelines.

The project will be built jointly by the Port of Galveston and Pelican Terminal Corporation and will give fully loaded 110,000 dead weight ton crude carriers access to the port. Tankers of up to 250,000 deadweight tons will be able to use the port, but before entering Galveston will have to unload part of their cargo at offshore facilities near Grand Isle, La.

Pipelines will carry crude from the port's two supertanker berths to Texas City, and from there to Beaumont, Houston and Freeport.

The two 36-inch pipelines will be capable of carrying 50,000 barrels of crude an hour from the port to a Texas City tank farm. Opponents of the project argued that potential oil spills, fires and explosions threatened the environment of the Texas coast.

Save cardboard rolls from toilet tissue and use them to store cords from electrical appliances.

Increased appetite

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A year ago I quit smoking and I feel better but I do have trouble with my weight. Everything I eat and look at turns to fat. I'm 36 years old and I never had a weight problem before. I can't seem to eat three meals a day without putting on weight. So I've limited myself to two meals and no snacks. Can you send me a balanced diet so I can eat more and not have it turn to fat? When I first quit smoking I was eating everything in sight. Now the craving has stopped but the weight doesn't. Incidentally, I had a complete hysterectomy four years ago. Is that adding to my problem?

DEAR READER — Many people have an increased appetite when they quit smoking. Part of this is a nervous habit which helps to explain why they smoked in the first place.

It also makes a difference what kinds of food you eat. As you've requested, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The weight losing diet I'm sending you will provide a 1200 calorie balanced diet that you can use. If you need some more calories because you're losing weight too fast or don't feel like you have enough energy, you can increase the amount of foods on the diet.

You'll be happy to know that from a health point of view, you're better off to quit smoking even if it causes you to gain weight. Heavy cigarette smoking is a bigger health hazard than being overweight for most people. Of course, you might not like the effects on your appearance of gaining weight, but you can trade that off against the effects of cigarette smoking in causing premature wrinkling of the skin and causing people to appear as much as 10 years older on the basis of facial appearance. Obviously, the correct solution is to keep your weight down and not smoke.

Now you're one of those people who may not understand what the term complete hysterectomy means. It doesn't have a thing to do with taking out your ovaries. Since you had a hysterectomy at a very early age, your ovaries would have been left in place unless they were diseased, even though you had a complete hysterectomy.

I can't overemphasize how important it is for the public to understand this point. A woman who has had a complete hysterectomy but still has her ovaries may still develop cancer of the ovaries. In the interest of early detection, she should have regular examinations just like all other women.

Presuming that your ovaries are in place, from a hormone point of view, you're like a normal woman and there should be no significant endocrine factors that are influencing your overweight problem.

I would strongly recommend that you add a regular daily exercise program to your life style. Many people, when they quit smoking and feel nervous, would do far better to run a little bit in place, do some calisthenics or go for a short walk than they would to read the refrigerator.

Texas Opposed As Location Of MX Missiles

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—The governors of New Mexico and Texas say they support deployment of the proposed MX missile system—but not in their states.

"I endorse the program 100 percent," Texas Gov. William Clements said Tuesday. "But there are better locations than New Mexico and Texas."

And New Mexico Gov. Bruce King said, "I just don't want to see them put it in New Mexico."

The two governors, Dr. William Perry, an under-secretary of defense, and Seymour Zieberg of the Department of Defense held a news conference to discuss a proposal that would place a portion of the weapons system in eastern New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle.

A recent story in the Desert News in Salt Lake City, Utah, said the Air Force needs 7,000 square miles of land to build 200 missile bases, each containing 23 missile shelters.

Under the most recent proposal, about 45 of the planned missile bases would be installed at the New Mexico-Texas site, covering about 1,575 square miles, or more than 1 million acres.

The Defense Department officials met privately with the governors earlier Tuesday to discuss a schedule of public hearings on an environmental impact assessment of the plan, due for release in early August.

As originally proposed by the federal government, the missile system would have been in Nevada and Utah.

But Congress told the Defense Department to consider the possibility of "split-basing"—dividing the system between two separate sites—after opposition developed to the one-site plan.

Perry said the New Mexico-Texas site was selected as the leading alternative among six western sites studied "for a variety of reasons."

But King and Clements expressed some doubts about the criteria used to select the New Mexico-Texas site. And they raised questions about the need to divide the missile system between two separate sites.

Clements said installation of part of the system at the New Mexico-Texas site would be more expensive, less strategically effective and more disruptive to residents than building the entire system at the Nevada-Utah site.

Most of the Nevada-Utah site is on land already owned by the federal government, while the New Mexico-Texas site is largely owned by farmers who would be displaced if the site were chosen, he said.

Perry said the system would be more costly if it were built at two locations.

The estimated cost of the one-site system is about $33 billion, while it would cost at least $3 billion more to split the system between two bases, he said.

Preliminary reports have shown that up to 10,000 people could be displaced from their homes if the New Mexico-Texas site were selected.

But a more accurate estimate of the site's impact would be included in the environmental impact report, Perry said.

The Defense Department plans to hold a series of public hearings in New Mexico and Texas after the initial environmental impact statement is released, Perry said.

Public comments about the report will be reviewed by the Defense Department and included in a final environmental impact statement, he said. Defense officials will then make a recommendation about the site to Congress.

King said he doesn't want to see the missile system built in New Mexico, but would prefer to have it built on a military range already controlled by the Defense Department.

Lubbock Holds Public Hearing

LUBBOCK (AP)—Two congressmen say they want to inform residents about the possibility of locating MX Missile bases on the Texas South Plains and Eastern New Mexico before government engineers begin their land cost studies.

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance, D-Texas, and U.S. Rep. Harold Runnels, D-N.M., schedule an "informational" public meeting today in Lubbock.

Air Force Gen. Forrest McCartney, cited as one of the movers behind the MX Missile program, was to detail the system and its implications for Texas and New Mexico residents.

"The meeting is purely informational and no opinions will be solicited or decisions made there," said Don Richards, legislative aide to Hance.

The meeting comes just a day after Texas Gov. Bill Clements and New Mexico Gov. Bruce King met with defense department officials in Santa Fe, N.M. Both governors spoke out against location of the weapons system in Texas or New Mexico.

A senate bill approved last Thursday requires the Defense Department to place no more than half of the 4,600 launching sites for the 200 missiles in Nevada or Utah.

The Texas South Plains and Eastern New Mexico areas are not ruled out as possible sites, members of the Texas Congressional delegation have been told. "We're the only 'somewhere else' there is," Richards said.

Since government engineers are to begin land cost studies on the area, he said Hance decided to call the meeting to inform residents before engineers showed up.

Hearings on the plan are expected later this year after an environmental impact study is completed.

NBC Hits New Low In Prime Time Race

NEW YORK (AP) Summer viewing habits, competition between CBS and ABC and low ratings for several special programs apparently combined to help send NBC to the lowest point in the ratings for any network in nearly four years.

NBC's rating for the week ending July 6, based on figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co., was 10.6, compared to 14.6 for ABC and 13.3 for CBS. The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, only 10.6 percent of the nation's TV-equipped homes were tuned to NBC.

ABC's first-place finish ended CBS' eight-week run as the No. 1 network in the weekly ratings competition. The rating of 10.6 was the lowest for any network since the third week in July 1976, when CBS scored a 10. NBC's rating that week was 10.6 and ABC's 14.6.

Prime-time ratings normally are lower in the summer, and the long Fourth of July weekend pulled them down even further. Average ratings for Thursday night, July 3, were 18 percent below ratings for Thursday night of the same week in 1979, while Friday night ratings fell 24 percent.

July 4 was on a Wednesday in 1979. NBC had only one show, "Real People," among the week's 20 highest-rated, and that program finished in a three-way tie for 20th.

In addition, NBC's second "Live from Studio 8H" production, "An Evening with Jerome Kobins," finished in 60th place - the week's lowest-rated program - and a movie on the same network, "Music Man," was 58th.

ABC snatched first place for the week from CBS by spotting four of the week's five highest-rated programs. The two networks split the Top 10: "M-A-S-H" on CBS and ABC's "Three's Company" tied for first place for the week, trailed by three ABC shows - "Hart to Hart," "Vegas" and "Taxi."

Both "M-A-S-H" and "Three's Company" had ratings of 21.9. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, 21.9 percent saw at least some of each of the two programs.

Only one original program was among the 20 highest-rated. "Phyl and Mikhy" on CBS tied for 20th place with "Real People" and an episode of "One Day at a Time," also on CBS. Another installment of "One Day at a Time" broadcast a half-hour earlier was No. 19.

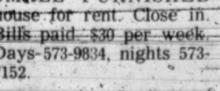

In addition to the two NBC programs, the five lowest-rated shows included three from CBS: "Home to Stay" in 56th place, "The Incredible Hulk" 57th and a movie, "The Little Prince," 59th. Here are the week's Top 10 shows: "M-A-S-H," CBS, and "Three's Company," ABC, both with ratings of 21.9 representing 16.7 million homes; "Hart to Hart," 21.2 or 16.2 million; "Vegas," 20.9 or 15.9 million, and "Taxi," 20.7 or 15.8 million, all ABC; "House Calls," CBS, and "Fantasy Island," ABC, both 19.4 or 14.8 million, and "Lou Grant," 19.3 or 14.7 million, "The Jeffersons," 18.8 or 14.4 million, and "60 Minutes," 18.7 or 14.3 million, all CBS.

Africa Is Starving...

Severe Food Shortage Grips Half Continent

By ANDREW TORCHIA, Associated Press Writer
NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Across this vast continent, a disaster caused by nature and compounded by human waste and conflict has taken shape. Africa is starving.

Africa's goal of feeding itself, proclaimed when colonies began becoming independent nations 20 years ago, seems impossibly remote.

Some 440 million Africans, a tenth of the world's people, have measurably less to eat than they had 10 years ago. Tens of thousands are starving to death.

Twenty-one African countries, nearly half the continent, are gripped by severe food shortages, the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization says. Ten countries from Ethiopia to Mozambique are particularly hard hit.

Maurice Williams, executive director of the U.N. World Food Council, predicts "a period of permanent food crisis." Some experts believe the crisis will be deeper than the 1972-74 drought, when 300,000 or more died in Ethiopia and the Sahel belt south of the Sahara.

U.N. planners estimate that apart from emergency aid, more than $64 billion is needed if Africa is to approach food self-sufficiency by 1990.

Equally important is the will of African governments to make the difficult decisions required to turn the situation around.

Africans don't need governments to tell them they're in trouble.

Scenes from a hungry continent:
—In Nairobi, thousands stand in line as long as 12 hours to buy nine pounds of maize meal, enough to feed an average family for one day. Fights are common.

Near the Lake Victoria port of Mwanza, Tanzania, some families eat every other day. Villagers buy food with the money they saved to build a school.

In the Karamoja region of Uganda, hungry men snatch meat from children and old people. The strong survive but tens of thousands die, and the habits of civilization vanish.

In Zambia, private dairymen slaughter cows because of low, government-controlled milk prices, while state-run dairies wallow in inefficiency. A French agronomist reported one state dairy with 25 workers tending 51 cows.

In Somalia, the world's worst refugee problem depletes the meager resources of one of the world's poorest countries. Some 1.5 million refugees from a guerrilla war in Ethiopia, most of them women and children, exist on daily food rations of one pound or less.

Pregnant and exhausted women stagger into relief camps, give birth and die. Disease claims hundreds. The underlying cause of the crisis is rain — lack of rain, too much rain or rain at the wrong time. There are other afflictions, such as persistent locust swarms and infestations of caterpillars, but a major cause of famine, many observers say, is man himself.

Eastern Africa would have no problem feeding itself and even exporting some if everyone got his act together. But will they? asked the American analyst, who asked not to be identified by name or organization.

O.H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD told the directors that the U.S. Corps of Engineers has asked that an archaeological survey be taken at the site of the proposed Stacy Reservoir. Ivie recommended that before any action is taken, a check be made with Texas Utility Inc. who once planned an electric generating plant in the area.

The CRMWD is joining Texas cities in appearing before the Public Utilities Commission regarding a rate increase from Texas Electric Service Company.

Ivie told the board that record rates of water deliveries to the west end of the district may make it necessary to begin on-peak pumping. This could cost an additional $48,000 a year, a large sum for only supplying another 3,000,000 gallons a day, he said.

change that country from an exporter of 10 percent of its grain crop to an importer of 21 percent of its grain consumption.

Years of war have cut Zimbabwe's maize fields by more than a third. When drought struck two years ago, one of Africa's most efficient food exporters became an importer.

Africa's population, 285 million less than 20 years ago, is expected to be almost 600 million by 1990. The FAO estimates population is growing at 3 percent a year; production at less than 2 percent.

African yields are the lowest in the world.

for use of the girls' small gym at the high school, and approved an $8,925 bid turned in by Eddie Williams to repair the walkways of the west bleachers in Tiger Stadium.

However, trustees did not grant a request by Winfred Shipp asking for the school to provide a vehicle and gasoline for use in taking four Snyder athletes to contests.

Trustees were informed of a workshop being held in San Antonio next month and appointed Ted Crenwelge to attend it. He is to be the delegate, and Lillie Sullivan was appointed alternate delegate. Trustees were also told of a leadership workshop being held in Midland later this month.

Trustees approved a resolution to be presented to the delegate assembly in San Antonio urging the state legislature to change the method of financing appraisal districts.

Board members also decided to contact Mal Donelson Chev. Co. in regard to the possibility of purchasing several vehicles.

PLAINS, Ga. (AP)—It was Jimmy over Billy, 13-3, in a softball game between President Carter's softball team and his brother Billy's.

"It's the first thing he's won in so damn long it's about time he won something," quipped brother Billy on Sunday.

The president's younger brother also joked, "I thought it was fixed to bring in bailplayers from all over the country to play one game," referring to the Secret Service agents and White House staff who made up the president's team.

"I understand on good sources it cost him $2 1/2 million to bring those players in from all over the world. I understand he got three of the Iranian hostages out to play the game. He's sending them back tomorrow morning."

Price Of Coffee Drops 15 Cents

General Foods Corp. of White Plains, N.Y., the industry leader, confirmed Tuesday the wholesale price of its Maxwell House ground coffee was cut to $3.08 a pound from $3.23 July 3.

Second-ranked Procter & Gamble Co. said in Cincinnati it posted a $3.08-a-pound wholesale price on Folger's ground coffee Monday. No. 3 Hills Brothers Inc. of San Francisco said it also cut its wholesale ground coffee price 15 cents to $3.08 the same day.

The wholesale price changes could be reflected in retail prices in about a month. But many supermarkets that use coffee as a "loss leader" to attract customers to obtain discounts from roasters for large-volume purchases sell coffee below wholesale.

Art Collector Convicted In Nazi Massacre

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—Pieter Menten, the 81-year-old Dutch millionaire art collector, was sentenced today to 10 years in prison and fined $50,000 on conviction of collaborating in the Nazi massacre of 20-30 Police Jews in World War II.

The war crimes court in Rotterdam said the prosecution had not proven Menten had personally shot any of the victims at the former Polish village of Podhorce, now a part of the Soviet Ukraine. But the court said it was "convinced Menten acted in unison with others."

"We do not find it important whether Menten actually killed personally," the court said. "A crime against humanity was committed and this court felt that no one person could go unpunished for such an act."

Menten was not present to hear the verdict, which came after 14 trial days stretching over nearly two months. His court-appointed attorney, Eduard de Liagre Bohly, told the court Menten was absent because of ill health.

Menten had denied the state's charge that he took part in the slaughter of between 20 and 30 Jews in Podhorce on July 7, 1941, while he was attached to the Nazi SS.

Reading the verdict to a packed courtroom, court President Piet Schipper said the court did not believe Menten's claim that trial witnesses who had placed him at the execution site were inspired by the KGB, the Soviet secret police.

The court lifted an earlier order confining Menten to his home in Blicicum, east of Amsterdam, and ordered him to report immediately to prison.

Later, a Justice Ministry spokeswoman said a police doctor was sent to Menten's home today to determine whether the defendant was able to enter a normal prison.

"If the doctor finds that Menten is in no need of constant medical care, he will be sent to the prison in Amsterdam," said spokeswoman Toos Faber. "If he is ill he will be sent to the hospital section of the penitentiary in The Hague."

Suspect Released In Mixup

LUBBOCK (AP)—Hospital officials say they were never told a 24-year-old murder suspect was under arrest, so when he recovered from his gunshot wounds they released him.

"We didn't realize he was under arrest - no one told us," said Kenneth Fitzgerald, nursing supervisor at Lubbock General Hospital.

"He was ready to go home and a release form was signed. There wasn't any guard on him and with a felon they usually post a guard."

The man, charged with murder in connection with a four-way shoot-out in Crosby County on July 2, strolled out of the hospital but was recaptured Monday night, the sheriff's department said.

"There was considerable confusion in the night he was brought in and no one was sure just who shot who," Fitzgerald said. "I don't even know if the guy knew he was wanted."

But within a few minutes after the man's release, two Texas Tech security officers were grilling nurses about the circumstances of his premature dismissal, Fitzgerald said.

"Our communications were just mixed up," said a sheriff's department spokesman. "But everything is OK now. We recaptured the suspect Monday night about 10:45."

Felony DWI Charge Filed

Relief Planned For Sweetwater

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District (CRMWD) met yesterday in Big Spring and proposed committing 3,000 acre feet of water to Sweetwater's Oak Creek

Lake. Details will be worked out by the district rate committee who will be in consultation with Sweetwater representatives.

Sweetwater, which has been hit by a severe drought, is currently rationing water in a plan that includes a ban on such things as watering lawns and washing cars.

Two factors will determine the final figures in the CRMWD proposal: Cost of water in Lake E.V. Spence based on today's costs plus operation and maintenance costs, and the financing and operating cost of a 20 mile pipeline from Spence to Oak Creek Lake.

The directors will meet in two weeks and act on the final draft. In advance of this, Sweetwater will vote on the measure.

O.H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD told the directors that the U.S. Corps of Engineers has asked that an archaeological survey be taken at the site of the proposed Stacy Reservoir. Ivie recommended that before any action is taken, a check be made with Texas Utility Inc. who once planned an electric generating plant in the area.

The CRMWD is joining Texas cities in appearing before the Public Utilities Commission regarding a rate increase from Texas Electric Service Company.

Ivie told the board that record rates of water deliveries to the west end of the district may make it necessary to begin on-peak pumping. This could cost an additional $48,000 a year, a large sum for only supplying another 3,000,000 gallons a day, he said.

One Killed In Explosion

PLACEDO (AP)—An explosion that roared through a crude oil storage facility near this small southeast Texas town killed one man and ignited flames that sent thick black plumes of smoke drifting over Victoria, 13 miles to the northeast.

Victoria County Judge Norman D. Jones said two men may be missing following the blast at the Coastal States Gas Co's crude oil gathering facility located along the Victoria ship channel. He said the body of one man had been taken to a morgue in Victoria.

Firefighters said storage tanks were under control but still burning late Tuesday night, hours after the 6:15 p.m. blast.

A spokesman for Coastal States said that the men were contract painters and not Coastal States employees. He said he was not sure how many painters were at the scene at the time of the blast.

The explosion destroyed two tanks, heavily damaged a third at the facility. Firefighters said only one of the 80,000 gallon tanks still contained light crude oil.

Firefighters were hampered by a lack of water at the facility. Pumper trucks had to travel to points two and 10 miles away to refill their tanks.

GREETING GUEST—Roy Baze and wife, Jean, greet one of the more than 200 guests who turned out for a reception to congratulate the retiring Exxon vice president. 33 Years Service...

Exxon VP Retires; Returns To Snyder

HOUSTON — More than 200 business associates and friends attended a reception in Houston June 30 for Exxon Company, U.S.A. Senior Vice President Roy A. Baze, who is retiring from that Company after a distinguished career of more than 33 years' service.

The senior Exxon executive is the son of Mrs. Velma Baze, a life-long Snyder resident who lives at 2609 36th St. Baze, a 1939 graduate of Snyder High School, and his wife, the former Geleska Jean Harless, who also is a Snyder native, have moved from Houston and are now making their home at 2604 34th St.

The two-hour company reception honoring the Bazes was held in a conference room adjoining the executive offices of Exxon USA headquarters. With them in the receiving line was the eldest of their two sons, Robert E. (Bob), a manager with Exxon Chemical Company, U.S.A., and his wife Margaret. Their other son, Ben is attending the University of Montana and is on a summer field trip in Northern Montana. Many of the guests at the reception included senior management of Exxon USA and its affiliated companies.

Throughout the afternoon guests voiced the sentiment that the guiding hand of Baze would be missed by the Exxon organization. In turn, the Bazes extended invitations for their guests to visit them in Snyder. Mr. Baze also noted to many that he "was going to work hard at enjoying retirement."

On June 30, his last day in his office, Mr. Baze received farewell phone calls from Exxon management throughout the world. His congratulatory letters were from Exxon associates as well as from the management of the National Association of Manufacturers and from U.S. Senator Henry Jackson.

Baze graduated from the University of Oklahoma in 1943 with a bachelor's degree in petroleum engineering. During World War II, he served with the field artillery in the U.S. Army, attaining the rank of captain.

He joined a predecessor of Exxon, the Humble Oil and Refining Company, in 1946, spending his entire career with the Exxon organization. He started as an engineering trainee, working as a roustabout and roughneck in the South Texas oil fields; progressing through a number of responsible engineering positions and a series of promotions to General Manager of the Supply Department; Executive Assistant to the President of Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), the predecessor of Exxon Corporation; Vice President-Producing and Vice President-Logistics of Exxon Corporation; and on to Senior Vice President of Exxon USA.

For more than 14 years he served in high level management positions, with responsibility for some of the most complex, expensive, and ambitious projects the Company has undertaken.

He was executive in charge of Exxon USA's Supply, refining, and Marine departments and was the shareholder contact for Exxon Pipeline Company at the time of the Arab embargo of crude oil to the United States in 1973. It was later noted by the U.S. Senate that during this time Exxon USA did an outstanding job of distributing the available oil to their customers in a fair and responsible manner under severe hardships.

Baze was executive in charge of the Refining Department during the three-year, $502 million expansion of Exxon's Baytown Refinery, which added facilities to produce large volumes of low-sulfur fuel oil. When the project culminated in 1977, that refinery was the largest in the United States.

The senior vice president was also the executive in charge of the Marine Department and the shareholder contact for Exxon Pipeline Company during the start-up and integration of the supply system to accommodate initiation of oil production from the Prudhoe Bay, Alaska field. This effort involved being ready to accommodate 1.2 million barrels per day of oil at Valdez terminal on the south end of the trans-Alaska pipeline and Exxon being prepared to handle its 240,000 barrels per day of the total.

Among his responsibilities at the time of his retirement, Baze was executive in charge of the Production and Synthetic Fuels departments and the shareholder contact for Exxon Coal USA. Those responsibilities involved development of two shale oil projects and a coal gasification project, as well as a pilot liquefaction plant now operating at Baytown.

Throughout his career, Baze has been involved in a number of outside organizations. He is a registered professional engineer in Texas and holds memberships in the American Petroleum Institute and Society of Petroleum Engineers. In addition, he has served on the boards of directors of Plantation Pipeline Company, Exxon Research and Engineering Company, the National Association of Manufacturers, National Junior Achievement, Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association and the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

EPA Says State Has Lion's Share...

Dangerous Dump Sites In Texas Tagged

DALLAS (AP)—The Environmental Protection Agency says Texas has the lion's share of the more than 1,155 potentially hazardous waste disposal sites located in a five-state region.

"We have a serious situation. More than 70 percent of the petrochemical companies in the nation are in our region," said Adlene Harrison, EPA regional administrator.

The sites range from municipal landfills to companies previously cited for violation of federal and state toxic waste regulations and were included in a massive one-year effort by the EPA's regional office in Dallas to identify potentially hazardous dumps.

Ms. Harrison said Tuesday the potentially hazardous locations identified by her agency included 468 in Texas, 173 in Louisiana, 163 in Arkansas, 179 in Oklahoma and 172 in New Mexico.

However, she said, the sites listed by the EPA do not necessarily contain hazardous or toxic chemicals, but indicated that each needed to be inspected. Federal inspectors, assisted by state agencies, eventually hope to survey each site identified by the EPA in the five states, she said.

The list was compiled after a congressional subcommittee, headed by Rep. Bob Eckhart, D-Houston, last year surveyed chemically companies on the locations of their dumps and the types of wastes disposed, Ms. Harrison said.

Concerned citizens and state agencies also reported other potentially hazardous sites, including an abandoned pesticide manufacturing facility at Mission, she said.
