With Attack On Carter... GOP Convention Opens

Museum Director On TV

Terry Gilbreth, director of Diamond M Museum, will appear on Sylvia's Chalet, channel 12, Tuesday. Gilbreth will have a sculpture display and explain casting to viewers. Also, a Diamond M Museum video tape will be featured on the 9-10 T.V. show.

Carter Leary Of Tax Cut

SAPELO ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—After summoning his economic advisers to his vacation retreat, President Carter retains "grave reservations" about the wisdom of promoting a tax cut in an election year. White House press secretary Jody Powell said the president's two-hour meeting Sunday with his top economic advisers and Vice President Walter F. Mondale focused on "the immediate and long-term economic outlook" and not on a tax cut.

Won't Appeal Verdict

EL PASO (AP)—An inventor who claimed the late Lee Chagra and another man cheated him out of his patents probably will not appeal the jury's verdict in the case, his lawyer says. Inventor Alois Crepensik said Chagra and bowling alley owner David McFadden conned him out of the patent rights for safety locks Crepensik designed. He sought more than $3 million in damages. But jurors found Chagra, a defense lawyer shot to death in his downtown office in December of 1978, and McFadden innocent of breach of contract.

Probing Cattle Deaths

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—State investigators are trying to find out if chemicals from a hazardous waste site next to their pasture killed four of Edmond Ewell's cows and made seven others sick. Officials at Rollins Environmental Services say their dump cannot be the problem, because there is no hazardous waste in the area next to the pastureland in question. But the Ewells say the animals got sick after spring rains spilled over the Rollins site and into their pasture. Blood tests on the sick cows proved nothing, said Dr. Tom Greene, who has been investigating the case for the department.

Poll Shows Reagan Leads

DETROIT (AP)—Ronald Reagan has opened a big lead over President Carter in recent weeks, even though many Americans do not agree with the former California governor on his plan for a major tax cut and on other issues, an Associated Press-NBC News poll says. Carter's continued decline in the judgment of many Americans has also given a boost to Rep. John Anderson's independent candidacy, who is now trailing the incumbent by only 9 percentage points. Reagan has gained this lead over Carter now 15 percentage points - as Reagan prepares to assume officially the mantle of the Republican presidential nominee at the party convention here this week.

In Lubbock...

Pool Hall Melee Leaves 4 Dead

LUBBOCK (AP)—Four men were killed in a volley of gunfire outside a small East Lubbock pool hall Sunday night. Police were called to the scene about 8:30 p.m. after several Mexican-American men entered the hall and followed several patrons outside, where an undetermined number of shots were fired. Geronimo Cavarrubio and Leo Cavarrubio, both believed to be in their 60s, were pronounced dead outside the hall when officers arrived, police said. Jim Cavarrubio, 20, and Willie Guerra, 20, died at Lubbock General Hospital about an hour after the shooting, officials said. Two of the men were found dead just outside the building, police said. Another, who suffered wounds to the cheek, chest and abdomen, was found in a residential area across from the pool hall, officers said. Police found a .38-caliber pistol near the residential area. Several witnesses were questioned late Sunday, but no arrests have been made, police said.

Medallions

Going On Sale Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Starting Tuesday, Americans can buy domestic gold in small quantities when the Treasury Department begins taking orders for one-ounce and half-ounce medallions.

Each medallion will honor a different American artist. One million half-ounce medallions, with a portrait of singer Marian Anderson, and 500,000 one-ounce medals, commemorating painter Grant Wood, are being struck this year. Prices of the medallions will be based on the previous day's closing price of gold on the New York Commodity Exchange, plus $12 for the Wood medal and $6 for the Anderson medal to cover production and distribution costs. The price of gold Friday was $667 an ounce.

DETROIT (AP)—Republicans opened their national convention today with an attack on President Carter's "mistaken presidency" and a determination to present a united front for Ronald Reagan's campaign to return the White House to GOP control. When party chairman Bill Brock called the 32nd GOP National Convention to order in late morning, Reagan's vice presidential choice was the only element of suspense to occupy the delegates' zest for political gossip and rumor.

The scene on the packed floor of Joe Louis Arena was far different than four years ago when the Republicans convened in Kansas City, Mo., closely divided after a bitter primary fight between Reagan and then President Gerald R. Ford. This year the show belonged to Reagan. The buttons, banners and bumper stickers carried his name. Ford was in a supporting role as the featured speaker at tonight's session and a symbol of efforts to unite the party.

Since delegates and party officials began arriving here last week, the convention city has been the scene of intense speculation about the vice presidential nomination as well as efforts to influence it. The agenda for the opening convention session was devoted to routine business and a few speeches, led off by a welcome from Mayor Coleman Young of Detroit, a Democrat, who is a top political ally of President Carter.

Sen. Richard Lugar of Indiana, one of those on Reagan's list of vice presidential possibilities and the featured speaker at the opening session, set the tone of this week's convention oratory with a slashing attack on Carter. Said Lugar: "Thank goodness for an election year in this country. Thank goodness for a chance to undo the damage of a mistaken presidency while there is still time."

In remarks prepared for delivery, Lugar described Carter as "weak and ineffective" in his handling of foreign affairs. "It can now be said of President Jimmy Carter that he has failed in the worst way a president can - he has increased the possibility of war," Lugar said. By contrast, said the senator, "Ronald Reagan understands that if America offers steady and reliable leadership, we will find support from our allies in Western Europe, Japan, Australia and elsewhere and we will rebuild an effective free world alliance."

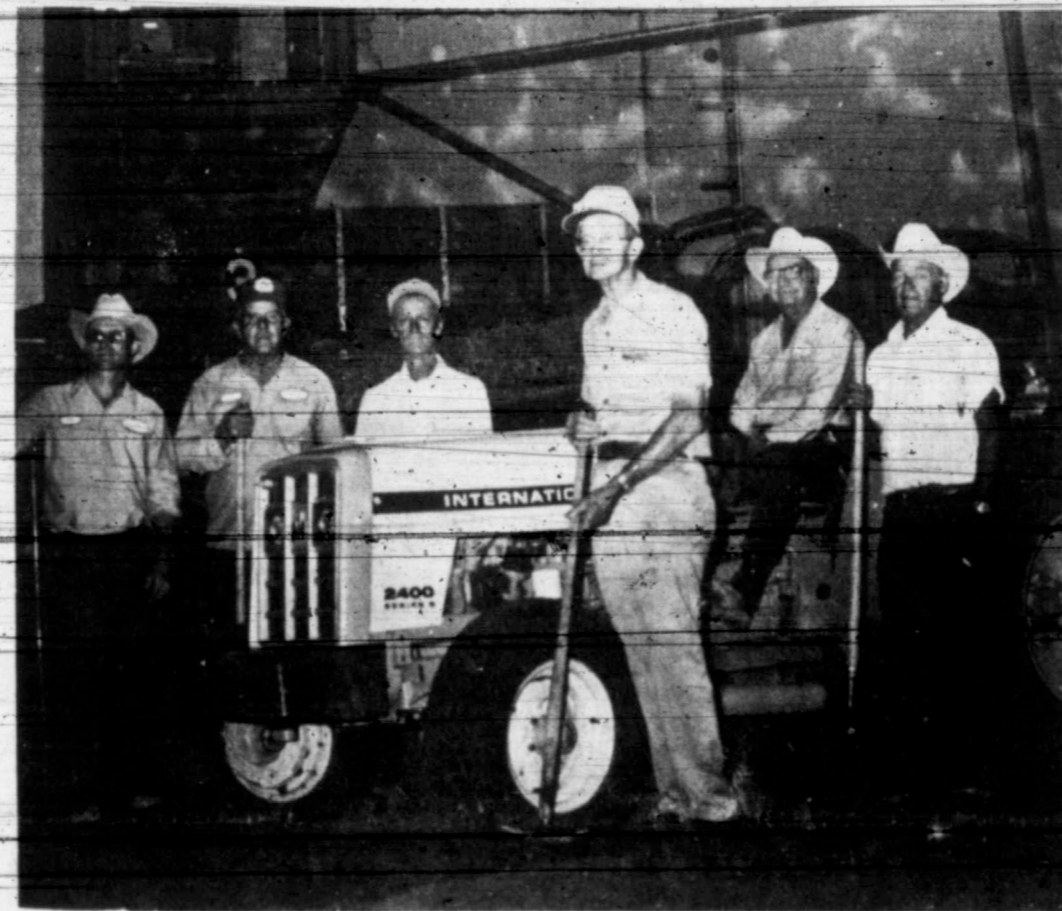

Reagan was flying to the convention city today, a journey capping a 12-year quest for the Republican presidential nomination.

Freed Hostage In Houston...

Anticipating Return To U.S. 3 Bowling Alley Workers Killed

WIESBADEN, West Germany (AP)—Freed hostage Richard Queen bought a new outfit in preparation for his return to the United States, but U.S. officials said he would remain in a U.S. military hospital in Germany for several more days of medical tests. "They are doing tests and it takes time to get the results," said one American diplomat. "I was led to believe that nothing would be available on him for a couple of days."

HOUSTON (AP)—Three bowling alley employees were shot to death and a fourth critically wounded in an execution-style slaying early Monday. The victims were two men and a woman in their late teens to early 20s and were spending the night at Fair Lanes, Windfern Bowling Center in northwest Houston because of a burglary at the lanes the night before, police said. They apparently were made to lie down on the floor and each shot in the head shortly after midnight. Victims were identified as Tommy Lee Temple, address and age unknown, Stephen Allen Simms, approximately 25 years old, address unknown, and Arden Alan Felsher, approximately 17 years old, address unknown. Gregory Garner, age and address unknown, was hospitalized in critical condition with a head gunshot wound, officials said. It was not known what his chances of survival were. Details of the shooting are sketchy and police hoped to get additional information from Garner. The victims were discovered after the bowling alley's assistant manager called the alley shortly after midnight and was told by a wounded employee to call police. Two of the victims were dead when the assistant manager arrived. The third died a short time later at the scene. The lanes closed at 11:30 p.m. Sunday. Police said robbery appeared to be the motive for the slayings.

Lower Tax Collection Fee OK'd By County

Scurry County Commissioners this morning approved a proposal by Clarence Minton, county tax collector, to offer contracts for collecting taxes for other agencies in 1981-82 for a fee of six-tenths of one percent. Minton also proposed that the other agencies be offered two-year contracts at that figure.

The county tax collector said he made the proposal after some of the other agencies, especially Snyder Independent School District, had indicated that the maximum formula allowed under new tax laws would be excessive. These figures would provide that the Snyder School District pay well over half of the total collection costs for taxes in the county.

The new proposal approved this morning would reduce the school district's share to well under 50 percent, although it is by far the largest agency in the tax appraisal district from the standpoint of total levy. Minton and County Auditor Jay Massingill both said they felt that the county tax office could handle collections for other agencies at the six-tenths of one percent fee. Heretofore, the county has been collecting taxes for rural school districts and the Scurry County Junior College District for one percent. The proposed new fee, if accepted by the agencies involved, will go into effect when the county-wide appraisal district becomes mandatory. Scurry County is one of the counties that has moved ahead to implement the new county-wide district this year. Following the discussion with Minton and Massingill, Commissioner Hassie Sneed made a motion to approve the proposal of six-tenths of one percent for a period of two years. It drew a second from Commissioner Charlie Yoast and carried unanimously, with Commissioners Eldon Perry and Ted Billingsley joining them in voting for it. Sneed said he felt that the agencies should make every effort to provide taxpayers with the best and most convenient service possible. This was a factor in making space available for the appraisal district's offices in the courthouse, he said. As the situation now exists, the appraisal office and county tax collection office are side-by-side. The estimated total cost to the contracting agencies under the new proposal for 1981-82 is $55,213, based on current levy estimates.

Heat Rebounds; Water Use Rises

Snyder's "cooler" weather was only temporary. The mercury moved back to the 106-degree mark Sunday on the official thermometer at the city water plant, and forecasts indicated more of the same could be expected today. At the same time, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reported that demands for water continued high. Paschal Odom, assistant general manager of CRMWD, said that during the past week, deliveries to the cities averaged about 6 1/2 million gallons a day. Odessa has been taking more than 34 million gallons a day, Big Spring about 11.7 million gallons and Snyder about 5.5 million gallons a day. Midland, which receives part of its supply from CRMWD, has been drawing 13.5 million gallons per day and Stanton about 700,000 gallons per day.

Snyder wells were brought on to help take care of the load here. The problems in the district deliveries have been mainly in distribution, since sources of supply have been adequate. CRMWD directors have been called to a special meeting at 10 a.m. July 24 to consider proposed water sales contracts with the City of Sweetwater. The board last week reaffirmed a willingness to make up to 3,000 acre fee of water from Lake E.V. Spence available annually to Sweetwater and also to build a 20-mile-long pipeline to Sweetwater's Oak Creek Reservoir pump station. Proposed contracts are due to go to Sweetwater for an Aug. 9 referendum. If adopted, the district plans to proceed immediately with arranging financing and final engineering on a pipeline.

Texans At Conventions Renew Acquaintances

DETROIT (AP)—The Texas delegation to the Republican National Convention is getting together to do little more than renew old acquaintances, putting off any serious discussion until later this week. The 80 delegates planned a social gathering today, their first caucus since they were picked at the state convention in Houston last month. A second caucus, called for Tuesday afternoon, was expected to be more substantive, dealing with exactly what role the Texans will play in the presidential nomination process Wednesday and the selection of a vice presidential nominee. So far, there has been no indication the expected presidential nominee Ronald Reagan will make a personal appearance before the Texans. Today's caucus follows a day of confusion Sunday. Today's caucus follows a day of confusion Sunday. Today's caucus follows a day of confusion Sunday.

Swindled Virginian Wants Money Back

SIERRA BLANCA, Texas (AP)—A man from Virginia who paid more than $1,000 an acre for five acres of West Texas desert has filed a lawsuit to get his money back, claiming he was misled by a salesman who said the land had great potential for oil wells. Frederick M. Gore of Middletown, Va., said he bought the land, just west of Dell City, Texas, last year for $8,990. The territory is rocky, desert terrain with a few salt flats. Gore said a salesman for the owners of the Secret Springs real estate development, told him there was "an immediate potential for development of oil and gas resources on the property." But an oilman said there was no oil production within 50 miles of the site.

hanoi's deception

During the five years since the end of the Vietnam war, it has become painfully apparent that Hanoi intends to barter its cooperation in resolving the status of 2,500 missing Americans in exchange for diplomatic and economic concessions from Washington.

But such a cruel policy could hardly be acknowledged openly. So, the Vietnamese have insisted that, while search parties continued to scour the countryside, all known remains of American servicemen either had been or would be returned as soon as they were located and identified.

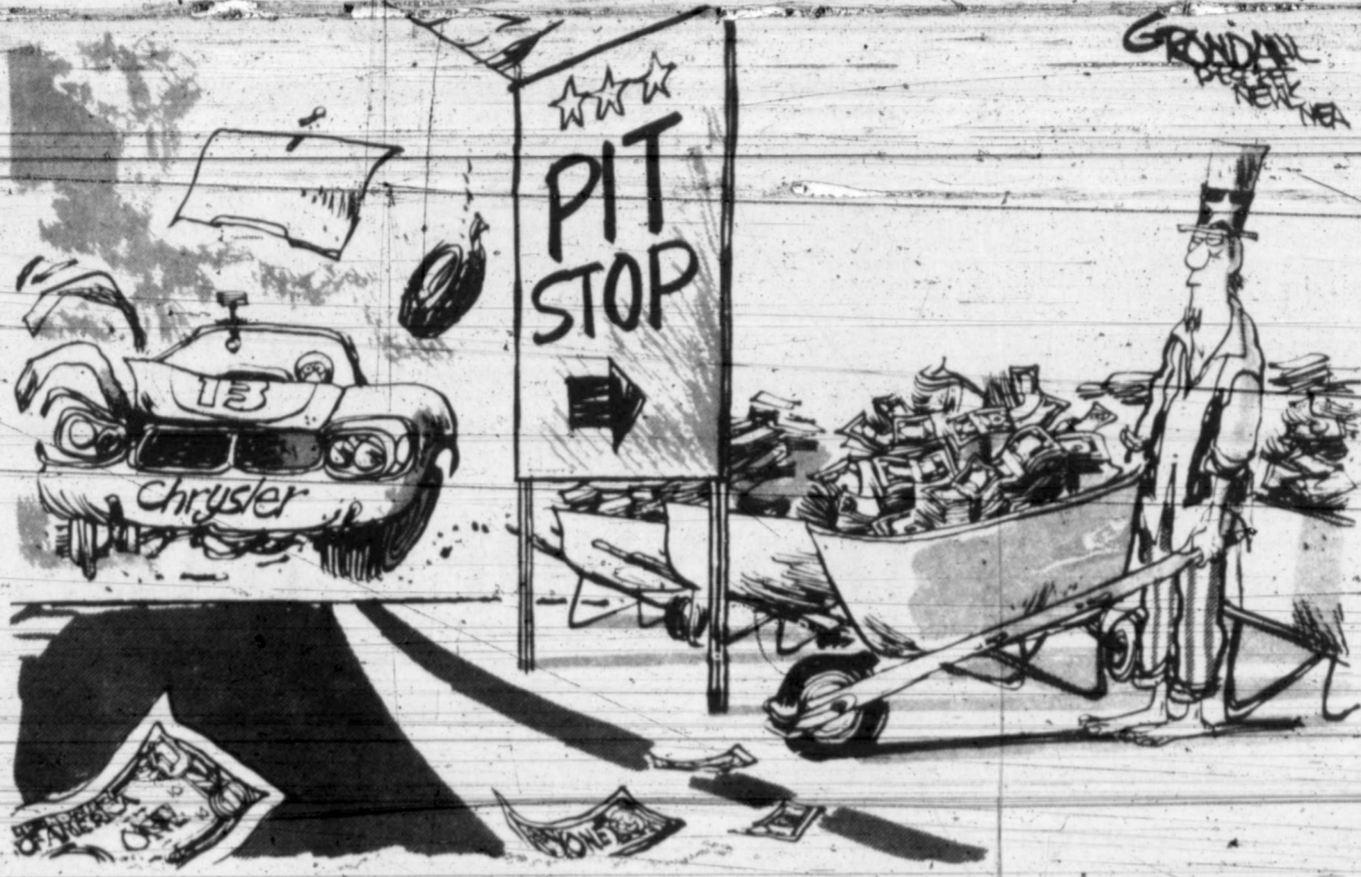

That, it now transpires, was a lie. American intelligence has long had reason to believe that hundreds of American bodies were being stored in Hanoi. Each new bit of supporting evidence was carefully crosschecked and filed with previous information. By early this year, the Pentagon was all but certain of its facts.

The clincher arrived in the form of one of Hanoi's chief morticians, an ethnic Chinese expelled from Vietnam last year. In dramatic testimony before a congressional committee, the mortician told of processing the remains of 400 American servicemen stored in a complex of buildings in Hanoi formerly used as a POW camp.

Obviously, the Vietnamese are retaining a reserve of U.S. bodies to be returned a few at a time as part of a strategy to coax, or extort, concessions from Washington.

Given Hanoi's reputation for shameless deception and callousness, there is little immediate hope that the 400 bodies will be returned or that their existence will even be acknowledged.

Nevertheless, the Carter administration could put an end to this grisly form of diplomacy by simply announcing that, henceforth, no further political discussions will take place between United States and Vietnamese officials until the status of every American MIA is resolved to the Pentagon's satisfaction.

The current name for them is displaced homemakers. They're at that awkward time of their lives. Too old for camp. Too young for Social Security. Too overqualified for yellow wax build-up. Too tired for an affair.

They decide to re-enter the job market. They're terrified, insecure, intimidated, apprehensive, desperate, confused, put-down and frustrated. They're sensitive about being the last parenthesis of the age brackets (35 or over) on the application form. There is one thing they are definitely not — and that's alone.

Every week, letters come over the desk asking me to find some humor in their situation. It's not easy. Can a woman who gets leg cramps from wedgies find happiness with a young girl whose life revolves around a yogurt pyramid club?

Mostly, displaced homemakers are amazed at what they see when they emerge from their domestic time capsule. One woman from Maumee, Ohio, summed it up better than anyone else.

"I was interviewed by a child," she said. "I knew that child and all the others like her. Didn't I hold them in my arms, nurse them, powder their behind? Didn't I feed them and hang crepe paper for their birthday parties? I went to their class plays and clapped the loudest. I went to their science fairs and walked for hours while they explained their projects to me about how bread mold can cure cancer."

"I went to their noisy concerts, their plays and listened to their voices crack between youth and adulthood. I balanced their meals and balanced our budget. I learned how to sew and cut hair. I enrolled them in school and gave them words in English while they responded in Spanish."

"Now my professional life hangs in their balance and they are asking me if I'm qualified for any thing."

"I have been told in the same day I am too quiet and too aggressive. One said my eyebrows showed 'negativism.' (I developed those when I was 'into diapers.') One asked if I could drive under pressure. (Get serious!) Another said if I could get a No. 2 license I could drive an airport shuttle or if I were a size 9 I could rent cars."

"The girl in front of me had hipbones and mouth like Emmett Kelly. She was young and got the job."

Do not despair, ladies. Try to remember Helen who wrote in one of the letters. "When I was given an application blank and I came to a small spot marked, 'Experience,' I said to the personnel manager, 'Pardon me, sir, I've been a wife and mother for 15 years. I'll need two extra sheets of paper to list my background and skills.'"

She got the job. Copyright 1980 Field Enterprises, Inc.

Vacation Time Planning Saves

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vacations can be costly, but a little planning ahead can save you money on your home electric bill while you're away.

Your electric bill won't automatically take a big dip just because you're not home, because many major energy users — air conditioner, water heater, refrigerator and freezer — may still be running.

If you have an electric water heater, turn off the circuit breaker or take out the fuse before going away suggests Eric Oganessoff of the Potomac Electric Power Co.

He also suggested turning the air conditioner off, or at least setting it at 85 degrees to reduce its running when no one is home.

If you're cleaning your refrigerator, consider taking out perishable items and turning it off, he added. Leave the door open to prevent mold.

"When you can, Oganessoff said, unplug appliances not being used, particularly television sets and stereos, as a safeguard against damage is case lightning strikes while you're away."

"If you want to leave lights on in your home, use timers that will turn them on and off at different intervals and in different rooms," he said. He suggested holding down costs by using low-wattage bulbs.

PORK STUDIED - A new analysis by the Agriculture Department reports that pork holds its vital nutrients between slaughter and the meat counter.

However, the study did disclose that pork contains considerably less iron than had previously been thought.

"Except for the lower-than-expected iron content, pork contains all of the valuable nutrients that earlier scientific data indicated, and its iron is readily utilizable," said nutrition analyst Mary Moss.

Most pork reaches the retailer within five to seven days after slaughter and the study was aimed at determining how well the meat retains its nutrients.

The researchers found that even 10 days after slaughter most of the nutrients remain, including nearly 100 percent of the thiamin.

ON-TIME TRAINS - Amtrak reports that its trains were on-time 69.7 percent of the time in April, the most recent statistics available. That's a 26.5 percent improvement over the same period last year.

Trains operating on short runs were on time 72.2 percent of the time, while the long-distance trains managed a 61.5 percent on-time performance.

There are, an estimated 450 million disabled persons in the world, and the U.S. General Assembly has named 1981 as the "Year of the Disabled." The purpose of the year is to "promote the realization of the right of disabled persons to participate fully in the life of the societies in which they live and to help the disabled to realize fully their human potential."

Common Sense Cooking

By RUTH McDANIEL

Dear Ruth, I've just become a working mother and my biggest problem is having a good evening meal for my family. I like casseroles that can be made ahead of time and popped in the oven when I get home. Any suggestions? I've used many of your recipes printed in the Bryan Eagle and loved them all. B.J. Bryan, Tex.

Dear B.J., Here's a recipe from a reader in Downey, Calif. We tried it and it's very good. It's not necessary to buy and expensive "red" salmon - I used the "pink" salmon and it worked fine. Ruth.

OVERNIGHT SALMON CASSEROLE
 4 cups soft bread crumbs (about 6 slices)
 8 oz. can salmon
 1/4 cup chopped onion
 1 cup diced celery
 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 4 eggs
 2 cups milk
 10 oz. can Cream of Mushroom Soup
 1/2 cup shredded sharp cheese
 1/4 tsp. dry mustard
 Place half of bread cubes in buttered shallow 2 1/2 qt. casserole. Mix salmon, onion, celery, green pepper, mayonnaise and dry mustard. Spread over bread. Top with remaining bread cubes. Beat eggs, blend with milk and soup. Pour over salmon and bread mixture. Cover and refrigerate overnight or at least 8 hours. Top with cheese. Bake uncovered 1 hour and 15 minutes at 350 degrees. Serves 6.
 After Thought: Have one of the kids remove it from refrigerator after school to come to room temperature. This will lessen baking time a few minutes. If they're old enough, they could even put it in the oven for you.

 Dear Readers, I continue to get many requests for "Scratch" recipes. I'm glad as they're using Common Sense. You know exactly what you're eating and saving a lot of money to boot!
 How nice to have your freezer stocked with delicious home-made pizza. You can make about 3 pizzas for what it costs to buy just 1 at a pizza parlor! Please try these. Ruth

PIZZA FROM SCRATCH
Crust: (for 2 pizzas double recipe for 4)
 1 1/3 cup water
 2 Tbsp. melted shortening
 2 tsp. salt
 1 oz. compressed yeast
 2 tsp. sugar
 4 cups flour
 Heat water, shortening and salt. When lukewarm, add yeast and sugar, stir to dissolve. Add flour gradually; beat till smooth. Turn on to floured board and knead till smooth. Shape into 2 balls, cover with towel and let rise till double. Roll to fit greased 12" pizza pan or cookie sheet. Roll about 1" larger than pan to make edge. Cover with filling; let rest 20 minutes. Bake at 425 about 35 minutes.

FILLING: (for 2 pies double recipe for 4)
 2 1/2 cups drained tomatoes
 2 tsp. salt
 2 cloves crushed garlic
 1/2 cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
 4 tsp. oregano
 1/2 tsp. black pepper
 4 Tbsp. Olive Oil or vegetable oil
 Crush tomatoes with hands; add salt, pepper and garlic. Spread over unbaked dough. Sprinkle with cheese, oregano and oil.
 To freeze: bake the pizza for half the time given. Cool, wrap and freeze. To bake: unwrap and bake at 450 for 10 minutes, watch carefully. Special Toppings: Add additional 1 cup shredded Mozzarella cheese. Add pepperoni, Italian Sausage, hamburger, olives, mushrooms, onions, etc. Most toppings freeze well, except anchovies, mushrooms and seafood. Add these just before baking.

Somehow or other the declarer had to lose a diamond and finally three hearts.
 Oswald: "Tommy Sanders of Nashville was the one declarer who managed to develop an end play against West."
 Alan: "He won the diamond lead and promptly cashed his second high diamond. Now the simple play of drawing trumps, ending in dummy and leading a heart would win if East held the heart ace, but Tommy saw a slight additional chance."
 Oswald: "He led a trump to dummy's ace and a second back to his jack. Then he cashed his ace of clubs and led a low diamond. West was on lead and had to lead a heart or a club to give Tommy his tenth trick."
 Alan: "Note that this end play only succeeded because West held the king of clubs, only three diamonds and only two trumps, but it had risked nothing. If it had failed, he would still have been able to lead a heart from dummy as the other declarers did."

Losing 51 pounds brought Debbie Hamilton out of hiding.

Personal attention and complete privacy
 We'll treat you like the special person you are, in the privacy of our luxurious salons.
 Call today to reserve a time for your complimentary treatment and figure analysis. There's no obligation.

Extra pounds can be a heavy weight on your personality. Debbie Hamilton knows. When she weighed 180 pounds, she found herself avoiding her friends out of sheer embarrassment.
 "I was so self-conscious," she says, "that I began to hide in the corner at parties, dreading conversation because I just knew someone would make a remark about my weight."
 Yet she couldn't seem to do much about dieting. Strict diets were the default. Even her doctors warned that she had to lose weight to lower her blood pressure. Debbie Hamilton thrived on her new lifestyle. The pounds disappeared at an average rate of one a week. From a height of 5'10", her dress size slipped to a chic 8. Fifty-one pounds and 61 inches later, her weight was delightfully right for her 5-foot-8 inches.
 "I even had to buy new shoes," she laughs. "My feet were a whole size smaller!"
Pat Walker's works for you
 Debbie Hamilton has come a long way with Pat Walker's. In fact, Pat Walker's is her career now. She sees success stories like hers every day, and she's happy to tell newcomers her own story. "Using the Pat Walker's principles, I've maintained my new figure. I, and you wouldn't believe the energy I have. Now, when I go to a party, I'm in the middle of things. No more corners for me!"
 You don't have to work at Pat Walker's to have the program work for you. Let a Pat Walker's consultant explain how you can turn your own weight problems into a success story.

The Pat Walker's program: a real discovery
 By chance, Debbie Hamilton took a job at a Pat Walker's Salon. It was her introduction to the unique Pat Walker's program of sensible diet combined with effective passing exercise.
 Before long, the sweet part of the program, too. Learning to eat the right amounts and combinations of foods.
 Spending a relaxing half hour or so 2 or 3 times a week on the Symmetrical passive exercise unit, as it toned and tightened flabby areas.

Conditions Cause Nurses To Leave Profession

AUSTIN (AP)—Working conditions, more than low salaries, cause nurses to leave their profession, a study by the University of Texas School of Nursing indicates.

Dr. Mel Wandelt, director of the school's research center, prepared the report and estimated 6,000 licensed Texas nurses "would go back to work if the conditions were right."

Her report was prepared for the Senate Select Committee on Delivery of Human Services, which wanted to know why Texas has an acute shortage of nurses.

While the average salary of Texas nurses is only $13,000 a year, salary was ranked seventh among reasons why inactive nurses are not working.

"Nurses don't work because of the conditions they have to work under.

People don't want to admit that, but the data make it very clear. It is not the sheer labor of the work. It's the tension of not having a say over your own actions and not having confidence that patients are getting safe care that literally drives nurses out of the work force," Dr. Wandelt said.

Her survey was based on questionnaires returned by 200 nurses, interviews with 30 staff and supervisory nurses at four hospitals in Austin, Houston, San Angelo and Temple, and responses from 33 nursing schools.

"Hospital beds are closed because there are not nurses to provide care for patients who might occupy those beds. Yet there are 18,000 registered nurses licensed to practice who are not working in nursing," Dean Billye Brown of the UT Nursing School said in an introduction to the report.

Among specific reasons given for job dissatisfaction were lack of independence, inflexible working hours, child care and family schedules, unpaid overtime work, limited opportunities for professional development and low salaries.

Lack of support by hospital and nursing service administrators was listed as a major problem.

Dr. Wandelt said the survey disclosed that often when a nurse and a doctor are in conflict, "The nursing service will side with the physician. They just don't support nurses."

Among conditions nurses said they would like to see at hospitals where they work are:

- Nurses would share planning of patient care with physicians and other health-care administra-

- tors and take part in decisions about discharging a patient or moving him or her to another care unit.
- All nursing care would be provided by registered nurses.
- Associate staff doing secretarial and other non-nursing work.
- In-service training would be offered.
- Pay differentials would be offered as an incentive for nurses to take night

- shifts.
- Assigned staff would plan its own work schedules for days off, shifts and the like.
- Good work would be recognized with pay raises.

Manager Allergic To City

DEER PARK (AP)—A city manager's job is far from easy, but when the town you are working in literally makes you sick, things are a lot tougher.

So tough, in fact, that City Manager Olen Petty is quitting a job he likes and leaving town.

"After I'd been sick four times in six months," says Petty who has held his job since 1978, "I decided to have some tests run. They took three days and I walked around white as a sheet most of that time."

The problem, it seems, is that Petty is allergic to the Deer Park air. "I'm allergic to just about every chemical, even fluoride," he says.

The irony that Deer Park is noted for several major petro-chemical complexes did not escape Petty. "No matter which way the wind blows," he sniffs, "it's going to be blowing over some plant."

So after his fourth bout with pneumonia this year, Petty handed in his resignation effective Aug. 1. He's going to manage a ranch near Sulphur Springs, Texas.

He says there is "no way to escape" his allergy problems other than moving, but feels strange about starting a new career on such short notice.

Prior to Deer Park, Petty says he always had a job lined up before he moved. "This time," he says, "I didn't have anything planned and I sure didn't plan this."

Tree Produced Knotty Dispute

EL PASO (AP)—In any city, a plan to chop down a big tree can trigger a controversy. But in this desert country, where trees are outnumbered by cacti and scrub brush, some people would sooner chop down their houses.

So the fate of a large elm standing in the path of a new residential intersection has divided the City Council and many citizens into bitterly opposed camps.

"This doggone tree is a weed. It's a Chinese elm—they'll grow anywhere," says Alderman Joe Divis. Argues Alderman Jim Scherr: "It's a big tree growing in a desert city. It grew because it was next to an irrigated cotton field. It is beautiful and has provided beauty and shade for many years. It would be a shame to cut it down."

Those opposed to keeping the tree, including Mayor Thomas Westfall, complain that if it remains in the middle of the intersection—and is struck by a car—the city could be held liable.

After the City Council made a show of force the developer made plans to take the tree down, but a group of citizens spurred by local disc jockey Johnny Thompson, of KFIM raised enough money to buy an insurance policy for the tree.

"It's in a residential area," said insurance broker Diane Gass, who helped arrange the policy. "You'd have to be speeding, run the stop sign and be drunk to hit it. There would be no negligence on the part of the tree."

So the council gave the tree a stay of execution, but it is not out of the woods yet. The builder, Willis Shoemaker, wants to make the intersection a traffic circle with the tree in the middle. But some council members now want him to reroute the streets so they pass the tree altogether.

The writing of the insurance policy—and any decision on the street routes—are awaiting action by the council. No date for the settlement of the issues has been set. Divis says the tree "sooner or later would kill someone" regardless of any insurance policy.

"I think a tree is worth less than a life," he said. "If it were a maple or some other good tree, I'd say fine. But a Chinese elm—it'll probably get a disease and have to be chopped down, someday anyway."

Work Paid Off For Miss Texas

FORT WORTH (AP)—Years of dance, voice and drama training paid off for Terri Eoff when the 19-year-old Lubbock brunette won the 1980 Miss Texas Pageant.

Miss Eoff said Sunday she has trained since she was 3½ years old and she the years of studying paid off in Fort Worth. "Work hard, do your job and do it well" is the formula she said won her the title Saturday night.

The training paid off when the 5-foot 6½-inch brunette from Lubbock won the talent competition Friday night with her dramatic monologue from the off-Broadway play "The House of Blue Leaves."

It paid even bigger dividends Saturday night when she upset the pre-pagant favorite and won it all.

Bobbie Lyn Candia, the 1980 Miss Dallas and the first runnerup in Saturday's finals, had been picked by many observers to win this year because she had been a runnerup twice.

Miss Eoff, cheered on Saturday night by her parents, manager, chaperone and friends from Lubbock, said it had been an honor to represent her hometown.

"Not only is this for yourself," she said at a news conference Sunday, "it's for a lot of people."

Dear Abby

Gold Teeth Create Ethical Toothache

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: PRACTICAL PERSON suggested that considering the value of gold today, it would seem worthwhile for morticians to remove the gold from the teeth of the deceased before burial. It has been said that some morticians actually do this.

As a retired mortician, I can tell you that it is considered highly unethical for anyone in our profession to go along with this practice.

In the first place, we morticians are not trained in dentistry, and while removing teeth, we might do damage to the appearance of the body.

Also, morticians are advised by both their state and vocational associations that should the family of the deceased request that the gold from the teeth of a loved one be returned, the procedure should be done by a dentist.

RETIREE MORTICIAN

DEAR RETIRED: My dental consultants inform me that it would be like pulling teeth to get a dentist to retrieve the gold from the mouth of a corpse. I am further informed that the gold used in dentistry is not "pure" gold, so assuming one could find a dentist to do it, his fee would probably be more than the gold was worth.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, 37. I have two children. My husband was killed on the job in an industrial accident two years ago, and I was awarded a large sum of money. (I sued.) All the figures were in the newspapers, so the whole town knew how much money I was awarded.

I have some cash, but most of the money I put in trusts for my children's education and future.

My problem is that I have been besieged with phone calls from people who want to fix me up with an eligible man. I hardly know some of these people, Abby. And most of them never paid attention to me before I got all this publicity after winning my suit.

I would really like to marry again, but how can I tell who is for real and who is interested in me for my money?

SUDDENLY SOUGHT AFTER

DEAR SOUGHT AFTER: Accept no dates arranged by people you "hardly know." And if you inform those you do know that all your money is tied up in trusts for your children, it should reduce the stampe considerably. Those who continue to show an interest in you are probably for real.

DEAR ABBY: I had to write after reading the letter from the woman who hesitated to buy a home in which the previous owner had died of cancer because she was afraid she might "catch" cancer. It reminded me of something I now laugh about.

I had just turned 30 when my annual Pap test indicated that I had cancer of the uterus. Needless to say, I had a complete hysterectomy. It all happened so fast, I didn't have time to be upset.

After my surgery I noticed that my friends sent notes, cards and flowers, but very few came to see me.

My first day out of the house, I was walking slowly to the end of the block for exercise when I saw one of my neighbors and her little girl in their driveway. The woman quickly grabbed her child and hurried into the house. And through her screen door—at a very safe distance—she shouted, "How are you?"

I replied, "I'm just fine, thank you!"

Then she yelled, "Does the doctor think it had anything to do with your smoking?"

"No," I responded, "I have always smoked with my mouth!"

By the way, this happened 10 years ago and I'm still kicking.

Clerk Shoots, Kills Gunman

DALLAS (AP)—A food-store clerk armed with a .38 caliber revolver and terrorized by a pistol-wielding bandit says she "didn't know what else to do" so she said a prayer, gritted her teeth and pulled the trigger.

A spokeswoman for the Dallas County Medical examiners office said the robber, identified as Melvin Johnson, 23, of Dallas, was shot '23 in the head. He was dead on arrival early Sunday at Parkland Memorial Hospital.

"I knew if I didn't hit him the first time we were all goners," said Kathy Carter, 40. "I don't even remember the gun going off. I was just numb and scared."

Mrs. Carter, who said she had never fired a gun before, said she was so scared she wasn't sure she could pull back the hammer.

"God was helping; He guided my hand," she said.

"It had to be God, because it wasn't me... I was scared that my hand would be shaking so bad that I couldn't hit him—and I wasn't sure my thumb was strong enough to cock the hammer," she said.

Police said the gunman armed with a .38 caliber revolver entered the store and shouted at the manager, Billy Burkhalter, "Come on, or I'm going to blow your brains out."

Investigators said the bandit led Burkhalter to a counter near the main cashier's booth and ordered all the employees to "hit the floor or I'll kill all of you."

At least five employees were in the Best For Less Food Store at the time of the attempted robbery.

Mrs. Carter, who was in the cashier's booth, said she took a pistol from the cash drawer.

She said when she peered over the booth, the robber was about three feet away.

"About all I could see was his head," said Mrs. Carter.

She said she whispered a prayer, cocked the hammer, gritted her teeth, closed her eyes and squeezed the trigger.

When police arrived they found the man on the floor, a pistol still in his hand.

Vietnamese Woman Reunites With G.I. Lover

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—U.S. refugee officials say that one of their unpleasant tasks is having to tell women who have fled Vietnam that the American men they loved during the war are now married - or simply don't want to see them again.

But once in awhile there is a story like that of U.S. Army Sgt. Morris Floyd and his girlfriend Net.

She made a dangerous escape from Vietnam across Cambodia for a happy reunion in Thailand with the American soldier she lived with in Vietnam and had not seen for nine years.

The reunion took place earlier this month. With her was Dung, the daughter who was just 2 months old when her father was transferred from Vietnam.

Net, who preferred that her full name not be used, said she first met Floyd when she was 20-years-old and working as a waitress in a U.S. Army mess-hall near Saigon, now Ho Chi Minh City. A few months later they moved into a one-room apartment off base.

When Floyd got his transfer orders, Net said her parents told her not to go with him. Like many departing American soldiers, he promised to return. He sent regular letters, money and an application to the U.S. Embassy in Saigon for Net and Dung to join him abroad.

Then came the Communist victory and when Saigon fell, Net was on her parents' farm west of Saigon.

Net said her parents finally decided life abroad would be better for her.

She and Dung tried to join the exodus of "boat people" but were arrested in 1979 as they were about to board a boat in the coastal resort of Vung Tau.

Net said she told the authorities she wanted to be reunited with her American husband and was released after being questioned.

In mid-April this year, Net decided to try another escape route - across Cambodia.

By selling her sewing machine, tape recorder and other possessions, she accumulated enough money to pay a well-organized group to take her and Dung by truck into Cambodia and then westward toward Thailand.

The trip, Net said, took two weeks and involved bribing Vietnamese guards at checkpoints, two guards at checkpoints and two interrogations.

Floyd, now 36, was stationed in South Korea. He got a letter from Net posted in the Thai camp and flew to Thailand to meet Net and his daughter.

"In all those years there were some Vietnamese men who approached me, but I only thought of having one husband," Net said before flying to the United States last Friday.

to live temporarily with Floyd's brother in Columbia, Md.

Floyd, who returned to South Korea, is to be reassigned to West Point, N.Y., at the end of July.

The U.S. Embassy in Bangkok said Floyd got a "financer" visa for Net and the couple plans to marry in the United States.

Seven Hurt In One-Car Rollovers

Two one-car rollovers yesterday and today sent seven persons to Cogdell Memorial Hospital. All, however, were treated and released.

Four persons were injured when a 1969 Javelin City Firemen Are Kept Busy Snyder firefighters spent most of Saturday fighting a grass fire. The grass fire was called in at 3:20 p.m. and occurred about 11 miles northeast of Snyder. Later in the day, at 8:05 p.m., firefighters were again dispatched to the same location to douse another grass fire that had erupted.

Also Saturday, a pickup truck fire was extinguished. That call came in at 1:35 p.m. and occurred at College Ave. and 21st St. Only minor damage was reported.

driven by Rafael Vera, 2005 Ave. T, overturned early Sunday morning at the intersection of 37th St. and Ave. A. The mishap occurred about 12:30 a.m.

Injured, besides Vera, 15, the driver of the vehicle, were Romero Flores Escamilla, 411 North Ave. R, Mary Jahe Escamilla, 411 North Ave. R, and Jessie Medrano, 1900 Ave. T.

Reports indicate police were in pursuit of the vehicle when the car overturned. The pursuit began in the vicinity of 34th St. and Ave. M.

Early this morning a one-car rollover occurred about 4.9 miles north of Snyder on Highway 84. It was reported about 5:30 a.m., said investigating officers of the Department of Public Safety.

In that accident, a 1979 Ford driven by John Thomas Wilkerson of Irving overturned. Wilkerson, 21, was taken to Cogdell, along with children John, 1, and Keyanya, 6. The elder Wilkerson was treated for an arm laceration and broken collarbone, reported hospital personnel.

Three Mishaps Reported Here

Three minor traffic accidents were investigated during the weekend by Snyder Police.

The first occurred about 2:25 p.m. Saturday at the intersection of 25th St. and Ave. M. Involved in it were a 1980 Dodge pickup driven by Jack Greene and a 1973 Chevrolet driven by Ricky Coppedge. The accident was worked by Buddy Kinney. The next minor accident occurred at 6:25 p.m. at the Kwik Kar Wash and was worked by Don Whitenburg. Involved in it were a 1977 Buick driven by Kerry Hagins and a 1978 GMC driven by Billy James.

Sunday, Kinney worked a two-vehicle accident in the 3300 block of 32nd St. There, a 1971 Oldsmobile driven by Francisca Diez and a motorcycle driven by Randy Beasley collided. No injuries were reported. It was reported at 12:45 p.m.

Prostate problem

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — About 25 years ago my father had surgery for a prostate problem. He's now 87 and is having the same problem again. The doctor says he needs surgery. My question is, has the procedure for this type of surgery changed and is it as serious as it was 25 years ago? I read somewhere that it's been simplified somewhat since then.

My father had a kidney removed several years ago and refuses to have another operation.

DEAR READER — There are several different kinds of operations for prostate problems. Some methods involve an incision through the skin with complete surgical removal of the prostate. Another popular form of surgery is the TUR (transurethral resection). In this procedure, a metal rod with a cutting end is inserted through the urethra. No incision is required through the skin. The cutting edge on the tip of the rod is used to remove the center of the prostate gland.

Not knowing what type of surgery your father had before, I can't really answer your question. There are other things which have been tried, including freezing the prostate and then letting the damaged tissue gradually slough out. This has not found widespread acceptance. It has been suggested for people who are older and debilitated to the point that they could undergo normal surgical procedures.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 15-6, Prostate Gland. It will give you more information on its function, the type of problems that occur when it enlarges and the problems related to prostate cancer. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Now I fully understand your father's attitude and no one wants to have surgery if he can avoid it. Unfortunately, if the prostate gland enlarges and clamps down on the urethra, the obstructed bladder simply can't empty. I would strongly encourage your father to follow his doctor's advice.

DEAR DR. LAMB — As a fringe diabetic I am very much interested in whether or not the use of unsweetened grapefruit sections contain a quantity of glucose or any other ingredient that might be harmful in my diabetic menus.

DEAR READER — There's no such medical classification as a fringe diabetic. The terms used to classify the different stages of diabetes are totally confused at this point, both in their usage by the medical profession and the public.

I'm going to assume that you mean that you have a diabetic condition that does not require medical treatment, that is, regular insulin or tablets to lower your blood sugar. In that case, the most important thing about your diet is that the calories should be restricted sufficiently to elim-

Rangers Enjoying Hitting Epidemic

By Charles Richards
AP Sports Writer
ARLINGTON (AP)—A hitting epidemic has broken out among the Texas Rangers. Now all they have to do is get a few victories to go along with it.

"Anything Harrelson does at the plate is a plus. I'm concerned with him playing a good strong shortstop, and when he hits like he did tonight that's gravy," Corrales added.

The Rangers rapped 18 hits Sunday night for the second time in three days in drubbing Cleveland 12-2, giving them more than 60 hits for the four-game homestand. But they're only 2-2, having split with both New York and Cleveland.

The explosion of runs came at the same time that Doc Medich, 8-4, exhibited his best performance of the year. He had a two-hit shutout going into the ninth before an error opened the way for two unearned runs. Cleveland sent seven batters to the plate with Alan Bannister leading off with a single to center. Mike Hargrove, who doubled in the sixth, hit a hot grounder to Harrelson who tried to start a double play.

"It's contagious. We've got a bunch of good hitters, and everybody is hot right now," said Buddy Bell, whose 3-for-4 night with two runs batted in raised his season average to .348.

Since returning to the lineup last month after three weeks on the sidelines with a pulled rib muscle, the third baseman is hitting .403 (29-for-72) in a 17-game hitting string with three doubles, two triples, six home runs and 14 RBI.

First baseman Pat Putnam and shortstop Bud Harrelson also got three hits, and Richie Zisk drove in three runs with his 14th homer of the season in the first inning, when Texas took a 4-0 lead.

"Bell's been swinging a great bat, and Richie has been terrorizing opposing pitchers for the last three weeks. It's the best I've seen Richie bat in the three years he's been here," said Texas Manager Pat Corrales.

80 Report To Cowboy Camp

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP)—The names aren't the same as those who molded the awesome Doomsday Defense and captured Super Bowls titles in the 1970s.

But the Dallas Cowboys opened training camp Sunday for about 80 rookies and free agents at California Lutheran College here and began their campaign to recoup pride, dignity and National Football Conference crown for the 1980-81 season.

Quarterbacks, receivers and centers report for workouts July 20 and all veteran players on July 24, said Cowboys spokesman Doug Todd.

When the Cowboys lost quarterback Roger Staubach and all-pro safety Cliff Harris to retirement and Rayfield Wright to Philadelphia, sports enthusiasts quickly predicted the demise of the Dallas Dynasty, once the model after which other NFL teams were measured.

"All of a sudden, the Cowboys have a challenge they haven't had before," said Cowboys President and General Manager Texas Schramm. "The challenge before was winning the Super Bowl. Now all I read is, 'Has the Cowboy era ended? Has the end of the road come?'"

Talbott-Detournillon Win Fish Invitational

The team of Steve Talbott and Bill Detournillon of Lubbock placed first in the championship flight of the 1980 Earl Fish Invitational Partnership held this weekend at the Snyder Country Club.

However, the new car that was promised to the man who could shoot a hole-in-one on the number three hole went unclaimed.

Coming in second was the team of Larry Anderson and Don Copeland, and placing third were Phil Ator and Rick Ator.

Complete results of the golf tournament are as follows:

Blue All-Stars Paced By Ward

Johnny Ward limited the Red team to six hits and led his team at the plate with a home run and two singles as the Blues won a 16-5 decision in the annual Farm League All-Star game Saturday night in Towle Memorial Park.

Ward struck out 12 batters while he and his teammates were rapping out a dozen hits.

In addition to Ward's three hits, Wayne Ware had two singles, Dan Krenek and Henry Treat had a double each and Lane Pitts, Kris Garrett, Jon Traylor, Randy James and Lynn Sands each had a single.

Donny Cook was the leading hitter for the Reds, collecting two singles.

John Zelman contributed a two-base hit for the

Browns Draftee Thinks Right

CLEVELAND (AP)—Paul McDonald, a left-handed passer as a quarterback, obviously thinks right. He was a brilliant student at Southern California and now has his eye set on a master's degree.

McDonald was a fourth-round draft choice of the Cleveland Browns in the 1980 college draft.

Little League All-Star Action Takes Off At 8

ROTAN—Snyder's Little League All-Stars begin playoff action at 8 here this evening in a four-team, double elimination tournament.

At 6, host Rotan and Stonewall-Kent vie. Snyder takes on Hamlin's All-Stars immediately following.

Losing games meet again here tomorrow at 6. Winners vie at 8.

Oilers Begin Dream Year

SAN ANGELO (AP)—The Houston Oilers took the first step Sunday in what the National Football League team hopes will be the beginning of a dream come true.

More than 75 rookies and free agents began reporting to the Angelo State University campus for workouts in preparation for the 1980-81 season.

"This year, they're going to have to be better players," said Coach Bum Phillips. "There's no question we've got more depth on defense than we've ever had."

Track Club Seeks Funds For Trip

Snyder Track Club is requesting donations to help send four athletes to the Regional AAU Track and Field Championships which will be held July 19 in Baton Rouge, La.

The athletes, Dale Jenkins, Keith McClain, Lloyd Benson and Thomas Selmon, will be competing against other top athletes from Texas, Mississippi and Louisiana in order to gain a berth to the National Meet, held in August.

Any donations may be left at West Texas State Bank, Snyder National Bank, Snyder Athletic Center, or at other businesses in the city.

For further information, contact Winfred Shipp at 573-8427 or 573-9192.

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer How much money would you have if you retired tomorrow? Would your pension be big enough for you to live on?

If you don't know the answers, you could be in trouble.

Just because you are covered by a pension plan does not mean that you will automatically get a pension - you must meet the requirements of your plan," says a guide from the U.S. Department of Labor.

If you don't know what your plan requires, you may fail to qualify for benefits."

The department guide, "Know Your Pension Plan," is available, at no charge, from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 534H, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

Most workers in private pension plans are guaranteed certain benefits under the Employment Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 - ERISA.

The administrator of any pension program covered by the law must give participants something called a summary plan description, often referred to as an SPD. It must be written in understandable language. It must include information about eligibility requirements for benefits. It must explain how you accumulate benefits, how you can lose them and how you file a claim for them.

There are two basic types of pensions: the defined benefit plan and the defined contribution plan.

With a defined benefit plan, the amount of money you will get when you retire is fixed in advance, but your contributions vary.

With the defined contribution plan - also known as an individual account plan - it's the other way around; the contribution is fixed in advance, but the amount of money you will get varies.

That's because there is a separate account for each participant in a defined contribution plan. The money in each account is invested and benefits depend on the return of the investment.

It is important to know how your benefits are vested. Vesting protects you against losing your entire pension if you change jobs.

ERISA sets minimum vesting requirements for all plans covered by the law. There are three options:

-Cliff vesting, which provides full vesting after 10 years of service and no vesting before that.

-Graded vesting, which provides 25 percent vesting after five years of service, 5 percent vesting for each additional year up to 10 years, plus an additional 10 percent for each year thereafter.

-Rule-of-45 vesting, which provides 50 percent vesting for an employee with at least five years of service when his or her age and years of service add up to 45, plus 10 percent for each additional year up to five years.

Before you start calculating your pension, check to see how your employer measures a year of service and what happens if there is a break in employment. In most cases, the Labor Department says, you get credit for a year of service if you work at least 1,000 hours in a period of 12 consecutive months. That works out to 25, 40-hour weeks. Many plans also say that you have a break in service if you do not work at least 500 hours in 12 consecutive months. You could lose some or all of your benefits because of this kind of break.

When T&R Drilling Co. went public recently, owners Raymond Morton and Tom Wilson decided to change the name to Ewing Oil Corp. After all, it already had a J.R.

But Ewing Oil's J.R. is J.R. Cox. He doesn't run the company. He's a roughneck who works on the drilling rigs.

Presumed Dead Not Good Enough...

Families Of 'Unaccounted For' Vets Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Samuel Rozo sat in a hallway of the Capital Hilton, ignoring the bustle around him. A button bearing a picture of his son, in crisp Army uniform, stood out against his blue cardigan sweater. "Jimmy wasn't a hot-head — kind of cool," Rozo said. "He made friends easily.... He was the type who could survive." Rozo has not heard from his son in 10 years. On a June day in 1970, Army SFC James Rozo, on his second tour of Vietnam, disappeared after an ambush 20 miles from Saigon. Although reported at one point to have been seen walking through the jungle as a prisoner, his fate is still unknown. The Pentagon, as it has done with 2,437 other American servicemen unaccounted for in Southeast Asia, lists Rozo as presumed dead. But for Samuel Rozo, a stroke of a barracrat's pen is not enough. So the 69-year-old retired machinist from Buffalo, N.Y., came to Washington with his wife and daughter the other day to meet with nearly 200 other relatives of servicemen who disappeared during the Vietnam war.

It was the 11th such convention by the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia. The league has battled with the State Department and Pentagon for a decade in trying to determine the fate of hundreds of American pilots and soldiers.

It has been an often frustrating effort, say many league members. Interest among government officials and citizens has deteriorated. Four years ago the Pentagon stopped providing transportation for league members to their annual convention, although government officials still meet with them at each gathering. And interest among the relatives themselves has faded. At the league's recent conference, only 178 people registered, compared to more than 1,000 who attended annually in the early 1970s.

Money, too, has become scarce to talk of the league. Washington office closing. To raise money, the league holds auctions and sells bumper stickers proclaiming "MIA: Missing or Captured. Only Hanoi Knows." Outside of league members, there are few takers.
