ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP)—President Carter and his Mideast negotiator Saul Linowitz today announced that the stalled Egyptian-Israeli talks on Palestinian autonomy would resume at an unspecified date.

Linowitz, here for two days of talks with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, made the announcement at about the same time that Carter told union leaders in Washington that Egypt and Israel have approved a "reconvening of the summit conference" on Mideast peace negotiations.

In Tel Aviv, an Israeli government spokesman said Israel had not yet been officially informed of any resumption of negotiations that were broken off by President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, displeased at Israel's declaration of a united Jerusalem as its capital.

But the spokesman said Prime Minister Menachem Begin might make a statement later today. Carter said Egypt and Israel would "recommence negotiations for peace sometime within the next few weeks," but gave no further details. He did not specify if he meant a top-level Mideast summit involving the United States, Egypt and Israel, or a lower-level conference.

After his most recent suspension of the talks, Sadat proposed that a three-way summit meeting to get the talks moving again be held after the November U.S. presidential elections.

Linowitz, who arrived here after two days of talks with Begin, made the announcement after a 45-minute meeting with Sadat. "I was delegated by Mr. Sadat and Mr. Begin to announce this," Linowitz said, adding that both sides had agreed to resume the talks within the framework of the Camp David agreement and "promised not to put difficulties in the way of peace."

When asked to comment on Linowitz's statement, Sadat replied: "You have to read the statement of my friend Mr. Linowitz." The pledge to restart the talks, which Sadat called off on Aug. 3, provides a boost to Carter's re-election efforts. But the wording of the Linowitz statement, and the one-line remark by Sadat, suggests the sides might still be far apart.

Linowitz made no mention of Israel's claim to Jerusalem, including the Arab eastern sector, as its eternal capital. Sadat has said Israel must soften its position on Jerusalem before Egypt returns to the negotiating table.

Sadat broke off the deadlocked autonomy talks after the Israeli Parliament adopted a law in late July formally declaring all of Jerusalem the eternal, indivisible capital of the Jewish state. Sadat then suggested that he, Begin and Carter meet after the U.S. presidential elections to get the talks going again.

"We agree to both resumption of the autonomy talks and consultation with President Carter about the possibility and place of summit talks," said Begin. "Any time, we don't object. But first of all we must resume our talks." Linowitz also was cool to the summit proposal. He said Carter was prepared to meet with Begin and

Ask Us

Q—Is it true that women live longer than men, and if so, why are women so anxious to get equality?
A—Health statisticians, insurance companies and others who keep up with such things tell us that the life expectancy of men now is a little over 69 years and the life expectancy of women is a little over 77 years, and it apparently is improving continually, although women still are out-gaining the men in longevity. Obviously this is one factor in which women are not seeking equality.

Oswald Hearing Is Delayed

FORT WORTH (AP)—State District Judge James E. Wright said today he will rule "possibly tomorrow" on whether he will retain jurisdiction in the legal battle to exhume the body of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Wright told attorneys for Robert Oswald, Lee Harvey's brother, and Michael Eddowes his decision after a 45-minute hearing in court this morning. The session was held to determine whether Wright would accept jurisdiction in an exhumation request by Eddowes, a British author who contends there is a possibility that a Soviet agent may be buried in Oswald's grave.

The SDN Column

We have this colorful calendar hanging on the wall just above our typewriter here at the SDN. It came from Teledyne Wah Chang.

"Why don't you take it down, now that we are out of the running for their new plant?" someone asked. Well, in the first place, it is a classy-looking calendar and it still has nearly four months of days left on it. In the second place, we can think of no reason to be bitter about Wah Chang's announcement in Odessa recently. We knew for months that Snyder and Odessa were the "finalists" in the race to be designated as site for a new plant projected by this subsidiary of Teledyne.

We also knew that, by virtue of its size and several other factors, Odessa was a formidable foe in this industrial recruiting business.

And, if you want to get technical about it, Snyder was not specifically ruled out of the picture for future plans. In our time, we have witnessed disappointment and success in the field of industrial development. There have been times when losses actually were converted to gains—not immediately but in the long run. And who knows how many plants Wah Chang may eventually build in this general area, that is, if they build any at all?

Reports are that Odessans were disappointed because there was no announcement that a plant would be built immediately. In fact, the actual announcement was rather vague, and, as the Odessa American reported, contained many "ifs." It seems that the markets for Wah Chang's products have declined sharply in recent months. Future trends will determine if and when new plants are built.

It was reported unofficially that Odessa was given the inside track because of cheaper land. Actually, the potential plant site is at Penwell, about 12 miles west of Odessa. And if you have ever been to Penwell, you know that Scurry County simply doesn't have any land like that.

So, we are hanging on to our Wah Chang calendar, at least for the remainder of the year. And if they send us one for 1981, we will regard it as an indication that they still have their eyes on Snyder, even if they are not planning a plant here any time soon.

tax cut fever rages

It's something-for-everyone time again on Capitol Hill.

The Senate Finance Committee, in a burst of legislative energy, has rushed to completion its version of the tax cut everyone in Congress is talking about and quite a few are trying to do something about.

Why the rush? Surely you haven't forgotten the significance of November 4? The measure is scheduled to go to the floor immediately after Labor Day and, if rushed through both Houses before pre-election adjournment, would take effect January 1, the start of the next tax year.

It includes a little something for nearly every individual taxpayer, boosting the standard personal exemption $100 to $1,100, and trimming the average personal tax load an estimated $250.

It has something for business, a cut in corporate taxes from 46 to 44 percent and faster tax write-offs for investment in new plant and equipment.

It tosses in something for investors, exempting from taxation 70 percent of most capital gains, instead of the present 50 percent, and lowering rates on the rest.

It even takes a stab at the much-publicized "marriage tax." A special deduction for two-income households is designed to bring taxes on joint returns into better balance with those on identical incomes reported separately.

There are more somethings, many more, and they all add up to a $39 billion cut in the annual American tax bill.

Quite a bundle, and the committee wrapped it up, the Washington Post reported, "amid laughter." That came when it voted to append the tax measure to a bill, already passed by the House and now before the Senate, authorizing duty-free importation of six bells for the United Methodist Church of Washington. This to acknowledge the Constitution's vesting of the lower chamber with primary jurisdiction in tax and other money matters.

Very funny.

But the humor is likely to be lost on the House, where the leadership has a much less severe case of tax-cut fever and is thinking more in terms of very limited cuts, if at all, this year. To be followed by a comprehensive and unhurried review of the entire tax structure come January and the convening of a new Congress.

There is much to be said for much of the Senate committee's work - research and development tax breaks to spur technological advance and a better tax deal for Americans working abroad, improving the competitive position of U.S. firms seeking foreign contracts, would work to the benefit of the entire economy.

The primary purpose of the clutch of provisions designed to reduce the personal tax load - offsetting steeply rising Social Security taxes and the hidden tax of inflation - is also desirable.

But the timing of this measure and the speed with which it has been thrown together are not. It has not been devised with adequate consideration of the effect on deficit-swamped budgets, let alone the real needs of a wobbling economy. The primary motivation is to meet a deadline, and a political one at that.

This is tax cutting with a hatchet. The public may think it is getting something out of a tax bill such as this. But what it's really getting is a bill of goods for which it may find itself paying several times over in the negative long-term effects.

Let's not busy ourselves so much with the new season's activities that we not remember it's time to plant bluebonnet seed for a more beautiful spring.

My good friend and co-worker, Genelle Branson, has tried fervently to help me get a start of bluebonnets by annually, carefully picking seeds from her crop of the state's flower, and hand delivering them to me.

Year-before-last the almost full cup of seed accidentally fell to the street on a windy day as I was getting out of the car with arms overloaded.

The following year she painstakingly picked more seeds and with a smile on her face presented me with another bunch of bluebonnet seeds, this time in a plastic bag.

The bag containing the pebble-like seeds, some still in their shell resembling English peas, was placed on the porch that evening with good intentions of planting them that very afternoon.

However, other activities of the evening took priority and the seeds stayed in place for a few days. Finally, in hurried fashion, they were scattered in the yard with hopes they'd grow. They didn't.

If you've tried to buy bluebonnet seeds, you've found the last few years it's no easy chore. The crippling drought will probably lessen the supply of commercial seeds for next year's crop.

For those wishing to plant seeds now, and if the supply of seeds runs out locally, Carroll Abbott of Kerrville, the state's only fulltime wildflower seed and plant collector, who sells tons of bluebonnet seeds each year, has seed available. Due to the drought, he limits his customers to a maximum of 50 pounds each.

Despite the shortage, Abbott's mail-order seed firm, Green Horizons, still sells the smaller packages at former prices. A thousand seeds, for example, costs $2.35, including tax and postage. With each order, Abbott sends along cultural notes on how to grow bluebonnets successfully and a list of nearly 50 other wildflowers which should be planted now.

His address is 500 Thompson Drive, Kerrville, TX. 78028.

He says bluebonnets are easy to grow, if you follow a few simple rules:

Prepare the seed by soaking three or four days in babybottle-warm water, changing the water daily, to dissolve the lacquer-like coating on the seeds. Plant the seeds in late summer or early fall and cover them up with soil. Tamp

There's at least one in every crowd - the woman who does not want to "bring a child into this lousy, mixed-up world."

I met one the other night who said children were just "ego trips" for parents who liked to see their own image staring back at them over the breakfast table. She added, "I can't come up with one reason for having them."

What a pity. According to my children, there were a lot of reasons for my having them.

I needed a personal slave... someone to answer the phone, get my sweater, find my glasses, get my keys out of the door, unload the groceries, go to the store, let the dog out, and move the hose.

I needed someone around the house to eat the leftovers the dog wouldn't touch.

I needed someone to shove out of the car to throw their body over the last picnic table while we found a place to park.

I needed a live-in who would assist in raising a younger brother or sister by taking them to the bathroom every five minutes and sitting with them for free on New Year's Eve.

I needed an excuse for my saddlebag hips and flabby upper arms.

I needed "material" for the Christmas newsletter and a three-times-a-week column.

I needed someone to mail letters for me when it rained.

I needed someone to practice medicine on ("Turn down that record or you'll go deaf!")

I needed someone to spy on and make me feel important.

That's their story. Mine is even more biased.

I brought children into this lousy, mixed-up world because when you love someone and they love you back, the world doesn't look that lousy or seem that mixed-up.

I gave them life because they have the same right I was given to make up their own minds as to what makes a good or a bad world.

More than an image over the breakfast table, they are special to this universe now and will be long after I am gone.

Some parents must take the risks... if we don't, who will be left to listen to the young people who lament, "I don't want to bring children into this lousy, mixed-up world?"

urban myth

NEW YORK (AP) - According to mayors of some of the nation's biggest and oldest cities, one of the greatest population shifts in recent years has been the return of families and individuals to the city.

The mayors sought and received a lot of attention in promoting this notion, and many of them truly believed it themselves, even when the Census Bureau came up with some disagreeably negative information.

The census people found that population decreased in many of these major cities, bringing immediate condemnation from the mayors and creating a furor that may be decided as much by courts as calculators.

Meanwhile, John Goodman, Jr., a researcher with the Urban Institute, had been doing his own studies, for which he received no publicity from the mayors. According to him, the urban immigration is a myth.

No issue straddling for Goodman. He found out enough about the subject to report in the publication American Demographics that "back-to-the-city is the demographic misnomer of the decade."

For everyone who moved into a central city during the 1970s, nearly two left, he states, adding his opinion that rates of movement from the cities may continue to increase during the decade of the 1980s.

What actually occurred, he contends, is that people did move back into certain neighborhoods, of downtown areas, refurbishing and revitalizing them and generating a lot of attention, and praise and damnation too.

They were praised, of course, for cleaning up, for adding to the tax base, for creating what many perceived to be a desirable way of life. They were sometimes damned for displacing the local residents.

Why does he suspect a continuation of the trend out from the cities? For one thing, he says, those who have the money usually want to own a home, and most opportunities are still in the suburbs.

Some special characteristics of the population also lend credence to his thesis: We now have, for example, the coming of age of the post-World War II baby boom. They are now into the homebuying age categories.

In addition, he suggests, many women have remained childless to an older age than in previous generations. But, if they finally do become parents, "as most will, if current indications hold true," the suburbs may become more attractive to them than the urban neighborhood.

Goodman's contentions won't end the argument, but they do offer some enlightenment about the perplexing problem of where all the people went. They never were, he says. The migration just wasn't so.

The King James Version of the Bible uses the word "messenger" instead of "ambassador" but does use the related archaic word "ambassage." Luke says a king contemplating war against a king with a superior army might send an embassy to discuss peace terms.

ees - including cabinet members, FBI agents and secretaries - were fully cognizant of the information.

It's possible that everyone involved resisted the temptation to informally tip off the president or a member of his senior staff, but that explanation strains credulity.

Although White House statements about virtually all other aspects of the case are unequivocal and categorical, the claims of ignorance about the payments are carefully qualified by the phrase, "so far as we have been able to determine."

That suggests the White House may be leaving the door open while awaiting the arrival of another embarrassing disclosure.

2♦	Pass	3NT	Pass

Opening lead: ♠ 2

South jumped to three notrump to end the bidding. At those three tables, West opened the deuce of diamonds. Dummy's 10 held the trick. One South player led the four of spades to his nine. It forced the ace. He had no further problems and made an over-trick. Declarers two and three also led a spade, but rose with the queen. One West player put on his ace and led the suit back. East scored his jack and shifted to a club, but declarer had nine tricks at this point.

At the third table West ducked the queen of spades. South led back a spade and finessed unsuccessfully. East was in with the jack, shifted to a club and declarer could only get eight tricks. One spade, four hearts, two diamonds and a club to wind up with a big loss.

What happened at the fourth table? North was ready to underbid. He started by passing. Then he responded one heart to his partner's diamond opening and decided to drop him at two diamonds when he rebid the suit.

The unfortunate South proceeded to bring the two-diamond contract home by a series of fine plays, but he still lost 11 IMP's to the game scored at the other table in his match.

At three of the four tables in the semi-finals, North opened with a fancy two-diamond bid to show a minimum opening with three four-card suits and a singleton diamond.

Cookies Can Win Breakfast Battle

By Aileen Claire

Getting youngsters to eat breakfast before hopping off to school is a losing battle in many homes.

One way is to make it a simple pleasure for all in the family.

For example, most youngsters enjoy cookies. So, why not make a batch filled with nutritional ingredients such as peanut butter, wheat germ, apricots, oats and walnuts.

The peanut, supercookie and apricot walnut bars are for eating all day, by all ages. But, make them available for the school-aged to eat in the morning with a glass of fresh fruit juice, or a piece of fruit and milk. It's a good way for them to begin their day of learning.

PEANUT SUPERCOOKIE
1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup peanut butter
1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
3 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup wheat germ
1 package (16 ounces) any flavor granola
2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt

In a bowl, cream butter until fluffy. Stir in peanut butter and brown sugar. Beat in eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in vanilla, wheat germ and granola. Stir in flour, baking soda and salt. Stir until mixture forms a ball of dough.

Roll out half of the dough at a time. Roll out on a heavily floured surface to 1/2 inch thickness. Cut with a cookie cutter or a can into 4-inch rounds. Place on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until golden brown.

APRICOT WALNUT BARS
1 can (30 ounces) apricot halves
1/4 cup cornstarch
1 1/4 cups sugar
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup butter or margarine, softened
2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1 2/3 cups old-fashioned oats, uncooked
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
Drain syrup from apricots, reserving 1/2 cup. Drain apricots well. Chop apricots. In saucepan, combine 1/2 cup syrup and cornstarch until smooth. Stir in chopped apricots and 1/2 cup sugar. Cook over medium heat until thick and clear, stirring frequently. Cool. Stir in walnuts.

Meanwhile, beat butter and remaining sugar until creamy. Add flour, oats, baking powder, baking soda and salt and mix until coarse crumbs. Bottom of 9-inch square baking pan. Spread on cooled apricot mixture. Sprinkle remaining flour mixture on top. Gently put into apricot mixture.

Bake in 375-degree oven for 50 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cook on wire rack. Cut into bars. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 3 dozen bars.

More Texas Adults with Incomes of $20,000 or more Read a Newspaper Yesterday than Watched Television

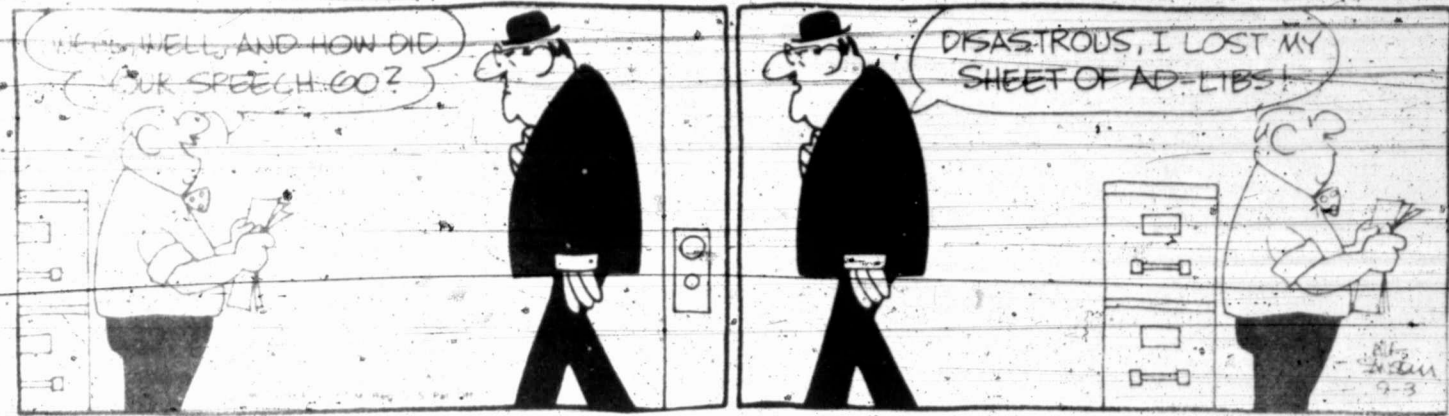

Most Texas adults read a newspaper yesterday, and most watched some television yesterday. However, almost one-half of all Texas adults with incomes of $20,000 or more — that market with more spendable income — read a newspaper yesterday, while only 38% watched some television.

A recent state-wide study, conducted by Belden Associates of Dallas, suggests that newspaper readership increases as income increases, whereas television viewing decreases as income increases.

Mrs. Bush Says Campaign Exciting

HOUSTON (AP)—Two years of non-stop campaigning for her husband George has transformed Barbara Bush into a nervous but excited party spokeswoman with a penchant for jogging. And with the general election only two months away, the wife of the Republican vice presidential nominee says she'll be relieved when it's over. "I'm counting the days," she says. "But don't kid yourself, this is the most exciting thing I've ever done."

Mrs. Bush begins her new role today in Louisiana as a spokeswoman for the Republican ticket - a roll she says she's still unfamiliar with. "I'm a little nervous because I haven't campaigned for the Reagan-Bush ticket before," she said in an interview with the Houston Post. "I am not an authority on Gov. Reagan's programs yet, but I'm fast becoming an authority. The thing that is going to make campaigning very easy is that Jimmy Carter is a failed president."

Rigorous campaigning and "political necessity" have turned the slender, silver-haired Texas woman into a dedicated jogger. "You can't campaign and keep up a tennis or golf game," said Mrs. Bush, who runs daily, most recently on the three-mile track at Houston's Memorial Park. Her time: 10 minutes per mile. Friends have said Mrs. Bush is never one to mince words. And she freely criticized the media for its coverage of the Bushes' recent trip to China. She said her husband went to China not as a government representative but to tell Chinese leaders about Reagan and to hear what they had to say. "And that was accomplished in spades," she said.

The trip received a lot of attention when Reagan and Bush apparently made conflicting policy statements regarding China and Taiwan. The Chinese Communist Party newspaper accused the former California governor of "shocking interference" in China's internal affairs about statements Reagan made supporting an official government relations with Taiwan. But Mrs. Bush said the Chinese rhetoric was a result of internal politics, similar to political talk that occurs in the United States. Closer to home, the mother of five contends one would be hard-pressed to find any conflict in the Bush household. She said a magazine reporter followed her for three days - from the convention in Detroit to Houston to their summer home in Kennbunkport, Maine. "When they were finished, they could only do two pages on me, they found me so boring. I know we are boring. I like my husband, I like my mother-in-law, I like my children and they like me. I like Houston. I know that's boring, but that's too bad."

If her husband becomes the nation's No. 2 man, Mrs. Bush says that as "second lady" she'll promote the advancement of reading programs. "A great many American children are cheated because they haven't learned to read in the classroom. It's something I can put all my energies into and I've got lots of energy."

And what happens if the Reagan-Bush ticket loses? "That's sort of exciting, because we have no idea," she said.

The Hawaiian Islands were officially made part of U.S. territory in 1900.

Sexual Harassment Works Both Ways

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Numerous organizations have been formed to protect women against sexual harassment by their supervisors, but to my knowledge none has been formed to protect us men.

As president of a large corporation and formerly holding numerous executive positions, I know that women are equally aggressive in offering their favors, but more subtle in their approach, i.e.:

"My husband is out of town, so why don't you come over and swim with me in our pool?"

Or, "I'm so tired. Will you buy me a drink after work?"

Or, "My car has broken down. I'll pour you a cool one if you'll drive me home."

I've had female employees lean down and brush my arm with their breasts, or sit unnecessarily close while taking dictation, exposing a leg up to the thigh through a slit skirt. I've had them tell me they admire my body. Some have even come right out and said they'd like to go to bed with me! Of course, a man who turns down a lady's favors hurls the ultimate insult.

I seriously question that any woman should submit to sexual overtures to hold her job. I suspect if she gets involved with her boss, it was her idea.

So how about an organization to protect men from aggressive female employees? This letter will never see print, but at least I got it off my chest.

HARRASSED IN GARLAND, TEXAS

DEAR HARRASSED: I'm all for equality. Why don't you round up other men who need protection against female harassment and form a protective society?

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for saying in your column that doctors can treat kids for VD without telling the kids' parents. I never knew that. I am a 16-year-old boy who has been worried about having VD for the past three months, but I was afraid to do anything about it.

After I read your column, I called our family doctor and asked him if he would see me without telling my folks. He said to come right down and everything would be confidential. I went and found out I had gonorrhea. That wonderful doctor treated me for it and didn't charge me anything. I'm saving my money, and come Christmas he's going to get a very fine present from me. Thank you, too, Abby.

WINNETKA READER

DEAR READER: If there are any other young readers out there who are afraid to see a doctor, telephone your county public health department (the number is in your telephone directory), level with them, and they will provide a confidential examination and treatment if necessary. If they refuse, write to me immediately, and I will tell you where you can get help.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who had four small children, passed away, and two years later our son-in-law married a widow with one child.

We were told that we may not have our four grandchildren visit us unless we take all five! Our son-in-law is bending over backward to show no preference for his own children over his stepchild, but we think he is going too far. What do you think?

GRANDPARENTS OF FOUR—NOT FIVE

DEAR GRANDPARENTS: Give him your fullest cooperation. He sounds like a wonderful person, deserving of all the help he can get.

2 Suspects In Triple Slaying

WACO (AP)—Two men remained jailed under $200,000 bond each here today after being charged with capital murder in the shooting deaths of two convenience store clerks, police said.

Carl E. Kelley, 20, and Thomas I. Graves, 18, both of Waco, were arraigned and charged with two counts of capital murder each.

The body of a third man, an unidentified transient, was found at the foot of a cliff with Waco clerk Steven Wale Pryor, 18, who was abducted from his store after a robbery about 4 a.m. Tuesday. Both had been shot in the head. "Some change and a muscular dystrophy jar" were stolen in the holdup, officers said.

Witnesses said two or three men "paraded" Pryor to his late model Camaro and forced him inside. Police speculated the transient had been asleep inside the car.

Edward Anderson Traywick, 65, of Waco, was shot in the chest during a robbery of his store about 11 p.m. Monday. His 63-year-old wife Lillian and an unidentified woman also were shot, and remained hospitalized in stable condition.

After Ten Years...

Common Cause Still As Dedicated As Ever

WASHINGTON (AP) - Common Cause, born at the dawn of an era filled with political scandal, turns 10 this weekend. But to the self-styled citizen lobby, which has wrought sweeping changes in the American political system, the last decade has nothing on the future.

To Common Cause, at stake is no less than the survival of democratic government.

"We don't have a government right now that can function as a representative institution," says Fred Wertheimer, senior vice president of the 225,000-member association, which celebrates its 10th anniversary this weekend with parties, picnics and a serious study of the problems of today and tomorrow.

The founder of Common Cause, John Gardner, agrees with Wertheimer.

"Really, the paralysis over the energy question and inflation has said something very important to us in the last two or three years," Gardner, now semi-retired, said in an anniversary interview.

When Gardner launched his crusade in the fall of 1970, the country was rocked with protests and great scandals were near. Now sweeping election reform laws are on the books; government meetings have been opened; office holders and hopefuls must make financial disclosures and there are limits on political contributions.

All came about at least partially as a result of pressure from Common Cause and its members.

But the events of the last decade have only exposed the deeper problems and given Common Cause a new character and mission, Gardner said.

"We have evolved from a group that was primarily concerned with some very serious problems of corruption and failures of accountability to a group that is concerned with the governability of this country," he said, adding:

"I can't remember a time when more people were wondering whether the system can be made to work. They look at the way it's working and they say something's wrong, that it has to be repaired."

"We've got serious problems in making our representative institutions function properly, and that's what we're addressing ourselves to today."

And in a year when many people are decrying the choices left to them by the elective process, Gardner said citizen action could broaden the voters' choices. Common Cause, he said, has the experience and the clout to lead the charge.

"Whatever happens in the voting booth there remains the continued effort to inform our elected representatives and our appointed officials how we feel, hold them accountable, create government processes that are accountable."

Sunshine Choir Rehearsals Set

The Sunshine Choir of the Senior Citizens Center will resume rehearsals today following a summer vacation.

Choir rehearsals will be held at 1 p.m. each Friday, and Senior Citizens who would like to sing with the group are invited to attend Friday's meeting. Chuck Weatherford, music director for the First United Methodist Church, is director of the choir. Virginia Whitson is accompanist.

NEW SECRETARY—Susan Thomas (seated) is the new secretary at the Scurry County Senior Citizens Center. She replaces Jean Smith (standing), who has assumed the duties of Activities Director for the Center.

New Secretary At Sr. Center

Susan Thomas has replaced Jean Smith as secretary at the Scurry County Senior Citizens Center, Gloria Shaw, director, has announced.

Mrs. Thomas has been a resident of Snyder for about two years and has 14 years experience in secretarial work. Her family includes her husband, Herby Thomas, and two children, Jason 9, and Sahala, 7.

Mrs. Smith will serve as Activities Director for the center.

"I'm looking forward to working with our Senior Citizens in a variety of projects," Mrs. Smith said. Her first new class will be India ink drawings starting at 1 p.m. next Tuesday.

"This doesn't require unusual skill in drawing," Mrs. Smith said. "So I would like to encourage every one to join us for this first lesson."

Activities at the center are getting back into full swing following the summer vacation period. Mrs. Smith is planning crafts instruction in canvas wall hangings and wind chimes, dish gardens, silk flower making, corsage making, and carpet Christmas trees in the near future.

A beginning ceramics class is being planned for November.

All county residents 60 years of age and older are invited to visit the Senior Center, located at 2603 Avenue M, to learn about the activities and to join in those which interest them.

A nutritious meal is served at noon each weekday and Senior Citizens are invited to join the diners as well.

Cancer In Lungs Cuts Short Anti-Cancer Run

NEW WESTMINSTER, British Columbia (AP) - Terry Fox cut short his anti-cancer run across Canada after doctors found that the cancer that had claimed his leg had spread to his lungs. But the 22-year-old, fighting back tears, says, "I'm not going to give up my fight."

His Marathon of Hope, launched April 12 in St. John's, Newfoundland, made him something of a hero. He was mobbed by crowds along his route and collected cash and pledges of $1.5 million to $2 million to support cancer research.

But on Monday, as he reached the halfway point in the 4,100-mile trek to British Columbia, he checked into a Thunder Bay hospital. He had been suffering from nausea and shortness of breath for three days, and he thought he was coming down with a cold.

Doctors revealed Tuesday that cancer, which forced the amputation 3 1/2 years ago of his right leg above the knee, had spread. His left lung had collapsed and was useless, they said.

A chartered plane brought him home and he was taken to Royal Columbian Hospital in this Vancouver suburb to begin his second battle with cancer.

"All along I've been trying to set an attitude for people who have cancer," he said. "I'm not going to quit. I'm going to keep on fighting my best."

"We decided the only thing to do is come home to do more tests to figure out the best treatment," said Fox, as he gripped his mother's hand from his hospital bed.

"I'm happy with what I did. I tried my hardest. I did my very best. If there's any way I can finish it off next year or the year after, I'll be there," he said.

"I can't do any more right now. I fainted this afternoon just walking across the road."

Fox said it would take more courage to weather his new bout with cancer than it took to battle the pain of running on an artificial leg, the problems of fatigue and bad weather on his run.

Fox said he didn't want anyone else to finish his marathon while there still was a chance he could complete it himself some day.

Blair McKenzie, executive director of the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, said that despite pleas from the society, Fox had refused to see a doctor until he reached Thunder Bay, fearing they would order him to stop.

Fox said neither the society nor anyone else had pushed him to continue. "I pushed myself," he said.

And Goes To Jail...

Student Editor Keeps Negatives

By LEE JONES

Associated Press Writer AUSTIN (AP) - Daily Texan Editor Mark McKinnon went to jail for almost two hours Tuesday rather than obey a judge's order to hand over unpublished photographic negatives of the alleged disruption of a former Iranian ambassador's speech.

"We are determined not to hand over the negatives," said McKinnon as a bailiff led him away to jail.

McKinnon, editor of the University of Texas student newspaper, was released on $1,000 bond, pending a hearing Thursday on his claim the contempt order was unconstitutional.

But the hearing probably will not take place because the issue will be moot if the trial of 16 Middle Eastern students accused of disrupting the speech has concluded by then, said Jim George, McKinnon's attorney.

County Court-at-Law Judge Jon Wissler ordered McKinnon jailed and fined him $100 after McKinnon again refused to hand over negatives sought by the prosecution as evidence.

Thirteen Iranians and three Palestinians are charged with disrupting the Jan. 31 speech by Fereydoon Hoveyda, who represented Iran in the United Nations under the late Shah.

Hoveyda spoke in the University of Texas student union building. Wissler heard final arguments in the students' trial Tuesday night and informed attorneys he will reach a verdict before 9 a.m. Thursday.

The judge permitted one of the students, Mehran Ebrahimi, to speak for the defendants.

Ebrahimi claimed the United States was grooming Hoveyda and others for a takeover of Iran from the Ayatollah Khomeini and was sending them to college campuses to portray themselves as "a progressive anti-shah element."

He said Hoveyda represented a regime that killed our brothers and sisters and destroyed our economy and, with that, our independence and freedom.

Bill Allison, attorney for the students, said their "passion" was similar to that of America's founding fathers, who felt "the same kind of rage when our country was being gutted and raped by Great Britain."

Allison said the state had failed to prove its case against any student because identifications were shaky and witnesses' accounts conflicted.

Jeff Blackwelder, assistant county attorney, said the state had proved its case and referred to the students as "intimidator" who had interfered with society's right to a "free flow of ideas."

"Our society has a very real interest in the free flow of ideas, but because of the de facto censorship engaged in by this small group of people, society's interest in the free flow of ideas was put in jeopardy," he said.

Some Veterans To Get Raises

Some veterans of the Armed Forces will receive an increase in their Veterans Administration disability compensation payments beginning Sept. 1, 1980, E.H. (Dan) Dever, Jr., Scurry County Veterans Service Officer, said.

This increase was one of the provisions of Public Law 96-128 signed into effect by the president last November.

The increase applies to veterans who are receiving VA compensation under Section 314(k) of Title 38, U.S. Code, Veterans Benefits, and commonly referred to as "statutory award."

Effective Sept. 1, the monthly payment of these veterans will be increased to $62, and will appear in the disability checks dated Oct. 1, 1980.

The increases should come automatically with no application required from individual veterans. Anyone entitled to the statutory award payment who does not receive the increase in their October check should contact Dever's office in the Western Texas College Administration Building for assistance in determining why it was not included. Dever's office is open each weekday and Monday through Thursday evenings. Appointments may be made by calling the office at 573-8511, extension 212.

Take On Tough Redskins In Opener...

Dallas To Play In 'Electric' RFK

DALLAS (AP)—Tom Landry says the noisy RFK Stadium crowd in Washington doesn't bother him, but the former defensive back quickly adds he doesn't have to suit up either.

The Dallas Cowboys have never beaten the Washington Redskins on a Monday night in Washington and that's the chore the defending National Conference Eastern Division champions face next week.

"There's just something electric about playing in that stadium," Landry said Tuesday at his weekly press luncheon. "It's a great experience." Landry added "It doesn't intimidate me - but then I'm not out there on the field."

Landry said the National Football League opener for both teams was not exactly a make-or-break situation for the Cowboys.

"It's just important that we play well and will be a big plus if we win," said Landry. "We don't win too many times up there even when we are at the top of our game."

"I think we will get better as the season rolls on. We've got to get used to the offense under (quarterback) Danny White and our secondary needs to jell. Football is a confidence thing and we will be OK once we get the confidence factor going."

Landry rated Philadelphia and Washington ahead of his Cowboys right now in the NFC East but added "I think we are capable of winning the division. Of course, not many people agree with me on that."

Landry announced Tuesday that second-year man Ron Springs was the No. 1 fullback, replacing nine-year veteran Robert Newhouse.

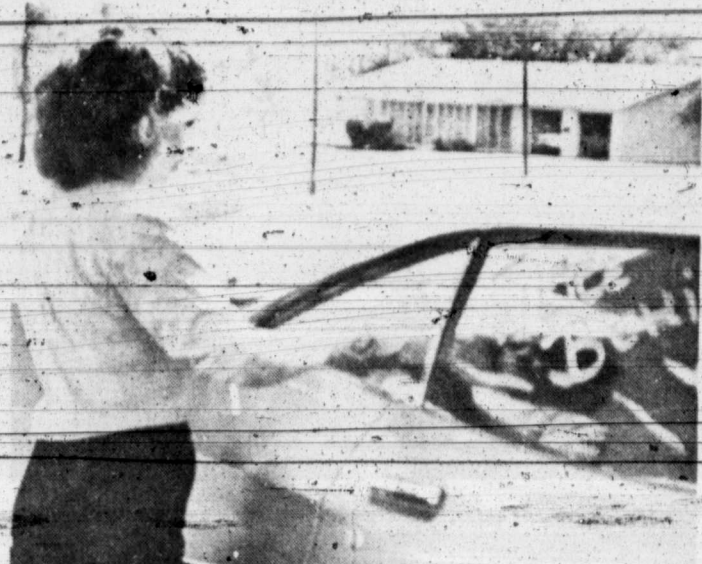

"It was a tough decision to replace Newhouse," Landry said. "Newhouse is a tremendous team player...but we had to go with Springs' ability to catch the ball and block. Both are excellent runners." He continued "One of our priorities in camp was to get the fullback into our passing offense. Springs runs routes and catches the ball. Robert is a small target. Springs will add more to our offense."

Landry said tailback Tony Dorsett, who missed last week's exhibition loss to Pittsburgh, was recovering rapidly from an injured thigh and should be 100 percent for the Redskins.

Pressed whether he would take over the play calling duties from assistant Dan Reeves who has been handling the chore in preseason, Landry said he would work with Reeves on calling plays.

Fritsch Sentence 8-Year Probated

DALLAS (AP)—Houston Oilers kicker Toni Fritsch has been given an eight-year probated prison sentence following his guilty plea on a manslaughter charge in the death of a woman in an automobile accident.

Fritsch, 34, entered the plea Friday in the May 26 death of Nelda K. Burks, 41, of Plano.

Officers said Mrs. Burks died after a car driven by the former Dallas Cowboys place-kicker went out of control on a Dallas expressway and overturned before being struck by

Jenkins, Rangers Top Toronto Blue Jays, 3-2

ARLINGTON (AP)—The game belonged strictly to Ferguson Jenkins and the Texas Rangers for seven innings. And then, a light rain began to fall and gusty winds hit in the sixth inning. He surrendered four more in the last two innings and held on for a six-hitter and a 3-2 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays.

In the top of the eighth, with left fielder John Grubb and third baseman Dave Roberts the only Rangers on the left side of second base, Toronto's John Mayberry succeeded in pushing a high fly ball to left that Grubb appeared to be immediately under.

But the wind took over, driving the ball toward the line, just fair and 20 feet away from the surprised Grubb.

"The wind really grabbed it. It started out straightaway left, but when I looked up it was just off the line," said Mayberry of the single.

Garth Borg hit a one-out.

ground-rule double and Jenkins walked pinchhitter Steve Braun to load the bases. Toronto catcher Ernie Whitt then hit a hard grounder through the middle that looked like it would score a couple of runs.

But Ranger shortstop Bud Harrelson got to the ball. He barely missed getting pinchrunner J.J. Cannon on a force out at second, but only one run scored.

"I was hoping the ball would get through. I hit it hard enough. I was surprised Harrelson was playing me there. He made a heck of a play on it. That's two runs right there if that ball gets through, and we'd probably still be playing," Whitt said.

Alfredo Griffin, whose hitting streak ended at 19 games, popped up for the second out, and Bob Bailor hit a ball that teased the rightfield line before landing just foul, only inches away from a three-run, extra-base hit. Jenkins then struck him out and got out of the inning.

In the ninth, Lloyd Moseby hit a fly to right which Grubb dropped. Moseby sped to third on Roy Howell's single to right, but Jenkins got the win by getting the Blue Jays to hit four straight grounders, one of which Roberts bobbled for an error that cut the score to 3-2.

Jenkins, 12-10, got credit for his 12th complete game of the season and gave up only one walk.

Luis Leaf, 1-4, got the loss, giving up eight hits in seven innings. Leaf hit Billy Sample in the first inning, and singles by Grubb and Al Oliver gave Texas a 1-0 lead. Rusty Staub's sacrifice fly made it 2-0.

Mike Richard's bases-loaded single scored Texas' third run. It came in the sixth after Pat Putnam singled. Jim Sundberg hit a ground rule double and Roberts drew an intentional walk.

History Shows Tigers-Steers Rivalry Is Close Encounter

Snyder's Tigers open the 1980 football season at 8 p.m. here Friday, taking on the Steers of Big Spring in Tiger Stadium.

The Steers, under their third head coach in four years and coming off of a dismal 1-9 record, would appear at first glance to be fairly easy pickings for Coach Mike Jenkins' title-hungry Bengals. Snyder has defeated the Steers in their previous eight encounters.

But a look at the past indicates Big Spring is one of Snyder's toughest yearly opponents. Maybe it's the rivalry, the early-season jitters or whatever; Snyder and Big Spring usually play the game hard until the final gun sounds.

Barring last year's 24-0 Snyder victory, Snyder and Big Spring have a history of playing it close.

In 1978 Snyder edged the Steers by six points, 20-14. In 1977 it was a 12-7 victory for Jenkins' charges. 1976 was no different, as Snyder eked out a 14-13 win, and in 1975, the Tigers won 21-17.

Snyder jumped on the opponent 25-6 in 1974, but in 1973 it was another thriller, with the Tigers taking a 28-25 win. The score was 21-10 in favor of Snyder in 1972, and in 1971, the Steers rapped Friday's hosts 27-2.

These two teams have met 32 times, beginning in 1929 when Big Spring claimed a 19-7 victory. Of the meetings, Snyder has won 15, Big Spring 12.

This year the Steers are under the direction of Ralph Harris, who turned around losing programs at Dublin and Sealy. And though no one is expecting the mentor to have Big spring vying for the District 5-AAAAA title in 1980, the Steers are expected to be improved over recent years.

The Steers' first defensive unit held Lamesa to only 11 yards in a controlled scrimmage last week. Though both teams scored once in the workout, Big Spring did it against Lamesa's No. 1 defense, while the Tors got their six against the Steers' second bunch.

Unofficially, the Steers rolled up 283 yards for the night, mostly on the ground. In the passing department, Big Spring was two of six for 48 yards. Chuck Gibbs was the quarterback behind the tosses (to tight end Mike Sauls and tailback Bill Brown), but at latest report, Coach Harris had not decided on his quarterback for Friday's game.

Gibbs, 1-5-9, 145-pound senior, and Tracy Spence, a 5-10, 185-pound junior, are still battling for the starting job.

There were 42 major college football games in 1979 decided with less than one minute to go.

7 States Hit By Teacher Strikes

By The Associated Press
As teachers walked off their jobs in six other states, striking teachers in Rochester, N.Y., pledged to ignore an injunction prohibiting their picketing and remain on picket lines as schools reopened for 34,600 students today.

In Philadelphia, contract talks resumed between striking teachers and the school board in an effort to settle a contract in time for the start of school Friday for 220,000 students.

Teachers also were striking in Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Arizona and Washington.

Rochester, N.Y., school officials said they would staff classrooms today with substitute teachers and supervisors as children ended their summer holidays and returned to schools.

Justice David C. Boehm of the state Supreme Court on Tuesday issued an injunction prohibiting the walkout by 2,300 teachers. But Elmer Henretta, president of the teachers union, said, "We have no intention of pulling back until we have a settlement."

The dispute focuses on wages.

In Philadelphia, Common Pleas Judge David Savitt barred teachers from blocking entrances to the school administration building and limited pickets to six to a school after 500 teachers locked arms and ringed the administration building Tuesday.

Some 770 other Pennsylvania teachers walked out in four school systems, and 1,200 others in three districts were scheduled to strike later this week.

In Michigan, there were strikes by 3,900 teachers in 19 districts, giving students an extended summer break.

Teacher union officials reported negotiations were at an impasse in nine other school districts where 1,150 teachers and 23,000 students were scheduled to start classes today.

Adair Satisfactory After Rig Accident

CLEAR LAKE (AP)—Famous oil well firefighter Paul "Red" Adair remains in satisfactory condition at Clear Lake Hospital, recovering from injuries suffered when he was thrown into a pool of hot water while working on a blowout, doctors say.

Adair said he was aboard a tractor dragging a wrecked derrick away from a burning well near Villahermosa, Mexico, at the time of the mishap.

"I was watching to see that it wouldn't hurt the wellhead and got thrown off somehow," he said. "Everytime I've been hurt in the field, somebody else has done it to me."

Adair said he "went flying through the air and hit on my head" in extremely hot water. He said he suf-

In Sierra Vista, Ariz., school officials planned to keep all six schools open today for 5,700 students despite a planned strike by about 300 teachers.

Illinois teachers were on strike in 11 school districts today, but students returned to class following contract settlements in two districts.

In Washington state, teacher strikes in four districts have delayed class for 30,000 students.

In Massachusetts, schools in 43 districts reopened Tuesday without teacher contracts, and teachers in 76 Indiana school corporations were working without contracts.

At the University of Duquesne Seminary, a theologians' strike continued, but negotiations resumed and picket lines were cancelled. Classes for 140 students are to begin Thursday.

A strike by Ohio Association of Public School Employees, which represents about 1,300 of 2,600 bus drivers, food service personnel, maintenance and clerical personnel, may interfere with the start of class Thursday at 139 Columbus schools.

Also in Ohio, the 160-member Hubbard Education Association voted Tuesday to strike the 3,100-student system, and strikes continued in the Miamisburg school district and the Northeastern Local district.

City Wide Diet Finds Fault With Fat Lovers

NATCHITOCHEs, La. (AP)—Want to improve your sex life? Live longer? Feel better? Think clearer? Save money?

C.B. "Lum" Ellis is trying to convert this middle Louisiana city of 16,000 to the odd-tasting Pritikin diet with the claim that it does all those good things for you.

"If those five things won't fly, nothing will," he said.

But thus far, "Project Life" - a state-supported program - has done more fizzling than flying.

Too many folks here are like Lonnie Casey, a supermarket manager who is astounded when anybody buys either of the two Pritikin diet items he stocks - bread and a smelly cheese.

"If I got to eat something that chokes me, I'd just as soon stay fat," he said, slapping his ample paunch.

The food they like in these parts is totally immoral - jambalaya, spicy meat pies, fried chicken, thick steaks, gravy, dumplings, dirty rice, cornbread, chitlins, strawberry shortcake, Cane River pie adrip with whipped cream and chocolate. Ellis says that stuff clogs the arteries with cholesterol, fills the blood with triglycerides and sooner or later - zap!

He started preaching the Pritikin gospel seven months ago, when Natchitoches - pronounced Naka-tush - became an experiment in the controversial Pritikin diet.

At the time, Ellis was fresh from a losing, and expensive, campaign for state superintendent of education and his main interest was $40,000 put up by then-governor Edwin Edwards to start a Pritikin program.

Now he's a true believer, with his beloved mayonnaise and bologna sandwiches far behind him.

On the diet, which Californian Nathan Pritikin claims can reverse heart disease or diabetes, you get no fats, no oils, no salt, no sugar, no caffeine or alcohol, no egg yolks, not more than 3 1/2 ounces of lean meat a day.

At the "Pritikin Longevity Center" in Santa Monica, the well-heeled but unhealthy pay $4,300 for 26 days of long walks and austere meals heavy on vegetables, grains and fruits.

"If it is good enough for corporation executives and movie stars, you would think anybody would be interested," says Ellis. "But the hardest people to convince are the poor and uneducated."

The stubborn - rich or poor - say Pritikin food tastes, uh, different. They don't like it. Ellis contends it's all in their mind.

"You are not born liking anything," he argues. "You learned to like whatever you like. Food properly cooked on this diet is delicious."

"Project Life" came about because Edwards was impressed by what the diet did for a friend: Natchitoches was deemed a good test, since it has an annual death rate of 9.8 per 1,000 compared to the overall state rate of 8.9.

Help for impotence

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - My husband is a diabetic and he has lost his sex drive and he's impotent. Recently he saw a medical television show that said there's an operation available to help many diabetics with their sex life. I would like to get some more information on this. Could you explain the operation? Also, which doctor would you have to see about this operation? I think on the TV program the doctor inserted an object in the penis and it had a bulb attached to it that pumped up the penis.

DEAR READER - That's becoming a very common-place operation. It's important to know what causes impotence before deciding what to do about treating it. Impotence is, rather common and it's a symptom, not a diagnosis.

It's true that diabetes can affect the nerve endings that control the blood flow to the penis. This can cause the diabetic to become impotent even though he may have completely normal sex drive otherwise.

The problem is that there are many people who are diabetic and also many who are impotent. The fact that a person is diabetic doesn't necessarily mean that diabetes is the cause. A person can have impotence from some other problem, including psychological factors, and still be a diabetic.

If your husband is evaluated adequately and it is found that his impotence is a complication of his diabetes, he can be treated as you suggested. There are basically two such operations available.

In the method that you apparently are describing, two hollow cylinders are inserted into the shaft of the penis. These are connected to a fluid reservoir placed behind the pubic bone. There is also a little pump as part of the apparatus. This device has a switch inside the scrotum to activate the pump. By pushing the switch, fluid is pumped from the reservoir into the cylinders causing the penis to erect just the same as if blood had poured into the penis to induce erection.

By manipulating the control mechanism within the scrotum, the fluid can be pumped back out of the penis and into the reservoir behind the pubic bone. The entire system is self-contained and there's nothing you see on the outside.

Another method is simply to insert flexible silicone rods into the penis. These usually do not produce the same degree of erection, and, of course, the penis is always in that same semi-erect state since you don't have the option of taking the silicone rods out at will.

The person to see about such procedures is the urologist. He should be up to date on this important common problem. Not all urologists do these new operations but a large number across the country do.

To give you a better understanding of the numerous causes for impotence, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 3-12, Impotence. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Home Cooking Claims More Of Food Dollar

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans have been spending more of their food dollars for home cooking in the last 18 months as inflation and the recession limit their disposable income. The Agriculture Department says.

And the decline in dining out has had a mixed impact on farmers. Domestic demand for some commodities has slowed, USDA analysts say, while demand has increased for other crops.

Figures compiled by the department show that real sales at grocery stores rose 3.8 percent in the first half of 1980 over the same period a year earlier, after posting a 0.4 percent increase in 1979.

Meanwhile, real sales in eating and drinking establishments dropped 1.4 percent during the first six months, this year after falling 1.2 percent in 1979, the first decline in sales for food away from home since 1975. Americans have been spending about a third of their food budget dining out.

Factors contributing to these declines are reductions in real disposable income, a cutback in non-essential driving caused by rapidly rising gasoline prices and a higher rate of increase for prices on the menu than on the grocery shelf, the analysts said.

From June 1979 through this June, grocery store prices rose less than 5.9 percent while restaurant prices jumped nearly 10 percent.

"Inasmuch as there is a decline in the purchase of food away from home, people would purchase more at the grocery stores," said Mike Vandress, a food and marketing analyst.

"So in terms of total consumption, there shouldn't be too much difference," Vandress said. "But in terms of special commodities there could be an effect."

Various government studies have shown that the components of home-cooked meals and meals eaten out are significantly different, Vandress said. Meals eaten away from home are weighted toward deep-fried foods, hamburgers and rolls, "so farmers who specialize in oils and such things could be hurt" by the shift.

Meals prepared at home include more liquid milk, fruit and vegetables, he said.

Other analysts say that among the commodities most affected by changes in eating patterns are oils and fats, and the reduction in meals Americans are eating out appears to have slowed the demand for commodities like soybean oil, a major ingredient in many restaurant meals. "Generally, less eating away from home does

Thinks Aliens

Hold Key To Energy Crisis

ASHFORD, Wash. (AP)—Creatures from outer space may hold the secret to solving the energy crisis, according to the leader of a group that is trying to entice aliens to land here.

"Space ships have never been seen to land at a gas pump to refuel," said Wayne Aho, president of the New Age Foundation.

"We're interested in the alternate forms of energy that they have," he said. "The foundation plans to build a replica of a flying saucer with a diameter of 60 to 90 feet and set on the southwest slope of Mount Rainier, which Aho contends is a popular alien landing spot."

Aho said Sunday his group hopes the saucer will provide a homey feeling for visitors from outer space and encourage landings.

"We want to give them a clear message that they are welcome to use the facilities," Aho said.

translate into less demand for fats and oils," one analyst said.

The Department's latest report on domestic demand for soybean oil in the 1979-80 marketing year shows that while use was up 2 percent during the first eight months, consumption for the entire year will actually fall below that of 1978-79.

It is only because of expected record exports that American oil producers will not see the overall market for that commodity fall off, the analysts say. The USDA estimates that soybean oil exports for 1979-80 will jump 10 percent over the previous marketing year.
