State Agencies Ask Budget Hike

About a dozen state agencies thus far have presented their budget requests for the 1961-63 biennium.

As yet, none has failed to ask for more money than it's presently getting.

Many agencies cite Texas' growing population as justifica-tion for expansion. They say, in effect, that they are in the same position as the housewife who has to put another potato in the pot to set another place at the table.

Others seek to woo state funds with a "bread cast upon the waters" approach. They contend that money spent on developing the state's resources will come back multiplied in the form of increased state revenue. Almost all emphasize the difficulties of luring and holding highly trained personnell at present state salaries. Some say, too that they've been working with a too-short stick for years and need some "keep up with the times" improvements. Budget proposals are presently being studied by the Legis lative Budget Board and the Governor's budget staff. Each will make recommendations, and the final decision will be made next year by the Legislature. With a money-short, tax-fighting session ahead, it won't be easy for anyone.

"Your Life's Record"

The hometown newspaper-like the rising and setting of the sun-is a vital part of our everyday living. A letter to the editor of the Grundy (Iowa) Register, brings this point home. It said: "You were here over 50 years ago and you will find in the files of your paper a report of my birth. Your paper also had stories when I played football in school, when graduated and later when I got married. You have reported many anniversaries in our family, the birth of our four children, their activities in school and elsewhere. And in late years you have reported the arrival of our grandchildren. Why, you and your paper have written and printed a life history of our family. And why shouldn't we look upon you and your paper as a member of our family?"

Yes, the local newspaper is the recorder of the life of a community-business, personal, political and national. Being constant subscriber is a good habit to acquire because the local paper isn't self-perpetuating as is the sun. It needs your support even as the community needs its service.

Who Are You Working For?

Suppose you earn $4,500 a year, and put in a 40-hour week If that's your situation, said the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, you work all day Monday and until 1:45 p. m. Tuesday without making any money for yourself. The money you earn in that time all goes to the government in taxes.

If you earn more than $4,500 a year the amount of your time given to the tax collector rapidly and progressively increases. And if you get into the really big income brackets, very little of your working time results in take-home pay for you.

It's commonly said and believed that defense costs are almost solely responsible for the present burden of taxation and the size of the federal budgets. But the fact remains that, in the 1955-61 period, defense costs rose only 12 per cent, while non-defense items rose 43 per cent.

As the survey sees the situation. "If we Americans spent more time trying to get our tax money spent wisely, we'd have enough money left to make us happy-and not the raft of worries caused by the lack of it."

"First decent thing Old-had done in years," friends commented after donating liberally to the mortuary fund. In subsequent weeks it developed, in the way news gets around by word-of-mouth, that "Old Lady So-and-So" hadn't died, in fact she hadn't ailed

Also that summer, a liberal interpretation of the liquor law

An ex-resident who has been away from Haskell for some 40-years is looking forward to an early visit here if plans work out satisfactorily, we have been advised.

He is Cotton Peters of Oakland. Calif., where he has been living most of the time since leaving here. "Don't know why, but I always consider Haskell my home town." wrote the Californian.

As a youth, Cotton worked in the bakery and cafe operated by the late T. P. Brooks. One his principal chores was to keep plenty of firewood available for the cafe and bakery ovens, he recalled in his letter. That was long before the coming of natural gas, and coal bins and woodpiles were located in the alleys behind every business establishment.

Root Rot

By F. W. Martin, County Agent

Deep-plow 1960 root rot infested cotton land as soon as possible. This advice comes from Dr. Harlan E. Smith, extension plant pathologist. Deep plowing is most effective in re ducing root rot if no rain of curs for at least two weeks at ter plowing. A lot of hot, dry weather generally occurs during July and August thus making them good months in which to deep plow.

Smith goes on to explain that drying out the soil for 2 weeks or more after plowing helps to kill the root fungus by drying. aeration and killing roots of susceptible weeds.

Check the long range weather forecasts and try to select a time for deep plowing when dry weather is expected, he advises. Deep-plow 10 to 14 inches deeper with a moldboard or disc type plow. Bedding or listing is ineffective in reducing cotton root rct.

Because of late cotton harvests in North Texas. many growers deep-plow small grain stubble or early grain sorghum land during July and August. This land is then used for cotton the following year.

The county agent has a copy of MP-361 "Root Rot Losses of Cotton Can Be Reduced." It is suggested that renters of cotton land send a copy of the publication to their landlord. Landowners will be interested in helping carry out a cotton root rot reduction program because it will increase the farm income and increase the value of the land.

Cotton Bacterial Blight Serious Plant Disease

By F. W. Martin, County Agent Bacterial blight of cotton causes more damage than any other plant disease in Texas. It generally is most severe on the High Plains and the Coast Prairie, in the irrigated valleys of the Trans-Pecos area and in the sprinkler irrigated areas on the Rolling Plains.

Bacterial blight causes more than one-fourth of the total cotton disease yield loss in Texas. During each of the last two years it has caused about $37,500,000 damage in lower yields. Too, additional losses occurred in the form of lower and spot grades of the harvest-

Lack of family interest in earning is sometimes the reason for scholastic under achievment in children of ability. In one study, a group of children who had failed the first grade were put into a special room for the next year. During the period of investigation, teachers visited the home of each child. One of their observations was the lack of any kind of reading material in many of the homes. In others, they found these underachieving children had never visited the public library, only three or four blocks away. The children had seldom traveled outside of

Get A License Before Fishing During August

Another warning has been issued by the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission, to buy fishing licenses before starting on your trip in August.

'A number of people will be going on vacation during Aughe said. "Some of them are just careless; others think because there is only month left of the present season they can get by without getting a $2.15 fishing license. Every month they find this to be pretty expensive because wardens have been asked to make careful check on fisher men without licenses.

The director against rushing the Dove shooting in the North Zone will be permitted after 1. New hunting licenses will be required. They will be avaiable at local sport ing goods stores the last week in August.

He also pointed to the change in whitewinged dove regulations this year. The season will be Sept. 9-10-11-three consecutive days instead of three alternate days as previously. Whitewings may be taken in several counties in the Ric Grande Valley. The limit will be 10 per day in possession. During this three day shoot hunters also may take mourn ing doves. They can kill 10 whitewings and five mourners the first day. But they must not have in possession at the end of the second day's shoot more than 30 doves-10 white. wings and 20 mourners.

Care Can Halt Ice Box Deaths Among Children

"One death a year in a dis-carded icebox or refrigerator is one too many."

With that thought in mind. J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, warns against discarding cabinets preservers of food when in the kitchen, but so often destroyers of young lives when put on the back porch, in the back yard or junk heaps.

The suffocation of children in discarded refrigerators and ice boxes, though declining because of the public's increased awareness of the problem, is an especially needless form of accidental death." Musick declared.

Nearly 50 million refrigera fors, iceboxes, freezers and other airtight cabinets are in use today. And they are being carted to junk piles-or, worse an extra cabinet, or left in the back yard at a rate of abou a million a year.

Typical of the tragedies was the suffocation of two boys 5 and 3 years of age. They crawled into a refrigerator and pulled the door shut, locking hemselves inside. The cabinet's insulation probably muffled their cries for help, authorities said. How can such mishaps be prevented:

1. Teach children to stay away from discarded cabinets. 2. Remove the door if you discard a cabinet.

3. Remove the latch stops so the doors can't lock. This can be done, usually, by removing Close to 100 per cent infection few screws.

4. Drill holes in the cabinet and remove the rubber gasket around the door.

"Better yet," Musick said, "destroy the cabinet. A little foresight could save a child's Control of leukosis, the num ber one poultry killer in the U S., cannot be accomplished by the application of antibiotics to mature birds, Dr. R. W. Moore, assistant professor of beterinary medicine in Texas A&M College System, says that leukosis can only be controlled at two levels of production-the breeder level and the grower level.

Self, Don Hodgins, Jimmy Barrett and B. L. Bradberry,

Since leukosis shows up in mature birds, many poultrymen believe that only mature birds may be infected. This is not the case, says Dr. Moore. Leukesis is caused by a group of viruses characterized by an exceedingly long incubation period. In almost every case the bird becomes infected durthe first five weeks of its life. Once a bird has reached maturity, says Dr. Moore, it has very little chance of contracting the clinical disease

Control at the breeder level consists of trying to breed birds with as much natural resistance as possible. This is only partly successful, but it has been a major factor in increasing livability in laying birds. If birds are purchased from a reputable dealer and still develop a considerable amount of leukosis, it usually means that the amount of virus challenge stages and those that ma- was so great that it overcame

Grower level control consists of isolating all young birds from mature birds. Ideally, the young birds should be cared for by a separate caretaker. Raising more than one group of chicks on the same litter is Leukosis is very costly, but through the use of proper con-trol methods, the poultryman can greatly reduce his losses

Dove Studies Make Possible Longer Season

The dove population of the central management which includes Texas, has increased 144 per cent this year, according to estimates of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Since 1953 there has been a 69 per cent incrtase.

These figures were given to Howard Dodgen, executive sec retary of the Game and Fish Commission as one of the reasons this year's dove season was extended to 60 days and the possession limit increased to 30, or the daily bag limit of 15.

For many years there were only two management areas considered in the national survery-eastern and western. The dove banding program and call counts made by biologists, however, have indicated the central management area, where the heavy population increase has been noted.

According to the department figures, 95 per cent of the units hunting kill is produced within the area. Thus the major portion of the doves killed in Texas were hatched in the central unit.
