

Snyder Area Soaked By Rains Up To Five Inches

Soaking rains brought welcome moisture to the Snyder area today and prompted flash flood alerts for much of West Texas. Morning reports here ranged from less than one inch to five inches, with the heaviest fall in the south and southeast parts of Scurry County. Some high water was reported at various times at street intersections in Snyder and several area highways had portions underwater. However, for the most part, the parched earth was absorbing much of the water. The Colorado River Municipal Water District reported that Lake E.V. Spence at Robert Lee was expected to catch a considerable amount of water from the overnight rains. Rainfall at the Lake Spence Dam was reported at 5.2 inches, with four inches between 7 a.m. and 9 a.m. If Spence should catch as much as 20,000 acre feet, it would put it at about the same level as this time last year. Rainfall apparently was light on the Lake Thomas watershed. Only .10 inch was measured at the dam overnight. However, a shower this morning had added half an inch by 11 a.m. Reports on the Colorado River and Bull Creek watersheds indicated only .10 to .20 inch of rain. Snyder had 1.10 inches in its official gauge at 7 a.m. today, and additional showers followed. Hermleigh had 2.5 inches, with up to five inches reported seven miles southeast of there. Measurements up to 4.27 inches were reported at Dunn, and over five inches were reported between Dunn and Ira. Some damage to Texas Highway 208 was reported near Dunn and a portion of the road was underwater between Dunn and Buford. U.S. Highway 84 was reported closed northwest of Roscoe due to heavy rains in the Wastella area.

Traffic on Interstate 20 was reported detouring through Roscoe due to heavy rains in the Roscoe-Sweetwater area, and Texas Highway 70 was reported blocked by high water a mile and a half north of Sweetwater. In Snyder, two vehicles were stalled due to high water at 21st St. and Avenue E. Otherwise, traffic was able to move in the city. Most of the southeast part of Northwest Texas, which includes Scurry County, remained under a flash flood watch at noon today. To the northwest of Snyder, Fluvanna had reported only .80 inch of rain, and Deep Creek was flowing only a small stream late this morning. The Department of Public Safety reported that the heavier rains were falling in southern Fisher County and eastern Scurry and

Mitchell Counties. The Texas Hill Country was hard hit by flash floods. Heavy rains were reported between Abilene and San Angelo, and to the southeast, surging waters roared into a docking area near Lake LBJ, washed into homes and businesses near Menard and covered highways near Junction and Uvalde. The Walter Pfluger ranch north of Junction reported 25 inches of rain during the period from 6 a.m. Sunday to 9 a.m. Monday. State troopers closed several roads in the Junction and Uvalde areas after rising streams flooded low water crossings, the Department of Public Safety said. But authorities reopened the highways after waters receded late Monday, a Kimble County Sheriff's Department dispatcher said. The river crested at 36 feet near Junction, about 80 miles west of Llano, said dispatcher Edwina Daharsh, and damage was reported to several mobile homes hit by high water. A cold front moved into the Panhandle during the night and was expected to trigger more shower activity in Northwest Texas and North Central Texas. The front moved through Amarillo before dawn and was expected to cross all of Northwest Texas and North Central Texas by tonight. Forecasts called for showers and thunderstorms over most of the state today. Locally heavy rainfall was forecast for areas covered by flash flood watches and warnings. Temperatures were to remain in the 70s behind the front and reach into the 80s and 90s over the remainder of the state. Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s, ranging from the mid 60s in the Panhandle to near 80 in South Central Texas and the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Divided On Guidelines

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Speakers at the first hearing on proposed federal bilingual education guidelines have divided into two groups. Hispanic educators and organizations supporting them as necessary, and school boards and administrators who oppose them as unnecessary encroachment on local schools. The U.S. Department of Education called the hearing, which continues today, on the guidelines it said were mandated by the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the Supreme Court's 1974 decision requiring schools to provide bilingual education for Chinese students in San Francisco.

Oswald Hearing Continues

FORT WORTH (AP)—The tedious legal struggle to unearth the body in Lee Harvey Oswald's grave continues here amid confusion over ownership of the cemetery plot and allegations that the accused presidential assassin may actually have been a Russian spy. State District Judge James E. Wright indicated at the conclusion of a civil hearing Monday he will decide next week on a request to temporarily halt exhumation of the body, Oswald's brother, Robert, has filed suit to keep the grave closed, claiming an exhumation would cause him great "mental anguish."

Classrooms Still Empty

By The Associated Press School officials in San Jose, Calif., were considering legal action to force 1,600 striking teachers back to work while stalemated negotiations kept classrooms closed again today in Philadelphia and Rochester, N.Y. Walkouts have disrupted classes in nine states—Arizona, California, Illinois, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Washington—involving 45,000 teachers and more than 600,000 students.

City Budget Has Final Approval

Snyder's budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 got final approval by the city council last night. Also approved on second and final reading were ordinances establishing new rates for water, sewer and sanitation service and new rates for utility taps and inspection fees. Two zoning changes also got final approval. One changes Lot 1, Block 54, Original Town, from a two-family residential district to a general retail district. The other changes

Tracts I and II, Block 27 and 28 from a single-family residential district to a two-family residential district, with no mobile homes and only single level apartments allowed, and Lots 1 through 9 in Tract III, Block 2, Sunrise Addition, from a single-family residential district to a multi-family residential district. This is property where an apartment development has been projected. The council accepted a bid of $32,884 for the purchase of emergency warning sirens. The only bidder was Alerting Communicators of America of Mequon, Wis. The city manager was authorized to seek bids for the purchase of poles and other equipment needed to install the system. The system is designed to provide a warning to all areas of the city in the event of an emergency such as a tornado, flood, railroad derailment, or any other type of emergency that might endanger lives and property. A request by Fr. Thomas Jordan, pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church, for a permit to hold a parade on Sept. 14 in connection with Diez y Seis activities planned by local Mexican-Americans, was approved. Also approved was an appropriation from the motel-tax fund for printing new city maps and new brochures. Bill Warner, chamber of commerce manager, who presented the request, says the chamber hands out at least 3,000 maps per year. The council approved 10,000 maps at a cost of $2,193.15 and 5,000 brochures at a cost of $1,650. The staff was authorized to seek bids for the purchase of 15 tons of hydrated lime for use by the water department. Bids also will be sought for repainting of three city signs. (See Budget, Page 11)

School Board Session Set

Personnel reassignments and a proposal to establish a girls golf program at the high school, are on the agenda at tonight's meeting of the Snyder School Board. The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the board room of the administration. The board also is expected to set dates for setting a tax rate and for a budget hearing. The remainder of the agenda will be devoted mostly to reports to the board which require no action.

The SDN Column

Enrollment figures for Snyder Public Schools this fall indicate a reversal of two trends. One, of course, is the end of a string of decreases in the over-all head count. The other is the increase in the lower grades simultaneously with a decrease in the secondary schools.

School enrollment in general has been in the decline throughout the country in recent years, even in some of the major metropolitan areas where the population has been increasing. The birth rate dropped following the so-called "baby boom" and suddenly there were not so many children per family as there were before. Snyder schools had the experience in the 70s of seeing over-all enrollment decrease while school's high school head count soared. In fact, the situation caused the school's competition in University Interscholastic League events move up to the top classification. Within two years, the situation came back to reality and we were back in the league with other cities our size instead of Lubbock, Plainview, etc.

Now the picture has reversed. The lower grades are gaining pupils, but the junior high and high school are off from previous years. Obviously, it indicates that one of two things—or perhaps both—happened. Parents are having more children than they did a few years ago, and/or there are more couples of childbearing age here than there were a few years ago. Whatever the reason, it has countered the trend which began in the early 70s.

Speaking of UIL competition, it has increased considerably during the past decade, with women's events swinging into the spotlight more and more each year. Frankly, we are surprised that the girls waited as long as they did to show interest in competitive events. "Babe" Didrikson Zaharias, recognized by many as the greatest woman athlete of all-time and certainly the greatest of this century proved 50 years ago that the so-called weaker sex can compete on the playing fields. She was a champion in track and baseball as well as golf, touring the country with a professional barnstorming baseball team composed, only of men, besides herself, and she played only against men. She could throw a baseball almost 300 feet on a straight line.

A lot of major league managers would like to have some outfielders that could do that today.

century of nicotine

A hundred years have passed since James Bonsack, a Virginian with a mechanical knack, changed American life.

Few recall Bonsack today, but a quarter of all Americans are directly affected by what he did, and most of the rest are affected indirectly.

What Bonsack did on Sept. 4, 1880, was to file for a patent on his device to manufacture cigarettes.

A couple of years later James Buchanan Duke, son of a Confederate soldier who returned to his North Carolina farm and peddled smoking tobacco, decided to increase his family's tobacco enterprise. He'd seen Bonsack's invention and in 1884 bought and improved some of the machines, using yellow, flue-cured tobacco for the cigarettes.

By 1888 Duke alone was selling 740 million cigarettes, 50 percent more than the nation's entire output in the year Bonsack filed for his patent. In 1889 the nation produced 2.5 billion cigarettes, 40 percent of them Duke's. The next year Duke formed the American Tobacco Co., which monopolized the industry until 1911, when the trust was broken into American, Liggett & Myers, Lorillard and Reynolds.

By 1919 production was up to 53 billion cigarettes. Last year it was 704 billion cigarettes, and there were 54 million American adults and at least 3.3 million American adolescents smoking.

That's after almost a generation of adverse publicity, which includes a statement on every cigarette package saying the contents are "dangerous to your health." Most of us are aware that male smokers have a relatively slim chance of living to 70 and female smokers have only a year or two longer.

Not only smokers are affected. Dr. William Bennett, writing in the current Harvard Review, notes that a recent study shows "a typical room where smoking takes place is more polluted with inhalable (and toxic) particles than a car riding down a busy commuter highway. Non-smokers, who must work around smokers routinely suffer from gross violations of the national air-quality standards."

Bennett points out that cigarette smokers who inhale (almost all of us do) are addicts, just like heroin addicts. Acidic flue-cured tobacco smoke travels to the absorbing surface of the lungs, which "neutralizes the acidity sufficiently to permit absorption. An entire cross-section of the bloodstream is loaded with nicotine. It travels to the heart and then to the brain without dilution" in seven seconds, "twice as fast as heroin traveling from the forearm."

Each puff gives the inhaling smoker a quick, tiny "high."

The federal government is trying to make these facts known through its Office of Smoking and Health, in the huge Health and Human Services Department. The office, begun with much fanfare under ex-Secretary Joseph Califano several years ago, has been quiet in recent months, but it's plugging away in a Washington suburb.

At the moment it's focusing on women 18 to 24, whose cigarette habits seem to be the most intractable of any age group.

high stakes

Focus of the present political campaign, as in any national election, is the presidency.

From an historical point of view, however, the tilt of the Congress could be even more significant.

For example: The next president will make two and may make as many as five appointments to the United States Supreme Court. The long-range impact of any philosophical shift on the High Court cannot be overestimated.

As one for instance, since the Earl Warren Court - on balance - Supreme Court decisions have gone against lawmen in favor of the lawless. And that is just one for instance.

Many presidents have recognized that their greatest impact on history results from their appointments to the High Court.

However, with a majority of Democrats in the Senate, Sen. Ted Kennedy remains chairman of the powerful Judiciary Committee which must approve any Supreme Court appointments.

Either Carter or Reagan would have a hard time getting any but the most liberal nominees past that committee.

Unless, of course, the next election should reverse the majority in Congress and the chairmanships of those powerful committees.

Twenty-four Democratic senators are seeking re-elections. Then would have to be replaced with Republicans to alter the balance of power in the Senate.

And there is another fascinating possibility: Kennedy could be the next president of the United States.

Even Gerald Ford could be.

Here's how: If the Anderson candidacy should prevent either front-runner from winning a majority, then the choice would be left to the House half of Congress - and anything could happen.

In the presidential election of 1824, Andrew Jackson received the largest number of popular and electoral votes. However, Henry Clay and William Crawford - running against him - kept him from getting the necessary majority.

The election was decided in the House, where congressmen turned thumbs down on any of those three and selected, instead, John Quincy Adams.

This fall, though Anderson has no chance whatever of winning the presidency, he could keep Carter or Reagan from winning it.

I've always thought it a shame that the stay-at-home vote is so frequently decisive.

"I can't agree with either of those guys," is often the explanation used as justification for not voting at all.

We do not expect to agree on 100 percent of everything with our own spouses - yet we somehow imagine that our elected leaders must reflect our personal point of view precisely.

What we should instead consider is the track record and the philosophical bent of the available candidates - for the White House and for the houses of Congress.

And the latter in many ways is more important. (c) 1980, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

WASHINGTON (AP) - One thing about Election '80 is certain, say political insiders: No matter who wins in November, both parties will have to come up with new candidates for 1984.

If Jimmy Carter wins, he will have served his two terms. If he loses, it is very doubtful the party will give him another shot. If Ronald Reagan wins, he will be 74 years old in 1984 and not even his closest staff members expect him to stand for re-election; and if he loses, he won't try again.

So it will be new faces for both parties and, while the 1980 election is still three months away, the jockeying for 1984 already has begun.

The most visible example of this, of course, was Ted Kennedy's speech to the Democratic National Convention. In it, he laid claim to the leadership of the most liberal elements of the party, elements he needs to launch his 1984 nomination bid.

Most party insiders, in fact, believe Kennedy will campaign hard this fall, not so much for the Carter-Mondale ticket as for himself. Look for Kennedy to stump the country for liberal Democratic candidates for the Senate and House. In this way, he will attempt to solidify his claim to the leadership of the liberal Democrats.

The Carter forces were not overly concerned by Kennedy's convention showing. They were angered and embarrassed in front of a national audience, true, but victory was all they were after and victory is what they got. The supporters of Walter Mondale, however, were concerned for they have the most to fear over the longer term from a Kennedy resurgence.

It has been said that Mondale never hungered for high political office and was not willing to do what was necessary to gain it. Four years as vice president, however, apparently has changed all that. The word now is Mondale very much wants to be president.

Most Washington observers rate Mondale's political staff as about the best in town. It has been quietly bidding its time, collecting names of potential supporters and IOUs from segments of the party. The staff is ready to make its move in four years if Carter wins in November, immediately, if he loses.

Now, however, it is being challenged by Kennedy for those very segments of the party it had staked out for Mondale. Look for Mondale to spend considerable time this campaign season not only trying to win re-election, but wooing segments of the party away from Kennedy.

One example of this was Mondale's attention to teachers in his acceptance speech. The National Education Association has become a powerful force in the Democratic Party.

Then there is Jerry Brown. Perhaps no one in the United States wants to be president as much as the governor of California. His speech to the convention seemed to be the most overtly political of his career. While a portion of it did deal with Brown's vision of the United States of the future, most of it was an attack on Ronald Reagan and an attempt by Brown to position himself as the only Democrat who can appeal to both the Carter and Kennedy segments of the party.

In the past, Brown has stayed aloof of politics. In recent days, however, he has become almost the stereotype of the glad-handing politician. Witness the fact that Brown's first question to his staff after making his convention speech was whether the TV networks had carried it. In past years, he would not have cared. Or witness the chaotic scene on the platform after Carter's speech and the sight of Jerry Brown pushing his way from the back of the podium to the front to get himself into the Carter-Kennedy pictures. Brown badly needs to carve out some kind of base for a 1984 bid. Look for Brown to spend the coming campaign season searching for that base.

The Republicans now are immune to looking towards 1984. The way things are shaping up now, look to George Bush, representing the moderate wing of the party, and young Jack Kemp, representing the conservatives, to begin contending for party leadership.

In fact, in the coming months, especially if Reagan wins, Republican politics could become rather strange. Reagan would much prefer Kemp to succeed him, but Bush is his chosen No. 2.

If he wins, look for Reagan to bring Kemp into his administration in some very visible job while, at the same time, trying to try to keep Bush out of the spotlight.

Well he did it. Powers Boothe won an Emmy. Hollywood's highest honor goes to a graduate of Snyder High School. To win the Emmy for best leading actor in a limited series, he had to edge out acting heavies, Henry Fonda, Steve McQueen and Jason Robards, three of the top names in show business. He managed such a feat by his in-depth portrayal of Jim Jones, in the Guyana Tragedy, the story of the enigmatic cult leader who led his followers to commit mass suicide.

In recent years actors have taken advantage of the opportunity such an awards ceremony provides to promote pet causes, everything from indians to the environment. It was no different Sunday night only this time they were plugging their own cause, the actors' strike, and they did it by not showing up.

By being there to accept his award, Boothe came off as somewhat of a rebel in a profession that covets such an image. I don't think Boothe was trying to be defiant or attract attention to himself by attending the awards ceremony. I think that after working very hard for something, he wanted to be on hand to accept should he win.

In comparison to many actors, at least the ones who make the headlines, Boothe is somewhat of a radical. He is a down-to-earth sort of guy who believes that talent and hardwork will take him where he wants to go. He is still married to his first wife (also a Snyderite). And despite his success, he keeps things in perspective. Just because he is a star he doesn't feel obligated to save the world in his spare time.

Too many actors exploit their recognition to promote their own views about things. Everyone is entitled to his own opinion but it bothers me when someone like Ed Asner stands before the camera and espouses the grandeur of Ted Kennedy or talks about what government should be doing about this or that. People don't see a guy who spends his days memorizing lines and tolerating make-up artists and picky producers. People see Lou Grant, the stalwart of stability and common sense in the newsroom of the LA Tribune, a newspaper that gropes with the troubles of our time on a daily basis. It's too bad that the Trib, like Lou Grant, is fictitious.

Even though we know better, we are influenced by the character an actor creates rather than the actor himself. It is hard to imagine Festus decked out in a tuxedo going to a symphony or singing and dancing himself, but these are some of the things Ken Curtis enjoys doing.

Despite the fact that Boothe is on record as supporting the actor's strike, some Hollywood writers, always in search of saleable copy, may not be able to resist the opportunity to stretch Boothe's action into more that it was. He may even catch some flak from his contemporaries.

Boothe himself quipped at the ceremony, "This is either the most courageous moment of my career or the stupidest."

Fortunately, he is in a profession where, as the cliché goes, "It doesn't matter what they say about you as long as they spell the name right." Eat your heart out Jane.

Ira PTA To Sponsor Get Acquainted Supper

A "get acquainted supper" for all persons interested in the Ira schools has been set for 7 p.m. Thursday in the Ira cafeteria, and is being sponsored by the Ira Parent Teacher Association.

PTA representatives decided to host the supper at a called meeting Aug. 26 in the school library. Mrs. Floyd House, Mrs. Douglas White and Mrs. Bill Murphy are in charge of the supper.

Mrs. James R. Brown, vice president, called the August meeting to order with three officers, 24 members and five guests in attendance. New faculty members and guests were introduced.

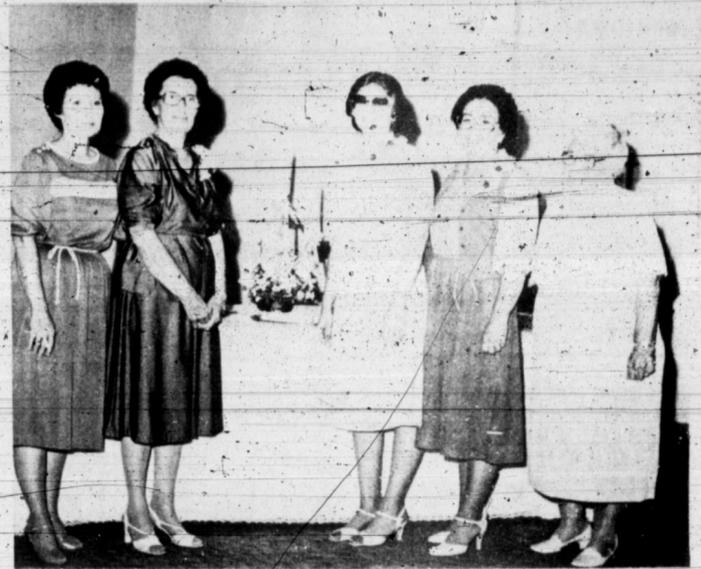

The PTA approved the executive recommendations for the 1980-81 school year which included sending delegates to workshop, spring conference and state convention, having eight regular meetings and one night meeting in March, and making one yearbook for each family associated with the school or PTA.

Other recommendations included a fall festival set for Nov. 1, the presentation of one Texas Life Membership, refreshments to be left up to the hospitality chairman, and that parties be given at Christmas, Valentine and Easter with fruit bags for students, visiting children and school personnel.

Plans also include the hiring of babysitters, after game parties for high school students following home games, a room winning attendance prize of $5, $10 bill to be given to the district president's fund for the national convention, and a "Treat the Teacher Week" will be observed on a date later specified.

Use Caution At Suntanning Salons

If you're thinking of extending your summer tan by visiting a suntan salon, be cautious. Tanning booths expose you to the same harmful ultraviolet rays the sun does. Overexposure can cause dry, wrinkled skin and increase your chances of developing skin cancer. Also, avoid these salons if you burn easily or are taking medication that makes you sensitive to sunlight.

Retired Teacher Group Plans First Meeting

The Scurry County Retired Teachers Association will meet Thursday at 2 p.m. in the conference room of the Senior Citizen Center, 2603 Ave. M, for their first regular meeting of the year.

Marie McCollum of San Angelo, assistant state director for Texas, will explain the benefits of belonging to Retired Teachers.

Today there are more than 35,000 retired teachers and associates in Texas who do not belong to the organization.

According to Jewel Summers, every effort will be made to contact this group and invite them to join.

"If we are to have any influence on our lawmakers in Austin when they convene in January, 1981, we must prove to them that we are an interested group of citizens," she added.

Wrong finesse dumps slam

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

South cashed dummy's ace and king of diamonds in order to get rid of his deuce of clubs.

Then he paused for thought before leading the nine of spades from dummy. It held the trick. He smiled happily and repeated the spade finesse only to see West show out. Now he had to lose to both black kings and was down one.

"I'm too unlucky," he complained. "Imagine trumps breaking 4-1." It doesn't really require much imagination to think of a 4-1 break. It happens 28 percent of the time. It would have required much less imagination to take the club finesse rather than the spade. There was a 50 percent chance of success there. The trump finesse represented a smaller chance.

Dear Abby

Cross-Dressing Could Cause Indecent Exposure

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: About the letter from the married couple who were very self-conscious because she was about six inches taller than her husband, so they started going to restaurants together — she dressed as the man, and he the woman. They asked you if it was against the law, and you wisely suggested that they check their local laws.

Abby, they clearly have a legal right to dress as they wish as a part of their constitutional right to privacy. However, should they use the public restrooms, they might run into trouble. A man caught in a women's restroom, even if he's dressed as a woman, risks being charged with violating laws against peeping toms and indecent exposure. Similarly, a woman caught dressed as a man in a women's restroom, or a man caught dressed as a woman in a men's room, may be detained to prove correct sexual identity.

Also, a man who is jailed dressed as a woman may have to fight off indecent assaults from other inmates. So perhaps they should consider these risks when weighing whether to do something they have a legal right to do.

ARLINGTON, VA., ATTORNEY

DEAR ATTORNEY: You make several good points. Even though cross-dressing in restaurants may be legal, it's not advisable.

DEAR ABBY: For years I've been tempted to write a Dear Abby letter, and now I must! Nothing provoked me as much as your answer to the girl whose mother insisted on washing the dishes when staying in a motel.

Your answer just blew my socks off! (You said, "Leave 'em; the motel owner doesn't expect the guests to wash the dishes.")

Abby, I own and operate a small motel on the Oregon coast, and I expect my guests to leave my rooms clean — and that includes doing their own dirty dishes! Those who don't receive a very polite letter asking them not to return.

You'd be surprised at the number of letters I get from people who apologize, and ask if they may return to prove that they are not really messy slob.

Payment of room rent does not give motel guests the right to leave anything dirty, as you suggest.

JACKIE

DEAR JACKIE: Sorry I blew your socks off. Buy some garters and send me the bill. A motel that has customers begging to stay there must be great!

DEAR ABBY: The letter you published about people who are hard of hearing but too vain to wear a hearing aid struck an audible chord with me.

Now, please say something about people who can't see very well but are too vain to wear glasses! On television talk shows, for example, it's so distracting to see some old vain movie star putting on and taking off glasses every time he has to read something. Glasses are much more attractive than squinting and wrinkles.

People who drive without glasses are a hazard on the road. And we all have friends who are so blind that they pass you on the street without recognizing you. Not to mention women who apply makeup with such a heavy hand they end up looking like they're ready for the stage lights.

And there ought to be a law against those mirrored glasses. When I talk to a person, I want to see his eyes. Thanks for listening.

J. IN FT. MYERS BEACH, FLA.

Jewels Thieves Net $2 Million

CHICAGO (AP)—A theft of more than $2 million in gold and uncut diamonds, one of the largest robberies in Chicago history, was committed by a "high-line burglary crew" sophisticated in electronics, police officials say.

The break-in at the Donald Bruce Co. jewelry manufacturing firm on the North Side was discovered Monday when a company owner opened the one-story building. Police later found that telephone cables connecting the building's burglar alarm system with a Wells Fargo Alarm Services office had been severed.

Over the weekend, numerous telephone cables were cut on the North Side and service was disrupted for several thousand customers. Officials believed the disruption to be the work of vandals, but police said Monday the cuttings may have been a diversion for the break-in.

A police official said the theft "definitely" was committed by "a high-line burglary crew, probably from out of state." Officials said the alarm system had been silenced by someone knowledgeable about the way phone cables and burglar alarms function and are wired. Police said the alarm at the company went off about 10:30 p.m. Saturday, but Wells Fargo personnel and police found nothing amiss. Officials later theorized that burglars may have set the alarm off intentionally, then broken into the building after the initial Wells Fargo and police response.

When the cable was cut, the alarm was silenced but the Wells Fargo office still should have received a signal that the system was malfunctioning, authorities said. They were not able to say why there was no followup investigation.

An Illinois Bell Telephone Co. worker who checked a manhole access to the wires Monday said, "This guy knew exactly what he was doing."

May Probe Origin Of Reagan Rumor

NEW YORK (AP)—A stockbroker trying to avoid a $5 million loss may have started last week's unfounded rumor on Wall Street that Ronald Reagan had a heart attack, according to a syndicated business columnist.

And a Securities and Exchange Commission official said Monday that if there was manipulation, it would be a matter for criminal prosecution.

"This goes right to the integrity of the marketplace," said Stephen Hammerman, who heads the SEC's New York office. "We're not going to let people mess around with the market." Hammerman said he learned about the Sept. 4 rumor from newspaper reports Friday and could not himself verify the incident.

He declined to comment on the business column by Dan Dorfman, distributed by the Chicago Tribune-

New York News Syndicate, Inc., that the SEC was investigating the incident.

"It is our policy not to comment whether we are or whether we are not investigating," he said.

Dorfman could not immediately be reached for comment.

According to Dorfman's account, an unidentified broker invested heavily in the belief that stock prices would go down. When they headed up instead, the column said, he reportedly issued this six-word message to a block trader of a major brokerage firm who buys and sells huge blocks of stock: "Ronald Reagan reports from Reagan campaign officials that the Republican presidential candidate was in good health; the market finished near its lows for the day. It closed with a 4-35 loss at 948.81.

The aim of the broker reportedly was to drive prices down so he could cover his short sales and make new purchases in anticipation of market regaining upward momentum later, Dorfman said. "During the frenzied trading triggered by the rumor, so I hear, the short seller was able to avoid losing $5 million that he would have lost had the market prices not fallen," Dorfman wrote.

"In addition, he stepped in and bought nearly $1.5 million worth of stock at what may have well have been bargain prices. So the rumor was worth about $6.5 million to him." Hammerman said such a large scale attempt at market manipulation would be unique. "I know of none. In regard to specific stock, yes. But with regard to a whole market, absolutely not," he said.

Lodges Formal Complaint...

Textbook Critic Says Hearings Were Unfair

By LEE JONES

Associated Press Writer AUSTIN (AP)—Textbook critic Norma Gabler of Longview has formally protested what she claims was "antagonistic and unfair" treatment during August's textbook hearings.

She also lost a round Monday when the State Textbook Committee rejected her call for a pure phonics approach to teaching reading in the public schools.

Phonics involves the teaching of letter sounds before children start deciphering words.

The committee recommended five series of readers for grades 1-8 but Mrs. Gabler's favorite, the Economy Co.'s "Keys to Reading," made only second alternate.

Final adoption of texts, up to five per subject, will be made by the State Board of Education on Nov. 8. School districts must choose from the state list.

Mrs. Gabler complained in a letter to Education Commissioner Alton Bowen that she was mistreated at the Textbook Committee's hearings in August.

She asserted that Deputy Commissioner Grace Grimes should not be permitted to serve as a hearing officer next year.

"She permitted committee members to ask antagonistic and unfair questions and made no attempt to curb committee members who snickered and laughed at petitioners who voiced genuine concern about the content of textbooks," Mrs. Gabler said. Specifically, she objected because Dr. Grimes rephrased a committee member's question and asked Mrs. Gabler whether her protests arose from "your great concern or is this the way you make your living?"

The committee recommended reading series published by Houghton, MacMillan, American, Harcourt and Scott Foresman, with a Holt series as first alternate.

Readers account for about $20 million of the $30 million adoption, and a dozen publishers competed to get on the five-book list from which school districts may choose.

Successful publishers' representatives with millions of dollars at stake moaned, "Oh, no," when committee votes were projected on a screen. About 200 people crammed into a room that seats 100.

All of the top five reading series use multiple approaches, including but not limited to phonics.

"We don't depend on just one approach," said Jane Latham of Dallas, reading coordinator for Harcourt. She said multiple approaches include phonics, early learning of entire words and "context clues" from placement of a word in a sentence.

Building May Serve As Model...

Scurry Museum 'Discovered' By Litchfield, Conn., Group

The Litchfield Historical Society of Litchfield, Conn., founded in 1856, has plans for a new building to house part of its collection, and that building may be patterned after the Scurry County Museum at Western Texas College.

Lockett Ford Ballard, Jr., director of the Litchfield Historical Society, "discovered" the Scurry County Museum in Texas Historical Commission pamphlets distributed at the American Association of Museums annual meeting. He wrote Sharon Sutton, director of the Scurry County Museum, requesting copies of the plans and received the drawings in time to present them to the architectural planning committee and several members of the Board of Directors on Aug. 14.

The response to the plans was favorable, Ballard said, adding, "Needless to say, a picture is worth a thousand words."

The group was then taken on a tour of their three-story building which is now in use. Ballard provided a wheel chair, a walker, canes and crutches to dramatize the difficulty handicapped persons have in visiting the building, and those making the tour were "instantly enlightened" as to the advantages of an obstacle-free building such as that constructed for the Scurry County Museum.

"One Board member later spent almost 20 minutes going over the materials specifications," Ballard added, "and was mollified to see that modern museums didn't have to be expensive marble palaces."

The Litchfield Historical Society occupies a 1900 neo-classical building housing museum galleries and the Ingraham Memorial Library of historical research materials. It also owns and operates two nearby historic buildings, the Tapping Reeve House and the Litchfield Law School which Reeve established in 1774. Tapping Reeve married Sally Burr, sister of Aaron Burr, and young Aaron was his first law student. The law school which Reeve started was the first in America, and operated for almost 60 years. Its graduates included many distinguished leaders in law and government, including two vice presidents of the United States, three justices of the Supreme Court, six Cabinet members and six governors of Connecticut.

The Scurry County Museum building, opened to the public in 1974, contains 14,000 square feet on two levels. A ramp provides easy access to the main entrance and all exhibits are on the first floor. Storage areas and classrooms on the lower level may be reached by stairs or by means of a freight elevator.

The Museum Association

is currently conducting a drive for members, and persons interested in becoming part of the organization are invited to tour the facility. The museum is open each weekday and on Sunday afternoons. Exhibits in the permanent gallery trace the history of the area from the time of prehistoric man to the present.

Must Admit Aliens Or Prove Hardships

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas school officials must prove the admission of illegal aliens will create a hardship or be prepared to admit them, a federal judge says.

U.S. District Judge Robert Hill said he will hold another hearing on the matter Sept. 15. He said the Dallas Independent School District must have proof of their hardship claims ready by then.

The judge also said he would hold a closed conference with DISD attorney Lee Smith and plaintiff's attorney Larry Mealer of Dallas Legal Services Thursday.

A suit was filed in April 1979 by 19 children of illegal aliens and their parents challenging a DISD policy that bars undocumented children from a free public education. The policy was instituted before a similar law was written into the Texas Education Code in 1975.

A federal judge at Houston earlier this year struck down that law. Last week, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell upheld the ruling by U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals which ordered Texas schools to educate illegal alien school children.

But Powell also said individual school districts who could prove they would be damaged by the admissions could file suit asking for a stay of his order. The portion of the law declared unconstitutional gave individual school districts the option to refuse admission to undocumented children or charge tuition for their schooling.

Hill told school district lawyers Monday "The burden will be on the school district. Unless you have established the harm mentioned in Mr. Justice Powell's order, I would be inclined to grant injunctive relief forcing Dallas schools to admit the illegal alien children."

Chickens were raised and bred for meat and eggs in China as early as 1,400 B.C.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Relief from asthma

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I think I'm hooked on drugs prescribed for the relief of asthma. I'm almost 73 years old, a widow, and have had asthma for nearly 50 years. I've taken all kinds of medicines. I got relief for years with Fedral. I felt like I had a rock in my stomach a lot of the time. As time went on Fedral no longer gave the needed relief. Then the doctor gave me an inhalant which is labeled Alupent. I was to take it every six hours as needed for relief of asthma. For several years it was wonderful, quick relief.

The only thing is I got so I needed it more often. Now I take it every four hours and often I have to struggle for breath for 45 to 75 minutes because I won't let myself take it more often than every four hours. I also take Fedral twice a day.

I weigh 90 pounds and am down from 110 and I feel awful. I can't work or sleep much and worry a lot and cry too much. I'm sort of a wreck. What can I do about this problem? Am I doomed?

DEAR READER: Your letter suggests that you may have more than one problem. I realize that you have asthma and have had for years, but your response to your present treatment regime sounds like you may also be depressed. The weight loss, crying spells and inability to sleep all point to that. Of course, you have a good reason to be upset and some people do develop a significant depression when they have a long-term illness, particularly if it doesn't seem to be under control.

You might ask your doctor about the possibility of your having depression and see what he thinks about your having a consultation about it.

I don't think you're really hooked on Alupent. It's a medicine designed to dilate the air passages (bronchi). It could be that you are having an over-compensating (rebound) constriction of your air passages as the medicine begins to wear off.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 8-6. Asthma. Although you probably know a great deal about the disorder, it will bring you up to date on it. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

There are a lot of new medicines that have been used successfully in helping to control asthma. It could be that if you were to take one of the medicines used to prevent an attack, specifically Cromolyn, you might not need the Alupent so frequently. I certainly don't like to hear that you're struggling for breath for 45 to 75 minutes.

Miss Fromme Says She Was Just 'Fed Up'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Five years after threatening then-President Gerald R. Ford's life, Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme says she "was not determined to kill the guy, obviously, because I didn't do it."

The member of the Charles Manson "family," imprisoned at the Federal Correctional Institute for Women at Alderson, W.Va., spoke about the 1975 incident in an interview with the Sacramento Bee, published Sunday.

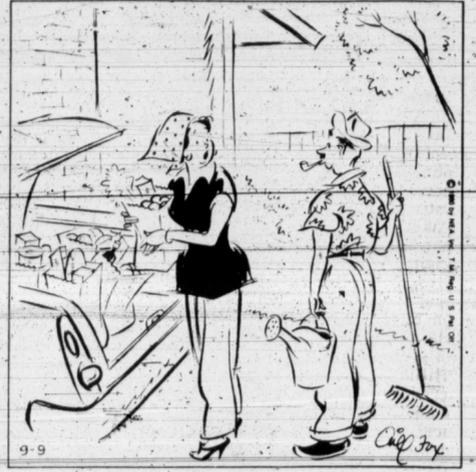

"I was fed up. With lots and lots of things," Ms. Fromme said.

Clements Blamed For Food Programs Change

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas child care workers blamed Gov. Bill Clements on Monday for a decision by the State Board of Human Resources to turn over two children's food programs to a federal agency.

The June 11 decision to shift the Child Care Food Program and Summer Feeding Program to the U.S. Department of Agriculture would reduce the state payroll by 17 persons.

Payroll reduction was one of the key pledges in the governor's 1978 campaign.

Even H.H. Pullium of the USDA testified the state could handle the food programs better than his agency.

"I have learned that the first tenet of Texas government is that Texans look after themselves. They look after each other," said Pullium, regional administrator at Dallas of Food and nutrition Services.

"I know this move is to go along with Gov. Clements' proposal to cut down on the number of state employees," said Carol King, director of Tolia's Community Nursery. She said the reduction is "deceptive," however, because the state is reimbursed for the salaries.

Also, she said, the proposal "is contrary to the governor's campaign promises that he would work for state administration."

"The food programs serve more than 95,000 low-income youngsters in Texas. The child care program pays for meals served to children in day care centers while the summer program provides meals and snacks to children who normally would receive free or low-cost lunches at school."

"If the programs are returned to USDA, people can say that's my problem - no, it's the problem of the children we're trying to serve," said Pullium.

M.J. Raymond Jr., associate commissioner for services to families and children, noted the state had taken over the food programs in October 1977, and he said, "Times have changed. We just don't have the staff to continue the current level of programs."

Betty Dickson, administrator of Hereford Day Care, Inc., said dealing with USDA "is like you were stuffing it down a deep, dark hole, in my book...Why go from an efficient operation back to the dark ages of the USDA?"

"If Gov. Clements has to have cuts, I urge that they not be in the child care field," said Joyce Duke, administrator of a Borger day care center. "Remember, children are the state of Texas' most precious resource."

Norma Plascencia Almanza of the Community Nutrition Institute, which has offices in Austin and San Antonio, urged the board "to go on record as not complying with the governor's request. Children's meals are our ultimate concern."

Raymond said the board might consider returning only one of the programs to USDA and asked witnesses to indicate their preference.

Pullium said both programs are so closely related and the state "has done such a beautiful job" that he could not choose.

Others also said it was a difficult choice.

Say Authorities...

Hostage Takers Were 3 Scared Young Men

By JOHN KENNEDY

Associated Press Writer PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Three gunmen who served cocktails to calm their hostages during an 18-hour siege in a fashionable suburban steakhouse were frightened young men who bungled a robbery, authorities said.

Two men, handcuffed to the last two of their 12 hostages, surrendered at 5:30 p.m. PDT Monday, three hours after their comrade walked out of the Ringside East restaurant, police said.

Arrested on 12 counts of kidnapping, 12 counts of armed robbery and 12 counts of coercion were Gary W. Muse, 23, and Angelo C. Cavantoy, 19. Their hometowns were not immediately known.

Arrested on the same charges was Patrick O. Kelly, 18, Portland, who gave himself up. The three were held on $510,000 bail apiece.

Authorities said none of the hostages was harmed, but some were robbed of their wallets during the episode.

Stephany Johnson, 28, was released in the afternoon and was hospitalized with abdominal pains. The cause of the ailment was not immediately determined.

Travis Flowers 1912 37th 573-9379

Marilyn Stafford, 41, of Gresham, Ore., feigned a weak heart and was released along with her husband Jack.

Police said the incident began late Sunday when three men apparently intending to rob the northeast Portland restaurant tripped off a silent alarm. Before they could leave, police blocked their way.

"They were in a situation of fright," said the Rev. Robert Stalcup Jr., of Estacada, Ore., a friend of Muse's who helped talk the last two gunmen out. "They were scared."

"They did everything in their power to protect the hostages," said Stalcup. "They were scared young men."

Testifies About Drilling Project

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Muscatine businessman Roy Carver testified Monday he would have endangered his control of Bandag Inc. had he not quit financing an abortive Persian Gulf oil drilling project in 1976.

The testimony came in the second week of Carver's $42 million suit in U.S. District Court against SEDCO Inc., a Dallas-based drilling firm.

Culver contends that SEDCO lured him into an oil expedition in 1975-76 off the coast of Qatar, but the oil turned out to be contaminated with potentially lethal gas.

"I trusted the people at SEDCO," Culver said. "They had a worldwide reputation. I knew nothing about oil drilling."

Carver said he quit financing the project when his bankers said the investment could endanger his control of Bandag, which Carver founded.

"When I learned that the cost of rigging the equipment might be as high as $40 million, I was told by my bankers that I would have to pledge my Bandag stock to get a loan," Carver said.

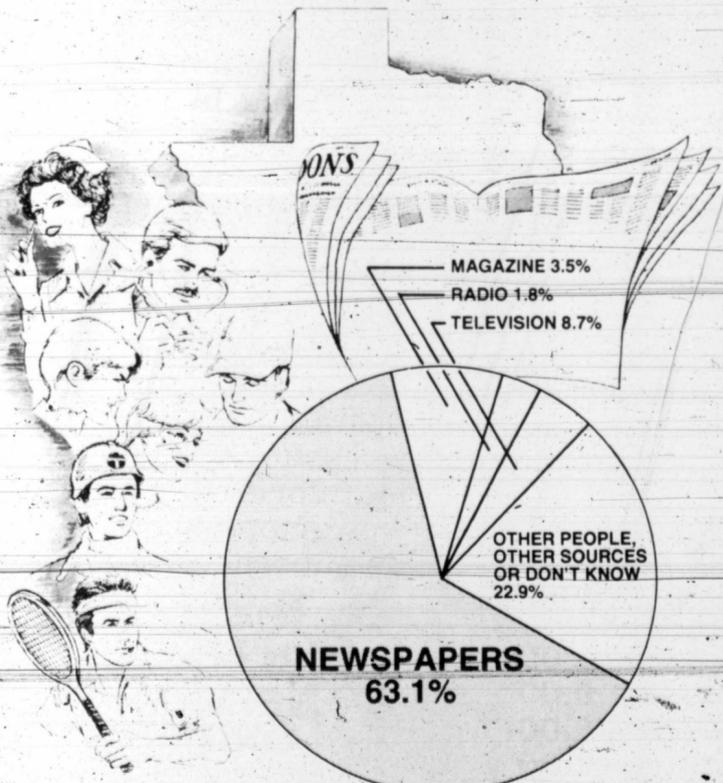

"My money was tied up at the time, so I didn't have any more to spend on the project."

Carver founded Bandag and developed the company to the point where it controls 70 percent of all truck tire retreading in the United States. It operates in 90 nations and has made Carver what is believed to be Iowa's largest individual fortune.

Carver retired from active management of Bandag in 1972. He still controls 43 percent of its stock, an investment today worth more than $100 million.

63 out of 100 Shoppers Look to the Daily Newspaper for Advertising when they are Ready to Buy

Today's Texan looks to the daily newspaper for advertising information when he or she is ready to buy goods and services.

A recent study by Belden Associates of Dallas revealed that over five million, or 63 percent, of all Texas adults prefer the daily newspaper for advertising information when they are ready to buy — over five times as many as those who prefer radio and television combined for advertising information.

Mr. Advertiser, if you want to expose your message to the greatest number of potential buyers — when they are READY TO BUY — the daily newspaper is your effective way to reach the total Texas audience.

Advanced Aikido Course Planned

Western Texas College will be offering an aikido class for community residents through the Community Services department soon, Dr. Shel Hillis, instructor, has announced. Aikido is one of the martial arts which had its origin in Japan, and it stresses self-defense. Physical size or strength are not essential for persons who wish to learn aikido for self-defense.

Hillis now holds the second degree Black Belt in aikido. Lee Burke, physical education instructor at WTC, has earned the Green Belt and works with Hillis in teaching aikido. Beginning aikido students learn 17 basic techniques, Hillis said. Approximately 60 techniques are added in advanced class study. "We then consider students to be serious students," Hillis said.

since this puts them in the Brown Belt proficiency range.

Persons who would like more information about aikido and about judo are invited to contact Hillis at WTC. Persons wishing to reserve space in the Community Services aikido classes, which will meet during evening hours, may call the Continuing Education office at 573-8511, extension 240.

Buyer's Guide For Bikers

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans will purchase more than 11 million multi-speed bicycles this year, according to Bicycling Magazine.

To help the average person get his money's worth when buying a two-wheeler, the publication has issued a "Buyer's Guide" offering detailed information on weight, measurements, frame sizes, color and price for all 1980 major bike brands.

Among factors it says a cyclist should consider: —One-speed coasters are suitable for short, 2-or-3 mile level trips. A three-speed is good for trips up to 10 miles while a 10-speed is the logical choice for touring or long-distance commuting.

A good touring bike should have a high quality frame and aluminum alloy rims. It should be designed for touring, not racing.

Choose the right tire. A light tire makes it easier to climb hills, accelerate, stop and turn. Wider tires give a more comfortable ride, but they have a greater drag and thus take more energy to pedal. A wide tire, however, is considered safer.

After Hijacking Jet...

Disillusioned Cuban Back On Native Isle

By PAT LEISNER

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A 40-year-old Cuban house painter with a shattered American dream is back on his native island today in custody after using a pint bottle that he said was filled with gasoline to hijack a jetliner for the ride home.

The other 88 people aboard the Eastern Airlines jet that was diverted to Havana on Monday returned safely to the United States. It was the eighth hijacking of a U.S. plane in the past month. Most of the incidents have been blamed on disillusioned Cubans who arrived here via the "freedom flotilla" which has brought 122,000 refugees to the United States since April. Witnesses said the homesick skyjacker, identified by authorities as Juan Pedrosa, blessed himself, then barricaded himself in the lavatory of Flight 161 with the bottle on the floor beside him and a cigarette lighter in his hand. He threatened to blow up the aircraft unless he was taken to Cuba, the FBI said. Only a handful of passengers knew what was happening as the drama unfolded quietly in the rear of the 727, en route from Albany, N.Y., to Tampa and Sarasota via New York's Kennedy International Airport. Pedrosa said he came to America four months ago, lured by tales of riches, but wound up instead jobless, broke, lonely and desperate, according to witnesses.

League To Decide Today If Anderson Can Debate

By EVANS WITT

WASHINGTON (AP) — As League of Women Voters officials meet today to decide whether to invite John Anderson to take part in the league's presidential debates, they find themselves mired in the arcane intricacies of national political polls.

At the same time, there seems to be confusion on independent candidate Anderson's part as to whether the White House has shifted position on its insistence that only President Carter and Ronald Reagan participate in the first presidential debate.

Word from the White House was "no change." Carter has said all along he would debate Anderson along with Reagan, but only if he faces Reagan alone first. Anderson wants in on the first match, which is regarded as having the most influence on voters.

The league, in an effort to avoid legal hassles, set what seemed like a simple standard for invitations to third-party candidates: the candidate had to reach the 15-percent level in national polls.

But the fact that the league officials meeting today have invited along a corps of polling experts and academics suggests that the formula may be a good deal more complicated than imagined and only partly because polls taken over the last three weeks put Anderson's national standing at anywhere from 13 percent to 17 percent.

While the debate question is debated, both Anderson and Carter were stumping in New Jersey today, and Reagan was in Chicago.

The president was taking part in the dedication of a new steel plant in Perth Amboy, N.J., giving him an opportunity to defend his own economic policies and attack those of Reagan.

Carter said at the ceremony that his economic recovery plan would create a million jobs over two years while Republican promises of tax cuts would only bring "massive tax breaks for the wealthy and massive increases in inflation to working people."

In Chicago, Reagan said in a major economic speech he could trim $195 billion or more in federal spending in the next five years, by eliminating "waste, extravagance, abuse and outright fraud" in federal agencies.

His advisers said the GOP nominee's goal could be achieved without junking any major federal programs.

Reagan called Carter's economic record "an American tragedy," and pledged to revitalize the economy as president through substantial cuts in income taxes and removal of burdensome government regulations.

Reagan, speaking in Kokomo, Ind., on Monday before heading for Chicago, called Carter's plan "cynical" and "political." Former President Gerald R. Ford met with Reagan in Chicago, renewed his promise to campaign hard for the GOP ticket, and hit Carter's administration for revealing a program to develop a radar-evading aircraft. He said the disclosure of the "Stealth" program was "unwise and potentially dangerous to our national security."

Anderson, harping on the debate question, said Monday that a Carter refusal to meet him in the first debate could become "one of the major issues of the 1980 campaign."

Later, after hearing apparently incomplete news reports of a statement by Carter spokesman Jody Powell, Anderson said he understood that "the presidential press secretary has now allowed that perhaps the president would deign to see a third person seated on the platform" for the first debate.

Powell did say, "We're perfectly willing to participate in multi-candidate debates, but we feel there's got to be an assurance there will also be one-on-one debates," suggesting the two-man debates could come later.

The question of whether Anderson will be invited to the first debate, tentatively scheduled Sept. 21 in Baltimore, likely will be decided today after a meeting of the executive committee of the league's education fund, the actual sponsor of the debates.

Jimmy Carter was sworn in as the 39th president of the United States on Jan. 29, 1977.

Auto Theft Case Probed

Police are investigating a stolen car complaint filed Monday.

Jim Goldsmith of Action Auto Sales in Odessa said a vehicle was stolen from one of his men after it had been repossessed. The car, a 1975 Buick, was reportedly stolen from Andrew Burns of Snyder, 3412 Ave. M, Aug. 31. When last seen, the car was bearing a RLH-242 license plate.

Also reported yesterday was a criminal mischief complaint. Kerrie Palmer, operator of the local ambulance service, told police someone had entered her ambulance and had damaged an oxygen bottle and gauge. Damage in that incident was estimated at $175.

Spouses may exchange a community interest in property owned or to be acquired for a community interest in other community property. ## Cats Better Than Loss Shows Says Head Coach Snyder's 14-13 loss to Big Spring last Friday was a mild upset around the area and a bigger one to the Tiger coaching staff, but it hasn't stopped Coach Mike Jenkins from believing in his players.

"I think we're going to have a good football team. It really hurt the kids, and of course the coaches, when we lost. That's important. If it didn't seem to hurt the kids to lose it would worry me a lot more," Jenkins said before workouts Tuesday.

"We're not going to feel sorry for ourselves though. We're going to try to use it as a stepping stone."

Snyder took a 13-0 lead in the game and appeared to be headed towards a victory until Big Spring rallied to put 14 quick points on the board. Neither team scored after the second quarter.

"We just didn't play well. We told the kids the loss was a team effort. We weren't executing well. It wasn't any one area," the coach said. He added, "I think we're a better team than what we showed Friday night. Inexperience has something to do with it, but we just didn't prepare them well enough."

Making the outcome almost more depressing was the fact that Snyder looked good in both of its scrimmages - much better, in fact, than it did in the season opener.

The clincher in the game was second half field position.

"Our kicking game and their kicking game," said Jenkins. "They did a good job of keeping us in our own end of the field with their kicking game. When you look up and have 80 or 90 yards to travel, it's hard for your offense to get going. It (the kicking game) is really important early in the season when so many teams are inexperienced. Hopefully ours will get better as the season progresses."

Keith McClain, who sat out the entire second half, will probably not see action against Midland Lee this week, noted Jenkins. The senior tailback, who gained 74 yards in the first half, has been bothered with lower back problems for several weeks. Coaches hope that holding him out a week will ease the problems. Perry Echols, tight end, will take over at one-running back slot for the time being.

Snyder hosts Lee at 8 p.m. Friday, the team's final non-conference game of the season. The Tigers open the 2-AAAA campaign Sept. 19 against Sweetwater, a 48-0 winner over Clyde last week. Sweetwater and Big Spring meet in Big Spring this weekend.

Phillies Creep Closer Towards Idle Montreal

By The Associated Press Tug McGraw earned his first win in five decisions this season - his first triumph since last Sept. 18 in St. Louis - Monday night with 2-3 innings of scoreless, two-hit relief as the Phillies beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-2.

The victory moved the Phillies within one-half game of the idle Montreal Expos in the National League East Division race.

In other NL games Monday night, the Cincinnati Reds beat the Atlanta Braves 6-1 and the Chicago Cubs topped the St. Louis Cardinals 6-2.

In the American League, the Yankees beat the Toronto Blue Jays 7-4. Baltimore took a doubleheader from Detroit 9-2, 8-6; Boston trimmed Seattle 10-4; Chicago edged Seattle 3-2 in 12 innings; California defeated Kansas City 7-4 and Texas turned back Oakland 6-2.

and ignited a four-run eighth inning rally against Enrique Romo, 5-5, and Kent Tekulve.

Reds 6, Braves 1
Fran Pastore, 11-6, allowed only six hits before leaving with a finger blister in the eighth inning and drove in two runs with a single in Cincinnati's five-run first inning. The Reds moved within 4 1/2 games of idle Los Angeles in the NL West race and ended Atlanta's winning string at seven games.

Rangers 6, A's 2
John Butcher, stepping in for suspended Ferguson Jenkins, made his major league debut by pitching a six-hitter to lead Texas over Oakland.

A two-run homer by John Grubb in the fifth inning gave Texas a 3-2 lead and Rusty Staub homered leading off the sixth off A's Brian Kingman, 7-17.

Dallas Whips Washington, 17-3...

White Overcomes Early Jitters

WASHINGTON (AP) Danny White, by his own admission, was a near basket-case before making his debut as the replacement for retired superstar Roger Staubach as the Dallas Cowboys quarterback.

"I was going crazy all day in the hotel room," said White after the Cowboys defeated the Washington Redskins 17-3 Monday night. "I couldn't wait until I could get to the stadium."

"I had butterflies and was really jittery in the lockerroom," he continued. "I even made them move the clock from behind a blackboard so I could see the second hand go around, waiting to go out on the field."

White, a five-year veteran who spent one year in the World Football League, said the nervousness began to leave him during the warmups and he settled down to normal after the opening Dallas drive.

"I have a lot to prove, not only to myself, but to everybody," admitted White, who completed 10 of 18 passes for 107 yards, but threw two interceptions. "I'm not a proven quarterback, yet. If I could have those two interceptions back, I would be very happy with the game."

The Cowboys had a relative easy time in handling

Washington, shutting the Redskins out until Mark Moseley hit a 45-yard field goal in the fourth quarter.

Tony Dorsett scored on a 6-yard touchdown run and Ron Springs bulled over from the 4, to culminate two long drives by the Cowboys.

Cowboys defensive end Harvey Martin, a leader of the gang that held the Redskins to 58 yards rushing, said, "I'm not taking anything away from the Redskins. We just wanted it more than they did. We just stuck it in their face."

Both White and Martin said a key play was the goal line interception by veteran Charlie Waters.

The win also dropped the third-place Pirates two games behind the Phillies and Philadelphia Manager Dallas Green said, "Pittsburgh has dominated us this year, so it was an especially good victory. We want to beat the teams we have to beat, and they're one of them."

Greg Luzinski's run-scoring single broke a 2-2 tie

Coyotes Look To Better Outcomes On Down The Line

GAIL Borden County coach Randy Roemisch is looking for better things out of his Coyote grid team this year, despite falling to Cotton Center 26-8 last weekend.

"Overall, we had a good ballgame and we're hoping for better things next week," said the coach, whose Coyotes are playing six-man football for the first time in a number of seasons this year. The team plays at Dawson on Friday, a 62-14 winner over Hermleigh.

"Defensively, we played good sound defense except for four or five plays. We out totalled them (Cotton Center) in yardage 272 to 196. We moved well from the five to the five (yard line), but couldn't score."

Borden County also led in first downs, 5 to 3, and out passed the visitors 77 yards to none. Cotton Center has been to the state playoffs the past two years, and has been picked in several polls to repeat again this year.

Western Texas College will stage its annual "Meet The Athletes Night" this evening at 8 in the college gym.

Basketball and golf players and coaches will be introduced to the public and two short scrimmages will be held. Coach Joe Cushing's Dusters will scrimmage for a half and Larry Dunaway's Westerners will fill in the second half.

"This will be the first time we've seen these guys (Westerners) in competition together," said Dunaway. "It's really going to be an important scrimmage for us."

Following the show, the public will be able to meet the players on a personal level. Coach Dunaway plans to scrimmage his team another half afterwards, and notes that the public may stay and watch.

"One of the players featured tonight will be Bryan Baker, a sophomore transfer from West Co., Calif. Baker, who was all-league and MVP of his high school team, attended Kansas Newman College in Wichita, Kan. last year.

Baker, who also played football and ran track in high school, is 6-6, 200-pounds. He runs the 100 dash in 9.7.

Tonight's show is free to the public.

Ohio State and Alabama have maintained the top two positions in The Associated Press college football poll as two traditional powerhouses - Texas and Notre Dame - edged closer to the summit.

The Buckeyes retained the No. 1 ranking, collecting 33 first-place votes and 1,140 of a possible 1,180 points from a nationwide panel of 59 sport writers and broadcasters. But their lead over Alabama, seeking an unprecedented third straight national championship, dwindled.

Alabama, a 26-3 victor over Georgia Tech last Saturday, was tabbed No. 1 on 22 ballots and got 1,121

Jenkins Suspended

ARLINGTON (AP) Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn ordered Texas Rangers pitcher Ferguson Jenkins out of uniform with pay until he cooperates with the commissioner's office regarding narcotics possession charges in Canada.

Jenkins was arrested in Toronto Aug. 25 after his luggage was searched, and was charged with possession of small amounts of marijuana, cocaine and hashish. His trial is set for December.

The pole vault competition at the 1980 Olympics in Mexico City lasted seven hours and was won by Bob Seagren of the United States.

Oilers To Spend Day Just Catching Passes

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers have an extra day of practice this week to prepare for a Monday night game against the Cleveland Browns and Coach Bum Phillips already has that workout planned.

"We're going to spend it catching passes," Phillips said Monday in reviewing Sunday's disheartening 31-17 loss to Pittsburgh in a game that was supposed to prove the Oilers had caught up with the wending Super Bowl champions.

Houston's entire receiving corps suffered a severe case of iron hands in the first half when they dropped five catchable passes and the Steelers took a 17-0 lead.

"I don't know how to explain it," Phillips said. "We dropped some passes and we tipped some that they intercepted."

The epidemic started with Earl Campbell, who dropped one of Ken Stabler's first passes, and quickly spread to the rest of the Oiler receivers.

"I was about the last guy to drop one," wide receiver Mike Renfro said. "Then I dropped two. I couldn't figure out what was wrong. I couldn't understand why my teammates were dropping them, and then it happened to me."

The loss did not deter Phillips from his contention that the Oilers have closed the gap against the Steelers.

Mike Stipe placed first in the 6,200 Economy Tractor division at the Curry County Fair and Rodeo held here over the weekend. David Shifflett garnered a fourth place in the 9,500 Modified, a ninth in the 7,200 Modified and an

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer. You don't have to wait for Congress to cut your tax bill. You can give yourself a break instead.

Herb Paul, a partner in the management consulting and accounting firm of Touche & Ross, said most people "end up paying too much in taxes."

About two-thirds of all taxpayers take the standard deduction rather than itemizing - a practice Paul said is a mistake. "Most people, if they truly go through their records, should itemize," he said.

The standard deduction formally known as the zero-bracket amount - is $2,300 for single people and $3,400 for married couples. To decide whether to itemize, you have to figure out whether your deductions add up to more than the standard amount.

Here are some questions to consider:

-Are you buying a house? More than half of all families are, and Paul said most of them should itemize so they can take advantage of deductions for mortgage interest and property taxes.

-Do you live in a place where there are relatively high state and local income taxes? If you itemize, you can deduct these taxes on your federal return.

-Do you throw away old clothes and furniture? Give them to charity and get a receipt. The donation is deductible.

-Do you use credit cards and pay off your bills a little bit at a time? The interest is deductible - if you itemize.

-Do you spend more than average on items on which there is a sales tax? Paul said the estimates for sales-tax deductions in the government - provided tables are too low for many people. If you keep even a rough record of your spending, you will probably find extra dollars to deduct, particularly if you have made a major purchase like an automobile.

"There are little techniques that ease the tax burden," Paul said, and one of them is timing. You may be able to lump your deductions together in one year so it pays to itemize.
