

More Rains Due In Flood Areas

Floodwaters were beginning to recede over much of West and Central West Texas today, but forecasters were predicting more rains before a storm system vacated the area.

High water plagued Southeast Scurry County and Nolan County, interrupting highway traffic, flooding homes in Roscoe and sweeping away a bridge and a portion of roadbed on the Roscoe. Snyder and Pacific Railroad about 24 miles southeast of Snyder.

However, the weather news wasn't all bad.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District reported that Lake E.V. Spence at Robert Lee had recorded a vertical rise of eight feet, which represents over 30,000 acre feet of water. O.H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager, said Lake Spence was still catching water and that the ultimate gain might go as high as 45,000 acre feet. This would make it the biggest single oatch for the lake.

Little or no runoff had been logged at Lake J.B. Thomas. However, there were reports of heavy showers in some portions of Borden County this morning, and water district officials were hoping these would put some water into Lake Thomas.

If Lake Spence catches 45,000 acre feet, it will mean a total of 146,000 acre feet impounded there. Lake Thomas now has 25,000 acre feet, which is about 1,000 acre feet more than it had at his time last year.

Snyder received 1.50 inches in its official gauge during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today, making an official total of 2.65 for the three days.

U.S. Highway 84, which was blocked by a washout 24 miles southeast of Snyder yesterday, had one lane reopened to traffic early today.

The last gasp of Tropical Storm Danielle dumped record amounts of rain Tuesday on San Angelo and forced officials to open floodgates on swollen lakes for the second day in a row.

NWS officials said San Angelo had received 6.10 inches by 7 p.m. Tuesday, a new 24-hour record.

Red Cross and Salvation Army officials have opened two shelters in San Angelo to house flood victims. No estimates were available of how many persons had taken refuge Tuesday night.

Officials said Concho and Runnels counties received as much as nine inches of rain Tuesday - closing roads, drowning livestock and forcing the evacuation of a trailer camp and several homes.

The Colorado River near Ballinger - in Runnels County crested at 21 feet Tuesday, three feet above flood level and at 39 feet near San Saba, nine feet above its flood stage.

The San Saba River and Elm Creek, also near Ballinger, crested Tuesday at three to seven feet above flood level. Officials said floodwaters began receding late Tuesday.

Water from a 6-inch rainfall in Sweetwater swept across Interstate 20, closing the east-west highway for several hours Tuesday.

Wednesday update

For Gasoline Tax Hike

PLANO (AP)-Texas Gov. Bill Clements predicts higher tuition for state universities will be signed into law next session and indicated he may propose an increase in the state's 5-cent gasoline tax.

For years, he said, the Legislature has run a deficit in its highway fund while the public believed highways were being built and maintained from the gasoline "user" tax.

The tax has not been increased in 30 years, he added, and the deficit in that account is running $300 million a year.

Baby Formulas Regulated

WASHINGTON (AP)-Spurred by the marketing of deficient infant formulas that caused serious problems for dozens of babies, Congress has passed a bill designed to guarantee that artificial mother's milk contains all the nutrients needed for proper development.

The legislation, approved in the House Tuesday by voice vote, had earlier passed the Senate. The measure now goes to President Carter, who is expected to sign it into law.

"It will give us the very useful and needed authority to help us regulate infant formula," said spokesman Wayne L. Pines of the Food and Drug Administration.

Ready To Admit Aliens

DALLAS (AP)-Dallas public schools are prepared to open their doors to children of illegal aliens "within an hour" if ordered to do so by a federal judge, Superintendent Linus Wright said Tuesday.

Wright, addressing about 150 Mexican aliens, their children and supporters at a school board meeting, said Dallas Independent School District officials expect a ruling Monday by U.S. District Judge Robert M. Hill "that the children be admitted. The staff will be ready to move after that decision."

Hill told the school district Monday it could not continue to deny an education to the illegal aliens unless it could prove admitting them would cause extraordinary harm. Wright said he did not believe the district could meet that test.

Merger Pledged By Libya, Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)- Syria and Libya today proclaimed the merger of their two countries into an 11 million strong Arab state pledged to renewing the fight against Israel.

The statement said Syrian and Libyan leaders will meet again within a month to complete the physical structure of the new state.

It did not say who will be the president of the new nation, nor what it will be called. Informed sources said there will probably be a joint presiding council that will be headed by Assad and Khadafy on a rotating basis.

Khadafy proposed merging his oil-rich North African nation with Syria last week to build a united front for a new offensive against Israel. Syria presumably would be the base for such an offensive since it shares a border with the Jewish state.

Assad arrived in Tripoli Monday to a welcome by thousands of Libyans shouting "unity, unity."

He and Assad held extensive discussions on the merger plan, the official Syrian news agency said.

The agency also reported that Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Halim Khadad left for the Saudi Arabian capital of Riyadh, the first stop on a tour of six Arab capitals where he will explain the merger.

Ask Us

Q-Is the new FM radio station here going to be mostly music, or mostly advertising and local interest programs?

A-Mel Gilbert, executive vice president, tells us that KNSY-FM is a station featuring what the industry calls "good music." And, if you have been listening since it began test broadcasts last week, you know by now that there are few interruptions to the music. And, incidentally, comments on the programming so far have been highly favorable.

Snyder Scene In Travel-Log

Snyder will be spotlighted in "Permain Journeys," a video travel-log presenting a sampler of over 120 Permain Basin attractions. Visitors are invited to see this unique film featuring 45 area towns during the Permain Basin Fair & Exposition, Sept. 10-14 at Ector County Coliseum, Odessa.

The travel-log, sponsored and produced by El Paso Products "Company of Odessa, a major petrochemical producer, will be shown in the company's booth. President J. Virgil Waggoner stated, "We began this project to assist our own employees in planning family oriented, fuel saving recreational trips within easy drive of home. We found the area offers so much that we decided to share our discoveries with all the Fair visitors."

Attractions included are Snyder's Diamond M Museum and the Scurry County Museum.

Personnel Changes Get School Board Approval

Personnel changes were the major items on the agenda of the meeting of the Snyder Consolidated Independent School District's Board of Trustees last night.

Board members approved the resignation of Thomasine Daniels, an early childhood aide at Humble-Smith. Also approved was the hiring of Gary Moore as a social studies teacher and coach at the junior high, Dale Ash as a physical education teacher at Central, Sharon Fitts as a resource teacher at Central, Julia Tovia as a kindergarten aide at Northeast, and Betty Thompson as an early childhood aide at Humble-Smith.

Reassignments were also okayed by trustees. Included in them were Martha Fagin from choral, East Elementary to choral, Junior High; Sherry Patterson, from second grade at West to fourth grade at West; Billie Harding, from English at high school to librarian at Northeast; Betty Richardson, from sixth grade at Central to second grade at Central; Faye Cook, from fifth grade at North to third grade at West; Bill

Boles, from tennis and English at high school to tennis and science at junior high; Martha Schiebel, from health at high school to English at high school; Polly Autry, from first grade at North to second grade at North; and Alice Gray, from third grade at East to fourth grade at East.

Other reassignments approved last night were LaNelle Ramin, from sixth grade at East to fifth grade at East; Joe Ann Williams, from third grade at Northeast to fifth grade at Northeast; June McGlaun, from fourth grade at Northeast to second grade at Northeast; Mildred White, from fifth grade at Northeast to fourth grade at Northeast; Christine Bradley, from fifth grade at Northeast to fourth grade at Northeast; Venona Gilstrap, from first grade at Northeast to third grade at Northeast; Sandra Baker, from second grade at Northeast to

Says CRMWD Manager...

Water Demand Caused By Weather, Growth

The 1980 summer season (June, July and August) produced a 38.4 per cent increase over that of 1979 for deliveries to cities by the Colorado River Municipal Water District. The long range implication of this, however, was that the demand stepped up the rate of increase over the past half dozen years.

During the three-month period this summer, the district delivered 5,507 billion gallons to its municipal customers, an increase of 1,138 billion gallons over the same time in 1979. Admittedly, the past summer was unusually hot and dry, but the record demand for water also reflected an accelerated growth by cities served by the district, in the opinion of O.H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD.

For the five years prior to this summer, there has been an average annual growth of 5 per cent in municipal demands. This summer's all-time peak accelerated this to a rate of 6 per cent over the past six years. Even if the 5 per cent rate were maintained over the next five years, the district in 1985 will be facing a normal summer demand of 5,872,000,000 gallons as compared with the average of 4,600,000,000 gallons for the past six years.

"Regardless of how much of this year's 38.4 per cent summer gain over the same period in 1979 is due to drought and heat," said Ivie, "it is clear that the water needs of cities are rising steadily, and some areas dramatically. We must look to expanded supplies if we are to deliver water as our cities expect."

The Stacy reservoir, now hung up on an appeal in the courts, becomes all the more imperative. But even when Stacy is built, water pumped 1,500 feet uphill over a distance of 150 miles is expensive and limited to pipeline capacity. Therefore, from the point of protecting the western part of the system during periods of peak summer demand and at the same time modifying over-all costs with cheaper pumping costs nearer to point of delivery, we need to develop additional ground water resources."

The SDN Column

We had not thought about it, until someone asked about our mosquito-politico story, but the hot, dry summer solved one seasonal problem. There were very few mosquitoes around after the scorching days of summer. A situation that had the makings of a real problem at the outset of the "vacation season" was erased very effectively by Mother Nature.

But, getting back to our mosquito-politico story, we mentioned it several years ago in this column and had all but forgotten it ourselves.

It involved this politician down there in East Texas who promised some voters in a community that, if elected to office, he would move a well-known fishing stream about 15 miles away and bring it into their community. He knew, of course, that the community was inhabited by some avid fishermen.

He got elected and the vote in this community played a decisive role in his successful campaign.

So, a year later, it seemed only logical that some of his constituents in the community would ask when he planned to move the creek.

The politician was startled at first, but a season of campaigning had prepared him for such emergencies. "Well, you see, I started on that project back in the spring, but after I moved the mosquitoes that go with it, I got so many complaints that I dropped it," he explained.

If he had gone to college, that country politician might have become another Einstein-type genius.

It is said that when Einstein joined the staff of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, he was asked how much salary he would require. He told the directors that he would leave that up to them, but they insisted that he name a figure.

Finally, Einstein suggested that they talk to his wife. "Let her decide," he said. "Then she won't be able to complain that I don't give her enough money to run the house."

Presidential Debate Without A President?

By The Associated Press
As of today, the presidential debates of 1980 will not include the president. As of today, Republican nominee Ronald Reagan will appear in the debates, along with independent candidate John B. Anderson. But he will not be in any separate debate with President Carter, which is what Carter insists on before he'll take part in a three-way debate.

First of all, the League of Women Voters, sponsor of the debates, has invited representatives of the three candidates to meet today to discuss ground rules for its first debate, tentatively scheduled Sept. 21 in Baltimore.

The basic shape of the debates took form Tuesday as the league announced that Anderson had, in its opinion, "clearly demonstrated voter interest and support, as indicated in a number of nationwide public opinion polls."

Thus, it invited Anderson to the first debate and

return of hoffman

Well, Abbie Hoffman is back among us. Although as it turns out, he never really was away. The clown prince of the radical '60s spent his underground '70s crusading for the environment, testifying before congressional committees, being appointed to federal commissions, tending his tomato garden in full view of upstate New York neighbors and getting acquainted with middle age. The founder of the Youth International Party is now 43.

It just goes to show where a little plastic surgery and a lot of gall can get you.

And as if all this weren't enough to keep a fugitive busy, Abbie also found time to keep in touch with the family. He got together regularly with brother Jack, often at baseball games. It seems he has an establishment weakness - he's a Red Sox fan.

For sister Phyllis, the wife of a Mexican government official, there was less fun in the rendezvous game. On one attempt, she had to shake her bodyguards before meeting at a theater.

It was a harrowing experience, she confided in a UPI report: "No one (in Mexico) goes to the movies by themselves... 'Psst', a man whispers to me. I didn't know if the guy was coming on to me or if it was Abbie. I was so scared that I left."

Throughout the six underground years, Abbie was also available for interviews at the drop of a newspaper's suggestion to his numerous above-ground contacts. In one of the last, a pre-surrender outpouring to the Washington Post, he made it clear that the nose might be new but otherwise he was the same old Abbie.

"I'm very very upset about the myth of the (figure from the '60s... who went cynical in the '80s... I want people to know I'm not coming back embracing the system... I'm coming back fighting."

If he says so. Still, fighting spirit seems to have less to do with his surrender to New York state authorities on narcotics and bail-jumping charges than sense of timing.

As Abbie sees it, the times they have a changed Vietnam is still a sensitive but no longer an inflamed issue. There is less hysteria about drugs. And three years of dickering at a distance on surrender conditions apparently have given him some hope of drawing less than the 15 years to life conviction could bring.

Also he has a new book out, ripe for promotion. Talk about your full lives. And with so much of it still ahead of him, one wonders what Abbie can possibly do for an encore.

Maybe his book provides a clue. It's titled "Soon to Become a Major Motion Picture."

my turn

by korbi sanders

Hello. My name is Korbi Sanders, and I'm not running for president, I've never been to Libya and I didn't shoot J.R.

But I am your new society editor and will be filling this slot, on Wednesday hopefully with words of wisdom or wit, or neither or both.

I was trying to decide my first subject while watching television Saturday night when the Miss America 1981 pageant aired.

If you missed it, you missed an interesting pageant. It wasn't the competition that was interesting, for as usual, a beautiful, brainy opera singer won the crown. But the interesting feature of this pageant was its new emcee, Tarzan, alias Ron Ely. Ely replaced Burt Parks who left his long-standing position with the show.

It is easy to see why Ely became the new "Mr. America." After all, he's already been king of the jungle. All of those years romping through the jungle and playing with the animals, saving damsels in distress and fighting evil have kept Ely tan, trim and muscled-in other words, a "hunk" (handsome, unique, nice, knock-out). All of his jungle activity was probably good training for booging with the beauties in between finalist competition.

Ely also traded in his "swinging" for singing. One of the biggest kept mysteries next to who shot J.B. was whether or not Ely would sing. There she is, Miss America, as the new queen took her first walk. Speculation was that during the walk, a taped version of Parks' voice would be played, or just the orchestra would play, or that the former ape man would give his animal call to honor the new queen.

But he did sing it and did a good job. His rendition of the traditional song was much quieter than Parks', but his deep resonant voice has probably given him image. He even traded in his faithful companions, the jungle boy and Cheetah, for two blonde former beauty queens to stay by his side during the show.

However, it will take a few more years as host to the pageant before Ely's new image takes hold. Even though he added a new sparkle and life to the show, I found myself looking for the lush overgrowth of the jungle and a few wild animals roaming around.

I came up with an idea that might make the transition a little easier for everyone - especially those old Tarzan fans who still catch their favorite hero every Sunday on reruns. Next year, the show could have a jungle setting. Cheetah could deliver the envelope. Tarzan could still be king, and the beauties would have their chance for the title crown. The show could be entitled "Miss America 1982: The Call of the Wild."

Jodie Foster To Stay Out Of Dramatics

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) - Actress Jodie Foster, who entered Yale University this week, said she has promised herself not to get involved in college dramatics.

Miss Foster, star of 13 motion pictures before her 17th birthday, including "Foxes" and "Taxi," said Thursday she would concentrate on classes but would make another film during vacations. She called her first day of classes Thursday the "best day of my life."

I had never heard the expression "gridlock" before until the deputy commissioner of transportation used it recently in New York. It's a term used to describe a condition where traffic comes to a complete standstill, becomes totally paralyzed and unable to move anywhere.

He said he has been close to it but has never really seen it. I have. Lots of times.

The last time I encountered "gridlock" was when I was picking my children up at a rock concert. It was a terrifying experience. Nothing was moving in the entire parking lot. Everywhere you looked, car lights burned... their beams frozen as if they had been abandoned. No one spoke. We just sat there in silence, each one harboring his own private fears. Finally, I beat on the steering wheel and shouted, "I don't believe this! I'm going to die and I still have a half a tank of gas! It's not fair!"

It was hours before the nightmare ended, but it gave me a chance to observe people during a traffic snarl.

A good 48 percent of drivers in a traffic jam subscribe to the theory, "Don't just sit there. Honk your horn." Some people have never heard what their horn sounds like. Not these drivers. They use it every time a light turns green... every time they pull into a driveway... every time a 97-year-old woman gets caught in the intersection.

A good 38 percent of the horn-honkers are also hood-viewers and trailblazers. They can't wait until "film at 11." In their impatience to know what in the Sam Hill is going on and why they are inconvenienced, they will climb on top of the car hood. When their curiosity is not satisfied, they will pull out into the oncoming lane, thus blocking all emergency vehicle routes.

Probably the most intriguing characters at a "gridlock" are the less than 1/2 percent who slip into a phone booth, change into a T-shirt with a red S on it and start directing traffic. I'm convinced it's a fantasy for someone who always wanted the challenge of being a social director on the Titanic. I read recently where there was a near gridlock condition at a large office building each morning when husbands dropped their wives off at work and snarled traffic with prolonged goodbye kisses. It's not that I don't believe the story. Let us just say I've seen husbands kiss their wives and most of them could plant one on from a moving commuter train. But what the heck - If you have to die in snarled traffic, you might as well go with your motor running.

john cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) - The disputes between Republicans and Democrats, big as they seem to be at election time, may not have a small percentage of the emotional content of issues that separate landlords and tenants.

And the biggest of these issues - growing bigger by the day because of inflation, oil prices, politics, a housing shortage and a changing concept of who has rights to what - is rent control.

Militant tenants, claiming their rights to homes supersede the rights of owners to raise rents, have formed resistance groups throughout the country, and earlier this year a National Tenants Union was formed.

Owners, claiming they no longer can operate buildings profitably, especially where heating bills are highest, have sought huge rent increases and, when stymied, have hurried to convert to cooperatives.

The two groups, already scrapping in a thousand and one skirmishes, seem headed for a showdown that could, say representatives of both sides, result in a redefinition of private property rights.

Hopes of averting the showdown are limited by the hard realities, one of which is the growing shortage of housing units. Frustrated by tight money, small builders have almost ceased activities in some areas. Apartment builders claim mortgage rates prohibit construction.

Even if housing starts rose sharply, various housing officials say, millions of potential homebuyers making a median income of close to $20,000, would be unable to afford the $60,000 to $70,000 price tags. Demographics add to the problem. Close to 40 million Americans will reach age 30, a typical homebuying age, in the decade of the 1980s. A shortage is likely even if housing starts double to 2 million a year.

As the situation becomes critical, the issues have become politicized, especially in regard to rent control. Aware of a large and growing constituency, candidates and officeholders have stirred up activity.

Once restricted to urban areas, rent control legislation now has invaded even small communities, and it seems destined to spread from multifamily apartment houses to buildings of only a few rental units. Ironically, because of these fears, some large investors list the political climate as the No. 1 investment issue, more important even than the availability or the price of construction funds.

In New York, where "temporary" or "emergency" rent controls have existed since 1943, some large builders avoid the city as a disease, and landlords have abandoned thousands of buildings. The result of abandonment and minimal construction, of course, is to exacerbate an already serious shortage of housing.

Worse, the situation seems to have hardened the opposite viewpoints of tenants and landlord, and set them on a confrontation course.

Widows wore appropriate garb. Davis says they laid aside their ornaments, unbound their hair and did not anoint their face. When Tamar played the role of harlot, she put aside her widow's garments. "And she put her widow's garments off from her..." - Gen. 38:14

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Recent warnings by Saudi Arabia of sharp cutbacks in Arab oil shipments to the U.S. take us back to the pre-OPEC days when similar warnings were ignored. It took the 1973 oil boycott to force this country to face the unpleasant reality of our dependence on foreign energy supplies.

Seven years later, how much better prepared are we to deal with that dangerous reality?

We seem to have made some progress, almost in spite of ourselves. We can all be heartened by the 12 percent drop in oil imports this year, thanks to market pressures, increased domestic production and conservation efforts. As we move toward decontrol of oil and gas prices, we can expect that those influences will continue control of our usage patterns. In spite of one of the most serious blights on the long-range energy picture - passage of the Windfall Profits Tax - domestic production has increased temporarily. We have also tripled funding for solar energy research and development from last year, along with other commitments to development of other renewable energy sources.

All of these steps are vital to any long-range energy policy. But what of our short-range emergency capabilities to deal with another crippling boycott?

Congress voted down the first attempt at a rationing plan to deal with such an emergency in early 1979. I voted against that preliminary plan because it had no provisions for a target amount of shortages, or "trigger" mechanisms. I fully supported a later bill which authorized the President to devise a plan, requiring a 20 percent shortfall for 30 days before rationing could be put into effect. That measure was passed.

Why then did I vote to block implementation of the Administration's proposal later? I objected - as I still object - to Congress's refusal to accept their responsibility to the people and to make use of a procedural vote such as this was to "duck" the issue. If we, as an elected body, were in favor of a rationing plan, we should have reflected those feelings with legislative votes rather than taking the easy way out and accepting, by procedural vote, the Administrative proposal that we had not thoroughly considered and debated on the House floor, parts of which are already causing Members to have serious second thoughts about the plan.

A less serious objection (and one overridden by the recent Saudi warning) was that once the door was open, so to speak, Congress would be pressured into dropping that trigger level to a less desirable, non-emergency level. For instance, the long gas lines formed last year with only a 6 percent shortfall. That was an inconvenience, to be sure, but not a true emergency which warranted rationing. In such a case, rationing would be used as the primary tool to cut usage instead of relying on conservation methods and market pressures first.

While I remain philosophically opposed to rationing, no one can deny that if we reached the point of a 20 percent shortfall, we would have no better choice. I also agree that the time to make provisions for such an emergency is now, not after another boycott has been announced. But, as a Congressman, elected by the people as their voice in such serious matters, I would rather that rationing plan had received a more thorough hearing before implementation.

Your Birthday

Sept. 11, 1980

Over the coming months things relating to your finances or security should begin to improve. Once you accumulate a bit of surplus, bank it. Don't blow it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Gains can be made today, but it may be necessary to cast some bread on the waters first. Sometimes one must spend money in order to make money. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Members of the opposite sex find you an interesting person to begin with, but today you may have even more allure than usual. It could be your nonchalant air.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You could be very lucky materially today, owing to rather strange circumstances. Be alert for a peculiar twist that might spell profit.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Even though you're a bit of a daydreamer today, what you envision will still be practical and attainable. Fancies can become facts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Recognition and achievement are extremely important to you today. That is why you'll be willing to put forth the extra effort a runner-up wouldn't exercise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Where others may have problems recognizing what is truthful, you will not be so easily deceived today. Trust your instincts when weighing evidence.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Progress is likely today regarding a secret ambition you've been hoping to fulfill. Take care, however, that you don't make any premature announcements.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Diplomacy and persuasion can accomplish for you what bossy methods can't. You know how to get others to do your bidding without arousing resentment.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your intuition regarding a situation affecting your work or career is right on the button today. Don't disregard strong feelings or hunches.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your organizational abilities are especially keen today. You are particularly good at picking the right people for things they can do well.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It may take you a bit longer than others to get things done today, but the big difference is that what you'll do will be done to perfection.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Those with whom you associate today will know you mean business, even when your demands are couched in friendly phrases. You're gentle, yet forceful. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Art Rules Are Given For Fair

Any artist is eligible to enter the fine arts division of the Scurry County Fair Sept. 18-20 at the Scurry County Coliseum.

Superintendents for this division will be the Snyder Palette Club.

All art work entered in the division must be original and must be matted or framed and wired for hanging. Paintings should not be over two years old, should be the work of the exhibitor and must not have been previously shown at the fair. All paintings should be completely dry before entering. There is no size limit on the paintings. Each artist may enter four works of art per division.

In the adult division, artwork may be entered as professional and non-professional. There are divisions for junior and high school students. Children's divisions include pre-school to six years, first through third grades and fourth through sixth grades.

Mimeographed, stencil or templates will not be accepted in the children's division. Each artwork should be original as in the adult division.

Categories in the adult division include oil paintings and acrylic, watercolor opaque and translucent, drawings, graphics, collage, photography, pastels and miscellaneous. Sculpture will also be included.

Ribbons will be awarded in each class for first, second, third and honorable mention. Three overall best ribbons will also be awarded. The judge's decision will be final.

Persons interested in entering should contact Patsy Ray, president of Palette Club, at 573-6838.

Mrs. Roy Cov has returned from Victorville, Calif., where she attended the funeral of her mother, Mrs. Ollie Thompson. Mrs. Thompson had been in poor health for some time.

Mrs. Eltine Davis of Midland visited her mother, Mrs. Raymond Lloyd the past weekend. Jon and David Patrick of Snyder were also visitors.

Mrs. Rella Young and Mrs. Elree Baremore attended the wedding of Richard Martin and Lori Hubbard Aug. 30th, which

Farah, O'Neal Plan To Wed

VENICE, Italy (AP)—It's a Venetian love story for former "Charlie's Angel" Farrah Fawcett and actor Ryan O'Neal, who say they will marry here "soon."

Miss Fawcett and O'Neal, guests of Italian fashion designer Roberta di Camerino, showed up at St. Mark's Square over the weekend to help distribute trophies to the winners of the Campiello prizes, one of the most prestigious literature awards in Italy. "I am very happy, and let me tell you Venice is the most beautiful city in the world," said Miss Fawcett, who previously was married to actor Lee Majors.

was held in Midland. Mrs. Charles Stubblefield of San Antonio and son Todd visited Mr. and Mrs. Theo Soules and the Coy Nichols of Sweetwater recently.

Boyce Jones has returned from the V.A. Hospital in Dallas and is doing well. Mrs. Carl Gray was hospitalized at Cogdell Hospital in Snyder from Saturday until Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Zalman who is in the Cogdell Hospital at Snyder is doing well.

Mrs. Rachel Lassiter, mother of Adala Drennan, suffered from a bad fall last Friday and is in Cogdell Hospital in room 158. She sustained a broken bone and bruises.

At both tables the 10 of spades was opened against three notrump. At table one, South won in dummies led a low club and played his 10 after East followed with the four. Ten minutes later he was down one and explained how unlucky he had been.

At table two, South won in his own hand and led the deuce of clubs. West played his singleton king and South had his two club tricks and the match. He explained how skillfully he had played the clubs.

Neither knew the simple safety play of laying down the ace to make sure of two club tricks against any possible club distribution. Incidentally, declarer number one tried the best line to produce three club tricks. That led to the 10 followed by the play of the ace would get three if East held either K x, Q x, K Q or K Q x and would have a 37 percent chance of success. But he needed two only.

This and similar hands have been appearing in bridge columns for years. South is in three notrump and needs two club tricks in order to fulfill his game contract. There is a perfect safety play available here, but it is remarkable that many good players don't seem to know it.

Man Stabbed For Nickle

HOUSTON (AP)—A 20-year-old Houston man was stabbed to death Tuesday because he lacked a nickle of being able to pay a 75-cent gambling debt, investigators said.

Michael Rooks died at a Houston home Tuesday afternoon, and a 17-year-old boy was held for questioning, police said.

Witnesses told police Rooks owed the suspect 75 cents from a dice game, but had only 70 cents.

Mrs. Bohanna

Funeral service has been set for 10 a.m. Thursday in the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel for Mrs. Lucille Bohanna, 57, who died at 6 p.m. Tuesday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The Rev. Buck Hatfield, pastor of Faith Baptist Church, will officiate, and burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mrs. Bohanna, who lived at 2513 27th St., was a native of Wynona, Okla. She was married in 1956 in Shreveport, La., to Glenn Bohanna, who survives. Also surviving is her mother, Mrs. Rudy Husted of Snyder.

Mrs. Hamil

Mrs. Lora Christine Hamil, 72, retired Snyder teacher, died at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday in Methodist Hospital at Lubbock.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Friday in the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery.

A native of Red River County, she was married on Dec. 24, 1932, at Merkel to Dan Hamil, who survives.

She had taught in public schools here for 31 years before her retirement. She had lived in Scurry County since 1925 and was a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Two Mishaps Reported Here

Two traffic accidents have been investigated by city police.

The first occurred at noon Tuesday at Snyder High School and involved a 1969 Dodge driven by Sam Casey and a parked 1973 Ford owned by Felipe Estrada. The accident was investigated by Sgt. Ed Covington.

The next accident was at 4:25 p.m. Tuesday at Lot A-Burger and was worked by Don Whittenburg. In it, a 1978 Dodge driven by Maria Velasquez was in collision with a 1979 Volkswagen driven by Bobby Stansell of Fluvanna.

Dr. Tarter

Dr. Cleo W. Tarter, well-known West Texas educator and brother of two Snyder residents, died Tuesday night in Hendrick Medical Center at Abilene. Funeral arrangements were to be made at North's Funeral Home in Abilene.

Dr. Tarter was the brother of Carl Tarter and Mrs. Charlene Dyess of Snyder.

He began his career in education as elementary principal at Fluvanna and in 1975 retired as vice president for academic affairs at McMurry College. In between he served as school superintendent

Chandler Rites

Services for Theodore "Tom" Chandler were held at 10 this morning in the Stamford Central Presbyterian Church. Burial was in Mount Hope Cemetery in Anson.

Chandler died Thursday in Stamford Memorial Hospital. He was born Oct. 5, 1906 in Corrigan, Texas. He

New Owners For Food Baskets

Snyder's four Food Basket convenience stores have been purchased by C&W Food Enterprises, a convenience store chain headquartered in San Angelo.

The four Food Baskets went under new management Aug. 30, although the final business deal was not completed until Monday, said C.A. "Mac" McCown who started the local chain.

McCown entered the convenience store business in 1973, and acquired the last of the Foodbaskets in 1976. McCown was formerly the office manager for the local Sun Oil Co. plant and is a 29-year resident of Snyder.

McCown said he will retain and operate Sparkle City Ice, but indicated he anticipates moving its location.

"I appreciate the people of Snyder and surrounding towns of Scurry County and I hope I have served the people in the right manner," said McCown. "My wife and I wish to express our deep appreciation for the many patrons we have met during the time of our business."

DEBATE

Anderson of course, accepted. "I eagerly look forward to the opportunity to meet my two opponents face-to-face and discuss the major issues of the election before the American people," he said.

But Robert Strauss, Carter's campaign chairman, had other ideas about that first debate, regarded as most important because it draws the biggest television audience.

Strauss said the president was sticking by his demand that he must first debate Reagan head-to-head before taking part in a three-man contest. Reagan insisted Anderson be included in any debate.

That left the presidential debate sans president as the big political news of the day, and the networks deciding what they should do with the first contest. Only CBS said for sure it would broadcast the debate live, with NBC and ABC saying they would decide later.

first grade at Northeast; Florence Lewis, from kindergarten at East to kindergarten at Central; Cindy Lickey, from sixth grade at Northeast to gifted and talented program systemwide; and Rebecca Harper, from resource at Central to resource at junior high.

In other action, trustees granted a one year approval to a girls' golf program that will be started in the spring and to a Western Texas College golf course rental.

Board members authorized Superintendent Bill J. Hood to advertise for bids the lots the school has acquired through delinquent taxes. All but one of the lots are in the Chambers Addition. In all, about 21 lots are involved in the sale.

The board also set three meeting dates. The board will meet Monday, Sept. 22, at 6:30 p.m. at K-Bob's Restaurant for a tax meeting, Tuesday, Sept. 23, at 7:30 p.m. at the high school student center for a public budget hearing, and Thursday, Oct. 2, at 7:30 p.m. at the administration building for a tax meeting.

In professional advancement reports, board members were told that Jo Ann Cotton had attained her master's degree, and that Bobbie Box and Irene Masters were 30 hours of college work above their masters' degrees. A doctor of education degree had been earned by Albert Mack Taylor.

The board also okayed the loan of three buses to be used by the chamber of commerce later this month.

The board was also shown a slide presentation on the work of the early childhood program at Humble-Smith.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For years I followed your advice. You told me not to tell my husband about the affairs I had before we were married unless I was absolutely sure he wouldn't hold it against me or throw it up to me.

Well, he kept begging and begging, promising it wouldn't make any difference, no matter how many or who they were, so I told him. There were only three, he guessed one, and the other two were surprises. He knew all of them, and now he is calling me terrible names. It's just about wrecked our marriage.

It wasn't like I was cheating on him, Abby. I wasn't his girlfriend when I went with these guys. It was a long time ago, they're all married, and I couldn't care less about them.

Now I am confused. What is a woman with a past supposed to do? She's damned if she tells, and damned if she doesn't.

SORRY I WAS HONEST

DEAR SORRY: A woman should be accepted by her husband as she is. Her past is none of his business — just as his past is none of her business. If they have the kind of relationship in which both want to let it all hang out, fine. But when one keeps begging for confessions, complete with the names and numbers of all the players, while silence is golden, it's not necessarily guilt.

DEAR ABBY: I was invited to a pool party by a friend who had been invited to bring a friend. I did not know the host.

The afternoon was spent swimming and drinking around the pool. Then we dressed in our casual wear for dinner, to be served on tables around the pool. As I sat down, I accidentally knocked over a champagne glass and it broke. The host told me where the glassware had been purchased so that I could replace it. That seemed reasonable to me, although I would not have made that suggestion to a guest of mine. (Accidents will happen.)

Well, I phoned the store the following day and learned that a single crystal champagne goblet cost $155!

No way can I afford that on my modest income. I might add, I was not drunk and the table was a glass-top type with no tablecloth to buffer a fallen goblet.

I usually don't mind paying for my mistakes, but I consider it totally inappropriate to place such costly glassware on the table for a casual swimming party. I plan to send a note of apology and enclose a check for $25 to help toward replacing said glass. What do you say?

DEAR J.: Your note and check for $25 seem reasonable to me. Find out if you are insured against such breakage. And is your host? (Many are, and don't realize it.)

DEAR ABBY: Having played in a dance band myself in the early '20s, I sure got a kick out of the letter from the orchestra leader asking for additional suggestions for songs to dedicate to couples celebrating their wedding anniversaries.

Here are a few you might want to add to his list: For the 40th anniversary: "Why Don't We Do This More Often?"

For the 50th: "Once in a While."

For the 60th: "I Can Dream, Can't I?"

By the way, the wife and I just celebrated our 59th wedding anniversary. Sign me.

Drugs Found In Crashed Plane

HELEN, Ga. (AP) — Thirty pounds of suspected methaqualone tablets, also known as Quaaludes, were found in the long-undiscovered wreckage of a Tray Mountain plane crash in which four men died, authorities said.

The tablets, discovered in a brown bag lying in the rubble, are believed to be worth about $125,000, Paul Carter of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation said Tuesday.

White County Sheriff Frank Baker said the bodies had been aboard the wrecked plane for two to three months when it was discovered Monday on the rugged northeast Georgia terrain of Tray Mountain.

The rented twin-engine Piper had been reported stolen in April, he said, but other officials said the pilot may have been returning the plane to its owners when it crashed.

Baker identified the victims as Johnson Shields, 34, of Commerce, Texas; George Lamar Townson and Gailand Hildebrand, ages unknown, of Vernon, Texas; and Herbert Carter Hill, age unknown, of Daytona Beach, Fla.

The wrecked plane was discovered by two men searching for a fall hunting spot, according to the sheriff.

Federal Aviation Administration investigators who inspected the wreckage determined that the plane had been flying from west to east, Baker added.

Carter, commander of the FBI smuggling squad, said he believed "the airplane was leased from Midwest Aircraft Sales Inc. and my understanding was that when the plane was not returned, it was reported stolen. I think that would just be standard procedure."

Based on papers and documents in the aircraft, we believe the aircraft went down some time around April 8 this year, Carter said.

Maj. C.V. Wilson of the Georgia wing of the Civil Air Patrol said the aircraft had crashed in Albany, Ga., and departed April 8 during the late night hours after the control tower closed.

The patrol launched its search about April 28, Wilson said, after the Air Force Rescue Center requested assistance. The search was suspended after six days of flying yielded no results.

Monroe On Church Staff

Mike Monroe, the new education and youth minister at East Side Church of Christ, officially began his duties Monday.

He and his wife Janet are moving in from Memphis, Tenn. Both, however, are natives of Texas. He is originally from Amarillo and is a 1976 graduate of Lubbock Christian College. His wife is from Houston.

"So far," said Monroe, "we're tickled with Snyder. The people are friendly and we've been made to feel welcome."

Five More Hearings Set...

Bilingual Proposal Argued

By MACK SISK
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO (AP)

Proposed bilingual education regulations are an unnecessary and expensive federal intervention in the public schools, administrators and school board members told a federal panel.

However, Hispanic, Vietnamese and Indian spokesmen told the U.S. Department of Education panel that bilingual education is necessary to reduce a high dropout rate among English-deficient children caused by the former "sink or swim" method of education.

The panel heard from nearly 80 witnesses before it ended a two-day hearing Tuesday. Five other hearings are scheduled around the nation before an Oct. 20 deadline.

The proposed federal regulations were to go into effect next year under threat of legal action under the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Several Hispanics said bilingual education could ease the struggle to learn English and allow English-deficient students to keep pace with their class. "I felt lost in a jungle," Arcadia Lopez described her school after immigrating from Mexico. "My teacher couldn't understand me and I couldn't understand her. My teachers considered me a mental retardee."

"I hate to tell you how many times I repeated the first grade. It was a traumatic experience," said Ms. Lopez, who taught elementary students for 46 years before her retirement.

She strongly urged the panel to approve the national guidelines despite protests from several school districts, the Texas Association of School Boards and Association of Principals and Superintendents.

She said she has been involved in bilingual education for 13 years and the students "look happier, they've participated more and done better in their studies."

Dr. D.T. Fap, a Vietnamese native, also urged approval of the regulations, contending English difficulties had made the dropout rate "alarmingly high" for Vietnamese students.

Porfirio Gustavo Cardenas, a San Antonio account executive, said his name was changed to P. Gus Cardenas by monolingual teachers who could not pronounce his name.

"I was educated" in a public school system of Texas when speaking another language was prohibited and sometimes punished.

"My first three years were a nightmare. Only help from my bilingual neighbors helped me survive," he said.

The proposed federal guidelines would require that students speaking foreign languages be taught basic skills in their native language until they learn English.

Superintendent Michael Dickson of the Magdalena, N.M., told the panel that the regulations were impossible to implement in his small school district comprised of 47 percent Navajo Indians, 34 percent Hispanics and the rest Anglos.

Dickson estimated it would cost the community of 1,000 about $125,000 a year to hire 10 teachers to comply with the act.

He added that Navajo was not a written language and in the history of the reservation, 100 miles southwest of Albuquerque, only one resident had ever graduated from a university, making it impossible to find a qualified bilingual Navajo teacher.

"In the State of New Mexico there is not a single institution to officer a bilingual program (in Navajo)," Dickson said.

He said his school board authorized him to say that the proposed regulations "may be the final straw that breaks the backs of all small school districts, and our district may seek ways to get out from under the federal government entirely."

Dr. Charles A. Patterson, superintendent in Killeen, said the federal guidelines were unnecessary in his district which, because it is near Fort Hood, had 30 different nationalities of students.

Patterson said the Killeen schools already had an effective bilingual program.

Sen. Javits Ousted By Newcomer

By MIKE SILVERMAN
Associated Press Writer
In the major surprise among 13 state primaries, Alfonse D'Amato, a little-known Long Island politician, wrestled New York's Republican senatorial nomination from Jacob Javits, forcing the 76-year-old incumbent to seek his fifth term under the banner of a third party.

Tuesday's results also saw incumbent Sen. Richard Stone of Florida forced into a Democratic runoff. The only other incumbent senators to face challenges easily won re-nomination - Democrat John Durkin in New Hampshire and Republican Paul Laxalt in Nevada.

D'Amato, presiding supervisor in the town of Hempstead, who had hit hard at Javits' liberalism, age and declining health, will face Democratic congresswoman Elizabeth Holtzman in November. She defeated three challengers, including Bess Meyerson, a former Miss America and consumer advocate, and ex-New York City mayor John Lindsay.

"We stood up under great pressure and ridicule," D'Amato told exultant supporters. "A lot of people throughout the state said, 'Al who? Supervisor of what?'"

Javits, who suffers from a progressive nerve disease that affects his walking, will appear on the ballot as nominee of the Liberal Party, and he said after his defeat: "I expect to win re-election in November." In 1970, James Buckley was elected to the Senate as New York's Conservative Party candidate.

Two congressmen indicted on charges stemming from the Abscam scandal met contrasting fates. Richard Kelly, a Florida Republican, was badly beaten by two challengers in his bid for the renomination, while John Murphy, a Democrat from New York, won his party's contest.

Lindsay's comeback bid fizzled, but some other former officeholders fared better.

Buckley, who lost a 1976 re-election bid in New York, won the Republican senatorial nomination in Connecticut and will face Democratic congressman Christopher Dodd in November for the seat being vacated by Democrat Abraham Ribicoff, who is retiring.

Meldrim Thomson, a former New Hampshire governor and onetime John Birch Society director, defeated two opponents to win the Republican nomination for his old office. The man who beat him in 1978 - Gov. Hugh Gallen - won over minor opposition in the Democratic primary.

Howard "Bo" Callaway, former Georgia congressman and Army secretary, apparently fell short in his bid for Colorado's Republican senatorial nomination. Secretary of State Mary Estill Buchanan led, but the margin was so narrow that a recount was likely under state law. The winner will face incumbent Gary Hart, who was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

In Florida, Stone, who alienated some conservative supporters who accused him of falsely leading them to think he would vote against the Panama Canal Treaties, finished on top but without a majority among six candidates for the Democratic nomination. He will compete Oct. 7 against second-place finisher Bill Gunter, the state insurance commissioner whom Stone beat in a 1974 runoff.

In other races:

ARIZONA: Bill Schulz, a millionaire businessman, defeated two other Democrats for the senatorial nomination and the right to oppose Barry Goldwater, who was unchallenged on the Republican side.

MINNESOTA: The only real battle for a congressional nomination was in the 8th District where Democratic Rep. James Oberstar defeated Thomas Dougherty, a member of the Duluth City Council.

NEVADA: Democratic Rep. Jim Santini won re-nomination and will meet the Republican nominee, Las Vegas businessman Vince Saunders, in November.

NEW HAMPSHIRE: In a race that was still very close, former state Attorney General Warren Rudman claimed victory over 10 other candidates seeking the Republican senatorial nomination and the right to oppose Durkin.

RHODE ISLAND: The best-known candidate, Rep. Edward P. Beard defeated two opponents in his bid for the Democratic nomination from the 2nd District.

UTAH: Democrats decided whether attorney Dan Berman or Ogden Mayor A. Stephen Dirks would oppose incumbent Republican Jake Garn in the race for the Senate in November, but computer problems delayed final vote results. Garn had no primary opposition.

VERMONT: Stewart Ledbetter, former state Banking and Insurance Commissioner, defeated five other candidates for the Republican senatorial nomination and will run in November against Democratic incumbent Patrick Leahy, a target of national conservative groups.

Advantage to less sodium?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR LAMB - I have no problem with salt except that I do like a normal amount and I would hate to be on a salt-free diet. Is there any advantage in having half the sodium removed? Is there any advantage to using Morton's Lite Salt? It's half sodium salt and half potassium salt. I've been using this. Would I be better off having the full amount of sodium as in regular salt?

DEAR READER - For normal healthy people who use a moderate amount of salt, it probably doesn't make a lot of difference. There are a number of well-qualified investigators who think that the high sodium intake many apparently normal people use may cause a person to develop kidney damage and high blood pressure in the course of time. However, there are large numbers of people who use a lot of salt throughout their life and it never affects their blood pressure or has any other bad effects whatever.

tablespoon of honey in a glass of warm water each morning? Or are they wasting their time? Is it harmful?

DEAR READER - Some of these hints are a bit like beauty. The effect is in the eye of the beholder. Strictly from a medical and chemical aspect, it doesn't make a particle of difference. It's neither harmful nor helpful. If a person happened to be low on vitamin C, the amount in the lemon juice might be helpful but for normal people on a normal diet, it doesn't make any difference.

Some people feel better when they do things of this sort but that's a psychological effect. And I'm not against that if people do things that don't harm them and they feel better because they've done them. Why not? I only get upset when people think that such folk cures are going to prevent cancer or cure arthritis and thereby omit getting good proper medical attention for important disorders.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 10-12, Salt Your Vital Sodium and Potassium Balance. It will give you some of the thoughts of different investigators on the problem as well as those foods which are rich in sodium and those foods that are rich in potassium. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The truth is your kidney is designed normally to eliminate the sodium salt that your body doesn't need. That, of course, only happens if you drink an adequate amount of water. A person trying to survive on sea water can't do it because there's too much sodium salt in relationship to the water available. Our body is a wonderful machine which is able to maintain a very delicate chemical balance in terms of acid base balance and in terms of how much sodium and potassium is retained in the body.

There's nothing wrong with normal people using Morton's Lite Salt. As you said, only about half of it is sodium salt. Individuals who are required to be on a severe sodium restricted diet cannot use it as a salt substitute. If it's really true that high sodium intakes do cause some people to develop high blood pressure in a period of years, then using such a preparation should offer some advantages.

DEAR DR LAMB - Everyone seems to have a health hint and some are right and some are not. Will a person feel better if at age 60 he or she takes a couple of tablespoons of lemon juice and a

Officers Seek Cause Of Crash

HOUSTON (AP) - Investigators sifted through the wreckage of two vehicles to determine the cause of a collision Tuesday that killed two women, both pregnant, and a 3-year-old boy.

The victims were identified as Shirley D. Edwards, 24; Thelma L. Guynes, 19; and Ms. Guynes son, Cyell Eugene, all of Houston. Their car collided with a pickup on Houston's South Loop, struck a freeway support pillar, overturned and skidded 75 feet, officers said.

Three other children, ages 8, 6 and 1, were taken to Ben Taub Hospital and were in good to fair condition Tuesday night.

Dan Rowan, Dick Martin Hit It Rich

COMPTON, Calif. (AP) - Comedians Dan Rowan and Dick Martin have socked it to George Schlatter Productions for $4.6 million.

A Superior Court jury awarded the duo the judgment in their suit against the company, which began a new "Laugh-In" series in 1977.

The original "Laugh-In" which spawned such sayings as "Sock it to me" and "Verrrry interesting" when it was televised on NBC from 1967 through 1972, was co-produced by Rowan and Martin's Romart, Inc., and George Schlatter-Ed Friendly Productions.

Richard Purlich, attorney for Rowan and Martin in the six-week trial, said the dispute centered on oral and written agreements among the show's producers on use of its unique format.

The jury's award Monday included $750,000 in punitive damages against Schlatter and his production company.

Rowan and Martin contended a 1973 contract stated the format of the show could not be used again unless all parties agreed. If no agreement could be reached, the matter was to be submitted to arbitration, Purlich said.

The comedians' suit claimed no agreement had been reached when Schlatter began producing a new "Laugh-In" series for NBC in 1976. Six programs were made before NBC canceled the revival.

Noted Author Dies Today

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - John Howard Griffin, who stirred the nation's conscience with "Black Like Me," his account of traveling the South as a black man, died today.

Griffin, 60, had been hospitalized for nine weeks suffering complications of diabetes.

Griffin was blinded for 10 years by diabetes and injuries suffered in World War II but regained his sight in 1957.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, and four children.

Parents Take Over School In Protest Of Busing Mandate

FOREST HILL, La. (AP) — Angry white parents have vowed to conduct classes for their children in a commandeered school again today rather than submit to a desegregation order that would require busing.

If they lock the doors, we'll hold classes right in front of it, in our school yard," parent Clyde Holloway promised Tuesday.

Forest Hill Elementary was one of four predominantly white schools closed by a federal judge and its students ordered to ride buses — some for a 35-mile trip — to two mostly black schools.

Parents entered the building Tuesday and held classes for 160 of the 212 students who normally would have been enrolled.

School board members would not say what they would do if parents took over the school today and refused to put their children on buses.

"The school board and the local law enforcement people are not going to put us out," said Holloway, who graduated from Forest Hill in 1961 when it was a high school. "It will take the federal people to put us out. We are here to fight."

"Everybody is confused about what to do with us, but we're going to be there," he said. "We're willing to go to jail, but we don't want to get anyone in real deep trouble."

Holloway said parents object to busing their children past neighborhood schools within walking distance of their homes. The furor over the desegregation plan, written by U.S. District Judge N. Scott, has even pitted brother against brother.

The Forest Hill school is in the Rapides Parish School Board District represented by Holloway's brother, Charles. It serves a town of about 500 people located 10 miles south of the parish seat of Alexandria, a community of 45,000 residents.

Reopening of public schools in Alexandria was delayed twice while school board lawyers worked unsuccessfully to get a federal appeals court in New Orleans to postpone Scott's order for at least a year.

Rehab Center Officials Optimistic About Drive

Every day's mail gives officials of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center more reason to feel optimistic about the prospects for the 21st Annual Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children. Early pledges of livestock and cash are running well ahead of previous years at this point in spite of the drought that gripped the Southwest along with many other adverse factors.

However, this gratifying response comes as no surprise to Shelley V. Smith, Executive Director of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center. Smith said, "The partnership between the Rehab Center and the cattlemen of the Southwest spans more than two decades and every year these partners have generously supported the Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children."

"As a matter of fact," Smith added, "their support has grown each year through good times and bad." Smith went on to say, "I guess it's a matter of these special friends understanding what the West Texas Rehabilitation Center is doing for the handicapped and the vital role of the cattlemen in helping the Center to meet the growing needs of these folks."

During 1980, the WTRC through its campuses in Abilene, San Angelo, and Snyder will provide services, without charge to almost 8,000 handicapped children and adults.

Donors take pride in the livestock they give. Livestock, many of them registered, bear the brands of many of the most famous ranches throughout the Southwest. Early pledges include a registered Santa Gertrudis Bull from the world famous Nine-Bar Ranch of Hempstead; registered Santa Gertrudis Heifer from Turkey Creek Ranch of Uvalde; Brahma Bull from Hudgins Ranch of Hungerford; registered Brangus Heifer from Mes-quite Tree Brangus of Tye, plus others to be announced later.

Round-Up workers are now in the process of arranging to pick up livestock in just about every area of the state in preparation for a series of sales to benefit the West Texas Rehabilitation Center. The cattle sale, the first in the series, is set for Sept. 29 in Abilene. This sale will be followed by the horse sale on Oct. 4 in Abilene, the sheep & goat sale Oct. 6 in Junction, a special auction on Oct. 8 in Coleman, a farm equipment sale Nov. 8 in Clyde, and another special auction in Brownwood on November 12th.

General Round-Up Chairman Jim Alexander of Abilene stressed the importance of getting pledge information to the Center as quickly as possible so arrangements can be made to transport the livestock to the sales. Alexander encouraged donors to call the Central office at 915-692-1633.

Last year's Cattlemen's Round-Up netted $177,000 for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

They said the closing of some schools, pairing and clustering of others, and large-scale busing would be disruptive to the system's 27,000 students, teachers, administrators, parents and the community. Thirty percent of the school children are black.

Holloway said the schools where Forest Hill students were to be bused not only were too far away, but were older, inferior buildings.

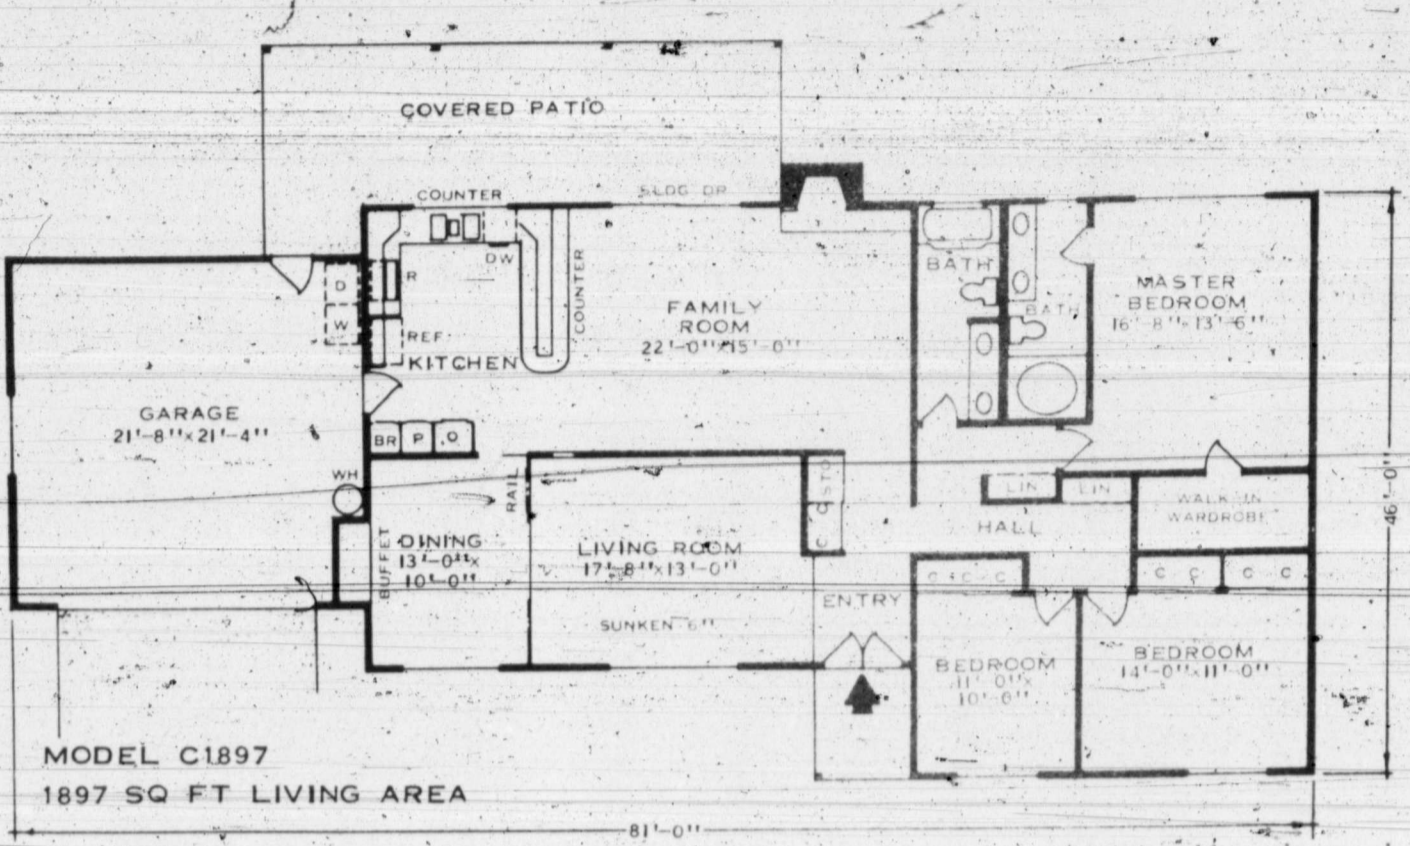

School officials said a janitor let the parents into the Forest Hill school Tuesday, but Holloway would say only that the doors were open when they arrived.

Holloway said 326 children attended Forest Hill Elementary last year. He said Tuesday's attendance was 160 of the 212 who would have been enrolled in grades kindergarten through eighth this year.

"Many of the parents left town, many went to private schools," he said.

MODEL C1897
1897 SQ FT LIVING AREA

HOME DESIGN
By Larry Farnsworth

This is a home designed to make any family happy and it might as well be yours. Just see what a wealth of good living features have been included in the 1,897 square feet of good living space.

Its exterior features pleasantly long lines which blend perfectly into almost any setting. And its double front doors lead into an interior which is certain to delight your family.

The pleasant formal entry contains a practical coat closet and a storage closet as well. The sunken living room offers a better than 17 foot long expanse of living space. And, see how this area gains an extra air of spaciousness with the interesting railing separation that divides it from the formal dining room, yet avoids total separation of the two. Note, also, that convenient built-in buffet in the dining room.

At the back of this portion of the house, a fabulously big family room and kitchen present a delightful area geared equally well to family fun or party-times. Note the big, convenient counter dining bar, separating these two areas without diminishing the total air of spaciousness. And, see what a wealth of cabinets and counters — including a patio serving counter, are provided by this efficient kitchen. Doors here to the big attached garage put the laundry facilities located there within easy reach. And the family room's big fireplace and easy access to the adjoining patio add to the possibilities for recreation and family fun.

This delightful home contains two, double-vanity baths — one, of course, serving the lovely master bedroom. And, note that this one offers an extra bonus in that elegant, circular tub. The master bedroom provides its owners with a big, walk-in wardrobe, too. And the two front bedrooms both have good wall closets — one a double model.

Good living for your family is readily obtainable in this plan.

Plan To Pay
Debts Made
By CORCO

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Commonwealth Oil Refining Co. has presented a new plan in federal court to pay its creditors since The Charter Company withdrew its offer to purchase the financially troubled firm.

Robert A. Baker, fiscal agent for the court, said the plan Tuesday includes a recapitalization of CORCO's debt structure.

William Hall, corporate attorney representing the San Antonio-based refining company, termed the new plan of arrangement a "stand-alone plan" which does not include a takeover candidate.

CORCO's previous plan for reorganization under Title 11 of the Bankruptcy Code had included a proposal by The Charter Co. to acquire CORCO and pay off its creditors. But on Aug. 3 the Jacksonville, Fla., corporation backed out of the proposal, citing "adverse changes" in CORCO's operations.

Prior to the hearing Tuesday, there had been speculation by those close to the firm that only a third party could keep CORCO from slipping into Chapter 10 of the Bankruptcy Code, in which the federal court would take over control of the company.

However, company officials said Tuesday that CORCO was seriously negotiating with its major creditor, Tesoro Petroleum Corp. of San Antonio, and Hiteca Petroleum Corp., a Venezuela firm, to devise a plan to supply crude oil to CORCO's refinery in Puerto Rico. Substance of the plan was not revealed.

CORCO has been operating under Chapter 11 since March 1978. Chapter 11 allows a firm to continue operations as it works under court supervision to devise a plan to pay off its debts.

Despite Miss America...

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC made it three in a row in the networks' prime-time ratings race even though NBC had the top-rated program in the week ending Sept. 7, according to figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co.

More people watched NBC's broadcast of the Miss America Pageant than any other prime-time program during the week. It was the first weekly survey since late February in which the struggling network could claim that honor.

Another NBC special presentation, the annual Emmy Awards show, lost a good deal of glitter when many of the striking actors stayed away. The program finished 32nd for the week.

But the Miss America contest, broadcast live from Atlantic City, registered a rating of 24.9.

Nielsen says that means nearly a fourth of the country's TV-equipped homes were tuned in for at least part of the show.

NBC listed two Top 10 programs, while ABC had five and CBS three.

NBC's other Top 10 show ranked 10th — was the concluding chapter on a repeat broadcast of the two-part movie "Midway."

ABC's rating for the week was 16.4 to 15.3 for NBC and 13.8 for CBS. The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 16.4 percent of the homes in the country were tuned to ABC.

ABC, No. 1 for the third straight week, had "Three's Company" in second place and "Taxi" third. CBS' highest-rated show was "Dallas," No. 4.

Of the few original programs broadcast during the week, three were sports productions. ABC's first prime-time college football game of the season, between Texas and Arkansas, was No. 30 in the ratings, while CBS' weekend coverage of the U.S. Open tennis tournament was No. 48 for the Saturday night semifinals and No. 42 for Sunday night's semifinals.

An NBC News "White Paper" on Fide Castro's Cuba placed 61st in the ratings.

CBS' listed four of the week's five lowest-rated shows, following NBC's "A Man Called Sledge" in 69th place. The CBS programs were, in descending order, "The White Shadow," a movie called "Riding for the Pony Express," a Reagan for President political spot and "The Waltons."

Here are the week's 10 highest-rated programs: Miss America Pageant, with a rating of 24.9, representing 19.4 million homes; NBC's "Three's Company," 23 or 17.9 million; and "Taxi," 22 or 17.1 million, both ABC; "Dallas," 20.8 or 16.2 million; CBS' "Vegas," 20.7 or 16.1 million; ABC's "M.A.S.H.," 20.6 or 16 million; and "Dukes of Hazard," 20.3 or 15.8 million, both CBS. Movie: "The Longest Yard," 19.9 or 15.5 million, and "Charlie's Angels," 19.7 or 15.3 million, both ABC, and Movie: "Midway," Part II, 19.6 or 15.2 million, NBC.

The next 10 shows: "Hart to Hart," ABC; "60 Minutes," CBS; "Bob Hope Special," NBC; "Lou Grant," CBS; "Games People Play" and Movie: "Sooner or Later," both NBC; Movie: "Midway," Part I, NBC, and "House Calls," CBS, tie; "Real People," NBC, and "Happy Days," ABC.

HOUSTON (AP) — The daughter and two sons of a Kansas woman have named noted heart surgeon Dr. Denton Cooley a defendant in a $1 million medical malpractice suit.

The suit, filed Monday in Houston state court, claims Cooley, Dr. Carlos de Castro, Dr. Arendra S. Mathur and nurse Janet Taylor failed to provide standard medical care for Elaine Beckers.

Elaine Beckers, Robert and Kenneth Seck said their mother entered St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital on Sept. 7, 1978, for treatment of an aortic aneurysm and aortic valve replacement.

The suit alleges that because of the defendants' negligence, Mrs. Seck suffered severe blood loss, internal bleeding, loss of clotting faculties, increased degeneration of the aortic valve, brain, liver, kidneys and other internal organs.

Mrs. Seck developed pneumonia and died Sept. 27, 1978, the suit said.

New Bank Sought At Grand Prairie

AUSTIN (AP) — Application has been made for a new state bank in Grand Prairie, the State Department of Banking said Tuesday.

Proposed directors of the bank, to be known as the Parkway Bank, include Dr. Henry Estess, Terry Kelley, Michael L. Muse, Leon H. Stern, Webb L. Wallace and Ray C. Williams, all of Dallas.

We Sincerely Thank You...

Mary and I want to take this opportunity to express our deep appreciation to our customers, employees and the many fine people of Snyder and Scurry County for their support and patronage during the past eight years.

Mary and I have gained a lot of friends and acquaintances and gained valuable business experience. We will remember all the many relationships for years to come.

We have sold the Snyder Food Baskets to C&W Foods of San Angelo, and the stores here will be operated as C&W Food Baskets.

Our family will continue to live in Snyder, and we will continue to operate Sparkle City Ice at the same location. In the future, we plan to build a new facility for our ice company. We look forward to being part of Snyder for many years to come!

Lee picked up the ball and threw it past catcher Ed Ott. The winner in the 3-hour, 24-minute game was Warren Brusstar, 2-0, the fourth Phillies pitcher. Lee, the seventh pitcher to work for the Pirates, lost his first and only decision.

Frosh, 8th Teams Home Thursday; JV At Midland

A schedule change has put both Snyder eighth and freshman football teams at home for their debut this year. The teams will host Stamford at Travis Field on Thursday.

varsity game with Midland Lee here, 8 p.m. at Tiger Stadium. Both teams go into the contest with equal 0-1 records. Snyder tripped out of the gate to Big Spring, 14-13, while Lee lost to Killen, 13-7.

Art Howe was the hitting star for Houston, driving in two runs, including a game-winning sacrifice fly in the seventh inning. Howe's sacrifice fly came after the Astros had loaded the bases off Steve Howe on a walk to Joe Morgan, an error by first baseman Steve Garvey that put men at second and third and an intentional walk to Cesar Cedeno.

V-Ball Clash Will Be Held Thursday

SAN ANGELO - Last night's scheduled volleyball matches between Snyder High School and Central High School have been moved to Thursday evening here.

ches will be played at 6 (junior varsity) and 7 (varsity) here. Saturday, Snyder opens its District 2-4A slate, taking on Pecos in three matches, beginning at 1 p.m. with a freshman battle. Junior varsities will vie at 2, varsities at 3:30.

Snyder eighth was originally slated to play in Stamford, but officials switched the game to Snyder at 5 p.m. The ninth grade game will follow at about 6:30.

Tigers Lose Tailback; Shaw, Echols To Fill

the starting junior varsity duo last year, helping lead Snyder to a 9-1 season. Against Big Spring last week, Shaw had an unofficial 40 yards on only seven carries (5.7 average), while Echols ran twice for 12 yards (6.0 average).

Despite the loss, Coach Patty Grimmert noted the team "played really well for being two weeks behind everyone else. We'll improve. We've got a lot of spirit. In the second game we were down 6-14 and came back to 12-14 before Seminole got their last point. The girls didn't give up. They kept fighting," she added.

The team takes on Pecos in Snyder for its second outing, 1 p.m. Saturday. Playing for the squad are Anna Arizmendi, Shahala Blair, Susan Brim, Tracy Fortune, Mona Green, Patricia Gregory, Melinda Guterrez, Susan Hamlett, Wendy Hodge, Robin Huntsman, Lisa McNew, Diana Molina, Tonya Neblett, Dolly Riggins and Cari Walker.

'Big Man' Missing From WTC Camp

Fans who attended last night's "Meet The Athletes" program at Western Texas College realized the one thing seemingly missing from this year's Westerner basketball team is the big man.

n't have recruited him if I didn't think he could play. But with that attitude, he probably wouldn't have played. He had all the physical attributes to play for us."

Coach Larry Dunaway was sitting on good stock earlier in the summer - even earlier this week - but his tallest player on the court last evening was 6-6 sophomore Donald Warren.

Then, early this week, Brent Bobo and James Stewart decided to turn in their shorts. Stewart was the other big man at 6-8, while Bobo was 6-4, 210. "They were both from Los Angeles and lived close together. They just weren't able to adjust," explained Dunaway. "Anytime you get 12 people from a variety of places, there's a chance you'll have a couple that don't feel comfortable. They didn't adjust to the difference in environments and to our workouts. I think they'll be happier out there (Los Angeles)."

WTC Boosters Meet Friday

Western Texas College Booster Club will have its first meeting of the school year Friday at noon in the WTC cafeteria. Luncheon will be $2.25 plus tax. Purpose of the meeting will be plans for the annual fund raising.

Dunaway is currently checking on other possible "big men" to help the inside game. He has one or two in mind, but they haven't graduated and there is some question as to whether they are eligible to take a GED. One of the players is 6-7 Tim Rockmore from Atlanta, Ga. Dunaway plans to bring in the youngster. If he is unable to take his GED immediately, he will be redshirted until after the first semester.

On the bright side, Dunaway was pleased with the scrimmage his team held for the public last night.
