Blast Rocks Missile Silo

DAMASCUS, Ark. (AP)—A fiery explosion that lit the night sky "like daylight" rocked an underground Titan I missile silo today, injuring at least 22 maintenance workers, the Air Force said.

Authorities evacuated an area that stretched 10 miles north of the silo and five miles on either side, routing about 1,000 people mostly in the tiny towns of Damascus, Bee Branch and Gravesville. But by late morning, people were being allowed back except within a mile of the facility, according to the Strategic Air Command.

in the silo housing in the 103-foot-long intercontinental ballistic missile which is capable of delivering this nation's largest hydrogen bomb to a target 6,300 miles away.

Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., said the Air Force told his office there was "no evidence of a plutonium leak, the warhead is intact and the warhead is in the hands of Air Force officials."

three-pound wrench socket felt 70 feet, bounced off a thrust mount, and struck the missile, puncturing the first stage fuel tank holding about 10,000 gallons of fuel. About 24 minutes later, the maintenance crew reported indications of a fire, Mark said, and flooded the silo with water. Civilian authorities were advised to evacuate the area.

It was the second accident this week involving sophisticated Air Force weaponry. On Monday, a B-52 bomber caught fire at Grand Forks Air Force Base in North Dakota. State disaster officials said an intercepted Air Force message indicated the plane may have been carrying nuclear weapons, but SAC refused to confirm that was so.

Brilab Jurors Listen To Tapes

HOUSTON (AP)—A federal court jury today heard secret Brilab tapes of a Houston labor official accepting a $2,000 retainer to influence the awarding of a union insurance contract.

Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton. Hauser, posing as a representative of Prudential Insurance Co., offered Grubbs the $2,000 retainer and additional $50,000 once the union agreed to take the Prudential policy.

Leave it to Bob Strauss to cut through the political rhetoric and go straight to the matter.

the political point of the matter.

eches doesn't carry over under questioning. Exposed to sharpies of the caliber of Carter and Anderson, he could have the most to lose. He might well change his own mind about the desirability of debating should Carter change his.

Not that there was much chance anyone connected with this so-far media non-event ever was. Kidding themselves.

Strauss acknowledges the Carter campaign is taking a "certain political risk" in opting out. The voters on Nov. 4 will have the last word on whether the risk was worth it or self-defeating.

Once upon a time, the concept of a one-on-one (or a two-on-one or a free-for-all, what you will) match-up of the presidential candidates may have had the commendable purpose of putting their abilities and programs on display before the "best" public possible, as only television can do. And in the process, just possibly clarifying the issues of this campaign.

Meanwhile, Strauss has already provided the word to describe the performance of all concerned in the great non-debate of the 1980 campaign: self-fish-ia: concerned excessively or exclusively with oneself; seeking or concentrating on one's own advantage, pleasure or well-being without regard for others.

As soon, however, as questions of format and participation became real enough to require decision and commitment, public interest went out the window and self-interest took over. The latter motivates maneuvering of all three camps, as it motivates the campaign itself and politics period.

anderson's partners

Politics can make strange ballot partners. For the first 36 years of its history, New York's Liberal Party had no problems in selecting a presidential candidate. Whoever was good enough for the Democrats was invariably good enough for the Liberals.

That's not so strange on the face of it, considering that multitudes of Democrats are rumored to be similarly inclined. But it is when you consider that the consequence may very well be to deliver New York's 41 electoral votes to Ronald Reagan, a candidate who represents the antithesis of almost everything the Liberals say they stand for.

The Liberals and Anderson, the onetime conservative who has seen some sort of light, may or may not be compatible ideologically. But that has little to do with this union of convenience. The endorsement has been actively solicited by Anderson for an obvious tactical advantage: Since the Liberals are already an established party, it puts him on the New York ballot without going through the petition-collecting hassle of qualifying as an independent.

That's what the Liberals can do for Anderson. What he can do for them is a bit more involved. Primarily a New York City operation, the Liberal Party's interests are primarily local politics. And locally, it has been a real power, being courted by major party candidates for a bloc of votes that can be decisive.

Its reward for such services has been a role on the New York political scene out of all proportion to its actual strength, plus a filling cut of the patronage pie.

The Liberals have been having troubles of late, however. Their vote has fallen off in recent elections, to the point where they trail not only the younger and more bumptious New York Conservative Party but special-interest groups.

So along comes John Anderson with a potentially sizeable following of dissident Democrats and plague-on-both-your-houses independents. Attracting their votes to the Liberal line on the ballot could mean a return for the party to something like the good old days no matter who wins the presidential race, at least until the next election.

The Liberals have also been dickering with the Democrats. But there was really no contest. Just for the record, they asked Jimmy Carter to subscribe to a lengthy declaration of basic Liberal principles. When he declined to go all the way on all the points, they embraced John Anderson without bothering to require him to embrace the selfsame declaration.

And why not? There's really nothing strange at all about the Anderson-Liberals partnership. Under the circumstances, they were made for each other.

And as a result the Liberals, a political entity of whom the rest of the nation is only dimly if at all aware, have become a national and potentially decisive factor in the 1980 election.

Every fall, an army of authors swathed in polyester and hope hits the trail to bring their books to the attention of the public.

They will spend full days being interviewed by the press, answering questions from radio listeners, doing talk shows and signing books in department stores.

At the end of eight or ten weeks, they will return to civilian life. They will not be the same people they were when they left.

They will not be able to pass a couch without sitting on it and launching into a discourse on how they got their start.

They will refuse to use a bathroom that does not have a sanitized strip over the commode. If anyone puts so much as a passbook at the bank in their hands, they'll mechanically write, "Best Wishes," autograph it and give it back.

The Willy Lomans of the literary world are rarely championed. Having survived six book tours, I have found solace in the fact that every author from Bacall to Vidal, from Krantz to Michener has endured the selling of a book. As I sat around greenrooms, I used to fantasize that if Matthew, Mark, Luke and John were coming out this fall with the Four Gospels, they would be going through the same thing I was going through.

MERV GRIFFIN GREENROOM: "Okay, guys, Merv has a doctor, theme show for tonight. Got any ideas? Luke is a doctor? Fantastic! You can do eight minutes on diet pills. You'll follow Joyce Brothers."

DINAH SHORE GREENROOM: "Hey, fellas, this is going to be fun. You and Dinah are going to put together a zucchini casserole with parmesan and talk about your books. Geez, which you all hadn't worn white. Have fun!"

MIKE DOUGLAS GREENROOM: "Now, the co-host this week is Shelley Winters. Anything you got that relates to Shelley, throw it in. Read your books last night. Love 'em. Mark, maybe you could expand on the miracle stories. Had Jeanne Dixon a few weeks ago. It's dynamite."

JOHN CARSON GREENROOM: "What's your book about again? I know they're gospels... they all say that. What about humorous stories like signing books in a department store and someone wants to buy the desk. Anything upbeat you can think of. You follow Gordon Liddy."

JOHN DAVIDSON GREENROOM: "John will ask you why you wrote the books, how long it took, what they're all about and what impact they will have on civilization. Take your time, you've got 4 1/2 minutes. You don't sing, do you?"

Heard any good books lately?

One thing is for certain. We can't look to the next President for a solution to the illegal alien problem. Carter says it's the state's responsibility to take care of them conveniently overlooking the fact that it's the fed's responsibility to patrol the borders and keep them out in the first place.

Reagan, who doesn't really seem aware of what is going on, says give 'em cards and make 'em legal. That is one sure way to reduce crime statistics—make the crime legal. Maybe we could extend that principle to other offenses. Just think, the legislature could wipe out every crime from Jaywalking to rape with the stroke of a pen. And they say Mr. Reagan's approach to problems is simplistic.

Of course Gov. Clements explained that what Reagan really meant was issuing temporary work cards to the illegals. That way, the only illegals we would have would be ones who couldn't get cards or get their cards renewed.

Paul Harvey has pointed out that while the government confesses helplessness at catching, much less prosecuting, the invading aliens, it has promised to seek out and prosecute our own young men who do not register for a draft they say is unlikely to be reinstated. Looking beyond the hypocrisy, there may be a solution here. Why not draft illegal aliens. That would take care of the military manpower shortage, the aliens would have a job and after a few years of service they could be granted full citizenship. I'm only kidding, of course. I wonder if Reagan and Carter have an excuse for their idiotic answers?

The thing that seemed to bring the issue to a head was whether or not the states should finance an education for the children.

As usual, the feds skirted the responsibility. They say it is the states' responsibility to school them but that it would be illegal for the feds to help out with the cost. They seem to have a lot of trouble with the word illegal and have trouble remembering who let the illegals in the states in the first place.

Enrolling illegal aliens in school seems to me the supreme irony. Why not tell the Border Patrol to be at the principal's office some Monday morning. It might go like this:

PRINCIPAL: "Okay everybody, as you know, we promised everyone who is accompanied by parents an educational fieldtrip today. We leave as soon as everyone signs the register. And, oh yes, if you mark the space entitled 'illegal alien' please get on the big green bus instead of the yellow one. That's right, it's the one pointed south."

The illegal alien problem is really nothing to joke about. I'm not sure how far we should go in granting the trespassers the same rights as citizens but I suspect the cost of educating them might be cheaper in the long run. Ignorant or educated, the little muggers are going to grow up. What options does a bright, ambitious person have if he is illiterate? Well, let's see, he can be a laborer or a dishwasher (or a politician). Or he can use his wits to rip off society. The same society that denied him the most fundamental knowledge required to ever better himself while at the same time exploiting the poverty of his parents.

It's easy to imagine how one or many together might take pride in striking back. What would they have to lose? I suspect the cost of schooling a child is peanuts compared to keeping a grown man behind bars. I fear the climate today is right for breeding the civil rights problems of tomorrow.

NEW YORK (AP)—At some time or other over the years almost every candidate for local office or the U.S. presidency, party affiliation notwithstanding, has declared himself in favor of small business.

The position has been a safe one to assume, safe as being for family and motherhood and tax reductions. Safe also because the candidate didn't need to do an awful lot except to forget the promise.

As a result, say leaders of small business, they have been trampled underfoot by big business, big government and big unions, and their percentage of the country's gross production has steadily shrunk.

The damage can be measured by many numerical criteria, including inflation; but the most inclusive summary was probably provided in 1978 by a House subcommittee.

Small business, it said, is the cutting edge of competition, the vanguard of innovation and invention, the nation's job creator, a source of leadership, the entrepreneurial outlet.

A good many Americans seem to agree, because now somebody is indeed doing something for small business.

The somebodies are investors, and in the first seven months of the year they put up $1.3 billion in capital for companies with sales of less than $100 million, more than double the pace of the year before.

For those close to the money-raising business these numbers constitute something of a miracle because, just a few years ago, this aspect of the industry had almost dried up.

Some money men credit the capital gains tax reduction with having changed investor attitudes, but others feel something else is afoot. A renewed faith that small business is the hope of the nation.

Those who support that view contend that investments in big, mature businesses barely keep pace with inflation, while investments in some smaller companies at least offer the hope of getting ahead. They see markets that never existed before. They see well educated and informed management.

Whatever the reasons, many investors have decided that the country's problems are likely to be solved by smaller, entrepreneurially minded small businesses, even without the long-promised help of government.

Jay Cooke, who heads investment-banking for Laidlaw Adams & Peck, one of the most active in small-business financing, reports a total of 124 offerings through July, compared with 58 in the same time a year ago.

The offerings ranged from as little as $2 million to a high of $25 million, according to his count, including 26 fund-raising by companies that had never sought public funds through offerings.

Should this market continue, it would mean that entrepreneurs and investors, might feed more innovation and competition into the U.S. economy.

Dear Abby

Parents Pay the Fiddler; They Call the Tune

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I hope and pray that you will print this letter, as this problem has plagued my friends and me for many years.

I'm a 19-year-old girl, living with my parents and attending a very strict Baptist college. My parents are paying for my education.

Abby, I've been listening to rock music for over eight years without my parents' knowledge. They found the tapes and were crushed. They say they can no longer trust me. I apologized for having kept it from them, but explained that I didn't tell them because I knew rock music is against their beliefs. They say that rock music destroys young people and that I cannot keep the tapes in the house. I told them that I have developed my own convictions, and as long as I don't disturb anyone with my music I should be allowed to keep the tapes and listen to them.

Who is right? Must I get rid of the tapes and turn my radio dial to the religious station? Or should I be allowed to make my own choice of music as long as I don't bother anybody?
ME IN SOUTH CAROLINA

DEAR ME: As long as you live in your parents' home and they are paying for your education, you must follow their rules. Once you are on your own, you may do as you please.

DEAR ABBY: I live in Pearl City, Hawaii, and I'm shocked and appalled at the ignorance of some of our fellow Americans who still think Hawaii is a "foreign country."

When I travel to the mainland, I am amazed at the number of people who say, "I'd love to go to Hawaii someday; I've never been out of the United States." I'm also asked, "Is this your first trip to America?"

I've even been asked, "Do you have running water, being that you're so isolated from everything? And how does life in America compare to Hawaii?" The list goes on and on.

Will you please inform people that Hawaii is now one of the 50 states of the union? Also, we no longer live in little grass shacks. Thank you!
ALIVE AND WELL IN AMERICA

DEAR ALIVE: You can bet your ukulele. Let it be known that on Aug. 21, 1959, Hawaii became the 50th state to join the union, and has been a part of America ever since!

DEAR ABBY: With the changing times (and less emphasis on the more formal aspects of a wedding), my wife and I are often faced with an embarrassing dilemma. We are both pastors who officiate at many weddings. We are seldom invited in advance to the rehearsal dinner or the wedding reception, but when we start to leave, the bride says, "Please stay. We thought you knew you were invited."

We never presume that we are invited unless we have received an invitation beforehand. Abby, we have small children and must make arrangements for having them looked after, just as all the other invited guests who have been officially invited.

Please remind your readers that if the officiating pastor(s) is expected to stay for the rehearsal dinner and reception, an invitation should be sent.
ASSOCIATE PASTORS IN ILLINOIS

DEAR PASTORS: Consider it done.

Before registering, you will be asked:
1. Are you 18 years old or over?
2. Are you an American citizen?
3. Have you lived in the county 29 days before the election you want to vote in?
4. Are you on parole for a felony?

Phariss Attends Nurse Seminar

Mae Phariss, Leisure Lodge director of nurses, attended a nursing leadership seminar Sept. 11 in Abilene. The purpose of the workshop was to strengthen the leadership skills and knowledge of nurses practicing in long-term health care facilities.

The course focused on the transfer of concepts and methods developed in business settings to nursing management. The objective was to prepare the nurse-manager to select and use the appropriate leadership approach and action depending on the nature of the task and situation.

Topic areas focused on through the use of lectures, group discussions, experimental role playing and handout materials included developing an appropriate leadership style, managing teams and the invisible organization, moving from role-centered to task-centered organization and introducing change and facilitating adaptation.

Speaker of the seminar was Paul Washburn, Ph.D., assistant professor of management at California State University in Los Angeles.

"I'm getting old," said the Professor. "Maybe I should give up bridge."

"What's the matter?" asked the student. "The grand slam contract was a reasonable one. In any event my raise to four clubs might have been a bad bid."

"It was," replied the Prof. "On the other hand it got us to the makeable club grand slam and I misplayed it."

"What could you have done?" asked the student. "I don't see any squeeze and the diamonds were not finessable."
"Right," was the reply. "Still this was what we call a book hand. It is found in books and in some form or another has appeared in every bridge column. I'm just too old."

Do you readers see what the Professor had overlooked in the play? If not, here it is. After cashing dummy's ace and his own king of clubs, declarer should stop to lead out his ace and king of diamonds. If the king of diamonds were ruffed he would be down one since he would still have a trump left in dummy to ruff out a low diamond.

It just happened that West had been dealt just one diamond and just two clubs so the Prof could have led out his third-high diamond, ruffed a low diamond, come back to his hand with the ace of spades, drawn East's last trump and made the grand slam.

Border Patrol Blocked By Search Restrictions

By MACK SISK Associated Press Writer SAN ANTONIA (AP) Frustrated Border Patrol agents complain they can't perform their duties in Texas because they have been handcuffed by a Justice Department ban on illegal alien searches. Nobody is concerned about forcing the law anymore. We're just trying to keep our sanity," fumed Richard Casillas, INS district director in the 81-county San Antonio area. Apprehensions of illegal aliens along the 900-mile Texas-Mexico border dropped sharply this summer after the Justice Department curtailed searches of businesses, ranches and farms during the census count. Declines in arrests at all five main Border Patrol stations ranged from 34 percent in El Paso to 66 percent throughout the Panhandle. In all, government records show 9,254 fewer aliens were arrested in the five sectors last month than during August 1979.

Bentsen Says Feds To Blame

WASHINGTON (AP) Sen. Lloyd Bentsen has asked the Department of Education to study whether Texas is eligible for Federal aid to offset the expense of providing free education to illegal alien children. In this instance, it is the failure of the federal government to adopt a workable immigration policy that has exacerbated the illegal alien situation and will have a direct effect on school financing in my state," the Texas Democrat wrote in a letter to Education Secretary Shirley Hufstедler.

Prospects are uncertain for a hearing on the Dallas congressman's bill before the congressional session ends later this year. On related immigration issues, Bentsen said counterfeit-proof social security cards as identification would be a first step toward solving the nation's immigration problems. He said Texas state Rep. Matt Garcia's chances for confirmation as Immigration and Naturalization Service commissioner depended on Republican members of the Senate Judiciary Committee. "The Democratic members are ready to move on it, as I understand it," Bentsen said.

The committee's approval of the San Antonio Democrat's nomination is needed before proceeding to the Senate floor for a confirmation vote. Republicans on the panel have asked for additional time to investigate Garcia.

TV Officials Shook-Up Over Carter's Speech

By MAUREEN SANTINI Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) President Carter's nationally broadcast news conference raised not only some expected ire from his Republican opponent whose aides called the performance a "political commercial" but also some surprising concern by television network executives.

Klan with racism and hatred.

Four out of 12 questions dealt with that, prompting Carter to say he does not consider Reagan a racist and to reject any assertion that he is running a mean campaign.

"I think my campaign is very moderate in its tone," he said.

But what concerned the Reagan camp was the opening statement. Reagan's campaign director, William Casey, called it "an obvious partisan announcement" and asked that the Republican be given equal time under the Federal Communications Act.

Network news executives seemed concerned, too. CBS News President William Leonard said the statement was "pretty obviously self-serving. I was a little bit shaken, frankly."

And David Burke, vice president of ABC News, said it "did not distinguish the press conference in the traditional sense. And we will keep that in mind when requests are made in the future."

The equal-time law specifies that broadcasters who permit candidates to "use" their stations must give an equal opportunity to other candidates for the same office. An exception is coverage of "bona fide news events."

Despite the opening statement, the president's 59th news conference since taking office was dominated by Carter's campaign conduct.

In Atlanta on Tuesday two weeks after Reagan had mentioned the Klan, Carter told a partisan audience of black southerners that the campaign has seen "the stirrings of hate and the rebirth of code words like 'states rights' and the Klan.

"Hatred has no place in this country," Carter added. "Racism has no place in this country."

But when pressed on the matter Thursday, the president said he did not believe Reagan was "running a campaign of racism or hatred and I think my campaign is very moderate in its tone."

Dallas Okays Sex Education

DALLAS (AP) A sex education program was approved by a majority of Dallas school trustees Thursday after numerous arguments that the program would lead to increased promiscuity among teen-agers.

The trustees, acting as the school board's evaluation committee, sifted through the several hours of the public's sometimes emotional advice before making their decision.

The action still must be ratified by the full school board next week before being implemented in the 1981-82 school year.

Dallas Independent School District Superintendent Linus Wright cited the high pregnancy rate and increase in venereal disease among Dallas teen-agers, telling trustees and the 75 people at the meeting he recommended the program as a last resort.

"I would prefer that this be handled in the home and church, but it's not," he said. "We need to address this problem because nobody else is."

shows 80 percent of the district's parents favor the program.

As currently proposed, the three-week parenting and sex education program would be incorporated into health and home economics courses in the fifth and seventh grades and high school level.

Any parent who objected to the material could pull his child out of class during those three weeks, but would have to provide the instruction at home. Materials for home instruction have been developed.

At the fifth- and seventh-grade levels, the courses would be called "Human Growth and Development," with materials on sexuality added at the high school level.

George Burns and Gracie Allen started out in vaudeville with Gracie playing the straightman until they discovered they got more laughs the other way around.

YOUR FUEL IS A LITTLE HIGHER THIS MONTH...

While there's nothing funny about the fuel cost adjustment on your electric bill, it has been a part of utility charges for the past 75 years. It's only in the past few years that it has commanded our attention. Nobody noticed it when natural gas was plentiful and cheap.

Although it is called by different names in different parts of the state, the fuel cost adjustment shows up on everybody's electric bill. It's a part of the cost of generating electricity and it seems to increase each year. Conservation is our only defense. Your member-owned electric cooperative wants to help you save.

Northside Baptist To Celebrate Anniversary

Special services Sunday afternoon will commemorate the 40th anniversary of Northside Baptist Church in Snyder.

A revival has been underway this week at the church, with the Rev. Vernon Lierly, pastor of Grace Chapel Baptist Church, Albuquerque, N.M., preaching each evening.

An attendance goal of 200 for Sunday School has been set in connection with the anniversary celebration. The Sunday School will begin at 9:45 a.m. and the Sunday morning worship service at 10:50 a.m.

Following lunch in the fellowship hall, the special anniversary service will begin at 2:15 p.m. with singing and continue with a program at 2:10 p.m. The Rev. Bob Rhodes, pastor, will bring the message, and all members, former members and friends of the church are invited to attend all of the services.

Northside Missionary Baptist Church was organized Sept. 19, 1940, during revival services conducted in the old Snyder Tabernacle, which was on the site of the present Scurry County Library.

The Rev. W.E. Lee, pastor of the Bryan Street Baptist Church, led the revival and organization of the church, assisted by the Rev. C.E. Leslie and the Rev. L.H. Beané, both of Hermleigh.

There were nine charter members in the organization. Those still living are Mrs. S.W. Angel, now living in Arizona, and Mrs. Alma Etherage Patrick of Snyder.

The new church was then named Tabernacle Baptist Church. Walter Holmes was the first member to join after the church was organized. The new congregation chose I.M. Prater, Walter Holmes and Oscar Davis as a building and finance committee, and they immediately went to work to secure property and construct a building for the new church. G.M. Hanback was added to the committee.

Services were conducted in the county courtroom until a building was finished. Two lots on 16th Street between College Ave. and Ave. T were given the church by Frank Sentell and J.E. Jones, and ground was broken on Dec. 24, 1940. Construction began the following day on the building 30 by 50 feet, with Hanback in-charge of construction.

The Rev. Clymer C. Evans was called as pastor and served until November, 1941. By the end of the first year, the membership of the church had grown to 80 and in December, 1941, the church called the Rev. Earl Creswell as pastor. He served until the summer of 1952. The second building used by the church was a concrete block auditorium, 40 by 90 feet in size, completed in July, 1948. The older building was made into a Sunday school building. In January, 1951, a large Austin stone parsonage was completed at 1601 Ave. T.

In October, 1952, the church called the Rev. Jack Dean of the Central Baptist Church at Fayetteville, Ark., as pastor, and he came here on the first Sunday of the next month.

When the church adopted its complete building plan in 1954, it also decided to begin construction on the first of the three units, which was the first floor of an education building 32 by 101 feet. That unit was finished in March, 1954. By October, 1956, the second floor of the education plant was finished and in use to take care of the growing Sunday School.

In March of 1959, the church held a groundbreaking service for its new auditorium. Holmes and Hanback, members of the first building committee, turned the first spadeful of dirt.

The new auditorium was built on the same part of the church's property where the first building of the church was built in 1940-41.

The 750-seat auditorium, a brick structure, is the last phase of a five-year major building program of the church.

In November of 1964, the church called the Rev. John Duke of Bossier City, La. as its pastor, when the pastorate was vacated by the Rev. Jack Dean. He served as pastor until Sept. 1966. Succeeding pastors were: Rev. Bill Knight, Nov. 1966, to Aug.,

1968; Rev. Joe Stevens, Oct. 1968 to Feb., 1972; Rev. George White, April, 1972, to Nov., 1978. Rev. Bob Rhodes was called as pastor in April 1979. He began the pastorate here in May, 1979, and is pastor at the present.

All offerings for missions go 100 percent to missionaries on the field. Mission work both at home and abroad is done by Northside Baptist Church. The church contributes regularly to a number of local missionaries, to state missions, interstate and foreign missions.

A radio ministry was started in the spring of 1953, and Northside Baptist Church has had a night-time broadcast of the evening services every Sunday night since that time.

A bus ministry was started in Jan. 1973. A children's chapel was started in April, 1975, for children of kindergarten through 10 years of age. The children's chapel meets during the Sunday morning worship hour.

Another milestone was reached on Jan. 1, 1974, when a note burning service was held leaving Northside Baptist Church free of all indebtedness.

The Hudson's Bay Co. territories were officially transferred to the Canadian government in 1869.

Mark Fox Appearing At Calvary

Mark Fox will appear at Calvary Baptist Church Sunday night, Sept. 21.

"His ministry is a musical presentation geared for the family through the local church and features the delightful voice of 'Lil Markie," says Larry McAden, pastor. Fox will appear at the Training Union Service at 6:15 and evening service at 7.

Fox has served as staff soloist for the Jerry Falwell Evangelistic Association and guest soloist for the Old Time Gospel Hour radio and television network. He now travels full-time with the Mark Fox Family Ministries.

In his concerts he accompanies himself on the piano or uses orchestrated sound tracks. "Lil Markie" is an animated character dedicated to teaching children but is delightful to all ages, says McAden.

Not always simple surgery

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I went to see three eye doctors and the third one told me I had a cataract in my right eye making it difficult to read or sew. He said I would need an operation and after eight weeks of treatment with antibiotics I could get glasses or contact lenses.

I had the operation and went to his office regularly for treatment. One day he was away but he left no message as to whom I could see while he was out of town.

I was awakened at 2 a.m. with a terrific pain in my right eye. I woke up screaming with pain and did not know what to do. All I could get was the answering service. I wasn't able to find and see another ophthalmologist until three o'clock the next afternoon. I was almost out of my mind. The nurse made me wait in his office until he had seen his other patients.

As soon as he saw me he sent me right to the hospital as an emergency.

In the emergency room he told me he was going to give me a local anesthetic because he had to work on my eye. I almost died from the three needles he gave me, one under the eye, one at the temple and one above the eye. I screamed from the pain. Then he put a long needle inside my eye. What he did I don't know. The next day he did the same thing and I prayed, "Dear God, keep me from all this pain. I can't bear it." During the next several days I was given every antibiotic on the market and other ophthalmologists also saw me. On the fifth day he told me I would never be able to see in this eye again and I'm blind.

When my doctor returned and came to the hospital I asked him what had happened to my eye. Before the operation I could at least see some and now I was totally blind.

This doctor never told me about the risk of cataract surgery. If I had known I would never have done it. I'm still taking medicine and I don't know if I'll ever be finished going to his office. I went into his office healthy and now I am a vegetable. I can't see, I lose my balance when I try to walk and someone has to go with me until I go to bed. I've lost my strength and my desire to live. I thought of killing myself many times as I have nothing to live for. I was so active before the operation.

I want other people to know that you can have such problems. It's not as simple as you might think.

DEAR READER - Fortunately, very few people who have cataract surgery have the kinds of complications that you have described. I have put your letter in my column because I do want to remind people that what appears to be a simple operation isn't always so simple. An operation is only simple if no complications occur.

Another point your letter makes is why everyone should have a family doctor and know in advance what to do if for any reason he is not available. Had you previously found a family doctor, when you had a problem in the middle of the night you could have called him. He could have helped you find another eye specialist even at that hour of the morning.

That's all past history now and I hope that you get along better from now on.

Alger Hiss Returns To Courtroom Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Elderly and frail but still adamant about his innocence, Alger Hiss today is returning to the courthouse where he was found guilty 30 years ago of lying about being a Communist in the famed "Pumpkin Papers" case.

Hiss said he wanted to set straight "whole currents of history."

Hiss, 75, served three years and eight months in prison in the early 1950s for his conviction. He had been accused of lying about charges that he was a secret Communist in the Roosevelt administration and gave government information to the Soviet Union.

Hiss says he'll use material from more than 60,000 government files that he got through the 1975 Freedom of Information Act to prove he didn't get a fair trial in 1949 and that his constitutional rights were violated.

"I have been struggling for more than 25 years to correct the injustice that was done," he said Thursday.

"Anybody who has been wrongfully charged would naturally feel a great sense of accomplishment to correct the record."

"But my interest goes beyond the personal, because my conviction has been used to confuse the whole currents of history."

I think my effort to correct the injustice is important quite apart from my personal interest."

Hiss, a former State Department official who had accompanied Roosevelt to the Yalta Conference near the end of World War II, was indicted in 1948 following grand jury testimony by ex-Time magazine editor Whitaker Chambers. Chambers was a former espionage courier for Soviet agents in the United States and testified he and Hiss had been part of the same Communist cell in the 1930s.

The trial came at the outset of the Cold War and helped launch the political career of Richard M. Nixon, then a 36-year-old member of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The machine invented by Dr. Guillotin in the 18th century was taken out of storage in 1972 in France to behead two men. The first to die was Roger Bontems, 36. Seven minutes later Claude Buffet, 38, was beheaded. Both had been condemned to death for the slaying of two hostages during a prison riot.

ACORN Confronts Bell Official

By KEN HERMAN
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—ACORN members incensed about Southwestern Bell's massive rate hike request came into the hearing room noisily, demanding to talk with a Bell official, and then walked out after two heated hours with him.

The phone company is asking for $326 million in rate increases. The hearing was into its fourth day Thursday with Bell trying to keep trade secrets from getting in the record when about 50 members of the Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now marched in. Spokeswoman Savannah

Edwards said ACORN demanded to meet with a Bell official.

"Until Southwestern Bell will speak directly to us we'll just wait around," she said.

Paul Roth, Bell vice president for revenues and public affairs in Texas, agreed to meet with them. He later said he did it to prevent further delays in the cumbersome hearing that will take about six weeks.

The ACORN members came in complaining about Bell and the PUC process which will determine how much of an increase, if any, the phone company will get. Spokeswoman Ruth Martin charged the rates are set in closed-door meetings, not during the hearing process at which ACORN is represented by two lawyers.

An eight-member committee selected by ACORN followed Roth into a nearby room. The rest of the ACORN members filed in. Roth tried to explain the PUC system and Bell's need for $326 million.

"The numbers in this rate case seem quite large to me, I know, that's because Southwestern Bell has a large responsibility," he said before the questions started flying.

There were specific and general complaints about phone service. One woman had to wait on long lines. Another was paying push-button rates for a dial phone. The general complaints included Bell's donations to charity and proposed changes in so-called lifeline service. Lifeline is aimed at providing low-cost service to customers who make few calls per month. Bell wants to change the system that now allows 25 calls for a flat monthly rate and then charge eight cents for additional calls.

Under the proposed change, the calls would be measured for time and distance. A monthly flat fee would cover $1.85 worth of calls. Additional calls would be measured and billed.

Charles Land, PUC telephone engineer, said a study showed 77 percent of current lifeline users would pay the same or less under the proposed service.

However, ACORN is upset with the prospect of having local calls measured like long distance calls.

Shift In Soviet Tactics Noted

LONDON (AP)—Soviet military commanders in Afghanistan are launching helicopter-borne commando raids against Moslem rebels in a major tactical shift from previous large-scale ground operations, the Times of London reported today.

In a front-page report from Kabul, the Afghan capital, the British newspaper said officers commanding the 80,000 man Soviet occupation force in Afghanistan have called in Cuban and Vietnamese counter-insurgency experts for help in dealing with the rebellion by anti-communist guerrillas.

Karan Tharpar, the Times' correspondent in Kabul, quoted unidentified military observers as saying the Soviets also are bringing in "older and more experienced" troops to replace the young and largely inexperienced draftees, who make up the bulk of the occupation army.

According to the Times, the Soviets are shifting away from the widespread use of tanks and other armored vehicles and large formations of troops, which are difficult to maneuver in the mountainous terrain favored by the guerrillas as bases for their hit-and-run attacks. Instead, the Soviets are using helicopter-borne commandos, backed by columns of motorized infantry, to strike at the fast-moving rebels, the Times said, adding that Soviet fighter-bombers are often used to soften up guerrilla targets ahead of the commando strikes.

The newspaper said Soviet forces and the Afghan government troops control Kabul, the main provincial cities and some of the surrounding countryside, while the guerrillas hold much of the nation's rugged mountain terrain and appear to have widespread support among the population.

The Kremlin sent the troops to aid Afghanistan's pro-Moscow Marxist government in its 29-month-old war with the fundamentalist Moslem rebels.

Rebel resistance is "sufficient to worry the Soviet forces and keep them on a constant war footing," the newspaper said. But Tharpar quoted unidentified diplomats in Kabul as saying they believe the Soviets will eventually succeed in gaining control of the country.

Alleged Hijackers Face Possible Life Sentence

By JONATHAN W. OATIS Associated Press Writer COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — With the cooperation of the Cuban government, two disenchanted Cuban refugees are back in the United States — held on $750,000 bond each — to face trial on air piracy charges and a possible life prison sentence.

"I believe this will stop the hijackings," said U.S. Marshal Hector Gonzalez, who helped bring the pair back from Cuba Thursday after the Caribbean island nation made them available for prosecution in the United States. The two men are accused of hijacking a Delta Air Lines Boeing 727 headed from Atlanta to Columbia on Wednesday with 111 people aboard. It was the 10th hijacking in six weeks in the United States. Most of them were carried out by disgruntled refugees.

The hijacking came two days after the Cuban government announced that Cubans who left the country in the "Freedom Flotilla" this year made "one-way trips" and warned that hijackers would be severely punished or sent back to the United States.

On Thursday, Havana radio said that Juan Adegá Fresnada, 25, and Chencio Pérez Pérez, 26, would be sent back to the United States "with the purpose of definitely ending these acts, that may endanger the lives of hundreds of innocent people."

"This is a real breakthrough," said Dennis Feldman, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman in Washington. "Never before has Cuba volunteered to return a hijacker. By denying them asylum, this should bring to an end the current rash of hijackings."

The two appeared before U.S. Magistrate Charles Gambrell, who set bail at $750,000 each and sent them to Lexington County Jail.

They are accused of doubling a flight attendant with gasoline and threatening to set her afire if the plane were not taken to Cuba. They told a passenger they came to this country in the "Freedom Flotilla," but were unhappy with their new lives in New York.

The plane returned safely to the United States after dropping the two men off in Havana.

U.S. Attorney Thomas E. Lydon asked for a high bond because "the alleged offense endangered the lives of about 110 people." The two will stand trial "in no more than 60 to 70 days," he said. He said they could receive life in prison if convicted.

Gambrell said that if the pair made bail, they would not be allowed to leave South Carolina. "They will not be permitted to go anywhere by air unless they consent to a search by a proper federal officer before they get on that airplane," the magistrate ordered.

To remove grease from soups and stews, add a few ice cubes when the dish has cooled slightly, to solidify the fat.

Clements Reveals Anti-Crime Plan

DALLAS (AP)—Texas legislators will be asked again next year to adopt an anti-crime legislative package proposed by Gov. Bill Clements that includes legalized wiretapping and strong penalties for those who assault children.

Clements unveiled his latest anti-crime package in remarks to the Texas District and County Attorneys Association, meeting here Thursday. After his 1978 election, Clements asked the legislature to enact a comprehensive anti-crime package but the measure did not pass.

He told the prosecutors' association he wants court costs doubled to raise $18 million a year to finance state and local criminal justice projects.

"We have always had to walk a fine line in balancing the rights of both the accused and the victims, and I agree that all people's rights must at all times be protected," Clements said in prepared remarks.

"But in recent years, I think we have seen an imbalance occur — in favor of the criminals — and I say to you that it's high time we restore this balance and restore full protection of the laws to the victims of crime," he said.

Clements said his wiretap proposal is patterned after the 1968 federal statute and "would be limited to felony narcotics cases and would contain strict safeguards to protect the right of privacy of law-abiding citizens."

Illegal wiretapping, he said, would be a third-degree felony, punishable by up to 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine. The governor's bill also provides civil penalties of $100 a day or $1,000, whichever is higher.

Other parts of Clements' anti-crime package include proposals to:

—Allow the introduction of a defendant's oral confession into evidence at trial when the accused has waived his rights.

—Permit the jury to be instructed on parole laws in considering sentences.

—Close loopholes in the "shock probation" law.

—Make it clear that money seized in a drug search is to be used to enforce drug laws.

—Increase penalties for rape, sexual abuse, injury to a child or indelicacy with a child.

—Tighten the aggravated rape statute.

—Designate the "chiefs" of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles and "bring accountability to the board" while "delimiting the duties of its primary employees."

Clements said the present operation of the board "is neither efficient, responsible or accountable."

The bill also would provide relief to victims of crimes "where restitution should be made by a parolee."

Clements described his anti-crime package as "tough and hard-hitting."

Snyder Underclassmen Pop 'Stangs Cats Crush Mustangs; Win By 40-0 Score

Snyder junior varsity stuffed and served Mustang steak here last night, defeating Sweetwater 40-0. The Cats, 1-1-1, are off next week, prior to playing in San Angelo Lake View, Oct. 4.

Snyder rolled up 386 total yards of offense, 209 by land and 127 by air, while holding the visitors to a minus 15.

Keith Wallace bought Snyder's first score, crashing over from three yards out with 2:40 left in the opening quarter. The 30-yard drive was set up by a Darrell Robinson fumble recovery.

Kirk Herrley, who rushed for 112 yards on the night, got Snyder's second score on a 23-yard run following a James Caldwell fumble recovery.

Snyder put eight more points on the board in the second quarter to take a 20-0 halftime lead. Herrley scored this time, too, on a four-yard run after Ronny Lindsey had blocked a Sweetwater punt. Quarter-

Win Two

SWEETWATER - Snyder eighth grade football teams shot down Sweetwater's Mustangs here last night in double-header action. Snyder Gold edged the hosts 8-6, while the Cat Black team took an 8-0 victory.

With three minutes left in the game, Snyder Gold went ahead 6-0 on a 10-yard run by Tommy Holliday. Quarterback Charlie Bollinger then ran the PAT to give Snyder an 8-0 lead. The TD was set up by a pass interception by Arturo Martinez.

Sweetwater scored its touchdown with 15 seconds left, but the conversion failed. Defensive standouts included Abey Munoz, Weldon McFridge, Roy Silva, Kyle Freeman, Thad Springer, Harley Vinyard, Thompson and Martinez.

"Everybody played well. They did a good job," commented Coach Winfred Shipp. Shipp cited Jeffery on defense and Herrley on offense as game standouts. Albert Lewis also coaches the Cats.

Felines Battle Tough Lobo Team Saturday

MONAHANS - Snyder could get its toughest district test of the season here Saturday as the Tigers attempt to slap 1979 state volleyball champion Monahans.

The Felines, favored in District 2-AAAA this year, meet the Lobos at 3:30. A junior varsity match will be held at 2:30.

"We'll prepare for them like it will be the toughest match of the season," said Tiger Coach Joyce Elrod, who boasts a 14-0 record this year. Monahans and Lamesa have been given the best chances to defeat the Tigers this year, and both foes will be particularly strong at home.

"It's on their home court and that's a great advantage for them," pointed out Elrod. On the other hand... "Monahans is a

Frosh Rally To Beat Sweetwater

Snyder freshmen rallied to defeat visiting Sweetwater here last evening, 12-10 at Travis Field. The Cats, 2-0 on the season, will host Big Spring next Thursday at 5:30.

Snyder scored first in the contest as Norman Malone broke loose on a 55-yard run. The point-after attempt, a run, failed.

Sweetwater got a safety, then scored on a 40-yard run to take a 10-0 halftime lead, however.

The Cats found the victory in the fourth quarter as Malone picked off a Mustangs pass and raced 30 yards for the score. Again, the point-after failed.

Dodgers Believe They Have Cincy Pegged In Series

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The Los Angeles Dodgers, who lead the National League West by one game over Houston, would appear to have a distinct advantage tonight when they open a three-game series with the still-hopeful Cincinnati Reds.

Jerry Reuss, who has beaten the Reds four times this season and has won 11 of 12 decisions against the contending clubs in the NL, will start on the mound for Los Angeles, against Cincinnati's Paul Moskau.

The Dodgers retained their one-game edge by defeating San Diego 7-3 Thursday night, with their biggest offense in two weeks.

In the only other NL games played Thursday, Houston beat Cincinnati 10-2 and Atlanta sneaked by San Francisco 2-1.

Los Angeles clubbed three Padre pitchers for 13 hits, three of them homers. Most productive were Steve Garvey and Dusty Baker, who combined for only eight hits in 55 at-bats on Los Angeles' recent trip to Houston, Cincinnati and Atlanta.

Ron Cey and Mickey Hatcher hit consecutive homers in the eighth inning off the Padres' Mike Armstrong.

Welch, 13-9, gave up three runs on six hits, including Perkins' second home run. The victory was his third straight.

Rick Wise, 6-8, took the loss, giving up five runs on seven hits in 41-3 innings. Astros 10, Reds 2

A two-run homer by Joe Morgan off loser Frank Pastore, 11-7, was the big blow in the Astros' rout of the Reds. Morgan's seventh-inning clout, scoring Dave Bergman, who had tied the game with a run-scoring single, made a winner out of Houston starter Ken Forsch, 12-12.

The Astros trailed 2-1 when Alan Ashby doubled and Bergman delivered as a pinch hitter for Forsch. Joe Sambito came in on relief to notch his 16th save of the season.

Tigers-Ponies Vie Tonight In Loop 2-4A Grid Opener

SWEETWATER - The fight for the District 2-AAAA football crown begins here tonight as Snyder and Sweetwater meet for their annual rivalry in the Mustang Bowl at 8.

Other 2-AAAA teams also open loop competition this evening as San Angelo Lake View travels to Andrews, Lamesa buses to Fort Stockton and Pecos treks to Monahans. Odessa Ector has the weekend off.

Snyder and Sweetwater have battled 32 times in the past 55 years, making it the second longest rivalry in Tiger history. Of Snyder's opponents throughout the years, only Lamesa has met the Black and Gold more times; 37. Sweetwater leads the series, having won 16 of the 32 meetings. Snyder has won 15, and there has been one tie. In recent years, Snyder has dominated, winning eight out of the past nine games, including the last seven. Last year, the

"A win is important for us right now. We want to open the district with a victory, and we need the confidence. We think if we can win Friday (tonight) going into our open date, it will help us gain some momentum. I think it would put us back in contention," he added.

Sweetwater comes into the game with a 1-1 record, having beaten Clyde 48-0 in its opener, but later falling to Big Spring 13-8. Big Spring also defeated Snyder, 14-13, as did Midland Lee, 17-7.

Both teams utilize the pass well. Sweetwater's Scott Richard is the district's leading passer, yardage-wise, with 10 completions out of 21 attempts for 219 yards. Snyder's Mike Roemisch ranks third, with 12 completions in 39 attempts for 187 yards.

Both teams also have good receivers. Mustang tight end Rodney Griggs, 162-senior, leads the loop with nine catches for 142 yards; while Snyder's Glenn Parham, 175-so, is right behind with seven
