Jury In Brilab Trial Must Pick Good Guys

HOUSTON (AP)—Defense attorneys made their battle plan clear during the first week of the Texas Brilab trial that involves a powerful politician, a labor leader, and two Austin attorneys.

The jury is going to be asked to decide who is telling the truth, who can be trusted, who would you invite home for Sunday dinner.

The choice: Joseph Hauser, 48, an emigrant from Poland who came to the United States at the age of 15 and lived in the Bronx, New York.

Billy Wayne Clayton, a native Texan, a farmer and businessman with deep roots in the Lone Star state; a legislator for 20 years from his West Texas district; Speaker of the House of Representatives for three terms, and once considered a good bet to take the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1982 and get rid of the first Republican governor in 105 years.

Hauser, twice convicted of insurance kickbacks and bribery, still speaks with an accent. He is serving a 30-month term on an insurance fraud conviction and pleaded guilty to a another bribery charge in exchange for a promise to work for the FBI.

He was to use his contacts and sources to lead the federal agents to those labor leaders who would take bribes to send rich insurance contracts to certain firms.

Hauser spent almost three days on the stand last week. He will be back Monday.

Clayton will be called to testify in his own behalf once the defense gets its day in court.

He is folksy, wears cowboy boots and speaks with the twang of that area west of Fort Worth and north of the Abilene. The jury is Texan.

U.S. Assistant Attorney Ron Woods, recognized as a master of presenting a case step-by-step so a jury never loses its balance, has Hauser's testimony and tape recordings to back it up.

Titan II Missile Destroyed...

AF Silent On Report Blast Blew Warhead Out Of Silo

DAMASCUS, Ark. (AP)—The Air Force today would neither confirm nor deny reports that a nuclear warhead was blown out of the underground silo in an explosion at a Titan II missile site that killed an Air Force sergeant and injured 21 other maintenance workers.

But 1,400 people evacuated from their homes in this rural area about 50 miles north of Little Rock were allowed to return to their homes late Friday after officials said no radioactivity was detected in the area.

Pentagon sources on Friday told The Associated Press there was a nuclear weapon atop the missile, which is designed to destroy a city more than 6,000 miles away.

Several newspapers and at least two television networks today quoted sources as saying the warhead was thrown from the silo in the pre-dawn explosion Thursday but was found intact a short distance away.

The Omaha World-Herald quoted sources who said the 103-foot missile was destroyed and that some damage was done to the warhead, but there were no radiation leaks.

The Arkansas Gazette said the silo housed a 10-megaton warhead, "the most powerful in the United States arsenal," that was thrown from the silo but not damaged.

Similar reports appeared in the Washington Post, the Memphis Commercial Appeal and the New York Daily News and were broadcast on NBC and ABC.

An Air Force spokesman this morning said he could neither confirm nor deny the reports, the customary response to questions about accidents involving nuclear weapons.

Strategic Air Command officials were continuing an investigation of the accident and the extent of the damage today. Both stages of the 165-ton missile were heavily damaged the Air Force said.

But Air Force Secretary Hans Mark stressed, "There is absolutely no evidence of any radioactive material in the area. I can tell you that with absolute assurance."

The blast at about 3 a.m. near this central Arkansas community shattered the silo's 750-ton steel-and-concrete lid, spewing table-size chunks of twisted steel and concrete into the air and injuring a total of 22 airmen, two seriously. A 60-man Air Force emergency response team was above ground near the silo at the time.

One injured man, Sgt. David Livingston, 21, of Heath, Ohio, died Friday after he "breathed a toxic solution of some kind—that was the fatal blow," according to hospital spokesman John Ponders at Baptist Medical Center in Little Rock.

It was the third fatal accident at a Titan II silo. In 1965, 53 civilian workmen were killed in a silo near Searcy, Ark., when a welder's torch touched a line carrying a combustible fluid. In 1978, two airmen were killed when a leak led to the escape of a cloud of toxic gas near Rock, Kan.

A leak at the silo near Damascus occurred in January 1978, but the missile itself did not leak then, the Air Force said.

The events leading to the blast began Thursday when a workman dropped a 3-pound wrench socket that punctured a fuel tank in the first stage of the missile, authorities said.

When vapor from leaking fuel was spotted, a four-man launch crew began releasing 100,000 gallons of water stored in a tank.

Commutes To Gulf...

Sea Captain Believes Area Like Ocean Bed

By JOHN LONG
Peter Perceval believes West Texas looks like what the bottom of the ocean looks like, if it were dried out.

As Perceval plies the Gulf of Mexico, he says he can't help but look over the vast expanse of water and see, in his mind's eye, the West Texas landscape underneath it.

Perceval also claims to be the only sea captain living in Snyder, and in that he is probably right. He is captain of the Acadian Seafarer, a 1,000-ton oil research ship owned and operated by Texaco. He's four weeks on duty and two weeks off.

Perceval, 3781 Sunset, is an old salt and an Englishman, too. Born in English-controlled Northern Ireland, he joined the British navy in World War II, and afterward drifted into the British merchant marine fleet. He came to the United States during the early 1950s to receive his pilot training from the U.S. Navy. Then he tried the straight life.

For more than 20 years, he stayed ashore, devoting himself to wife and family. During that time, he held down positions at two universities and operated two marine research companies. But the lure of the sea proved too strong, and with his youngest daughter almost grown, he couldn't resist the temptation to return to his primal element.

Acting on stepson Mike Welch's advice, he and wife Betty moved to Snyder last January from Virginia. They find small town life to their liking.

"I have the best of both worlds," explained Perceval. "I have all the sea I want and all the good part of a small, friendly town."

When reporting to duty, Perceval drives to Lubbock and from there flies to where the ship is in port. Even at sea, however, his thoughts return to arid West Texas. The scenery here makes him think, "That's what the bottom of the ocean looks like that I've been traveling over."

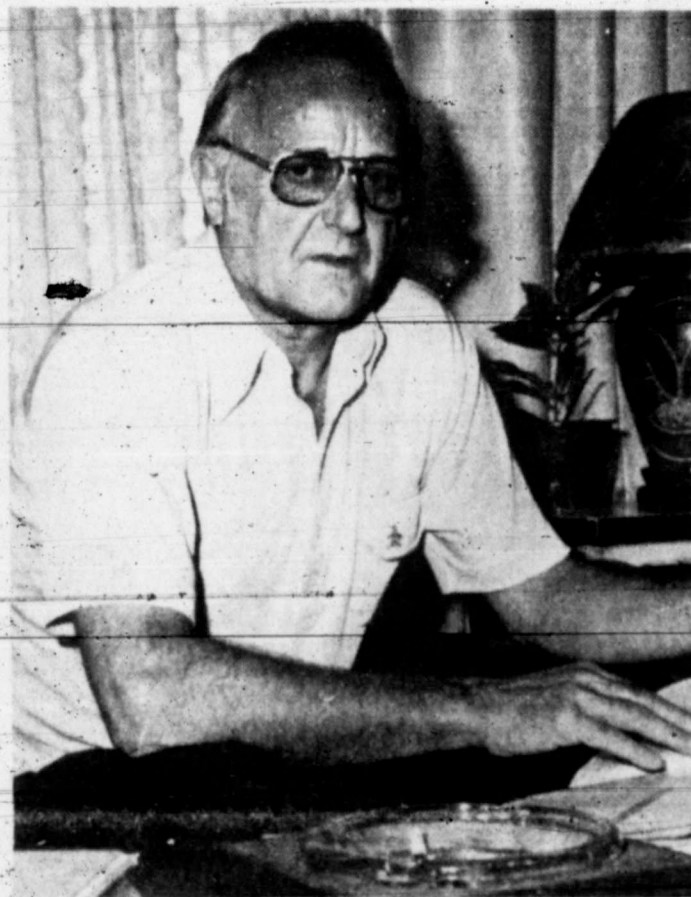

There's a tie-in there that occurs to me that might not occur to other people. I'm different, I guess," he quipped.

Perceval likes to point out that at one time all of West Texas was under water, under the Permian Sea. That's why this area is called the Permian Basin. Fossilized sea shells, which are common to this region, are proof of the marine life that once existed here. That same marine life, he said, is also one reason why the oil deposits are here.

Tracie Gilstrap, Kenneth Goldsmith and Belia Perez of Snyder.

Freshman senators are Mike Cafaro of Bronx, N.Y., Lori Hollowell of Clyde, Debbie Nowell of Colorado City, Kevin Wade of Stamford, Jamie Westbrock of Kermit, Holly Williams of San Angelo, and Becky Bigham, Dawn Cole, Darrell Collins, Doug Gilstrap, Teena Hopper, Tammy O'Day and Angie Thane of Snyder.

No Funds For Ixtoc I

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has refused to make an exception for the massive Intoc I oil spill in approving a "superfund" bill to cover the costs of future spills.

There was a resounding defeat Friday for an amendment to make the proposed fund retroactive to include compensation for the spill that spread from Mexico's Bay of Campeche to soil Texas beaches last year.

"It's a disappointment, because superfund offers a method for payment of damages," the amendment's sponsor, Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Texas, said after the vote. "This fund would have provided the dollars."

Somoza Mourned By Exiles

MIAMI (AP)—Mourning Nicaraguan exiles, many fearing expiration of their visas this month, were saying goodbye to their assassinated former president, Gen. Anastasio Somoza, at a public funeral here today.

Hundreds filed past the open silver casket on Friday after a 100-car caravan brought it to the Caballero Funeral Home. Shouts of "Viva Somoza" and "Somoza, we will avenge your blood" rang out as the coffin was carried in.

The SDN Column

A few years ago, Texans headed both major political parties in this country. Bob Strauss, who was reared at Stamford, was national chairman of the Democratic Party, and George Bush, who had adopted Texas as his home state and settled first in Midland and later in Houston, held the same position in the Republican Party.

Now that the 1980 campaign is beginning to sizzle, neither is in the background, although they have different roles. Bush, of course, is the vice presidential candidate of the Republicans, while Strauss is President Carter's campaign manager.

But they are at odds on just about any topic you might mention and both are far from reluctant to express their views.

There was a time, and some may even yet have that opinion, when a lot of people thought Strauss and Bush would be better candidates than anyone else their respective parties could produce.

Strauss was a considerably less likely candidate than Bush, however. He always has been the type to remain in the background and pull the strings, cash in the political chips and map strategy. Bush, on the other hand, never seemed the type to remain off-stage for any length of time. So, it is not surprising that he is on the Republican ticket, while Strauss continues somewhat as a candidate's agent or manager.

Both have served their respective parties in a variety of tasks, and it seems rather strange that both major parties rely so heavily upon Texans to contribute muscle to their campaigns.

There was a time when Texas had people in office who represented prestige and considerable power in the federal government, but attrition has taken its toll. There are no more Tom Connallys, John Nance Garner, Sam Rayburns, Lyndon Johnsons, George Mahons and Omar Burlesons on the scene. Seniority in the legislative halls doesn't command the attention that it did in earlier years.

But Texas still has its heavyweights in the party machinery as Bush and Strauss carry on.

Political campaigning is not what it used to be, and people like Bush and Strauss, along with their cohorts, usually aim for big stuff. The little "whistle stops" are long gone from the itinerary, and it is just as well. We suspect that few people would take the time to assemble for political speeches on a vacant lot, or on the courthouse square as they did in earlier years. They are content to wait for a television appearance and then they can shut it off, change channels, or completely ignore it if they desire.

The general lack of interest in political speeches reminds us of a story about the late comedian, Fred Allen. While struggling for recognition, he appeared on a vaudeville bill in an eastern city, but his routine got barely a ripple of applause. When he finally retreated to the wings, another performer asked, "How did it go Fred? Did you kill 'em?"

"No," replied Allen. "They were already dead when I got there."

The cactus patch philosopher says the difference between a dictatorship and our own democratic system is that in America, the chief executive is elected by the people—except the present one, of course. —WACIL MCNAIR

New Bank Names Interim Directors

Organizers of a third bank in Snyder met Friday and elected interim directors.

Chosen as interim directors of the First National Bank (In Organization) were: Bill McCormick, Buster Anderson, Roy McQueen, Morris Light, Mal Donelson, Milton Ham, E.J. Walton, Lewis Nance and Sammy Spikes.

Those elected as interim directors were those who were listed as organizers of the proposed bank when the application for a national bank charter was filed in last November. Charter approval was granted Aug. 8.

All the interim directors except two are Snyder residents. Nance, currently senior vice president of the Brownfield State Bank, has been chosen president of the new bank, and he will be moving to Snyder in October.

Spikes, a Snyder native, currently is president of the Brownfield State Bank.

The bank will be located at 37th and College and the proposed capital is $2 million. The building presently located at 3610 College will be renovated for the banking facility.

The bank hopes to be open by early 1981, but construction time and regulatory authority will determine the actual opening date.

At Cogdell... Blood Drive Set Tuesday

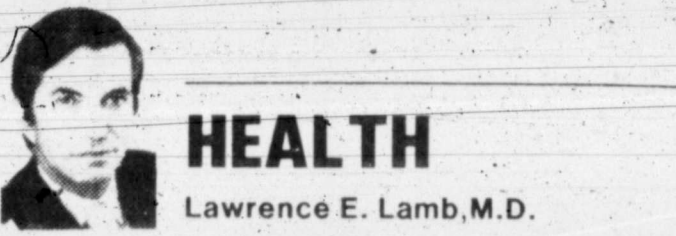

The Cogdell Memorial Hospital Auxiliary is sponsoring a blood drive Tuesday from 2-8 p.m. in the conference room of the hospital. The blood is needed to restore reserves at the hospital which are in low supply.

Ouida Bruner, spokesperson for the auxiliary, points out that the only source of this vital fluid is human beings and that drives are planned every two months throughout the year to insure local supplies stay adequate.

Approximately one pint of blood is taken from your arm when you donate. Since the average person has 10 to 12 pints, giving one doesn't hurt. Your body replaces the blood quickly, she said.

Most people ages 17 through 65 can donate. However, "for the protection of both donor and recipient, certain people cannot be accepted as donors," she said. A list of qualifications follows: You must weigh a minimum of 110 pounds. You must wait at least eight weeks between donations. You must be between 17 and 65 years of age, although people 66 and over may donate if they obtain a doctor's written consent. You may not donate if: You have had hepatitis, heart, lung, kidney, liver or stomach disease. Or if you have cancer, diabetes requiring insulin, addiction to infectable drugs, epilepsy.

The only way to know for sure if you're eligible is to go to the conference room Tuesday and ask, says Mrs. Bruner. Each prospective donor is given a mini-physical, she added, which benefits both donor and recipient.

Tension with tranquilizers

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR LAMB—I feel compelled to tell you about my experience with Valium in the hope that it will help other people. I started on it five years ago and was to take it for stressful situations. I never took more than prescribed and sometimes none at all. While I was on a trip with my husband, things were unusually stressful and I took three to four a day.

When we got home, things calmed down a bit but I didn't. I was very healthy, golfed, hiked, bowled, worked but I was still tense. My heart raced and I couldn't sleep at night. I was mentally calm but physically uptight. I was only taking a couple of pills every two or three days to ease the tightness of my muscles. Things got so bad I considered going to a psychiatrist even though I couldn't figure out what stressful situation I was undergoing.

Finally, I decided to quit Valium altogether and be independent of any drug. I also stopped the sleeping pills that I had been buying and aspirin. The first week of freedom from the pills was really rough. I sweated buckets. My heart raced and skipped. I was sometimes awake all night and as stiff as a board.

That's when I finally realized that my so-called tension was really withdrawal symptoms. I was really shocked. Now I know that a lot of people are having the same trouble. These symptoms sneak up so insidiously one doesn't realize what has happened. There must be many people who are taking these minor tranquilizers and don't know that it builds up in the body and takes six to seven weeks to get worked out.

Now that it's all over I feel really great—better than I have felt for a long time. No muscle tension. Very few sweats or cold sweats. My point is that Valium is sneaky. Nobody should say, "Who me? I just take a little bit." Before you run off to see a psychiatrist it would be a good idea to discontinue any such medicines.

DEAR READER—Thank you for sharing your important experience with us. You are correct about Valium and that applies to some other medicines that build up in the body. Valium binds with plasma proteins in the blood and that makes it relatively stable. Over half of the Valium that you take will still be in your blood as long as two days later. And it gradually diminishes from that point on. This means that even though you only took the medicine every other day, you would still have an opportunity for it to build up.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 12-2. Sedatives, Hypnotics and Tranquilizers: The Pill Problem. It will discuss the problem of Valium, Librium and related drugs that so many people are taking. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Congratulations on your successful elimination of drug dependency. One word of caution to others. People who are taking reasonable amounts of such medicines may have trouble if they stop the medicine abruptly on their own. That's not wise. Let your doctor help you get off the medication to minimize the chances of any complications that might occur.

DECADES OF GAS SUPPLY FROM TWO OF NATURE'S BEST-PROTECTED SOURCES.

Did your mother ever hide some of her spare cash in a cookie jar, out of easy reach until she needed it?

Well—that's what Mother Nature did when she placed enormous deposits of natural gas in hard-to-reach places.

Places like the deep basins in Texas and Oklahoma, where the gas deposits were miles too deep for man to reach them.

Places like the tight basins in Texas, where formations were so tight-fisted the gas could barely flow to the wells.

Now, after spending years and millions of dollars, producers have the technology to explore five-mile depths and speed up the flow of gas through dense rock. And high-production gas wells are being completed in the deep and the tight basins.

Many industry experts believe that each of these sources can double the nation's current proven reserves. Exciting news, because Lone Star is well situated to buy your share of this new gas for the 1980's, the 1990's and beyond.

John Hill Looking Like A Candidate

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — John Hill looks like a candidate—and talks like a candidate, but he's not ready to say he will run for governor in 1982.

"No one has to sell me on public service or serving the people of this state as governor," Hill said in an interview. "I'm sure that would be most satisfying." His decision will come about June 1.

"I would say shortly after the (legislative) session is over that decision would be appropriate," Hill told The Associated Press.

Hill, a 57-year-old Austin attorney, entered politics in 1966 as Texas secretary of state after a successful legal practice in Houston. In 1972 he was elected Texas attorney general. After three terms, he ran for Texas governor in 1978, the dream of his life.

Hill won the Democratic primary with 51.4 percent of the vote, defeating Gov. Dolph Briscoe and former Gov. Preston Smith. "But he lost by about 17,000 votes to Republican newcomer Bill Clements in the general election."

"We won the race but we lost the election," Hill said, recalling the historic upset. "We didn't get our vote out at the last."

Others note Hill spent $3.5 million and Clements $8 million.

Two years later, a frequently heard question is "What happened to John Hill?"

"During that first year, Bitsy and I settled down in our Austin home," Hill said.

As a senior partner in the firm of Hughes and Hill, with offices in Austin and Dallas, his law practice has prospered.

The firm won a $19.2 million breach of contract suit against the new government of Iran for Electronic Data Systems, headed by Ross Perot. Hill also is representing Perot in the controversy over computer services for the State Department of Human Resources.

"Speeches? I'd say I made 10 or 12 last year and maybe this year more than that."

Hill has remained close to operations of the Texas Democratic Party through state chairman Billy Goldberg, a wealthy Houston businessman who got his job on Hill's recommenation. Hill was co-chairman of the Texas delegation to the 1980 national Democratic convention, and in political circles, "John Hill, Democrat" is a common term.

"I'm a Democrat," Hill says, emphasizing the last word. "I love the Democratic Party. I think it's the party through the years that has the interest of every citizen at heart... I view myself as more in the middle of the spectrum on my overall approach. On specific issues I would be very careful with money."

"I'm not a wasteful person. And from that standpoint, I would be viewed as a conservative. But I don't mind spending money for what I view as necessary, desirable and essential projects in government or in my person life."

He still smarts over some of Clements campaign claims.

"Clements obviously very falsely labeled me in some of his campaign literature, just short of making a broad sweeping claim that I was a liberal on all issues, which is not a correct assessment at all," Hill said.

Hill said Clements' administration "has not been productive at all. We really are just having to bleed awhile because we obviously have a governor that doesn't seem to be deeply interested in the kind of concerns that I think most of our people have," Hill said.

"The kindest, most charitable thing I could say to make any sense out of his administration is that he must believe that Texas government is somewhat akin to Washington government, and nothing could be further from the truth."

Hill said he will do a lot of thinking before committing himself to another governor's race.

"It's something I have to talk with Bitsy about in a lot of depth," he said. "I've got to assess what I should be doing and what the Lord frankly would want me to do - if I can discover that through my prayers."

"I very much want to see the Democrats regain the governorship in 1982, because I think it is important for my children and my grandchildren and for my state," he said. "I'll certainly work hard to see that occurs."

If Hill should decide to run, he thinks he is in good shape.

"I have an excellent political organization, I'm happy to say. I would put it up against anyone's. It doesn't have a name. Just the people who have worked with us."

Money would not be a big campaign problem, Hill said.

"Not one penny was borrowed (in the 1978 campaign), and we did not have a deficit of any consequence, particularly when you bear in mind Mr. Clements borrowed $5 million," he said. "I believe those same people who supported me before would be responsive to me again."

But in the end, Hill realizes, a 1982 governor's race depends on what Texans think of Clements after four years of his administration.

"After a year and a half, I've been hoping, frankly, that he would chalk up a lot of what he said in the campaign as just campaign rhetoric. I knew at the time he wasn't going to give $1 billion back to the taxpayers of Texas. I knew at the time he wasn't going to be able to carry out those astringent savings he proposed."

GYPSY JADE—Indians are a favorite subject of Ben Konis, regardless of their age. He travels throughout the Southwest and Mexico, photographing and sketching the region and its inhabitants. He titled the portrait of this little girl "Gypsy Jade," using pastels as the medium.

Konis Due Here For Workshop

Ben Konis, an eastern-bred Westerner will be bringing his paintings of the Southwest to the Scurry County Museum at Western Texas College for an exhibit from Sept. 28-Oct. 25.

In connection with the show, he will be holding a workshop from Sept. 29-Oct. 1. Fees are $60 per person, and reservations with a $25 deposit are due by Tuesday. Information regarding the workshop may be obtained from the museum office by calling 573-6107.

Konis works primarily with oils and pastels, and feels one complements the other. With oils, he is particularly fond of the spreadability, total range of colors, and the use of wet-into-wet technique. With pastels, he enjoys rework because of the dry application. He likes the immediacy of pastel and the stability of its color.

He works both in his studio in Amarillo and on location in the Southwest he loves. Location painting is especially enjoyable for him since the colors are brighter in the natural sunlight. He has a partial color blindness, and so sees things a little differently, but he is an intense colorist and loves color.

Konis is also a dedicated teacher. For 11 years he has offered an annual workshop in Ruidoso along with many workshops and seminars in his own studio and at other locations.

He holds memberships in Artists of the Southwest, Texas Fine Arts Association, New Mexico Fine Arts Association, and the Salmagundi Club.

Members of the Museum Association will have a preview of the Konis show and a buffet dinner at 7 p.m. Saturday. Anyone who would like to join the Association is invited to do so, and may mail checks for membership to the museum at Post Office Box 696, Snyder.

The public is invited to attend a reception honoring Konis from 1-5 p.m. Sept. 28.

Most of the works in the show will be for sale. Prices are available from the museum office on request.

Wednesday mornings feature table games from 9:30-11:30 a.m., and players may choose their own games. Everyone is invited to join in a Sing-Along at 11:30 each Friday morning.

Daily activities in the Center include an exercise class, quilting, liquid embroidery and games. Crafts classes are being planned but have been delayed due to the illness of the activities director, Jean Smith. Rehearsals for the Sunshine Choir are held at 1 p.m. on Fridays.

The Center is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each weekday and from 6:30-9 p.m. on Thursdays.

Claims Mosquitoes Killed Cows

BRAZORIA, Texas (AP) - Thick swarms of mosquitoes attacked a herd of cattle on Stephen Perry's farm one steamy summer afternoon last month and sucked the life's blood from the animals.

"It's the worst thing that ever happened to this coastal country," Perry said Friday. "They came in about four o'clock one evening and the cattle were dead the next morning. It was just like the Bible, you know, with the locusts and all."

Many folks in this community of 1,800 about 45 miles south of Houston have scooped at Perry's strange tale, but a veterinarian at Texas A&M Medical Diagnostic Laboratory said, "That's a very strong probability." Dr. L.G. Gayle conducted autopsies on four cows and one calf. He said tests found as much as half of the seven to nine gallons of blood in the animals' bodies was missing.

Gayle said he concluded through a process of elimination that the animals lost large amounts of blood to the mosquitoes and either died as a direct result of blood loss or later from heat or exhaustion.

"It had to go somewhere. We found no infectious agents, and we found no toxic elements," Gayle said.

He said several of the dead livestock were found by themselves and that they could find no reason "for the severe anemia" since no external or internal hemorrhaging was found.

Perry said he has lost about 40 cows, three horses and several calves since the first swarm hit Aug. 19, but "we kind of lost count."

Officials said the swarms of mosquitoes have plagued the entire Texas coast since Hurricane Allen slammed ashore last month.

"We've had mosquitoes before but we've never had a seige like this. You could just reach out and get yourself a handful. It was just terrible and it's still bad."

J.C. McNeil, director for Brazoria County's mosquito control office, identified the flying insects as salt marsh mosquitoes.

Eggs of the mosquitoes lay dormant for up to 20 years, waiting for salt water, McNeil said.

Allen's high tides left salt water standing in places that had not been soaked since Hurricane Carla knifed across South Texas in 1961, he said. As a result, billions of mosquito eggs hatched at once.

Allen's high tides left salt water standing in places that had not been soaked since Hurricane Carla knifed across South Texas in 1961, he said. As a result, billions of mosquito eggs hatched at once.

"We are in a hell of a mosquito storm right now," McNeil said.

Salt marsh mosquitoes have flight ranges up to 10 miles and life spans up to 13 weeks. "We got our plane and our trucks running full tilt. It just takes time to knock them down."

Gayle said he has found only one documented case of cattle deaths by mosquitoes. That occurred in Florida during the early 1930s, he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government is raising interest rates as much as a full percentage point on FHA and VA mortgages to make them more competitive with conventional loans and therefore more acceptable to lenders and home sellers.

Government officials said Friday that allowable rates for mortgages backed by the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration will rise to 13 percent on Monday.

Lending institutions now are limited to charging 12 percent interest on FHA and VA mortgages for single-family and multi-family homes, so they make up the difference between that rate and higher prevailing rates - 14 percent or more in many markets - by charging sellers cash payments known as "discount points."

Each "point" is equal to 1 percent of the total mortgage, and common charges of 9 points or higher - $4,500 or more on a $50,000 mortgage - are making sellers less than eager to see buyers hoping to use VA or FHA coming up the sidewalk.

"As a matter of fact, many home sellers are refusing to consider FHA and VA financing when placing their homes on the market," said Moon Landrieu, secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

"The increases in VA and FHA interest rates are necessary to reflect the realities of the money market," he said. "With respect to single-family mortgages, under current conditions the federal insurance programs are practically useless."

The chief economist for the National Association of Home Builders, however, said the climbing interest rates in general will make it harder for many Americans to afford to buy houses - whether loan money is available or not - and could bring a new slump in housing starts.

Those starts increased in August, but Michael Sumichrast said it will probably be some time before they rise again. The escalating interest rates, he said, "are simply going to kill housing."

Meanwhile, several banks in New York and other cities raised their prime interest rates - the rates they charge their best corporate customers - from 12 1/4 percent to 12 1/2 percent on Friday.

For many years, a man had saved his money for an ocean voyage. He took a supply of crackers and cheese along so he would not have to buy his meals in the ship's dining room. Several days later, as they were disembarking, a steward asked the man why he had not joined the other passengers for dinner in the dining room. Embarrassed, the man responded that after purchasing his ticket he did not have enough money to buy his meals.

A look of astonishment came over the steward's face, and he exclaimed, "But sir, your fare included all your meals. You could have eaten in the dining room free."

Many Christians today live similarly in the spiritual realm. They are existing on "cheese and crackers" without realizing the provision God has made for His Children. When we accept Jesus' atonement for our sins we have access to God's power to meet every need of our spirit and body. God only asks that we live in obedience to His Word. Then we can be assured that our every need will be met.

"Whatever we ask, we receive of Him, because we keep His commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in His sight. (1 John 3:22) . . . As God's children, we have access to His full provision in our lives. The sad part is that too many people are living below their privilege. God has promised many wonderful and great things for those who live for Him.

What a tremendous promise! The provision has already been made! What is the pressing need of your life today? Ask God to provide and receive His supply. He will not fail you.

Voter Deadline Is Oct. 5

AUSTIN (AP) - Texans have until Oct. 5 to register to vote in the Nov. 4 general election, Secretary of State George Strake said Friday.

Strake, the state's chief elections officer, noted only U.S. citizens and Texas residents can register as voters.

Strake said he made the warning "in light of the large number of undocumented workers residing in Texas."

"As chief election officer of this state, I appeal to every citizen to make certain he is registered to vote before Oct. 5, and to exercise that right in the Nov. 4 general election."

Dear Abby

TV 'Garbage'
A Turn-Off to Parents
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We recently got cable television, and our 12-year-old daughter has been watching R-rated movies even though we would prefer that she not do so.

She said there is nothing wrong with it because she knows what is going on in the world. We're afraid that she'll soon think that the behavior portrayed in these movies is the norm.

Are we square in believing that a 12-year-old really doesn't need to watch a constant stream of sex and violence?

What do you think? And what should we tell her? She is a very level-headed girl.

IN A BIND IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR IN: Responsible parents would not permit their children to eat garbage, so why tempt them with intellectual garbage by making it so handy and accessible? If you believe you are exposing your daughter to "a constant stream of sex and violence" with cable TV, you shouldn't have it in your home.

Do I think you're "square?" No. However, I do think you're unrealistic to have R-rated movies available on TV at home, while telling your 12-year-old you prefer she didn't watch them.

DEAR ABBY: The last three times we have been invited to a wedding, I have called the bride's mother and asked if her daughter was registered, or if she had some suggestions on what the bride could use.

All three times, the mother has hemmed and hawed, and ended up saying, "They have so many things already," or "She's been on her own for some time and has everything she needs, so why don't you just give them the cash instead? I'm sure they can use it."

Abby, I have never given money for a wedding gift, and I don't intend to start now.

I plan to send a gift, and I don't care if it's the only gift they receive. Am I wrong?

DISGUSTED IN WISCONSIN

DEAR DISGUSTED: No. You asked the bride's mother for some "suggestions." She offered one. But you are not obligated to accept it.

...

DEAR ABBY: I am sending you a copy of a guide for self-help. I am not the author and I don't know who originated it, but I hope you will find it worth sharing with your readers. I think it's excellent.

JIM SCHMITT, SACRAMENTO

DEAR JIM: I agree. But it's much too long to be published in its entirety. I hope the author will come forth to accept the credit, and forgive me for editing the piece to suit my purpose.

SCENARIO FOR A WINNER

A winner says, "Let's find out"; a loser says, "Nobody knows."

A winner makes commitments. A loser makes promises.

A winner says, "I'm good, but not as good as I ought to be"; a loser says, "I'm not as bad as a lot of other people."

A winner credits his "good luck" for winning — even though it wasn't his good luck; a loser blames his "bad luck" for losing — even though it wasn't his bad luck.

A winner listens; a loser just waits until it's his turn to talk.

A winner respects those who are superior to him and tries to learn from them; a loser resents the superiority of others and tries to find chinks in their armor.

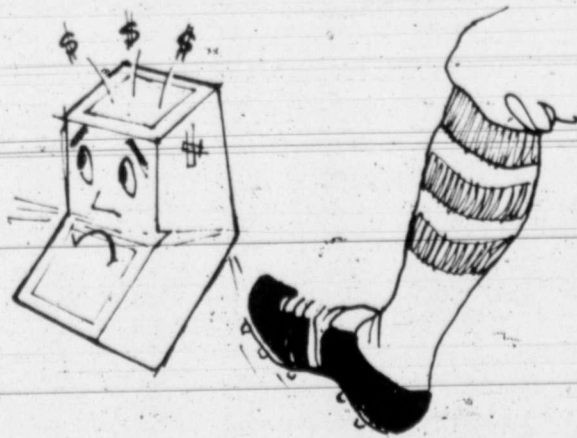

A winner does more than his job; a loser says, "I only work here."

A winner says, "I fell"; a loser says, "Somebody pushed me."

Officers Hunt Owner Of Coins

Police said they are searching for the owner of some coins they recently recovered.

Recovered, said officer Ed Neeley, were several buffalo nickels, Jefferson nickels, and some foreign coins.

Neeley asked that anyone having information concerning where the coins came from to contact him at the police department.

2 Party Chiefs Out In Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The Polish government fired Communist Party chiefs in two populous provinces as labor unrest continued amid signs the Soviet Union is flexing its military muscles along Poland's borders.

The government said Friday that provincial party first secretaries Zdzislaw Grudzien in Katowice and Jerzy Zasada in Poznan "stepped down" at local party meetings.

Police television said Grudzien, a long-time ally of recently ousted national Communist Party chief Edward Gierek, was relieved "at his own request" at a meeting attended by Gierek's successor, Stanislaw Kania. Polish authorities, routinely describe firings as resignations.

The Soviet Union, which has blamed "anti-socialist" elements for the recent labor troubles in neighboring Poland, appears to be making a show of force along Poland's frontiers. The United States has detected signs of stepped-up military maneuvers in the western Soviet Union and East Germany.

Secretary of State Muskie, mindful of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968, said Washington is monitoring the situation closely. Asked whether he thought there was a danger of a Soviet invasion, Muskie said, "When there is a coincidence of political developments and these exercises in that area of the world, one would not be wise to overlook the coincidence."

Sources in Washington say the United States is quietly consulting with its European allies about the communist bloc maneuvers. State Department spokesman John Trattner said Washington is drawing no conclusions as of yet, adding that the troop movements might be related to Warsaw Pact exercises routinely held in the late summer.

In the Polish political shuffle, Andrzej Zabinski replaced Grudzien both as party first secretary of Katowice Province and as a member of the ruling Politburo. Transportation in Katowice, the provincial capital of the important coal mining region, had been brought to a near-standstill by a streetcar and bus drivers' strike. The Katowice region considered Gierek's former power base, has been afflicted by coal miners' walkouts following the late August settlement of crippling strikes in the northern Baltic region.

Katowice strike leaders said they ended their job action Friday after the city government agreed to pay raises and the settlement of various workers' complaints.

The state-run radio had previously reported 16 struck plants in various parts of Poland, and there was no word of resolution of those disputes Friday.

The official Polish news agency PAP said Zasada gave up his post at a meeting attended by Stefan Olszowski, a Politburo member and secretary of the party's Central Committee. Ambassador to Romania Jerzy Kusiak was reportedly tapped to replace Zasada as party first secretary in the western Polish city.

Olszowski, a Gierek opponent during the ousted leader's tenure, was restored to the Politburo during the government shakeup in August, at the height of crippling strikes in the north.

News for ulcer patients: eating six small meals a day rather than three regular meals may be easier on the ulcers. A team of gastro-enterologists at U. of S. Florida has found that eating more often lowers the release of gastrin, a hormone that stimulates the acid secretion which aggravates ulcers. In ulcer patients the level of gastrin was twice as high on three-meal days as it was on six-meal days.

Ira Blasts Loop 52-7; Cougs Next

LOOP—Ira's Bulldogs claimed their third victory in a row here Friday night, ripping Loop 52-7.

The Dogs entertain Christoval next week, Friday at 8 p.m.

Ira scored in every quarter of the football game, finally putting 16 points on the board early in the fourth stanza, which broke the six-man 45-point rule and ended the contest with eight minutes still remaining.

Still, Coach Tom Pierson had praise for the hosts.

"Loop is the best ball club we've played," he said, despite Ira's nightmare 60-56 win over Lueders-Avoca last week. "They hit you hard. The score is not indicative of their brand of ball."

Ira racked up 477 yards, 280 rushing and 197 passing. Loop managed a 115 total.

Five Bulldogs got in on the scoring show as Wade Pierson scored on runs of 30, 69 and 33 yards and Jimmy Elam raced in from four yards out. Pierson also hit Robert Mitchell for a 14-yard TD toss, and James Crowder for a pass play that stretched 70 yards. Crowder hurled an 11-yard pass to Kevin Huddleston, and kicked five PAT attempts. Ira also had two touchdowns called back as they were hit for 132 yards in penalties on 17 flags. Loop was cited for one infraction of 15 yards.

Allen Freeman scored Loop's lone TD in the third quarter.

Sweetwater Breaks Claw Hold...

Mustangs Cage Snyder, 18-7

by Bill McClellan
SWEETWATER: Bruises didn't hurt. There was no pain. Surrounded by band members playing the fight song, the school song and various victory marches, the players felt nothing, nothing but sheer joy.

It was a locker room scene. But unfortunately for Snyder fans, the celebrating was going on in the Mustang den.

Sweetwater's Mustangs caged the Tigers of Snyder here Friday night 18-7 in a game that will long be remembered as Sweetwater's finest moment. For the Tigers, whose 0-3 start is their worst since 1967, it will hopefully not be remembered at all, but simply forgotten.

For the past 10 years, though the teams did not play in 1972 or 1973, Snyder dominated when the two teams met. It was history, and no one expected it to change, especially in 1980, when Sweetwater was preseason rated ninth in a nine team district.

In the end, the Mustangs' own naivety won it for them. Under new coach W.T. Stapler, the Ponies refused to believe Snyder was too tough for them. And they were ready.

Like a band of hungry dogs, they kept nipping at the Tiger heels. First a long punt return, then a good gain. Finally, a touchdown, then two, then victory. Defensively, the Mustangs held the stunned Tigers to a net 44 yards worth of offense. On the ground, Snyder came up with a minus 19 in the second half. Meanwhile, the hosts took advantage of great field position all night, even from the outset.

Sweetwater scored on its first two possessions of the game. Holding the Tigers to no first downs on the visitors' opening effort, the Mustangs got their first of several excellent punt returns from Rodney Griggs. Several plays later, Cecil Woods buzzed for 15 yards to the Tiger 3-yard line. On the next try, halfback Junior Garcia went in standing up for the first Mustang touchdown of the night. The extra point attempt by Danny Williams was off, but with only 3:43 gone in the game. Sweetwater led, 6-0.

Snyder gained a first down on its second possession as quarterback Mike Roemisch ran for five yards and tailback Mark Shaw picked up eight. But the hosts managed to shut the Tigers down on their second effort, sacking Roemisch for a 16 yard loss on third and long.

The Mustangs took over the football on the Tiger 43-yard line, just one example of the good field position they enjoyed all night long.

Quarterback Scott Richardson hit Griggs on a 17-yard pass on first down, but a penalty on second shoved the ball back to the 42. After Richardson lost two yards on the next play, the Stangs pulled something out of the hat. Richardson handed off to Griggs, who passed to a wide open James Goodman for the distance, and Sweetwater went in front, 12-0. Again, the PAT try failed.

Snyder showed promise in the second quarter when the Tigers drove from their own 13 to the 48-yard line before a fourth down try came up short. Still, the stadium wondered when the Tigers would finally lower the boom. But it was never really to happen.

Snyder did get on the Coyotes Clout Wellman; Roemisch Overjoyed!

By The SDN Sports Staff
GAIL—Coyotes, sometimes considered a rancher's nightmare, are getting some healthy respect around these parts recently. But these aren't four legged animals. These are the proud Borden County Coyotes of Gail. And they just might be tougher than the shaggy version.

Coach Randy Roemisch's Coyotes blasted Wellman here Friday night, 34-6 to win their second consecutive ballgame of the 1980-81 season. The Coyotes, who gained instant respect three weeks ago despite a 26-8 loss to 1979 state runner-up Cotton Center, will attempt to make it three next week when they travel to Blackwell.

"We looked solid last night; we jelled both offensively and defensively," said Coach Roemisch Saturday morning.

Roemisch noted "Defensively, we're improving every week. Wellman was a strong, powerful team. Our defense would bend to let them to the 10-yard line, but it wouldn't break."

Wellman's lone touchdown came in the fourth period when Terry Emerson returned a Coyote kickoff 68 yards to score. By then it was too late, however. Gail had already fashioned 28 points of its own.

Borden County got on the boards in the first period when Jym Rinehart hit Phillip Benavidez with a 7-yard TD pass. Later in the quarter, Mike Peterson crossed over on a one-yard run for a 12-0 lead. Both PAT tries failed.

Neither team scored in the second quarter, but in the third the Coyotes were right back at it. Rinehart found Troy King this time on a 19-yard connection, and Jr. Benavidez split the uprights for a 20-0 advantage.

In the fourth quarter it was a six-yard pass from Rinehart to Phillip Benavidez again, with Jr. Benavidez tacking on the point-after for a 28-0 lead.

Wellman's touchdown followed, but Borden County retaliated with another score of its own. This time Rinehart found King again on a 10-yard toss that made it 34-6.

"Offensively we blocked outside and ran our sweeps well," said the coach. "We used our passing when we needed, and we needed it on the goal (see Coyotes, pg. 9)

Tigers To Regroup On Open Weekend

Friday's 18-7 loss to Sweetwater will be a hard fact to live with, but Snyder Coach Mike Jenkins hopes his Tigers can use next week's open date to regroup and concentrate on the future.

"I was disappointed in the loss for our kids," he said Saturday morning. "We're just having trouble getting anything going. We had a chance to get something happening last night and didn't take advantage of our opportunity."

Snyder cut Sweetwater's 12-0 lead to 12-7 on a 32-yard run by Mark Shaw. Sweetwater fumbled the ensuing kickoff to give Snyder possession on the Mustang 40, but the Tigers were unable to move the ball.

"We're still grouping, trying to find the right combination," mused the Coach. "It was a terrible setback for our kids. We're glad we have the open date next week. Hopefully we can regain some confidence and get a big win over Lake View the following week. We haven't changed our goals or anything else, but right now our number one objective is to play better football as a team. This is a shame, because our players are better football players and our team is a better team than we've shown in the past three football games," he added. Jenkins said Snyder's inability to move the football was the key to the game. "They had a little to do with it and we had a little to do with it," he added.

scoreboard in the third quarter when Shaw showed some nifty running, breaking several tackles enroute to a 32-yard touchdown run. The effort was set up by a Casey Peterson fumble recovery at the 32. Glenn Parham booted the extra point to temporarily make it a 12-7 game.

But Sweetwater was undaunted by the Tiger display. Despite fumbling the kickoff and giving Snyder another chance at the host 40-yard line, Sweetwater held, and promptly formulated a scoring march of its own.

After the Mustangs sacked Roemisch on a bobbled punt, they went to work at the Tiger 45. Williams got no yardage on first down, but Griggs—clearly Sweetwater's top player—came up with nine yards on the

(see Mustangs, pg. 9)

Andrews Rolls On; Lamesa Upsets Eagles

Andrews, Pecos, Lamesa and Sweetwater came up with the big victories Friday night as District 2-AAAA action got underway.

Andrews, 3-0, opened the district campaign by thumping San Angelo Lake View 28-14. The Mustangs had built a 28-0 lead before the Chiefs came up with 14-fourth quarter points.

Farther west, Pecos rallied from a 6-0 deficit to nip Monahans 7-6. Pecos and Andrews remain the only two 2-AAAA teams still undefeated.

In upsets, Sweetwater defeated Snyder 18-7 and Lamesa stopped Fort Stockton 14-2. Odessa Ector had the night off.

Next week, Snyder is open, while Andrews travels to 2-1 Lamesa, 1-2 Fort Stockton is at Pecos, 1-2 Monahans is at 0-1-1 Odessa Ector, and 2-1 Sweetwater travels to 1-2 San Angelo Lake View.

Undefeated Bucs Try Pokes

IRVING (AP) - The unbeaten Tampa Bay Buccaneers and the unraveling Dallas Cowboys meet at Texas Stadium Sunday under circumstances entirely different from Oct. 2, 1977.

The Cowboys whipped Tampa Bay 23-7 that day and went on to the Super Bowl. The expansion Buccaneers eventually lost every game they played.

Now the Bucs of Coach John McKay have gone from "worst to first" like the cover on their media guide says.

And the Cowboys are somewhere in the twilight zone after looking like gold in a 17-3 victory over Washington and fool's gold in a 41-20 loss to Denver.

The defending National Conference Central division champion Bucs have flashed little offense in victories over Cincinnati and Los Angeles but their defense, No. 1 in the National Football League in 1979, has been solid.

The defending NFC East champion Cowboys paralyzed Washington's offense then saw Denver gain ground as if Coach Tom Landry only had nine players on the field.

The Bucs are rated six-point underdogs by the oddsmakers, who apparently have taken note of the loss of three defensive starters.

Oilers Entertain Colts Sunday

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers will face a growing internal challenge Sunday when they host the Baltimore Colts in their home opener - who will be unhappy this week that he didn't get to play.

Two weeks ago Coach Bum Phillips went with a one-back offense and Ken Stabler threw 43 passes in a 31-17 loss to Pittsburgh while fullback Tim Wilson watched from the sidelines.

Wilson, in carefully chosen words, said he'd do whatever it took to win, but he'd prefer to contribute on the field.

Nose tackle Randy Crowder is out for the season with a damaged knee; inside linebacker Dewey Selmon aggravated a groin muscle; and free safety Cedric Brown pulled a hamstring muscle.

"Randy probably was playing the best football of his career," said McKay, who has replaced Crowder with David Logan.

Whether Selmon or Brown will play is questionable.

The offensive line is also giving McKay some worrisome moments although quarterback Doug Williams has pulled out victories in the last two minutes on a touchdown pass with 1:45 to play against Cincinnati and a touchdown run with 57 seconds to go against Los Angeles.

Kickoff is at 1 p.m. in the Astrodome.
"We plan to do what we think we can against the opponent that week," Phillips said. "We thought we had to throw the ball against Pittsburgh and we thought we could run against Cleveland."

"Doug has helped us with his running in both games," said McKay. "It's senseless for the quarterback not to move when you have the opportunity."

"Scrambling bothers a defense and straightens out a pass rush and really isn't too dangerous if the quarterback is intelligent about it. I don't know how many times Roger Staubach used it to help Dallas over the years."

McKay added, "I realize we were somewhat fortunate to win the Los Angeles game but I will take 14 more just like it."

Landry said, "I think we will know more about our team after Sunday's (3 p.m.) game. We're somewhere in between the Washington win and the Denver loss."

Van York was the leading Coyote rusher, taking off for 84 yards on just nine carries. Mike Peterson came up with 79 yards on 16 totes, and Rinehart had seven runs of 56 yards.

intercollegiate action by Western Texas College, returned the slap here Friday.

The Bulldogs fired a 296 to win the first Western Junior College Athletic Conference tournament of the 1980-81 season by two strokes over Odessa College, 298, and four over Western Texas, 299.

"The course was tough, the pin placements were tough and there was a 30 mile per hour wind," said Coach Bob O'Day. "But really, we beat ourselves. We did not play well on our home course. We had been playing a lot better than what we shot today (Friday). Western Texas turned in a 148 over the first nine holes, and a 151 over the back nine. Ironically, WTC's returning sophomores from last year's NJCAA National Tournament qualifying team came up with a 75, a 77 and a 78.

"Our sophomores will get better," stated O'Day. "We'll just have to reload, refire and work a little harder, play a little smarter. It might have been first conference tournament jitters. Our scores were very erratic."

The highlight of the day for Western Texas was the performance of sophomore Gary Hodge, who tied for medalist honors with Odessa's Angus Baker. Each athlete carded a 70, then Hodge won a sudden death playoff on the first hole. She shot par, while Baker double bogied.

Hodge, from Clovis, N.M., was also medalist at the NMJC Intercollegiate Tournament held last weekend in Hobbs, N.M. Western Texas won the meet in a sudden death playoff over host, New Mexico Junior College.

Individually for WTC, Hodge had scores of 35 and 35 for his 70, followed by Chris Johnson, 34-41-75; Jeff Wagner, 39-38-77; Phillip Jones, 40-37-77; Richard White, 38-40-78; and Jeff Seger, 44-36-80. Only the four lowest scores are counted for the team total.

Midland placed fourth with a 304, while New Mexico Military placed fifth with a 317.

The win nets NMJC five conference points; Odessa four, WTC three, and so on. With four conference tournaments left, the third place finish will not keep Western Texas out of the running.

"We haven't thrown in the towel yet," said O'Day. "We have a lot of talent. We'll just have to work a little harder. These kids have a lot of character and good attitude."

Mustangs Triumph

(continued from pg. 8) ensuing play, and a 15-yard penalty for a late hit pushed the pigskin to the Snyder 20-yard line.

On third down, the 'Stangs still had eight yards to go, but they found it, as Williams broke free from 13 yards to the 5-yard line. Snyder held until fourth down, but Williams burned the visitors on the same play he had run before, a straight dash to the left corner, and raced to the end zone almost unopposed.

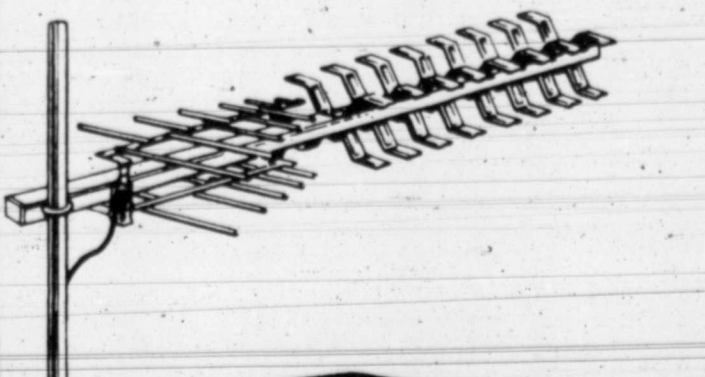

Again the Sweetwater point after attempt was no good, but the Mustangs were sitting on an 18-7 edge.

Snyder's next two possessions ended in minus yardage, as Pat Gerald, Joe Head and David Hendrix all combined to make Snyder's passing game almost nonexistent. Every-time Roemisch would drop back to pass, it was like open season for the Mustangs, who limited Snyder to two catches for 21 yards on the night. Nine times Sweetwater dropped Roemisch for minus yardage.

For Sweetwater, the next trick is taking on 1-2 San Angelo Lake View, a 28-14 loser to Andrews Friday night. They'll meet in San Angelo. Snyder will have next week off to regroup before hosting the Chiefs themselves, on Oct. 3.

Thirty-nine western artists will show some $500,000 worth of western art in the OS ranch house with a Friday night preve party leading off the sale of the art which totaled $181,000 here last year. Most of the artists will be on hand personally for the three-day "OS weekend."

Two new OS events are a fiddlers contest Saturday morning and a colt sale Sunday morning.

Connally, Gov. Clements In Big Spring

A "round-up for Reagan" rally has been scheduled for Tuesday in the Howard County Coliseum in Big Spring with Gov. and Mrs. Bill Clements and Gov. and Mrs. John Connally as special guests, according to Jane Teer with the Reagan campaign in Austin. The special guests will arrive at 11:45 a.m. Tuesday and go directly to the coliseum for the rally which begins at noon. At 1:15 p.m., Clements and Connally will have a press conference in an undecided room at the coliseum. The speakers will leave Big Spring at 2 p.m. for San Angelo. According to Ms. Teer, the purpose of the rally is to inform and familiarize people in this area about the Reagan-Bush platform and ticket. Rallies such as the one set for Tuesday are being scheduled statewide. The rally is open to the public. The world figure-skating championships in Prague were canceled in 1961 after 18 members of the United States team died in a plane crash.

AFS Students Still Available

It is still not too late for a foreign exchange student to be assigned to Snyder High School, officials of the local chapter of the American Field Service have learned.

They have received word from AFS International in New York that students from the United Kingdom and Israel are available to be placed in homes for the second semester.

This is an excellent opportunity for anyone interested in hosting an exchange student for approximately five months, AFS officials said. Although there is no choice of countries, in this instance hosts would know that the students would be from either the United Kingdom or Israel, and would arrive in January or February.

The Snyder Chapter of the AFS is supported by the community, the high school student council, civic clubs and many individuals and businesses and it has sponsored a full-year student since 1959. The local AFS also sponsors an "American Aboard" program in the summer. Laquita Reeves, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joe Reeves, just returned from a summer in Greece as recipient of this year's scholarship.

Anyone interested in hosting a student from the United Kingdom or Israel is asked to contact Roy Carter at the high school, 573-6301, or Barbara McCormick, 573-9962.

August Vows Unite Couple

Miss Kellye Crenshaw and Rickey Ray Starnes were united in marriage on Aug. 17 at the 37th Street Church of Christ. Dr. James A. Petty, professor at Abilene Christian University, officiated the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crenshaw. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Starnes of Rotan.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown featuring a Queen Anne neckline. A ruffle of Alencon lace formed a deep yoke and accented the cuffs of the long sleeves. The semi-full skirt had three rows of Alencon lace around the bottom to form a short train. She wore a wide brim bridal hat with rows of lace on the brim matching her dress.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of daisies and baby's breath mixed with silk flowers in her chosen colors of green, yellow, blue and apricot with needlepoint ivy and tied with long streamers of lace and satin ribbons.

In keeping with tradition, for something old, borrowed, and blue the bride wore a garter worn by her mother at her wedding. Something new was her dress.

The bridegroom wore a formal white tuxedo with a white ruffled shirt and bow tie. His boutonniere was composed of daisies and baby's breath.

Mrs. Gary Hooten of Muleshoe and Mrs. Steve Conner of Shallowater, sisters of the bride, were honor attendants. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Don Pope of Fort Worth and Miss Becki Kidd of Dallas.

The attendants wore floor length floral dotted swiss dresses with off the shoulder ruffles in the bride's chosen colors. The full skirts had a wide ruffle around the bottom. A wide brimmed hat completed the outfit. They carried white wicker baskets of daisies and baby's breaths with long satin ribbon streamers to match their dresses and hats.

Billy Gene Starnes of Conroe, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, while groomsmen included Bubba Sullivan of Snyder, Gary Hooten of Muleshoe, and Steve Conner of Shallowater. Ushers were John Brecheen of Abilene, Paul Warren of Whitney, and Dennis Westmoreland and Bonnie Clawson of Snyder. The groomsmen, the minister and the bride's father were attired in mint green seville tuxedos.

An a cappella chorus from Abilene sang "Because," "Twelfth of Never," "The Lord's Prayer," "If," "Evergreen," "Father Hear the Prayer We Offer" and "Sweet, Sweet Spirit" while guests were being ushered in.

While the bridegroom seated the two mothers, the chorus sang "Sunrise, Sunset." Other music selections included "The Wedding Song," "Faithful and True," a medley of "Follow Me" and "Whither Thou Goest," "More," and the Alleluia Chorus from Sound of Music.

Mrs. Mary Brecheen of Abilene read a poem to the bride and bridegroom as the chorus hummed "A Melody of Love."

Mrs. Bubba Sullivan and Mrs. Johnnie Ferris, sisters of the bridegroom, registered guests.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts to a reception.

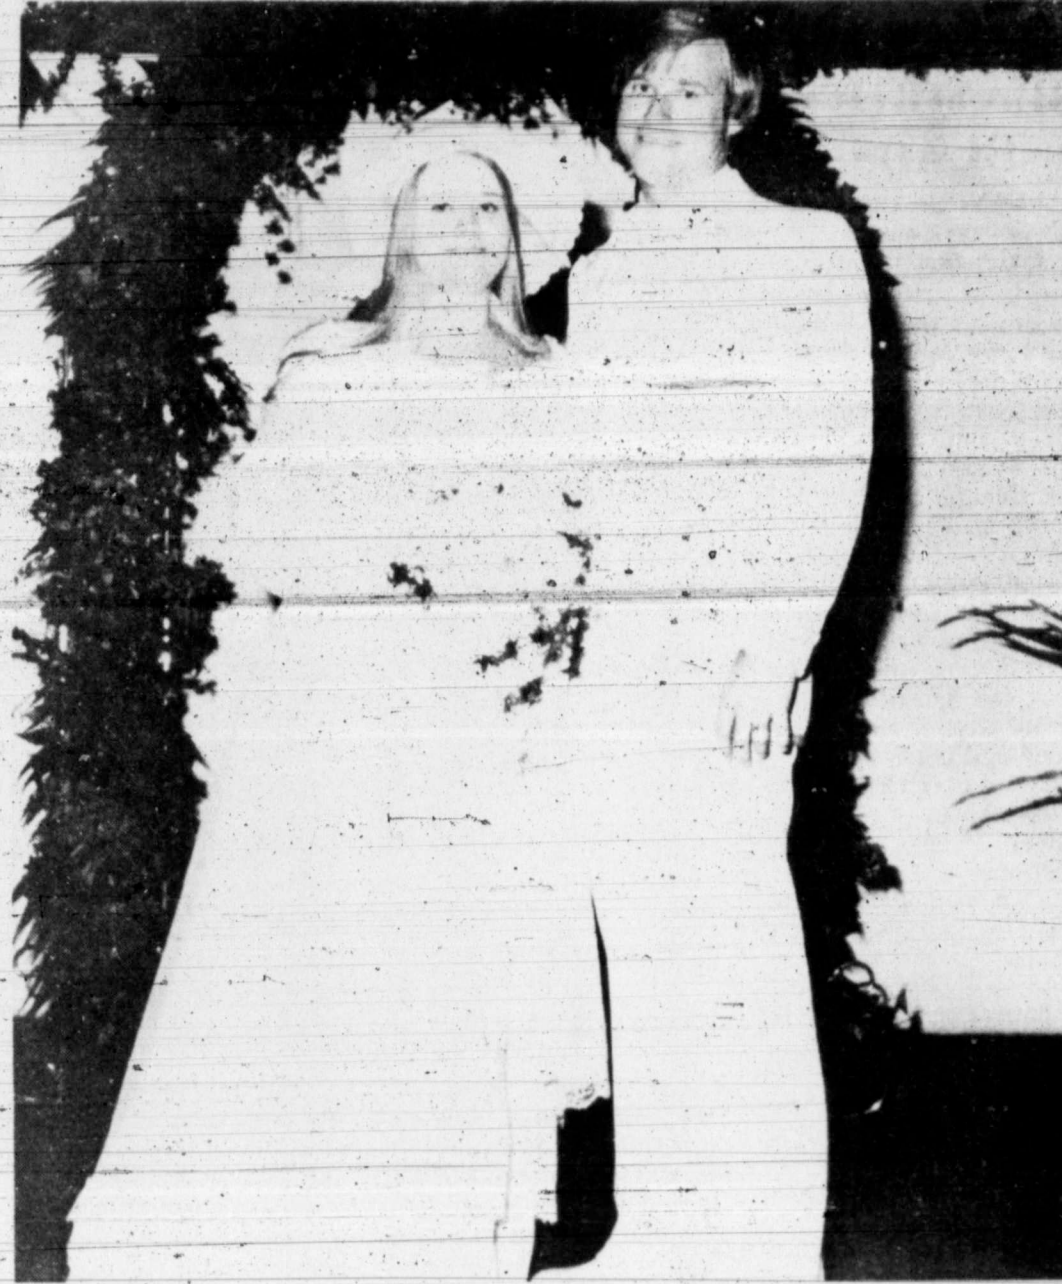

The bride's table was covered with a floor length white cloth and an overlay of tulle draped at the sides with small nosegays of daisies matching the flowers on the four-tiered white cake. In the center of the table was a large arrangement of daisies mixed with flowers in the bride's colors.

Mrs. Kelly Moore of Abilene, Mrs. Mike Kerley of Lubbock, Ruth Ann Fagin of Odessa, and Mrs. Robert Taylor of Snyder served at the bride's table.

Serving at the groom's table were Julie Posey and Janie Cotter of Rotan, and Mrs. Keith Hackfeld of Snyder.

A round floor length apricot cloth covered the groom's table. The cake was an Italian cream. Coffee and tea was served from a brass coffee service. The centerpiece was a fresh fruit arrangement in a large brass compote. Reception music was presented by Mrs. Brian Burton from Abilene.

One family wage-earner concern is this: "What would my family do if I should die?"

You can take steps to reduce some of this concern - and you should, even though death is not something we like to think about.

Major steps start with telling the family about family finances - and making sure they know about the location of important papers, properties owned and debts owed.

Here's a checklist - both spouses should be able to answer "yes" to these questions:

1) Can you both locate copies of last year's tax returns?

Could each of you support the figures on the return in case of an audit?

2) Do you both know the kinds and amounts of life insurance your family has? Do you both know the names of the beneficiaries on these policies?

3) Do you each have an up-to-date will?

Do you each know the location of the signed copies of each will?

4) Do you both know the names and addresses of your lawyer, insurance agent, banker or other financial advisers?

5) Do you have records of each other's Social Security number? They should be on your tax returns, if you cannot find them anywhere else.

6) Can you both locate important documents, such as your marriage certificate, family birth certificates, armed services discharged papers, mortgage papers and car titles?

If you answered "no" to any of these questions, you might need to do some planning.

Find the necessary information or papers. Discuss these with each other and, perhaps, another family member.

Develop a written plan which would eliminate the problems associated with the death of any family member, particularly the wage earner(s).

Fruits, Vegetables Brighten Lunches

Back-to-school means back to brown bags and lunch boxes. Hopefully, that doesn't mean back to the "same ol' Thing." That holds true for all age groups too, who are holding down foods costs by brown bagging it.

The wide variety of fresh fruits and vegetables can add new tastes to standard lunches, plus great color, texture and nutrition. Slip some variations into sandwiches—like a sliced banana with peanut butter; green pepper and tomato with cheese; sprouts on top of tuna, radishes, onion, carrots, celery and cucumber chopped into any meat, egg or seafood spread.

For those who prefer to carry a container of cottage cheese or yogurt for lunch, mix lots of fresh fruits in for a naturally sweet, refreshing variation. Tomatoes, peppers and several other fresh vegetables complement cottage cheese—use some FRESH imagination!

Salads are popular light lunches. When preparing salads for dinner, make enough for the next day's lunch and refrigerate in a tightly covered container. Dressing can be carried separately—salad vegetables will become soggy if soaked in dressing too long.

Pita, or pocket bread is ideal for brown bag sandwiches. Prepare a mixture of chopped, cooked chicken, diced scallions, mushrooms, green peppers, celery and radishes, plus mayonnaise or salad dressing. Place in a container, top with sprouts, cover and refrigerate. At lunch time the mixture can be stuffed into pita bread for a fresh and crunchy sandwich! If you wish to stuff the sandwich at home and carry it ready-to-eat, line the inside of the pita bread with a large lettuce leaf to prevent bread from soaking up too much mayonnaise or dressing.

Fresh fruit is the easiest lunch-box dessert around. The wide variety and seasonal nature of fresh fruit will allow you to add lots of variety and delicious taste to lunches.

POCKET CHICKEN SALAD

2 cups diced cooked chicken
4 large lettuce leaves
1 cup chopped celery
6 scallions, diced
chopped cucumber, green or red pepper, mushrooms, radishes, carrots as desired
2 tomatoes, chopped
1/2 cup mayonnaise or Italian dressing
4 large lettuce leaves
4 pieces pita bread (pocket bread)
bean sprouts
Mix together chicken, vegetables and mayonnaise or Italian dressing. Slit open each pita bread and line the inside cavity with a lettuce leaf. Spoon about 1/2 cup of chicken mixture into each pocket. Top chicken mixture with bean sprouts. Makes 4 sandwiches.

Beauty Tips

Exercising in water will relax and refresh you and get you in shape fast. To tone stomach and buttocks, grip the side of the pool as you stand facing it in chest-high water. Quickly kick your right leg out behind you, keeping knee straight. Now, as quickly as you can, snap it back. Repeat with your left leg. Do it five times at first.

FASHION GRADUATE—Rosalee Carole Davidson, formerly of Snyder, is a recent graduate of Miss Wade's Fashion Merchandising College in Dallas where she studied fashion merchandising, fashion design and interior design.

confusing the issue

A candidate for the U.S. Senate from New York explained why she voted against restoring Robert E. Lee's citizenship.

Liz Holtzman said she voted against the successful measure in the U.S. House of Representatives because "at the very time...there were thousands of Americans stranded in other countries who in conscience dissented from our position in the war against Vietnam."

There is a distinction. Yes, Robert E. Lee, son of a revolutionary war hero and an officer in the United States army, did join the confederacy. His act, too, was one of conscience. After the war's end he devoted time and energy to inducing other southerners of talent not to abandon the country, but to contribute to rebuilding the stricken states now again part of the union.

He became a revered college president. He made amends, yet his family home was seized from him and never returned. A vindictive Secretary of War Stanton placed Arlington Cemetery at the front door.

Those who fled this country over Viet Nam-Lee risked his life staying to fight for his cause-were given a chance for amnesty. A few months of work was all that was asked of them. Few took up the offer. At no time was their citizenship stripped from them as Lee's was.

Perhaps those who left the United States because of Viet Nam felt they were in the fight and it would vitiate their position to agree to do manual labor in exchange for a pardon; they may feel they have done nothing that needs pardoning.

None of this pertains to Gen. Lee, though, whose enemies seemed to have respected him as well as his friends. One hundred fifteen years seems a long time to restore citizenship to one of the nation's most honorable men.

fat means more green

This may be in, but fat is apparently where it's at salary-wise.

If you want proof, Robert A. McLean of the University of Kansas School of Business and Marilyn Moon of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee believe they can provide it statistically.

In a study of more than two-thousand employed men in the 51-65 age range, recently reported in the American Journal of Public Health, the research team found that the heftier the wage-earner the thicker his pay envelope tended to be.

They theorize that a "portly banker" effect may be at work in the work force, large-sized individuals conveying a "non-verbal signal" of power and capability that employers respond to in the way that counts most.

As McLean and Moon worked it out statistically, every 100 percent increase in the ratio of actual to ideal weight works out to an extra 35 cents per hour in pay.

At the very least, the finding may require some rethinking of orthodox economic theory. Apparently inflation isn't always a losing proposition.

school at home

Most Americans objecting to trends in public education are unaware that it may be legal to tutor children at home.

Indeed, there is now aborning a National Association of Home Educators - a clearing house for information on legalities, mechanics and curriculum for at-home education.

The Bergmans of Smithton, Missouri, have nine children, ages one to 21. All of them "home-educated."

The eldest, a daughter, qualified for college at the age of 15, maintained a 3.8

grade average through Weaver State College in Ogden, Utah, and then got her Masters at Idaho State.

If you want to educate your children at home your odds are best in western states. Distances are so great in most western states, that home education always has been more logical than education in public groups.

You'll find the most parents teaching their own children in the state of Utah. Home educators are next most numerous in Missouri.

The founder of the National Association of Home Educators, Mary Bergman (the mother of those nine), says, "You'll have a dickens of a time setting up your own home school in Kansas, Washington, Ohio and Michigan - but even there it can be done."

These are the steps she recommends:

The parents and a friend should become a three-person non-profit corporation, under their state's statutes for the purpose of becoming "a school."

They should then contact the state board of education and register as "a private school," identifying themselves as faculty (accreditation not required) and outlining the projected curriculum.

Then the county education authorities should be advised of a willingness to comply with the requirements of any necessary county permits.

And that's about all there is to it.

In most instances where parents are involved in litigation over this situation, it is because they did not follow this procedure. Some sought open confrontation with school authorities, instead. That, says Mrs. Bergman, is not the way.

In most states, the law reads that a parent is obligated to see that children receive a public "or an equivalent" education.

At-home education is not of course, Ancient Greeks made parents solely responsible for early training of their children.

George Washington and Abraham Lincoln never went to school and Thomas Edison was educated mostly by his mother.

Communal societies in California and elsewhere are opting for at-home education.

It may not re-supplant public education, but it is an increasingly attractive option.

(c) 1980, Los Angeles Times Syndicate and behind those seemingly inconsequential rituals lies the tale of one of the most important issues of the current presidential campaign.

Although the stakes are exceptionally high, none of the candidates is likely publicly to discuss the issue because it involves a pair of especially delicate subjects - the failing health and advancing age of five of the court's nine justices.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger will become 73 on Sept. 17 and Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. will reach the same age two days later, on Sept. 19. Less than two months later, on Nov. 12, Justice Harry A. Blackmun will turn 72.

The two other members of the court also in their 70s marked their birthdays earlier in the year. Justice William J. Brennan Jr. is 74 and Justice Thurgood Marshall is 72.

Three of the four other justices are in their 60s: Justice Potter Stewart is 65, Justice Byron R. White is 63 and Justice John Paul Stevens is 60. The "youngster" on the court is Justice William H. Rehnquist, who will become 56 on Oct. 1.

In recent years, all five of the over-70 justices have encountered medical difficulties, ranging from heart attack and gastrointestinal complications to chronic back problems.

Finally, there is the extraordinarily long interval since any vacancy was created on the high tribunal. Stevens, the last justice to be named to the court, was nominated by President Gerald R. Ford in late 1975, almost five years ago.

That gap has deprived President Carter of the opportunity to select anyone for service on the court - and a vacant seat now probably would remain unfilled until after the election because the Senate must confirm the president's nomination and Congress is scheduled to adjourn for the year in mid-October.

(If Carter is defeated in November and leaves office without nominating a Supreme Court justice, he will be the first president not to do so since Andrew Johnson, who served in the late 1860s.)

Although health and longevity are inherently unpredictable, all of the factors lead to an inescapable conclusion: The man elected president this autumn could, in the following four years, fill as many as five Supreme Court vacancies caused by death, disability or retirement.

The significance of that opportunity is illustrated by a compelling new analysis of the current court, prepared by Gayle Binion of the University of California at Santa Barbara, which concludes that it "has been largely and progressively less responsive" to appeals on behalf of disadvantaged citizens than was the court of Burger's predecessor, Earl Warren.

Identifying 96 cases involving the interests of the disadvantaged decided by the court between 1969 (when Burger became chief justice) and 1979, Ms. Binion found that only half of those cases produced egalitarian decisions.

The current court's rulings have been unfavorable not only to the indigent and to welfare recipients but also to the "working poor" and to low-and-middle-income citizens.

The court refused to waive judicial filing fees for those seeking to declare bankruptcy or challenge a reduction of welfare benefits and it repeatedly has emphasized "the privileged status of property ownership," notes Ms. Binion. For example, individuals who rent their living quarters rather than own their homes or other property twice have been ruled ineligible to participate in elections to authorize the issuance of general obligation municipal bonds.

The current court also has upheld a state law favoring landlords, prohibiting tenants evicted from non-payment of rent from citing contract violations as part of their legal defense.

Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan presumably would seek to continue that approach by appointing conservative jurists. The judges appointed by Carter to the lower federal courts, on the other hand, generally have been liberals.

As a result, the outcome of the presidential election is likely to directly affect the philosophical and ideological thrust of the nation's most important court for decades to come.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The difference between a career and a job is about 20 or so hours a week."

The census is not yet complete, but county and city officials seem pleased over the preliminary results. Although the early count was shy of expectations, it seems that the efforts of local officials brought the numbers up to more realistic figures.

As far as we're concerned, it looks like the local population may be slightly greater than we expected. The census folks don't accept gut feelings. They want hard facts, and folks at city hall provided them with such data.

As a result, it appears that the Snyder city population is approximately 13,600. Then there is the one-mile fringe area that surrounds the city. Most folks, just eyeballing the city, would assume those areas were inside the city limits.

Indication is that there are at least 2,500 in that fringe area adjacent to the city limits. Therefore, the Snyder population will be in excess of 16,000.

Another set of statistics caught our eye this week. The annual publication of Survey of Buying Power is off the press and it includes data for 1979.

According to its estimates, the Scurry County population is 18,600, and the median age of the populus is 32.9 years. According to the same report, the total number of households is 6,700 - an increase of 500 households over a year ago.

For months we have observed that Snyder led area towns of equal size in retail sales tax rebates. The Survey of Buying Power again supports this with total retail sales in 1979 of $78.7 million.

This was spent in the following manner: $19.4 million for food; $5.5 million for eating and drinking establishments; $5.5 million for general merchandise; $3.4 million for furniture, furnishings and appliances; $16.1 million for automotive.

The total effective buying income of Scurry County was $132.6 million which means that local merchants were able to keep almost 60 percent of the business at home. This is an increase of 5 percent over last year.

The median household income for Scurry County was $17,216. In the income breakdown, 5.9 percent of the families make $10,000 or less while 13.8 percent make between $10,000 and $15,000. In the $15-25,000 category, there is 29.2 percent of the population while 27.9 percent of the families make over $25,000.

Snyder is a pretty good place to be:

letters to the editor

To the Daily News: The amount of filth, immorality and sexual perversion being shown on television, as you well know is increasing at an alarming rate. Ten years ago most of us would never have dreamed that some of the material currently being shown would ever be accepted for public presentation. If this trend is allowed to continue, we hesitate to imagine what an additional ten years can bring.

We must face the fact that simply "turning off the set" is not a practical solution to the problem. It is impractical because it requires an almost impossible amount of monitoring of programs in order to be certain that our children are not exposed to improper material. It is also unreasonable for moral people to "turn off the set" because we paid both for the T.V. and for the programs. We paid for the programs when we bought the products of the companies who sponsor these immoral T.V. shows.

A clean up T.V. Campaign was started by the Joelton Church of Christ, Joelton Tenn. This campaign directs its opposition toward the sponsors rather than toward the network, since sponsors are far more sensitive to negative public feelings.

They are, in fact, the "Achilles Heel" of the entire television industry. This campaign is now beginning to receive tremendous nationwide news coverage. Over a hundred newspapers from every part of the nation have ran articles on the campaign.

The Campaign has already produced significant results. Hundreds of local television stations have become keenly aware of the Campaign and the implications it holds for local programming. Syndicated shows are now finding it much more difficult to sell objectionable programs to local affiliates than was true even a few months ago.

Anyone who wishes to participate in this campaign may do so, regardless of their religious affiliation.
