

Iraq Battle In Air, On Ground

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iran and Iraq reported tank and infantry battles raging today after Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini slammed the door to an early cease-fire, vowing to fight to the end.

Iran declared it intends to keep the Strait of Hormuz open to shipping and claimed its ground forces in street-to-street fighting had pushed Iraqi invaders out of a key city in oil-rich Khuzestan province.

Khomeini broadcast a message to his people Tuesday night saying Iran "will not compromise" and will not stop the fighting, now 10 days old, until all Iraqis are driven from Iranian soil.

Iranian Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai said he had received a letter from Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie on the American hostage issue and will study it, the Iranian news agency Pars reported. The 52 hostages were in their 33rd day of captivity.

The Iraqi news agency said smoke still curling over Baghdad was from the Dora Hilla natural gas line junction that fed the power plant attacked Tuesday by Iranian Phantom jets. It also said reporters for Agence France Presse, Madrid's Diario 16, and Amsterdam's De Telegraaf were expelled for reporting that there was damage to a nuclear research center hit in the attack. It said they hadn't seen any damage themselves, and relied on accounts by others.

Iraq claimed its infantry had captured all approaches to the strategic army garrison town of Dezful, which controls all land routes linking Khuzestan province with central Iran and Tehran. Dezful is 90 miles north of Khorramshahr, the city where Iran reported fierce street fighting.

The Strait of Hormuz, the narrow channel forming the entrance to the Persian Gulf, is the bottleneck through which much of the West's oil supply was funneled. Iranian officials have threatened to expand the war if other Arab states aid Iraq, and the Pentagon has sent four special radar-equipped planes to Saudi Arabia to provide an early warning system in case of attack.

Noting this, Iran's Pars news agency said that "in the past few days, several governments under the pretext of expressing their

Clinton Planning To Leave WTC

Dr. Robert L. Clinton, president of Western Texas College since it was established, will submit his resignation to the college board of trustees at their regular meeting on Oct. 13.

Clinton told the board last night that he plans to accept the position of Director of the Texas Public Community Junior College Association upon approval of his resignation. The resignation will become effective next Feb. 1. At an earlier meeting Tuesday afternoon, Clinton had told the faculty and staff of WTC of his plan to resign.

"This is one of the most difficult decisions we have ever had to make," Clinton said. "Snyder has been so good to my family and has enabled me to work and serve in one of the greatest communities in Texas."

association in Austin. "This new position will enable me to work for all 47 community colleges in Texas and WTC in particular. Therefore, I will not be completely divorcing myself from this institution."

"I am very grateful for the opportunity of having had a part in building WTC. It is a great institution and grows in stature and prestige with each passing year."

Clinton is the only president WTC has ever had. He was appointed as the institution's first president in April of 1970 after Scurry County voters had approved by an overwhelming vote a proposal to establish a county-wide junior college district in November of 1969.

Clinton came to WTC from the College Coordinating Board in Austin where he was the assistant commissioner for community colleges. However, even then, most of his professional career had been spent in Snyder.

He had served Snyder Public Schools as supervisor of music, high school principal and superintendent. A graduate of Putnam High School, he received bachelors and masters degrees at North Texas State University, and the doctor of education

The actors' strike has played havoc with the fall television season. However, some of us who mostly limit our viewing on the tube to football and baseball at this season of the year have not felt that we were missing anything.

It has reached the point that some of the telecasts of athletic events provide enough variety within themselves to placate our desire for entertainment. The TV people several years ago came up with the idea of setting some of the unusual plays on the football field to music. And some of the commentators for these events manage to make their performance into a talk show, sometimes to the point of overkill.

In fact, the best comedy segment on the air the past few days is the "interview" of Muhammad Ali and Larry Holmes, who are going to meet in an alleged boxing match tomorrow night. Howard Cosell plays the role of Cosell in this scene, while Ali (or Cassius Clay) and Holmes make like two bit wrestlers at a third rate carnival as they exchange threats, growl, snout and gnash their teeth.

If anyone takes this episode seriously, he has in our opinion taken the bait in one of the year's biggest farces. But remember, Barnum said one is born every minute, which protects Cosell's career.

There are other television shows these days associated with the football season, and they present some of the most courageous individuals ever to face a camera.

We refer to the post game shows featuring head coaches of major college football teams. It takes a lot of courage to comment on the game your team lost by three or four touchdowns, especially when the oddsmakers had predicted you would win.

There are those happy occasions, of course, when the ball is bouncing right and the coach savors an unexpected victory. But, sooner or later, old man defeat is going to adjust the odds and that humiliating upset is going to occur. The coach must don a coat and tie and head for the studio before the last boos from irate alumni have faded away, because the tapes must be ready for the television stations to put them on display less than 24 hours after the game ends.

For example, just think how poor old Barry Switzer must have felt the other day after unheralded Stanford polished off his highly ranked Oklahoma Sooners.

We maintain that those are the real heroes of television.

FBI Undercover Agent On Stand

HOUSTON (AP) — An FBI undercover agent testified in the Texas Brilab trial today that labor official L.G. Moore "never introduced us to anyone who wouldn't deal."

Michael Wacks, during his second day on the stand, also said that Moore "gave us a rundown on a lot of people including some members of the Houston city council."

Clayton and the two Austin attorneys are on trial in federal court on charges of extortion, bribery, conspiracy and racketeering. Moore also was indicted.

The agent said he understood from Moore that the two Austin attorneys were to receive a flat fee of $2,000 to $3,000 to do business in Texas. "I don't think it was a retainer."

Rescue Workers Stay Even With Floodwater

ROSCOE (AP) — Wet, weary volunteer workers, including two busloads of Air Force personnel, are staying just about even with floodwaters, endangering a sewage dike in this rain-soaked West Texas town.

"We're tired, we're hot and we're exhausted," said Jackie Woner, who has been helping Red Cross workers in a makeshift kitchen set up to feed the volunteers.

"We're staying just about even," she said late Tuesday night. "The water is still rising and we've managed to pump off about five inches. We're just waiting for the big pump."

U.S. Army Corps of Engineers officials halted efforts about 11 p.m. Tuesday night to hook up an 18-inch pipeline that will drain a flooded lake that is cascading water into the already soggy town of 1,400.

Corps officials said work on the pipeline, which is being supplied by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, would resume today.

Mrs. Woner said about 600 persons were packing sand bags around the endangered sewer pond while welders and other laborers helped piece the pipeline together.

Mayor Bedford P. Beep Cain said Tuesday that clearing weather helped workers in their efforts to shore up the dike after the weekend's heavy rains.

"The good thing is the sun is still shining," he said. "The bad thing is, the water is still rising." Cain said most of the floodwater was the result of runoff from the heavy rains, rather than creeks or rivers running out of their banks.

New Look Is Temporary

If the Snyder Daily News looks a little strange to you today, hang on.

The staff is putting to use for the first time new computerized typesetting equipment. Supplies for the "shake-down" did not include the same type size and style normally used by the SDN. Therefore we are learning on a different type.

However, new type in the same size and style as that used by the SDN for several years is on order and it will be put to use as soon as it arrives, which we hope will be within the next few days.

Forecasters called for clearing skies across the state today.

Cain said two busloads of volunteers from nearby Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene arrived Tuesday to help residents put sandbags in place around the sewer pond. Officials fear the pond may rupture, sending contaminated water surging into the town.

Four other pipelines are being used to move the floodwater from the lake and surrounding areas, easing the pressure on the sewer holding pond.

FEMA official Glenda Watson-Natale said Tuesday about 25 house trailers will be provided for Roscoe residents who have been driven out of their homes by high water, although the agency has not yet decided if a rental fee will be charged.

Cain said he estimated that at least 170 homes had been damaged by floodwater since Sept. 9, when a 10-inch downpour from Tropical Storm Danielle knocked out the town's water supply and damaged the sewer system.

Tuesday marked the 22nd day that residents of Roscoe have been without sewer facilities. They have been sharing about 40 portable toilets.

"We're just going to be optimistic Texans," Cain said, "and hope that the sun shines and the skies stay clear, and everybody can think of other things."

Soviets Break Space Record

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet cosmonauts Valery Ryumin and Leonid Popov broke the space endurance record of 175 days and 36 minutes at 10:14 a.m. EDT today.

The record was established in August 1979 by Vladimir Lyakhov and Ryumin, whose wife once said she was certain he would fail the physical when he applied for the cosmonaut program.

The 41-year-old civil engineer now has spent nearly a year in space on three different trips, the last two aboard the orbiting Soviet space station Salyut 6. His first flight in October, 1977, ended after two days when his spaceship failed to dock with the space station.

Ryumin and Popov, 34, an Air Force pilot on his first space mission, embarked on their record-breaking flight April 9 from the Baikonur launching site in central Asia.

Emergency Funds Are Okayed Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government ran without operating funds today, but signs of any real difference were hard to find in Washington.

Virtually the entire government's authority to spend money expired on fiscal New Year's Day — Oct. 1. An emergency appropriations bill in Congress was ensnared in a dispute over new restrictions on payments for poor women's abortions.

The problem could end quickly if Congress finds a way out of the impasse. House and Senate were scheduled to work on it today.

When the buck stopped on Capitol Hill at midnight, some government agencies went into neutral — carrying out only activities needed to protect life and property, while others operated normally.

But overall there were few signs of a government coming to a halt.

TESCO Customers May Pay 10 Percent More

AUSTIN (AP) — Residential customers of Texas Electric Service Co. probably will pay 10 percent more for electricity, rather than the 25 percent the company said it needed.

The Public Utility Commission Tuesday accepted Hearing Examiner Mark Zeppa's report on the case. However, the three-member commission ordered a list of changes in raising the $66.8 million increase Zeppa said TESCO was entitled to.

The exact increases will not be known until Zeppa makes the changes. TESCO Vice President Ed Watson estimated household bills would go up "somewhere in the neighborhood of 10 percent."

TESCO, which serves 78 cities in North, Central and West Texas, had requested a $123 million increase. Under its proposal, a monthly household bill of $40 would have gone to $50.

PUC staff members said a $69.4 million hike was needed. Several of the cities served by the company argued for only a $24 million rise.

Watson, echoing a comment frequently heard whenever PUC denies the full increase sought by a utility, said

"We'll be back sooner than we thought." He said TESCO probably will seek another rate increase next year, instead of waiting two years as the company had planned.

Attorneys for several intervenors in the case argued against an "elasticity" factor figured in the increase. Elasticity allows for an increase in rates because consumers will use less electricity as the rates go up.

Geoffrey Gay, representing Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now, called the elasticity clause "the most obnoxious portion of the case." He complained it punishes the customer for conservation.

"We can't expect consumers to throw away appliances," he said.

Attorney Carter Burdette, representing TESCO, said the elasticity factor was not "a punishment factor." He said its need was well documented by witnesses in the hearing.

"It's not some abominable snowman no one ever heard of before," he said.

The commission approved Zeppa's recommendation that TESCO customers should pay 50 percent of construction work in progress. The company asked for 100 percent.

However, Commissioner Moak Rollins' motion, approved by the other two commissioners, said TESCO should get a 15.5 percent return on equity, a few tenths of a percent less than the staff recommended.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (NEA) - Tension between the federal and state governments is neither a new phenomenon nor an issue that can compete with the major-league pennant races in terms of popular appeal.

But the subject demands public attention because relations between the nation's governors and state legislators and their counterparts in Washington have reached a level of hostility unprecedented in recent decades.

"It's gotten to the ridiculous point. The national government is just barreling out of control," Tennessee Gov. Lamar Alexander, a Republican, lamented here at the mid-September annual meeting of the Southern Governors' Association.

Less than six weeks earlier, at the annual meeting of the National Governors' Association in Denver, Georgia Gov. George D. Busbee, a Democrat, warned that "the federal umbilical cord is beginning to strangle us."

And one month before that meeting, leaders of the National Conference of State Legislatures concluded their annual convention in New York by decrying "a growing and disturbing trend in the federal government to run roughshod over the states."

The issue of allocating power and responsibility between the states and the national government dates back to the founding of the republic, inspiring much of the public debate that preceded the drafting of the Constitution.

One product of that debate was the 10th Amendment, which states that all powers not specifically delegated to the federal government by the Constitution "are reserved to the states... or to the people."

But Arizona Gov. Bruce E. Babbitt, a Democrat, complained at the Denver meeting that the 10th Amendment has become "a hollow shell" because "the federal system is in complete disarray."

At the same conference, Indiana Gov. Otis R. Bowen, a Republican, called for "a new response from the states, a response that is more aggressive, more independent, more skeptical of federal power."

Among the states' specific complaints:

The federal government increasingly is bypassing state governments by distributing financial assistance directly to cities, counties and other local government units.

In other cases, federal aid is funneled directly to the various states' welfare, education, highway and other departments, thus depriving governors and state legislators of their right to exercise effective control over state budgets.

Abolition of state participation in the general revenue-sharing program has eliminated most of the unrestricted federal-state grants, while the federal government persists in perpetuating hundreds of inflexible categorical grant programs whose rules, regulations and red tape make them an administrative nightmare.

NCSL officials estimate that as much as 20 percent to 30 percent of most states' annual expenditures are in the form of funds transmitted from Washington directly to individual state departments and agencies without ever being subjected to the scrutiny of the budgeting and appropriations processes supposedly administered by the governors and legislators.

Similarly, the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations recently reported that the federal government increasingly is channeling billions of dollars worth of direct grants to local municipalities, bypassing the states that created those jurisdictions.

"These federal policies... could escalate into a new kind of civil war - a war against the states," warn Florida House Speaker Pro Tem Richard S. Hodes and New Hampshire House Speaker George B. Roberts Jr., the NCSL's incoming and outgoing presidents.

While some of the recent rhetoric suffers from hyperbole, too many responsible governors and state legislators are truly distressed by the disturbing trend toward the accumulation of power and money in Washington.

If prompt redress is not forthcoming, there could indeed be a major rebellion developing in the state capitals.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In sporting events today play your best, but don't make winning so important that you'll spoil your day if you are not the victor.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's possible that you could experience both ups and downs in your financial affairs today, owing to an ambivalent attitude. Try to steer a steady course.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're a good producer today, but there's a chance you could quit before finishing all you're capable of doing. Perform with persistence and patience.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Because you're concerned for others today, you'll make sacrifices on their behalf. There is also a possibility you'll speak of what you do and embarrass them.

selected counting

Most Americans assume that when the federal government issues reports on the number of unemployed in the nation's work force, the figures are based on a compilation of reports from the thousands of local labor offices, where those without jobs register for work.

In this computer age, it should not be too difficult for the federal government to set up a central computer system whereby all labor offices sent in reports about the unemployed.

Then the government could spew out figures telling us how many people are seeking work, how many have been looking for work for how long, and how many found jobs during the period covered.

It doesn't work this way. The government has revealed that only a few selected labor offices are contacted and their reports are scanned for unemployment figures. Then these few samples are expanded to estimate how many people are actually unemployed.

Washington labor experts who provide the unemployment figures say that their figures come from a random sample involving calling up some 65,000 households per month across the country to see who is out of work and who is looking for work.

They ask whether any teenager or adult living in that household is out of work and has looked for work at least once in the prior four weeks. If anyone answers yes to both questions, that person is unemployed by official standards.

Using this method, the government figures that 90 million people are employed and some 7 million are unemployed.

It is hard for some old-fashioned people to understand how there can be so much unemployment when the help wanted columns in every daily newspaper is full of job opportunities.

turkish shakeup

In Turkey, civilian government has been ousted by a coup for the third time in 20 years.

The general moved in after months of civil violence and governmental paralysis. Thousands have died in skirmishing among extremists of the left and right. The Moslem militancy of Iran and other neighbors has also infected parts of the Turkish population still resistant to the country's Westernization. Compounding all other problems, the country is on the brink of economic collapse and, once more, has had to be bailed out by its NATO allies.

But if history is any guide, the Turkish generals, unlike their counterparts almost everywhere else in the world, have no enthusiasm for holding onto power. After taking over in 1960 and again in 1971, they soon reinstated civilian authority. Western observers are reported to believe that, after thoroughly shaking up the Turkish body political, they intend to do so again.

For most of this century, since their defeat in World War I, the Turks have been trying to become a part of the modern world. They have not yet succeeded. But you have to give them some credit - they don't give up easily.

at wit's end

by erma bombeck

We got our phone bill this month and if one more of our kids "reaches out and touches somebody" they're going to bring back a broken hand.

The phone company ads make phoning look like such a pleasurable experience. Grandma and Granddad are both poised over the receiver listening to their grandchild burp. An entire band is jammed in a phone booth calling the tuba player who had to stay at home with his lip in a cast, and college friends call coast to coast with tears in their eyes to describe a Western sunset. Maybe it used to be that way. But that was before Grandma and Granddad realized the burp cost them $9.12. It was before the band cashed in their airline tickets to make the call. Before the friend realized it was cheaper to take a bus out to see the sunset than to take about it.

All I know is telephoning long distance at our house has become as much fun as an anxiety attack. I appear with subtle reminders: a watch, a timer and a calendar with the date circled. My husband grumbles, "Let's give him back to his natural mother, Ma Bell!" While a voice from the extension breathes heavily and keeps repeating, "Get off the phone. I'm expecting an important call." Our phone bill has prompted me to put together a set of rules for placing long distance calls in the future.

Before placing the call, go to the bathroom.

Blow your nose and get a drink of water.

Read the weather report of the town you are calling to eliminate "What's the weather like?"

Figure out the time zone to conserve conversation on "What time is it there?"

Fight with brother before dialing.

Don't play games like "Guess who this is?"

Place pencil and paper next to phone and put dog outside.

Put note on door saying, "I am on phone. Come back later."

Place call.

Laughter costs dollars. Save it until you're off the phone.

Don't repeat. If someone says, "I love you" there is no need to say, "I love you too." A simple "ditto" will do it.

Animals and babies are a waste of time on the phone. They never bark-laugh-talk-sing anyway until they hear the dial tone.

I gave my son the rules and suggested he not call so much, but start writing letters.

Last night I heard him reading a letter over the phone.

It's my fault. I should have told him he had to mail it.

congressional comment

by charles stenholm, mc

WASHINGTON, D.C. - There are times when being right about an issue carries no real satisfaction. And saying "I told you so" doesn't help to solve the problem.

A year ago, when Congress was deliberating the International Sugar Agreement, I warned that without a price-support program to balance out boom or bust prices for domestic producers, we would be throwing sugar users to the whim of a wildly fluctuating world market.

That legislation would have set a base price of the commodity at 15 cents a pound, a price that sugar users and other opposing groups thought was too high. Producers estimated that it cost them some 14-17 cents per pound just to grow sugar from cane and sugarbeets.

This week, wholesale sugar prices on the New York spot market hit 37.11 cents a pound, an increase caused by declining world production due to poor weather and disease, an increase in world demand and sugar speculation on the futures market.

Sugar prices hit a low of just under 10 cents a pound last year and no one but the hard-pressed producers were complaining.

This week, members of Congress began to hear from some of the same sugar users who opposed passage of the sugar bill last fall. With sugar the second largest commodity used in bakery products, bakers are hurting.

Representatives of two of the largest industry groups, the Independent Bakers Association and the Retail Bakers of America, told members of the House Subcommittee on Special Small Business Problems that the rapid increase in world raw cane sugar prices had had a dramatic effect on the entire industry.

I have no argument that those bakers are suffering and that American consumers will also pay, both in the form of rising retail prices for sugar and in the cost of the final produce using sugar.

I have to point out, however, that those same people sent a strong, clear message to our domestic sugar producers last year that they would play no part in stabilizing their end of the industry, but would rely on the world market for supplies.

If this situation sounds vaguely familiar, the same problems are incurred by depending on foreign supplies of petroleum products, while domestic supplies are kept under price regulations as are faced by depending on an unstable foreign supply of sugar, while domestic producers are being forced out of business.

We have learned, too late, of the costly dangers of depending primarily on foreign sources of goods consumed in this country at the expense of our own producers.

We can all remember during the early 1970s, when sugar soared from around 12 cents per pound to 65 cents per pound in less than six months due to an unstable world market. I would far rather have seen an increase of less than one cent per pound each year which would be forced to pay much higher increases when at the total mercy of the world market.

The continuing need for a national sugar policy should now be apparent and perhaps this time around, users and consumers will be willing to listen a little more carefully.

Witches, pumpkin heads, black bats, scary spooks, black cats. Oh! It's Halloween.

Today marks the beginning of a special, if not a little spooky, month-like the song says, it's Halloween.

Next to Christmas, Halloween is probably the best time of year for children. Little eyes dance and rosy cheeks glow at the sight of candies and costumes.

Instead of Santa Claus and his eight tiny reindeer, it's the Great Pumpkin and Charlie Brown, Spider Man and a host of other ghosts and goblins.

It's not too early to begin planning a safe Halloween for your kids.

Already, grocery stores have set up big displays of tasty, delightful treats, and soon all types of costume characters will be for sale.

In buying a costume, choose the right size for your child. It also should be in color or marked with reflective colors so the child can easily be seen by night drivers.

Plan where your child will trick-or-treat. Due to injuries to some children during recent years, it is best to take your children only to the homes of people you know for goodies.

Inspect the treats your child receives before letting him eat it. Only allow candies and gum that have been individually wrapped and check the wrapper to be sure that it has not been tampered with. Homemade treats are unacceptable unless the parent is sure that the treat is okay.

When purchasing candy to hand out to the little ghosts and goblins knocking at your door, buy items that are individually wrapped-most candies made for Halloween sale are packaged this way. Reserve homemade treats for your family or special friends. Think back to how many trick-or-treaters you had last year and have enough goodies on hand to fit the bill.

Have your porch light shining if you are welcoming spooks to your home. This saves the kids time, saves you from having to answer the bell, and helps prevent injuries due to poorly lighted areas.

Make Halloween a special time for adults too. Costume parties can replace regular meetings. Requiring a "trick" before a "treat" is given can be hilarious fun for the trick-or-treater and candy-giver.

The 31st will be here before you know it, so start planning for the goblin day now. Don't be caught without your mask on!

South thought his two trump was non-forcing. North misunderstood and raised to three with his bare-bone minimum.

West opened the deuce of spades and East's 10 fell to declarer's king. The top clubs were cashed. East discarded the four of diamonds while West followed with 2, 5, 6 in order to show an odd number. Three in this case. The four of hearts was led next. East rose with the king and noted that South played the 10 and West the deuce.

At this point in time East was able to count everyone's distribution. West obviously held 4-3-3-3 which meant declarer held 2-3-3-5.

The average East would proceed to cash his ace of hearts and lead a low heart. The average East would also find himself caught in a squeeze end play. South would cash his last two clubs. East would have to chuck his 10 of diamonds and his last heart.

Then South would either play ace and another diamond to force East to play spades up to North's queen or he would lead a spade and force East to lead away from his king of diamonds.

East wasn't an average player. He was George Rappe of New York, one of the greatest players of all time. George simply cashed his ace of spades before putting South in with a heart.

South cashed his last two clubs, but George simply threw away the jack of spades and 10 of diamonds. Now he scored tricks four and five with the king of diamonds and the last heart.

Firemen and their Beware Of Claims To Cure Arthritis

ATLANTA (AP)- Arthritis sufferers should be aware that most diet cures or super-vitamin claims for curing arthritis are unproven, says Dr. Frederic C. McDuffie, senior vice president of medical affairs of the Arthritis Foundation here.

Americans spend about $950 million annually on "miracle cure" products and unproven remedies, he says.

The most commonly publicized fad diets are elimination diets, based on the theory that arthritis is caused by a food allergy, McDuffie says. But, he points out, there is no evidence of food allergy as a cause of arthritis.

auxiliaries from 14 cities participated in the contest. Ballinger's men and women units both captured first place.

In the contest, each unit was required to hook a hose to a fire hydrant and get water coming from the hose 100 feet away while being timed.

'Mulligan Stew' TV Program Educates Kids On Nutrition

Television and classrooms will team up again in the Snyder area during October and November, providing youths in fourth through sixth grades a two-pronged program to help them learn about nutrition while having fun.

For six weeks, the fast-paced color television production of "Mulligan Stew," produced by 4-H, will be broadcast each Sunday afternoon on KAMC-TV, channel 28 or cable channel 7. Classroom projects the following week may emphasize key points about nutrition which were presented during that week's entertaining broadcast.

The programs will be seen at 1:30 p.m. each Sunday from Oct. 5-Nov. 9, according to Dr. Martha Couch, area 4-H specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Participating school districts will use supportive materials which are part of the program package to involve students in classroom discussions, reading and other projects to teach nutritional needs, food selection, menu planning, shopping, preparation and supply. Special workshops have been scheduled for teachers to help them coordinate the broadcasts in classroom learning activities.

"Mulligan Stew," in addition to being the name of the TV show, also is the name of a five-piece kids' rock band which is the principal cast of the series. Another regular on the show is the band's zany friend, Wilbur Dooright. He brings a nutrition assignment from "upstairs" as the group does a take off on the old "Mission Impossible" TV secret agent series.

PRISCILLA'S POP

For First Time In Nearly 2 Years...

NBC Logs Back-To-Back 1st Places

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time in nearly two years, NBC has put together back-to-back first-place finishes in the networks' prime-time ratings competition, according to figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co.

NBC was a runaway winner in the three-way race for the week ending Oct. 21, due in large part to "Shogun," the second most-watched miniseries ever broadcast. And with a boost from "Little House on the Prairie" and three repeat episodes of the "Centennial" miniseries, NBC made it two in a row in the week ending Oct. 28.

NBC's average rating in the weekly Nielsen survey dropped almost 10 points, from an all-time high for the network of 26.3 during "Shogun" week to 17.5 for the most recent check. ABC was second at 17.4, with CBS third at 16.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week ending Oct. 28, 17.5 percent of the nation's homes with television were tuned to NBC.

NBC listed four of the week's 10 highest-rated programs to three each for ABC and CBS.

CBS' "60 Minutes," the top-rated show in the 1979-80 season, was No. 1 for the week with a rating of 25.1. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with TV, 25.1 percent saw at least part of the program.

In contrast, the first edition of "NBC Magazine with David Brinkley," successor to the network's "Prime Time Saturday," was the week's lowest-rated program, No. 53.

NBC began its rebroadcast of "Centennial" just after "Shogun," and Parts III, IV and V were screened in the week of Oct. 22-28. The third installment was ninth in the ratings, with Part IV in 11th place and the fifth chapter 32nd.

Production for the fall season still has not begun, though a tentative agreement has been reached in the actors' strike. Reruns continue to play a prominent role in prime-time programming.

Of the original programs broadcast during the week, ABC scored with a made-for-TV biography of Marilyn Monroe, "Marilyn: The Untold Story," No. 2 to "60 Minutes." "The Magic of David Copperfield" on CBS was 15th, and an NBC movie, "Rage," 19th.

NBC had three other shows in addition to the magazine among the five least-watched: "Disney's Wonderful World" 49th, "Facts of Life" 50th, and "Speak Up America" 52nd. A CBS movie, "Black Sunday," was No. 51.

Here are the week's 10 highest-rated shows:

"60 Minutes," with a rating of 25.1 representing 19.5 million homes, CBS; Movie: "Marilyn: The Untold Story," 23.4 or 18.2 million, ABC; "Dukes of Hazzard," 22.4 or 17.4 million, CBS; "Dallas," CBS, and "Little House on the Prairie," NBC, both 21.9 or 17 million; Movie: "Act of Love,"

21.7 or 16.9 million, NBC; "Love Boat," 21 or 16.3 million, ABC; "Real People," 20.8 or 16.2 million, and

Okays Rate Hike

HOUSTON (AP)—A $121.5 million rate hike becomes effective today for Houston Lighting & Power Co. customers, an increase expected to increase by 4 percent monthly electric bills, officials said.

The increase, approved Tuesday by the Houston City Council, excludes fuel adjustment costs, officials said. Customers living outside the Houston city limits will pay rates based on a $134.4 million increase approved Friday by the Public Utility Commission.

HL&P officials have appealed the city council's ordinance to the PUC, which is expected to resolve the rate request Oct. 16.

The $100,000 bill is used only by the Federal Reserve System and the Treasury Board.

Dear Abby

A Rose by Any Other Color

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: A reader wrote in to say that a co-worker had planned to carry a bridal bouquet of black roses. She asked, "Is this proper? And don't black roses symbolize death?"

You replied, "Black roses? You're putting me on!" Abby, just because you've never seen black roses doesn't mean there aren't any.

The Tidings, a Catholic publication, recently carried an article titled, "A Priest Who Grew Roses." The priest, the Rev. George Schoener, also was a botanist who gained a national reputation for having developed numerous new strains of roses, of which the beautiful coal-black rose was one.

The Salem, Ore., Journal conferred the title of "El Padre de las Rosas" on Father Schoener in 1936.

Thought you should know. Adios.
CARLOS G.

DEAR CARLOS: Gracias. And all along I thought with Gertrude Stein that a rose was a rose. Unfortunately I limited my research to California rose-growers, none of whom had ever heard of a black rose. I should have called Gerry Frank, my friend in Salem. He knows all there is to know about Oregon products.

Ten whacks for Abby with a long-stemmed American beauty — thorns and all.

DEAR ABBY: We invited a family of six to spend Labor Day weekend at our summer place. The children ranged from 7 to 17 years old. (We have no children.)

The children helped themselves to whatever they found in the fridge at all hours of the day and night. The first day they ate nearly everything we had planned to serve for the entire weekend.

On Sunday we invited some neighbors in for Sunday buffet. The visiting children got into line first, loaded their plates up, ate fast, and came back for seconds before some of the adults even had a first helping! Their parents either didn't see or didn't care what was going on.

After these weekend guests left, I could have kicked myself for not having found some way to control the situation.

Needless to say, this family will never be invited back. How would you have handled it?

MAD AT MYSELF

DEAR MAD: Probably much the same way you did — or didn't — handle it. It's awkward to discipline young guests when their parents are present and look out the window.

Since 20-20 hindsight is always useless, your decision never to invite them back is understandable.

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe I've actually joined the "I never thought I'd be writing to Dear Abby" club, but here I am.

You recently wrote, in praise of the tape recorder: "If we could hear ourselves as others hear us, many of the world's ills could be cured. So, if you're living with a whiny child, a screaming (or nagging) mate, or someone who says 'Ya know' a lot, get it on tape!"

Abby, how right you are! When our son was 16, he came home from a party drunk. I taped the teary, maudlin, incoherent monologue he recited in my presence that night and played it back for him (privately, of course) the next afternoon. He was ashamed and appalled. Had he not heard it himself, he never would have believed how he sounded.

Today he is a healthy, well-adjusted, 24-year-old man who takes an occasional drink — but never to excess.

I hope you'll mention this in your column. It may help parents who are trying to help their teen-agers at a time when they really need their parents' help but refuse to admit it. Sign me...

Spur may not cause problem

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 66 years old and have always been in good health. Last fall my left heel began to hurt when I walked. It kept getting worse so I decided it wasn't just a bruise. I went to an orthopedic doctor and he had it X-rayed and said I had a heel spur. He gave me a hard plastic heel cup to wear two weeks and had me come back. Then he put a shot of some kind in the side of my heel and this helped about three weeks. Then it started again. I've had this problem about three months. What is the best way to treat this? I know it's a calcium deposit but I don't want an operation if I can avoid it.

Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Of course, your foot has to be examined and decisions made as to what's best in your particular condition. A heel cup is sometimes useful because it takes the pressure off of the inflamed area or the sore heel. Another way of helping solve the problem is to change the weight bearing of the foot. This is commonly done by rotating the foot in such a way that one walks more on the outside of the foot. This relieves the strain across the center of the arch, which in turn relieves the pull on the muscles, tendons and tissues of the bottom of the foot.

DEAR READER — Let's limit our conclusion to the fact that you have a sore and painful heel. Those little bony spurs on the bottom of the heel can occur without causing any pain at all. Other people can have very sore painful heels as you describe and not have any bony spur.

The real pain is usually caused by inflammation and injury of the associated tendons and sheaths of tissue we call fascia that attach to the heel bone. The muscles under the arch of your foot stretch from the front of the foot to the heel somewhat like a string to a bow. When your long arch is put under too much strain and pulls on these muscles, it pulls at their attachments. This constant mechanical irritation is one way that you can set up inflammation and develop a sore heel. The pulling of tendons and fascia on this spot may stimulate the growth of the bony spur. Thus the bony spur is the result of the problem and not the cause.

To give you more detailed information about your feet, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 11-10, Common Foot Problems. What to Do about Them. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it.

You could get relief by just staying off your foot completely but that leads to other problems.

Injections are sometimes used and you probably got some form of cortisone shot. These do counteract inflammation and may provide temporary relief. They will not solve the fundamental problem of weight bearing and strain on the tissues at the point where they attach to the heel.

In most instances it's not necessary to have an operation to remove the heel spur. In fact, some patients have more difficulty after an operation of that sort than if the heel had been left alone. The operation will not correct the fundamental strain across the foot arch either. There are rare cases in which a significant spur does contribute to the pain but more often than not it's the strain across the arch problem that I have cited here.

Old coffee grounds used as a mulch for house plants will add nitrogen to the soil.

Police Woman Tackles Duties Of Position

CLINT, (AP) — In some parts of Texas, people might scoff at the idea of a 5-foot-5, 130-pound woman serving as the only law officer in town. But no one is scoffing in Clint these days. At least not to the face of Chief of Police Mariann Parthemore, 26, the lone cop in this town in far West Texas.

"I have had to prove to the citizens of Clint that I can maintain myself in a physical situation, that I don't back off from arrests because I'm female," the tough-talking redhead says. "I can defend myself on a hand to hand basis."

She made believers out of many of the 1,250 residents of this town 20 miles from El Paso when a young football player she was trying to arrest sized her up and decided to run for it.

She said she tried to be nice, but "niceness only goes so far. I had to go after him. I just had to grab him around the back. He started to fight. I just threw him to the ground and put the handcuffs on him."

"To be honest, I was winded," she now concedes. "Since she was hired in July, the town has accepted me surprisingly well," said Mrs. Parthemore, who studied police administration and criminology at Sul Ross State University before she quit to get married. She is divorced and has two sons, Eugene, 5, and Daniel, 1.

"I've found that a man proves himself once and he's in. A female officer has to prove herself over and over again," she said.

She has drawn her 38-caliber Special Colt Viper twice in the course of her duties "but thank God I've never had to fire it."

Her jurisdiction includes this city's 16 square miles, and she starts her day by patrolling the school area.

"Crime prevention is nine-tenths of my job. When people see me, they slow down."

Mrs. Parthemore said when she first visited Clint, "I applied for something safe like a clerk. But the next day they called and asked if I wanted to be a police officer, and I said yes."

The pay is $606 a month, and the job is a temporary position funded by the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act. But if Mrs. Parthemore can pass a 10-week course at the Sheriff's Academy beginning in January, she thinks the City Council will allocate funds to pay her salary and give her the chief's badge on a permanent basis.

If so, she says her professional goal will be fulfilled.

"People who get into this small-town police career usually die with their badge on, and I would just as soon do the same thing," Mrs. Parthemore said.

Prison Reformer Looks At Texas

AUSTIN, (AP) — The president of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency says solutions to a rising crime rates are being bogged down by "law and order" political rhetoric.

Prison reformers have a "great opportunity" for passing new laws in Texas, but prison and police officials are withholding information that citizens could use in making those decisions, Milton Rector said at a Tuesday news conference.

"Your people of Texas are as humane and concerned about other people as people anywhere in the United States," he said.

Reducing the amount of crime and dealing intelligently with criminals are issues that do not lend themselves to political solutions, Rector said.

"We've got to stop the political rhetoric and stop looking at the issue as conservative or liberal. It is rational or irrational," Rector said.

In some states, he said, businessmen, industrialists and political conservatives are taking the lead by providing such alternatives to prison as probation, work-release and job training. The alternatives are in use, he said, because those people have learned imprisonment is costly and often leads to still more crime.

Rector criticized the Texas Department of Corrections' plan to build a 3,000-bed prison farm, saying it would offer little of the job training that inmates from urban areas need.

Texas has more than 28,000 prison inmates, some of whom sleep on floors.

"You are the last state in the United States to pretend you have a self-supporting prison system," he said of the TDC's agricultural orientation.

Meanwhile, he said, "the more cells that are available, the more people who are incarcerated."

A non-violent criminal "could be on probation, paying restitution to his victims instead of running up $40 to $50-a-day board bills in prison," Rector said.

Many Texas inmates don't have enough to do with their time, he said, and this was part of the problem that led to the New Mexico State Prison riot last year.

Rector also said Texas cities need high-ranked officials with authority to find ways to make police more efficient and the power to put those methods into action.

In Seattle, he said, a deputy mayor was able to reduce the jail population by 50 percent by implementing a program to send drunks to detoxification centers and mental cases to the hospital.

A county executive in St. Louis caused a 60 percent increase in the number of police man-hours available for patrol by opening detoxification centers in various parts of the city, he said.

DQ Franchise Rights Bought

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — International Dairy Queen Inc. announced Tuesday that it has acquired the territorial franchise rights for the State of Texas.

The purchase price for the franchise rights and related assets was $14 million, the company said in a statement.

During the year ended Sept. 30, service fees paid by Dairy Queen stores in Texas to the territorial operator were approximately $2.5 million, the company said.

There are 956 Dairy Queen stores in Texas.

With the acquisition, 3,329 of the system's 4,869 stores are now franchised by the company, while 1,540 are sub-franchised by territorial operators.

Cholera Believed Isolated Incident

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Health officials say they're taking no chances but are optimistic Galveston County's first confirmed case of cholera was an isolated illness.

"There are a number of different kinds. One type can be associated with outbreaks, but most of the others are not. We are left in the position of not knowing what strain we are dealing with here," Dr. W.W. Kemmerer, health district director, said Tuesday.

A 3-month-old League City girl became ill Sept. 15. A feces sample was sent to the Houston laboratory by the child's physician, but officials said they did not receive confirmation of the illness was cholera until Sunday night, Kemmerer said.

Cholera incubation requires two to five days and no other cases have been reported, he said.

"The organism was diagnosed as cholera but then, unfortunately, the analysis was not carried further by the commercial laboratory and the sample was destroyed," Kemmerer said.

By that time, he said, the child had responded to antibiotics and was cured.

Auto Insurance Firms Ask Reconsideration Of Rate Boost Denial

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Automobile insurance companies have asked the State Insurance Board to reconsider its Sept. 16 order denying them any increase this year in the rates they may charge.

The Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office said in a motion for rehearing the board's action would result in "unjust, unreasonable and inadequate" car insurance rates.

A motion for rehearing is a necessary prelude to any appeal to the courts, should the insurers later decide to go that route.

Insurers had asked the board for a 28 percent average statewide increase, which would have brought them $379.9 million a year in higher premiums. The board's actuaries recommended an 18.9 percent increase, worth $257 million a year to the companies.

Board Chairman Bill Daves said when the board denied the increase that stockholder-owned insurance companies had made $7.9 billion in 1979 from investing policyholder premiums.

He said unpublished data from Best's Aggregates and Averages showed the companies had an average return last year, after federal income taxes and policyholder dividends, of 28.49 percent on stockholders' equity.

Daves said this was the time for a thorough review of the entire rate-making process, including the weight to be given investment income.

The insurance companies' motion, filed by Dallas attorney David Irons, said the board action violated the Administrative Procedure Act because it was not based on evidence presented at the auto insurance hearing in July.

Irons said the action left the industry with rates that are so inadequate they would "result in unconstitutional confiscation" of insurance companies' funds.

In a cover letter addressed to Daves, Irons said the figures Daves used were "not supported by a correct reading of the Best's Aggregates and Averages data you mentioned. Moreover, they have little relevance to the profitability of Texas automobile insurance."

IT'S ALL OVER but the shouting in West Germany, where Chancellor Helmut Schmidt is expected to easily retain power following the Oct. 5 elections. The campaign has grown so unexciting that voter turnout may be as low as is expected for the U.S. elections a month later.

CO2 Method Could Double Production

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Gulf Oil Corp. engineer has told the Railroad Commission oil production from a Brazos County field could be doubled — yielding up to 2.2 million barrels — by using a special recovery program.

A key to the case, he said, was whether the women were physically able to do the work. All the women had previously worked harvesting hops for Gamache Farms in the early 1970s.

"I think there is no question that women as workers are discriminated against in many crops," Fox said. "Sex discrimination in agriculture is present."

Production from certified projects can be sold at uncontrolled market prices, and the oil is taxed at a lower rate than oil produced by primary and secondary techniques.

Lim estimated the 672-acre Jones Enhanced Recovery Unit in the Kurten (Woodbine) Field would eventually yield 2.2 million barrels of oil if Gulf is allowed to initiate a carbon dioxide, waterflood project there.

Otherwise, he said, total production would probably not top a million barrels. He said production by primary means had dropped in the past two years from 400 barrels a day to 200 barrels daily.

The four-year-old field is 10 miles northeast of Bryan.

The Snyder Council on Alcoholism elected officers at a meeting Tuesday night.

Elected president of the organization was Maggie Barnes. Other officers named are Fred Beard, vice president; Oma Lee Spears, treasurer; and Ricardo Corrales, secretary. L. D. Womble is the service director for the council.

Sixteen persons attended the meeting, including three from Roby.

Army Maneuver Goes Astray In Brownfield

BROWNFIELD, Texas (AP) — A six-man commando team trying to slip secretly across the South Plains apparently lost its bearings and wound up, cold, damp and hungry in a farmer's seed barn several miles east of their destination.

They had been instructed "to get in and out without notice." Instead they were detained by sheriff's deputies and had their pictures displayed on the front page of the local newspaper.

Team members were dressed in camouflage fatigues without rank or unit insignia and armed with automatic weapons, pistols and knives.

A congressman's aide said the men may have been participating in a series of training maneuvers on orders from the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"I've been working on this all day. An Army liaison major told me today (Tuesday) it's definitely tied in to the Joint Chiefs of Staff," said Don Richards, an aide to U.S. Rep. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock. "It was part of training exercises in California, Texas and Kansas."

The team was dropped at a Brownfield airport Friday with orders to get to an auxiliary Air Force base nine miles north of town "without notice," said Army Maj. Tony Caggeiano at the Pentagon

Tuesday.

But early Friday morning, Ruben Martinez said he noticed the men on his isolated farm and "it got me and my wife and kids kind of scared."

"These two Army boys showed up at my door in ponchos asking if they could use the phone," Martinez said. "They shouldn't be down here in the country and I didn't know who they were and nowadays you can't trust anybody, so I said no."

Martinez said the "secretive" men made him nervous but he told them they could change clothes in his cotton seed barn.

"They wouldn't go away," said his wife, Rachel, 36. "They were standing outside trying to look in and we were looking out at them. We locked our doors and everything, but they just kept knocking on our door and saying 'Open the door, we'll show you our I.D.'"

"I said don't open the door, they don't look like Army guys to me. And they didn't have any business out here in the country."

Martinez said the men stayed in the barn several hours "just walking back and forth in the pasture and back to the chicken house."

So he called the Terry County Sheriff's office. Brownfield News editor Don Arnwine heard the call on the police monitor and went to investigate.

Arnwine met the sheriff's squad car returning from the farm and noticed some military personnel in the car. He followed them back to the sheriff's office and photographed the men.

At that point, Arnwine said, a sheriff's deputy told him, "I want that film." Arnwine refused.

He said he was told it was a matter of "national security." "Your boss will hang if the pictures are printed in the paper," the deputy said.

Input Wanted On Left-Turn Lanes

What do you think of the left-turn lanes on 25th St. at College Ave. and at Ave. R (north side of the square)?

Officials of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation and the City of Snyder would like to have your opinion.

The lanes were put in during street repairs three weeks ago to determine whether they enhance the flow of traffic and contribute to traffic safety at two of the city's busiest intersections. Now, the highway department and city officials want to know how local motorists feel about them.

The Snyder Daily News will pass along responses to the questionnaire below to the officials.

The highway department and city officials plan to discuss the traffic lanes during a work conference set for Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 7, at city hall.

Discrimination Suit Won By Farm Workers

TOPPENISH, Wash. (AP) — Six women have received a settlement totaling $6,000 in what attorneys say is the first sex discrimination suit ever filed by farm workers.

The women had accused Virgil Gamache Farms Inc. of discrimination for refusing to hire them to harvest hops in 1975, 1976 and 1977. Washington state law prohibits employers from discriminating on the basis of sex.

The settlement compensates the six farm workers for wages lost because of the alleged discrimination.

Virgil Gamache declined to comment on the settlement or the discrimination charges, but his attorney, Walter Dauber of Yakima, said the case was settled out of court for "nuisance value."

Evergreen Legal Services of Sunnyside filed suit in 1978 in Yakima County Superior Court on behalf of Gregoria Deleon, Maria Flores, Genoveva Garza, Alicia Flores, Leonila Pachoco and Sanjuanita Hernandez.

Michael J. Fox of Evergreen's Seattle office said the case was the first such suit involving farm workers. "It's fairly unusual for women's rights to be exerted in an agricultural setting," Fox said.

A key to the case, he said, was whether the women were physically able to do the work. All the women had previously worked harvesting hops for Gamache Farms in the early 1970s.

"I think there is no question that women as workers are discriminated against in many crops," Fox said. "Sex discrimination in agriculture is present."

Joint Electronic Warfare Center To Open In Texas

SAN ANTONIO, (AP) — A Joint Electronic Warfare Center — bringing together experts from four branches of the military — opens today at Kelly Air Force Base.

The center will be staffed by an initial contingent of 72 Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps and civilian personnel, with a total staff of about 170 during final phases of establishment in late 1984, the Department of Defense said in an announcement Tuesday.

"Estimated first-year costs of $441,000 will be shared by all services. The increased payroll will eventually add nearly $3 million yearly to the San Antonio economy," the announcement said.

Maj. Gen. Doyle E. Larson, current commander of the Air Force's Electronic Security Command, will head the new Joint Electronic Warfare Center during its initial stage of development, with subsequent directors to be selected from service nominees by the Joint Chief of Staff.

Directly responsible to the Joint Chiefs in Washington, the center will provide comprehensive electronic warfare support to the Secretary of Defense, Joint Chiefs of Staff, and any other DOD agency requiring assistance," the announcement said.

The Air Force's little known Electronic Security Command, established on "Security Hill" at Kelly AFB on Aug. 1, 1979, currently directs 12,000 personnel situated in 80 undivulged locations in 10 countries, throughout the world, according to a briefing arranged for The Associated Press earlier this month.

Electronic warfare became a common byword during the air war over North Vietnam." Tuesday's announcement said. "Increased use of electronic guidance systems by enemy aircraft defenses called for equally sophisticated countermeasures and tactics."

Prison Terms Assessed Pair

Prison terms were assessed two persons yesterday in 132nd District Court.

Antonio Reyna Rios of Bovina, who had been placed on probation as a result of a 1979 drunken driving case, had that probation revoked and received a two-year sentence. Court records show the revocation was based on a subsequent drunken driving arrest.

The second case, also a probation revocation, involved Elmer Cox of Sweetwater. Cox had his four-year probation revoked because of failure to report to his probation officer and failure to pay his probation fine. He had been placed on probation as a result of a 1976 theft charge.

Trades Day Postponed

A "Trade's Day" event originally planned for this weekend by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Merchants' Committee has been postponed, it was announced today.

Another date for the event will be announced later, chamber officials said.

"Electronic warfare has spread into every field of battle, on the ground and sea as well as in the air. The Secretary of Defense decided in 1977 that joint service effort was required to support the Defense Department's electronic warfare needs."

The ESC announced Tuesday its headquarters would serve as a "corner stone" for the new center.

"A variety of electronic warfare support will emanate from the Joint Electronic Warfare Center, including analysis support to joint commands, evaluation of capabilities and vulnerabilities of U.S. equipment and tactics, along with research and studies into future electronic warfare requirements," it said.

Larson scheduled an "electronic ribbon-cutting ceremony" to officially open the center at 1:15 p.m. Oct. 6, followed by a press briefing.

Oil Stockpiles Growth Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The way has been cleared for the Department of Energy to triple the rate at which strategic oil supplies will be stockpiled in Louisiana and Texas.

Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., said enough money for the increase is included in the continuing resolution bill that will finance government agencies until Congress returns next month.

Johnston said he had received a letter from Charles Duncan, the secretary of the Department of Energy, in which he agreed to try filling the salt dome storage areas at three times the planned rate of 100,000 barrels a day. However, Johnston said Duncan noted enough oil must be acquired to meet the new rate.

"Despite our current relationship with the hostile government or governments of the area, the government of the Islamic Republic of Iran guarantees to do its share to maintain this waterway open."

Radio Abadan, from the city in western Iran on the southern part of the invasion front, quoted government officials as saying Iranian forces fought the Iraqis in several sectors of Khorramshahr and pushed them back three miles from the city. It said 15 Iraqis were killed or wounded and 39 were taken prisoner. The broadcast also claimed the capture of six Iraqi tanks.

Abadan was under siege and heavy artillery attack but apparently Iran's revolutionary guards were holding on there.

An Iranian military com-unique claimed Iranian troops destroyed 21 Iraqi tanks and two MiG planes this morning in the southern sector of the battlefield. It was not more specific as to the location.

An Iraqi captain escorting reporters on a tour of the central sector of the 300-mile invasion front told them Iraqi troops had pushed into parts of Ahwaz, the capital of Khuzestan province 50 miles from the border, and would probably gain control of the city today or Thursday.

But AP Correspondent Jeffrey Ulbrich said Iraqi officers reported fighting still going on six miles south of the city as well as inside it.

Ship Traffic Has New Regs

HOUSTON (AP) — The Coast Guard has announced publication of proposed rules that would require all vessels traveling through the Houston Ship Channel to use its traffic safety system.

"The proposed regulations are intended to minimize the risks of collisions, ramming and groundings, thereby contributing to the safety of people and property," Cmdr. Kenneth Thompson, director of the Vessel Traffic Safety System, said Tuesday.

 spent several hours in cross-examination of Michael Wacks, a government agent who posed as a representative of Prudential Insurance Co. during the wide-ranging investigation. Under the questioning of Roy Minton, Clayton's attorney, Wacks admitted he had never heard nor seen anything that would link the powerful Texas political figure with any criminal acts. But, Wacks said, there had been rumors and hints that Clayton, then seeking an unprecedented fourth term as speaker, might be open to political payoffs. When asked to nail down the rumors, Wacks said a Dallas lawyer had said Clayton once flew 16 black legislators to his family farm in West Texas in an effort to sway them to his side in a speakership battle. The FBI agent said, however, that he had not checked the accuracy of the report. Wacks said former state Rep. Joe Allen, now a Baytown banker, had indicated in some conversations that Clayton might accept a payoff. Minton asked, "Did Joe Allen say the speaker would accept a payoff?" Wacks answered, "No, but he didn't advise us not to approach Speaker Clayton." And, the FBI undercover agent said he believed from various conversations that Bob Johnson, a widely known Texas political figure and a member of the Employees Retirement Board, might or might not take money to influence what insurance company would get the rich state health insurance contract.

ROTC Teacher Linked With Prostitution Ring

DALLAS (AP) — A Reserve Officer Training Corps instructor arrested for allegedly operating a ritzy prostitution ring has very little chance of returning to his job at the University of Texas-Arlington, says his commanding officer.

Lt. Col. Raymond R. Andrae, chief of the military science department at the school, said he would meet with school officials next week to discuss the future of Maj. Terry L. Todd, 36, who was arrested and charged Tuesday.

"He (Todd) is a very hard worker and very dedicated to the students on this campus," Andrae said. "I've been very impressed with him and his loss will be difficult to handle."

Todd was arrested Tuesday afternoon in his campus office by university police. He was arraigned in his uniform before Arlington Municipal Judge Luther Strange on a charge of aggravated promotion of prostitution.

The officer was released from Dallas County jail Tuesday night after posting $1,500 bond.

Dallas police allege Todd was "actively involved in both the management and recruiting end" of the prostitution ring, which operated out of a North Dallas apartment complex.

Sharon Claudette Brown, 29, also was arrested Tuesday on a similar charge in connection with the operation.

Police spokesman Bob Shaw said Todd allegedly was "helping her with the business...managing money, taking promotional pictures and doing recruiting."

Sgt. Terry Howard of the vice office said the "sizeable" operation included clients "from throughout the metroplex, all over the nation...and one from France."

Police say they have known of the operation since early last year, but first received solid information following the arrest earlier this month of Sherry Rice Blanchard, 37, of Dallas.

Ms. Blanchard also was charged with aggravated promotion of prostitution and was freed after posting $1,500 bond.

Police say the two operations are connected, but add that there is no indication Todd was involved in the second operation.

Shaw said Ms. Blanchard allegedly operated out of her apartment and that the two women often "would swap girls from time to time."

Shaw said one of the vice officers involved in the arrest described the alleged operation as a "high-class, straight sex" business.

He said prospective clients were solicited through advertisements in at least two magazines that asked for response from persons who were interested in "only the best."

He said as much as $450 was charged per sexual act.

"They only took checks or cash," Shaw said. "They did a very good business."

Shaw said there was no indication recruiting had taken place on the Texas-Arlington campus.

The charge against Todd and the two women is a third-class felony, punishable by a prison sentence of from two to 10 years and a $5,000 fine.

The last pennant John McGraw ever won was in 1924 when his New York Giants made it four in a row in the National League.

"For beating up a guard, we're taking away your color TV and replacing it with black and white."

"THIS WORKS LIKE a real house," says Stefan Mükabirn of the dollhouse he spent almost three years building for his granddaughter. All windows of the house go up and down. All doors have knobs and locks. There are small drainpipes under the kitchen sink, a tiny hood and fan over the stove, even a transformer in the chimney to power miniature lamps. The retired Illinois mechanic says he built the dollhouse for only the cost of one sheet of plastic and two sheets of wood paneling.

Too much togetherness?

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

DEAR DR. BLAKER — My husband and I are both lawyers. Until a few months ago, we specialized in different kinds of law and worked in separate offices.

Then circumstances made it financially lucrative for us to team up.

We thought we would have no problems because we have been married for a long time and are very compatible.

But we just don't get along any more. We are constantly on each other's nerves.

DEAR READER — If your marital difficulties indeed date from when you began to work together, ask yourselves whether anything else was happening at the time to put extra strain on your marriage.

New Octane Gas

Being Introduced

HOUSTON (AP) — A new super, lead-free octane motor gasoline will be placed on the market this month, Texaco USA has announced.

The Super Lead-Free Sky Chief grade will have a posted octane rating of 91, compared with 89 and 87, respectively, for leaded and lead-free grades, President Annon M. Card said Tuesday.

Card said the new product should reduce ping or engine knock in vehicles not satisfied with lower octane grades.

Marketing of the new product will begin this month in portions of Florida, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Texas, Card said. The marketing area will be expanded later to additional states along the Gulf Coast to the Eastern seaboard.

The first society for the abolition of slavery was organized in 1775 by Quakers in Philadelphia.

If not, you can assume that the change in your working situation was the culprit.

Why? The working-together syndrome is potentially difficult for most couples.

First, you must spend extraordinary amounts of time together. Maybe you two are not suited for that kind of arrangement. Few marriages could survive 24-hour-a-day contact.

If this is the problem, separate offices may be the solution.

Another possibility is that you two are too competitive to work together, particularly in the same specialty. If that is the case, a change now will set your marriage back on course.

DEAR DR. BLAKER — As an anthropologist, I was interested to read a recent column in which you talked about the technique of acting as though you can do something to conquer unknown and frightening new tasks.

In my field, this is a familiar concept.

Many tribes use "imitative magic." When they want something to happen, they begin to act as though it will. These preliminary actions set a self-fulfilling prophecy in motion that indeed helps their wish come true.

DEAR READER — Thanks for supporting this idea with anthropological evidence.

DEAR DR. BLAKER — I just graduated from college and have great plans to be rich and famous. My father says it is all just foolish talk. We spend hours arguing the point.

DEAR READER — You will never get rich and famous that way. Why not get out and start working toward your goal?

But I must caution you that you are not alone in your high expectations.

A recent study found that nearly 75 percent of U.S. college seniors expect to achieve recognition in their fields. And 58.7 percent of those questioned think they will be wealthy at some point in their lives.

It will take brains, sweat and luck to beat the odds.

Astros, Expos Show Different Look In '80

By The Associated Press
For more seasons than they can remember, the Montreal Expos and Houston Astros have been playing the roles of spoilers.

This season, though, they're learning how the other half lives — and loving every minute of it, despite the mounting pressure of a pennant race.

"We're loose and we know the championship is within our grasp," Andre Dawson said after the front-running Expos defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-2 Tuesday night and hung tough in the National League East.

Orr May Miss Year

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas freshman Terry Orr, the No. 1 bluechip running back recruit in the state, dislocated his left shoulder in practice Tuesday and may be lost for the remainder of the season.

Coach Fred Akers said surgery "is more than probable."

"We have to go out and apply ourself and use the talent we have," added Dawson, who had two of three Montreal triples against the Cardinals. "It's fun but it's also hard work. And we can't afford to make mistakes."

The Expos thus maintained their half-game advantage over the Philadelphia Phillies, 14-2 winners over the Chicago Cubs.

The Astros, meanwhile, beat the Atlanta Braves 7-3 and maintained a two-game advantage in the West over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who beat the San Francisco Giants 6-3 in 10 innings.

Elsewhere in the NL, San Diego edged Cincinnati 3-2 and New York beat Pittsburgh 3-2.

Triples by Rodney Scott and Dawson ignited a five-run, sixth-inning rally for the Expos.

Astros 7, Braves 3
Jose Cruz hit a three-run double and Nolan Ryan shut out Atlanta for 5½ innings before needing relief help as the Astros defeated the Braves.

Ryan, 11-9, scattered eight hits and struck out eight to give him a career total of 3,100 strikeouts, fourth best in the major leagues. Ryan left in the sixth after yielding four hits and three runs.

Cruz's blow came in the fifth after Doyle Alexander, 14-10, had loaded the bases on walks to Joe Morgan and Puhl and a single by Enos Cabell.

Orioles Surge; Time Is Short

The New York Yankees are slipping, the Baltimore Orioles are surging. The American League East has a pennant race once again, and Orioles Manager Earl Weaver is having trouble concentrating.

"What was the score of our game?" Weaver asked after the Orioles' whipped the Boston Red Sox 11-6 Tuesday night while the first-place Yankees were dropping a seesaw 12-9 decision to Cleveland.

Those results cut the Yankees' lead in the AL East to 2½ games. It's still a sizeable margin, since New York has only five games to play and Baltimore four. But for the Orioles the outlook is much brighter than it was as recently as Saturday, when they trailed by 5½ games.

In other games, the Oakland A's beat the Chicago White Sox 5-1, the Kansas City Royals edged the Seattle Mariners 7-5 in 14 innings, the Detroit Tigers topped the

White Injured, But He Will Go For Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — When Danny White fell on a fumble in Sunday's 28-7 victory over Green Bay, it was Coach Tom Landry's good fortune that his quarterback is right-handed. White fractured the middle digit of his left hand and it will be protected with a splint for at least the next six weeks.

The catalyst of the Dallas Cowboys offense will have to take center snaps, some from the Shotgun Formation, and punt with the nuisance.

The leading quarterback in the National Football Conference began that chore today as the Cowboys put in their offense for Sunday's National Football League meeting with the New York Giants.

Landry was cautiously optimistic.

"I'm not sure how he'll handle the ball, but I think he will be OK," said Landry. "The snap when we are in punt formations might be difficult to take but there shouldn't be much trouble."

White, the current No. 1 rated quarterback in the National Conference, also punts for the Cowboys.

"A splint on a fracture like this is about a six weeks affair," said Landry. "Actually, his hand looked worse from the sprain of the finger than anything else. We didn't know it was fractured until Monday."

He added "Glenn Carano is ready to go as usual if needed as Danny's backup. He has progressed and will do well if he gets into the game."

Landry had some good news for Dallas fans on the injury front: Fullback Ron Springs is ready to rejoin the fray, although perhaps not in a starting capacity this week against New York.

"He's still our starter but may not start against the Giants," said Landry.

Landry said veteran Robert Newhouse would likely open on the No. 1 unit to give Springs more healing time for his sprained ankle.

Mustangs-Eagles Hold Temporary 2-4A Rule

Andrews and Pecos continued to erase would-be district 2-4A challengers as the loop concluded another series of battles Friday. The pair meet this week in a battle of the unbeaten.

Andrews, 4-0 on the season and 2-0 in conference play, zapped Lamesa last week, 27-7. Pecos, also undefeated in four outings, ripped past Fort Stockton, 10-0.

Also 2-0 in league play is surprising Sweetwater, a 7-0 victor over San Angelo Lake View. The Mustangs are off to their best start in years, boasting a 3-1 record with upsets over Lake View and Snyder.

For Lake View, it was the second straight 2-AAAA loss and its third defeat of a 1-3 season.

Monahans broke even by trimming 0-2-1 Odessa Ector 7-0. The Lobos are batting .500 on the season; 2-2 in overall competition and 1-1 in 2-4A play. Also 1-1 in loop wars is Lamesa. Fort Stockton is 0-2.

This Friday, 0-3 and 0-1 Snyder attempts to get things going its way as it entertains Lake View in an annual rivalry. In previous years, the Tiger-Chief match decided the District 3-3A title. This time around however, Snyder is hoping a victory will simply put its Tigers back in the race.

Other district contests

Friday call for Ector to be at Fort Stockton, Lamesa to bus to Sweetwater, and Pecos to travel to Andrews in a contest which — barring a tie — will leave the winner with an inside track to the 2-AAAA title.

Cats Resume 11-Man Action

Snyder underclassmen trek to respective gridirons this week after taking seven days rest. Junior varsity, eighth grades and seventh grades all play. Freshman, the only group battling last week, are idle this time around.

Seventh and eighth graders open the activities against Big Spring. The seventh grade, playing its first inter-squad games of the season, travels to Steer-land for two games Thursday, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

The eighth grade hosts Big Spring at Travis Field for a two-game series of its own, also beginning at 5:30 Thursday.

Snyder junior varsity concludes the week of football on Saturday, though the local varsity also has a game this week, hosting San Angelo Lake View at 8 p.m. Friday in an annual rivalry at Tiger Stadium.

The JV travels to San Angelo to take on the Chiefs at 1 p.m. The local junior varsity club is 1-1-1 on the season.

Carlo Fassi coached both gold medalists in the 1976 figure skating competition at the 1976 Winter Olympics, Dorothy Hamill in the women's division and John Curry in the men's.

Snyder Slams Andrews As...

Tigers Win 50th At Home!

Coach Joyce Elrod's varsity Tigers, ranked No. 1 in class AAAA volleyball according to the latest coaches' poll, won their 50th straight home game last night.

The Tigers, who have also won 36 consecutive district matches and are 19-0 on the current season, defeated Andrews High School, 15-5 and 15-4.

Relatively easy matches against the Mustangs took some of the shine off of last night's history-making performance, but the team celebrated nonetheless with cake and sodas in the locker room.

"Naturally I think the girls were excited about that (extending their winning streak)," said Elrod. "I think a lot of them had it on their minds during the game. At this point it gets kind of scary. The pressure builds more each time you win. Hopefully, now that we've got this one past us we can play each game as a district game and forget about records and things like that."

The victory also extended the team's round-one District 2-AAAA record to 5-0 with only two games left to play. Snyder travels to Odessa to meet Ector 7:30 Thursday, then finishes out the round at Lamesa next Tuesday.

Lopez-Fullwood Suffer Injuries

ABILENE (AP) — A member of last year's Abilene Christian University championship cross-country jogging team is in satisfactory condition after being struck by a car while she was jogging.

Police said Alba Lopez, 20, of Sweetwater, was struck about 6:30 a.m. Tuesday while she was jogging with two other girls near the ACU campus. Garner Roberts, ACU Sports Information Director, said Ms. Lopez sustained back and hip injuries in the accident.

Hope Fullwood, 18, of Roscoe, was treated for her injuries and released, Roberts said. A third girl, Laurie Taylor of Maryland, was not injured.

Ms. Lopez, who was not listed as a member of the team this year, placed second in the 3,000-meter run last year in the finals of the Texas Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women track meet.

The ACU women's team won the cross-country title at the meet.

Holmes Hopes To Gain Respect In Friday Bout

By The Associated Press LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Larry Holmes looked around his hotel suite which was spilling over with reporters. "Only Ali brings you out," the World Boxing Council heavyweight champion said. "He makes you know me. I never dreamed of this. Until this fight, nobody came around. That's why I've got to knock Ali out. Because I like having you all around."

It is true that Holmes is something of an anonymous champion, going into Thursday night's fight unbeaten in 35 bouts with 26 knockouts, yet hardly a household name. But Muhammad Ali brings built-in identification, wherever he goes, even after two years away from the ring. He is a citizen of the world, perhaps the most recognized figure in the history of sports. And he plays that role to the hilt.

"Holmes fights for his family," sneered Ali. "I fight for the oppressed people of the world, I am a world power for good, not bad. I am the leader of the world's oppressed people. This will be a holy war. The whole world is in my corner." Sounds convincing, doesn't he? Not to Holmes he doesn't. "He's an old man and when I whip Ali, they'll say I whipped an old man," the champion said. "By the third round, I'll be digging Ali to the body."

This Don King-Caesars Palace promotion has generated a live gate of about 25,000 fans paying a record $6 million. Closed circuit television and ancillary rights will make it a record revenue producer. The previous record gate was the $4.5 million reported in New Orleans when Leon Spinks lost the World Boxing Association title Sept. 15, 1978. Interestingly, the fighter opposing Spinks that night was Muhammad Ali. "I am one of a kind," says Ali. "There's never been one like me before and you won't see anything like me after me."

Holmes will collect $4 million for this fight. Still, that is only half what Ali is getting. His name is still magic, no matter how old he is. And after he finishes talking about holy wars and fighting for oppressed peoples, and about rewriting boxing history by becoming a four-time champion, Ali gets around to the bottom line. "Eight million cash dollars, ain't too bad," he said.

Without him, the price for this fight would tumble. Holmes is not a charismatic champion and he knows that having Ali in the other corner means instant benefits, mostly monetary, for him. "I was ready to retire after beating Spinks," said Ali. "Then I saw Holmes and (WBA champion Mike) Weaver and a chance to be four-time champion. As God is my witness, I wanted this to be it."

Then he pauses and adds the punchline. "Then Weaver for $10 million," he said. "That ain't too bad."

Paul Molitor, star infielder of the Milwaukee Brewers, was captain of his high school teams in baseball, basketball and soccer.

Breck Still Favorite Of 2-A Grid Pollsters

By The Associated Press Breckenridge, the season-long No. 1-ranked team in Class 3A of The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll, has achieved an enviable voting record. Twenty-two of the 24 Texas sports writers and sportscasters ranked Breckenridge No. 1 this week and it was a unanimous selection on two earlier ballots.

Temple in Class 5A, Bay City in 4A, and Pilot Point in 2A didn't get such wide approval of the voters but all held onto their top ranks in The AP poll in a light week of action. Only 26 of the 50 ranked teams played games. There were no losses among the ranked teams and the only blemish was in Class 2A where No. 5 Tidehaven was tied by Ingleside 6-6 and dropped to the No. 9 position this week.

Lakes Catch More Water From Rains

Both Colorado River Municipal Water District lakes caught more water from the past week's rains overnight.
Lake J. B. Thomas, which provides Snyder with its water had picked up another .28 foot, which increased the amount of water impounded there to 65,750 acre feet. The gain for the week at Lake Thomas is about 39,000 acre feet.
Lake E. V. Spence had gained 63,500 acre feet and expects 15,000 to 20,000 acre feet more. The Colorado River had crested below Colorado City, but was still flowing 20 feet deep at the Silver Bridge.
The runoff had subsided this morning at Lake Thomas. However, the total amount of water impounded in both lakes was certain to go well over the 200,000 acre foot mark.

Grocery Bill Rises Faster

Supermarket shoppers got a break from rising prices last month, but an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows grocery bills during the first three-quarters of 1980 went up much faster than they did in the same period of 1979.
The U.S. Department of Agriculture, meanwhile, predicts that food prices will jump sharply during the rest of this year and will rise at a double-digit rate next year.
The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. One item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped from the list at the end of November 1977 because the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.
Among the highlights of the latest survey:
—The marketbasket bill increased at the checklist store in eight cities last month, up an average of 1.4 percent. The bill decreased at the checklist store in five cities, down an average of 2.2 percent. The increases and decreases cancelled each other out, leaving the overall average bill unchanged during the month. During August, the overall bill was up by 2.9 percent.
—Comparing prices today with those at the start of the year, the AP found the average marketbasket bill at the checklist store rose an average of 10.1 percent in nine months. During the same period last year, the marketbasket bill was up an average of 6.1 percent.
—The September moderation in grocery prices was due mainly to a drop in the price of coffee. When coffee was removed from the marketbasket totals, the AP found the average bill at the checklist stores went up a little more than half a percent during September.
—The price of sugar rose at the checklist store in eight cities last month. Prices have been going up all year,

Indecent Exposure Case Here

Police reported making an indecent exposure arrest and several minor traffic accidents were investigated.
The arrest was made about 9:45 p.m. and resulted in the apprehension of a 25-year-old man. The arrest was made on a warrant issued as a result of a Sept. 9 incident that occurred at a Skinny's convenience store. Officers reported the same subject had been handled by the department before on an identical charge. Indecent exposure is a Class C misdemeanor.
Also investigated Tuesday was a theft report made by Charles Wells. Wells told Sgt. Jerry Parker he was missing a $187 chainsaw.
The first traffic accident occurred about 3:40 p.m. in the 3800 block of Tiger Drive. Involved in the mishap were a 1979 International bus driven by Sue Martini and a parked 1974 Chevrolet owned by Buck Sitton. Working that accident was officer Don Whittenburg.
Don Cheek investigated a two-vehicle traffic accident in a parking lot of Cogdell Memorial Hospital about 4:15 p.m. In that mishap were a 1977 Oldsmobile driven by Gena Coldeaway of Colorado City and a parked 1978 Chevrolet owned by Bobby Athey.
A wreck in the 3000 block of College Ave. was worked by Whittenburg at 5:35 p.m. There, a 1973 Ford driven by Julia Martinez and a 1979 Chevrolet driven by Richard Crawford collided.
The final mishap of the day was reported about 7 p.m. at the intersection of 34th St. and Ave. L. Involved in it were a 1972 Oldsmobile driven by Isaac McKnight and a 1979 Ford pickup truck driven by Michael Harrison of Abernathy. Working that accident was Sgt. Clay Scogin.
