War To Last As Long As Iran Has Bullets

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — After almost two weeks of air strikes on key oil installations, Iraq and Iran are settling into a static but potentially worsening war that Western diplomats believe will last as long as Iran's bullets hold out.

With Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini exhorting his people to fight on, Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr rejected Iraq's call for a cease-fire, presented at the United Nations last week, that was contingent on Iran halting its "aggressive" activity.

The cease-fire proposal was seen by the Western diplomats here as an effort by Iraq to consolidate its positions on the ground inside Iran. Although it failed, the diplomats said, it nonetheless helped Iraq appear to be trying to halt the hostilities.

Iraqi Foreign Minister Saadoun Hammadi has said Iraq has seized all the roughly 155 square miles of disputed border lands it sought. Iraq wants the border redefined according to a 1913 agreement between the two countries.

The captured area is defined by Iraqi penetrations at three points on the Iranian border, and Iraq also wants the border to include the east bank of the Shatt al-Arab waterway as Iraqi territory. Under a 1975 accord, annulled by President Saddam Hussein of Iraq last month, the border was down the center of the Shatt al-Arab.

Iraqi forces also are fighting for control of the Iranian cities of Khorramshahr and Abadan, on the bank of the Shatt al-Arab, and Dezful and Ahwaz to the north.

Dezful is the site of a key Iranian military base and Ahwaz is the center of Iran's oil-producing Khuzistan Province, which has an Arabic-speaking minority and is known here as Arabistan. Iran is mostly Persian although it, like most Arab nations, is Muslim.

Iranian forces last week began their counterattacks on Iraqi positions near the four cities. Western reporters who went to the front saw the Iraqis, who are shelling these cities, come under artillery and air attacks by the Iranians. Iraq, however, appears to be holding firm, according to these reporters.

The stalemate, however, puts great pressure on Khomeini's regime in Tehran, the Western diplomats say.

Iran is facing serious economic problems that have been compounded by the loss of oil revenues during the war and by the economic boycotts resulting from its holding of the U.S. hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran since last Nov. 4.

The diplomats say they have been surprised by Iran's ability to fight, particularly the tenacity of its air force, in light of the U.S. embargo on spare parts for its aircraft and other equipment.

"It's anybody's guess how long this can go on," said one

Western diplomat. "The deciding factor will likely be the amount of ammunition and serviceable war material the Iraqis have."

Tehran Raided

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi warplanes raided several targets in Tehran Monday in retaliation for Iranian raids on civilian targets in Iraq, the official Iraqi news agency said.

An Iranian who spoke from Tehran by telephone with The Associated Press in New York said there had been "heavy explosions" in the vicinity of the Tehran airport and on the road to the airport. The line went dead when the Iranian was asked if he had any further information and indicated that he did.

The Tehran radio, in a broadcast heard in London, said the Iraqi planes dropped paper handkerchiefs, toys and dolls and warned that they might be boobytraps.

An Iraqi communique announced the raids warned the Iranian rulers "that the Iraqi air force is able to shake the ground under their feet and is able to destroy any target deep inside Iran," the agency added.

The communique said all the Iraqi jets that attacked Tehran returned safely to their bases.

In announcing his resignation, Ezzell said, "It has been an honor and privilege to represent the people of the 63rd District in the Texas Legislature during the last six years. Justices Will Consider Striking Dust Standard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to consider striking down an economically unreasonable new federal standard for worker exposure to cotton dust.

The court's decision, not expected until sometime next year, could answer an important question left unanswered last July when it ruled on worker-exposure standards for benzene: Do federal regulators have to satisfy a cost-benefit test before imposing such standards?

The justices said they will review two textile industry appeals challenging cotton dust-level standards issued by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration in 1978. The new standard, if upheld, would take effect in 1982.

At the same time, the justices sent back to a federal appeals court a separate appeal challenging the new cotton dust exposure standard as it applies to cotton warehouses and cotton-classing offices.

OSHA has suspended the standard's effectiveness for those industries pending a re-examination by the agency.

Workers who breathe in cotton dust run the risk of contracting the respiratory disease byssinosis, often called "brown lung."

The government did not begin to protect textile workers from cotton dust until 1968. Shortly after OSHA was created in 1970, the existing standard allowing an average over an eight-hour day of 1000 micrograms of dust per cubic meter was adopted.

Two years ago, Labor Secretary Ray Marshall issued a new new standard five times more stringent than the one it was to replace. It is to allow an average over an eight-hour day of only 200 micrograms of dust per cubic meter.

OSHA contends that the new standard will cost the cotton industry $550 million, but some industry estimates exceed $2.7 billion.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington upheld the standard on Oct. 24, 1979, except as it was applied to the cottonseed oil industry. The National Cotton Council of America, the American Textile Manufacturers Institute and 12 individual textile manufacturers then carried the controversy to the Supreme Court.

In its appeal, NCC argued that OSHA should be forced to apply a cost-benefit test to such an expensive standard. "OSHA denies any obligation to balance costs and benefits," the appeal said.

"To hold as the District of Columbia Circuit did is to conclude that any expenditure is feasible—regardless of its devastating consequences for industry—so long as the expenditure results in any improvement in health and safety conditions, regardless of how marginal," the appeal said.

In its decision on worker exposure to benzene, the high court disallowed a new, more stringent OSHA standard after ruling that the agency had not proven that current standards represent a "significant health risk."

Man Killed In One-Car Mishap Here

Orran Fraenzl, 28, was killed when he was thrown from his car early this morning in a one vehicle rollover north of town.

Investigating troopers of the Department of Public Safety said the accident occurred about 12:20 a.m. today, approximately eight-tenths of a mile north of Snyder on the Ennis Creek Road. Fraenzl, a physician's assistant, survived the crash, but died about 2 a.m. at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. He reportedly sustained head injuries in the wreck.

The DPS troopers said Fraenzl was traveling north on Ennis Creek Road in his 1977 Datsun when the wreck occurred.

Funeral arrangements were pending late this morning at Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

All Passengers Rescued

SITKA, Alaska (AP) — Passengers from a lifeboat that rescuers at first missed in the pitch-dark night and stormy waters of the Gulf of Alaska finally came ashore 36 hours after they abandoned the burning cruise ship Prinsendam.

In one of the biggest sea rescues in history, they and more than 500 other people were brought safely to land.

"After the Coast Guard left, we were left all alone in the fog and it was very, very scary. The waves were incredible. There wasn't much talking. We tried to conserve energy and warmth," said Regina O'Malley of New York City.

Tax Rate, Bids On City Agenda

A tax rate ordinance, bid openings and requests for rate increases highlight the agenda for tonight's meeting of the Snyder City Council.

The meeting is set for 6:30 p. m. in the council room of city hall.

An ordinance setting the city tax rate at 40 cents per $100 valuation will be presented on first reading. All preliminary hearings on the tax rate were held earlier.

Bids will be considered for the city's bank depository, for health insurance, materials for installing an emergency warning system, for painting of highway signs and for a year's supply of lime for the city's water treatment plant.

Rate increase requests will be presented from Lone Star Gas Co. and Snyder Community Antenna Television (SCAT), and a request for an increase in subsidy for Palmer EMS is on the agenda.

Staff requests for seeking bids for cleaning the digester at the city sewage treatment plant and for construction of additional pits at the sanitary landfill will be considered. The city manager will present proposed specifications for police patrol cars and a fire chief's car, and also for two sanitation department trucks and equipment.

commercial miscalculations

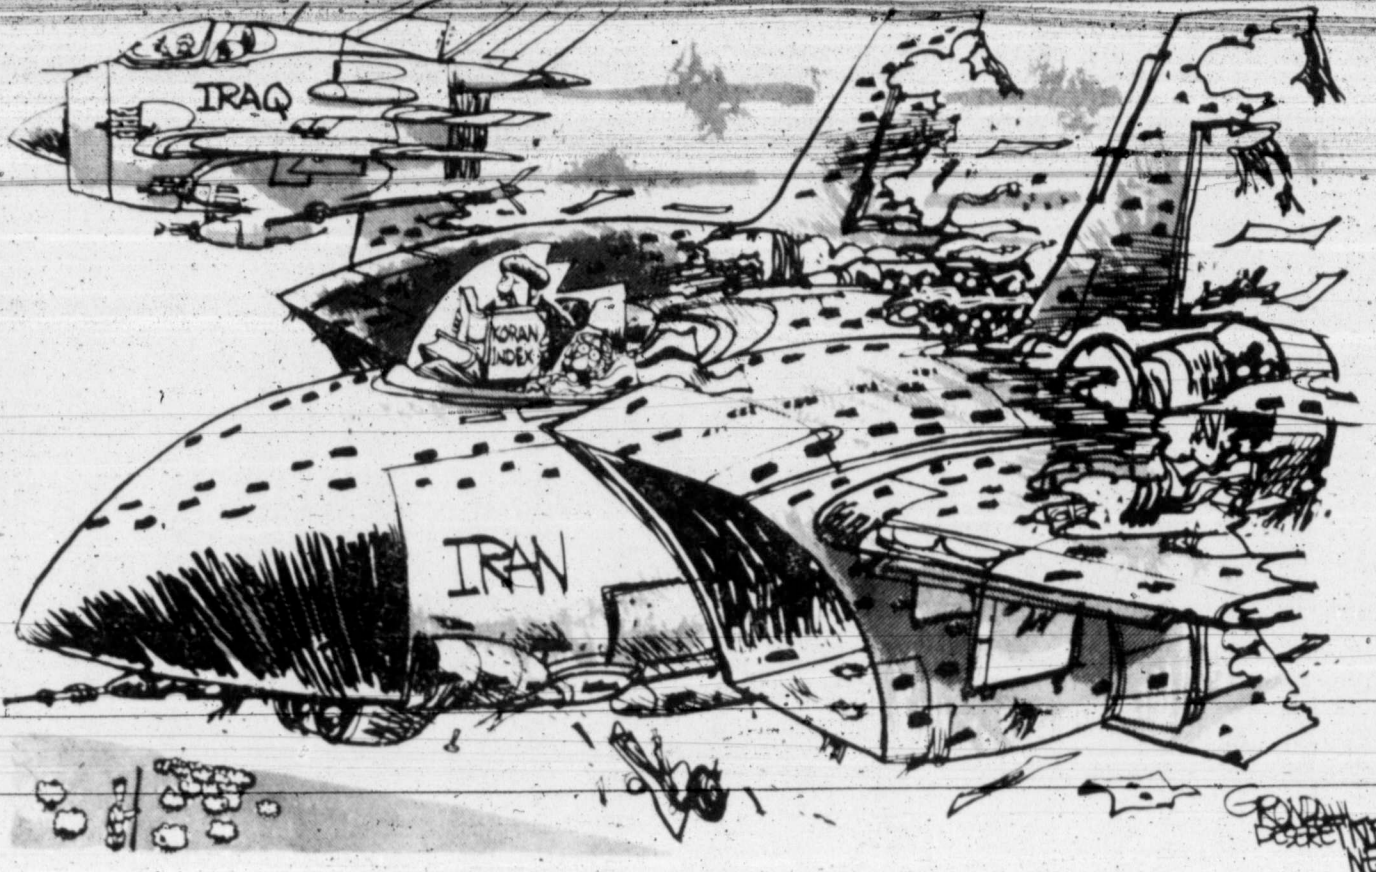

Any Texan believing the commercials extolling the economic progress of this nation as a result of the windfall profits tax is being misled. The approach to ruining the nation is about as direct as one can visualize in the remnants of the republic. To be more ruinous, the attack on the basics of Americanism would have to come from a totally socialist or communistic command. One can take Jimmy Carter's pirating action on the oil companies by imposing, with the aid of Congress (the culprits in Congress are on record), as a clear example. The tax may be just what the socialist doctor ordered for the liberal eastern states, but it certainly has a crippling action on Texas economics. Texas Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace said the windfall profits tax will cost Texas $137 billion and the nation two million barrels of oil during the next 10 years. Wallace said Railroad Commission studies indicate total revenues generated from the bill will total $227 billion and Texas will pick up most of that bill. He said the tax also will discourage oil companies from developing lower, more costly petroleum deposits. Wallace added that the commission study estimated petroleum production in Texas would be 11 billion barrels without the tax, and nine billion with the tax during this decade. Texas has the oil and the other states do too. One finds it difficult to see the intent behind curtailing the production of American oil through such highway-robbery tactics as the windfall profits tax as being anything other than criminal and treason.

Wallace said most people underestimate the severity of the nation's energy problems. He cited a national opinion poll which said only 30 percent of the public rates the issue as critical. But, said Wallace, "let no one lull you into a false sense of security. Let no one tell you there is an oil glut. The tanks may be full, but the supply lines could be cut off tomorrow." A shortcut back to reality and a departure from the naive that is leading us to the brink of cold and darkness and immobility would be the immediate repeal of the windfall profits tax.

by erma bombeck

I placed one ad for a baby-sitter in my life. The occasion was the birth of my third child, and I needed someone to sit with the other two. It was a simple ad, really. WANTED: Strong woman to sit with two active children. Write your own ticket. Orphan preferred. The ad ran for 14 days. After that it became clear I couldn't even pay anyone to do what I did for two dresses, an occasional dinner, a movie a month and a bottle of bath salts for Mother's Day. Either times have changed or unemployment is higher than I thought. I just saw an ad the other day that read "Child Mentor: To oversee the health, recreation and general well-being of three children. Stress personal and character building habits. Arrange outings, picnics, parties and other recreational endeavors. Plan and serve proper meals, determine behavior problems (if any) and try to solve them. Stimulate academic interest and prepare lesson plans for the children while they attend school. Free, room and board plus $130 a week. For $2.50 an hour, they're going to be lucky to have a sitter who makes sure the kids bleed on the Scotchgarded sofa. I've always been intrigued with the stereotype sitter depicted on television. She's usually a woman in her 50s with a B.S. degree in dental hygiene and a major in cavity fighting. She has a piece of chalk in her handbag which she dips into a liquid dye to demonstrate the wonders of fluoride. Come to think of it, she's perfect for the ad for Child Mentor. My sitters have run the emotional gamut from Appreciation to Unspeakable Terror. They were never bored. I used to issue them a mimeographed sheet to alleviate their fears. 1. The lamb's blood on the front door is someone's idea of a joke. 2. Bruce often drinks from an old-fashioned glass. 3. There is a lock on the bathroom door. Use it if you have to. 4. Cheer up. You can go home tonight. I hate to depress the woman who placed the ad for Child Mentor, but remember Julie Andrews as Mary Poppins? Well, the other night I saw her in "10" and I think the kids got through to her.

Castro Mellows On Hijack Issue

"Mellow" is not the first word that comes to mind when the subject is Fidel Castro. But the prompt return, as promised, of the latest plane hijackers to the United States for prosecution might almost lead one to suspect that two decades of experience with the realities of power are commencing to have a mellowing effect on Cuba's maximum leader. It is not the sort of mutually beneficial performance that has been previously been forthcoming from Havana. True, Castro had his own reasons. The two hijackers were recent expellees, social undesirables for whom there could be no welcome home again to Cuba. That may be self-interest, but don't knock it. When it's shared it has another name — cooperation. It's what makes good neighbors and lasting marriages. Castro's self-interest in this case has performed a considerable service not only to a publicly grateful U.S. government but to a vast majority of the world's nations seriously concerned by the hijacking problem and anxious to find a way to end it. Attempts have been made. There are in existence a number of multi-nation agreements on air piracy, notably those adopted by the International Civil Aviation Organization in Tokyo (1963) and Montreal (1971). They focus on national obligations in prosecuting or extraditing offenders and would be effective if everyone accepted the rules.

Trooper Found Killed SLATON, Texas (AP) — A Department of Public Safety trooper who had stopped a car for investigation was found shot to death late Sunday on U.S. 84 near here. DPS officials said. The officer was identified as Jerry Don Davis of Slaton. Fellow officers found him slumped over the steering wheel of his patrol car, holding a driver's license in one hand. deficits of the present administration, which will exceed $100 billion for just two years. Fed policy often reflects these deficits by higher interest rates, the purpose being to reduce demand on the pool of available funds which, of course, has been reduced by excessive government demands. In other words, the Fed can hardly escape viewing itself as a victim of spending policies for which President Carter is responsible and for which they feel they have been seeking an antidote. And so it is hard to believe those cool fellows at the Fed don't feel a bit hot after G. William Miller, the treasury secretary and former Fed chairman, stated "I am surprised rates have gone up so quickly." Even the least sophisticated popular economist understands that you'll have inflation if you continue without letup to live far beyond your income. And the administration has tried that for four years.

Oswald: "Your victory in this year's Spingold Cup was well deserved. Your team won every match easily and showed exceptional form."

Alan: "This was my first win in this event. Four of my teammates had won it before. You have won it seven times, haven't you?"

Oswald: "Yes. Two of my wins were with B.J. Becker, whose son Mike was on your team this year. Why don't you write about your win in this week's articles?"

Alan: "Here is a hand from our semi-final match. It was a tie since both declarers were down one at three notrump."

Oswald: "I take it that both Wests opened the deuce of clubs to conceal the fifth card of their suit. If West had opened the six spot each declarer would mark him with a five carder, would take the double finesse in spades and wind up with ten tricks."

Alan: "Indeed they would. Each one toyed with that idea after the deuce lead, but finally decided that East was very likely to hold the spade jack. That would leave West with fourteen high-card points and many top players use a 15-point notrump when the spirit moves them."

Oswald: "Anyway, each South knocked out the ace of diamonds and watched West rattle off four club tricks."

McQueen Seeks Alternative Therapies

Laetrile Part Of Actor's Treatment

SANTA MARIA, Mex. (AP) — Cancer-stricken actor Steve McQueen has been taking the controversial substance Laetrile, as well as other drugs, at a resort hospital south of Tijuana, a Mexican doctor confirmed Saturday.

But Laetrile is "only a small part of the therapy the 50-year-old McQueen has undergone the past 2½ months at General Hospital Santa Maria, Dr. Rodrigo Rodriguez said in an interview.

"I do not know what Mr. McQueen's personal motivation for coming here was," Rodriguez said, "but when you speak with him you find — and it's true in all cancer patients — that there comes a time when the situation seems helpless. It is then that they begin to look toward alternative therapy."

It was disclosed last week that McQueen has mesothelioma, a rare form of lung cancer many doctors regard as incurable. The actor had denied reports of the cancer for six months in order to spare his family "and to retain my sense of dignity as...I thought I was going to die," according to a statement from his Hollywood publicist.

Rodriguez said that when McQueen arrived at Santa

Maria, the actor had been told he had "only a few weeks to live. I do not give my patients a time estimate like that," he said. "Cancer is already a death sentence to the patients — there is no way that anyone knows what date someone will die."

Rodriguez said McQueen, who was not available for an interview, also has been taking a Japanese vaccine made from bacilli usually used in the treatment of tuberculosis "which we have found very helpful building up the (patient's) immunities."

Rodriguez maintained McQueen has improved considerably since transferring to the converted resort hotel from a Los Angeles hospital earlier this summer.

The doctor said the program at the 18-month-old hospital includes exercise, psychotherapy and detoxification to rid the body of what Rodriguez described as the everyday poisons people take in in the form of unhealthful foods or living habits.

The facility is perched on a bluff on the Baja California peninsula about 75 miles south of San Diego.

McQueen, like every other patient at the 150-room facility, had to complete a 2,500-item computerized questionnaire before entering the hospital, which was developed by former dentist Donald William Kelley of the International Health Institute in Dallas.

Dear Abby

Straight Talk About V.D.

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl who never misses your column. I read those letters about VD and have a few questions I want to ask you:

1. In which states can doctors treat minors for VD without telling their parents?
 2. How old does a person have to be before he is no longer considered a minor?
 3. Will you please come right out and describe some of the symptoms of VD? I have heard so many stories, I am confused. For instance, I have heard that if a sore on the lips; in the mouth or on the private parts doesn't heal up, it is probably VD. I've also heard that a person can have other signs of VD — like a burning sensation when urinating, or an unusual discharge from private parts; also that these signs sometimes go away without treatment, but the disease is still there and keeps on getting worse. Is that true?
 4. Can VD really cause crippling, blindness and insanity, or are these just stories adults made up to scare kids?
 5. Is it true that once a person is treated for VD he can never get it again?
 6. One last question which I hope you won't think is too dumb to answer. Can a person get VD without going all the way?
- With questions like these, I can't have a letter from you coming to my house, so will you please answer this in the paper? I am sure there are lots of other kids who would also like to know. Thank you very much.

NEEDING ANSWERS

DEAR NEEDING:

1. If you want to know whether the physicians in your state are required by law to have parental consent before treating minors for VD, telephone the VD hot line. The toll-free number is 1-800-227-8922 for all states outside California. In California it's 1-800-982-5883.
2. The age of a minor differs from state to state. It differs also for particular purposes. And in some states, the age of a minor is not the same for a male as it is for a female. The VD hot line will inform you.
3. All the symptoms you describe can indicate VD — but these symptoms can also be present where there is no VD, so the only way to determine positively whether or not you have it is to be examined by a physician.
4. Yes. But the conditions you describe are found only in advanced cases.
5. Absolutely not!
6. Positively yes!

And may I add, no question that is asked in sincerity is "too dumb" to answer. I urge any minor who suspects that he (or she) has VD, and cannot face his parents with the problem, to telephone the local department of public health and ask to see a doctor. Don't be afraid. You won't be lectured and you won't be punished. And if you don't have the few dollars to cover the cost of the examination, it will be free.

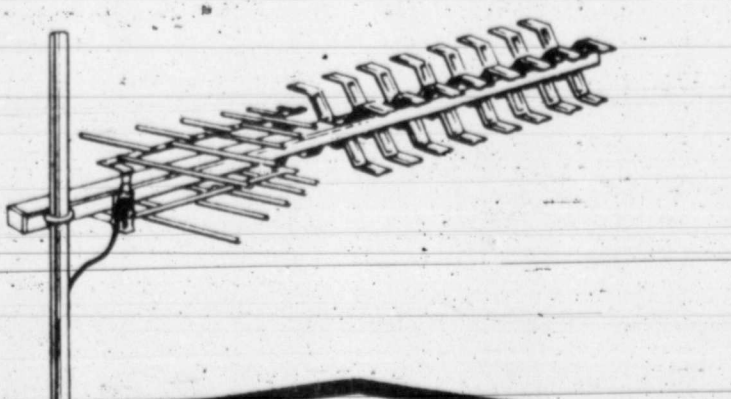

VD is curable, and the earlier it is treated, the better. If anyone has any questions related to this subject, write to me. I promise you a prompt, straight and confidential answer.

P.S. Marlo Thomas has made a 30-minute special titled "Facts For Girls," in which girls, ages 10, 12 and 14, talk openly about their feelings, their changing bodies and their emotions. It airs tomorrow, Tuesday, Oct. 7 at 4 p.m. on CBS-TV. It's wonderful! I've seen it and urge you and all girls between 10 and 16 to watch it.

Coverage Should Stay In Level With Inflation

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Inflation has turned many homeowners into wealthy people — on paper at least. But consumers whose insurance has not kept pace with rising prices can lose a lot of money if trouble strikes.

Coverage should be based on the replacement cost of your house — not the purchase price. The home you bought for $25,000 only a few years ago could easily be worth two or three times as much today.

The total destruction of a home is rare. According to the Insurance Information Institute, however, you must insure your home for at least 80 percent of its total replacement cost in order to receive full payment for any partial loss or damage. If you let your coverage drop below the 80 percent level — even unintentionally — you will not be completely protected.

Many companies offer policies including something called an "inflation guard adjustment." Coverage is increased regularly and automatically, either by a fixed sum or by an amount tied to local cost increases.

There are several ways to cut insurance bills without letting your coverage fall below 80 percent of replacement cost. You can, for example, boost the deductible — the amount of any loss that you agree to pay. Increasing the deductible from $100 to $200, for example, can trim your premium by up to 10 percent. You can also get discounts for things like smoke detectors and burglar alarm systems; a combination of discounts can cut premium payments by 5 percent or more.

Cowboys Win Another But Team Not Proud

IRVING (AP) — Even when the Dallas Cowboys have a bad day at the office they can always count on the New York Giants to lower themselves to the occasion.

To read the quotes after the Cowboys beat the Giants 24-3 Sunday — for the 12th consecutive time and 27th in 38 tries — you would have thought Dallas had lost instead of remaining in a tie with Philadelphia in the National Conference Eastern Division.

The only person having a good time in the locker room was defensive tackle John Dutton, still amazed by his 38-yard touchdown interception return for his very first National Football League score.

Mostly, we weren't knocking anybody off the line of scrimmage," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry who was in a nitpick mood. "We were playing to get beat and our defense played well enough to keep us in the game.

"We talked all week about being ready but we took them lightly." While Dallas extended its record to 4-1 the Giants descended to 1-4.

The Giants fumbled away the opening kickoff, recovered by placekicker Rafael Septien of all people, had 12 players on the field on one play, and could only make two first downs by intermission when Dallas led 17-0.

Dallas quarterback Danny White showed why he is the No. 1-rated passer in the NFC by throwing touchdown passes of 46 yards to Tony Hill and 29 yards to Butch Johnson.

Although he was 22 of 33 for 266 yards White grumbled, "I just had a bad game. We're just not with it yet. That's the sad thing about it. We just work so hard all week then play like this."

Astros Tumble Again; Final Chance Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Houston Astros were to find out today if the moon is made of green cheese.

They came to Los Angeles leading the National League West by three games and promptly lost all three, so the team named after the astronauts must play the Dodgers today for the title. Both finished the regular season with 92-70 records.

Asked if he thought LaCorte might throw an off-speed pitch, Cey said, "No, his fast ball is his main pitch and I didn't think with a 3-2 count he would throw something else."

Cey had fouled a ball off his foot on the seventh pitch to him in the showdown. He hobbled and then decided to continue, saying, "I might have decided to go out in about three weeks."

He already had unwrapped the bandage from his injured right leg (hamstring) and discarded it so he'd have more motion at the plate.

The next two pitches were fouled off and then he hit a 390-foot drive over the fence, putting the Dodgers into their 4-3 lead. Cey was also the man who knocked in the ninth-inning-tying run in the opening game which the Dodgers won on Ferguson's 10th-inning homer.

When the Tennessee Walking Horse is in motion, each of his four hoofs touches the ground at separate intervals.

Seahawks Slap Bum's Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — Seattle wide receiver Sam McCullum sensed the Houston Oilers were ripe for an upset in the first quarter Sunday and nothing happened in the game to change his opinion.

Seattle quarterback Jim Zorn hit McCullum all alone in the end zone for touchdown passes of 22 and 24 yards and the Seahawk defense came alive with five interceptions to shock Houston 26-7 and knock the Oilers out of a share of the AFC Central Division lead.

"The Oilers are still a good football team but they were nonchalant," McCullum said. "When they stopped our first screen (in the first quarter) they were confident as if to say 'We can beat you Seahawks,' in other words I think they were overconfident," said McCullum. "Then we got into our rhythm and were perking."

The Seahawks never perked better than during a 3:16 span of the second quarter when they scored 17 points, including the two touchdowns passes to McCullum and the second of four field goals by Efran Herrera for a 23-0 halftime lead.

The sudden surge put the Oilers, 3-2, into a hole they couldn't climb out of and the Seahawks boosted their record to 3-2.

Herrera had other field goals of 32 and 50 yards in the first half and a 44-yarder early in the third quarter. Houston Coach Bum Phillips said he was embarrassed by the Oilers' performance but didn't think the Oilers were flat.

"We talked all week about being ready but we took them lightly." While Dallas extended its record to 4-1 the Giants descended to 1-4.

Dallas quarterback Danny White showed why he is the No. 1-rated passer in the NFC by throwing touchdown passes of 46 yards to Tony Hill and 29 yards to Butch Johnson.

Tors Claim Meet; Tigers Challenge Again Tuesday

Lamesa's Tornados won the Snyder JV Volleyball Tournament held here over the weekend, defeating Seminole in the finals, 15-9 and 16-14.

Snyder, 12-3 on the season, finished in fourth place. The girls trek to Lamesa Tuesday night for a regular season match with the Tors at 6:15. Coach Joyce Elrod's top-ranked varsity team also takes on Lamesa, at 7:30, in a match that could determine the District 2-AAAA first-round champion.

Lamesa varsity, ranked 10th in the state, holds a 5-1 loop record, as does No. 5 ranked Monahans. Snyder is 6-0 and could win the round with a victory over Lamesa Tuesday. A loss would give the district a three-way tie.

After stopping Ector 15-3, 15-5 Friday, Snyder JV edged Odessa High 15-8 and 15-6. The Cats then lost to Lamesa 15-6, 12-15, and 4-15, and to Seminole, 13-9, 9-15 and 6-14.

"The girls played a real good game, the first game, in both of their last two matches. After that, we just let up for the last two games. I'm not sure what happened," said Coach Elrod.

Serving for points against Odessa High were Sabrina Robinson 9, Susie Lee 8, Lisa Loyola 7, Lisa Waller 4 and Becky Harrell and Becky Pylant 1 each. Against Lamesa: Robinson 15, Harrell and Pylant 4, Waller 5, and Loyola 2. Against Seminole: Harrell 10, Pylant 6, Robinson and Lee 4, Loyola 3 and Waller 1.

San Angelo Central took consolation in the two-day tournament, stopping Big Spring 15-9 and 14-10.

Theft, Burglary, Mishaps Reported

A theft, a burglary, and a spate of traffic accidents were reported to police during the weekend. Reporting the theft was Clarence Blaine Smith, 44, of Battle Mountain, Nev. Smith told police that as he was hitchhiking Sunday a subject he knew only as Sammy picked him up and took him to the Fina Truck Stop. Smith said he went inside, but Sammy drove off, taking with him his luggage. That matter was reported at 6 p.m. Sunday.

Also Sunday, two male juveniles and a female juvenile were taken into custody in connection with a break-in at the Girls' Softball concession stand in Towle Park. Reports indicate the parents of the youngsters agreed to pay for damages and that no charges would be filed.

The first traffic accident occurred about 9:20 a.m. Saturday at 4400 Ave. U. Involved in it were a parked 1977 Ford owned by Barbara Wheelus and another vehicle which left the scene. The accident was worked by Buddy Kinney.

The next accident was at 11:36 a.m. Saturday in the 1800 block of 26th St. There, a 1973 Pontiac driven by Dovie Vineyard and a 1974 Oldsmobile driven by Reba Beck were in collision. Working it was Kerry Fritz. Don Whittenburg worked a car-motorcycle collision Saturday at 10:42 p.m. at the Sonic drive-in. The motorcycleist, James Clyde Baldwin, was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital where he was admitted for treatment.

He was released this morning. His motorcycle was in collision with a 1972 Chevrolet driven by Fidel Becorra Galindo. At midnight a two-vehicle collision was worked by Ward at Cogdell. In it, a 1976 Buick driven by James Paul Williams and a 1979 Econoline Van driven by Pamela Phillips Astman collided. The next accident was at A-1 Electronics about 12:15 a.m. Sunday. A 1978 jeep owned by Dale Miles Wolf was struck by a vehicle which left the scene. Working that accident was Bill Harris.

The final mishap occurred about 6:30 a.m. today at 910 28th St. It was worked by Ward and involved a parked 1976 Ford owned by Braulio Gutierrez that was struck by an unknown vehicle which left the scene.

Garner Tries Hand at C&W

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor James Garner of "The Rockford Files" and Polaroid camera fame is trying his hand, or rather his voice, at something new. Under the tutelage of country music star Waylon Jennings, the 52-year-old actor recorded some country music demos at Nashville's Cedarwood Publishing, according to People magazine. Garner, a longtime fan of country-Western music, is quoted as saying, "I never thought much about singing until Waylon talked me into it."

Stay fit with friends

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
 DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 26-year-old male who believes in being physically fit. I have a weekly exercise program that I try to follow effectively. My problem is that I start out great and soon become disinterested. I know being physically fit has numerous benefits but I can't seem to get it together.

As I get older I want to keep my body as fit as possible. I weigh 141 and am 5 feet 11. I notice that when I'm exercising my weight begins to drop. Could calorie intake have anything to do with my weight? My doctor says my health is good. Please give me your opinion.

DEAR READER — Congratulations on staying slim and trim. I won't need to emphasize the importance of physical fitness to you. You are absolutely correct. There are many benefits in staying physically fit.

I'm sending you my new issue of The Health Letter number 15-12, Exercise Wise. It will include a lot of the myths that people have about exercise. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Now about your weight drop with exercising. Any form of physical activity involves calories. Body fat stores are stored energy and you can either diminish them by not taking in enough calories or by spending more calories than you take in. I wouldn't know without examining you before and afterwards what your loss of body weight involves. If it's loss of fat stores, that's all to the good.

When you're growing new muscles and developing their strength you have two requirements. One is an adequate amount of protein (that does not mean an excess amount or the necessity to take protein powders) and the other is an adequate calorie intake. If you don't have enough calories, you'll use the protein for calorie energy rather than for building body tissues. One of the common fallacies discussed in the Health Letter I'm sending you is that a person needs a high-protein diet for extra energy or stamina.

Some people are more successful in maintaining a regular fitness program if they develop physical activities that they do with other people. You may jog with a friend or develop tennis skills and play regularly with friends. It's the personal involvement that seems to keep a lot of people ple who do not have digestive complaints can use a decaffeinated brand of coffee. If you want something hot for breakfast such as oatmeal? For children a cup of hot milk is not bad, particularly if flavored with vanilla and sweetened if they insist on a sweet drink. A cup of hot bouillon is great. If you need to restrict salt intake, though, you need to avoid commercially produced bouillon cubes.

The clear stock from boiling vegetables and meat is a good hot drink for many. For something hot for lunch and dinner don't neglect a hot soup. A big bowl of low-calorie soup before a meal helps to prevent overeating and may help in weight control as a consequence.

You might try hot lemonade.

Proposed Rates Filed By TESCO

Texas Electric Service Co. has filed new proposed rates with the Public Utility Commission in Austin designed to cover the $69.4 million overall revenue increase approved earlier by PUC.

The proposed rates are expected to be approved by the PUC in mid-October.

Under the proposed new rates, a customer using 1000 kilowatt hours would see an increase of about $7 per month on his electric bill.

A chart prepared by TESCO shows that a customer using 500 kilowatt-hours could expect his bill to increase by $3.37 per month; one using 1500 kilowatt hours would go up $10.47; one using 2000 kilowatt hours would increase by $14.02; one using 2500 would increase by $17.57, and one using 3000 would increase by $21.12.

"This rate increase naturally means that the cost of electricity will go up, but customers can help hold down their electric bills by conserving and using electricity wisely," said H. F. Clark, TESCO manager.

The common cold is caused by more than 50 types of viruses.

Schools To Be Out Early

Pupils in Snyder Public Schools will be dismissed from classes at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

The early dismissal is part of the district's five-year priorities planning set aside periodically, work time for teachers and administrators to study, recommend and implement instructional improvement on each school campus. School administrators have announced that during the 1980-81 school year, early dismissal on the second Wednesday of each month will enable staff to carry out needed curriculum study and improvement.

Parents are being reminded that school buses will run at 2:30 p. m. during the early dismissals.

Color blindness is a hereditary condition that occurs in 5 to 9 percent of all men.

Band Boosters Meet Tonight

Snyder Band Boosters will meet at 7 p. m. tonight in the band hall at Snyder High School. All parents and others interested in the band program are invited to attend.
