Religion Vital In Business. Rotarians Told

Religion and Christian love as an important role in business and the economic life of a community, state and nation, members of the Rotary Club were told by the Rev. Douglas Finch, Presbyterian minister who was guest speaker at the Thursday noon luncheon and meeting.

Rev. Finch recently moved to Haskell after accepting the ministry of the First Presbyterian Church. An Air Force veteran of World War II, he was a businessman in Montgomery. Alabama, before entering the ministry.

"When man accepts religion he adopts a mode of behaviour which affects both his business and private life," he said.

We must embrace spiritual values in our business, the speaker declared, stating that profit must be important but not the prime object - service must be rendered to gain real satisfaction in business trans-

This was the basis for a ruling by District Judge Ben Charlie Chapman last week in granting a plea of abatement (dismissing) a civil suit filed by a citizens group against city officials of Haskell, at the conclusion of clusion of a pre-trial hearing in which attorneys for both sides took part.

Two cases decided by the Supreme Court were cited by Judge Chapman in mak-ing his decision.

In the suit, filed in July, 1961, the group of taxpayers sought to compel the mayor and city council to prepare a budget in compliance with state budget laws, asked recovery of money paid the mayor and several city councilmen for expenses on trips to Austin, as well as on trips to Austin, as well as $1.500 paid an Austin law firm, and asked an injunction restraining city officials from sell-ng anything to the city and re-ceiving payment for it.

At the outset, Judge Chap-man explained to the attorneys and interested parties present ernment, or of any school dist-the nature and purpose of a rict who shall refuse to comply Williams, I'm not interested in your brief, in which you brought those things up. I am interested in the law and the law alone. That's all I'm interested in and all I care anything about."

Taking up the first phase of the case, failure of the city officials to prepare and file a budget, Judge Chapman had Court Reporter Joe Williams read the statutes providing for read the statutes providing for the budget. Briefly, the laws provide that every incorporated city or town adopt a budget and comply with it in expenditure of the funds of said city or town. Also read was Art. 414b, which provides that any officer, employee or official of the State Government, or County Gov-

So under the present law we have these civil articles that I have just read to you that makes it a duty for the city officials to prepare a budget, but the only governing body that was left out of the article in the Penal Code is the city; and there is no penalty if the city doesn't do it."

Taking up the conflict of in-terest phase of the suit, the Court Reporter read Art. 373, which stated: If any officer of any county, or of any city or town shall become in any manner pecunarily interested in any contracts made by such county, city or town . . . or who shall contract for or receive any money or property n consideration . . . shall be fined not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dol-

I presume there is no question but what the checks were issued. I presume there is no question but what they were issued and the parties men-tioned therein cashed them. I tioned therein cashed them. It am just getting up to that phase of the matter, dealing with members of the City Council trading among themselves and the city buying merchandise from members of the Council.

Now I don't think there is any question but that the law of Texas is that they are not supposed to do it. If I am supposed to do it. If I am wrong on that, every Attorney General's opinion that has ever been written and every case that has been decided by every appellate court, and every kind of case in any way has been decided wrong, if I am wrong on my assumption on that. That is the law. My opinion of the law of the State is that, whether you are on the City Counsioners Court, you are not supposed to sell merchandise to or have any kind of contract with the governing body of which you are a member. There is no question on that. Attorneys for both litigants agreed.

THE COURT: No question on that; you are not supposed to do it, gentlemen. Don't mis-understand me; I'm just the judge, I'm telling you the facts as I see them.

Candidates Face Newsmen

Texas newsmen quizzed seven candidates for governor a a session of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society and fanned early season campaign sparks.

Gov. Price Daniel took the center position, weathering at-tacks from nearly all the other candidates, both Democratic and Republican, All candidates took part except John Connally and Edwin Walker.

A little fire even developed between the three Republican candidates, Harry Diehl of Houston said Jack Cox of Breckenridge was "not a Republican-just a conservative candidate." But two days later, Diehl withdrew from the race, leaving Roy Whittenburg as the only Republican opponent for Cox.

Don Yarborough and Marshall Formby attacked the Daniel administration as "tired" and "lacking vigor." Daniel came back with a recital of his five-year accomplishments in education, industrialization and other fields.

Will Wilson's approach was that Daniel's entry collapsed the Connally bandwagon by splitting Vice Pres. Lyndon Johnson's organization, and that the only way to get an uncontrolled candidate was to elect Wilson.

Candidates got in more punches in answering tough questions posed by nine newsmen. All of Daniel's opponents made the Governor's four-term try a central issue. In the course of questions, Daniel came out for a two-term limit, but with four-year terms for governor instead of the present two.

In Praise of the Cat

The dog is universally known, in the English-speaking world, as the friend of man. The cat-though he has legions of admirers and even idolators-has not been quite so fortunate. His virtues are not so widely understood.

Charlotte Mish, of Portland, Oregon, has paid the cat an eloquent tribute. To quote from it: "The cat's bravery is almost beyond belief and no animal (including man) can exceed the cat's admirable persistence and determination when it sets its mind purposefully upon some objective. Its loyal devotion to home and family is intense . . . Nothing surpasses the cat's curiosity and it is curious about anything and everything in the world, animate and inanimate. Most of the cat's seeming cruelty is actually innocently based on the same urge that drives the explorer, scientist and inventor: curiosity, wanting to know What makes it do that?', 'What will happen next?.

We have only to call up one by one in 'person' or in memory all the cats in our lives. What a strange and adorable procession they make; each one so dear, each such a personality, so different from all the others. None will ever be forgotten." Sometimes when we are carried away by thoughts of our own importance, a little self-reflection will prove worthwhile.

Here, according to a British scientist, is what the average human being is made of: Enough water to fill a 10-gallon barrel. Enough fat for use in making seven bars of soap. Carbon enough for 9,000 lead pencils Phosphorous enough to make 2,200 match heads. Sufficient magnesium one dose of salts.

Enough iron to make one med um size nail. Sufficient lime to whitewash wo average shade trees. Sulphur enough to rid one log of fleas. All, at prevailing prices, could be bought for 94 cents, he estimated.

more than 5,000 acres of land, including the land that later became Mount Vernon. The ancestral home of the Washingtons in England was Sulgrave Manor, in Northamp-somblage, asking: "Is there anyone who would like to say few words about the deceasd?" Following a prolonged silence, a lanky cowboy struggled to his feet, looked hesitantly about, then said: "Sir, if no one else has anything to say, I'd like to say a few words about Texas.

words about a situation that should be of concern t all of us, whether we are parents or grandparents of teen.

Whether we approve of it or not, young people are going to engage in activities out which they can get a blast, just as they have in every generation. And it matters not whether the activity is on the shady side of the law or not, youth will accept the challenge pro-

The thrill is the big thing, a minor infraction of the law is secondary. "Hot rodding" is a good illustration of that point. Youngsters realize it is impossible for officers to patrol all streets and highways, and that makes it easy for them to schedule their "drags" in the clear so far as officers are concerned.

Sooner or later, however, the aw of averages will take over and a drag race will end in a tragedy in which young people will be maimed or killed.

Another dangerous attraction for young people is the proximity of beer and liquor stores And don't think for a moment that our teenagers are immune to this insidious threat Basically, the average youngster abhors intoxicants in any form. But let an older 'leader intimate that anyone afraid to sip a beer is 'chicken' and many teen-agers will fall in

Although the youngsters themselves cannot purchase the intoxicants, they find it an easy matter to contact an older persan who will make the purch ases for them.

We don't pretend to know the answer. We do know that our young people are our most priceless possession. We know further, that if a sufficient number of good people give their thought and attention to any problem, a solution will b found.

We believe it would b worthwhile for every motorist to read and re-read the following Safe Driver's Creed entitled "If I Had Any Say-So" by an anonymous author. We are indebted to D. L. Cooper, safety expert with the State High-Well, we would like to say a way Patrol, for a copy of the

HOW A CHILD LIVES

If a child lives with criticism he learns to condemn; if he lives with hostility, he learns to fight; if he lives with fear, he learns to be apprehensive; if he lives with jealousy, he learns to feel guilt; if he lives with tolerance, he learns to be patient; if he lives with encouragement, he learns to be confident; if he lives with praise, he learns to be appreciative; if he lives with acceptance, he learns to love; if he lives with approval he learns to like himself.

If a child lives with recognition, he learns it is good to have a goal; if he lives with honesty, he learns what truth is; if he lives with fairness, he learns justice; if he lives with security, he learns to have faith in himself and those about him. If a child lives with friendliness, he learns the world is a nice place in which to live. With what is your child

YES SIR-THE 67 COR

IT STARTED IN TEXAS—when Ford engineers drove Texas roads and ranches, talked to Texas truck owners. And it wound up with lots of first things for you in the '62 Ford!

The wheelbase is long—114 easy-riding inches (122 for 8-foot bodies). There's less front overhang, more road stability. The ride is amouth. Easier springing makes the ride as soft as a Texas draw! The frame is strong—to beat twisting of high-crowned Texas roads.

Guidance Literature Aids Career Plans

Some interesting new literature is being used these days by the Rule High School students, according to Connor Horton, Superintendent.

The literature deals with vocational guidance and several types are available for students. One, called a "Career Kit" has individual folders on a wide range of occupations. The content includes history of the occupation, work performed, hours, earnings, training requirements, promotional op-portunities, working conditions, advantages and disadvantages of the job, and sources of further information. Also, there are charts which give information about college admission requirements and costs, and a listing of scholarship announcements. The Career Kit is in a file on wheels so that it can be moved into the classrooms

Another type of information being used is a collection of simply written articles on a variety of careers called "Your Future Occupation." These articles are secured in the folders and distributed to the students. With each article the teacher receives a guide giving sug-gestions for related class activities and discussions. One advantage of this type of ma-terial is that the child can take his folder home and the parent can participate in discussing his various vocational interests.

Of special interest is a series of pamphlets written for boys and girls in language teen-agers understand, and teen agers understand, and well adapted to their experiences and interests. The subjects include vocational and educational planning.

Film strips are popular with the boys and girls and several are available for stimulating vocational interests.

Another useful tool in vocational planning is vocational planning is vocational teets. Recently the ninth grade tudents made charts indicative of their vocational aptitudes from results of the Flanting to the planting to the Flanting to the planting to the plant tudes from results of the Flan-agan Vocational Tests which they took several weeks ago. The main purpose of voca-tional guidance in high school is to encourage the student to think ahead about his future think ahead about his future and to begin to make plans to achieve his goals. Today's world is changing rapidly and many new and interesting horans are opening. Boys and is ls must be informed in or-'er to select intelligently how spend their adult years. J. M. Blackwell Makes Statement

To the people of Haskell County and voters of Precinct

I would like to take this means of announcing my candidacy for the office of Commissioner of Precinct 4 of Haskell County.

I have been a resident of Haskell County for 40 years living in this precinct all of this time. I am 46 years of age. am married and the father of four children. My occupation is farming.

I am offering my candidacy for commissioner in the belief that I can and will handle the duties of this office to the best of my ability. I am of the opinion that we can have beter roads than we now have have lived on country roads through the years and realize will be elected. Also delegates the need for improvement. If elected, I intend to do my best o rework every county road in the precinct and make them more suitable for travel by automobile. The horse and buggy days are over and the cat. le trails are no longer suitable for the ways of travel.

With the support and help of the people of Haskell County and Precinct 4, perhaps this can be accomplished. Your support and vote in this election on May 5th, will be deeply appreciated.

Sincerely. J. M. (Monroe) Blackwell Candidate for Commissioner, Precinct 4
