essary delay on the municipal water project. They pointed out that considerable work has been done on the project, in-volving substantial expendi-tures of tax money collected by the Authority.

It was also reported from Austin that the Attorney General might possibly be represented or present a brief at the hearing in district court here Bonds issued by the Authority have been approved by the At torney General's department and some bonds are now outstanding, it is understood,

Last week the Texas Water Development Board asked the state Attorney General to file a brief in the case on its behalf on the question raised by the plaintiffs that an appointed board can't levy taxes. The state currently has several million dollars on loan to appointed boards.

Walling and several other taxpayers had attacked the constitutionality of the tax levy made by the district in Haskell Goree, Munday and Rule on the grounds that an appointed board could not levy taxes.

The district court held such a suit could not be brought, but Associate Justice Ruel Walker, writing for the high court, said Walling and his associates are entitled to a hearing and a determination of the constitutionality question.

The appeal was based on a procedural question as to whether individuals could bring such a suit, or whether it would have to be brought by the attorney general or the district attorney. The Supreme Court said that most of the questions raised by the Walling group could be settled in the procedure they were following, but Judge Walker noted that one contention that the statute was not followed in establishing the territorial limits of the authority could be raised only in a quo warranto proceeding

A report appearing Tuesday night in a Mexico City newspaper to the effect that 3,000 Mexican field workers in the area of Haskell are threatening to strike, had farmers and business men here puzzled Wednesday.

The dispatch, appearing in the Mexican newspaper Excelsior, said the workers' strike was threatened because they are being discriminated a-gainst. The newspaper did not quote a source for its report. Most puzzling feature in connection with the report was the number of Mexican field workers reportedly in this area. A check with Haskell farmers this morning indicated that there are not more than 150-200 bracero workers in this area now. The figure of 3,000 quoted in the Mexican newspaper was termed "ridiculous." One Haskell farmer who has a group of 21 braceros currently employed, said he had heard of no complaints from the workers and said they were apparently well pleased with their job, pay, and treatment. "They are eager to work, and have even asked to be allowed to work seven days a week," he stated. Another Haskell man who has a crew of about 45 braceros, gave a similar report. The workers have never complained of discrimination and seem contented and pleased with their jobs, he said. The Mexican newspaper said workers claimed they were being refused service in restaurants, barber shops, movie theatres and hotels. Contrary to that contention, businessmen contacted Wednesday pointed out to the extremely good relations which had been built up over a period of years between people of the two countries. They pointed out further that there are several hundred Mexican pupils in the local schools participate in all school and community activities without discrimination in any form. Also, many Mexicans are employed in local business concerns in various capacities, both skilled and unskilled. One Haskell beauty shop regularly employs a Mexican beautician, others work as clerks in drug and dry goods stores, as cooks, waitresses, mechanics, etc. For several years, Haskell restaurants have been extending service to Mexican patrons and they have likewise always been welcome customers at the city's only show, the Texas Theatre, Manager Charles Swinson said Wednesday. Mayor J. E. Walling Jr., contacted Wednesday concerning the Mexico City report. could not reconcile actual facts with the threatened "strike" of 3,000 field workers, "They are not here in the first place, he commented. He said that over a period of several years there have been occasional complaints. However, he said that in every instance businessmen had always cooperated to the fullest in trying to work out solutions to any problems arising.

The Money Will Come

Store windows already are featuring school clothes, and mothers across Texas are budgeting money for new blue jeans and calico dresses.

But money with which to open the schools is not yet in sight. No one seriously doubts that new taxes will be voted and new appropriations made before current appropriations run out on

Gov. Price Daniel has asked the Legislature to provide $359,000,000 in new revenue to get the state out of the hole and cover future needs. Even in "good times" raising this much money is a staggering problem. It will mean passing taxes to which a good portion of the Legislature-and possibly the governor-are bitterly opposed

It could not be done-except that in a few weeks those blue jean and calico-clad youngsters must go to school.

The Motorist Rebels

If anyone thinks that the ancient and eternal law of diminishing returns doesn't apply in certain important instances to taxation, he should consider the ever-rising tax on gasoline. Some months ago the Pennsylvania gas tax was boosted to 7 cents. And in the first month the new tax was in effect consumption dropped 33 per cent below the gallonage figure of the previous month, and 25 per cent below the figure for the equivalent month last year.

An official of one of our leading oil companies now estimates that a loss nationwide of $330 million a year in gas taxes is almost a certainty. In his words, "Motorists are beginning to rebel against constantly increasing gasoline taxes and they are looking more and more toward compact cars for more miles per gallon," Other motorists, no doubt, are cutting down on their

The average gas tax, state and federal, is now 10 cents a gallon. This amounts to half the cost of a gallon of gas without the tax, That 50 per cent sales tax is far greater than those imposed on extreme luxuries.

If states want to keep their gasoline tax revenues up, they had better quit hiking the rate. The same thing goes for the Science Breakthrough!

From the Milwaukee Journal: "Science truly can be of great benefit to man. Take the work of a University of California horticulturist by the name of John Madison. He has been studying grass and he finds that it takes a good five days for it to recover from a mowing. He observes: 'If you happen to be busy and let the grass go two weeks between mowings, the lawn will benefit, For years we've hunted, along with many another man, for excuses to delay cutting the lawn. None worked, But now comes science to the rescue. It's a wonderful, exciting age in which to live.

There had been some big rains and all creeks and streams were up. It was Mc Donald's idea that some ne wire could be stretched across Buffalo Creek on the Andy Josselet farm southeast of town, trapping a lot of fish when the stream started dropping.

The trip to the creek was made in a Model T passenger

Everything went well, the wire was stretched, and four hopeful fishermen sat around waiting for the small creek to start falling. Almost unnoticed, clouds had been building up in the northwest, and all at once a sudden rainstorm hit the hapless fishermen. In the down that followed, Buffalo pour Creek soon was higher than it had ever been, and floating trash and debris swept the net wire from its moorings,

It rained almost continuously until daylight and four waterlogged fishermen spent a mis-erable night huddling around and under the Model T, dodg-ing the pelting rain and light-black ants. Early Friday. Fred stepped out, bare footed, on the rock back porch of their home to watch some quail feed regularly in the back yard at their farm home. Standing there watching the quail, Fred paid little attention at first to the fact that his feet and ankles were tingling. When he finally noticed, his feet were covered with small black ants that had bitten him until his insteps and ankles were solid red whelps

Soon his lips began swelling and his chest began paining him, making it difficult for him to breathe.

Luckily, Mr. and Mrs. Smith had some benedryl tablets in their medicine cabinet, which they gave the boy. In a short time the pain lessened in his chest, and swelling of his lips subsided. By the time he and his father got to town, he had getten over effects of the ant stings.

Special training was given to agents in Extension District last week at Wichita Falls. A two-day program was conducted by the home service director advisors from Texas Electric Service, regional home economists from the Philco Corporation and General Electric Company and the Home Management Specialist from Texas Extension Service, A&M

Demonstrations on laundering covered such phases as checking water for hardness and mineral deposits, use of various laundry aids and use of washers and dryers.

People who criticize washers for not getting their clothes clean need to take a look at their washing habits. Most homemakers use too much detergent and this leaves a deposit on their clothes, making them look dull and gray.

The second day's program was on the selection and use of cooking equipment and wiring in the home. Both electrical and nonelectrical equipment were used.

Homemakers in Haskell County who have problems in these areas can call the home demonstration agent at 864-2658, 864-2546 or 864-3342 for more information. Also, watch for programs coming up this fall. Both home demonstration club members and non club members will be welcome.

the early part of the century. Favorite teachers he often spoke of were Miss Minnie Ellis, Miss Sallie Ramsey, Miss Mae Fields and Miss Ada F.tz.

His father was an earlyday cattleman, owner of large herds of longherns and as a young man followed the trails to market. Later he bred up one of the first herds of whiteface Herefords in this section and also served as a county of. ficial of Haskell County.

J. E. Jr. was an observant boy, whether at school, watching the goings on at the court. house or cut at the ranch where his brother, the late George W Murfee, taught J. E. many tricks of the rope and range. When his father, looking out for the interest of the Haskell County children's School Land rode up the McKenzie Trail to what is now Hockley County, re quickly realized the value of the land. He reported to the Commissioners Court that the and should not be sold cheapv, that it was such fine land that he intended moving to the Plains. He later obtained a 2,-500 acre ranch and settled his family in Lubbock.

There, J. E. continued in school, working after school and in summer at Lubbock's first mercantile store and in city's first lumber yard Bowman Lumber Company.

At 18, J. E. became man-ager of the McAdams Lumber Yard in Miami, and the next year was promoted to a larger spec to build. When he was 20 years old, sostory plank J. E. Jr. established the first department store in Pampa. He was a merchant there some 45 years, selling out to the Dunap Department Stores.

He married Miss Augusta Dunan of Pampa and has one daughter, Mrs. Charles Cook of that city. He leaves two grandchildren, Sharon, now Mrs. Dannie Deering whose husband is superintendent of schools at Montrose, Colo., and J.mmie Cook of Pampa, and two great granddaughters.

Cancer Crusade Leaders Here Commended

for their part in what appears and service. to be a record-breaking year for cancer control education and fund-raising in Texas.

Crusade Chairman Mrs. Janice O'Neal has been notified by the Society that an all-time high for Texas is now within reach before this year's activity concludes in August.

Haskell County has reported total Crusade funds raised of $2,135,16. The county's assigned minimum share of state goal was $1,450,00. It is one of 112 counties in Texas which have already gone over the top

With more than $1,100,000 at ready reported. Texas has in prospect a new record contribution to the control of cancer. The highest year previously was 1959, when Texans put $1 .-189,563 into the fight against cancer. State officials now predict that when the books are closed on the current Crusade at the end of August, this record will have been surpass-

In a letter of commendation received by Mrs. O'Neal, Texas Division Chairman Edwin T. Phillips Jr., and President John H. Childers, M. D., pointed out that the key to this promising report is the thousands of hours

Haskell Man Has High Grades In Dental College

Carrol Bledsoe, formerly of this city, who is attending a dental college in Portland, Ore. was recently selected to do clinical work at the college. His selection was on the basis of exceptionally high grades. Although a sophomore, his schedule of work in the clinic included extractions and some dental surgery, he has advised relatives here.

Bledsoe was second in a class of 129 on the basis of his grades, and was elected president of his class for 1961-1962. He also had an offer which would permit him to do research in London, England,

During the summer vacation period from college, Bledsoe plans to go to Alaska where he will work for six weeks on construction projects.

His wife is the former Dale Bartlett of Haskell and they have two children. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bledsoe of Haskell.

Mrs. S. Hassen

left Monday by plane for Beir ut. Lebanon, where she was scheduled to arrive Tuesday afternoon to spend two months with relatives and visiting scenes of her childhood Accompanied as far as Dal las by her son, Rajah, Mrs Hassen went by plane from Dallas to Houston Internation al Airport.

At Houston, Mrs. Hasser boarded a plane of KLM Royal Dutch Airlines at 12:50 p. m. Monday which carried her to Montreal, Canada. After a brief stop there, the plane continued its overseas flight. Following a three-hour stop Amsterdam, Holland, Mrs. Hassen continued to the Middle East, arriving at Beirut international airport at 6 p. m.

From Haskell to Beirut, Mrs. Hassen's journey was estimated at 12,000 miles.

This is the first time since 1937 that Mrs. Hassen has visited her homeland. In that year she and her late husband and their children, Rajah and Nabeela, made a six-months trip to Lebanon.

Among relatives Mrs. Hassen will visit on this trip is a brother she has not seen since 1929. He is Toofic A. Saab, a merchant in Liberia, who is returning to his homeland for a visit. Another brother of the Haskell woman lives in Beirut, He is Melhim A. Saab, who is associated with Radio Middle East in the Lebanese capital.

Mrs. Hassen will also visit two sisters of her late husband. S. Hassen, who still live in Lebanon, as well as other relatives and childhood friends. She also plans to tour many points of interest in Lebanon and Syria.

Mrs. Hassen expects to return to Haskell early in Octo-

al business magazine last week was the basis for the following article by Joe Pouns, staff writer for the Abilene Reporter-

Charles Bates Thornton, 47 native of Knox County and a resident of Haskell for many years, is the subject of an article in the current edition of "Forbes," business and finance magazine.

Son of the famous oil well fire fighter, the late "Tex" Thornton, the young man is carving a career for himself in the electronics field, espec ially in the operation of Litten Industries, Inc., Los Angeles based company.

He and his mother, Mrs. A J. Lewis, and stepfather, Dr. Lewis, resided at Haskell for several years and young "Tex" graduated from Haskell High School around 1930. A friend describes him as having been an average boy, probably above the average intellectually, and among those who played tricks around the town at Halloween.

Thornton attended Texas Tech at Lubbock in 1931, 1932 and 1933 but did not get a degree there at that time, On Aug. 28, 1957, however, he was given an honorary Doctor of Laws

The article in the national magazine, which has a picture of Thornton on the cover, is en titled "Man on the Move." The writer of the article says that Thornton was able in less than eight years to parlay 'a plan' and $1.5 million of borrowed cash into an enterprise public ly valued at $500 million-plus. Young "Tex" Thornton was the main speaker at a homecoming held at Haskell two years ago. His mother is dead and his stepfather divides his

Bass, Blue Gill Hospital Wotes Placed In Many Area Farm Ponds

Improvement of local livestock water ponds by stocking and fertilizing can produce startling results, declared Hinds A. McGowen Jr., SCS Technician of Haskell.

Cooperating with the Calif-ornia Creek and Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation Districts and assisted by the Cooperative Ex. tension Service and the Soil Conservation Service H. M. Bledsce of Haskell, Thomas Corzine of Sagerton, Joe L. Fletcher of Rochester, Roy Fought of Mattson, John Fouts of Haskell, Clyde Grice of

Rule, Ramon Liles of Weinert, Old Glory—Mrs. Louis Spitzer, medical.
Mrs. Lenore Dumas, medical and J. W. Robertson of Haskell and Kilgore recently received Floyd McGuire of Weinert. shipments of bass and blue gill from the Fish and Wildlife Service of the U. S. Department of Interior.

Fertilizing farm ponds is a must if maximum production of fish is to be obtained. Fertilizer aids in keeping nature in balance, Microscopic organisms feeding on the fertilizer multiply and furnish abundant food supplies for water bugs which in turn produces more food for fish, A farm pond which has been properly stocked will support upwards to 400 pounds of fish per acre of water in comparison to 100-150 pounds per acre in the unfertilized ponds McGowen stated.

Fertilizing ponds must be done systematically. Once started, fertilizing should be continued. Fish put on weight fast in a fertilized pond. When fertilization is discontinued the food for fish is reduced Fish then lose weight.

Commercial fertilizer composed of nitrogen and phos phorus, such as 16-20-0 or 20 20-5 applied at the rate of 40 pcunds per surface acre of water will give satisfactory results. Application of fertilizer should be made in the early spring. Continued applications should be made at about two week intervals until the water becomes so cloudy the hand cannot be seen at elbow depth, When the water begins to clear up additional applications must be made. Weed growth is con-siderably reduced in properly fertilized ponds.

Farm ponds can furnish lot of pleasure to the farm and ranch family as well as serve as water sources. The properly stocked and fertilized to pay the best dividends, should be frequently and heavily fished. A properly managed pond cannot be fished out.

A feature article in a nation time between Lubbock and the Heating Needs California home of his stepson, scr.bed as "the fastest growing company listed on the New York Stock Exchange indeed, the fastest growing company anywhere.

"At $133 per share, investors were valuing at more than $500 million a company that Tex Thornton had started with $1.5 million in borrewed capital." and built with the "talents of a prophet, bird-dog and Tfermation quarterback. His plan is to become "a ma or company in military, in tustrial and commercial electron-That his plan is working may be seen in the fact that his company has been acquiring new companies at the rate of three a year and to date has acquired 23, including Monroe Calculating Machine, a 47-yearold company doing a $40 mill on plus business in office equipment. Also, per share earnings for Litton Industries, Inc., has grown ten fold since 1955

In World War II, Thernton was a colonel at the age of 28 and was in command of the now legendary "Whiz Kids" who worked wonders in the Air Force procurement programs.

Among those who worked for him at the time was Robert S. McNamara, who is now Secre tary of Defense, and Roy L Ash, who now is executive vice president of Litton. Both Thornton and McNamara were with Ford, the latter becoming president of the automobile concern prior to becoming a govern ment official.

Thornton soon went to work for Howard Hughes as vice president and chief planner for Hughes Aircraft and is given credit for causing the sales volume to jump from $1.5 million in 1948 to more than $200 mil-lion within five years.

New Forms For Highway Use Tax Available

The Internal Revenue Serv. ice has new and revised tax forms available for filing High. way Use Tax and floor stock returns for this fiscal year, according to Henry R. Hall. Admin'strative Officer of the Wichita Falls Internal Revenue Service office.

Hall pointed cut that new tax Forms 3174 for tire dealers and others to pay floor stock tax have been mailed to a large number of the dealers. Other taxpayers can obtain Form 3174 from any Internal Service office. This repaying the tax on floor turn, stock on hand on July 1, is due by October 15, 1961. He also pointed out that revised Forms 2290 for truck owners to use in paying the increased Highway Use Tax imposed July 1 for trucks weigh. ing more than 26,000 pounds have also been mailed to last years taxpayers. The new Forms 2290 are available at Internal Revenue Service of. fices and the Highway Use Tax return must be filed by August 31 but the tax can be paid in installments. Any taxpayers who did not receive a revised Form 2290 or who buys a true! after July 1 should obtain the form from Internal Revenue Servina time of year for residents to Elma Guest ... check their home heating needs, according to F. C. Hipp. Haskell Pharmacy local Lone Star Gas Company manager.

"Cold weather has a way of sometimes hitting without much warning," the Lone Star manager said. "In the interest of your health and convenience Lone Star is urging all homeowners to compare their existing heating equipment with the family's needs."

Mr. Hipp pointed out that by checking now, the home owner can avoid last minute calls for equipment and service during cold weather when heating contractors are expe riencing their busiest season Lone Star is offering discounts on gas heating equipment dur ing its annual pre-season heat ing sales campaign in Augus and September. Vented gas heating equip ment with its automatic con trols is recognized as being safe and dependable and is economical to operate. most said the Lone Star manager. Lone Star is stressing fresh air heat which minimizes staleness and stuffiness in a home It aids also in controlling the amount of moisture released in a home by body heat and such day-to-day living habits as bathing and cooking. The gas company's engineer.

point out that this stale air condition is controlled to a degree in older homes by air leakage around windows and doors. In newer homes, which have tighter construction and more insulation, normal outside air leakage usually is insufficient. Rut, in new gas central heating installations, provisions for adequate outside air can be made easily by providing a fresh air intake in the return duct system, the engineers re Lone Star is offering a special discount on gas lights with heating campaign, the the purchase of a vented gas Star manager said.
