Attend the C. of C. Banquet

An important event scheduled this week, and one in which every citizen interested in the growth and progress of our town should take part, is the annual membership meeting and banquet of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce.

Few of us realize the many accomplishments of the Chamber of Commerce over a year's time, principally because they are carried out without fanfare and necessarily are on a modest scale, in that no huge expenditures are involved.

To mention at random only a few of the many accomplishments during 1959, alleys in the business section of town have been paved, a municipal plane landing strip has been completed and is in use, United Fund organization has been formed, promoted bond issue for enlargement and improvement of county hospital, and many other projects.

There are many more challenging projects facing the orginiza-tion this year, and the need for an active, wideawake Chamber of Compared has never been greater if our town is to hold its own and gradually move forward.

If you are interested in Haskell and its future, make it a point to attend the Chamber of Commerce banquet Friday evening, and assume your role as an active, working member of the organization.

Censorship by Taxation
The following editorial is reprinted from Editor & Publisher

"As predicted by the Advertising Federation of America, the Internal Revenue Service has adopted a rule making expenditures for lobbying, political campaigns and other 'propaganda' advertising non-deductible as business expenses for income tax purposes. This has been done arbitrarily by IRS without waiting for the requests of Congressional hearings on the subject or the fate of several bills pending before Congress.

In our opinion this ruling is un-American if not unconstitutional. Because of our severe income tax laws it gives the government the power to censor political views by taxation. Only the wealthy will be able to express views on pending legislation through mass media even if the proposed statute means financial disaster to them.

Grocery Bags-and Pretty Ankles

John Fischer, editor of Harper's magazine, recently wrote an interesting article for the American Petroleum Institute Quarterly. In it, he pointed out that many petroleum products reach the consumer in strange disguises—"as in plastic grocery bags, for example, or a stocking on a pretty ankle." Other petroleum products are seldom seen. In Mr. Fischer's words, "Though my home has been heated by fuel oil for many years, to this day I have no idea what it looks like." And only because of the carelessness of a service station attendant, he goes on, has he ever seen a splash of gasoline.

In the years to come we will be using more and more oil in disguised and hidden forms. The API has turned to its crystal ball and taken a peek into the second century of the oil industry. It sees synthetic food made from oil, asphalt to hold moisture in farm fields, and pipelines to carry solids. It reveals an ingenious system of using oil burners to melt now and eliminating hauling it away. Also seen are development of a device to turn oil directly into electricity without burning it; a system for keeping northern waterways ice-free in winter, and a big boost for the world's food supply from petroleum-derived fertilizers and insecticides.

In sum, the ceiling seems limitless when it comes to oils potentialities. The industry has been spending some $300 million a year on research, and this is due for an increase. The result: More discoveries, more miracles.

Although the date was un-noticed, Sunday Jan. 31 marked the 50th anniversary of the laying of the First Methodist Church cornerstone. Work on the building had been started in the summer of 1909, but the placing of the cornerstone was not scheduled until several months afterwards,

Now that the dust has setteled on last minute political closely confined, filings, politics should get on an even keel during the next few weeks. From the way candidates already have started mon, is a peacock. We doubt working, this year's campaign if one could be found outside should be one of the most interesting in several years.

And with contests developing in at least half a dozen local races in the Democratic primaries, persons who paid their poll tax can now realize what a bargain they received in the matter of being able to vote in the 1960 elections.

In addition to the primary elections, voters will also participate in school trustee and city elections on separate occasions and bond issues that may come up during the year.

And the biggest issue of them all-precinct beer elections-are still being talked as a possibility and may become reality in coming months.

With the political campaigns getting underway, it isn't a bit too early for some of our community organizations to begin plans for political rallies.

If these events are scheduled well enough in advance, state and district candidates or their representatives would likely join local candidates in the speechmaking.

The thousands of birds roosting on the trees on the court house lawn have created a nuisance for which there apparently is no remedy. At least no one has come up with a workable plan to get rid of the birds, as yet. The feathered pests, mostly sparrows and starlings, seem to increase in numbers each evening.

Small boys with air rifles account for a dozen or so birds nightly, less than enough to be jack rabbits were thinned out. noticeable.

However, persons who have erable duties to perform in tried this plan say the birds, especially sparrows, quickly sense the grain is poisoned and Democratic primaries, filing refuse to eat it.

The older generation will recall when pigeons, not spar-rows, provided headaches for the courthouse caretakers.

Around 1910, Haskell must have been the pigeon capital of Texas, the way we remember it. In nearly every barn there were from one to a dozen pigeon nests. Since pigeons multiply about like rabbits, the birds everywhere.

Taxpayers Urged To Study Rules With Tax Forms

Taxpayer self-help will again be urged by Internal Revenue Service during the income tax filing period from Jan. 1 to April 15, Clarence B. Dixon Administrative Officer of the Wichita Falls office, said to-

"Self-help," Dixon explained means that we ask the taxpayer to complete as much of his 1959 return as possible before asking for help. This saves the time of IRS people who, in turn, save taxpayers' money when uninterrupted from their routine duties of seeing that every taxpayer bears his fair share of the tax burden.

The Revenue representative revealed that many tax problems can be solved by studying the comprehensive instructions that accompany Federal income tax forms for 1959 or by telephoning the IRS num-

Get the quiet proof of Chevrolet's superior performance on the road-No other car in the low-priced three can match the borne-on-the-wind sensation you get from a ride in the 1960 Chevrolet. But that's not surprising when you consider to what lengths Chevy has gone to provide for your comfort at no extra cost to you. As you drive, count the ways Chevrolet has been thoughtful:

Supple Full Coll suspension-Coil springs at all four wheels melt bumps as no other suspension can. Taking the punch out of rough roads is their only function-they don't have to anchor the rear axle.

Butyl rubber body mounts— Thicker, newly designed body mounts further insulate you from the road. Body by Fisher-Only Chevy in its field offers the polish and craftsmanship of Body by Fisher.

Foam cushloned seats-Chevy offers foam cushioned seats in both front and rear in all series but one. Safety-Girder frame-X-built and not merely X-braced, the Safety-Girder frame affords greater rigidity to minimize twisting and squeaks.

Hydraulic valve lifters-Oil hushed hydraulic valve lifters reduce engine noise to a whisper. Cushioned steering shaft-

A universal joint and cushioned coupling keep those annoying road tremors from the steering wheel

Precision balanced wheels and tires-Here again Chevy has shown concern for your comfort by eliminating vibration in this vital areatire life is longer, too.

Easy steering ratio—Chevy's high ratio Ball Race steering takes the work out of steering for you.

Superior weight distribution— Chevy rides better, handles better and stops better because the car's weight is more equally divided between the front and rear wheels.

Wide choice of power teams-Choose from 24 different power combinations to satisfy the itchiest driving foot-more than any other car.

Allison-Wilson Vows Repeated In Grapevine

The marriage of Thornhill Allison and Robert bridal shower Wednesday after- Edward Wilson was solemnized Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Memorial Baptist Church in Grapevine, Texas. Rev. Geo. Garrison, assisted by Rev. Clifford Williams of Fort Worth, performed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Allison is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joe M. Allison of Grapevine. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Wilson of Denton.

Miss Jamie Ray of Fort Worth sang "How I Do Love Thee. "The Lord's Prayer," and "O Perfect Love," accompanied by Mrs. Hal Nelson.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a floor-length gown with long pointed sleeves and a sweetheart neck line. The skirt feaan accordion pleated front panel over a bouffant skirt of net and satin bordered lace. She were a floor length French illusion veil with a tiara encrusted with pearls. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis centered with white cymbidiums. The church was decorated with candles and greenery.

Attendants were Mrs. Richard H. Buell, Miss Joyce Allison, sisters of the bride, and Miss Linda Sue Statum, the bride's roommate at college, The attendants wore street length satin dresses of peacock blue, fashioned with elbow sleeves and scoop necklines. The bell skirts were ornamented with self fabric rosettes and at the back two matching rosettes created a bustle effect. The pretty hats carried out the theme of the roses to compliment a coronet of tiny bows. They carried nosegays of light pink carnations and roses. The mother of the bride wore a gown of bone colored lace, with a Dior blue hat. Her corsage was made of white garde nias. The mother of the groom wore a gown of wedgewood blue lace with blue accessories. Her corsage was also of white gardenias.

Lynn Wilson, brother of the groom, was best man. Jim Callahan and Dan Hinkle of Denton served as groomsmen, and Sam Bowman of Tyler lit the candles.

A reception was held at the hurch immediately following the ceremony. The parents assisted the bride and groom in the receiving line. The registration table was decorated with an arrangement of pink carnations centered with a china bride and groom. A beautiful wedding cake was served from a reception table laid iwth a cloth of Italian cut work and appointments of crystal and silver. Punch was served from a huge crystal bowl. Centering the table was a fan shaped arrangement of white gladiolas interspersed with pink car-

In the house party were Miss-er Suzanne and Cornelia Thornhill. Miss Teresa Carter, Mrs. Bill E. Lewis, and Miss Gladys

The bride's going-away cos-tume was a three-piece walking suit of green and beige tweed. Her accessories were of beige.

The bride is a graduate of Grapevine High School and is a Junior at North Texas State College. She is a member of Delta Gamma Sorority, Gamma Theta Upsilon, and the United Students of North Texas. The groom is a graduate of Haskell High School and holds a B. S. degree from N. T. S. C. He is a member of Sgma Phi Epsilon and Industrial Arts Club. He is employed at Collins Radio Company in Richardson. The couple will make their home in Denton.

Guest Program Presented By Harmony Club

The Baroque Period of muic was presented by the Haskell Harmony Club as a guest Thursday evening, Jan. 28. Mrs. J. F. Cadenhead Sr.,

as director, explained the type of music which was used in the Baroque era during the sixteenth and through the early eighteenth centuries. The term Baroque means displayed in elaboration of design and preparation, she explain-

The moving spirit behind this tendency which originated in Italy spread later to the rest of Europe, and reflected the same tendencies in the architecture and painting of this period.

In music this period is characterized by the coming of the dynamic and dramatic types such as opera, oratorio, cantato, and instrumental music. The Broque music plays an increasingly large part in our musical life today. The great reer. composers of this era include Bach, Handel, Scarlotti, Mozart, Franck and Vivaldi, great ership, Personality, and Aporganists and planists.

Mrs. Henry Withers presented two organ numbers of this period, "O Lord Most Holy" by Cesar Franck, and "A Fugue, Dona Nobis" by Mozart, which was cleverly ren-

Mrs. Guy Harris sang the impressive hymn, "He Shall Feed His Flock" by Handel. Miss Martha Meadors played as a piano number, Scarlotti's Pastorale, which was a melodic type, well performed.

Mrs. Robert Middleton, as organ soloist, presented with Club Elects skill and beauty the concerto by Vivaldi which captured the Officers imagination of the audience.

"Music is a universal language which expresses our feelings rather than our thoughts. Wherever there is music, there is harmony, Mrs. Cadenhead explained. Mrs. Tommye Hawkins and

Mrs. Cadenhead greeted the guests and Mrs. Al C. Williams welcomed them as guests of the club for the outstanding program of the year.

After the program, a short business session was held and the following officers for 1963-61 were elected:

Officers Elected By Progressive

"The Big Payoff" came for the Progressive Study Thursday, Jan. 21 with the biannual business meeting. Mrs. Bailey Toliver, president, welcomed members and introduced Mrs. Glen Sammons as a new member.

The highlights of the business meeting were the reading and discussion of the club's constitutional and the election of cfficers for the 1960-61 club year. Mrs. W. H. Pitman will lead the club as president, assisted by the following officers: first vice president, Mrs. W. E. Woodson; second vice presi-dent, Mrs. Ed Hester; recording secretary, Mrs. Vernay Burson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Gerald McCoy, treasurer; Mrs. Wayne Wainscott;; and historian, Mrs. H.

V. Woodard.
After refreshments of cake and coffee were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Bill Holden and Mrs. Bob Herren, each committee chairman asd her assistants started work on the club's yearly Federation re-ports. To set the mood of work, 'Report' posters were displayed.

One poster read: "Have you done anything? Report it! If not, do something So you can report it."

Control of Outer Space Poses Many The following persons have Legal Angles

Long ago the sky was sky high, so high nobody cared. But no more.

In 1765 Blackstone backed up old Roman law that sovereignity went "usque ad coelum," or as high as the sky. By 1899 the First Hague Peace Conference ruled against discharging explosives from balloons, and today we have endless legal problems that reach beyond the moon. With airplanes, armed and unarmed overhead, modern Blackstones had to ask how high is up: Could a low air zone come within state control, and a high zone remain free like the seas? No, many thought, for gravity worked in and through both zones. Zone or no zone, fighter planes, for example, could drop; or things could fall on people below.

So in World War I brave little Holland held fast for Blackstone: Nobody could fly over her land lawfully without her permission. In 1919 the Aerial Navigation and sole "sovereignity over the facts 1928 Convention of International Civil Aviation still held to this view.

This had to do with air, but what about outer space? With space ended up there when the "air" could no longer hold up a plane. Say, thirty miles up Then Sputnik! Each day it criss-cross the sovereignity of land after land. So the law of outer space comes up again: In 1956 the American Society of International law debated whether Blackstone would hold for "air" which could not support vehicles, whether thirty or thousands of miles "up.

No, they decided, the sky was only as high as the na tions had in mind in 1919 and 1928. So we have more questions than answers, some with cold war dimensions:

1. How could one state shoot a rocket aloft without invading another's sovereignity on the way up or down? 2. What if such things took pictures of military value below? What would that do to the state's sovereignity below?

3. What about the moon? Eager moon-vigators plan, like Columbus, to land on the moonand to stake out claims in their 'sovereign's name," Is the moon "terra incognita" or "terra nullis," like the lands of the new world on the old maps? Do first comers get moon lands? Or must they "occupy" these lands after dis-

Already people have proposed that space craft be registered like sea-going vessels, and fly their country's flag, and report their purposesscientific, commercial, or military-when they blast off.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform-not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without Convention joined the Dutch in the aid of an attorney who is saying every power has full fully advised concerning the involved, because a air space above its land." The slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

J. C. Wheatley Candidate for Representative

J. C. (Carl) Wheatley, real estate dealer and oil lease broker, announced his decision

Saturday to enter the race for State Representative of the

posed of Haskell, Throckmorton, Baylor and Knox Counties. His decision was announced following the statement by State Representative Ed Cloud of Rule that he would not be a candidate for re-election. "I feel that it would be an honor and a privilege to serve the peope of the 83rd District as their Representative in the Legislature." Mr. Wheatey said in making his announcement. successful business man, has lived in Mr. Wheatley Haskell County all his life, and has a background of experience which has included farming, livestock raising, whole-sale oil, gas and butane busioil, gas and butane busi-in addition to real estate

'Trav" Hadaway Enters Race for Commissioner

H. T. (Trav) Hadaway, well known Haskell resident, has authorized the announcement this week of his candidacy for Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, subject to action of the Demvisited in the Albert Stremmel ocratic primary.

In making his announcement,
he stated his decision was based on careful consideration of the responsible duties of the Commissioner's office and with the belief that if elected he could discharge the duties in a satisfactory manner.

A resident of Haskell County and Precinct No. 1 since 1927, Mr. Hadaway has been engaged in farming, but in recent years has been doing oil field work and is now employed by Duffy Oil Company. He is well acquainted with all sections of the precinct and its ing me.

needs, particularly in regard Jerry Welsh of to roads, as a result of his oil field work.

If elected, Mr. Hadaway states that he will devote his full time to the Commission-er's job, with equal considera-tion for every section of the precinct. Also, he will welcome the suggestions of propertyowners and taxpayers concerning the affairs of the precinct. and will endeavor to enlist the cooperation of the entire citizenship in all matters affecting the precinct in order that the wishes of the people can be carried out insofar as possible.

Before the primary is held, Mr. Hadaway plans to make as intensive a campaign as possible in order to place his candidacy before as many voters in Precinct 1 as possible. In the meantime he solicits and will appreciate your con-

Dover AFB Visits Here Last Week

Jerry Welsh, of the United States Air Force, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Welsh of Haskell, was a visitor here last week. He drove down to spend his leave with his parents from Dover Air Force Base, Dela-ware, where he is presently stationed.

During his leave Jerry has visited old friends in the Paint Creek community-he is a graduate of Paint Creek High School—and Abilene, where he renewed friendships made on the campus of Hardin-Simmons University where he studied for a year before entering the Air Force. Jerry has not negsideration of his claims for the lected his academic studies while in the service; he is now an undergraduate at the University of Delaware, whence he he hopes to graduate next year. After graduation Jerry plans to return to Haskell County to make his home.

There Are 1,000 Advantages To Trading At Haskell

Why is it some of us place more faith in a sales talk if it comes out in an out-of-town paper or is spoken between "rock and roll" numbers on a radio station or held up in front of a TV camera? These advertisers have no better goods than local merchants and a lot less to lose if they lie to us about them.

If a local man misrepresents an item's quality to a Haskell man or woman, he may lose a steady customer. What's more, if the cheated individual tells all of his friends, the merchant may lose most of his trade. Small towns are like that and small town businessmen know it. Therefore, Haskell merchants try always to stand behind their goods and woe unto him who doesn't.

Not so with the out-of-towner who at best expects to draw far away traders in only once or twice anyway. In distance there is a lot of safety from a dissatisfied customer.

Nobody intentionally operates a non-profit business just as nobody wants to operate a non-profit farm, a non-profit ranch or get into a non-profit profession. All of us get just about what we pay for whether it is bought in Haskell or elsewhere.
