Fire Prevention - The Job For Everyone

Every 37 seconds a fire breaks out in some city in the United States, endangering lives and damaging or destroying property. Every 46 minutes some one dies as the result of fire in this country.

These are the two impelling challenges commanding us to give a thought to fire safety during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15.

It was the Great Chicago Fire in 1871 that eventually brought recognition of the need for a concentrated drive for fire prevention on a national scale.

Last year losses from fire were a shade below those of the preceding year, the first decline since 1950.

But there can be no relenting in the fight against fire. There can be no resting on the laurels.

It is the job of all of us to continue our efforts to make America fire safe.

Have you checked your attic or basement lately for accumulation of the type of combustible trash in which fires so easily start?

Have you checked your electrical circuits and extension cords to make sure they are in tip-top shape?

Does your fuse box contain fuses of the proper amperage?

Remember one-fourth of all fires are caused by matches and smoking. Another 20.4 per cent are the result of mis-use of electrical equipment. And three-fourths of all fires are needless—they are caused by human carelessness and forgetfulness.

You can do your part in preventing fire by using care.

Driver Education Plan

Driver education in Texas public schools might be financed on a cooperative state-local plan similar to that used for the pre-school program for non-English speaking children.

This proposal was discussed in a recent speech by Brad H. Smith, director of the Governor's Highway Safety Commission. Driver education tied in with the public school system is one of the goals numerous safety groups have pushed toward for some time.

Smith noted that a local school system may secure state funds for teaching non-English pre-schoolers if it puts up some local funds also.

"Since these plans seem to work," Smith said, "we are looking at their success for possible application to the driver education program."

Smith noted that a special study committee of the State Board of Education had reported favorably on the idea of driver education and recommended a cooperative local-state effort.

Haskell County History

20 Years Ago—Sept. 20, 1940
In Washington Monday, President Roosevelt signed the draft act, and set Oct. 16 as date for the registration of all men between the ages of 21 and 36. It is estimated that between 1,200 and 1,500 men in Haskell County will be affected.

City tax rolls show a total valuation of $1,173,792 for 1940 compared with $1,106,490 for 1939. City Secretary R. A. Coburn reports.

To Thursday noon, Haskell's six gins had turned out 461 bales of cotton from the 1940 crop.

The Hotel Barber Shop, operated for the past two years by the Richard Bischofhausen in the Tonkawa Hotel, has moved to a new location on the east side of the square, in the building formerly occupied by Stephens Grocery.

Hazel Wilson has moved to Rochester where she has accepted a position writing cotton contracts at the R. A. Shaver Gin.

Mrs. J. M. Woodson returned Saturday from an extended visit in Oregon, California, and other places.

Cecil Weaver and Margaret Donaldson of Albany visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Weaver Sunday.

Haskell Hunter of this city has accepted a position in the fountain department of Payne Drug Company. He succeeds Paul Kuenster Jr., who resigned to enter training in the U. S. Air Corps.

Mary Grindstaff has gone to Abilene, where she has accepted a position during the fall months.

30 Years Ago—Oct. 2, 1939
Fire arms have become almost commonplace, and firemen have become accustomed to almost every type of blaze. An alarm Tuesday night, however, was in a new category. Answering a call to the residence of a colored family, firemen found not a house—but a storm cellar, ablaze! Despite the novelty of the situation, the fire was quickly extinguished.

The Haskell Indians will meet the Munday Moguls here Friday afternoon in a football game to be played at Fair Park field.

Rev. Gaston Foote has announced as his sermon subject at the First Methodist Church next Sunday morning a timely question: "Did God Cause the Recent Drought?"

Miss Galen Robertson, who is teaching in the Seymour schools, spent the weekend at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Robertson.

Misses Marguerite McCollum and Eunice Huckabee have returned from a several days visit in Dallas with relatives and friends.

Uncle Bob Hollis of Abilene is here visiting friends. Uncle Bob is one of the old timers in this section. He came to Throckmorton County before the Comanche Indians had discovered West Texas. It has been said that he helped build Kiowa Peak when the Brazos River was a small branch. He was sheriff of Throckmorton when all the area from here to the New Mexico line was attached to Throckmorton County for judicial purposes.

Mrs. J. U. Fields and Mrs. F. T. Sanders attended a Missionary Society meeting in Tuxedo last week, where Mrs. Fields was guest speaker. The Haskell woman told of her recent trip to Europe.

The Lake Creek school will begin the new term Oct. 27. Mrs. Iva Palmer of Munday is principal, and Mrs. William Woodson of Haskell and Miss Ruth Rice of Knox City are teachers.

50 Years Ago—Sept. 24, 1919
The Haskell public schools opened the term last week with more than 500 students enrolled. Supt. Woodley reports. Livestock shipments from Haskell this week included a carload of hogs shipped to Fort Worth by J. V. Hudson, and a car of calves to the same market by R. W. Herren.

Miss Annie Lida Hughes, who has a clerical position at Munday, visited her parents here this week.

Mrs. C. D. Grissom left Saturday night for Fort Worth, where she was called to the bedside of relatives.

George Roberts has opened up a new market on the north side.

Mrs. M. M. Bryant, the mother of Hon. Bruce W. Bryant, has returned from a visit with her mother in Kentucky.

The old jail and lot on which it is located was sold last Saturday to Lee Pierson for $125. It sold at auction and this was the highest bid.

Mrs. Robert Reynolds of New Mexico is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hudson of this city.

Messrs. Walter Presnell and Grady Webster have leased the Herald, published at Byers. They left Haskell Monday to go to Byers and take charge of the business.

Miss Maderia Tucker left Saturday for Fort Worth, where she will attend school this winter.

Dr. A. J. Lewis a veterinarian, left this week for Cleburne to practice his profession. Dr. Lewis is a splendid young man and promises to become one of the best veterinarians in the state.

60 Years Ago—Sept. 29, 1900
Judge J. M. Morgan of Benjamin was looking after business in Haskell this week.

J. W. Johnson & Son bought 58 head of stock cattle from R. M. Grantham this week, price not reported.

Q. W. Roberts of Cooke County, who has been here on a visit to the family of his son-in-law, J. B. Wadlington, left Tuesday to return home.

The delay in getting out this issue of The Free Press was caused by the washouts of bridges and damages to tracks of the Texas Central and consequent failure of that road to get a train through to Stamford with our weekly shipment of paper until Monday night. The shipment should have arrived at Stamford the preceding Thursday night. Haskell has been without daily papers or any mail from a distance, for the past 10 or 12 days as a result of the flood.

Miss Allie Frost left Thursday for Sherman where she will attend college.

W. D. Dickinson made another sale of sheep this week—1900 head to a Mr. Smith from the Devil's River country, at a price reported at $2.10 per head.

While Messrs. S. S. Cummings and Jud Jones were out six or seven miles north of town Thursday working with cattle, Jud's horse fell, and the rider's left leg was broken just above the ankle when he was pinned under the animal. Mr. Cummings came to town as quickly as his horse could make the distance and Dr. Lindsey went out and set the broken limb, and Jesse and Jhon Jones went out and brought Jud home.

Porter Williamson and Charles Martin have opened up a restaurant business in connection with their confectionery and fruit business.

A horse that bucks high or stands on his hind feet and paws the air is said to be "chinnin' the moon."

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

The hundreds of braceros who come to this section for the cotton harvest know little if anything about traffic regulations, both automobile and pedestrian.

Traffic lights mean nothing to them as signals at least. Notice a group of them crossing a street and you'll see the leader glance up at the traffic light, then strike out across the street with the remainder following him, regardless whether the light shows green or red.

Sometimes, they'll take the shortest route, going diagonally from one street corner to another and crossing directly under the traffic lights in the center of the intersections.

Puzzling thing about these strangers in our town is the fact that they quickly pick up the custom of glancing at the traffic lights. But actions which follow prove they don't know the meaning of red and green signals.

Perhaps they think it's a Yankee custom of keeping an eye on the flashy lights to be sure they're still there.

The braceros have a curious habit of stringing out single file when walking any considerable distance, and they generally prefer to walk in the street or road than on sidewalks.

Groups of braceros coming to town from their quarters at the different gins, some 10 or 12 blocks, will string out in parties of four to a dozen and head out to town as unconcernedly as you please.

They are evidently unaware of the dangers of traffic, depending on the car or truck driver to pull around them in the street. At the sound of a motorist's horn, they'll glance around casually, sometimes grinning as if acknowledging the blast of the horn as a greeting. But they seldom realize they should move out of the car's right-of-way.

Whether by luck or intent, a teenage Negro boy driving a souped-up jalopy demonstrated a method of scattering braceros out of his path the other day.

A group of 15 or 20 crossing North 1st at the northeast corner of the square had the street completely blocked as this Negro hot-rodder rolled up to a stop within inches of the sauntering braceros.

The Negro had the green light, but no room to travel without running over several braceros.

Impatiently he dropped a heavy foot on the accelerator, racing his motor. The shattering roar from the car's exhaust completely panicked the braceros and they scattered like a covey of quail, heading in every direction except up.

With the traffic lane cleared, the Negro hot-rodder roared off grinning as if he'd conquered the world.

Most of the braceros brought here to work are from the interior of Mexico, and many have never been away from their native area before, nor seen any place larger than a village.

They are tireless window shoppers and the glittering display windows and colorful merchandise inside the stores are a source of fascination to the braceros. In turn, the braceros sometimes are a source of annoyance to store owners and clerks because of the braceros' habit of picking up and examining items that attract his fancy. The annoyance results when they fail to return the item to its place.

In each group of braceros there is usually one who can speak a few words of English, and he acts as spokesman when purchases are made.

We recall seeing a group of four in an eating establishment one Saturday night a few years ago.

Unable to read the menu, the waiter was calling off items available: Chili, soup, bacon and eggs, etc., until steak rang the bell. They all wanted steaks. T-Bone? Sir! After being told that each thick T-Bone would cost $2.50, the diners still waited them and the spokesman fished out a handful of money, willing to pay in advance.

The four got their T-Bone steaks, with the same service and treatment that would have been accorded the establishment's best customer.

Strangest thing about the meal was that the four braceros sowed away those thick T-Bones, French fries, hot rolls and several cups of coffee each without ever once touching a knife, fork or spoon!

The average bracero has no idea how far away from home he is, nor would he know how to proceed in arranging transportation to return. All that is left to his sponsoring employer, or contractor.

Last year, a group of dissatisfied braceros at Munday decided among themselves that they'd return home. They knew their native Mexico was south, so they headed in that direction.

The group of between 35 and 40 left Munday around noon one Saturday and set out single file, down Highway 277, carrying all their possessions—mostly a small bundle and bedroll.

About 9 o'clock that night, while Sheriff Bill Pennington and other officers were making a routine check at a Mexican dance being held on the Fair Grounds they noticed the bedraggled, tired group straggling in.

Questioning of a few of the weary travellers revealed their plight. Sheriff Pennington allowed them to stay in the jail overnight and in the meantime contacted their employer at Munday who sent trucks for them the following morning.

A newspaper article about the recovery of broken drilling equipment from the bottom of an oil test by means of a "fishing" operation calls to mind that these incidents seemed to have occurred more frequently in oil field drilling in years gone by.

We remember hearing of one such incident years ago, which if true (and we believed it at the time) had elements of human daring and foolhardiness which made it as hazardous an undertaking as could be devised.

The particular incident involved a "fishing" job on wildcat oil test being drilled on what was then the Ballard Ranch (now Coody's) east of Haskell in the early part of 1919 by the late S. S. Kouri of Wichita Falls.

Two of the drillers on the test were "Happy" Mahoney and George Prather, and tool dressers on the crew were Frank Hoover and "Blackie" Avernarius. The latter two made an incongruous pair, but were fast friends. Hoover was a huge hulk of a man, weighing around 275, while "Blackie" was slender and wiry, weighing around 150 dripping wet.

When the hole, started at 18 inches and being drilled with a standard, or spudder rig, had reached a depth of a little over 300 feet the drilling cable snapped, dropping the bit in the hole.

There was no chance to drill past such a large bit without getting a crooked hole, so they started "fishing" or attempting to hook onto the lost cable and bit.

When the "fishing" operation had gone into its second day with no luck, "Blackie" became impatient and volunteered to go down himself and tie onto the cable.

Other members of the crew demurred, but the little guy was persistent. He talked his buddy, Hoover, into agreement, and then the drillers.

The story goes that "Blackie" was lowered head-first to the bottom of the 300-foot hole

Rotarians Urged To Support UF Finance Drive

Pointing out that one of the major objectives of Rotary is community betterment, Tom Barfield told members Thursday that "There is no better way to render service to our community than to support the United Fund."

Barfield spoke briefly in calling attention to the 1960 U.F. finance drive to be conducted in October.

President Tom Roberson reported that the Rotary Club of Haskell was rated second in district attendance during August, being edged out by Cisco.

Roberson also called attention to the approaching visit of District Governor Robert H. Blake. In response to a suggestion by President Roberson, members quickly subscribed the amount needed to make Haskell a 200 per cent Rotary Foundation club.

The cosmopolitan nature of Rotary was stressed in a brief talk by Bill Ratliff, Rotary Information chairman. "Rotary recognizes no barriers of race or nationality," the speaker declared, pointing out that the membership of the Rotary Club in Singapore at one time included 23 nationalities.

Special recognition was given a visiting Rotarian, John Stewart of Kennedy, Texas, who has a perfect attendance record of 13 years in Rotary.

Other out-of-town guests present were Morris Neal and Frank Campbell of Rule, and Herman Gammill of Rochester.

Two new members were welcomed at the luncheon meeting, Stanley Furrh and Alton Hester.

1961 Dodge Dart Has New Styling, Greater Economy

Detroit—The popular Dodge Dart, an automotive newcomer last fall, began its second year with completely new styling, a host of engineering improvements and wider selection of engines.

The economy-priced 1961 models will go on sale at Dodge dealerships September 29.

Dodge General Manager M. C. Patterson, revealing details of the new line, said significant refinements have been made in the Dart's engineering and manufacturing quality.

"We are firmly convinced that our new models are the best-engineered and the most carefully built cars ever to leave Dodge plants," Patterson said. "In 1961, the Dodge Dart will be the quality car in the low-price field."

"Increasing numbers of cost-conscious motorists were attracted to the economical Dodge Dart during the 1960 model year," Patterson asserted. "In 1961, the Dart will establish new standards of low-cost motoring. It will offer top-flight convenience, comfort, performance and styling while matching many of the economy benefits of compact cars."

The Dodge general manager said the '61 Dart, freshly styled on the outside, is also new on the inside. The interior of the car features new nylon and rayon fabrics, a distinctive instrument panel, a new door trim design, color-keyed steering wheels, and new, contemporary color combinations.

"A BOTTLE OF BOOZE"

By Eli Marshall

An old man went staggering down the road,
His body well bent under age and a "load,"
Lest in his bent way he perchance would lose,
He held tightly on to his bottle of booze.

The old man went staggering along the way,
Until finally falling on the roadside lay,
Not a worldly possession, He had none to lose,
But he held firmly to his bottle of booze.

He had given up friends and family and all
There was no home nor shelter where he might call,
In his own mind there was nothing to lose,
To him nothing better than a bottle of booze.

He staggered along till on the roadside he lay,
He was found cold and dead at the break of day,
Like every man he had only a soul to lose,
But he gave it in exchange for a bottle of booze.

SOME QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED ABOUT JACK KENNEDY

Did Jack Kennedy marry a poor girl or a rich girl?

Josephine Bouvier Kennedy came from a rich brokerage family and she will herself be a millionaire when she inherits her share of the family fortune.

Has Kennedy ever used his religion to advance his cause?

In 1956, seeking the No. 2 Spot, he and aides made up a chart showing the size of the Catholic vote in pivotal States, insisting that the way to win that block was to nominate him as a Catholic. This year he has bluntly reminded Demo leaders that the Catholic vote is 50% or more of the Demo vote in a dozen states. He reminded his advisers that if he did not get the proper showing in the Primaries that it would cause a revolt among the Catholics if he were not nominated.

How well liked is Kennedy by those who know him best, his fellow Senators?

Only Kefauver rates lower in the Senates Popular poll. In other words Kefauver is on the bottom and Kennedy is next. Kennedy has no sense of fair play, say his fellow Senators. In a letter to the Press on the breaking up of the conference on the Labor-Reform bill, in disagreement, Jack told the Press of offering CONCESSIONS which were not offered by him, nor ever by the Committee. This false representation was considered unforgivable by both Democrats and Republicans. One of the Committee put it this way: "Jack is a typical spoiled man's son. He thinks everybody on earth is here just to do for him. But that curly headed fellow is no weakling. Through his entire career he has proven that he will run rough shod over anyone that gets in his way."

Why has Jack been described as utterly ruthless by his fellow Massachusetts Democrats?

Jack's reputation in Massachusetts is one of utter ruthlessness. At 39 years of age he saw this advantage to kick aside The Dem Dean McCormick that he might control the State election. Said a Boston NEWS MAN, "Jack is hard as nails: he is mean and tough. Nobody is going to stop him, short of the voters, from getting what he wants."

Did Kennedy support the Forand Bill which would make available three to eight billion dollars for socialized medicine for the aged?

This would, according to many, fill the Doctors' offices full of people to the neglect of others? He certainly favors it. He introduced it in the senate.

Does Kennedy oppose the Right-to-Loaf Bill, which allows a person after earning $1-200 in wages, TO BECOME UNEMPLOYED and collect as much as $2301 in benefits over a week period?? DOES he oppose it? No! No, he introduced the Bill.

Is Kennedy a Moderate? How does his record compare with that of Hubert Humphrey and Lyndon Johnson's?

Kennedy is no moderate despite the fact that he talks that way among the Conservatives. Kennedy and Humphrey vote about identical and to this agreed when they were in the Wisconsin Campaign. Lyndon's record is as liberal as Kennedy's. Since 1956 Lyndon voted conservative only 10% of the time according to ACA Index which is actually 1% worse than Kennedy's 11%.

How did Eleanor Roosevelt and Harry Truman come to dislike Kennedy?

In '49 while a member of Congress, with no Presidential aspirations, Kennedy made a speech in Salem, Mass., saying that a sick Roosevelt at Yalta, followed by Truman "frittered away what had been gained in the Far East." (Namely China). In another address, same year, before the collapse of the Chinese resistance, he blamed Acheson for taking bad advice from the "Lattimores and Fairbanks." He seems to have told the truth on this and they, Harry Truman, could not take it.

SAYS: All is well --- go back to sleep.
EDDY SAYS: All is NOT Well --- Wake up!

Following is reprinted from the syndicated column of Joseph E. Egan, reporter of the Conservative Republican Magazine, Saturday, Sept. 17, 1960. It appeared in the Abilene Reporter-News morning edition of September 14, 1960.

Among the reasons for choosing Costa Rica for the recent meeting of the Organization of American States, there was one reason as ugly as it was grimly revealing.

American policy-makers concluded that Costa Rica was the Caribbean country the Secretary of State of the United States would visit, except under the heaviest armed guard, without risk of being mobbed, spat upon, stoned or otherwise embarrassed or humiliated.

Other possible countries were either politically unstable like the Dominican Republic, or their governments were unwilling to control the Communists and non-Communist agitators with Fidel Castro, who were organizing to protest against the United States to discipline Cuba at the OAS meeting.

These facts will no doubt be denied in this election year, just as the more unpleasant facts concerning the Japanese disapproval of President Eisenhower were denied. But they are facts. They give a fair measure of the progressive decline of American and Western prestige, the spreading rot in foreign lands, the importance to this country and the West, and the contempt for the United States that is being displayed by the Communists in the form of bolder and bolder probing and trouble-

Letters From Readers

To The Free Press:

My husband, the late Jim Lewis, came to Haskell County in 1891. We were married near Munday, in Knox County, Feb. 14, 1915. I was a primary teacher near Weinert in 1915-16 and 1916-17.

My husband liked The Free Press. His last trip away from home was when he came to Haskell to renew his subscription. He especially liked to read the news of "What Happened 40, 50, and 60 Years Ago."

Our home burned in 1937 and we lost all the books, papers any records of any kind that we had. The announcement of our marriage was in The Free Press in February, 1915. I wish I could find copies of Me-

Guffey's Readers. I am past 82 now.

Announcing the 1961 Ford... Beautifully proportioned to the CLASSIC FORD LOOK

The 1961 Ford Galaxie Club Victoria—beautifully built to take care of people

BEAUTIFULLY BUILT TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF

The 1961 Ford introduces a whole new concept of what a car can do for you... and for itself!

It lubricates itself. New nylon bearings and a newly developed lubricant keep the '61 Ford freshly greased for 30,000 miles. It cleans its own oil. The 1961 Ford's Full-Flow oil filter lets you go 4,000 miles between oil changes.

It adjusts its own brakes. A "mechanical brain" keeps brakes adjusted for the life of the lining.

Rust? Ford's body is specially processed to resist corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

Ford takes care of itself on the turnpike, too, with a new 390-cu. in. Thunderbird Special V-8 that has all the punch you'll ever need. The 352 Thunderbird Special V-8 and 292 Thunderbird V-8 thrive on regular gas. And, for top economy, you can choose the '61 Mileage Maker Six.

This is the 1961 Ford... beautifully proportioned to the Classic Ford Look... beautifully built to take care of itself.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

LUBRICATES ITSELF. You'll normally go 30,000 miles without a chassis lubrication.

CLEANS ITS OWN OIL. You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

ADJUSTS ITS OWN BRAKES. New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically.

GUARDS ITS OWN MUFFLER. Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

PROTECTS ITS OWN BODY. All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

TAKES CARE OF ITS OWN FINISH. New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

Haskell Coaches Guests of Lions Tuesday Noon

"Our boys lack age, experience, and size, but they are fighting hard and giving 100 per cent effort," Ray Overton, Haskell High School head football coach told members of the Lions Club at the Tuesday noon luncheon session.

"We may not win a game this year, but we should be proud of the team, as they have shown they are not quitters, and want to play," Overton pointed out.

"Enthusiasm and spirit of the team and town is fine. With a little more age, experience and size, these youngsters are going to show considerable improvement as time goes on," Overton said.

Coaches Overton, Bill Blakeley and Jimmy Browning were guests of Lions, Tuesday noon. E. W. Pruitt was in charge of the program.

Via's Felker presided in the absence of the president, C. O. Holt.

World War One Vets to Meet In Rochester

Regular meeting of Barracks 1816, World War One veterans of Haskell County, will be held in Rochester Sunday, Oct. 2, at the American Legion Hall. The meeting, scheduled at 2:30 p.m. is also for members of the Auxiliary of the organization.

All members and their wives, as well as all prospective members are urged to attend this meeting. Commander John Brock said.

One of the important matters to be discussed will be plans for the annual Turkey Dinner for the veterans' group and their wives. It will be held on Sunday, Nov. 13, according to tentative plans.

Keep Garden Hose Handy in Case of Fire

Do you live on a farm or any suburban community situated some distance from water mains, fire hydrants, or a fire department?

If so, the National Board of Fire Underwriters offers these suggestions to increase the fire safety of your home:

1. Keep a garden hose handy if you have water under pressure. Make sure your house has plenty of threaded faucets to which you can hook up the hose. Such a hose is effective in extinguishing small fires before they become big ones.

2. Have a back-pack pump in a handy place where you can get hold of it quickly. Such a tank holds five gallons of water and can be carried to a fire anywhere.

3. If you have a fruit spraying or shrub spraying equipment, keep in stand-by operation. Such equipment throws a good spray and can be used to advantage if fire breaks out.

4. Keep a ladder where it is quickly available to reach fires

SCS Helps Area Farmers Plan Soil Programs

Cooperators with the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District who have recently revised their conservation plans are T. C. Walker, Edward Grissom farm operated by Colen Hammer, J. B. Dunnam, Dr. J. G. Vaughter farm operated by Roy Fought and the C. A. Thomas farm operated by Lewis Thomas. Farmers recently completing development of new conservation plans are L. W. Norman, D. P. Radloff, Wayne Josselet, R. A. Lane, J. B. Dunnam and Jess Kregger operator of E. W. Kregger farm, and Floyd McGuire.

Farms under cooperative agreement with the California Creek Soil Conservation District which have recently been revised are Mrs. Corbet Lytle farm operated by Clinton Kimbrough and Mrs. Alice Young farm operated by Clinton Kimbrough.

All of these cooperators are receiving their technical assistance from the Haskell SCS.

Conservation cropping systems and the management of crop residues to help in control of wind and water erosion were developed to assist them in improving their soil.

Application of conservation practices among district cooperators has received much interest. Mechanical practices such as terraces and ponds head the list. Wichita-Brazos Districts cooperator Charles E. Gary has rebuilt two miles of terraces on the Lynn Pace farm. Leon Newton has completed a pond for livestock water.

Other activities have been in the California Creek Soil Conservation District. Cooperator Roy Wiseman plans to rebuild several miles of terraces. Mrs. Annie Kretschmer has completed layout of a diversion terrace.

This diversion terrace will help control erosion and divert water into a farm pond.

Pit type ponds find most frequent application in the Wichita-Brazos and California Creek SC Districts. Cooperator Raymond Brewer has recently completed a pit type pond for livestock water supply.

Soil Conservation Service technical assistance to the farmer does not stop with the application of terraces and farm ponds. This is only a small part of the work. Complete soil and water conservation planning with farm or ranch landowners and operators in the big job in getting conservation on the ground.

Church of God Revival Will Begin October 9

Rev. J. W. Davis, pastor of the Church of God, has announced a revival which will begin Sunday, Oct. 9, at the church, located on the Throckmorton Highway in East Haskell.

Services will begin each evening at 7:30 o'clock, with the Rev. J. C. Atkins of Mineral Wells as evangelist.

The local pastor stated that Rev. Atkins is known throughout Texas for his preaching with a chart of pictures proven by the Bible. The chart is mostly on Prophecy.

"Everyone is cordially invited to come and be with us each night," Rev. Davis said.

New F-M Road Approved for Lake Area

The State Highway Commission played Santa Claus to the southeast area of Haskell county Tuesday, when two F-M road projects were approved for that section.

Approval of the new road came as a welcome surprise to county officials and residents of the area, who did not know the road jobs were being considered at this time.

Announcement of the two road jobs, one in Haskell and one in Jones county, was received by County Judge Jas. C. Alvis from District Engineer Jake Roberts of Abilene.

The stretch of new road in Haskell county would be from FM 618, east and across the bridge on Lake Stamford to the Jones County line, a distance of 2.2 miles. Cost will be approximately $200,000. In Jones county, the new road would extend 2.8 miles to connect with FM 142, with cost estimated at $62,000.

The two projects, when completed, will give better access to the Lake Stamford area.

Drag Racers and Fight Net Funds For JP's Till

Two Haskell youths caught drag racing were each fined a total of $44.50 in Justice Court during the weekend, on complaints filed by Chief of Police Tom Paul Barnett.

The heavier-than-usual fines were imposed because the boys had previously been given several warnings by officers in connection with loud mufflers and dragging.

Two other dragsters, one from Haskell and the other from Lubbock, got off with fines and costs amounting to $25.50 each due to the fact that this was their first offense.

The two complaints were filed by Highway Patrolman Jesse Priest.

A hot-tempered Mexican farm worker was fined $100 and costs of $19.50 in Justice Court on a charge of simple assault.

According to officers, the Mexican became enraged when a local service station operator declined to sell him two tires on credit. He attacked the station operator, then jumped in his car and left. He was picked up shortly afterwards by officers.

Rats Increasing, Poison Bait Is Still Available

A limited amount of poison for use in ridding premises of rats is still available at the Chamber of Commerce office.

This announcement was made after an increase in rats had been noted around homes and business houses in several parts of town.

A quantity of the poison was distributed some time ago when an effective campaign against rodents was carried out here.

Squirrel Hunts Rate Very High In East Texas

"Squirrel camps and squirrel stews are traditional in East Texas," writes Bob Brewer in his interesting article, "Where Bushy-Tail is King," in the September issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine. "As traditional as the rolling, forested hills and heavy timbered bottoms that make this land a hunter's paradise."

Former Resident Dies Tuesday In Oklahoma City

W. M. (Bill) McDonnold, about 65, former resident of Haskell, died late Tuesday in an Oklahoma City hospital after being stricken with a severe heart attack.

He was a brother of Mrs. A. J. Jesselet of Haskell.

Mr. McDonnold had lived in Oklahoma City since 1929, and for a number of years held a supervisory position in a crippled children's home. His work dealt with designing and manufacturing appliances for handicapped children.

Before moving his family to Oklahoma City, Mr. McDonnold owned and operated a shoe repair business in Haskell for a number of years.

Immediate survivors include his wife and one son.

Going to Oklahoma City for the funeral service of Mr. McDonnold were Mr. and Mrs. Josselet and their daughter, Mrs. Estle Gilleland of Tulsa, who has been here visiting her parents.

Kansas Norther Needed to Send Doves to Texas

All Texas dove hunters need now is a good norther in Kansas. This information from H. D. Dodger, as executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission, who has made a personal check on the North Zone dove scarcity.

Slight weather changes in Kansas already have been responsible for some improvement in the shooting condition around Lake Texoma, especially in cut-over grain fields, according to reports.

"I talked by phone to officials in Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, and Nebraska recently," said the secretary, "and they reported on the bird situation in their states. Oklahoma officials say the bird shooting there is embarrassing. Arkansas has a normal supply of doves, and hunters there are having a fair shoot. Kansas and Nebraska officials reported plenty of doves still can be found all across those two states.

"This abundance of birds in those states means that when the cold weather moves into that area, Texas should get a big share of the birds as they migrate south," continued the game official. "I expect these flights should begin pouring into the State of Oklahoma. Officials in Oklahoma said some cool weather will be going across Texas.
