Try-outs were held during the previous week with 30 girls competing for membership in the choral organization. Each girl was privately interviewed and auditioned by Hubert Bell, Mrs. Bell and Frank Porter, and rated by the following ten-point grading system:

- (1) Sight reading, (2) tone quality, (3) natural ear for music, (4) rhythm, (5) ability to harmonize, (6) ability to sustain tone, (7) voice range, (8) volume of voice, (9) ability to follow instructions, and (10) personality.

Mrs. Bell stated that several girls who did not make the organization this year had high ratings, and are considered good possibilities for next year as replacements for graduating members.

The Nine Teens will actually consist of ten voices, one of which will be trained to sing in any of the three sections, and an accompanist.

In the future, try-outs will be open to all High School girls, each year, to fill vacancies left by graduating senior members.

City Aldermen Given Council Assignments

Aldermen John Thomas and Bob Sego, new members of the City Council, were given commission assignments by Mayor J. E. Walling at the regular meeting of the Council Tuesday night.

Stamford Council Indicates 10 Cents As Lowest Price on Raw Lake Water

Raw water purchased from Lake Stamford would cost the City of Haskell at least 10 cents per 1,000 gallons at the lake, members of the Haskell City Council learned when they met with the Stamford City Council in that city last Friday.

The price of 10 cents per 1,000 gallons was only an estimate, Stamford Mayor Roland Kelley emphasized, and it was pointed out that some towns are paying as much as 20 cents per 1,000 gallons to other lakes and reservoirs.

The special meeting of the Stamford Council was held at the request of Haskell Mayor J. E. Walling and his Council members, along with City Secretary T. J. Arbuckle, were in attendance.

Mayor Walling, explaining his request for the meeting, told the Stamford Council his group was interested in exploring the possibility of securing water from Lake Stamford, its cost, and length of contract involved.

He stated that Haskell was now in the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority, but that a bill was pending in the Legislature which, if passed, would permit Haskell or other towns to withdraw from the Authority.

Mayor Kelley, at the outset of the discussion, said he first wanted to clarify the position of the Stamford Council, since he had noted newspaper stories concerning the water controversy in Haskell.

"We are not taking any sides in this matter, to us you are only a potential water customer. If you get your problems ironed out then we will be glad to go into it, but it will take a lot of engineering to determine the cost of water," he declared.

Discussing Haskell's requirements it was brought out that the city uses from 300,000 to 1,000,000 gallons daily, for a year-round average of 500,000 gallons daily.

Mayor Walling also mentioned that Rule might come in on the Haskell contract. However Stamford Alderman A. Wade Watts suggested the discussion be confined to Haskell's requirements.

Stamford Mayor Kelley, obviously with Hamlin's water purchase contract in mind made when the lake was built, observed that "Prices have increased, and 5-cent water a few years ago might be 8 or 9 cents per 1,000 gallons today."

Mayor Kelley also pointed out that the lowest price the Bureau of Reclamation had ever been able to offer Haskell on water at the Paint Creek Reservoir had been 9 cents per 1,000 gallons at the lake.

"Frankly, we don't know what it is costing us to develop and store water in Lake Stamford on the basis of today's prices," Mayor Kelley said in stating that engineering studies would be the only way to determine the cost at which water could be sold.

Mayor Kelley, citing provisions contained in Stamford's permit from the State Water Board, pointed out that any water in Lake Stamford above his city's needs could be sold to neighboring towns at a price based on today's cost of building the reservoir, maintenance, amortization, etc.

"Just as an estimate, I believe you might think of 10 cents per 1,000 as a minimum, and it might be more than that, depending on our engineer's report," Mayor Kelley concluded, reiterating that Stamford was not taking "sides" in the matter.

At the close of the brief meeting, Alderman Watts of Stamford expressed the opinion that in the long range view, "We cannot have too many lakes in West Texas, this part of the State would be better off with more lakes."

Rehearing Plea Denied in Suit Against Authority

The 11th Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland last Friday denied a motion for re-hearing sought by J. E. Walling et al. in a suit challenging the validity of the North Central Texas Water Authority.

Previously, in March, the Appeals Court had upheld the decision of the 39th District Court here in the case, after it had been appealed to the higher court at Eastland.

The Water Authority was created in elections held in 1958, and voters have approved a $3,800,000 bond issue to be used in developing a water supply and distribution system serving Haskell, Rule, Goree and Munday.

Majority of Dollar Day Shoppers From 4 Area Towns, Survey Shows

According to a tabulation of out-of-town checks received by local stores last Dollar Day, April 18, the majority of shoppers attracted by the monthly event were from four area towns. Customers from Knox City and Munday accounted for 56 per cent of the day's business volume for which payment was made by check.

Checks given by Rule and Stamford customers accounted for 30 per cent, with the remaining 14 per cent coming from six other area towns, the tabulation revealed.

Cooperating in the census of out-of-town shoppers were 13 of the stores sponsoring the monthly Dollar Day, according to Wallace Cox Jr., chairman of the Retail Merchants Planning Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The study was made in connection with plans being studied for expanding and improving Haskell's trade extension program, it was explained.

Since only out-of-town checks were tabulated, no estimate was available on the number or residence of out-of-town customers making cash purchases.

Breakdown of the check count showed the following percentage from each town: Knox City, 21 per cent; Munday, 35 per cent; Stamford, 17 per cent; Rule, 13 per cent; Abilene, Aspermont, Hamlin, Fort Worth, Iowa Park, Rochester, Throckmorton and Woodson, 14 per cent.

Congratulations are in order for Haskell's newest member of the legal fraternity.

He is Joe A. Williams, likable and efficient Court Reporter of the 39th Judicial District, who was advised Friday that he had successfully passed the examination for admission to the State Bar of Texas.

In the opinion of Joe's friends and they are legion, the examination required before his license was granted, was only a technical formality, because of his thorough background in the legal profession gained during the years he has been court reporter.

Anyway, it's now official and the correct listing is:

JOSEPH A. WILLIAMS
 Attorney-At-Law

Motorists approaching Haskell at night from the south on US 277 have varied reactions when they notice the welcoming sign erected by the Chamber of Commerce, located on the east side of the highway a short distance from the city limits.

The billboard was only recently repainted, using luminous reflective paint which effectively presents the sign's message.

Shortly after the sign had been repainted, vandals got in their work.

In the top portion of the sign, which reads: "Haskell Welcomes You," three letters have been smeared out, leaving the message "H...ell Welcomes You."

The sign will be repainted, of course, if that has not already been done by the time you read this, and the cost will amount to a tidy sum.

In the meantime, officers have started a thorough investigation which they say will continue until those guilty of the destructive prank are apprehended and punished.

Rice Alvis is a confirmed believer in Free Press Want Ads. He has used these small ads frequently in the past, with good results in almost every instance.

Last week, he placed an ad offering pigs for sale, and planned to have it published in two issues.

The pigs were sold before the newspaper had barely had time to leave the post office. Several more would-be-purchasers contacted Rice after seeing the ad.

Now, he's advertising for pasture for a few head of cows, or would lease a tract of grass. We hope his ad is as effective in this instance as it was in selling pigs for him.

Sidewalk lawyers have a hot subject under debate currently, concerning the upcoming local option election in Justice Prec. 4 on the question of permitting sale of all alcoholic beverages for off-premise consumption.

Now, with the May 6 vote on legalizing sale of all alcoholic beverages, the question arises: Will a negative vote in that election stop the sale of beer, now legal in the precinct? Is beer an alcoholic beverage?

What is the legal definition of the word "all"?

Arguments pro and con on these puzzlers are a dime a dozen whenever the subject is brought up.

Despite the fact that the problem seems to have some contradictory angles, we hold the idea that persons sponsoring calling the elections had a pretty fair knowledge of the law involved.

In a note from Encampment, Wyo., Mrs. La Trice Johnston expresses deep regret at the death of Mrs. R. C. Montgomery.

Mrs. Johnston also sends regards to all her friends in Haskell.

Do any old timers here remember anything about the Spanish relics and other articles found near Kiowa Peak and which were on display in the old Terrell Drug Store here before it burned around 1910?

A Wichita Falls man who is interested in the treasure lore of this section, particularly in regard to objects which might date back to early-day Spanish explorers, would like to get in touch with anyone knowing about any articles of this kind. He is especially interested in an old Spanish gold watch which reportedly was displayed with other relics in the old drug store here.

His name and address: T. D. Bradley, 3007 Sheppard Lane, Wichita Falls, Texas.

The following "Parody on Work" was handed to us by our friend, Ferrell Coston, who does not know the author. Because we can agree wholeheartedly, we are reprinting it, with the hope that we are not infringing on the original writer.

"The Government is my Shepherd, I need not work. It allows me to lie down on good jobs;

It leadeth me beside still factories; It destroyeth my initiative; It leadeth me in the paths of the parasite for politics sake. Yea, tho I walk thru the valley of laziness and deficit spending,

I will fear no evil; for the Government is with me; It's doles and vote-getters, they comfort me.

It prepareth an economic utopia for me by appropriating the earnings of my grandchildren.

It filleth my head with Bolognia; my inefficiency runneth over.

Surely the Government shall care for me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in a fool's paradise forever."

The Franklin Tent Theatre will open Monday night and run moving pictures for a few days until the dramatic company that is engaged to open the season here arrives.

Judge Joe Irby, who for some time has been located in Irion County, was called by wire last week and responded to the call thinking some client needed his services. But when he arrived he found that the people wanted to elect him County Judge of Culberson County that was to organize a day or two later. When the election was held Judge Irby was elected without having an opponent.

G. C. McCullough of the east side was in town Saturday, and reports he has 165 acres in cultivation this year.

At 8 o'clock this evening, April 29, the Seventh Grade class of the City Schools will hold their grammar school graduating exercises at the high school auditorium.

E. H. Morrison and family of Graham came over Saturday in their auto and spent Sunday with Mrs. J. S. Rike and other relatives.

W. L. Hill of Rule passed through Haskell Wednesday on his way home from a business trip to Denton County.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ellis of Rule have returned from a two weeks visit to Dallas.

60 YEARS AGO

April 27, 1901

Mrs. H. R. Jones left Thursday on a visit to Marlin, and will also visit in Austin before her return.

B. T. Lanier was in town Wednesday and said there was a big crop of wild plums in the plum thickets along the Brazos. While speaking of plums he remarked that he had a young Columbia plum tree in his orchard that had fruit on it now between the size of a partridge egg and a guinea egg.

W. T. Hudson and S. Cummings took a bunch of about 1,000 head of young cattle to King County this week, where they have arranged to have them pastured.

J. E. Jones and family and J. F. Jones left this week with a lot of cattle for the Jones Eros, Ranch in Tom Green County. J. E. Jones and family will live on the ranch.

H. S. Post bought four sections of land this week for ranch purposes. He says this finally ties him to Haskell

A Fable? Here's Story of a Rugged Individual

(The following appeared in The Fort Worth Press, reprinted from the Sonoma County, Calif., Medical Society Bulletin.)

A young man lived with his parents in a public housing development. He attended a public school, rode the free school bus and participated in the free lunch program. He entered the Army and upon discharge kept his national service life insurance. He then enrolled in the state university under the GI Bill, working part time for the state to supplement his GI check.

Upon graduation he married a public health nurse and bought a farm with an FHA loan, then obtained an RFC loan to go into business. A baby was born in the county hospital. He bought a ranch with the aid of a GI loan and obtained emergency feed from the government.

Later he put part of his land in the soil bank and the payments helped pay off his debts. His parents lived comfortably on the ranch with their Social Security and old-age assistance checks.

The County Agent showed him how to terrace it, then the government paid part of the cost of a pond and stocked it with fish. The government guaranteed him a sale for his farm products.

Books from the public library were delivered to his door. He banked money which a government agency insured.

He signed a petition seeking federal assistance in developing an industrial project to help the economy of his area. He was a leader in obtaining the new federal building, and went to Washington with a group to ask Congress to build a great dam costing millions so that the area could get cheap electricity.

Then, one day, he wrote his congressman a letter of protest: "I wish to protest excessive government spending and high taxes. I believe in rugged individualism. I think people should stand on their own two feet without expecting handouts. I am opposed to all socialistic trends."

The Real Danger—Within

After nearly 200 years, we still enjoy the blessings of living in a nation and land that was established on respect for the Christian principles that made it. Are we preserving these same great principles for future generations?

We abound with conveniences and the material wealth of our capitalistic society. Can we continue on the road of material growth as we now travel, leaving the values of moral and spiritual growth lagging behind?

We talk more about security than faith. We speak more of luck than God's blessings. We, like larger cities, slip more and more into a complacency and indifference at the moral crumbling about us. So much more concerned are we about last year's bills and next year's taxes than this year's new Christians and next year's opportunity for service.

In the small towns like ours lies the hope of preserving the very existence of a democratic way of life. Yet, this way of life was not begun or nurtured on ease, indifference, or complacency as we often see. What would forefathers like Patrick Henry think of us if they could see us struggling against some social ill but too afraid of criticism to express concern?

We work that our children might have much of the material things of life. In the end, though, what good are these alone? Is not a great reward of living the satisfaction of having attained the material needs of life through one's OWN efforts?

The greatest danger at the roots of democracy is not communism. It is the pre-occupied, social-centered, broad-minded citizen of towns like ours who is so busy with his or her many duties that there is no time for prayer, for instilling Christian faith, for teaching kindness, for Bible study, for upholding high moral standards of practice, and for worshipping God with the children of tomorrow.

Communism has little need to worry that she can over rule our nation, when its foundations crumble away like grains of shifting sand. Do we fight harder at getting water in than keeping liquor out, work longer at money-making than helping others, and spend more time at so-called "recreations" than glorifying God and freedom?

Rule, Texas

To the Editor:
At the beginning of the Miller Creek Dam project talk, literature was sent out over our town on two or three separate occasions, almost every house in town received copies advocating the building of this dam, telling all of the advantages and none of the disadvantages. They certainly thought it would be a fine thing for the towns included in the district. Then the other side of the picture was brought to our town in circular form. These circulars were left with some children to distribute. Only two or three copies were seen, because a very prominent man bought these circulars and destroyed them, he said. I ask you, was this fair? Our people were misled and kept in the dark.

Rule lost the election by one vote. This was the last one held on the Miller Creek Dam project. A Seymour lawyer, who said he was hired by the Portwood's on whose land this lake was to be built, corresponded with us after we had lost the election by one vote. He was checking to see if there were any ineligible voters. There was an Ernest Williams, colored, listed as having voted. None of the white people who were contacted knew of such a person, nor any of the colored population. This lawyer suddenly dropped the case. He said his clients asked him to do it. We were not notified he was no longer the lawyer in the case, until the time had expired on contesting this last election.

There are men in our town who have their businesses in town, but reside in the country. They pay city and school tax, are assessed a water tax, but have no voice in voting on the water issue. I ask, does this not remind you of a famous saying, that "Taxation Without Representation" is unjust? As you remember our people, who had taken oaths and were under the government of England, rebelled and had a big "Tea Party."

As to being an "againer," I'm against things which I think are unjust, a tax being placed on little towns such as ours, which has many widows, people whose earning days are over, social security people, old age pensioners, who can't possibly pay any more taxes than they pay. I'm against unfairness, which I think has been shown already in this matter.

Speaking for our town, a well north of town is furnishing Aspermont water and has been for several years. I'm told that Freese and Nichols told the peoples' representatives of Aspermont that if they would put down a well north of Rule, that they could assure them a supply of water for 40 years. Then they tell us we are cut of water and need this Miller Creek dam lake. Rule has shipped water to Hamlin over the years. Aspermont and Sagerton have got water from Rule. A year or more ago an oil well was being drilled south of town. As readers of this paper know, a good bit of water is used in the process. A farmer, who had an irrigation well near the drilling, wanted to furnish the water, but the city of Rule

Area Farmers Complete Terraces Delayed by Continued Rains

Despite a late season for constructing terraces, Soil Conservation District Cooperators are completing terrace systems which were planned to be built months ago. With continued rains during the past several weeks, tillage operations to prepare these new terraces for field cultivation and crop planting has been better than expected, according to Harry G. Koehler, Conservation Aid, Haskell, Texas.

Recent terrace systems completed with ACP assistance are: Lee Erown of Haskell in the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District who completed 8 miles of level, ridge-type, closed end terraces. Brown's old terrace system was completely inadequate due to lines not being level in the old system. Bernhard Letz of Old Glory, who recently signed up as a new cooperater with the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District, built a level ridge-type terrace to improve manure and erosion control. Other Wichita-Brazos Cooperators who are planning to build or enlarge terrace systems are: C. G. Burson Jr., of Haskell, Vern Derr of Weinert and C. W. Atchison of Mattson.

J. M. New of Sagerton, Cooperator with the California Creek Soil Conservation District, has just completed building terraces on his farm. Other California Creek Cooperators planning to terrace their cropland are C. A. Thomas Jr. and G. R. Roberts of Haskell, and Jack Chapman of Mattson.

At the present a number of grassed waterways are under construction or in the process of planning to be constructed. A great need still exists for grassed waterways to serve as collective outlets for terrace systems needing provisions for emergency spillways or to divert excess water from entering a terrace system, carrying this outside or excess water to a place of safe disposal. G. R. Roberts of Haskell, Cooperator with the California Creek Soil Conservation District, has completed shaping a waterway on his farm and will seed it to native grass. Jack Chapman of Mattson and Earl W. Atchison of Irby plan to shape and seed waterways in the near future.

New Cooperators with the Soil Conservation District Program are as follows: California Creek Soil Conservation District: Joe W. Cloud, Joe B. Cloud and W. A. Gann, all of Rule, Texas; Jack Chapman of Mattson, Tom Hill of Aspermont, and Clyde Bland, Clay Hattox, Cecil Corley and C. A. Thomas Jr., all of Haskell.

Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District: Joe B. Cloud and J. D. Wilcox of Rule, J. W. Robertson of Kilgore, and R. C. Liles of Weinert.

PAINT CREEK... COMMUNITY NEWS

BY MRS. GENE OVERTON

The wheat has headed out real fine, and although farmers felt it would be better if it had had some rain between the booting and heading, it seems to be doing all right without it. All the community wheat looks as if it will make a fair yield, and most people are guessing that we will be into the wheat harvest by this time next month.

These past two weeks Paint Creekers have been planting maize and sorghum alone. Several have planted small patches of corn for roasting ears, and gardens and black-eyed peas are started. Most cotton land is ready to be planted, and the weather has been good for farm work except for this little drought we are having. If we can manage to have fairly cool weather the wheat shouldn't burn badly even if we don't have any more rain. And we can surely do without wind storms and hail.

Members of the troop committee of Scout Troop 48 are planning a domino tournament to raise some money for the troop on next Tuesday night, May 2nd. It will be held in the luncheon room and the cost will be $1 per player. I didn't hear what time it will start but I imagine it will begin about dark thirty and I believe someone said the scouts would serve coffee.

The troop tents were bought in 1944 with money raised by selling scrap iron. They have been patched until the summer of 1961 I patched the patches and so Gene decided to rent tents for summer camps. Now we are having some new tents made and this money will help pay for them.

Mr. Dan McRae of Highland underwent emergency surgery in the Stamford Sanitarium on Sunday afternoon. He is doing fine, and can have visitors. Mr. McRae was superintendent of our school several years ago.

Mike Overton won in the preliminaries of the Regional Poetry Reading contest at Lubbock Saturday and won fourth in the finals. He competed with some real good speakers, and beat some real good speakers who had had extensive speech training, so we are quite proud of him and his coach, Mrs. Manley Sikes.

The scouts of Troop 48 won a blue ribbon at the Scout Exposition in Stamford Saturday. They demonstrated some of the requirements of the Pioneering merit badge. They made rope, built a model look-out tower and two different model bridges by lashing and demonstrated how to tie the different knots. The scoutmasters Gene Overton and Roy Wiseman and assistant Allen Isbell were quite proud of the boys and the way they worked together. Riley Couch served as Senior Patrol Leader in the absence of Mike Overton, and Walter Felker, Danny Isbell and Randy Wiseman were Patrol Leaders. Each patrol took turns demonstrating and all did a fine job.

The Baptist Revival closed Sunday night and they had three additions to their church by baptism. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and daughter, Gayle, who live on the Sammy Griffith place were all converted. The revival was led by our Bro. Moore's brother, Rev. P. T. (Jack) Moore. They had a large choir of young people every night and a fellowship after church.

Monday night the Knox Haskell County Baptist Association met at the Paint Creek Baptist Church. At five the W.M.U. had their meeting with the Associational G.A.'s putting on the program. Then the women of the church served supper and then members of the Association had their meeting. Everyone reported a good meeting.

Gene Overton, director of the California Creek Soil Conservation District, attended the breakfast for the ministers of this District Monday morning. The ministers were then taken on a tour of soil conservation projects so they can better prepare their Stewardship of the Soil sermons. This is an annual affair, and one place visited this year was Vernon Lovvorn's place in our community.

After lunch the soil judging contest was held with boys from the different Future Farmer Clubs competing. The team from Rule won first and the team from Hawley won second.

Rev. and Mrs. V. P. Morrison of Graham spent Tuesday visiting their sons and families. Mr. and Mrs. Pat Morrison and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Van Morrison and children.

Danny Isbell was surprised on his 13th birthday Thursday, April 20, with a party at his home. Members of the 6th, 7th and 8th grades were guests. Mrs. Bill Tate assisted Mrs. Isbell in serving hamburgers, hot dogs, potato chips, pickles, coles and birthday cake to Sherryl Moore, Bob Earles, Joy Bergstrom, Sandra Tate, Larry Walton, Danny Ivy, Allen Schmidt, Janay Morrison, Nancy Jones, Ronnie Medford,

Milla Perry, Dodie Earles, Nedda Morrison, Curtis Bittner, Jerry Scheets, Daria Schmidt, Pat Tate, Evelyn Pustejovsky, Frances Jones, Phil Coleman, Bob Tate, Ricky Perry, the honoree and his sisters, Jeanine and Janice Isbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overton, Riley Couch and Walter Felker attended the open house honoring Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sellers at Camp Tonkawa, near Buffalo Gap, Sunday afternoon. Ben is retiring as Camp Ranger at Camp Tonkawa and has moved to Abilene. The Chisholm Trail Council gave them a monetary gift and scouters and parents from all over the council paid tribute to this wonderful couple.

The F.H.A. girls entertained the P.F.A. boys Monday evening with a hay ride and Weiner roast at the lake. Sponsors were Miss Billie Boshier and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fischer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Overton visited in Quanah last Tuesday where Mr. Overton attended a meeting of the District A.S.C. committee and they visited her brother-in-law, S. Q. Bailey. Thursday, Mrs. Overton went with her son, Coach Ray Overton to Petersburg to see her sister, Mrs. Catherine Terry. Coach Overton went on to Lubbock where Johnny Kimbrough entered the Regional track meet, representing Haskell High in the discus contest.

The 7th and 8th grade had a picnic at Rice Springs park at Haskell Monday evening and then went to Knox City for a skating party. Adults were Mr. and Mrs. Willie Medford and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tate. Mr. and Mrs. Pat Morrison and Mrs. Ray Perry.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Isbell and baby daughter of Graham, spent Sunday with his father, Willie Isbell.

Cadets Dub Sims, Dan Riley Griffith and Jimmy Griffith of Texas A&M spent the weekend at home with their parents.

Gene Overton, Mike Overton and Johnny Watson attended the A&M Muster meeting and supper at the Roundup Hall in Haskell last Friday evening. Johnny plans to attend A&M next fall.

A physician, Dr. A. Q. Shirley, who has practiced medicine in San Angelo, Texas, for 40 years, has been charged with income tax evasion. Internal Revenue Service filed a complaint with the United States Commissioner R. C. Van Orden on March 23, 1961.

Dr. Shirley was charged with attempting to evade and defeat a large part of the income tax due and owing by him and his wife for the year 1954 by filing a false and fraudulent income tax return with the District Director of Internal Revenue, Dallas, Texas. Internal Revenue charged that he reported an adjusted gross income of $2,736.13 and an income tax of $13.00 when in fact he and his wife had a gross income of $22,689.62 and income tax due of $4,761.72.

Dr. Shirley is 72 years old, married, and has two dependent children. He also owns a motel and other rental property in San Angelo.

Feed Grain Program Is Explained
One of the major objectives of the 1961 feed grain bill is to cut down on the cost of storing the huge surplus of corn and grain sorghums.

F. W. Martin, County Agent, says that the program could save taxpayers as much as $500 million in storage costs.

This savings would be made possible by the program's plan to use surplus corn and other feed grains now in government storage to help farmers cut 1961 production to an amount more in line with needs.

Cooperating farmers will divert 20 to 40 percent of their 1959-60 acreage of corn and grain sorghum to soil conserving uses.

They will be paid for this cut in certificates for surplus grain, which the Government will sell for them if they like.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, who said that the feed grain program will:

1. Help increase farm income.
2. Help assure the consumer a continuation of fair and stable prices for meat, poultry and dairy products.

3. Reduce ultimate costs to taxpayers by about $500 million.
4. Prevent further buildup of the feed grain surplus and possibly reduce it.

Secretary Freeman said recently: "Every livestock, dairy and poultry producer has a direct stake in this program.

They cannot ignore the chaotic effects that continued and prolonged excess feed grain output would have on their production and their prices. Both producers and consumers have an interest in supply and price stability."

We would like to express our thanks and gratitude for the lasting patience and kindness shown us during Beverly's long illness. People of Haskell and this area have been most wonderful to our family these long months of heartache. We have been given much strength through all their kindness, the many prayers said for us, and for all of the delicious food that has been brought to our home. We would like to thank Bro. Rexrode for his ever presence and prayers while he stood by us and Beverly, also all the other Pastors who visited and prayed for us. There are not enough kind words we could say to thank the Doctors, Nurses, and the ladies who went all out to please Beverly in preparing the food of her wishes and the kindness showed us. We love them very much. God bless you. Mr. and Mrs. Mansel Robertson. 17p

To Improve Taste of Water

Boil any doubtful water. To overcome the flat taste that boiling leaves, pour the water back and forth several times from one container to another. This restores the air which is responsible for the taste in water.
