Tentative ok

AUSTIN (AP) — Although some lawmakers had questions about its cost, the state House gave preliminary approval to a bill to expand the University of Texas of the Permian Basin to a four-year school.

"It's good for higher education in the state of Texas," said Rep. Gary Watkins, D-Odessa, bill sponsor.

The university, which is in Odessa, may now teach only junior, senior and graduate level courses. The bill would allow University of Texas regents to make it a four-year undergraduate school.

Belinda J. Connors, 34, of Gainesville, Texas, fell during a performance Monday night and suffered internal injuries, circus employee Mike McMullin said Tuesday. She died early Tuesday at Marquette General Hospital.

Trustees okay district plan, resignations, hire principal

Snyder public schools board of trustees named a new junior high principal, rejected a recommendation to drop ceramics classes at the high school, approved a district improvement plan and principal's evaluation methods, and accepted two resignations and hired one instructor during its April meeting Tuesday evening.

The board unanimously approved a recommendation to hire Alfred Wendell Sollis as the new junior high principal. Sollis, who is currently principal for grades

4-6 at Denver City, was hired under a two-year contract with a salary of $45,000. He will replace Gary Patterson as junior high principal effective July 29. Patterson was reassigned as high school principal, effective July 1, following the resignation of Rueben Gillespie in February.

Another recommendation made by the superintendent was voted down by a 4-3 count. Supt. Dalton Moseley noted that the current ceramics teacher will be moving into a vacancy in industrial arts next year, and recommended that ceramics be dropped from the curriculum.

"I think it will be a place where we can cut a course and still serve students through other areas. It is a small amount," said Moseley, referring to the cost saved by deleting the program, "but this is a place where we can save a little and still meet the (see TRUSTEES, page 8)

Sollis new principal at Snyder Junior High

Denver City principal for grades 4-6, Alfred Wendell Sollis, was named the new principal at Snyder Junior High in a unanimous vote by Snyder public schools trustees Tuesday evening.

Superintendent Dalton Moseley said that there were 82 applicants for the position and 12 had been interviewed.

"I feel like we have an outstanding man in Alfred Sollis," Moseley said in making the recommendation.

Sollis will begin his duties effective July 29.

Sollis received his bachelor's degree in 1977 and his masters degree in 1981 from West Texas State University. He received his mid-management certificate in 1982.

Breakfast slated at college farm

The Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District will have another Scurry County Ranch Breakfast at 7 a.m. Wednesday, April 24, at the Western Texas College Farm.

The farm is located south of Snyder on "Block Line Road" (County Rd. 333).

Ezell-Key Grain Co. of Snyder will be providing the breakfast.

Speakers will give talks on wheat variety test results, weed control in summer pastures and a new type of livestock restraint and branding equipment.

Anyone interested is invited to attend and enjoy the cooking talents of the Ranch Breakfast crew. Activities should be over by 9:30 a.m. to let everyone continue with their workday.

"The Ranch Breakfast will be a chance to have a hearty outdoor breakfast, visit with your neighbors and get some useful information all in one place," said Kent Mills of Ezell-Key Grain Co.

Beginning the program will be Dr. David Kattes, assistant professor of agriculture at Western Texas College, who will give results of a wheat variety test he has been conducting at the WTC Farm. Following Dr. Kattes will be Larry Mauldin, representative of Sandoz Corporation, who will speak on controlling unwanted weeds in summer pastures to get more forage and livestock production.

Also on the program will be Brent Graves of Diamond G. Agri-Sales in Chillicothe, who will give a demonstration of a new type of branding procedure and the "Immobilizer," a new concept in restraining livestock.

The cooking crew for the breakfast will be headed up by Jerry Baird. The menu will include sausage, bacon, eggs, gravy, hash browns, cowboy coffee and juice.

Signs will be posted to help those attending find their way. One simple way to the farm from Snyder is to go west on 37th St. past Winston Field to the four-way stop sign and turn left. The farm is a few miles south.

Area employees honor rail strike

From local, wire reports
Unions struck major freight carriers today in the first nationwide rail strike in nearly a decade, shutting down cargo traffic and upsetting passenger travel around the country.

Congress and the Bush administration immediately moved toward enacting a 100-day "cooling off" period to end the strike by this weekend and appoint a new emergency board to propose recommendations for a settlement.

Freight carriers and unions scheduled no new talks after last-ditch bargaining talks failed to produce a settlement before the midnight Tuesday expiration of an initial cooling-off period. The strike began at 7 a.m.

At the local Santa Fe depot, workers were honoring the strike. Spokesmen said those involved included eight Brotherhood of Maintenance of Ways Employees (BMWE) and two others from the Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen Employees. The Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen have a tentative agreement but is honoring the picket line.

"This is the fourth strike in the 15 years I have been with the railroad," said Jimmy Barnes of Hermleigh, who said the obvious negative aspect of the strike means, "No work, no pay."

Barnes noted they had received no pay raise in the past five years.

"It hurts when you are not working," said Ed Ellis of Lubbock. "It looks like Congress is going to do something. Maybe we'll get this resolved and get back to work. That's all we want to do is get back to work."

The employees will receive $31 a day from their union, which is approximately $100 a day less than they would receive if they were working.

"Thirty-one dollars a day doesn't take care of the bills," said Ellis.

"The biggest part of the people don't want to strike but we are being forced into it," said a spokesman from the area strike headquarters in Lubbock. He said BMWE employees from Lodge 2412 which includes Lubbock and the Snyder area, has over 300 members.

The 3-year-old dispute over wages, work rules and health care costs was expected to send 235,000 workers out on strike nationwide, potentially stranding thousands of passengers, stopping the flow of one-third of U.S. goods and idling as many as a half-million non-railroad workers.

Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner told a House subcommittee this morning there was "a sense of urgency" to end the strike quickly — hopefully "before tomorrow's rush hour."

The strike forced freight carriers to shut down operations throughout the country this morning.

2nd guardsman found guilty

FORT POLK, La. (AP) — A second Louisiana national guardsman was convicted by a military court Tuesday of plotting an unsuccessful mass desertion from a Texas Army base where his unit was training for the Persian Gulf War.

Spc. Dwayne Brown, 19, of Lake Charles, was sentenced to one year in federal prison, demoted to private, and ordered dishonorably discharged with the loss of pay and benefits.

Brown was the second member of the Lake Charles-based Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 3rd Battalion, 156th Infantry, to receive a prison term for the failed Feb. 7 plot.

Last week, another military jury sentenced Sgt. Robert Pete to six years in prison, a dishonorable discharge, reduction in rank to private and forfeiture of pay and benefits.

Pete, a 24-year-old medic and McNeese State University senior, was convicted on the same charges as Brown. A third Lake Charles guardsman, Spc. Derrick Guidry, 24, also is charged with the same crimes.

Guidry's trial is set for April 24 at Fort Polk.

Army officials said Brown and Pete will immediately begin serving their prison terms in the Vernon Parish Jail in nearby Leesville while awaiting a review of their cases by Fort Polk's commanding general.

Nutrition 231, nutrition and diet therapy, will meet from 6-10 p.m. on Thursday.

Registration for summer classes at WTC will be held on June 3 and classes will also begin on that day. Call 573-8511 for more information.

their convictions through two military courts and eventually to the U.S. Supreme Court.

If the verdicts are upheld, Brown and Pete will be moved to a military prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

The unit to which the three are attached was activated in late November for Operation Desert Shield, then trained at Fort Polk and Fort Hood, Texas, for eventual deployment to the Middle East.

Prosecutors said Pete, Guidry and Brown were ringleaders of a plot to desert Fort Hood to protest training and other conditions at the Texas base.

Angry Man Wants Ex-Wife's Lovers to Know Family's Pain

By Abigail Van Buren

©1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: After 20 years of what started out as a perfect marriage, my wife and I were divorced several years ago. The reason: My wife's rather open adulterous relationships — there were five of them that I know about. The final blow was our teen-age daughter walking in on her mother and lover in our bed.

My ex has remarried and lives a thousand miles away. While the divorce was painful for me, fortunately my own life is about back to normal. However, the men involved are walking around unbruised from their part in the destruction of our marriage.

Although my religion teaches to forgive trespasses against us, I'm still torn up over it all and feel that in order to achieve complete recovery, I should write all five men a letter (signed, of course) and let them know what their part in the affairs did to me and my children. What do you think, Abby? Sign me ... SEETHING

DEAR SEETHING: I wholeheartedly agree that expressing your feelings of anger and hostility is necessary to achieve complete recovery. And while you're in a letter-writing mood, it wouldn't hurt to write a similar letter to your ex-wife.

But now that your life is "about back to normal," the wisest way to achieve complete recovery might be to destroy the letters — unless you can also say "I forgive you," in which case you may qualify for sainthood.

DEAR ABBY: I retired at the age of 62, and at that time, I budgeted my pensions and Social Security. After taking a little out for miscellaneous expenses, I divided what was left between me and my wife right down the middle.

Five years later, when my wife of 55 years applied for her Social Security, she decided that it was all "hers." I don't want to go into details because it would make this letter too long, but to my way of thinking, my wife's Social Security should have been thrown into the common pot.

I think my wife is being selfish. What do you think? It will probably not make any difference to my wife if you agree with me, but I would like to know for my own satisfaction because I have always respected your advice.

BROWBEATEN IN POMPANO BEACH

DEAR BROWBEATEN: After 55 years of togetherness, I think you are being more than fair to your wife. And yes, I agree with you — your wife is selfish. (I hope this letter doesn't start World War III at your house.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO SALLY McC. IN DETROIT: The best advice I can give you is in my booklet titled "How to Have a Lovely Wedding":

"See your doctor (preferably a gynecologist) for a physical checkup and authoritative answers to all your questions before marriage.

"If birth control is desired, it should be planned before the wedding. This includes Catholic girls, too, as the rhythm method should be clearly understood to be successfully practiced. (Too many young wives, who had planned on working for a few years, discover to their horror that they got pregnant on their honeymoon.)

"Many couples experience shock and grief on learning that they are unable to consummate the marriage due to some slight physical abnormality that could have been easily corrected by minor surgery.

"Motherly advice from Aunt Liz or 'tips' from one of the girls is fine, but before a bride keeps her date with the preacher, she should keep one with her doctor."

Everything you'll need to know about planning a wedding can be found in Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. Peggy English...

Veteran high school teacher to retire after session ends

By Shirley A. Gorman
SDN News Editor

A first teaching assignment and a chance for a new life for herself and her children brought Peggy English to Snyder almost two decades ago. Since then she has taught a variety of high school history classes, but at the end of this school year, English will retire. But Snyder will still be "home."

Nineteen years ago, English taught her first students history and economics. Throughout the past years, her teaching load expanded to include world, American and honors history classes.

On the quarter system, she has also taught specialty history classes, usually about the presidents of the United States.

As a long-time Snyder teacher, English has formed close associations with some of her students which have continued past graduation.

Several years ago she started the tradition of making a garter for some former students when they got married.

As a teacher, English tried to be a combination leader/buddy who sought students' confidence by not "imposing her personal beliefs."

Regardless of how she personally felt about an issue, during class discussions she always took the opposite stand of her students because she wanted them to "make up their own minds."

Field trips to the courthouse to sit in on trials and other court proceedings were also enjoyable learning experiences for her and her students, she said.

English chose to become a teacher because she had school-age children and she always liked "being around children." Since English was in her 30s before she got her teaching degree, she never had to face the problem of some first time teachers have with getting students to accept them as the teacher.

She said she has been fortunate to be in Snyder because the high school faculty has always been "cordial, friendly, supportive and easy to get along with."

Oddly enough, history was not English's first choice. In fact, she really hadn't considered a teaching career. She married after high school graduation, but enrolled in college once she realized her marriage would break up. So in 1966, with her youngest son in the first grade, English enrolled in college. She attended both Odessa College and Sul Ross University, graduating from Sul Ross in 1971.

During the financial hard times which followed, English and her children often studied together, using the time as a form of family recreation. All family activities were coordinated around school activities.

In addition, she also worked while maintaining a ranking in the top 10 percent at both Odessa College and Sul Ross. She was a member of Phi Theta Kappa, a honor fraternity for junior and community colleges.

English and her children lived on campus while she studied at Sul Ross. During those years, she held a variety of jobs including being a cashier when they lived in Odessa. When they lived in Alpine she drove to the Sears in Odessa to work while her children stayed with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Wilson.

Since English had always excelled in math while a student she wanted to study math but a run in with "an arrogant teaching assistant" eventually led to her changing her emphasis to history. She has never been disappointed and feels "she would have missed out on a lot" during the last two years if she had not chosen to major in history instead. English was born and reared in White Oak, moved to Odessa in 1949 and graduated from Permian Basin in 1952.

She also did her student teaching at Permian High. Had she wanted to, English could have taken a teaching position there. Instead, she chose "begin to cut the apron strings" to her children and to her own parents. She chose Snyder because "I felt I would be really needed here," she said.

Once she retires, she plans to devote her free time to travel and other creative pursuits.

She intends to stay active in Unique Bazaar which she formed about four years ago as a creative outlook for teachers who make handcrafts and sell them. She enjoys sewing and other arts and crafts.

Currently, English takes aerobic walking classes three times a week and clogging two times a week.

English's family consists of David and Ginger (Guynes) English and Leslie, 8, and Brad, 5, who live in Snyder; Bonnie and Vic Dodson and Kyle, 16, Lee, 11, and Kasey, 7; Willie and Karen (Martin) English and Lindsey, 15, and Alison, 8, who live in Odessa; and Joe English who has just started working toward a masters degree in business.

Floating casinos may be sunk

HOUSTON (AP) — Federal attorneys want to sink a string of ships designed to provide Texans with offshore gambling and entertainment.

U.S. Attorneys Ron Woods of Texas' Southern District and Bob Wortham of the Eastern District on Tuesday gave cruise ship operators three months to comply with a 1947 federal law governing gambling. After that, officials said offenders could face stiff fines, jail terms or the loss of their vessels.

"We're giving them a reasonable time ... to look at their operations and bring their operations into compliance," Woods said.

The law, as recently interpreted by Attorney General Dick Thornburgh, requires a ship with a gaming establishment to remain at sea for at least 24 hours or dock at a foreign port on every trip.

Kennedy movie filming begins

DALLAS (AP) — The assassination of President John F. Kennedy has haunted Dallas for almost 30 years, and with a movie crew recreating those unforgettable slow-motion images, the incident is as vivid today as it was then.

Again this week, the doomed motorcade snaked around the corner in front of The Texas School Book Depository before speeding off to take the dying president to the hospital.

Over and over, the cars passed in front of the sniper's perch six stories up.

The images Dallas wants to forget won't go away.

Filming of "JFK," director Oliver Stone's $35 million portrayal of the assassination and the subsequent investigations, began this week with the re-enactment of the presidential motorcade. Various scenes will be shot repeatedly during filming to achieve different camera angles.

The surreal re-creation has drawn hundreds to Dealey Plaza downtown as the movie crew scurries to prepare for the day's shoot.

It was an opportunity that assassination-buff Peggy Higgins couldn't let get away.

"Nope, I flew in from Maryland to see this because when is it ever going to look like this again?" she said Tuesday, motioning toward the old book depository, redressed to look exactly the way it did Nov. 22, 1963.

"I was here yesterday and I have to fly back tomorrow, but my brother and a friend came down with me and we spent most of the day trying to get closer and closer. The amazing thing is that in the 25 or so years since the assassination, the controversy has never gone away."

Other Dallas residents, however, seem more excited at the prospects of getting a glimpse of Kevin Costner, Hollywood's hottest property after his Academy Awards for "Dances With Wolves." Costner will star as New Orleans prosecutor Jim Garrison, who maintained Kennedy was a victim of a CIA and FBI conspiracy and set up accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald as the fall guy.

With Academy Award-winning director Stone calling the shots, the production crew is forced to pay particular attention to detail, crew members said Tuesday.

"We're going to be shooting every angle at the same time, which means there's very little space for viewing," Stone said recently. "Everybody's got to be in period clothes. Every car has to be period."

Trees have been pruned, signs have been erected and vintage automobiles, including a turquoise Pontiac four-door with tail fins, and police motorcycles are parked behind barricades on some of the streets around the building.

The crew consults black-and-white and color photographs that include scenes from the motorcade, the assassination and gruesome autopsy prints.

Joint committee sessions focuses on parole system

AUSTIN (AP) — Two people seeking confirmation as members of the state Board of Pardons and Paroles were questioned — and warned — about paroling prison inmates serving time for murder.

Peggy McAdams and Kenneth Coleman, both reappointments from Huntsville, appeared Tuesday for the second time before the Senate Nominations Committee, which makes recommendations to the Senate on nominees by the governor.

The panel, meeting with the Criminal Justice Committee, recessed without taking a vote. Chairman Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, said the seven-member committee would vote next week.

Sen. Rodney Ellis, D-Houston, warned the nominees that although he could not prohibit them from paroling someone convicted of murder, he opposed such action.

"I'm not saying you can't do it, I'm saying I am pressuring you not to do that," Ellis said. "And if I vote for you, it'll be because I think you felt that pressure. And if I think you didn't feel it — that's just one vote — but you won't get this one."

Ms. McAdams testified that she had voted to parole James C. Cross Jr., who was convicted in the 1965 slaying of a University of Texas coed and felt "comfortable" with her decision. She noted, however, that the board refused to parole Cross on a 15-2 vote.

After Cross' first conviction and life sentence were overturned, he was convicted in 1987 and assessed 80 years in prison in the death of Susan Riggsby of Dallas.

Ms. McAdams said Cross has built up so much "good time" that he has a mandatory discharge date of September 1992. Her vote was to parole him this September. Cross has been denied parole more than 16 times.

Ms. McAdams said Cross had received an undergraduate degree in psychology and three master's degrees while in prison.

"I felt very comfortable with my decision (to release him), and I still do today," she said.

Sen. Ted Lyon asked her if paroling Cross was in the best interest of society.

"I felt like that he would not be a threat to society," Ms. McAdams said.

Coleman said he had voted to release a man convicted of the murder of a woman. The man, who was paroled, later committed suicide while he was under investigation for the murder of another woman, Coleman said.

Lyon, D-Rockwall, released statistics showing that since 1971, 127 death row inmates have had their sentences commuted to life and 68 of those 127 have been released on parole.

Of those 68, Lyon said, 18 subsequently had their parole revoked — one for murder.

"You understand that you are part of the whole system, OK. You're not just there to help the inmate," Lyon told Ms.

McAdams. "Oh absolutely," she responded. "I too live in this state, and I too am very concerned about crime. ... My life has been threatened since I've been on this board. I take it very seriously."

She said her life was threatened after she had voted against parole for a man in prison for sexual assault of a child.

The threat came from a member of the convict's family, she said, and she took it seriously enough, "to have the police department patrol my neighborhood and for me to leave for the duration of the weekend until I felt things had calmed down."

5-3. Otherwise East would have led his last diamond and the defenders would have taken their five tricks — two diamonds and one from each of the other three suits.

Since you know that West is holding two diamond winners, you must put up your king of spades. If West has the ace, you are down for sure. You must make the play that maximizes your chance of keeping West off the lead.

When your king of spades wins the trick, you cash your club and heart winners, ending with an overtrick.

True, if West has the ace of spades and East the queen, going up with the spade king instead of finessing the jack results in three down instead of two down. But that extra 50 points is nothing when compared with the lost game bonus if East holds the spade ace.

Schwarzkopf interested in A&M, regent says

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf is interested in becoming chancellor at Texas A&M University, but he wants to write a book first, a school regent says.

Bill Clayton, regent and vice chairman of the regents' chancellor search committee, told the Bryan-College Station Eagle Tuesday that the university has offered the job to the retiring general, who headed the multinational force that won the Persian Gulf War with Iraq earlier this year.

Schwarzkopf is expected to return from Saudi Arabia later this month.

The general has reportedly received lucrative offers to write books and go on the lecture circuit, where he could command up to $50,000 per speech.

Watch your target

By Phillip Alder

During the card play, both sides should keep their eyes firmly on the number of tricks needed for success. When the contract is three no-trump, the declarer should be counting to nine, whereas the defenders should be targeting five tricks.

The auction was straightforward, and West had an automatic diamond lead. Declarer correctly ducked East's king at trick one and won the second diamond trick with the ace. He ran the queen of hearts; East grabbed the trick with the king and returned his last diamond. South won with the queen and turned his attention to the clubs. He cashed the ace and finessed dummy's jack, losing to East's queen. Back came the nine of spades.

Is it correct to play the king or the jack?

Tigers upset No. 6 Frenship

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Just when it seemed like the District 2-4A baseball race was turning into a one-team affair, and just when it seemed like no one in the loop would threaten No. 6 ranked Frenship, along came Daniel Espinosa and the Snyder Tigers.

Espinosa, a surprise starter against FHS Tuesday, fanned 11 of the loop's top hitters and went the distance as Snyder upset Frenship, 8-7.

"Daniel had a great game," said Tiger coach Albert Lewis.

"He seemed to get stronger as the game went on.

"Espinosa struck out their toughest hitter, Brad Douglas, three times."

The Tigers from Snyder fell in a 7-2 hole before they came alive for five runs in the last of the fourth inning to knot the score at 7-all.

The key hit in the rally was a pinch-hit 2-RBI double with two outs by Ronnie Pruitt.

Pruitt drove in designated hitter Chad Fox, who reached on a fielder's choice, and left fielder Bobby Clinkinbeard, who was put on first base by an error.

The inning began with catcher Blair Williams drawing a walk from Frenship starter B.J. Krier, followed by free passes to Mark King and Richard Morris to load the bases.

John Wright grounded to second baseman Brad Cade but drove in Williams in the process.

Fox's fielder's choice pushed King over and Morris tagged home on the error that put Clinkinbeard aboard.

Clinkinbeard scored what turned out to be the winning run in the Snyder half of the sixth inning after getting aboard on a walk from reliever Cade and moving around on a single by third baseman Raymond House and a ground out to second from Pruitt.

Shelby Bufkin stepped in with two gone in the inning and rapped a grounder to Frenship second sacker Michael Denson who tossed to first on an apparently easy third out.

Brad Douglas, FHS first baseman, misjudged the throw and let the ball get by, allowing Clinkinbeard in from third with the go-ahead run.

The Frenship Tigers threatened to tie the score in the top of the seventh after Espinosa had struck out Jerry Don Evans and Storm Murray.

Lead-off hitter Chris Matthews tagged a single to right-center, stole second and moved to third on a throwing error by Williams.

Krier, who moved to center field after the Snyder fourth, walked and stole second bringing up Cade with two out and two runners in scoring position.

Cade took the count to 2-2 before lifting a high fly ball handled by Pruitt in foul territory to end the game.

The defensive play of the game for SHS was an unassisted double-play by Brian Crawford at second base in the second inning.

Crawford, cheating towards first on an expected bunt by Frenship's Evans, barehanded a soft looper, tagged Loren Hogue running past and took the ball to first for the put-out on Evans.

Snyder's top producers on offense Tuesday included Pruitt, Fox and Wright who each slapped a pair of hits for two runs batted in.

Espinosa's outing gives the Tigers three straight complete-game victories in district competition and four wins in their last five games.

The SHS hurler is now 2-4 on the season with 31 strikeouts in 27 innings.

Cade, now 7-1 for 1991, was saddled with the loss for Frenship.

The upset win by Snyder, coupled with Estacado's 6-4 come-from-behind victory over Dunbar Tuesday, puts Frenship and the Matadors atop the district standings with identical 5-1 records.

Snyder, now 8-14 overall and 4-2 in loop games, is in second place ahead of Lamesa, 3-3, Dunbar, 2-4, and winless Levelland.

In Tuesday's other league game, Levelland fell to Lamesa, 5-4.

Friday will bring the Levelland Lobos to Moffett Field for a 7 p.m. battle with the Tigers while Frenship squares off with Estacado in Wolfforth and Dunbar travels to Lamesa.

NBA roundup...

Trail Blazers winning streak continues

by The Associated Press

Everything's falling into place for the Portland Trail Blazers.

They've already clinched the best record in the NBA and they are the hottest team in the league with a 15-game winning streak.

Now, the schedule is working in their favor.

The Blazers caught streaking Houston on the second of consecutive games on the road and took advantage of the Rockets' lackluster play to beat them 115-96 Tuesday night.

"They played a lot harder than that down in Houston, and I've seen some games on television on the road where they've played a lot harder," the Blazers' Jerome Kersey said. "I think they might be falling out a little bit of their flow."

"We were very sluggish physically and mentally," Rockets coach Don Chaney said.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Charlotte 92, Miami 87; Detroit 118, Boston 90; Indiana 132, New Jersey 126; Orlando 113, Atlanta 106; Washington 112, Milwaukee 106 in overtime; New York 108, Philadelphia 99 in overtime; San Antonio 128, the Los Angeles Clippers 98; Phoenix 153, Denver 118; and Utah 111, Sacramento 101.

Cliff Robinson scored 12 of his 14 points while Portland outscored Houston 38-22 in the third quarter, giving the Blazers an 88-61 lead.

Clyde Drexler and Walter Davis scored 16 points apiece for the Blazers.

Kenny Smith led the Rockets with 13 points.

Spurs 128, Clippers 98

David Robinson had 24 points, 13 rebounds and seven blocked shots.

Robinson had 13 points in the game's first 10 minutes — matching the Clippers' team total to that point.

Loy Vaught paced Los Angeles with 17 points, 15 in the final quarter.

Jazz 111, Kings 101

Karl Malone scored 28 points and Jeff Malone 26.

John Stockton had 21 points and 16 assists and Thurl Bailey scored 18 points for the Jazz.

The Kings led 64-62 with 5:52 left in the third quarter, but Utah took the lead for good with a 21-10

Little Dribblers nab spot in nationals

Snyder's Junior Division Little Dribblers All-Stars finished second at the recent regional basketball tournament in Lamesa, earning a trip to the national tourney in Dalhart.

The 9-10 year-olds edged Levelland Red in their first game in Lamesa, 40-38 behind Sonny Cumbie's 14 points.

Cumbie led the team with 11 in the second game but eventual champion Berger slipped past Snyder, 30-28, setting up a rematch with Levelland.

Cory Mandrell poured in 11 points in the second Snyder-Levelland matchup to pace the hometowners to a 35-30 win.

Borger won the regional crown by defeating Snyder, 31-28, in the final, in spite of Sam Bedell's 10 points.

The Snyder Juniors are Cumbie, Aaron Stansell, Eric Gard, Jacob Smith, Mandrell, Josh Ward, Justin McNair, Bandy Rollins, Tyler Warren, Bedell, Clell Knight and Jacob Hodges.

Coaches are Evans Heaton, Leon Ward and Lee McNair.

While Saddam holds power...

Kurds in Turkey don't want to return to Iraq

By The Associated Press

Some Kurds in Turkey said today they would never return to Iraq while Saddam Hussein holds power, despite an allied promise to send thousands of troops to northern Iraq to set up secure refugee camps.

was no need for the United States, Britain and France to dispatch troops to guard refugees. A Kurdish rebel leader said that although he welcomed the allied plan, his people still face "genocide and annihilation."

Perez de Cuellar met in Paris today with President Francois Mitterrand of France. The U.N. chief said later he hopes "the Iraqis will understand that the objective is simply humanitarian."

refugee camps in northern Iraq. "We are studying the situation with much attention so the sovereignty of Iraq can be respected," Perez de Cuellar said.

About 2 million Kurds headed toward Turkey and Iran after a failed rebellion that followed Iraq's defeat in the Gulf War. Turkey says there now are 600,000 Kurds on its border, including 400,000 of them inside its territory. About 1 million are massed at the Iranian border.

Many of the refugees have died of exposure, disease and hunger. The allies had been criticized for not doing enough for the refugees beyond setting up ill-equipped camps and dropping supplies from the air.

Iraq's foreign minister, Ahmed Hussein Khudayer al-Sammarai, today denounced the allied plan in a report carried by the official Iraqi News Agency. He was quoted as saying stationing of foreign troops on Iraqi soil was an interference in Iraq's internal affairs.

He also was quoted as saying Baghdad had reached an agreement on Kurdish relief with Prince Sadruddine Aga Khan, a U.N. special envoy. INA gave no details on the reported agreement.

Despite the allied promises of security, some refugees in Turkey said they would not return to Iraq while Saddam remains in power.

"You cannot believe Saddam. If not now, after five years, 10 years, he will come back and ask us 'why did you do that (the Kurdish rebellion)?' " Salem Botani, 30, said in Isikveren, Turkey. "Bush cannot stay there one year, three years or five years."

"I won't go back," said Hajji Ali, 34, a refugee from Dohuk, Iraq. "We don't go back to this system while Saddam Hussein controls Iraq."

Other refugees expressed hope about Bush's plan, saying conditions in the mountainside camp were terrible.

"I am very happy to go to Iraq," said Yousif Hamid, 24.

Officials in Paris said the allied plan, to be coordinated by France, calls for up to six camps for 60,000 people each. Each settlement would have aid, civil security and military personnel, the officials said. The sites for the camps have yet to be chosen, and officials have not said how many soldiers would be deployed.

President Bush announced Tuesday that he was committing U.S. forces to the task. He had previously vowed not to risk involving American soldiers in a civil war "that has been going on for ages."

However, on Tuesday, Bush vowed: "These people will be protected. ... They're scared to death."

needs of the students. I recommend we not offer ceramics until financial times are better."

Moseley conceded that the course is popular and deleting it would create some scheduling problems but noted, "I think you have to face reality (of tightening the budget) sooner or later."

Trustee Mike Jordan voiced his agreement and made a motion to accept Moseley's recommendation, but Trustee Sam Robertson said he was concerned that a message would be sent out that when vacancies occurred positions might be left vacant. "I think there is a lot of stress involved with that... it can be very damaging," he said.

Robertson also noted that some 80 students are currently enrolled in ceramics. The discussion also brought out that Snyder High School has only a handful of elective-type courses which can be taken for one semester as opposed to an entire school year. Ceramics may be taken for one semester.

Ultimately, Moseley's recommendation was voted down, with Jordan, Terry Martin and Luann Burleson voting to drop ceramics and Robertson, Glen Clarady, Billy Bob McMullan and Ann Walton voting to keep it.

Trustees accepted the resignations of Janet Wesson, high school counselor, and Gerald M. Greene, high school social studies teacher and coach. They also approved a recommendation to hire Abilene Christian University graduate Tim Corfman as a ESL (English as a second language) instructor at the high school and junior high.

The board enthusiastically approved a proposal from West Texas State Bank to donate a scoreboard and two 25-second clocks for Tiger Stadium. In granting its approval, the board expressed appreciation to WTSB President Bill Parker and to Burleson, SISD board president, who helped coordinate the donation.

The board approved a district improvement plan and a method of principal evaluation but did not act on a 1991-92 school calendar. Moseley told the board that the new school finance bill passed by the state Legislature last Thursday calls for a change in school days from 175 to 180, and changes in teacher in-service. Thus, he noted, alterations will have to be made to the proposed SISD school calendar.

In other action, the board gave its approval to purchase a bell and clocks system for the high school and directed Maintenance Director Lawton Taylor to seek bids for a new boiler at Snyder Junior High. The board also approved adopting minimum wage for substitute secretaries and aides.

In other action, trustees approved a request for use of the high school practice gyms for summer basketball camps but did not act on a request by the Young American Bowling Alliance to use a bus for a trip to Fort Worth. The board determined that granting the latter request would violate district policy which states that trips by outside organizations must be within a radius of 115 miles of Snyder. By not acting, the board effectively denied the request.

Payment of bills and past minutes were also approved by the board.

All board members were present.

Texas, Oklahoma say...

New Mexico hoarding water

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is being asked to decide whether New Mexico is illegally confiscating water that attorneys for Texas and Oklahoma say is desperately needed by High Plains communities and farms.

But an attorney for New Mexico told the high court in oral arguments Tuesday that her state may need that water in the future and is entitled to hold on to it under an agreement with its neighbors to the east.

Texas and Oklahoma contend New Mexico is violating the terms of a 1952 compact involving the storage and use of waters from the Canadian River, which flows from northeastern New Mexico into Texas and Oklahoma.

At issue is whether New Mexico is allowed to store waters originating north of Conchas Dam in the Ute Reservoir near Tucumcari, N.M., in excess of 200,000 acre feet.

Texas and Oklahoma claim the 1952 agreement restricts storage in the Ute Reservoir to 200,000 acre feet. But New Mexico argues that it can exceed the limit if the waters originate north of the Conchas Dam, because the use of those waters is not restricted in the compact.

Strike honored locally know of," said George Whaley, a spokesman for the Association of American Railroads, which represents all the nation's major freight carriers.

"We've seen some pretty pictures" of picketing around the country, said Ed Wytkind, a spokesman for the Railway Labor Executives Association, an organization of railroad labor unions.

Though the striking unions work on freight lines, service on many Amtrak trains and some commuter lines such as those in Maryland and the San Francisco area was disrupted because the passenger trains share tracks with freight carriers.

Amtrak's busiest region, the Northeast corridor from Washington to Boston, was not affected because Amtrak owns that track. But passengers aboard Amtrak trains in other regions had their trips halted well short of their destinations.

"It's a bloody bummer," said Angus McGrudden, a tourist from England who was on a trip from the West Coast to St. Louis when his Amtrak train was halted in Kansas City.

Congress had been bracing for the shutdown, and legislators held both public and private meetings on the dispute this morning. Skinner told a House subcommittee he hoped lawmakers would have legislation to end the strike to Bush by tonight or before Thursday morning's rush hour.

"A national rail strike clearly impairs our national defense and has disastrous consequences for the economy," he told the transportation subcommittee of the House Energy and Commerce Committee.

Under a tentative plan congressional leaders and administration officials negotiated this morning, unions and freight carriers would have 10 days to raise disputed issues. The new board created by Congress would then have 40 days to consider and propose recommendations, according to a copy of the proposal obtained by The Associated Press.

That would be followed by another 10-day period for negotiations followed by 30 days to wrap up "loose ends" and submit remaining disagreements to binding arbitration.

House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., said a House vote on legislation to end the strike could come tonight or Thursday.

"A rail strike that took any period of time to resolve would be devastating" to the economy, he said.

Besides wages, key disputes involved work rules determining crew sizes and miles traveled in an eight-hour shift. The old contract expired in 1988.

"It doesn't matter how long it takes, I'll stay out here," said Dave Duval, a member of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees who picketed outside the Burlington Northern Office in Fargo, N.D.

"We do not apologize to anyone for what we have to do," Mac Fleming, president of the 55,000-member Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, said early today after the strike deadline passed.

"We have waited and we have waited a long time. And if anyone should give an apology, it should be" the railroads, Fleming said.

Talks broke off even before the federally imposed "cooling off" period expired at midnight Tuesday.

U.S. troops will help create refugee camps

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush's open-ended decision to use U.S. troops to help create refugee camps in northern Iraq will prolong the American involvement there, something Bush initially resisted strongly.

For weeks, the president vowed repeatedly he would not get involved in Iraq's internal strife. He said he was determined that Iraq not become "another Vietnam-style quagmire."

In the end, however, the pressure of world opinion, the daily reports of the desperate plight of the Kurdish refugees and the appeals for action from members of Congress gave Bush little choice but to act.

The decision to make a new commitment to U.S. forces in Iraq represents a 180-degree turn in U.S. policy.

It also will frustrate the president's goal of getting virtually all American forces home from the Persian Gulf region by the Fourth of July.

And while no one expects the new military commitment to evolve into a long-term war of attrition like Vietnam, the decision does tarnish the glory of the nation's dramatic victory in the six-week air and land war that drove Saddam's forces from Kuwait.

While Bush had six months to carefully plan for the war against Iraq, neither he nor his top strategists spent much time in preparing for the "peace" that followed.

Thus, U.S. policy at this point remains murky and ambiguous.

It was a frustrated Bush who went before a national television audience on Tuesday night and confessed to a whimsical wish that some "broker" would appear to barter a deal by which Saddam could be exiled to a third nation.

"The most important thing ...

is to get Saddam Hussein out of there," he said. "We want him out of there so badly."

Would he go along with former President Nixon's suggestion that the CIA arrange Saddam's assassination? That question caused Bush some pause. "I think that's unacceptable," the onetime CIA chief said finally.

Bush clearly had difficulty answering a question on whether his new decision to put U.S. troops back into Iraq might lead the nation into a long-term entanglement.

His fumbling answer: "Well,

I'm positive that in my own mind — put it this way. In my own mind, my judgment is — and I think it's the collective judgment of the people that figured the war out pretty well — is that he won't risk this. And Saddam Hussein is not going to want to re-engage in

Actor showered with support from his fans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Michael Landon used some of the thousands of letters from supporters to pick a doctor and a course of treatment for his inoperable cancer, his spokesman says.

Treatment for Landon's liver and pancreatic cancer will combine small doses of chemotherapy with a strict diet, said the spokesman, Harry Flynn.

His doctor will be announced later, Flynn said Tuesday.

Landon, 54, who starred in television's "Highway to Heaven," "Little House on the Prairie" and "Bonanza," returned to his Malibu home from New York after choosing a physician.

"As terrifying as it is, and there are a lot of odds against him, he's determined to beat it," Flynn said.

Landon learned he had cancer April 5. Fans responded with "an incredible outpouring of affection," Flynn said. "But more than that there have been people going to great lengths to send us success stories from all over the world, literally."

that nature. So, we'll have to see."

Bush was less than self-assured about the nature of the U.S. commitment.

At another point, he said: "I hope we're not talking about a long-term effort."

In other words: basically, no one knows how long or how many U.S. troops will have to remain in northern Iraq to protect Kurdish refugees.

"I think rather small numbers," Bush said.

White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater, pressed later about the U.S. commitment, first protested, "I don't know, I don't know." Finally, he suggested, "I would think it would take thousands of people."

DEAR DR. GOTT: What treatment is available for reactions from breast implants with silicone polymers? One year after surgery I developed swelling and pain in the knuckles of my fingers, leg bones and knee joints. I had the silicone implants removed immediately and replaced with saline filled implants. My condition has not changed, and my doctor is baffled.

DEAR READER: I'm baffled, too. The obvious answer to your predicament is: The silicone implants probably played no role whatsoever in your symptoms. Therefore, you should be examined by a specialist in internal medicine, who will obtain blood tests to determine the cause of your arthritis.

Although the silicone breast prostheses are an improbable cause of your painful joints, you can be tested to see if you are allergic to the polymer. However, your improvement after removal of the silicone suggests to me that an allergic reaction did not occur.

More likely, you developed an unrelated joint disease, such as rheumatoid arthritis, which should be diagnosed by blood tests and treated. The internist can advise you.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been experiencing a burning sensation at the base of my throat. Is this heartburn and if so, what can I do to relieve the symptom?

DEAR READER: A burning sensation at the base of the throat could, indeed, be heartburn — pain from the irritation caused by stomach acid. Heartburn can generally be relieved by drinking milk or antacid preparations, such as Riopan, Maalox, Gelusil and Mylanta.

Sometimes, angina (heart muscle cramps from poor cardiac circulation) can mimic heartburn. Therefore, the symptom should be brought to a doctor's attention. An upper GI series (X-rays of the upper gastrointestinal tract), endoscopy (during which a specialist examines the upper gastrointestinal tract with a fiberoptic instrument) and an EKG (heart wave test) will ordinarily differentiate between cardiac heartburn and peptic disease.

Occasional heartburn is common in most people who have over-indulged in rich food or drink. However, if the discomfort persists or frequently recurs, medical testing is indicated. Because hiatal hernia, a weakness in the diaphragm where the esophagus meets the stomach, frequently causes heartburn, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Hiatal Hernia." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Revised ACR and CU payment polices noted

By JOE HEFNER
ASCS County
Executive Director

During the comment period for proposed regulations on the Acreage Reduction Program (ARP), several thousand comments were received. As the result of the review of those comments, the final regulations have changed in several areas.

The 50 percent planted cover crop requirement for ACR was nullified for Scurry County several weeks ago due to the designation of Texas as an arid area. Although this relaxed many restrictions for ACR and CU pay, some remain. Final rules still call for a minimum size of five acres and an average width of one chain (66 feet). There may be one area of ACR and one of CU for pay, per farm that is less than the minimum to complete the balance. Entire permanent fields may be designated for ACR and CU payment that are less than five acres.

Skips in an established skip-row pattern will qualify if the skip is at least the larger of four normal rows or 150 inches from plant to plant. Contiguous and non-contiguous strips, including end rows, that are at least 33 feet wide and are required by a conservation plan, will also qualify. Contiguous and non-contiguous strips that are planted to a perennial cover and are at least 33 feet wide are also eligible.

There are a few more exceptions to the minimum size and width requirements, however they apply for 1991 only. Areas less than five acres, between a terrace and other field boundaries or between terraces (terrace top to terrace top), are eligible for ACR. Also, terrace or erosion control strips (wind strips) at least 160 inches wide established on highly erodible land (HEL) and included in a required conservation plan of operation (CPO) as developed by the Soil Conservation Service, will also be allowed for 1991 ACR. Other 1991 minimum size and width exceptions include: established strip-cropping strips; areas used to promote highway safety or highway scenery; land between rows of trees, drip area to drip area, in orchards; and wildlife food plots or habitat.

For 1991 only, no minimum size and width requirements must be met for CU for payment. This means that one and/or two row blanks will qualify for payment under the 0-52/92 programs.

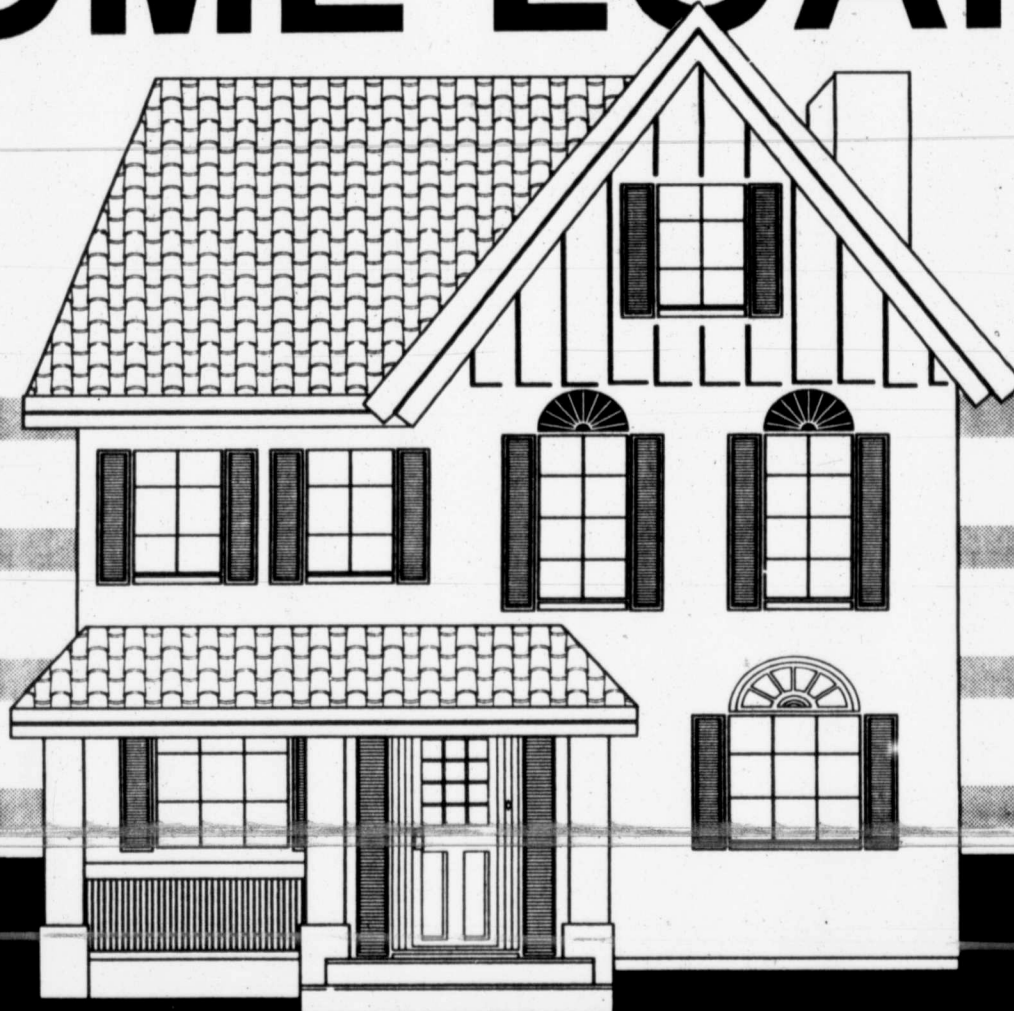

Nationally approved covers for ACR and CU for payment have also changed. Fruits and vegetables are eligible cover for ACR and CU for payment if the crops are for green manure, haying, or grazing, and a $10.00 per farm fee is paid to cover the cost of a visit to verify that the fruit or vegetable is not harvested.

Annual, biennial, or perennial grasses and legumes, including sweet sorghums, sorghum grass crosses, and sudans, are also approved cover. Barley, oats, wheat and other small grains, including volunteer stands, will be eligible if the crop is destroyed before reaching the disposition date of May 1, 1991. If the small grain crop is not destroyed by May 1, or if the crop is left standing to reseed itself, a $10 fee and a written request are required before May 1. If the request is approved, the crop shall not be hayed or grazed, even if haying and grazing is later approved. Other approved covers for ACR and CU for payment include crop residue from using no till or minimum till practices and perennial covers approved for cost share assistance.

Remember, the final day to sign up or withdraw in the 1991 farm program is April 26, 1991. More information can be obtained at the Scurry County ASCS office.
