Homecoming at Weinert Set for October 1st

Saturday, Oct. 1, has been set as date for the 1960 Weinert Homecoming, a gala event held in alternate years for ex-students, former teachers and patrons of Weinert Schools.

Raymond Mathison, president and Wanda Vojtku, secretary of the Homecoming Association, said this week that plans were being drafted for the 1960 event. Committees are being set up and class rolls checked in preparation for sending out invitations.

"We hope to be able to announce our complete Homecoming program at an early date," Mathison said Tuesday. He added that advance enthusiasm of planners indicated this year's Homecoming would be one of the best ever held.

A popular event in connection with the Homecoming will be a barbecue supper to be served on the school campus.

C. of C. Directors Review Work on Civic Projects

Progress was reported on several civic projects and a tentative date has been set for celebrating completion of the F.M. Road to the WTU Power Plant on Lake Stamford, directors of the Chamber of Commerce were told at their August breakfast meeting Friday.

Carl Wheatley, chairman of a committee in charge of the cemetery road paving project, reported the program as virtually assured. With few exceptions, all property owners are cooperating, and the city and county have jointly agreed to go along in hard-surfacing the more than one-half mile stretch of city street. As presently planned, South Seventh Street will be paved from Highway 277 west to the cemetery. Also, several blocks of side street may be added.

Date of Saturday, Sept. 17, has been tentatively set for a barbecue supper celebrating completion of the all-weather road to the Power Plant. A courtesy of Haskell business concerns, special guests will be all employees at the power plant and their families. Mrs. Barney Frasier is chairman of a committee planning the affair.

County Judge Jim Alvis reported that possibility of getting an engineering study of Spring Creek appeared favorable, through enlisting the help of the Soil Conservation Service. The survey would be the basis for an improved drainage and beautification project on the small stream.

Plans for the United Fund finance campaign have about been completed, Drive Chairman Harold Spain reported. The week-long drive will be conducted in early October, Spain said.

Four new members joined the C. of C. this month. Membership Director H. E. (Steve) Stephens reported. They are Harris Slaughter Service Indian Grill, Dairy Creme and Retail Merchants Association.

Directors approved a suggestion that a program on Civil Defense be held at some convenient date in the future. Purpose would be to acquaint the public with the dangers of "fall-out" from nuclear explosions, along with protective measures that can be taken.

United Fund Drive Plans Being Mapped

Plans are being mapped for the 1960-61 United Fund drive in Haskell, which tentatively will begin the week beginning August 21.

Chairman of the drive will be Harold R. Spain, who will be assisted in handling various campaigns by Organizational Committee members. Organizational members will be along the drive date, announced Spain.

On special gifts by Tom Barfield, Mrs. Clay Smith, and the general solicitation of Haskell citizens.

The budget of Haskell for the 1960-61 school year has been approved at a slight increase.

The budget are 11 organizations, including local groups as well as national or state organizations. The amounts allocated for the various projects is allocated.

Outlaw Among Nations

summon them to the United States showed great reluctance in dealing with the Castro regime in Cuba. The hope was that moderation would replace the excesses. But, that hope has been destroyed by events. There is no doubt that the vast majority of the American people approved the action of the President, under Congressional authorization, in eliminating further Cuban sugar imports for this year.

What steps can and will be taken in the future remain to be seen. But it certainly has become crystal clear that Cuba is now Communist-dominated, and that the government is following ruthless policies that have their precedent in Moscow and Peking. Seizure of two American and one Canadian-owned oil refineries—Esso, Texaco, and Shell—is ample proof of that. Any government has, of course, the right to expropriate property. But that right is qualified by the obligation to pay a fair price for what it takes. The Cuban government has paid nothing for these properties, which are worth a total of some $100 million and there are no signs that it intends to pay anything.

Cuba thus becomes an outlaw among nations. The United States must take all reasonable measures to protect its rights and the rights of American citizens.

Castro's illness has changed nothing except, possibly for the worse—other high Cuban officials seem even more ruthless and even more determined to follow a pro-Russian, anti-American policy. And liberty, for the time being at least, is dead in Cuba.

Youth Crime Rise Seen

Juvenile delinquency in Texas will get worse before it gets better, the Texas Youth Council director predicted.

Dr. James Turman presented to the Legislative Budget Board the Council's request for an appropriation of $4,255,470 for the coming biennium. This is an increase over the present two-year allocation of $3,497,442.

A part of this increase is to build for future needs. Turman noted that the Gatesville Training School for Boys had 403 boys in 1936 compared to its present average of 1,300. He predicted an average population of 1,790 during the coming two years and 2,959 by the end of the sixties.

Turman also urged the setting up of a system of paid parole supervisors "to keep some of these kids from coming back." He said that some of the boys had been to Gatesville as many as five times and that up to one-third were repeaters.

Vaccinations Urged

Texas is one of the safer states as far as paralytic polio is concerned, but it's seventh in the nation in number of whooping cough cases, ninth in diphtheria and scarlet fever.

All these rates could be cut, said a State Health Department spokesman, if there were fewer people who can't be bothered with getting protective shots.

Late August and September are the usual season for polio epidemics, the Department warned.

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

We agree with Jim Norman of Rule that a road sign near a small Iowa town has merit. The sign at the outskirts of Oakville, Iowa, reads: "We think this place is heaven; Don't drive like hell through it."

Nightly swarms of crickets in the business section following last week's cool spell created plenty of headaches. Storekeepers had to scramble to keep the insects from swarming inside as soon as a door was opened.

Then it took fast work with a broom to clear the persistent pests off the sidewalk. Because the crickets have been a problem to everyone, Southsiders were not surprised to see "Scotch" Coggins wielding a broom, but they were surprised at what quickly followed.

Normally easy-going "Scotch" was seen to get out of his car near his place of business and walk briskly to where a broom was standing conveniently in front of Cook Barber Shop.

Hustling back to the front of his office, "Scotch" made no more than two quick sweeps, then in the manner of Tarzan tossed the broom far out into the street. Then, staring at his hands in disgust, he headed into the barber shop.

An explanation was quickly forthcoming.

Roy Cook and Leslie Jones at the barber shop had thoughtfully given the broom handle a liberal coating of hair oil before leaving it for "Scotch" to use.

They didn't want their buddy to blister his hands while sweeping, they explained.

H. M. Baggary of the Tulsa Herald quotes the observation of an Oklahoma editor that the Republicans have had 13 Presidents during the past 100 years. But when they gather at their national conventions to recite their stewardship and accomplishments in office the only one they can remember is Abraham Lincoln.

And a Democrat editor—perhaps a little biased but not much—says he expects to find a new Catholicism in heaven, but NO Republicans.

Ginning of the first bale of cotton from the 1938 crop at O'Brien recently is an abrupt reminder that the fall season is closer than most had realized.

That and the further fact that HHS Band students are practicing for the Indians first football game and school starting within a few weeks—it all adds up to the fact that two thirds of the year is almost history.

Gathering of the cotton crop each year is always marked by a noticeable upturn in all lines of retail business in this section, since a nominal cotton crop brings several million dollars into the trade channels of the area.

In years past, a good cotton crop meant veritable "business boom" for several months as thousands of transient workers moved in to help gather the crop.

In turn, the laborers spent around 90 per cent of their earnings here, with this money floating into all lines of retail business, groceries, dry goods, drugs, automotive, etc.

This has changed in the past few years with imported workers from Mexico, known as "braceros," being used in gathering the bulk of the crop not harvested with machines.

Because of the red tape involved, along with government regulation of wages and other restrictions, use of bracero labor is not altogether satisfactory.

Most cotton farmers will welcome the day when mechanical pickers are improved to the point that all bracero labor can be replaced by machines.

Though he's been a resident of California for more than a third of a century, H. G. (Herb) Barnett has a vivid recollection of his boyhood days in Haskell.

Back recently for one of his regular visits, Herb and several friends of early days, including Mrs. Allie Ford, and Mr. and Mrs. Ree Gardner were talking over incidents of a period when they were "growing up."

Earlyday teachers, schools, and classmates shared the discussions—along with the youthful deprecations when orchards and watermelon patches were raided.

Herb's father, the late "Grandpa" J. A. Barnett, whose farm was just east of town, had one of the best orchards and watermelon patches in Haskell or vicinity.

Knowing how easily boys were tempted, "Grandpa" Barnett guarded his orchard and melon patch against night marauders.

He'd cheerfully give you a handful of peaches or a ripe melon in the daytime if you'd ask for them, but he had firm convictions against people slipping in and taking his melons and fruit at night.

Herb recalled one of the few times "Grandpa" Barnett was outwitted—and that required several miles of walking and crawling—more work than it was worth to get a few melons.

Herb and his brothers heard "Grandpa" say he was going to guard his melon patch that night, since the moon was to be full. A few sly questions elicited the information that he was going to station himself in the edge of the patch near a road.

Several hours later, Herb and his gang scouted he melon patch and located "Grandpa" and his Long Tom shotgun just about at the spot where he said he was going to be.

Circling widely around him, they entered the melon patch from the opposite side. They had to crawl several hundred yards getting to the choice melons, then had to crawl back, pushing the melons along on the ground ahead of them.

"We knew that if we stood up, Grandpa would spot us quick as a hawk," Herb declared. They knew too, that Grandpa was a crack marksman with his Long Tom and they had no desire to be dusted with birdshot.

County Clerk Horace Oneal, who has a "green thumb" when it comes to gardening and truck-growing, would have been a "marked man"—or his products would have—back in the days of orchard raiding. His orchard would have provided variety.

At his home northwest of the square, Oneal has one of the few, if not only, bearing apple trees in Haskell.

The tree, now five or six years old, has produced several bushels of apples this year, and still has considerable unripened fruit on it.

WHY IS IT DEPARTMENT. A man wakes up in the morning after sleeping under an advertised blanket on an advertised mattress, takes a bath in advertised tub, shaves with an advertised razor, washes with an advertised soap, puts on advertised clothes, sits down to a breakfast of advertised coffee, reads an advertised paper, listening to advertising on the radio, reads his advertised mail and writes with an advertised pen.

Then he refuses to advertise. Says advertising doesn't pay, and then if his business isn't good enough to advertise—he advertises it for sale!

Actualy, you have to stalk your game here, more like a hunter than a fisherman. You'll do a lot of wading, too. You won't necessarily need waders, as you won't be wading in very deep water, and you'll have plenty of trudging around to do. But you will need rubber-soled shoes that will give you a good footing on the smooth rocks and in the swift current.

Who owns the Electric Company?

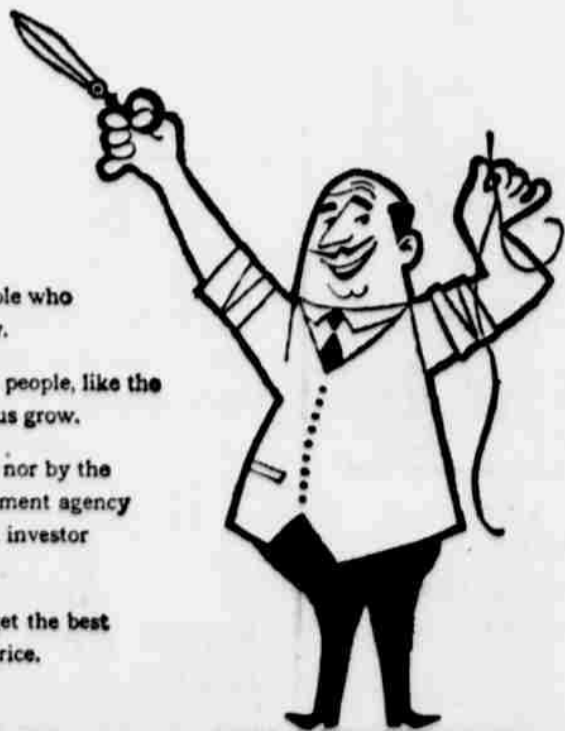

"I do... it's part of my investments"

The Tailor is just one of the many people who own the West Texas Utilities Company.

We are owned by people. Thousands of people, like the Tailor, who invest their money to help us grow.

We are not owned or run by the city... nor by the state either. Not by any kind of government agency or co-operative. We are an independent investor owned business.

This is an important reason why you get the best possible electric service at such a low price.

REFRIGERATED AIR CONDITIONED --- COMFORTABLE SEATS

WHY PAY TO HEAT MORE THAN ONE HOUSE WHEN YOU LIVE IN ONLY ONE?

GAS saves you the difference!

Gas continues to be your biggest bargain and is still your most dependable source for home heating. No other method can compare with GAS for comfort, efficiency, safety and dependability. Gas heat is cleaner, fresher—constantly flowing—with fresh-air intake the air completely changes every hour. Prevents lingering of stale household odors.

Gas is safest by far—figures issued by National Board of Fire Underwriters prove that gas is unquestionably the safest source of controlled energy in your home. Gas heating is more dependable—delivered underground safely—wind, ice, storms do not interrupt gas supply. Consider all the facts—you'll always stay with gas. Only GAS heats so much better... for less! See your gas heating dealer or

Wage-Hour Official Reminds Farmers of Child-Labor Law

Farmers who hire workers for harvesting fall crops were reminded today that the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act sets a 16-year age minimum for the employment of children in agriculture during school hours.

The reminder came from Regional Director William J. Rogers of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions at Dallas, the agency which administers this law.

"Today and in the foreseeable future, the need for youngsters to meet even higher educational standards is beyond question," he said. "The child's chance for success in later years can depend on whether he enrolls in school this fall."

Mr. Rogers pointed out that children may lawfully work on farms before and after school hours or on weekends, but that their place is in the classroom when school is in session in the school district where the child is currently living.

"The law protects the children of migratory workers as well as local children," he said. "The only exception to the law is the child working exclusively for his parents or guardian."

An age certificate showing that the youngster is at least 16 is the best protection the farmer can have against inadvertent violation. In Texas, these certificates are available, as a public service, from local Texas Employment Commission offices.

He added that the Federal child-labor law applies to farmers who engage in interstate commerce or ship their products in interstate commerce, either directly or to firms who ship them across State lines in their original form or as an ingredient of another product.

Testing Begun For Community Antenna Project

In connection with a proposed Community Antenna placement in Haskell, final steps are being taken this week for testing of TV signal strength available to this area, according to J. L. Hill Jr., president of Texas Western Mortgage Corporation.

Engineers are using available antenna towers for making these tests. Tests will be made for three weeks to 30 days in order to get the kind of weather conditions which affect the quality of TV pictures. Engineers have assured the company officials that good TV signals can be had in Haskell, but these tests are considered to be necessary before actual work is commenced.

Business negotiations still pending are agreements with the West Texas Utilities Company and the telephone company, for the use of their poles on which the co-axial cable will be attached.

Former Haskell Resident, 102, Dies in Lubbock

Jerry Williamson, 102-year-old Wise County pioneer and former resident of Haskell, died Aug. 8 in a Lubbock convalescent home. He was a grandfather of Mrs. J. A. Bynum of Haskell.

Funeral services for Mr. Williamson were held Wednesday of last week in Christian Chapel in Decatur, and burial was in the Cottonwood Cemetery, north of Decatur.

Mr. Williamson, a native of Missouri, came with his parents from Tennessee in 1863 to the Greenwood community north of Decatur. On the wagon journey, the family's goods were confiscated by Union soldiers.

Mr. Williamson, a retired farmer, had lived in Lubbock about five years. He resided at Greenwood most of his life but had also lived in Haskell and at Vega.

His wife died in 1939 after 55 years of marriage.

Surviving are seven sons, Claude Williamson of Amarillo, Homer and J. C. Williamson of Lubbock, Elmer Williamson of Greenwood, Luther Williamson of Ardmore, Okla., Weaver Williamson of Pharr and Irvin Williamson of Lawton, Okla., and a sister, Mrs. Fannie Mauldin, of Decatur.

Attending the funeral from Haskell were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bynum and children, Jane and Jim.

This year the American Foundation for the Blind awarded ten special work study fellowships to persons intending to work with the visually handicapped on completion of their training. Five of the winners are themselves blind.

That the causes of blindness were among the 355,000 blind persons in the United States is not known in 50 per cent of the cases, according to Robert Barnett, executive director of the American Foundation for the Blind, and shows the need for continuing research programs in relation to blindness.

Persons born in June have their choice of three birthstones—pearl, alexandrite, or moonstone.

Kentucky School To Confer Degree On Haskell Man

The University of Kentucky will confer an additional Graduate Degree on John U. Nelson, Haskell County School Supervisor.

The above commitment was made in a letter from Dr. A. D. Kirwan, Dean of the graduate school, under date of Aug. 2. The letter was sent to Haskell, forwarded to Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., where Mr. Nelson was working on completing an Ed. S. degree, forwarded from there to Grand Saline and back to Haskell.

When asked about it, Nelson said that he was recently thanked by Dean Lyman Ginger for assisting him in writing the script that resulted in the adoption of a foundation school program for Kentucky, similar to that in Texas. Nelson says that he enjoyed the University of Kentucky, but transferred to Peabody College when Dr. Frank Dicky, his advisor, moved to Harvard University. Although not known at the time, this was in preparation for Dr. Dicky to become president of the University of Kentucky, the position which he now holds.

P. O. Limited on Giving Public Information

When you want to find the address of a friend or relative with whom you have lost contact, or a person who owes you money, or a good prospect for a business proposition, do you call the post office? If so, the following information can save time and trouble for both you and the postmaster.

Postal service regulations prohibit specifically the giving of information about addresses, either current or former, to the general public. Contrary to individual belief, post offices do not maintain directories of those they serve.

"There is, however, a legitimate and effective means of obtaining a former address," says Postmaster Harold Spain. "That is by sending a registered or certified letter to a patron at his old address where delivery is made. This costs a few cents in addition to the postage, but usually is a good investment."

The post office also provides a service for correcting mailing lists used by concerns or persons for the solicitation of business by mail. This is done at the expense of the owners of the lists. If this service is desired, patrons must submit typewritten or printed lists on 3"x5" cards to the post office which serves the address, one name and address to a card. The owner's name and address must appear in the upper left-hand corner of each card. Names to which mail cannot be delivered or forwarded will be crossed off; incorrect house, rural, or post office box numbers will be corrected. Numbers representing incorrect or non-existent street addresses will be crossed off, but numbers will not be changed or added. The minimum charge for each list corrected is one dollar. For lists of more than 20 names or addresses, the charge is 5 cents per name or street address. Payments for this service must be made in advance by cash or money order.

Don't depend on the post office to give information about either present or former customers. But do depend for help on mailing problems of all kinds by calling UN 4-2811.
