Q.—Can tax abatements be given to just anyone?
A.—No, state law spells out the conditions for which abatements can be given.

In Brief

Plea made

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Newspapers Saturday published a letter to the kidnappers of American hostage Joseph Cicippio pleading for his release to allow him see his cancer-stricken sister.

The letter, signed by the Pennsylvania doctors and nurses attending Cicippio's sister, Helen Fazio, said she was "gravely ill with cancer. She has been undergoing monthly chemotherapy treatment for two years."

An-Nahar, the nation's leading daily, the conservative papers Al-Anwar and Ad-Diyar, and pro-Syrian Ash-Sharq published an Arabic translation of the letter. L'Orient-Le Jour published it in French.

"She would often share her dream that seeing Joseph come home was part of her encouragement to continue her battle against cancer and deal with its devastating side-effects," the letter said.

Summer school registration, classes start Monday at WTC

Classes for Western Texas College's summer session get underway Monday. Registration starts at 7:15 a.m., and the last day to register or make a schedule change is Wednesday.

Students must bring their social security number, driver's license and ACT or SAT scores. If test scores are not available, a placement test is required, and this test will be given during registration.

Through WTC's early admissions program, high school students who have completed their junior year may enroll for deferred college credit. Early admissions forms must be completed and presented at the time of registration. These forms can be picked up in the student services office.

Day classes are scheduled for six weeks, ending on July 8. Evening classes run nine weeks, ending on Aug. 1.

Classes will meet Monday through Thursday, with no classes on Fridays.

Information about registration and summer classes can be obtained by calling WTC at 573-8511.

Schools give service awards

Thirty-five service awards — including one for 40 years of service — were presented Saturday morning by Snyder Independent School District.

Also recognized at the assembly were 13 persons who are retiring at the end of the current school year. The awards presentation began the last work day of the 1990-91 school year.

A 40-year award went to high school math teacher Ollie Peek who is also retiring. Barbara Bigham of Northeast Elementary and Elizabeth Jenkins of Central were honored for 35 years of service to the district.

Recognized for 30 years of service were Jo Ashley of junior high, Betty Courtney of East Elementary, Albert Lewis and Janet Wesson of high school, and JoAnn Littlepage of Stanfield. Mrs. Ashley, junior high librarian; Mrs. Littlepage, second grade teacher; and Mrs. Wesson, counselor; are retiring.

Noted for 25 years of service were Francene Allen-Noah of West, Mickey Carrasco and Kathryn Higgins of Central, Wallace Combest and Jerry Worsham of high school, Vernon Cross of junior high, Mary Williams of Northeast, Monette O'Day of Stanfield and Roosevelt Asberry of maintenance.

Honored for 20 years of service were Margaret Corkran and Sue Eiring of junior high, Peggy English and Bill Lyon of high school, Mary Hopkins Murff of North and Helen Mock of Northeast. Mrs. English, a social studies teacher, and Mrs. Murff, second grade, are retiring.

Ten-year service awards went to Janie Carter and Charlie Chrane of high school, Judy Barkowsky and JoAnn Ham of North, Ester Clarady of West, Willita Farmer and Cynthia Putnam of Northeast, Ruth Fleer of Humble Smith, Tom Gonzales of Central, Martha Ratliff and Rita Wolf of Stanfield and Sharlot Sparlin of East.

Other retirees recognized were Ned Underwood, high school assistant principal with 34 years of service, Roy Burk, high school chemistry with 28 years of service, and Gerald Mac Green, high school social studies teacher with 24 years service.

Also retiring is Jean Godair, junior high secretary with 14 years service and West Elementary first grade teacher, Martha Floyd, with 32 years service.

Retiring from Northeast is Bernard Weems, physical education, with 23 years service and Islasu Minor, secretary at East with 18 years service.

U.S.-Soviet summit possible

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union Saturday resolved their remaining differences on a treaty to reduce non-nuclear weapons in Europe, clearing the way for a superpower summit.

With Soviet foreign minister Alexander Bessmertnykh at his side, Secretary of State James A. Baker III said the agreement is subject to approval of the 20 other treaty nations.

That approval is expected to be forthcoming. The final work on the Conventional Forces in Europe treaty means the two sides can resume intensive negotiations on an agreement to slash long-range nuclear weapons.

Commissioners meet Monday

Several action items top the agenda of Monday's 10 a.m. meeting of Scurry County commissioners at the county courthouse.

Under old business, the court will adopt a county drug abuse policy. During last week's meeting, the court gave County Judge Bob Doolittle approval to compile a policy.

New items to be considered by the court include official action on the county policy of paying 26 cents per mile for mileage; a date for county employees to meet with Snyder Janitorial concerning the handling of hazardous waste.

Summer school for Snyder public schools starts June 17

Summer school for grades kindergarten through 12 will begin June 17 at Snyder public schools.

The school district has also announced its schedule for non-credit courses.

Elementary Monday, June 17, selected kindergarten through sixth grade students will report to Stanfield Elementary to work on mathematics and language arts skills. These students will be working on TAAS objectives and other skills needed for success at the next grade level. Classes will continue for five weeks, ending July 19.

Selected bilingual (Spanish speaking) kindergarten and first grade students will attend for eight weeks, June 17 through Aug. 9.

The class times for elementary summer school will be from 8:15 a.m. until noon for all kindergarten students. Students in the first, third and fifth grades will have language arts from 8:15-10 a.m. and math from 10:15 a.m. until noon. Students in the second, fourth and sixth grades will have math from 8:15-10 a.m. and language arts from 10:15 a.m. until noon.

There is no charge for these classes and the district has arranged a bus schedule to assist in transportation. Students need to be at the school nearest their home for transportation to Stanfield.

Secondary-Non Credit Some Snyder ISD seventh through 12th grade students will be returning for classes at Snyder High School. Selected seventh and eighth grade students will attend five weeks of summer school, from June 17 through July 19, to strengthen skills in mathematics and/or language arts. A class will also be held for students in grades 7-12 who need additional work on the seventh, ninth and exit-level TAAS/TEAMS objectives. These are non-credit classes and will be held from 8-9:45 a.m. and from 10-11:45 a.m. There is no charge for the classes and the district has arranged a bus schedule to

Noah project to benefit from show

"The Shakey Tale of Dr. Jakey," an old-fashioned melodrama with some new-fashioned surprises, will be presented as the third annual Noah Project melodrama on Saturday, June 8, in the Scurry County Coliseum.

A meal featuring hot dogs, soft drinks and cookies will be served, starting at 6:30 p.m. The show will follow about 7 p.m. A Sing Along and drawing for door prizes will also get underway at 6:30. Tickets for the meal and show are $7 for adults and $3.50 for children. Advance tickets are available at several downtown locations.

Ellie Dryden is directing this year's melodrama, which tells the tale of Dr. Jakey, an earnest, hard-working purveyor of patent medicines. He tries to make an honest dollar by selling dishonest cure-alls with his traveling medicine show and the audience will sense that this likeable guy probably doesn't realize that his medicine and methods are not what the law prescribes.

But it is not Dr. Jakey who motivates the show. It is instead a merciless merchant of mainstream medicine, Dr. Hooza Fraidy, the jealous, man-crunching villain. She is the only doctor in town and has no intention of allowing any other practitioner of the healing arts to invade her territory. Fortunately, however, Mayor Hide's beautiful daughter, Formalda, protects the helpless Dr. Jakey when he needs it most.

The narrator, Emily Hataway, will keep the story moving. Robert Adams is Dr. Jakey, Judy Brown is Formalda and the Rev. Tim Griffin is Mayor Hide. Dr.

The feller on Deep Creek, "If you have to borrow money, get from a pessimist. He doesn't expect to be paid back anyway."

Everybody knows that the Lone Star state got its name from the Indian word "tejas," which means friendly. But a new book came in the mail just in time to fill the Texas Trivia gap.

Under the geography section, we found that Swisher County has a town with a slogan "the town without a frown." The town is Happy.

We also learned that the Grayson County courthouse in Sherman was torn down in 1857 to settle a bet about the nesting site of a duck.

In 1903, the first automatic telephone exchange was installed in Cleburne. Also the northernmost town in Texas is Texhoma. McLean was once known as "Uplift City" because of a woman's underground factory.

The book also told us that Amarillo means "yellow" in Spanish, and that the tiny community of Ding Dong is located in Bell County.

Lake Jackson is known for uniquely named streets such as This Way, That Way, and Any Way. San Angelo was first called Over-the-River, and checks from oil companies inspired residents of Allentown in Ward County to adopt the name of Royalty.

The Texas Rangers are credited with originating the name for the Nolan county seat, Sweetwater. An oil well was drilled through the floor of the National Bank in Kilgore.

A merchant, J.A. Money, refused to allow the community to bear his name. They called it Cash.

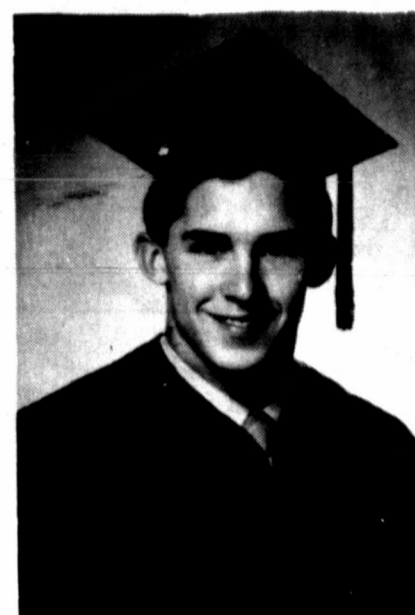

What town's name is misspelled in the book? You guessed it: "Synder."

Lutheran, Episcopal churches set annual bazaar

Grace Lutheran and St. John's Episcopal Churches will have their third annual bazaar Saturday, June 8, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the old Railroad Depot, 1600 25th St. Items for sale include homemade sausage, barbecue, garage sale items, refreshments and baked goods. In addition, drawings for a quilt, afghan, two Sunday buffet dinners at Willow Park Inn, Gingher 5 inch scissors and engraved legal pad holder will be held.

Rebecca Minton's poem published

Rebecca Minton of Wilmore, KY, daughter of Thomas Minton and granddaughter of Opal Minton of Snyder, has just had original poetry published in the "American Poetry Anthology," a treasury of today's poetry compiled by the American Poetry Association.

The poem, entitled "Needless Nonsense," is about needless nonsense.

The American Poetry Association seeks to discover and encourage poets like Minton by sponsoring contests that are open to the public and by publishing poems in widely distributed hard-back volumes.

Minton has been writing for only a short time, but her favorite subjects and ideas include fantasy tales and fiction as well as poetry.

Poets interested in publication may send one original poem, on any subject or theme, 20 lines maximum, along with their name and address on the top of the page to the American Poetry Association, Dept. CO-67, P.O. Box 1803, Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Poems selected for publication are also entered in the American Poetry Association's Poetry Contest, which awards over $11,000 in prizes to 152 winners.

Pope returns to Polish homeland

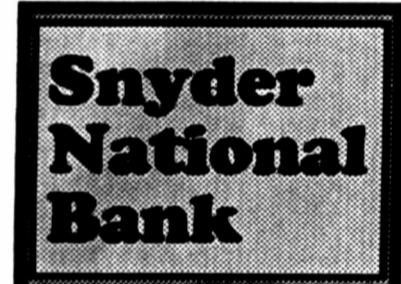

ROME (AP) — The last time Pope John Paul II visited his Polish homeland, the country was still under Communist rule and the Catholic Church played a major role as an opposition force. Saturday, four years after that trip, the pontiff headed back to a radically changed country now questioning the role of the church.

The pope's special Alitalia plane departed for the nine-day tour at 8:20 a.m. (2:20 a.m. EDT), heading for Koszalin, near Poland's Baltic coast, where authorities were expecting hundreds of thousands of people at an afternoon Mass.

Poland's returning "favorite son" supplied the spark that helped topple Communist rule in 1989.

A Bright Spot
in our hometown...

Ruby Anderson

If you were to look up the meaning of "volunteer" in the dictionary, one might expect to find a picture of Ruby Anderson — Snyder National's choice for June of a Scurry County Citizen who contributes to the quality of life in our hometown.

Ruby Anderson devotes the majority of her time showing her concern for her fellow citizens and for her community. It began long ago, starting with a career in education as a first grade teacher that lasted almost 50 years. Her work as a teacher began while in school, at the age of 18, and she received her bachelor's and master's degrees from ACU.

She taught school in South America for several years while her late husband was employed with Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Following her retirement at 65, she became even more involved in volunteer work. She is a greeter at First United Methodist Church, sings in the choir and serves on the finance committee.

She is a charter member of the Cogdell Hospital Auxiliary, and she recently received recognition for 18,500 volunteer hours accumulated four days each week at the hospital while working on the floor, in the snack bar, gift shop and while serving on the auxiliary's scholarship committee.

She helped organize and served on the Senior Center board. She has been a member of Delta Kappa Gamma for over 30 years, holding offices and serving on committees. Mrs. Anderson believes that staying busy and helping others make for a healthier and happier life.

Snyder National is proud to present June's community service award to Ruby Anderson, a community work horse, and an inspiration to us all.

Ruby Anderson can be found four days each week working for the auxiliary at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. She has accumulated 18,500 volunteer hours at the hospital. Presenting Mrs. Anderson with a certificate of appreciation is SNB President Joe Jackson.

Library to launch Camp Wanna-Read program

The Scurry County Library's Camp Wanna-Read summer reading program will begin Monday and continue until Aug. 2. Children who have completed grades K-6 may participate at their respective levels.

Participants are asked to register after they have read their first group of books. Registration will continue up to Aug. 2. The reading logs will stay at the children's desk in the children's reading room just like last summer. Books will need to be returned to the desk in the children's reading room. Participants are reminded that books must not be placed in the bookdrop.

Incentives will be earned through reading. For grades K-3, every child who reads 10 books will receive a certificate and name on a camp map. Each additional five books earns an additional incentive. There will be a list of incentives posted in the children's room. Some will be for reading fiction and others for reading non-fiction.

For grades 4-6, everyone who reads five books will receive a certificate and name on the camp map. Each additional three books earns an additional incentive. A list of incentives will be posted in the children's room, for both fiction and non-fiction books.

Long John Silver's will be the major sponsor for this program. In addition to any other incentive earned by a child, each child will receive a coupon for a free Kid's Meal from Long John's Silver for every 10 books they read. The child who has read the most books by Aug. 2 will receive a trophy and a $25 Savings Bond. Trophies will also be given to 2nd and 3rd place winners.

Each child (grades K-3) who has read 30 books will also get their name in a drawing for a $5 gift certificate from Wal-Mart. Children in grades 4-6 must read 15 books to qualify for this incentive.

Other incentives will be offered by Snyder Drug, Lota' Burger, Reta's Cake Shop, Sonic Drive-In, Whataburger, Snyder Lanes, Furr's Plus, Wes-T-Go Conoco, McD's 66, Video 1, McDonald's, Depot Video, Taco John's, Movie Stop, Tropical Sno, Pizza Hut, Westerner Golfland, Scurry

County Swimming Pool, Wal-Mart, Pizza Inn, Dairy Queen on College Avenue and Dairy Queen on East Highway.

This summer reading program is sponsored by both Scurry County Library and Texas State Library.

Children in grades K-6 are also invited to participate in a decorate a camp banner for Camp Wanna-Read Wednesday, June 5, at 10 a.m. at the library.

The banner will be displayed in the children's room. Other items to be made include a scrapbook for autographs, keepsakes or a diary to record summer activities.

Passing rate drops among juniors on state exam

DALLAS (AP) — More than 60 percent of the students who took the state's redesigned high school graduation test in April failed, preliminary results show.

The results on the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills graduation exam indicate that only two of every five juniors who were tested achieved a passing score, The Dallas Morning News reported Saturday.

The Texas Education Agency released the results Friday. Almost 63,000 students were tested statewide.

April was the second time the test was administered. The first time was in October, when nearly 175,000 juniors took the math, reading and writing exam. More than two-thirds passed.

Students are given four chances to pass the exam, two in their junior year and two in their senior year. Those who cannot pass by the fourth try are ineligible to receive a diploma.

That means about 38,000 students statewide — one of every five in next year's senior class — are at risk of not graduating if they cannot master the test in the 1991-92 school year.

Those students are having trouble with the test even though they are required to answer only 60 percent of the questions correctly to pass. The State Board of Education set the lower passing standard for the first year of the exam so that students would have some time to adjust.

Next year, students will have to answer 70 percent of the items correctly to pass.

About 51 percent of Anglo students who took the test in April passed, with 32 percent of Hispanics and 28 percent of blacks passing.

EDUCATIONAL EXCELLENCE — Kim Brade, an eighth grade student at Snyder Junior High, was selected to receive an award provided by the Council for Educational Excellence for her outstanding work in English. Each six weeks during the 1990-91 school year a student was chosen from a different subject area to receive this award. (SDN Staff Photo)

Concert will benefit Steve Beck's family

Glenda Hollingsworth will be in concert at 2 p.m. Sunday at North College Avenue Baptist Church. The concert is free but a love offering will be taken for the Steve Beck family.

While attending TCU, Glenda studied music and voice with Kathryn Dacus. Later, she recorded a Christian gospel album with Christian World Recording Studio in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Her hobbies include sewing and golf.

She is married to John Hollingsworth and they have two sons, Dalon, a senior at Snyder High School and Derek a sophomore at Baylor University. They moved to Snyder in 1981.

Financial Focus

When registering securities with multiple owners, two words that invariably cause confusion are "and" and "or".

To begin with, registration of the owner's name is always required on securities. That name is recorded on the books of the issuer or the issuer's agent (registrar). Transfer of the security, once registered, can be done only by endorsement of the registered owner.

That's simple enough when there is only one owner. But what if there's more than one owner? The names of all owners are then registered, followed by a legal description of the type of ownership: joint tenants with rights of survivorship, or tenancy in common.

Joint tenants with rights of survivorship. If this type of ownership is acceptable in your state, a joint account can be maintained by two or more people. It is normally agreed that upon the death of one of the registered owners, ownership of the account's assets passes to the remaining account holders. Although these assets escape probate, estate taxes may be due.

Tenancy in common. Here again is ownership of property by two or more persons. When one dies, however, his or her undivided interest passes to the heirs and not to the surviving tenant or tenants.

Once these two types of ownership are understood, the "and-or" controversy arises. Banks and other savings institutions may allow "or" on their accounts, but brokerage firms are required by regulation to always use "and".

The legal effect of the "and" registration is that the signatures of both tenants are required on any legal document executed on behalf of the joint tenancy. A joint tenancy registered with "or" requires the signature of only one of the tenants to legally bind the joint tenancy.

Why is "and" required for securities registration? The organizations that regulate the industry require all registered owners of a certificate to sign the certificate before it can be transferred out of a joint tenancy. This requirement can be found in Section 3537 of the National Association of Securities Dealers Uniform Practice Code, and Rule 2207 of the New York Stock Exchange. The rules of the Stocks Transfer Association also require that a certificate owned by joint tenancy be registered with the "and" registration.

The use of "or" registration on a certificate or securities account would only cause confusion because the signatures of all registered tenants would still be necessary under securities regulations.

Like many legal questions, this may sound confusing. However, when you want your securities jointly registered John Doe "or" Mary Doe, but your broker insists on using "and", you'll know why.

Snakebite treatment debunked

DALLAS (AP) — Shocking snakebite victims with a jolt of electricity only delays proper treatment and could do more harm than good, a doctor warns.

The use of high-voltage, low-current electric shock treatment for snakebite has been investigated since a 1986 report in the British medical journal Lancet.

After being consulted on a rattlesnake victim who tried the shock therapy, an Arizona toxicologist concluded there is no evidence to support the use of electric shock for treatment of pit viper and spider bites or scorpion stings.

"The best treatment for snakebite is a set of car keys" to get to the hospital, Dr. Richard C. Dart said Friday in a telephone interview from Tucson. His article is contained in the June issue of the Annals of Emergency Medicine, the journal of the American College of Emergency Physicians and the Society for Academic Emergency Medicine. The journal is published in Irving.

The Lancet report was based on the practice of natives in Ecuador who used outboard boat motors to administer first aid shocks by attaching a wire to the spark plug.

A simpler method was devised by a company that marketed modified stun guns for treatment of snakebites. Sale of the devices was banned in 1990 by the Food and Drug Administration.

Dart, director of the toxicology program at the University of Arizona Health Sciences Center, said he can see why.

"We cannot find a beneficial effect even when applied under ideal conditions," said Dart, who has experimented with animals and who interviewed a 28-year-old ex-Marine knocked unconscious by a shock treatment.

The Arizona man had been bitten near the upper lip by his pet rattlesnake. Because he had read an article about snake treatment in an outdoors magazine, he asked a neighbor to shock him.

"The patient was placed supine next to a car and a spark plug wire was attached to his upper lip by a wire with a small clip at each end," Dart wrote. "The engine was started and repeatedly gunned to 3,000 rpm for approximately five minutes. The patient lost consciousness with the first electrical charge."

The man was taken to a hospital, where he was successfully treated with antivenin.

Dart is concerned that the folklore about electroshock could delay needed medical treatment.

IRS to let Willie Nelson release new album

AUSTIN (AP) — Willie Nelson is hoping to receive more than 3 million answers to the question asked in the title of his latest album called "Who'll Buy My Memories?: The IRS Tapes."

The Internal Revenue Service has agreed to let Nelson release the album Monday. Nelson says he believes the record can solve his tax problems.

"I owe them $17 million," said an upbeat Nelson, whose royalties of $6 per album will help defray his debt to the IRS for back taxes, interest and penalties. "Three million copies will give me $18 million, and I'll have a million to go get drunk with."

The album, which will be sold through telephone orders only, will be marketed during a 12-month campaign engineered by the Austin-based Television Group Inc.

"Willie Nelson has all the right components for success with this," said Television Group President Brian Godinez.

"Everybody loves Willie Nelson." Nelson's "Stardust" album from 1978 has sold a reported 6 million copies.

Freshmen must attend WTC summer seminar

Students entering Western Texas College as full-time freshmen for the first time in the fall semester are required to attend one of three summer Success Seminars.

Seminars at WTC are slated on June 13, July 18 and Aug. 15. Students are given information needed for the selection of courses and career planning, financial aid and housing. Students may also pre-register for the fall semester and take placement tests if they have not completed the ACT or SAT.

Students must make advance reservations for the seminar they wish to attend. Information about the Success Seminars can be obtained by calling the student services office at 573-8511, extension 304.

DONNA DENEEN DUNN

Dunn graduates

Donna Deneen Dunn graduated from Angelo State University in May with a bachelor of science degree with a major in elementary education, a kindergarten endorsement and a minor in generic special education.

She was also listed on the spring honor roll at ASU with a 4.0 GPA.

Dunn was also inducted into Kappa Delta Pi, an international honor society in education.

She graduated from Ira High School in 1982 and from WTC in 1984. She has accepted a teaching position with the Ector County Independent School District.

Dunn is the daughter of Donnie and Linda Dunn of Ira, and the granddaughter of Inez Wilson of Ira and Ethel Dunn of Colorado City.

Students help test natural gas vehicles

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — One of the most comprehensive tests of natural gas vehicles has attracted students from 24 universities in the United States and Canada to bring innovative technology into the field.

During initial tests Friday at the National Institute of Petroleum and Energy Research, one student said he was fascinated by the thought of all 24 schools working together.

"If they put us together in one room and told us to come up with one product, it would be one unbelievable system," said Alex Echeverry, who graduates Sunday from the New York Institute of Technology in Long Island.

"At this point we're pushing the field."

His university and 23 others are competing in the National Gas Vehicle Challenge, sponsored by the Society of Automotive Engineers.

The 24 schools were selected based on their design proposals. They put the plan in action on light pickup trucks supplied by General Motors.

The teams had five months to develop systems for the trucks to run on natural gas. All but three of the entries run on compressed natural gas. The others run on liquefied natural gas.

On Friday, it took three tries for the pickup truck designed by students at Cal State-Northridge to start inside a trailer where the temperature was 20 below zero.

Inside a nearby garage, the University of Alabama's truck was simulating a road course while being checked for emissions.

"I was pretty impressed," said Dexter Sutterfield, director of fuels research at NIPER. "This is innovative technology. You have to consider that all schools were invited to participate, but only 24 were selected by expert judges from General Motors, Ford and other auto manufacturers."

The challenge ends June 11 at the University of Oklahoma. Under the scoring system, points are awarded for emissions, design, fuel economy and performance.

The highlight of the competition is June 9, when the teams take their trucks onto the public roads to test everyday driving. The next day, the teams will drive 250 miles at a steady speed of 45 mph to grade endurance and economy. For the hardest part was getting to NIPER headquarters. The Texas Tech entry rolled off the trailer en route from Lubbock, Texas. The cab roof was dented severely, but the engine and fuel tanks held together fine.

The testing Friday drew representatives from various energy companies and congressmen. Rep. Mike Synar, D-Okla., touted the environmental benefits of the clean-burning fuel.

Charles Nesbitt, the state Secretary of Energy, was hopeful the competition would lend stronger support for public use of natural gas-run vehicles.

"The competition is a demonstration of what we all know to be true," Nesbitt said.

Cost to register is $42 per child. Insurance, T-shirts, refreshments, trophies and medals are provided.

For more information contact Birks at 573-1297 or Huseman at 573-5523.

L.A., Bulls prepare for Finals

Jordan-Johnson matchup highlights championship hype

CHICAGO (AP) — Magic Johnson and the Los Angeles Lakers, making their ninth NBA Finals appearance in 12 seasons, meet Michael Jordan and the Chicago Bulls, who are in the championship series for the first time in the franchise's 25-year history.

"I think it's exciting," Johnson said. "Michael and I have become real good friends. We always wanted to play in the Finals and now he has his chance."

"I understand the media hype, and it's a business situation," Jordan said. "I understand it's good for the league to make it a 1-on-1 situation."

"Magic vs. Jordan is the hype of it, but I know my team is playing against the Lakers. I'm not going to take it out of context. I'm not going to try and make it a 1-on-1 situation. I'm going to do whatever I can to show leadership for my team. I'm not going to try and make it anything special."

Johnson, who expanded his reputation during NBA Finals meetings with Larry Bird and the Boston Celtics, had flashbacks of glorious finishes past with seconds left in Thursday night's 91-90 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers in the Western Conference finals.

With the Lakers ahead by one point, Johnson said he saw the clock stuck on 2.2 seconds after he passed the ball wildly over his head and watched it roll tantalizingly toward the other end of the floor. The clock kept ticking, and the ball rolled out of bounds with 0.1 seconds remaining, too little time for Portland to do anything but try a length-of-the-court pass.

"I thought I was back in Boston Garden," Johnson said. But, on Sunday it will be Jordan and the Bulls in Game 1 at Chicago Stadium for Johnson, who has helped the Lakers win five championships.

"We're not relieved to be playing against the former champions," Jordan said. "We're here focusing on ourselves and what we have to do as a team. We have to look at the Lakers as a whole and what we have to do to defense them and slow them down."

The Jordan-Johnson matchup will actually occur only on one end of the court, where Jordan will guard Johnson. The Lakers'

Byron Scott will guard Jordan.

"It's ideal to have Michael and Magic in the same series," Bulls coach Phil Jackson said. "But the matchup is only on one end. Both have a great influence on the game, and that's the story."

"I know he's a threat in terms of running the team," Jordan said. "I'm going to try to wear him down as much as possible, eliminate him from getting into an open-court situation, where he is very dangerous."

Lakers assistant coach Randy Pfund said the matchup between small forwards Scottie Pippen and James Worthy is more pivotal than Jordan-Johnson.

"Scottie has improved by watching and emulating Michael over the last few years," Pfund said. "The fact that Mike Dunleavy coached in the Eastern Conference will help."

Riley accepts Knicks' offer

NEW YORK (AP) — Pat Riley, who found virtually nothing but success with the Los Angeles Lakers, went after a tougher challenge Friday as coach of the New York Knicks.

Dave Checketts, president of the Knicks, announced Riley's hiring after three weeks of speculation following the resignation of John MacLeod to go to Notre Dame. Sources said Riley, who worked as an analyst for NBC this season, was given a five-year contract for approximately $6 million, plus incentives.

Back pain forces Connors out

PARIS (AP) — The fire in Jimmy Connors' eyes was still there. It was exceeded only by the pain in his back.

While Steffi Graf, Andre Agassi, Boris Becker and other young stars coasted through easy victories Friday, Connors, a crowd favorite at age 38, battled for more than 3½ hours against Michael Chang, a player half his age.

Connors finally succumbed to a sore back and exhaustion, withdrawing at the start of the fifth set. He was carried up the steps to the players' locker room and treated at the infirmary, but said later, "It was fun."

Chang, the 10th seed, had today off while preparing for a fourth-round match with another local hero, top French player Guy Forget, the No. 7 seed.

"Obviously the crowd was pulling for Jimmy — he's a champion wherever he goes," said Chang, unrattled by the ovations for his rival. "I knew Jimmy was having some kind of difficulty, but he was still hitting great shots."

The two top seeds were scheduled to play their third-round matches Saturday. Monica Seles, defending her 1990 title and her No. 1 ranking, was to face France's Karine Quentrec, while Stefan Edberg headed into a potentially difficult match against Soviet Andrei Chesnokov.

Boris Becker, the No. 2 seed, overpowered Australian Wally Masur 6-3, 6-3, 6-2 on Friday. If he gets by fourth-round opponent Francisco Clavet on Sunday, he would play the Chang-Forget winner in the quarterfinals.

Former women's champions Steffi Graf, seeded second, and No. 5 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario also trounced overmatched opponents, leading a group of four seeded women into the final 16. Agassi, the No. 4 seed who reached the final last year, advanced to the fourth round with a 6-2, 6-2, 6-0 victory over Patrick McEnroe.

"That was probably the best tennis I have ever played, the best I have ever hit the ball," said Agassi, who next meets Alberto Mancini of Argentina.

Connors, with a packed center-court crowd roaring its approval, overcame his stiff back to knot his match against Chang at two sets apiece. But drained of energy and playing only on instinct, he pulled out after just one point of the fifth set.

"I'm sorry, I did all I could. I just can't play anymore," Connors told umpire Bruno Rebeuh after 3 hours, 34 minutes of play. "Believe me, if I could stay out here and play, I would."

Connors, who has played sparingly in the last three years and is splitting his time here between the courts and the television booth, had to be helped up the stairs to the locker room by trainer Bill Norris.

"I was run ragged for four hours. My back is stiff. But it was fun," Connors told reporters.

meter dash, Tim Collins, who claimed third in the 50 meters and fifth in the softball throw, Susie Mullen, who came in seventh in the 50 meter dash and fourth in the softball throw, Michael Cotten, who wound up second in the 50 meter dash and fifth in the softball throw, first place winner in the standing long jump and 400 meter race walk's second place finisher Randy Underwood and Wesley Collins who took third in the 100 meter dash and a sixth in the softball throw. Sutton's 131 leads Kemper POTOMAC, Md. (AP) — Hal Sutton shot a 65 on Friday to reach the halfway point of the Kemper Open at 11-under 131, a tournament-record, and one stroke ahead of Greg Norman and Billy Andrade.

Sutton, vying for his first tournament victory since 1986, had three birdies and an eagle over the final seven holes. He has 10 birdies and just one bogey in two trips over the 6,904-yard TPC at Avenel course.

Norman, who started on the back nine, had eight birdies in a round of 65. But he missed a chance to share the lead when he hit into the rough on No. 7 and took a bogey.

Finishing around six hours after Sutton and Norman, Andrade shot a 64 to tie a tournament record held by several golfers. He had an eagle and two birdies over the first five holes, then returned after a 47-minute lightning delay to get four birdies over the last six holes.

Bob Gilder, who shared the first-round lead with Scott Gump, was tied with Bill Cochran at 133. Howard Twitty was among a group of nine players at 134, and Gump was one of three players at 135.

Jeff Sluman shot a 64, eight players had 65s and five shot 66s.

8-9 Year-Old League
Cubs 9, Indians 2
The Cubs exploded for six runs in the last of the third inning Friday to roll past the Indians, 9-2. Allen Smith and Bebos Martinez each slammed a double and two singles while Indian teammates Heath Pinkerton, Eric Perez, John Martinez, Mike Martinez, Robert Stanley and Robert McDaniel each singled. Matt Tucker and Rocky Gill managed two hits apiece for the Tribe. Matthew Billings, Justin Guy, Joe Dan Davenport and Paul Camp each lashed a base hit.

Giants 9, Braves 2
James Payne hammered a triple, Glen Burk added a double and a single and Marcus Diaz and Fernando Candanosa each punched a two-bagger to lead the Giants' offensive attack Friday. Brady Hackfield, Ricky Halford and Michael Diaz nailed a pair of hits apiece and Miguel Infante, Jason Dennis, Jonathan Hensley, Colby Stoker and Jeremy Border all singled. David Sutton and Adam Beck each had a three-hit night for the Braves. Layne Scott, David Digby and Greg McAnaw punched a pair of hits apiece and Trey Roemisch, Jenson Gainer, Sterling Doty, Cole Jackson, Adam Lucero and Michael Gibson each had a base rap.

Farm League
Cubs 15, Indians 5
Jimmy Murphy belted a triple and a double and Seth Crawford added two hits, one for an extra base, as the Cubs beat the Indians Friday. Ty Jones was credited with a double for the winners, Drew Wall, Troy Botts and Mark Rodriguez each singled twice and Caleb Calloway popped a hit. Clark Church doubled for the Indians, Chris Fuentez drilled two singles and Russell Havner, Ben Boyd and Joe Havner each smacked a base hit.

Giants 12, Braves 3
Brett Gibson fanned six Braves and slapped a single as the Giants posted a Farm League win Friday. Jared Hester tripled for the Giants, as did Jason Blackwood, John Ortegon ripped a double and Brady Cobb and Hester added singles. The Braves managed six hits including two from Toby Zalman and one each by Stevie Gordon, Stanley Robbins, Gabriel Hernandez and Eric Rodriguez.

Girls' softball results

Division II
Devastators 15, Wrecking Crew 13
The Devastators used a six-run fourth inning and a triple and a single from Sam Trevino to ease past the Wrecking Crew Friday night. Tabitha Dunham added a pair of extra-base hits for the winners, Norma Maldonado belted a single and a double and Renee Trevino, Katey Galloway, Michelle Arnold and Sarah Pierce each singled. Gabby Lucero homered for the Wrecking Crew. Judy Camp contributed a double, Halesa Huestis hammered three hits, Haley Brown and Melanie Kidd each singled twice and Calley Parks got a hit.

Angels 14, Colorado City Pandas 6
The Angels rolled past Colorado City's Pandas Friday, 14-6 behind winning pitcher Kristen and a three-hit night by Amy that included a homer a double and a triple. No last names were listed. Kristen slapped a two-sacker and a single, Katie popped a triple, Lindsey doubled and singled and Ashley, Lexie and Tisha knocked a hit apiece. Michelle from the Pandas managed a single.

Full Effect 16, Jade Babes 15
The Jade Babes' last-inning comeback effort fell a run short Friday as the Full Effect took the narrow UGSA win in spite of a seven-run fifth inning by the Babes. Heather Ward pounded a double and a single for the Full Effect, Jamie Franks lifted three hits, Katie Thornton, winning pitcher Mandy Baker and Haley Ingram each drilled two singles and Genifer Vantine laced a base rap. Brooke Lowrance punched three hits for the Jade Babes, including a double, Jaclyn Morris had two hits, one for an extra base, Jodi White doubled and Amy Vaughn tapped a pair of singles.

Little League
Indians 4, Cubs 2
Winning pitcher Patrick Cumbie of the Indians slapped a double and a single from the plate and guided the Tribe to a streak-breaking win over the Cubs, who hadn't lost since late in the 1989 season. Paul O'Connor and Toby Delce each pounded two hits, Johnny Pena doubled and Eric Tovar tapped a single for the Indians. David Smith's double and singles by Chris Ramirez and Cory Mandrell paced the Cubs. The Cubs are now 8-1 on the season, 1-1 in the second half, while the Tribe sports an identical season slate and a 2-0 record in the second half.

Braves 8, Giants 7
Teddy Murray pitched the Braves to a Friday night win and added a triple and single from the plate. Other Braves hitting were Matthew Fambro, with a double and a single, and Dustin Fish with a base hit. Brett Kime and Michael Burton each tripled and singled for the Giants and Andy Parker lifted a single. The Braves move to 5-4 on the campaign while the Giants slide to 2-7.

Ex-police officer extradited

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A former Norman police officer accused of killing a University of Oklahoma student and his date 21 years ago was extradited from Texas to Oklahoma on Friday, authorities said.

Frank Gilley arrived in Norman about 1 p.m., escorted by a Cleveland County sheriff's deputy and a Norman Police Department investigator, Sheriff John Walsh said.

Gilley will remain in the Cleveland County jail until a court appearance at 2 p.m. Monday, at which time he'll enter a plea on the first-degree murder charges, Walsh said.

No bond had been set, Walsh said.

Prosecutors allege the 55-year-old DeSoto, Texas, resident shot to death University of Oklahoma student David Sloan and his date, Sheryl Benham, in May 1970.

Sloan, 21, of Amarillo, Texas, and Ms. Benham, 19, of Oklahoma City, were last seen at a May 9, 1970, Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity party.

The couple's bullet-riddled bodies were found 1½ days later in the trunk of Sloan's car on a rural lover's lane west of Norman.

Ms. Benham was nude and had been shot in the face and chest. Sloan's shoes were missing and he also had been shot repeatedly.

A Dallas County judge ordered Gilley extradited to Oklahoma April 22, but Gilley's attorney in Texas, Dennis Brewer Sr., filed an appeal to the order, thus suspending the process.

Brewer's assistant, Nanci Frederick, on Friday said Gilley recently decided to stop fighting extradition back to Oklahoma following a re-examination of the case.

A Cleveland County grand jury indicted Gilley on two counts of first-degree murder and one count of perjury March 1.

As a police officer, Gilley was assigned to the area where the bodies were found.

He was considered to be a suspect when he quit his job shortly after their bodies were found.

Palestinians abuses continue

KUWAIT CITY (AP) — The Kuwaiti government has been slow to stop abuses against Palestinians ranging from torture to petty harassment like a lack of garbage collection in their neighborhoods, Western diplomats and human rights groups say.

"What has emerged as the most serious problem is the violence at the level of security forces in police stations," said Kenneth Roth, deputy director of the New York-based Human Rights Watch.

Crown Prince Saad Abdullah al-Sabah condemned the torture in a speech this week, saying the continued use of police stations for torture is "unacceptable and could not continue."

But the torture hasn't stopped, and it has spawned a pervasive sense of fear among Palestinians who must also cope with the loss of their jobs and things like the piles of stinking trash left uncollected in Hawalli, the main Palestinian neighborhood.

Amnesty International and other human rights groups say hundreds of Palestinians and other foreigners have been arbitrarily detained and beaten in revenge attacks by vigilante groups and security forces since Iraqi forces were driven out of Kuwait in late February.

Palestinians, in particular, feel they are being punished for the pro-Iraqi stance of Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat, and for the few hundred collaborators who helped Iraq find military and resistance leaders.

They also feel the abuse is part of a government tactic to trim their numbers from a pre-war high of 400,000 down to about 50,000. About 150,000 Palestinians remain in Kuwait City.

"Every day somebody on the street yells, 'Hey Palestinian, what are you still doing here?'" said computer programmer Aida Jarrad.

R. L. POLK & CO. CITY DIRECTORY DIVISION

7168 Envoy Court Dallas, TX 75247-5180 FAX (214) 631-8662

OPEN LETTER TO THE RESIDENTS OF SNYDER, TEXAS

Dear Residents:

R.L. POLK & Co. is a member of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce and has served businesses and residents of Snyder for 31 years by providing directory information.

This year, for the first time, R.L. POLK & CO. has provided a copy of its directory to every household in Snyder. Previously, a Polk City Directory has been distributed to area businesses and has been available at your Chamber of Commerce and public library.

Local businesses desiring to communicate with customers and prospective customers have been the principal users of our directory. Yet over the years, our directory information has been used to quickly identify locations and individuals in emergency situations. Our listings also have assisted city officials in assessing population trends and public transportation requirements, and there have been occasions when the postal service has used our directory to locate residents and addresses.

For those of you seeing a Polk directory for the first time, our directory lists information obtained from public sources, including information obtained by our enumerators in their door-to-door visits. If, however, you wish your listing to be removed from this directory, you may do so simply by notifying me in writing.

I sincerely hope you will find this household copy of our directory useful in your day-to-day activities.

Sincerely,

Doyle A. Peterson
District Manager
Southwest District

P.S. Directories will be delivered by West Texas TaeKwonDo Academy to raise funds for National Competition.

Doctors complaining about proposed Medicare changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors are objecting to the Bush administration's proposed Medicare fee schedule because it would reduce overall physician payment levels.

The American Medical Association says the administration's "inappropriate interpretation" of the law Congress passed in 1989 takes money away from surgeons and other specialists but does not channel all of the savings to the family doctors and rural physicians.

In 1992, when the fee schedule would begin to be phased in, Medicare payments to physicians would be around $32 billion, about the same as this year. This meets the law's requirement that the changes be "budget neutral" the first year.

But in 1996, when the plan would be phased in fully, physicians payments would be $3 billion less than would have been spent if no changes were made.

Under the plan, Medicare payments to physicians would be around $50 billion that year, instead of $53 billion if no changes were made.

Federal health officials say they weren't trying to cut Medicare. The reduction, they said, was an unintended effect of the transition mechanism Congress wrote into the law.

"We are not trying to save money with this regulation," said Gail Wilensky, head of the Health Care Financing Administration, which includes Medicare.

The change, intended to become final in five months, "sends signals to have doctors more involved in primary care by making it more rewarding," she said.

Medicare serves about 34 million elderly and disabled Americans. Because of its size, its revisions are watched closely and often followed by the private insurance industry.

BRIDGE OVER THE BRAZOS ...
In 1866 the growing settlement of Waco, on the banks of the Brazos River, needed a bridge to span the river. The Waco Bridge Company hired John A. Roebling, builder of the Brooklyn Bridge, to build a 475-foot suspension bridge. The bridge opened on January 6, 1870. Tolls for use were: horse and rider, ten cents; wagons, ten cents a wheel and five cents per animal; loose livestock and pedestrians, five cents a head.

Thank You

Our sincerest thanks to friends who called & came to our home with words of comfort, who sent food, flowers, cards, & who took time from their busy lives to join our family for E.J.'s funeral service. We are most grateful to Snyder EMS & Snyder Police Department for responding so quickly to my call for help and to Cogdell Emergency Room Personnel, who with EMS tried so valiantly to save E.J.'s life. We, who live in Snyder, are blessed to have such loving and caring people in our community. Our deepest appreciation to Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home personnel for doing everything possible to make this difficult time easier for us. Our special thanks to Jane Womack for the beautiful music and to Rev. Tim Griffin for the service. Each of you has touched our lives in a special way and for that we extend our sincerest and heartfelt appreciation. God Bless You All.
Dixie and Gary Bergeron

Thank You

We take this opportunity in expressing our appreciation for the many kindnesses, the flowers and every expression of sympathy shown us. May God bless and keep you is our prayer.
The Family of John McCright

Carlsbad suffers lots of tornado damage

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) - A tornado ripped apart at least 10 trailers - most of them mobile trailers - and injured nine people in a rural area seven miles south of town, authorities said. Among the nine treated at Guadalupe Medical Center were an 8-month-old boy and a 3-year-old girl. Seven were treated for minor injuries and released, and the other two - a man and wife - were admitted early Saturday.

Births

Keenon Garcia announces the birth of his sister, K'Ana Rhea, on May 24 at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. She weighed seven pounds 9 1/2 ounces. Parents are Mark and Lena Garcia of Snyder. Grandparents are Allen and Sandy Hodges of Snyder and James and Janie Milton of Midland, and Emelda Garcia of Andrews. Great-grandparents are Bernice Hodges of Huntsville, Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Grimmer, Mr. and Mrs. Raul Rosas, and Mr. and Mrs. John Garcia, all of Snyder.

Police arrest four in quiet start of weekend

Snyder police made four misdemeanor arrests Friday night and early Saturday in an otherwise quiet 24-hour period for law enforcement activity. At 11:05 p.m. in the 2700 Block of Ave. F, a 22-year-old male was arrested for driving while intoxicated, driving while license suspended and for evading arrest. He was taken to the Scurry County jail. At 12:26 a.m. Saturday, an 18-year-old male and a 14-year-old juvenile were arrested for public intoxication in the 1400 Block of 26th St. The juvenile was released to his mother. At 12:27 a.m. in the 1100 Block of 28th St., a 21-year-old male was arrested for public intoxication. At 7:27 a.m. Friday, a clerk at the Skinney's store on East Highway reported that a customer had left without paying for $10.02 in gasoline. The subject was contacted and returned to pay for the gas. At 10:16 a.m., Joel Fitzgerald of 3906 Muriel Drive reported nursing supervisor Valerie Meyers said. Scott Maxwell, the incident commander, said at least 10 homes and possibly as many as 20 had been destroyed by the tornado Friday night. He said while most of the destroyed structures were trailers, there was also extensive damage to some fixed residences. "We are talking of damage to the point that they are uninhabitable," Maxwell said. Maxwell said he watched the tornado approach the rural area dotted with trailer homes, but finally was forced to seek shelter in his residence. "It took an area about an eighth of a mile wide and a mile in length," he said, adding the tornado was on the ground for about six to eight minutes. Maxwell said the tornado also snapped numerous powerlines and firemen had to shut off all butane lines in the area. Maxwell said the timing of the tornado - it touched down at approximately 8:42 p.m. MDT - probably helped prevent fatalities. "We were pretty lucky. It happened when a lot of people were still outside their houses. If it had happened at two or three in the morning, we would probably have had some fatalities," he said. Joe Cabezuela said he saw the tornado coming and only had time to jump into an irrigation ditch before the winds destroyed a nearby trailer. "It was big and black," he said of the twister. "When the tornado hit (the trailer), it just blew apart." Jackie Mitchell said she ventured out her front door to see the twister just before it hit. "It was humongous. The biggest thing I've ever seen," she said. "It was so close I could have reached out and touched it, but I ran back inside and jumped in the bathtub. That's all I could think to do." One of the injured, Mary Tanner, 38, said her family huddled together on the floor of their trailer when the tornado struck without warning. "The trailer started moving. Things started falling off the walls, falling all around us," Mrs. Tanner said in a telephone interview from the National Guard Armory, which was set up as a relief center. "I got hit in the back of the head with something. I don't know what it was." She said she, husband Dennis, 39, their 15-year-old son and their daughter-in-law piled on top of her 6-month-old grandson to protect him.

Obituaries

Oran Clark
1912-1991
Funeral services are set for 2 p.m. Sunday at the Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home Chapel for Oran Kendale Clark, 78, who died Friday at Snyder Nursing Center. Judge nixes plan to fine reporter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge Friday reversed his decision to impose daily $1,500 fines against a reporter who refuses to divulge the source of a secret police report about the videotaped beating of a black motorist.

"I don't want to be sucked into a political controversy with the Los Angeles Times," Superior Court Judge Bernard Kamins said. "I have great respect for them and great respect for the press."

The judge ordered Times reporter Richard Serrano to pay a one-time $1,500 fine for refusing to disclose his source.

Kamins, who originally ordered a $1,500 fine for every day that Serrano refused to disclose his source, said he researched the law overnight and reconsidered.

He said he also was swayed by a legal brief in which the Times' lawyers argued that the law prohibits multiple punishments for a single act.

"I don't want to be fooled into diverting my attention away from the issues at trial," said the judge, who is presiding in the assault case of four police officers accused of beating Rodney King. The trial is scheduled to begin June 19. The March 3 beating, videotaped by an amateur cameraman, led to a Justice Department review of police brutality nationwide.

Kamins stayed payment of the fine until June 10 to give the Times a chance to appeal.

Work Is Good for the Soul As Well as for the Purse

DEAR ABBY: When we bought our home up north 30 years ago, this motto was tacked to the frame of the entrance. We thought it was appropriate then, and still is now.

I thought you might want to share it with your readers.

A.M.T. IN FLORIDA

GO TO WORK AND SAVE $$

If you are poor — work.
If you are rich — continue to work.
If you are happy — keep right on working.
Idleness gives you room for doubts and fears.
If disappointments come — work.
If sorrow overwhelms you, and loved ones seem not true — work.
When faith falters and reason fails — just work.
When dreams are shattered and hope seems dead — work.
Work as if your life was in peril. It really is.
Whatever happens or matters — work.

Work faithfully — work with faith.
Work is the greatest material remedy available.

Work will cure both mental and physical afflictions.
— From the "Silent Partner"

DEAR A.M.T.: Thanks for a worthwhile addition to this space. But how about all those people who are willing and eager to work, but cannot find a job?

DEAR ABBY: This letter is for all of those frustrated housewives who wonder if they've gone off their rockers when they find only one sock in the washing machine. You dealt with this problem some time ago by stating that washers and dryers do not eat socks.

Sorry, Abby, but the washer is, in fact, the culprit. I have worked in customer service for General Electric Major Home Appliance Repairs for many years, and we were instructed to tell our customers that the washing action of the water will sometimes push a lighter item, i.e. a sock or washcloth, over the top of the inner tub into the space between the inner and outer tub — and during the pumping cycle it can be washed down the sewer.

I have scheduled hundreds of service calls for socks to be removed from the pump of a washing machine. So, women, take heart, and tell your husbands to go yell at the washer!

NEW ORLEANS WOMAN

DEAR NEW ORLEANS WOMAN: I'm sure that many who have thought they were going crazy after discovering an odd number of socks in their washing machines will appreciate your explanation. Here's suds in your eye!

DEAR ABBY: My husband thinks I'm some kind of cleanliness nut because I shower every night before going to bed. I believe it's just good personal hygiene. Please comment.

SHOWER FREAK (HIS NAME FOR ME)

DEAR SHOWER FREAK: I'm with you. Cleanliness is next to godliness.

DEAR ABBY: I have just been informed of a very delicate situation, and I am not sure how to handle it. My husband and I separated for a short time in September 1988. While separated, I started seeing another man. It was a very brief encounter, needless to say. Since then, my husband and I are together again — and I have given birth to a son.

I recently ran into some friends who knew of this other man and also live near him. My friend told me some very disturbing news about this man. He has been diagnosed HIV-positive. Needless to say, I was floored hearing this. I plan to be tested very soon.

The problem is: Should I discuss this with my husband? If I tell him, it could destroy what is left of our marriage, especially if the test is negative. On the other hand, he has a right to know that the risk is there.

I cannot even comprehend the fact of AIDS. The thing that gets me more than anything is my son. I had him after the fact. Is he infected? I could not live with myself knowing that my lack of self-control could possibly kill both of us. Please help me any way you can.

DEVASTATED

DEAR DEVASTATED: You must be tested immediately to determine whether you have been infected, and have your questions answered first-hand. Call the government AIDS hotline, 1 (800) 342-AIDS, to find the location of a center near you for anonymous testing. If you are positive, then you must discuss this with your husband, and both your husband and your child should be tested.

If you are negative — it's "our" secret.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old high school sophomore and my parents have this rule: I cannot go in cars driven by any of my friends. Abby, they have driver's licenses and are all good drivers, but my folks won't listen. I hope to get my own driver's license when I turn 16. I'm taking Driver's Education in school.

I have been asked on dates by guys my age, but of course I can't go because of this dumb rule my parents are sticking to. Abby, it's very embarrassing to be driven places by my parents.

— Why do parents worry so much? It's like they don't ever want their kids to grow up.

FOREVER A BABY

DEAR FOREVER: Why do parents worry so much? Because it's every parent's nightmare that their teen-ager will be badly hurt — or killed — in an automobile accident.

If your friends who drive would meet your parents and impress them with their maturity and sense of responsibility, it may make a big difference in your parents' attitude. It's worth a try.

DEAR ABBY: I do something I think more people would do if they just stopped for a moment and thought about it. I have a very select list of charities I always give to. But when I send a check, I also include a short note: "Please do not send me a thank-you! Save the postage. My canceled check is my receipt."

DON C. IN K.C., MO.

DEAR DON: Thanks. I learned something today. Most charities need every penny they can raise.

To get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter-Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Mother gets life sentence for murder

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — A woman who blamed a mother-in-law's curse for the deaths of six of her children likely killed her children one by one over a 14-year period because she craved attention brought by the deaths, investigators said Friday.

Diana Lumbra, 32, pleaded no contest in Parmer County district court Thursday to one count of murder in the 1982 death of her 2-year-old daughter, Melinda Ann Garza, as part of a plea bargain. She was sentenced to life in prison.

In exchange, the state agreed to drop charges that she killed two other daughters and the daughter of a cousin. Ms. Lumbra was due to begin a series of four murder trials on Monday.

Selden Hale, Ms. Lumbra's attorney, said the odds were likely stacked against his client.

"These cases were not that clear cut," Hale said Friday. "The evidence that they had was 10 years old in some instances and I think it was a real possibility that a jury could have found that she was not guilty."

"But if you try five of them over a period of time the odds of a jury finding her guilty go up."

Parmer County Sheriff Rex

Williams, who led the investigation into the deaths of four of Ms. Lumbra's children, said evidence and testimony from doctors indicated she sacrificed her infants for the condolences she received from others.

"From what I could tell she was one of those people that just craves attention," Williams said. "I think she did it for the attention she got from friends and family while she was grieving."

Ms. Lumbra has been accused of killing five of her children under the age of 5 and a sixth child who was the daughter of a cousin. The deaths occurred between 1976 and 1990. The death of another of her children, Christopher Lumbra, is under investigation in Dimmitt, 85 miles northwest of Lubbock.

Ms. Lumbra is awaiting trial in Lubbock on charges of murdering her 2-month old son, Jose Lionel Garza, on Feb. 13, 1978. Prosecutors in that case said Friday they are trying to negotiate a plea bargain.

A jury in Garden City, Kan., where Ms. Lumbra had moved, convicted her last October of murdering her 4-year-old son, Jose Antonio, on May 1, 1990, and she was sentenced to life in prison.

Ms. Lumbra has claimed that her mother-in-law had cursed her, damning all of her children to early deaths.

Several doctors who testified in Ms. Lumbra's trial in Garden City claimed she suffers from Munchausen Syndrome, a condition in which a person constantly complains of acute illness, giving

Thirty percent of Iraq's oil monies to pay war damage

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The U.N. decision to devote no more than 30 percent of Baghdad's oil revenues to war compensation balances repaying victims of its invasion of Kuwait against the cost of rebuilding a war-ravaged Iraq.

Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar recommended the limit in a report Friday to the Security Council. The actual figure will be set by the U.N. Compensation Commission, but

Ex-residents grandchildren both graduate

Le'Ann Merrick, granddaughter of Elmer and Zola Askins of Big Spring, formerly of the Snyder and Gail area, has recently graduated from Amarillo College with an associates degree in dental hygiene.

She was listed as an honor student for maintaining a 3.6 GPA and was honored by being selected for membership in the Who's Who Society of American Junior Colleges.

Bryan Merrick, the Askins' grandson, graduated from Plainview High School and was recently presented with the Chapter Farmer award, Co-Op sales and service, proficiency ward with Future Farmers of America. He will now study paramedics at Amarillo College.

a dramatic history, all of which is false.

Hale said no doctor examined his client closely enough to make allegations about her mental condition.

"There is absolutely no connection between Munchausen Syndrome and this defendant," Hale said. "It's an exotic sounding alleged disease that makes good newspaper print."

It is expected to be close to Perez de Cuellar's.

Iraq will need about $8 billion in 1991 to pay for needed civilian imports, the secretary-general said. His report projected that annual Iraqi oil exports will rise to about $21 billion by 1993.

Iraq will not benefit immediately from his decision. Sanctions barring it from selling oil are not likely to be lifted soon, because Iraq has not met truce conditions, which include destroying weapons of mass destruction.

Nations led by the United States and Kuwait had recommended that Baghdad be forced to pay compensation of at least half of its oil revenues as punishment for the Aug. 2 invasion.

Kuwait estimates its damages at $60 billion, including oil wells set ablaze by fleeing Iraqi troops.

Center plans Head Start

The Snyder Child Day Care Center will provide a Head Start program for three and four year olds beginning in August.

Applications are available from the center office at 115 31st.

Children in the program will attend class for six to eight hours each day, and they will be provided with breakfast, lunch and two snacks. There is no charge for the program or the meals.

Head Start, according to director Shirley Fritz, is a comprehensive program that meets the emotional, social, health, nutritional and psychological needs of children and prepares them for entrance into public schools.

Children will receive a complete examination to include vision and hearing tests, identification of handicapping conditions, immunizations, and a dental exam. Followup treatment is provided for identified health problems.

Head Start children, Fritz said, score higher than comparable non-Head Start students in preschool achievement tests. Studies also show that Head Start children perform equal to or better than their peers when entering a regular school.

Littlepage retires after 30 years of teaching

By Shirley A. Gorman
SDN News Editor

Jo Ann Littlepage, a 30-year veteran of the Snyder School System, retired at the end of the 1990-91 school year. A primary grades teacher throughout her long career, she had taught the second grade at both Central, North and Stanfield after moving to Snyder in 1952.

Her first principal at Central, her first assignment in Snyder, was Joe Glass.

In 1956, she took a seven year leave of absence in order to have her children, Bryan Littlepage and Debra Kessler, both of Katy, and Karen Waller of Slaton. She also has four grandchildren.

Her husband James, who taught high school math for many years, retired two years ago.

Littlepage earned her bachelor's degree at East Texas State University and her masters at Sul Ross. After getting her undergraduate's degree, she said she met with M.E. Stanfield, former superintendent, who was at the university to interview potential teachers. She knew nothing about Snyder then but accepted the job anyway.

Littlepage, a native of Bonham, met her husband at a social at First United Methodist Church, and they were married a year later.

She said she always wanted to be a teacher but had not been sure she could afford to go to college. But everything worked out in her favor, and she has no regrets because "she always liked working with second graders."

Throughout her teaching career, she said she always tried to be both a teacher and a helper to her students and to make school enjoyable for them.

Changes throughout the past three decades have been numerous, but the subjects taught have remained basically the same. When she first began teaching, though, each teacher taught her own physical education classes and a music teacher came only once a week.

Students today have a harder time with their studies because of all the many distractions including TV and sports, which compete for their attention, she said.

Littlepage always tried to stimulate her students to read and learn by reading to them a little each day.

When asked what advice she would give to a new teacher, she said,

"Try to involve the parents as much as you can and use senior citizen volunteers to help children read. Be prepared to work a lot of hours and take time to prepare your lessons."

Now retired, Littlepage said she and her husband will probably spend time fishing and hunting arrow heads. A favorite spot is located on her sister's, Jess Evertt, farm in Borden County.

CHANGE OF PACE — No longer a teacher, Jo Ann Littlepage intends to find other things to do with her time. After 30 years in the profession, she has joined her husband, James, in retirement. Fishing, hunting for arrow heads, gardening and perhaps traveling are on their current agenda. (SDN Staff Photo)

Travel plans are still to be made, but if possible she said she might like to see the Yellowstone National Park.

Life goes on one week after allied forces arrive

DOHUK, Iraq (AP) — One week after allied soldiers entered this provincial capital, a Hindi soap opera plays at the movies, trucks carry Kurdish refugees home and "Hello, mister" springs from the lips of nearly every child.

But behind the gradual return to normalcy, Kurds in this northern city are increasingly pessimistic about the possibilities for a political agreement between their leaders and Saddam Hussein.

"What happens when the Americans go?" asked Naif Zeru, a vegetable grocer in Dohuk, part of the no-man's land between Iraqi and allied forces.

"How is the life?" asked Kurdish poet Abdullah Ahmed Zeru in his bookshop. "The life is no life."

An average of 16,000 people return to Dohuk from refugee camps every day in dumptrucks, farm wagons, cars and air-conditioned buses.

Talks between Kurdish leaders and Saddam's government appear deadlocked over Kurdish demands for more territory in their desired autonomous zone. The Kurds also want a greater say in the writing of Iraq's Constitution and are irked at a clause saying Iraq is part of the Arab nation.

In the week since the small allied detachment arrived to restore basic services, the population of Dohuk has ballooned to more than 145,000 — just over half of its size before the Kurdish rebellion and Saddam's crackdown.

Only about 50,000 people remain in transit camps on their way back from Turkey, where 450,000 Kurds sought refuge after the failed revolt.

Dohuk's hospitals, once empty, are now filled with sick and malnourished former refugees.

"If you would have told me eight weeks ago that I would be here, I would have said you were crazy," said Pierre Francois Pirlot, head of the office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. "We had planned on doing this (relocation of refugees) in seven months."

Letters sent to ex-patients of AIDS doctor

BEDFORD, Texas (AP) — A North Texas hospital has sent letters to 5,000 former patients of a doctor infected with the HIV virus who died due to complications of the AIDS disease, officials said Friday.

J. William Whitman Jr., Harris Methodist H.E.B.'s senior vice president, said he believes chances are very slim that any of the doctor's former patients could have been infected with the virus.

"We have reviewed our records and believe that there is virtually no chance that any of these patients could have been exposed to the HIV virus," Whitman said in a news release. "In fact, the Texas Department of Health and Centers for Disease Control ... both told us that the risk of transmission of HIV virus is highly unlikely and there is no cause for major concern."

Anesthesiologist Humberto Guajardo, who was on staff at Bedford's Harris Methodist H.E.B., from January 25, 1984, to December 28, 1989, died last February from AIDS complications, hospital officials said.

Hospital officials said they were not aware of Guajardo's illness until May 20, 17 months after he left the facility.

"We have worked with the family, and it is with their consent and cooperation that we were able to release information regarding the doctor's identity and cause of his death," said Nancy Strickland, vice president and general counsel with Harris Methodist Health Services.

Whitman said the letters were sent to inform patients about the situation and "reassure them by providing the best, sound scientific information available."

The hospital also announced Friday it has set up a special telephone bank of health care professionals to answer patients' questions about AIDS and HIV.

Bedford is about 20 miles west of Dallas.

Former patients with questions about the disease can call 817-685-51007 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily.

By Shirley A. Gorman

Erica Poland is a fighter. Born three months premature on Feb. 4, 1991, the second daughter of Jeff and Opal Poland, was barely given a 50-50 chance to survive.

Weighing only two pounds at birth, doctors at the premature birth wing at Harris Methodist Trauma Center in Fort Worth, were cautious as they outlined a medical plan which they hoped would at least give Erica a fighting chance to survive.

Doctors told her parents to take their newborn daughter's progress "one day at a time."

In spite of her birth weight and slightly underdeveloped retina and immune system, Erica did begin to improve one day at a time. After initially losing three ounces, dropping her weight to 1.9 pounds, she steadily began to gain weight, about an ounce a day.

Eventually she was able to be fed by bottle and finally was released from the hospital on April 7. Though Erica continues to thrive under the loving care of her parents and big sister Ashley, 4, she still has a ways to go before she will get a "clean bill of health." But the Polands are optimistic that the worst is behind them and that Erica will continue to receive good reports from the pediatrician in San Angelo who is now her doctor.

While things may be easing up slightly for the Poland family now it was quite a different story a few short months ago. In spite of having a "perfect pregnancy" with Ashley, Mrs. Poland was plagued with "placenta previa" throughout her second pregnancy.

Erica's ordeal began early in February when her mother was hospitalized in Abilene because of premature and continuous contractions.

She was stabilized and released, but then had to be re-admitted after the contractions and bleeding started again. Mrs. Poland's condition by then was so serious that doctors in Abilene wanted to have her flown to Fort Worth. But as that city was fogged in, it was determined that an ambulance could arrive there by the time the fog lifted.

She was placed inside an ambulance and, accompanied by a neo-nato nurse and a baby's nurse, she made the trip to Fort Worth in a record two hours and 15 minutes.

Regulations prevented Jeff from riding in the ambulance so he followed behind by private car. En route to Fort Worth, Mrs. Poland said the nurses "kept her laughing to keep her spirits up." Her contractions were 2½-3 minutes apart.

Because Erica weighed only two pounds and was 13½ inches long at birth, the Polands said they were told that babies that small "don't do well, especially boys."

At that time, they said Erica's lungs were their greatest concern. Then, no one knew whether she could pull through or not, but the Polands "prayed and felt positive," and even though they were scared, they said they always "felt positive from the beginning."

Erica was placed in a special incubator and had numerous monitors attached to her. Her parents could only reach a hand inside the incubator and place it on their tiny daughter who was then so small that one of her parents' hands almost covered her up. Her head was so tiny that it could barely fit in the palm of a hand.

THE WORST IS OVER — The worst now seems to be over for Erica Poland who was born three months premature but is now doing so well that doctors in Fort Worth have let her parents, Jeff and Opal Poland, take her home. Big sister, Ashley, 4, is very happy Erica is home with her. (SDN Staff Photo)

"It was very difficult for me to see Erica like she was in the hospital," Mrs. Poland said. She wanted to stay in the hospital but doctors advised them to go home because there "wasn't anything they could do."

Also, doctors wanted Mrs. Poland to recover from her second cesarean delivery. So, from Feb. 4-April 7 they commuted to Fort Worth every weekend. During the week, they tried to lead as normal a life as they could. They called the hospital everyday and Erica's doctor called them every other day, to give them a progress report.

During this critical period, the Polands said they were not allowed to hold or stimulate Erica in any way as the doctors did not want their daughter to "burn any calories."

Mrs. Poland said the nurses at the hospital were "wonderful." They talked to Erica all the time, kept her room decorated and put a bow in her hair every time her mother came to see her.

In addition, Poland's older sister who is employed at a hospital nearby where Erica was, visited her niece every day.

In the beginning, Erica was fed through a tube, similar to an IV, which was attached to her stomach. When she had gained up to three pounds, 10 ounces, she was placed on the bottle. Prior to that sucking the nipple of the bottle would have caused her to use up too many calories.

Once past the two-pound mark, Poland said Erica began to "gain one ounce a day regularly." Even though this was a hopeful sign, he said the doctors were still being cautious and were still telling them to take things "one day at a time."

Tests were also conducted to determine what, if any, damage had been done as a result of Erica's arriving three months early.

A brain scan revealed no bleeding in the brain area which was considered a "good sign."

Since her retina was underdeveloped, Erica's eyes were and still are to a certain extent a concern. After her birth, Erica was given oxygen and it too much oxygen gets into the bloodstream it can damage the eyes.

Until doctors were sure Erica could breathe on her own they took her on and off oxygen to prevent too much from building up in her bloodstream. The oxygen was necessary though because sometimes the effort to breathe on her own was making her too tired.

Since a baby's vision capabilities don't develop until just prior to birth, Erica's retina hadn't had enough time to develop properly. Within the past few weeks, she has received a good checkup from the San Angelo pediatrician and all "looks good" with her vision. But another examination six months from now will determine whether Erica's vision is really okay or not.

Erica was allowed to go home with her parents when she reached four pounds and seven ounces. Usually four pounds, eight ounces is required, but doctors felt Erica was doing well enough to be released.

Their advice to the departing Polands was, "treat Erica just like you would any other baby." And that is essentially what they have been doing, with a few exceptions.

Erica has to be fed formula with iron every 2 1/2-3 hours around the clock. Plus she takes prescription vitamins. Also, since Erica does not yet weigh enough to begin immunizations, the Polands were told to keep her at home as much as possible and especially away from crowds.

So far Erica has been spared any respiratory infections, but her nose occasionally gets stopped up.

During her last checkup, two weeks prior to this interview, (May 20) Erica weighed six pounds, 10 ounces. At eight pounds, the inoculations will begin.

Even though the Polands are a close family, this experience with Erica has "brought them even closer together." In addition, Ashley loves having her sister home and is "very protective" of her. Occasionally, she visited her newborn sister in the Fort Worth Hospital.

The Polands closeness and belief in God has helped carry them through this crisis, but both readily say they "couldn't have survived without the love and support of the people of Snyder, especially the staff at Snyder County Club where Poland is the general manager. His wife also works there.

"Everyone was so generous to us. People were willing to fly or drive to Fort Worth at a moment's notice. Everyone always asked about Erica and still do everytime we go into a store. They were very good to help with Ashley also," the Polands said.

"People continuously kept us going by encouraging us and helping in so many ways. It made things easier just knowing they were there," they said.

As long as Erica continues to do well, they won't have to take her back to Fort Worth. They both said they feel very confident with their doctor in San Angelo because he has also served as Ashley's doctor.

The Polands moved to Snyder from Ballinger two years ago this October. He is from Albuquerque, N.M., originally and Mrs. Poland is from Ballinger.

The University of Virginia won the North American College Bridge Championship in Atlantic City. In the final, four doctoral students - John Prince, Hank Strauch, John Miller and Scott Tumperi - beat the team from Cal Tech by a score of 87 to 77 IMPs.

On this deal, neither team managed to reach the easy six-spade slam, both ending in six clubs. In the given auction, the eccentric one-no-trump opening bid promised 12-14 points. Perhaps North had learned that with three honors or tricks, one must open, but his choice made it impossible to find the spade fit. South's response was natural and game-forcing, but also promised a four-card major on the side.

At the other table, when the Cal Tech declarer found that he had a definite club loser, he decided to play East for both the jack and the queen of spades. He finessed the 10 of spades through East, but West won with the queen, defeating the contract.

Miller did better, adopting a line based on a crossruff. He won the diamond lead with dummy's ace, ruffed a diamond, cashed the A-K of spades and A-K-Q of hearts, and trumped his last heart in the dummy. He ruffed a diamond in hand, played a club to dummy's ace and trumped the last diamond with his 10 of clubs. That was 11 tricks in, with the queen of clubs still to come. The final trick contained both West's spade winner and East's top trump.

The swing was 970 points or 14 IMPs, four more than Virginia's margin of victory.

WEDDING PLANNED — The parents of Melissa Neff Cook and Kenneth (Skip) Craig, both of Snyder, announce the engagement of their children. A wedding has been planned for Sunday, June 9 at 2 p.m. at the K.A.C. Ranch, on Highway 36 East in Hamilton. (Family Photo)

TO BE MARRIED — Doctors Duane and Mary Hood announce the engagement of their daughter, Deanne, to Stephen Montgomery Harrup Jr., son of Stephen Harrup of Waco and Phyllis Kloeckner of Austin. The couple has set their wedding date for July 27 at 7 p.m. at Colonial Hill Baptist Church. The future bride is a 1987 graduate of Snyder High School and a 1990 graduate of Angelo State University. She teaches fourth grade in Lancaster. The future groom is a 1983 graduate of Midway High School and a 1988 graduate of Southwest Texas University. He is employed by Glidden Paint Company as a dealer account merchandiser in Dallas. (Private Photo)

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. David Burkett of Midland announce the engagement of their daughter, Kami Burkett, to Kevin Scheller. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Waylon Scheller of Panhandle. Currently, Miss Burkett resides in Arlington where she is a pharmacist at Kroger's. Scheller currently lives in Fort Worth and is an engineer at General Dynamics. The couple plans to marry Aug. 10 at Fort Worth. Grandparents of the bride-elect are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McCraw of Midland and grandparents of the future groom are Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Eppers of Abilene. (Private Photo)

Griffins to celebrate 45th anniversary here

Joel W. and Lois "Shine" Griffin Sr. of Snyder will be honored by their children with a reception 3-5 p.m., Sunday, June 2 at Trinity United Methodist Church. Hosting the event are Julia Griffin of Abilene and Joel W. Jr. and Margie Griffin and their son, Benjamin.

Griffin was born Jan. 13, 1920, at the Kennard Ranch in Clyde, and Mrs. Griffin was born Nov. 5, 1918 at Baird. The couple married in Abilene and have lived in Baird, Abilene, Phillips, S.D., and Snyder where they both retired from teaching. The couple's third child, Larmer Griffin, is deceased.

A life member of the NEA, TSTA, and POW Association, Griffin retired as principal after 33 years in the school system. Mrs. Griffin taught school 20 years prior to her retirement. The couple have one grandchild and are members of the Methodist Church.

BOOK FEATURE

"Deadly Weekend," by John Dillman.

In this chilling true story of murder, we enter the dangerous world of fast money and cold-blooded killers in New Orleans. On Jan. 19, 1978, Mark Sheppard, a 50 year old M.D. from St. Petersburg, Fla., disappeared in the French Quarter. What began as a routine missing persons case escalated into a front page challenge. Detective Dillman, assigned to find the doctor, scoured the Big Easy for clues. Even as he closed in on the suspects, another mystery was only beginning.

Henson's last work

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Miss Piggy, Kermit the Frog and the muppet entourage starred at the opening of Jim Henson's Muppet-Vision 3D spectacular at Disney-MGM Studios Theme Park.

They joined Disney characters including Mickey Mouse, Minny Mouse, Goofy and Roger Rabbit, who rode convertibles in a procession down New York Street on Thursday.

Miss Piggy and Kermit set off fireworks to open the show, which uses advanced three-dimension technology and special effects that simulate wind and rain.

"One of the things that makes this a particularly exciting occasion is that this is Jim Henson's last major work," said Michael Firth, an executive of Henson Productions.

Henson, who created the muppets featured on the longtime PBS children's show "Sesame Street," died in May 1990.

Girl Scout activities held

A Girl Scout mother/daughter tea, a come and go affair, was held at the Girl Scout Hut on May 13 from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Scouts, Daisies through Cadettes, and guests, were served refreshments by leaders Jo Ann Cearley, Joni Huffman, Jane Donaldson, Missie Rogers and Judi Martin.

A city-wide Brownie bowling party was held at Snyder Lanes May 28, 4-5:30 p.m.

Junior Girl Scout Troop 243 had their campout and slumber party at the Girl Scout Hut May 17-19. Activities included painting T-shirts and socks, making barrettes, learning how to build a campfire, carrying banners for the Desert Storm soldiers in the Armed Forces Day Parade, working on badgework, playing volleyball, cooking, learning new songs and creating skits and performing them.

During the cookout, using the buddy system, the girls were responsible for helping in some way to share the work load of preparing a meal through clean-up. On Sunday morning, the scouts had a "jungle breakfast." The cooks took fresh fruit and individual cereal packets and hid them in the trees behind the scout hut and the rest of the troop and the leaders had to search for their breakfast.

This troop held their end of the year party May 25 at the Westerner Golf Land and the Dairy Queen.

These activities were made possible, according to the GS leaders, due to the bonus money from the cookie sale held in February and March.

Contest newsletter

NEW YORK (AP) — The "Cooking Contest Chronicle" is a monthly publication with announcements of cooking contests, including entry forms; prize-winning recipes; and cookbook reviews.

The newsletter is written in a warm, conversational tone. For example, in a recent issue, editor-publisher Karen Martis informed readers that one of the subscribers would be participating in a national chicken cooking contest. "I'm certain more CCC subscribers will be joining her," Martis wrote. "If you are, how about dropping me a line? We would all like to share some of your excitement!"

The newsletter, now in its sixth year of publication, has about 2,500 subscribers nationwide ($19.95 for 12 issues).

If present population trends continue beyond the year 2000, the world's farmers will have to grow as much food in the first two decades of the new century as was produced over the past 10,000 years, predicts National Geographic.

COUPLE PLANS VOWS — Ms. Billye Robbins of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Robbins of Inadale announce the engagement of their daughter Brandy to Randy Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Stewart of Dalhart. The couple will exchange vows on July 20 in the Odom Chapel of First United Methodist Church. (Photo by Harley Bynum Photography)

JULY WEDDING SET — Patricia and Robert MacLeod of Justin, Calif., Marvin Hoskinson of Tuscon, Ariz., and Buddy and Sandy Collins of Snyder announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their children, Christopher Jon Hoskinson of Apple Valley, Calif., and Dristyl Renee Collins of Snyder. Sharing in this pleasure are Jack and Claudine Hickerson of Apple Valley, Calif., grandparents of the future groom, and David and Delena Collins of Borger, and Ben and Dolores Wooten of Folsom, N.M., grandparents of the bride-to-be. Wedding vows will be exchanged at 2 p.m. July 13 at Colonial Hill Baptist Church with a reception to follow. (Private Photo)

Borden Co. wildflower pilgrimage

Members of the Snyder Garden Club met at 8:30 a.m. at the Martha Ann Woman's Club for a "wildflower pilgrimage" on May 2. The group left Snyder, via Highway 180, joining hostess Gussie Gray on their way to Fluvanna. There they stopped at the home of Lanette Patterson and were served refreshments.

The pilgrimage continued to the tip of the caprock, where it stopped to view a scenic point, and then on to Justiceburg making a stop at the chapel on the Miller Ranch.

Making their way to Post, they met Patsy Huckabee, past state garden club president, who was installing officer for Billie Jean Sterling, president; Gertrude League, first vice president; Mary Ann Key, second vice president; LaVerne Hood, third vice president; Bonnie Fry, recording secretary; Polly Autry, treasurer; Doris Beaver, corresponding secretary; Mary Carnes, reporter; Marie Dollins, historian; Bernice Parker, parliamentarian. These officers will serve a two-year term.

Following the installation, the group went from Post to Gail and then back to Snyder. In addition to the beautiful wildflowers, said past president Hood, we encountered a heavy, but welcome, rain that altered the schedule somewhat.

The pilgrimage ended the club's year of monthly meetings. Doris Beaver was also a hostess.

Harry S. Truman, the 33rd president of the United States, was born near Lamar, Mo., in 1884.

"FUN ROAST" HELD — A retirement party and "fun roast" was held May 16 at the Golden Corral for teacher Peggy English who is retiring at the close of the school year. From left are, Leslie English, her granddaughter; Ginger English, her daughter-in-law; Mrs. English; Shad Nachlinger, Carolyn Derouen, and Carolyn Limmer, hostesses. Other hostesses not pictured were Melinda Owens and Lisa Williams. (SDN Staff Photo)

Almost unknown in the United States, potentially disease-carrying Asian tiger mosquitoes were imported into Texas six years ago in used tires and have since become established in 17 states.

New Jersey became a British colony in 1664 as King Charles II granted land in the New World to his brother James, the Duke of York.

mother; the honoree; and standing, Mrs. Charles Bethel, her sister-in-law; Mrs. Jerry Hudson of Canyon, the future bridegroom's mother; and Julie Hudson of Canyon, his sister. The couple plans to exchange vows on June 29 at the First Presbyterian Church in Snyder. (SDN Staff Photo)

Queen stops, give thanks

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Queen Noor of Jordan stopped by the headquarters of the Christian Children's Fund to thank the relief agency's workers for sending emergency supplies and money to refugees in her country. "We're very appreciative of the support that's been offered," the American-born queen said Thursday.

At her request, the Christian Children's Fund sent Jordan 10,000 blankets and $50,000 at the height of the Persian Gulf War.

The queen, who is on a tour of the United States, said her country of 4 million people has been flooded with war refugees, including about 50,000 refugee children clogging the country's school system.

DENNIS THE MENACE

Country Life By Deanie Francis Mills

It would be pretty hard to explain to someone just exactly what you are doing in a remote country cemetery, alone, during a full moon.

Which is why I ducked down behind a tombstone whenever a car passed.

Since people walk off and leave cars alongside country roads all the time, I figured no one would stop unless they could see someone poking around graves in the moonlight. Or if they didn't stop, they'd at least call the sheriff's department.

I could see myself standing there, a microcassette recorder in one hand, a flashlight in the other, gesturing toward all those dead people and saying, "Well, officer, you see, I was researching a book."

I was. Really. I plan on opening my next book with a scene set at a country cemetery by moonlight and I wanted to see for myself just what it was like.

I was in for a surprise. Oh, I expected to be somewhat frightened, all right, so in the beginning, I confess a little uneasiness. Moonlight gleamed white off of tombstones, and fireflies glowed and dimmed like a ghostly drag on a cigarette. The cry of a distant coyote carried over the hills and touched my skin with goosebumps, and the wind went shhhhhhh as my sneakers crunched in the solitary moony darkness.

So it took a few moments to get acclimated.

But then—I was possessed with the incredible peace of the place. For a country cemetery isn't like, say, where my daddy is buried back in the Big City—those perpetual care places where the grave markers are set flush with the grass so as not to get in the way of the mowers or the sprinklers. Guarded only by cedar fenceposts standing sentry alongside a neighboring rancher's property, a country cemetery allows nature to take back that life which it has given. Desert plants and grasses natural to the plains adorn the gravesites, and wildflowers gather close around the tombstones in a sweet arrangement no one could fault. The wind sings soothing lullabies.

For many of the graves in an old country cemetery (this one was a hundred years old) are those of children. From one family along—three, all taken within two years of one another before 1909. (The parents followed, thirty years later.) From another, a mother and "Jessie"—born and died, with her mother, on the same day, April 3, 1984. (The mother's tombstone read, "She trusted God to the end.") One child, who died at eleven during the Depression, had a crude hand-carved tombstone at her head. Years later, some loving family member came in and installed a beautiful, engraved tombstone, but did not disturb the original.

The tombstones tell a story of courage and suffering and love and loss in a country that was vast and lonely and harsh. Sometimes only a child was buried and left, all along, as the grieving family moved on to a place which could perhaps give them happier memories.

Standing there bathed in gentle moonlight, listening to the song of the cricket and the cicada while the wind caressed my skin and the air was filled with the scent of wildflowers and raw earth, I felt the ghosts—not of those buried there—but of the mothers and fathers and those who loved and laid to rest their relatives and babies; but mostly, I felt the anguish of the mothers and heard their wailing cries over the hills and on the wind, and I wanted to say: It's all right. Your sweet ones are resting peacefully, here, in a little country cemetery by the road, while the wind sings them lullabies, and nobody disturbs the wildflowers.

PLACEMENT TESTING

Placement testing is required for all students enrolling. Bring ACT or SAT scores. If ACT or SAT scores are unavailable, a Western Texas College Placement Test will be given during periods of scheduled registration.

TEXAS ACADEMIC SKILL PROGRAM (TASP)

Students who have NOT earned 3 semester college credit hours BEFORE the 1989 Fall Semester are required to take the Texas Academic Skills Program (TASP) test. Such students must take the test before completing their first 15 hours of college coursework. All students will be required to provide documentation of TASP status. This documentation will be TASP test score reports, transcripts or both.

It is the policy of Western Texas College not to discriminate on the basis of age, sex, handicap, race, color, and national origin in its educational and vocational programs, activities or employment as required by Title IX, Section 504 and Title VI.

Western Texas College will take steps to assure that lack of English language skills will not be a barrier to admission and participation in all educational and vocational programs.

Western Texas College toma medidas para asegurar que falta de habilidades de ingles no sera un obstaculo para poder ser admitido o para que pueda participar en todos los programas educacionales y vocacionales que ofrecemos.

For information about your rights or grievance procedures, contact the Title IX Coordinator, Mrs. Bette McQueen, at Western Texas College, Snyder, Texas 79549, (915) 773-8511, ext. 302, or Section 504 Coordinator, Mr. Clay Hokenes at Western Texas College, Snyder, Texas 79549, (915) 773-8511, ext. 306.

Astrograph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

June 2, 1991

There are encouraging indications regarding your financial affairs in the year ahead. Nevertheless, even though Lady Luck will be helping, the increases might be gradual.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have the ability to evaluate developments realistically today, but you might not do what your better judgment dictates. Your ego could water down your logic. Gemini, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Gemini's Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you don't look out for your own interests today, don't expect others to do it for you. In collective ventures, be sure each individual contributes what was pledged or else you may have to make up the difference.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Guard against inclinations today to prejudice people whom you know little about. Your initial evaluations could leave a lot to be desired.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Due to indifference, you might not take full advantage of an arrangement offered you today that could be expanded into something quite rewarding.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't put too much emphasis on having a good time today, especially if it interferes with duties that require your immediate attention. Divide your hours between leisure and labor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There's a chance you might have a disagreement today with a friend who is quite popular. It's safe to say that letting it get out of hand won't help your image all that much.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you get involved with a promoter who greatly exaggerates the merits of his wares, keep your guard up. The hype may be fascinating, but chances are the product isn't.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You may not be at your best today in managing your material affairs. However, you may be even less effective in managing matters for another. Be careful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Even though you might seek advice from your mate today, there's a good chance you won't heed any of it. It's your loss.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Instead of meeting problems head-on today, you might try to rationalize them away. Unfortunately, your wishful thinking could turn out to be an exercise in futility.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't bet on situations today where you have to depend on friends to carry the ball for you. They might just do the opposite of what you hope.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) An important objective can be achieved today, but it's not likely to be as simple as you anticipate. Be prepared to meet and overcome opposition.

Your Birthday

June 3, 1991

There is a strong possibility you may make a major adjustment in the year ahead that will have a favorable bearing upon your career. It could be induced by a negative development.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If someone you like is in need of assistance today, do what you can to help, but be very careful that this individual doesn't shift every burden onto you. Major changes are ahead for Gemini in the coming year. Send for Gemini's Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you are in need of a financial favor today, check with relatives or family members before looking elsewhere. Outside arrangements could have strings attached.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You might have to negotiate with someone today who will demand good terms from you, but isn't ready to yield anything in return. Be firm or be taken.

44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Even though you're not likely to take yourself or events too seriously today, a negative thinker with whom you'll be involved will. Try not to let this person cloud your thinking.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is a day to forgive those who have trespassed against you; it's not a day to hold a grudge and try to get even. Spiteful behavior will inflict penalties.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your personality has some pluses today others will find appealing, but remember that you can't please everyone. A jealous dissembler could find reasons to rock the boat.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your possibilities for personal gain are extremely promising today — when it comes to working for what you hope to receive. The gray train won't be stopping at your station.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't be overly concerned about the other guy's performance in a partnership arrangement today. If you do what's expected of you, this individual will match your efforts.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Benefits you derive today could be due to the good auspices of another. But you aren't likely to be as generous with those for whom you can do something positive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It could be much easier to make a promise at this time than it will be to honor it later. Keep this in mind today, so you don't agree to something you can't fulfill.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't coast today, but, by the same token, don't saddle yourself with performance requirements that are beyond your capabilities. The important thing is to do the best you can.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't foist yourself upon a group or clique today in which you don't feel welcome. Something unpleasant could transpire that might cause you a degree of embarrassment.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you are in need of a financial favor today, check with relatives or family members before looking elsewhere. Outside arrangements could have strings attached.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You might have to negotiate with someone today who will demand good terms from you, but isn't ready to yield anything in return. Be firm or be taken.

Florist wins suit against singer

IUKA, Miss. (AP) — A florist hired to supply flowers for the wedding of Tammy Wynette's daughter won more than $7,000 plus interest and legal fees after a long court fight against the country singer.

Wynette said she had an oral agreement with Walter Clements, who manages the Oasis Florist and Gift Shop, that the job would not cost more than $5,000. Clement said he had to use more flowers than agreed because the wedding was moved to an 850-seat church when the guest list kept growing.

"The last thing she told me was you take care of the wedding," Clements said Thursday. "That's what she wanted, the best, and that's what she got."

He sued for $9,699.52 in flowers plus about $4,000 interest accrued since the March 1989 wedding of Georgette Jones, Wynette's daughter by former husband George Jones.

The florist said he had no hard feelings towards Wynette, known for the hit, "Stand By Your Man."

Don't take storms lightly

MIAMI (AP) — Even though 1990 was a relatively quiet Atlantic hurricane season and forecasters aren't predicting big things for this year, the chief of the National Hurricane Center warns people not to take the threat of storms lightly.

"It doesn't matter how many storms there are. If one strikes you, it's a big year," said Bob Sheets, director of the hurricane center in suburban Coral Gables.

The Atlantic hurricane season runs from June 1 to Nov. 30 and veteran hurricane prognosticator William Gray has said he doesn't expect a bad year.

But the memories of killer Hurricane Hugo in 1989 have kept some from relaxing. South Carolina officials are fine-tuning evacuation plans and communications systems since Hugo ripped through the state, killing a total of 57 and causing about $10 billion in damages.

All states at risk from hurricanes should take similar steps, and find ways of helping people who can't flee in time, Sheets said.

"It is now nearly impossible to provide adequate lead times for communities such as New Orleans to be evacuated in the event of a major hurricane," he said. "Some means of last-resort refuge needs to be investigated in regions that can be cut off by rising waters before people are safely evacuated."

"Hugo woke a lot of people up to what hurricanes can do," Sheets said. "We want people to learn from education, not experience."

Weather indicators are pointing to a mild season, according to Gray, a professor of atmospheric science at Colorado State University.

The average number of storms is 10, with about six becoming hurricanes. Only a few of those strike the United States each year.

Gray has been using global weather patterns to make predictions of how many hurricanes will be spawned during the season since 1984.

One indicator he uses is the amount of rainfall in the Sahel, a semi-arid region in central Africa. Below-average rainfall in the Sahel region led Gray to his prediction for 1991.

But the Sahel rainfall is an imperfect indicator. Gray predicted a 1989 season of only four hurricanes. Instead, four tropical storms and seven hurricanes caused 84 deaths that year.

But Gray's predictions are about 80 percent to 90 percent accurate, excluding 1989. Gray will formally release his predictions for this season June 4.

The 1990 season seemed quiet in this country because few storms reached U.S. shores.

But there were 14 tropical storms and eight grew into hurricanes. Some interfered with ships bound for the Middle East during the Persian Gulf crisis, Sheets said.

Marco was the only tropical storm that made it to the United States in 1990. It brushed across the Keys and Florida's west coast before dissolving into a wave of violent thunderstorms and drenching rains.

Its effects were felt strongly in Georgia and the Carolinas, where it combined with the remnants of Hurricane Klaus and another frontal system.

Letter To Editor

Editor:
I am concerned about the impending loss of support from the college for the Scurry County Museum.

Yes, I am aware that these tight-budget times call for tough decisions by our elected boards and officials. I am thankful that the news media keeps us current of the financial difficulties from the Federal level to our local. It seems to me that our problems intensify at the point where the taxpayers' and taxing entities' priorities collide and differ.

I understand that the Scurry County Museum is about to lose some $22,000 in revenue from the college because the board and president did not feel the museum was beneficial enough to the college. (That's my interpretation of what was reported in the news.) If my memory serves me correctly, the museum bond issue was attached to one of the college building issues — the premise being that each would help the other gain a positive vote.

I certainly would consider the museum an asset not only to the college, but to the entire community. It brings people to the campus from out of town, out of state, out of our country. Each time a special group is in Snyder, what do they go see? They visit points of interest — those being the Scurry County Museum, the Cornelius-Dodson House and the Dermott School and they use our coliseum and our park.

If Snyder is to become a tourist stop, what will we have to offer if we let some of our best assets close?

People, we voted for the museum. Now it needs our support. To continue to operate, it must maintain its financial support from the college, the county and the people. Can you help? Certainly! Speak to the board members; let your wishes be known. Then make a contribution to the museum. I suggest we begin a One Hundred Club for the Museum. I'm sending my check today!

Structure of enzyme found

HOUSTON (AP) — Biochemists say their discovery of the structure of an enzyme linked to severe combined immunodeficiency won't cure the deadly children's disease, but it will help them understand the rare condition.

Severe combined immunodeficiency, or SCID, affects about 200 children a year. The most famous case was David, the boy who lived his 12 years in a germ-free plastic bubble because he was born without a functioning immune system. He died several months after he underwent a bone marrow transplant from his 15-year-old sister.

The three-dimensional structure of the enzyme, adenosine deaminase, was determined last January by Rice University biochemists Fred Rudolph and Rod Kellems; Florante Quiocho, a biochemist with Howard Hughes Medical Institute at Baylor College of Medicine; and recent Rice graduate David Wilson.

Their discovery was reported today in the journal Science.

Dr. William T. Shearer, who treated David, said the findings did not apply to the type of SCID from which the bubble boy suffered.

"These findings are a significant advance in science but do not apply to David," Shearer said. "The findings would, however, apply to children who have that type of SCID associated with ADA deficiency."

The enzyme, known as ADA, is found in all body cells, but the only cells affected by its absence are B- and T lymphocytes, cells of the immune system located in the blood, spleen and thymus.

"What we've done from really determining the three-dimensional structure of the protein is to have a much clearer understanding of the structure and why these children have the SCID. We are beginning to understand why it doesn't work," Rudolph said.

The only cure for SCID is a transplant of healthy bone marrow, a bloodlike fluid found in large bones. In the last six months, physicians at the National Institutes of Health have been successful in using gene transfers from the victim's own marrow to treat the disease.

Dr. Gott

By Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 47-year-old female with a positive ANA titer. My doctor thinks I have lupus, although at this time I do not have any other symptoms. What, other than lupus, would cause a positive ANA indicator? My doctor says we have to wait to see what it turns into.

DEAR READER: The anti-nuclear antibody test (ANA titer) measures an abnormal protein in your bloodstream. This protein reflects the body's effort to destroy many of its own normal cells, a condition known as an autoimmune disease. There are several autoimmune diseases, such as lupus, polymyalgia and rheumatoid arthritis. Actually, experts hypothesize that the many autoimmune diseases may be manifestations of a single immune disorder, rather than individual entities.

The ANA test is ordinarily associated with lupus. However, as I implied, there is considerable overlap between the autoimmune diseases and, in the absence of symptoms, your doctor may be unable to identify which one you have. Medical testing is still too imprecise to diagnose each disorder with certainty. Therefore, while you may be in the earliest stage of lupus, the ANA titer may merely be a marker of another, related affliction. Heed your doctor's advice about further testing and follow-up.

I think you and your doctor should also consider the possibility that the ANA test was a lab error. I know patients don't like to hear this; they prefer to believe that laboratory testing is infallible. It isn't. What's more, the more sophisticated the test, the more chance for a mistake. The ANA test is not easy to perform and requires an experienced technician for interpretation.

Therefore, before suffering the uncertainty and apprehension of having a disease (that you may not have), I suggest you have the ANA test repeated for confirmation. At the same time, the doctor can order other tests (for example, a protein electrophoresis and a latex fixation) — to establish a more precise diagnosis. The original ANA titer may be incorrect — or the additional testing may fail to document the presence of an abnormality. Remember, too, that the ANA test can be positive in the presence of discoid lupus, a harmless skin affliction, and from certain drugs, such as beta-blockers, which are used for hypertension and circulatory disturbances.

If you do have lupus, you may need treatment later but, until you show symptoms or evidence of joint or kidney disease, you can safely wait.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What can you tell me about sciatica? I've had adjustments from chiropractors and have taken Naprosyn and a muscle relaxant from my physician. Do you have any other suggestions?

DEAR READER: The sciatic nerves to the lower extremities are actually composed of many separate nerves, each one of which exits from the spinal cord between different vertebral bones in the lower back. After leaving the spine, the nerves combine to form the sciatic nerves (one on each side of the body), which travel to the legs. Thus, the sciatic nerves are thick bundles of nerves that stimulate the muscles of the lower extremities as well as carry sensation (pain, cold, heat and position sense) from the legs to the spinal cord.

Sciatica occurs when one or more components of the sciatic nerves are irritated, leading to numbness, tingling, pain and/or weakness of the legs. Such irritation can be caused by pressure on the nerves or by inflammation. Although each sciatic nerve can be affected directly, the more common situation is irritation of one of the many nerves that make up the sciatic bundle. Hence, the familiar symptom of back pain that radiates into the buttock and into the thigh may be due to nerve irritation anywhere in the lower back.

The most frequent cause of sciatica is discogenic disease, deterioration of one or more of the tire shaped structures separating the vertebral bones. When a disc thins, collapses or is pushed out of place, the abnormal structure may press against or pinch part of the sciatic nerve, resulting in pain.

Also, spinal arthritis (which is characterized by abnormal calcium deposits near vertebral bones) can irritate nerves.

When sciatica appears, the body makes unconscious adjustments to prevent injury, including contraction of back muscles to straighten the spine and prevent movement. As a result, sciatica really has two constituents: nerve pain and muscle-contraction cramps, both of which can be quite disabling.

Therefore, treatment is directed toward relieving both kinds of pain. Bed rest, heat, physical therapy, gentle massage and muscle relaxants can alleviate muscle cramps; analgesics and patience may permit the nerve pain to heal itself. The inflamed nerve recovers or the herniated disc may slip back into place. Chiropractic manipulation usually helps relieve the muscle pain of sciatica; it can, however, sometimes worsen the nerve pain and even lead to permanent nerve injury.

If the symptoms of sciatica don't subside with a basic treatment program, attention must be re-directed toward the cause of the discomfort.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach To Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

South Plains dryland growers desperate for rain

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Local economies in the Texas South Plains stand to lose hundreds of millions of dollars if dryland cotton farmers don't get a little help from Mother Nature. "If we don't get some moisture within the next couple of weeks we are not dead but we are sure crippled," said Don Johnson, executive vice president of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers Inc. "The odds are not too good for making a decent crop with anything planted after June 10 in the dryland area," he said Thursday. The 25-county area surrounding Lubbock — where a quarter of the nation's cotton is grown — stands to lose more than a million acres, unless a steady rain blankets the region soon. That could translate into more than $500 million drained from the local economies. "In several small towns in the South Plains, cotton is the largest, if not the only industry," said Alan Mackey, executive director of the Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization Service in Lubbock. "No rain means no crop and no income. We are looking at a dire situation." Dryland cotton farmers, who do not use irrigation, will do anything for rain.

AJRA Update
 Box seat tickets will go on sale to season ticket holders on Monday, June 3. Tickets will go on sale July 22 to the general Public. Caps are on sale now at the office. Friday June 14 is the deadline for your AJRA Rodeo Program ad. Only a few booth spaces remain. A few sponsorships are still available.

MEMBERSHIP BREAKFAST
 The Chamber membership breakfast was held on May 29 at the Willow Park Inn, and it was a big success! Approximately 70 people attended the breakfast meeting, and we hope this number increases next time. We plan to hold similar meetings on a quarterly basis.

Remember, the Chamber is headed in a new direction. Input is needed from all members in order for the Chamber to work for everyone. Feel free to contact your designated board member as mentioned in your breakfast meeting invitation. If you are unsure who your representative is, call the Chamber office.

CITY DIRECTORIES
 The company (R.L. Polk) who publishes our city directory has created a paperback version of this years book for household use. Some of these have already been delivered to the rural areas, and the local Tae Kwon Do Academy will be delivering to the city residents. The youth group is using this project to help raise funds to participate in a National Finals Tournament this summer.

The chamber will be a distribution point for the directories after the initial delivery. Newcomers or anyone needing a copy will be able to pick one up at the office.

Please remember that the chamber is not responsible for names, addresses, or phone numbers listed in this book. We do not have this type of information on people not already listed in the regular telephone book.

BUSINESS ANALYSIS
 The Caruth Small Business Development Center of Abilene Christian University has agreed to do market research and analysis of Snyder's Business Community. Stuart P. Hall, Director, is seeking Small Business Administration permission to use his Business Administration students to perform the project. If approved, the research should take place during the fall term. The students are graded for the project, so they have a vested interest in accurately reporting their findings.
 A copy of their report and a presentation to the Chamber board will climax a semester of work. The cost to the Chamber will be minimal and will include only some postage and copier time. Sources indicate a professional service would cost $10,000 to $20,000 for a comparable plan.
 We hope all the businesses will realize the possible benefits of this program and will give their input and energy into getting a true picture of our community.

FROM THE CHAMBER MANAGER:
 I would like to thank the Chamber of Commerce for the opportunity to serve you. This is YOUR Chamber and you are welcome at anytime. Come by, have a cup of coffee, and share your thoughts or ideas. We have so much to be proud of and with hard work the sparkle can be put back into "Sparkle City". Please don't sell yourself short. As you travel on vacation, stay aware of business opportunities and promote Snyder. We will be out to see each and every member in the near future.
 Ricky Fritz

GOLDCOATS/SPARKLERS
 We are proud to announce the following persons as new members of our Goldcoat organization since January 1:
Betty House
Nelda Huddleston
County Judge Bob Doolittle
 We are equally pleased to have the following ladies join the Sparklers:
Marilynn Graves
Nancy Smith
 If you are interested in joining either of these organizations call the office. Both groups assist the Chamber with events, receptions, ribbon cuttings, etc.

PLANNING TO START OR EXPAND A BUSINESS?
 Get help early in your planning stages in order to avoid costly mistakes such as spending all your money up front and not being able to get a loan. The Snyder Chamber of Commerce has arranged for help to area residents. Call us at 573-3558 to set up an appointment with the Small Business Development Center. A representative is usually in the Snyder Chamber office twice a month, on the second and fourth Wednesday. If those days are inconvenient, an alternate date can usually be arranged to fit in with your schedule.
