Yeltsin wins popular vote

MOSCOW (AP) — Boris Yeltsin was declared the winner today of the first popular election for president of the Russian Federation, Tass quoted the republic's chief electoral officer as saying.

"According to preliminary results, B.N. Yeltsin was far ahead of all his rivals, winning more than 50 percent of the vote," Vasily E. Kazakov, chairman of the Russian Central Election Commission, told Tass.

"A second round in the elections for the president of Russia apparently will not take place," he was quoted as telling the official news agency.

Such a decisive victory would strengthen Yeltsin's hand against Communist Party stalwarts who oppose his program to transfer ownership of state-owned farms and factories to individuals and shift political control from the Kremlin to the republics.

The white-haired Siberian is likely to travel to the United States next week to demonstrate his independence from Mikhail S. Gorbachev.

The Russian republic has more than half the Soviet Union's 285 million people, three-fourths of the country's territory and most of its natural wealth and industry.

Preliminary results showed Yeltsin strong in major industrial cities but weaker in farm regions, considered a stronghold of his major rival, former Soviet Prime Minister Nikolai I. Ryzhkov.

Ryzhkov, the Communist candidate, advocates a more gradual transition from a centrally planned to a market economy.

Other preliminary results indicated victories for two other radical reformers seeking reelection to the top jobs in the country's two largest cities, where the executive powers of the mayor have been greatly ex-

In May...

Wholesale prices up .06%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices shot up a surprisingly sharp 0.6 percent in May, the biggest gain in seven months, the government said today.

The steep increase in the Labor Department's Producer Price Index was led by a turnaround in energy prices, which had been falling since last December, and by a steep jump in tobacco prices.

In other economic news today: — The Labor Department said the number of Americans filing new claims for unemployment benefits fell for the fourth consecutive week, the longest stretch of declines in more than a year.

— And the Commerce Department reported that retail sales rose 1 percent in May after falling a month earlier.

Analysts have said recent economic reports serve to support the Bush administration's contention that the current recession will be short and shallow and the economy will soon resume growth.

The 0.6 percent rise in the Producer Price Index, which measures inflationary pressures before they reach the consumer, followed a modest 0.2 percent April gain and two months of outright declines. The May increase would translate into an alarming annual rate of inflation at the wholesale level of 7.2 percent.

Economists, who were surprised by the big increase, blamed it for the most part on temporary factors. They noted that for the first five months of this year, wholesale prices have actually fallen at an annual rate of 1 percent as energy prices retreated following a sharp runup in late 1990.

The report on wholesale prices will be followed on Friday by a look at inflationary pressures at the consumer level. Analysts said they did not expect the sharp wholesale jump to be matched in consumer prices, even though they were looking for retail energy costs to rise.

The administration has been arguing that the Federal Reserve has ample room to cut interest rates further to stimulate the economy because of low inflationary pressures.

But even before today's big jump in wholesale prices, financial markets were not looking for further interest rate cuts. In recent days, various top Fed officials have signalled a belief that the central bank has done enough to stimulate a rebound and any

School board...

Trustees face long agenda

Snyder public schools board of trustees face a 16-item agenda this evening that includes appointing a trustee to the county education district board, employing an auditor and addressing personnel resignations and recommendations.

The board will meet in executive session to discuss personnel at 6 p.m. prior to the open meeting at 7 p.m.

Also on the agenda is evaluation of CTBS and TAAS test results.

Trustees are to appoint a trustee to the County Education District 11, which under state law will coordinate and disperse a portion of taxes to 11 school districts in a five county area. The county education district (CED) board will consist of one representative from each of the 11 school district boards represented.

Representatives of the school and appraisal districts involved met Tuesday for an organizational meeting. The first meeting of the CED 11 board is to be held at 5 p.m. June 18 in the school administration building here.

An agenda released earlier in the week lists eight resignations for trustees to consider this evening. Also on the list are three high school teachers recommended for employment.

A report on the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills (TAAS) tests is expected to show that Snyder students performed above the state average by grade in most cases. Also for review will be results of the Comprehensive Tests of Basic Skills (CTBS), administered in March.

The board will also seek to approve a lease agreement with the City of Snyder for the East and West Fire Stations to use as a storage area and a classroom area, respectively.

Other items on the agenda include:

—A district educational improvement council request to have a fall open house during the second six weeks of school and discontinue the spring open house;

—approve bids for athletic video equipment, junior high boiler replacement, office supplies, janitorial supplies, copy paper, athletic supplies, cafeteria equipment and supplies, and instructional supplies;

—approve bank depository bids;

—consider a request to resurface the girls gym floor at the high school;

—a request to take bids for the air conditioning and heating units at the high school cafeteria;

—consider 1988 property taxes with respect to Snyder Neighbors

Appraisal board okays amendment to budget despite some objection

Scurry County Chief Appraiser L.R. Peveler faced a reluctant board and a skeptical county tax assessor as he asked for a $62,000 budget amendment during an emergency meeting of the appraisal board Wednesday afternoon.

The amendment was eventually approved but not before board members were urged not to by County Tax Assessor Rona Sikes.

Peveler asked for the amendment in order to purchase a new computer system with the city. He cited the formation of the state mandated county education district (CED) as the reason for the purchase request. "Our present situation plus the addition of the CED make it advisable to update our equipment," he explained, as he noted that the present equipment is at full capacity.

Sikes' opposition to the purchase came as she learned that Peveler wanted the new system in before producing the fall tax rolls.

"We cannot produce a tax roll without the new equipment," he told his board.

"You want to do this before we produce tax rolls? This affects me too. I should have been consulted," said Sikes, just before she urged an already hesitant board not to approve the purchase. Sikes' and Peveler's offices share files and rent computer space from the city.

"Is there anyway we can wait until after tax rolls are produced?" asked Sikes. She said she was unsure the new equipment would be in place in time and expressed concern over how much the new system was going to cost her office. Sikes noted she would have to get the approval of county commissioners to amend her budget.

"The answer is 'no,'" replied Peveler. "You wait 30 days and your tax roll will be 30 days late."

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Inflation is when the buck doesn't stop anywhere."

The hottest book on the regional market is "Friday Night Lights," the expose of the Permian Panthers' football program and its football-crazy town.

While thumbing through the book, we ran across another publication entitled, "You Might Be a Redneck If..."

Many West Texans can identify with some of the author's claims. You might be a redneck if:

- The tires on your pickup are bigger than the ones on your mobile home.
- Your bicycle has a gun rack.
- You have a rag for a gas cap.
- Most of your friends are named Bob, Joe or Bill or a combination thereof (Joe Bob, Billy Joe, Joe Bill, Billy Bob, Bobby Joe...).
- Your idea of dressing for dinner is a clean T-

- shirt and a new gimme cap.
- Your pickup has more chrome than the hospital emergency room.
- You consider Hank Williams' birthday a religious holiday.
- You look up when somebody says, "Hey, Bubba!"
- Both your wife and your mother look up when you say, "Hey, Mamma!"
- You know all the words to "Friends in Low Places."
- Your VCR is programmed to tape Hee Haw.
- Even your good jeans have a circle on the hip pocket.
- You get a Christmas card from Tony Lama.
- Your idea of high-tech is a set of jumper cables.
- Your favorite designer is Levi Strauss.
- You have actually used the four-wheel drive on your pickup truck.

Woman had sought help from police

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston police say they were unable to help a woman who sought protection from her estranged husband 10 days before he shot and killed her two young sons.

The woman had told officers that her estranged husband had threatened her.

Sgt. Jan Meanix-Garza of the department's domestic violence unit said officers were unable to help Blanca Alvarez because they were unable to reach her at the telephone number she left.

The woman had moved out of her apartment and was staying with a sister.

Officers did "the next best thing," the officer said. That was "to send her a letter which advised her of the (social) services that were available to her" and asked her to call.

The unit, which gets about 1,500 calls a month, received Mrs. Alvarez' report on June 1.

The next contact police had with Ms. Alvarez was when Jose Millan, 37, shot and killed her infant sons, 6-month-old Chris and 23-month-old Jose.

Officers were sent to investigate a disturbance at the home of the woman's sister Tuesday night.

Homicide Detective Brad Rudolph said Millan had driven there from an apartment where the mother and children had been staying. When police arrived, Millan was holding the two boys hostage in his van, parked in front of the home.

Millan, a security guard at an apartment complex, fired three or four shots into the house. Officers tried to talk to him in both English and Spanish, in an attempt to calm him down, said police spokesman Richard Retz.

"Due to his proximity to the children, it was extremely difficult for the (SWAT team) officers to get a good shot," Retz said.

As police tried to set up communications with him, Millan held the infant to his chest and shot him. Police said the .357-caliber Magnum slug traveled through the baby and into Millan's chest.

The wounded father staggered out of the van, holding a gun on his elder son.

"He stood back up and, while holding the 23-month-old boy by the hair in front of him ... he placed the large-caliber gun to the boy's head, shooting, killing him instantly," said Retz.

David Brownlow of Fort Worth, an internationally known artist, will be among the participants in the first annual Snyder Arts and Crafts Festival Saturday and Sunday in the Scurry County Coliseum. He will be joining more than 100 other exhibitors from throughout the southwest at the festival. The coliseum will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and from noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday. There is no admission charge.

Brownlow began his career in art 70 years ago. Throughout his long career he has used various items to complete his work including knives used for taping and bedding texture walls, hypodermic syringes that apply thick outlines of paint and pill boxes dipped in it which make perfect circles and different sizes of wire used for stenciling.

Having devoted the past 16 years mainly to watercolors, Brownlow still incorporates foreign objects into his work. These include crushed eggshell, National Geographics, egg cartons and handmade paper and lace.

His work has been shown at numerous museums and art galleries including the Fort Worth Art Center, Dallas Museum of Fine Art, the Witte Memorial Museum in San Antonio and numerous others.

Brownlow's works are collected by well-known people and are catalogued by the Smithsonian Institute.

Osprey flight temporarily halted following crash

ESSINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Flight tests of the experimental tilt-rotor V22 Osprey being developed for the military have been suspended temporarily after one of five prototypes crashed, said a Boeing official.

"The aircraft haven't been grounded, but we won't resume flying until we know more," Boeing Helicopters president Timothy Fehr said Wednesday.

All five planes were temporarily grounded last week when problems developed in the software for the on-board computers. Fehr said the problem was fixed and there was no indication the latest crash was related in any way. He said the Navy was conducting an investigation.

Fehr also said he didn't consider the crash fatal to the $1.8 billion development program for the aircraft, a cross between a fixed-wing plane and a helicopter.

to its first flight. Neither of the two pilots aboard was injured.

"I don't consider this accident to be fatal to the program," Fehr said. "We are in a flight test program, and we will working to find out all the information to make any needed correction. We can't say when flight testing will resume."

The Defense Department tried to scrap the project on grounds it has enough conventional helicopters.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Company), in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission), hereby gives notice of its intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for Directory Assistance Services, effective August 1, 1991, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. The Company has filed an application with the Commission to restructure and change the rates for Directory Assistance Service.

To help recover its costs, the Company is proposing to increase the rates for Directory Assistance calls from $.30 to $.40 per call (after the three-call allowance). Southwestern Bell is proposing that there be no change in the number of free Directory Assistance calls allowed each month (currently three) and that customers who qualify for exemption of Directory Assistance charges because of visual or physical handicaps continue to be exempt from these charges. The company also proposes to begin charging $.25 per call for Directory Assistance from pay telephones.

If approved by the Commission, this proposed rate change for Directory Assistance will increase the Company's annual revenues by $15.4 million, which is an increase of approximately one half of 1 percent in the Company's adjusted revenue for the twelve-month period ending December 1990. This proposed rate change would affect approximately 900,000 residence customers, approximately 155,000 business customers, approximately 500 private pay telephone owners and all customers who make Directory Assistance calls from public pay telephones.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Company), in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission), hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for residence Custom Calling Services, effective August 1, 1991, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. The Company has filed an application with the Commission to restructure and change the rates for certain residence Custom Calling Services.

The Custom Calling Services affected by the Company's application are optional telephone service arrangements that provide the following features: Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three-Way Calling, Speed Calling 8 and Speed Calling 30.

The Company's proposal would increase the monthly rate for the individual Call Waiting feature from $2.10 to $3.10 for residence customers. Also, the rates for certain combinations of Custom Calling Features (Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8) would increase or decrease depending upon the combination of features. In addition, the company proposes to obsolete the optional Custom Calling Service feature Speed Calling 30 for residence customers except for existing customers at their existing locations. Following are the feature combinations and their current and proposed rates.

One Feature Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting	$2.10	$3.10
Call Forwarding	2.10	2.10
Three-Way Calling	2.10	2.10
Speed Calling-8	2.10	2.10

Two Features Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding	3.75	4.50
Call Waiting, 3-Way Calling	3.70	4.50
Call Waiting, Speed Calling-8	3.70	4.50
Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling	3.70	3.50*
Call Forwarding, Speed Calling-8	3.70	3.50*

Four Features Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling, Speed Calling-8	6.90	7.30
Speed Calling 30	3.20	3.20

* denotes rate decrease
 ** Southwestern Bell's application proposes to obsolete residence Speed Calling 30 except for existing customers at their existing locations.

Most of the Company's residence customers in Texas who subscribe to one or more of the Custom Calling Service features will be affected by the proposed rate restructuring. It is expected that the proposed rate restructuring of Custom Calling Services will increase the Company's annual revenues by $15.9 million, which is an increase of approximately one half of 1 percent in the Company's adjusted revenue for the twelve-month period ending December 1990. The restructuring will result in an increase in the Custom Calling Services rates for approximately 2.5 million residence customers and rate decreases for approximately 15,000 residence customers. Also, the obsolescence of the optional feature Speed Calling 30 will affect approximately 156,000 residence customers.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. ### Class of '41 sets 50th anniversary

The 1941 senior class of Snyder High School has scheduled its golden anniversary reunion for this weekend at the Willow Park Inn.

Activities for the 50-year celebration will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday with a chips 'n dips mixer. Friends, family and acquaintances of the class are invited.

A brunch is set for 10 a.m. Saturday at the poolside area with visiting to continue throughout the afternoon.

Activities will climax with a dinner Saturday evening with John Terrell Lynch of Waco serving as master of ceremonies.

The worst nuclear accident in history occurred April 26, 1986, at the Chernobyl plant in the Soviet Union. An experiment involving the No. 4 reactor went awry, causing an explosion and fire that sent radioactivity into the atmosphere. At least 31 Soviets died as a direct result of the accident.

Actor takes to road

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Nicolas Cage, saying he was getting soft, bald and stagnant, has taken to the road in the style of Beat Generation writer Jack Kerouac.

The star of such movies as "Moonstruck," "Raising Arizona" and "Wild at Heart" retraced some of Kerouac's steps in a Los Angeles-to-New Orleans trip that he wrote about for the July issue of Details magazine.

He said he took to the road with a friend in a rented Lincoln Town Car because he had "been in one place too long."

"I'm just sitting here in Los Angeles getting soft. Twenty-seven years old, balding and without a shred of inspiration," he said.

Now West's spade 10 is promoted as the setting trick.

West had a clever way to protect his partner from error. While South is cashing dummy's club winners, he should follow suit with the three, seven and 10, not with the three, four and seven. When West wins with the spade ace, he leads the club four, not the club jack. As dummy's five is winning the trick, East has to ruff to stop declarer from obtaining another discard. This effects the trump promotion.

© 1991, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

By Phillip Alder

When you are defending, not only is it important to watch all the spot-cards like a hawk, but it also pays to make your partner's life easy.

Scan today's deal. Following the weak two-bid which showed a six-card spade suit and some 5-9 high-card points, North's jump to five spades asked his partner to go on to six with good trumps. South was happy to do business.

What do you think the outcome should be? At first glance, the slam looks easy. South wins the heart lead in the dummy, discards his two heart losers on dummy's top clubs, and then plays a trump to the king and ace, losing one spade trick. However, a closer examination shows that there is a mosquito in the ointment.

West led the club jack after winning with the trump ace. Seeing no reason to do anything else, East discarded a diamond. Declarer ruffed, drew trumps and claimed.

True, East made a mistake. Ruffing with the spade nine was indicated — it couldn't hurt. Here it doesn't hurt East, but it definitely hurts South, who has to overruff with the spade jack.

Chicago captures NBA crown

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Michael's moment was a moment to be shared.

The best basketball player in the NBA finally was part of the best team in the NBA. The shadow hovering over the Chicago Bulls disappeared as surely as the Los Angeles Lakers' hopes.

"It should get rid of the stigma of being a one-man team," Michael Jordan said. "My teammates have stepped up, and the stigma is removed."

The Bulls won the first title in their 25-year history, and Jordan got his first in his seven NBA seasons. They did it together by beating the determined but decimated Lakers 108-101 Wednesday night.

Jordan won the most valuable player award for the series. But it was the Bulls who won four consecutive games after losing the opener.

"There's not one MVP on this team," Jordan said, "there's a bunch of MVPs."

Scottie Pippen led Chicago with 32 points, the first time in the Bulls' 17 playoff games that Jordan wasn't their top scorer.

John Paxson buried jumper after jumper, scoring 10 of his 20 points in the last four minutes as the Bulls pulled out of a 93-93 tie with a 15-8 run.

Bill Cartwright had a career playoff-high of seven assists, including the one on Paxson's 19-footer that gave Chicago the lead for good, 95-93, with 3:54 left.

Horace Grant contributed 11 points, six rebounds and two blocks.

And Jordan, of course, did his share — 30 points, 10 assists and five steals while playing the full 48 minutes.

"I know we shocked a lot of people, but we did it. We as a team did it," Jordan said.

"You hear so much talk about him as an individual player," the Lakers' Magic Johnson said, "but he's proved everyone wrong with this championship."

The Lakers nearly proved everyone wrong Wednesday night as they came close to extending the series to a sixth game Friday night in Chicago. Starters James Worthy, with a sprained ankle, and Byron Scott with a bruised shoulder, didn't play.

"When you play a great team, you need everybody," Johnson said.

But the Lakers got surprising contributions from rookies Elden Campbell and Tony Smith. Campbell had 21 points, exceeding his previous pro high of 12, and Smith added 12.

"We knew there would be different personnel," Chicago coach Phil Jackson said. "It took us about a half of the game to get ahold of the ballgame."

Sam Perkins led the Lakers with 22 points and kept them in the game down the stretch.

Johnson had 16 points, 11 rebounds and 20 assists.

Johnson "put out a great effort," Los Angeles coach Mike Dunleavy said. "I'm proud of the effort that our guys made... especially the two young guys."

Each team's biggest lead in the first half was five points, and Los Angeles led 49-48 at intermission. The Bulls led 70-62 midway through the third quarter, but Los Angeles tied the game 80-80 going into the fourth.

With the Lakers ahead 88-86, Perkins was called for a flagrant foul and Pippen's two foul shots tied the game at 88. The Bulls retained the ball and Jordan's 10-footer put Chicago ahead 90-88 with 7:30 to go.

Red-hot Andrade gears up for Open

CHASKA, Minn. (AP) — Billy Andrade, the skinny little golly-guy who can't believe his back-to-back wins, blinked with astonishment at the champions surrounding him in today's first round of the U.S. Open.

It looked like an ambush, the hottest kid on the tour wedged among the winners of seven Opens. Psyche-out time on the first tee. Felony intimidation.

Ahead of him stood Hale Irwin, who won his first Open when Andrade was 10 and his third Open last year. In the group behind loomed the winners of four other Opens — Curtis Strange (1988 and '89), Scott Simpson (1987) and Tom Watson (1982).

"Hale Irwin has won more Opens than I've played," Andrade said, kissing off any suggestion that he should be among the favorites to win this tournament in his third appearance. Yet, he did not discount his chances.

"Right now I'm rolling, not really thinking about crashing," he said. "I just want to ride this out. I don't feel there's any pressure on me."

Andrade's attitude is straight out of the Fuzzy Zoeller school of golf course fun. Not quite Rodney Dangerfield in "Caddy Shack," but not overly serious.

"In 1979, I caddied for Fuzzy Zoeller for two days," said Andrade. "He had a personality I really thought was pretty cool. I thought he handled himself very well with people. He is now a very close friend of mine. I wouldn't say I idolize him, but I like his style."

"That's sort of my personality. I don't get wrapped up in a lot of things. I'm pretty loose, fly by the wings, loosey-goosey type. I don't get all uptight about some things. I'm not a type-A person. I enjoy myself, and that's kind of the way Fuzzy is. That's the way I have to be. When I start getting all wrapped up in everything, and getting upset about little things out on the golf course, I don't play very good golf."

Andrade began his pro career in 1987 as if he were headed for immediate stardom.

"It was the Belgian Open, and I remember the first round I was one shot off the lead to some little guy who won the Masters this year," he said, referring to Ian Woosnam, four inches shorter than the 5-foot-8 Andrade. "I finished ninth in my first pro tournament. I made about 4,000 (Belgian) francs and they paid me in cash because I didn't have any money. All this funny Monopoly money I was carrying, it was pretty cool."

UIL bypasses cage limitation proposal

AUSTIN (AP) — The University Interscholastic League has bypassed a proposal to limit the number of high school basketball games to one a week, recommending instead that schools with travel problems consider playing team sports on Friday and Saturday.

The Committee on Athletics also recommended Wednesday that a proposed rule to lower the enrollment cutoff for six-man football from 95 students in high school to 75 be delayed until the 1994-95 school year.

The basketball restriction was sought by officials of six small schools in West Texas and the South Plains, who claimed that travel time during the week was interfering with school work.

The officials proposed that no team or student participate in more than one basketball game a week, except for tournaments or district make-ups. There also would be a limit of one invitational tournament per season.

Games would be played only on Thursday, Friday or Saturday, under the proposal submitted Tuesday to the committee.

The six-member athletics committee did not take a direct vote on the proposal, but recommended that school officials who feel that team sports are cutting too severely into study time should consider playing only on Friday or Saturday.

Other coaches' proposals rejected by the athletics committee included:

— Sanctioning girls' fast pitch softball as a UIL sport.

— Creating North and South area track meets, after regional meets, with four individuals and four relays advancing to the state meet in each event from each area.

— Considering moving the state track meet back to the third week in May.

— Allowing coaching of golfers during tournaments, between holes.

Beck, Perry win at golf tournament

SAN ANGELO — Former Snyder resident Lisa Beck posted a match-play victory over Pampa's Carol Blenden in Wednesday's round of the Women's West Texas Golf Association Tournament at Bentwood Country Club here.

Beck, seeded sixth in Championship Flight and representing Lubbock's Hillcrest Country Club, carded a 4 and 2 win over Blenden to advance to today's match against No. 7 Marian Barker.

Snyder participants in the tournament include Penny Perry in Championship Flight and Anita Talbott in Second Flight.

Perry, the tournament's 15th seed, beat No. 10 D'Lynn Malcolm of Tulia, 8 and 6 in consolation play Wednesday. She was to tee-off against 11th seeded Ann McBride of Wichita Falls at 9:10 a.m. today.

Canyon golfer Ann Steward, No. 12, finished Wednesday's match against fourth seeded Talbott 2 up.

Fishing club sets meeting

Snyder Bass Club's June meeting is set for today at 7 p.m. at Snyder National Bank.

The group's June tournament, to be held Saturday and Sunday, will be at Lake Sweetwater in conjunction with the ladies annual tournament.

The club's Top 20 Classic was held at Baylor Lake June 1st with Gay Hickman's 7.95 pounds taking first place.

Bobby Hoover reeled in 5.55 pounds of fish for second place and Rick Howard's 3.00 was good for third.

May tourney results from Lake Stamford included first place David Stokes, with 7.95 pounds hauled in, followed by Howard's 6.05 and 5.30 from Billy Kirkpatrick. Stokes also pulled in the big bass.

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT
Senate Joint Resolution 42 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the newly created county education districts to hold elections to exempt from ad valorem taxation a percentage of the market value of the residence homestead of a married or unmarried adult. The percentage exempted could not exceed 20% of such market value, and the amount exempted could not be less than $5,000. The amendment would also authorize county education districts to hold elections to exempt from ad valorem taxation not less than $3,000 of the market value of the residence homestead of a disabled person or a person sixty-five years of age or older. Finally, the amendment would authorize elections in county education districts for the taxation of certain tangible personal property exempted from ad valorem taxation by the legislature.

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

The maximum net effective interest rate to be borne by the bonds would be set by law. The amendment would also authorize the legislature to provide for the investment of bond proceeds and to establish an interest and sinking fund to pay the bonds and provide for the investment of such fund. # Faulty freezers plague shuttle crew

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The crew of space shuttle Columbia moved blood and urine samples from one freezer to another today to keep the specimens from spoiling after working through the night on the troublesome coolers.

The astronauts were awakened four times overnight, three times to work on the two freezers inside the shuttle's medical laboratory. "Sorry, guys, but it's our only hope for saving these samples tonight," Mission Control told commander Bryan O'Connor and crewman James Bagian.

Despite the crew's efforts, the freezers still were not working right when the astronauts got up this morning to start what is expected to be their final full day in orbit.

Mission Control woke the astronauts 90 minutes later than usual so they could sleep in. Ground controllers sent up a new list of repair procedures.

By midmorning, one of the freezers was working properly and the astronauts moved the frozen blood and urine samples from the freezer that was overheating.

The crew planned to work on the overheated cooler later in the day.

The astronauts, meanwhile, performed more breathing tests to monitor lung function in weightlessness.

The first wake-up call came about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday to fix a water-dispensing line that serves rat cages aboard the shuttle. Columbia is carrying 29 rats.

Then the astronauts were awakened three times to work on the faulty freezers.

Engineers suspect the cooling coils and vents on the freezers are being blocked by ice. Earlier, NASA said lint might be blocking the vents.

Because of the temperature problems, the astronauts had to move the blood and urine samples back and forth between the freezers, using one freezer while they defrost the other. The problems began the second day of the flight.

"Can we plan on just playing musical refrigerators, then, through the end of the mission?" Columbia commander Bryan O'Connor asked Mission Control on Wednesday.

"Yeah, if this continues to happen, that's probably what we'll be doing," came the reply.

NASA spokeswoman Pam Alloway said the astronauts would be allowed to sleep an extra 90 minutes today because of the interruptions.

Mission manager Dan Womack said Wednesday that the freezer trouble had not damaged the samples.

"They're still frozen and they're still protected," he said.

The astronauts have been monitoring the various systems in the body and collecting blood, urine and saliva samples to understand the effects of weightlessness on the body.

NASA said the information is needed in planning longer missions and to understand space motion sickness, an ailment that affects many astronauts.

At times the astronauts have also sat blindfolded in a turning chair, stared into a rotating dome while wearing marked contact lenses and strapped on neck collars.

Besides the two refrigerator-freezers in Spacelab, there is one icebox in the middeck of the crew compartment.

Yeltsin's hand strengthened

undetermined fraction of the 98,000 polling stations republic-wide showed that Yeltsin won: —75 percent of votes in Moscow.

—70 percent in Leningrad, the second-largest Soviet city.

—90 percent in his hometown of Sverdlovsk, in the Ural Mountains.

—81 percent in the Pacific and Indian Ocean naval fleets, and about two-thirds of the vote among fishing fleets off Nakhodka on the Sea of Japan.

—74 percent of votes cast by officers and students of a special secondary school intended to train Soviet Interior Ministry staff in Rostov-on-Don.

Tass, quoting unidentified "trustworthy sources," said Yeltsin received between 60 percent and 70 percent of the vote in major industrial cities. The agency also said Yeltsin won the most votes in rural areas.

Yeltsin's press secretary, Valentina Lantseva, said he was at home resting today and would not be making any public statements or appearances.

Gorbachev, who has never endorsed a popular election, did not endorse any of the six candidates for the newly created post of Russian president.

He declared after he voted Wednesday: "I am ready to cooperate with anyone who will be elected by Russians."

Yeltsin called the election "a celebration of the Russian republic's sovereignty. For the first time in its 1,000-year history, the Russian people are electing their president in a direct vote."

Board chairman Mickey Sterling asked if the new equipment would reduce the number of employees needed in the appraisal office.

"We are staffed to the minimum right now," said Peveler.

Board member Bill Voss made the motion to approve the purchase and then amended his motion to stipulate that the request be approved pending the outcome of a constitutionality hearing on the public schools finance legislation Monday in Austin and the city council meeting on Tuesday to discuss the possibility of a new system.

John Reed seconded the motion and the $62,000 budget amendment was approved by a 3-0 vote.

The appraisal district's half of the new system — the other half to be purchased by the city — would be divided among the six appraisal district's taxing entities according to their percentage of the tax roll. According to Peveler, Snyder ISD would bear the biggest cost at $31,881.20, followed by the county with $12,971.04. Western Texas College would be expected to fund some $7,652.04 and the city an additional $3,658.00.

Hermleigh school superintendent Jerry Church and Ira school superintendent Ted Bedwell said that their boards would approve the additional monies.

Hermleigh's share is $1,544.92. Ira's is $4,291.89.

Blood bank ordered to pay

DALLAS (AP) — A jury has ordered a Dallas blood bank to pay $800,000 to the family of a man who died from an AIDS-related illness after receiving a blood transfusion eight years ago.

The man's 65-year-old wife, who contracted AIDS from her husband, will receive more than half of the award. The woman, who asked that her name and hometown not be published, is expected to die within four years, according to a physician's testimony.

The case against the Wadley Blood Bank was the first AIDS-related lawsuit centering on a blood transfusion to be tried in Dallas County, court officials said.

After the jury delivered its verdict Wednesday, the woman said she was relieved that her two-year court battle against Wadley was over.

"I am very pleased they found for us, and I think the amount that gave us was certainly fair," she said, wiping away tears.

She added that none of her friends is aware that she has the acquired immune deficiency syndrome because she fears "being ostracized."

The jury deliberated about 11 hours before finding the blood bank negligent for not adequately screening its donors in 1983. Wadley provides blood to 70 medical facilities in Dallas County and six other counties.

Mom Worries That Son in Jail Will Sentence Family to Grief

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My son got into serious trouble and is in jail right now. He is 19 and began getting into trouble with the law three years ago. He's close to his grandparents, who live out of state, and when he first got into trouble at age 16, I kept them in the dark about it as long as I could. They eventually found out, and I know they worried a lot.

My son stayed out of trouble for more than a year. He went to counseling for alcohol abuse and other problems. I realized he still had problems. But three days ago, he and a friend of his broke into someone's garage to steal and were caught. My heart broke once again. My son is now in county jail. I visited him there and managed to hold back my tears in front of him, but I cried all the way home.

Here's my problem: Should I tell my parents, who are 1,000 miles away, and cause them all this grief? My mother telephones every weekend to "check in." I didn't have the heart to tell her this Sunday. Do you think she has the right to know? She always asks about her grandsons and is especially close to this one. I just don't want her to worry.

BROKENHEARTED MOTHER

DEAR BROKENHEARTED: Since your mother always asks, and feels especially close to this grandchild, I think you should tell her the truth now. Eventually she will have to be told, unless you intend to deceive your parents about the boy's whereabouts until he's served his time. If so, your chances for pulling it off are slim.

DEAR ABBY: Please discuss fathers tickling their young children. They seem to get some sadistic pleasure out of expressing their love (?) by tickling the little girls and boys until they scream with laughter, then pain — then end up in tears!

This needs discussion, Abby. I think it's sadistic! Do you?
MRS. B. IN JOPLIN, MO.

DEAR MRS. B: Yes. Children who "end up in tears" are experiencing pain — not pleasure — and no father should be permitted to play such games. Excessive tickling is said to stimulate children inappropriately. To subject a child to this kind of "play" is child abuse. It's the business of adults to protect children from any kind of child abuse — and while it may appear innocent and "all in fun," it should not be tolerated.

DEAR ABBY: The woman who was upset because her husband's friend held his fork incorrectly just about sent me through the roof. I wish all I had to worry about was how my friends held their dinner forks.

I'd like to tell that woman that if more people would hold their forks in their fists like a 3-year-old child, but were smart, college-educated, well-mannered and had great personalities, our country would be much better off.

I suppose a man could be a rapist, murderer or drug dealer, but as long as he held his dinner fork properly, he'd be OK? That woman should come down from her pedestal and start dealing with issues like world peace, abused children, caring for the elderly, and feeding the homeless — who would be happy just to eat, let alone hold a fork properly!

Seminars help merchants learn how to sell during tough times

DENVER (AP) — Rocky Costarella thought the road to success was to sell a high-quality product and take good care of his employees by offering health benefits.

But his employees thought Costarella was a hard-hearted millionaire who overcharged his ice cream shop's customers and should be paying his employees more instead of offering a health care plan most of them didn't need.

"They saw all the money coming in ... (but) didn't know about the business in general," recalled Costarella, owner of Rocky's Ice Cream in Denver's Tabor Center shopping mall.

To the rescue came Tim

Gonerka, who manages the Tabor Center.

He offered a one-day, no-holds-barred seminar in which Costarella and the employees discussed the ins and outs of the ice cream business.

What both sides learned, said Costarella, helped him boost sales 15 percent and give more money to his employees in the form of incentive bonuses. And, he said, the employees learned he wasn't ripping off the customers.

"I opened up everything to them and told them what I was paying and watched them fall off the chair," he said.

Gonerka's workshop is one of several methods shopping center managers around the nation are using to help tenants become better businessmen and boost sales during tough times.

"All of a sudden there's a renewed interest on the part of the landlord," said Richard Echikson, chairman of the Millburn, N.J.-based Retail Consultants Inc.

His company is working on eight seminar proposals this year, up from about six in previous years, Echikson said.

"We're in a very difficult retail climate," he said. "You want to retain the tenants you've got, assuming they are worth retaining, and help them do better."

Sales were down 13 percent at the 60-store Tabor Center last year, said Gonerka, who declined to release dollar figures. He said

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: For the past two years I have had recurring yeast and bacterial infections. My gynecologist is as baffled as I am and has tried every treatment she can think of. I've been tested for diabetes, don't take baths, use mild soaps and do everything possible to avoid infection. Is there any explanation?

DEAR READER: Because you have been under the care of a gynecologist, I assume that you have suffered repeated vaginal infections. Your situation is complicated by the presence of both yeasts and bacteria, an unusual pattern.

Like many parts of the body (such as the gastrointestinal tract), the normal vagina contains some yeasts and bacteria. Ordinarily, these inhabitants check and balance each other; yeast inhibits bacterial growth and vice-versa. When this balance is upset, either yeasts or bacteria are free to cause infection.

For example, women who take prescribed antibiotics may subsequently experience yeast vaginitis because yeast-inhibiting micro-organisms are killed by the drugs. Conversely, women given anti-yeast compounds (such as Nystatin) often develop bacterial vaginitis. These are iatrogenic (physician-induced) infections that require a delicate balance of treatment in order to re-establish the normal yeast/bacteria ratio.

On the other hand, some healthy women seem to have a natural tendency to one or the other vaginal infection. The cause of this is not known but may be related to immune deficiencies, repeated exposure to an infected sexual partner, the use of intrauterine contraceptive devices (which provide a ready source of infection), allergic reactions to spermicidal jellies or condoms or contraceptive foam, poor personal hygiene, and chronic infections of the upper genital tract (uterus and Fallopian tubes). In such women, gynecologists must obtain detailed medical histories (including in-depth questioning about sexual and bowel habits) and perform meticulous examinations to discover the sources of infection.

Also, other diseases (such as diabetes or AIDS) may predispose women to vaginitis.

Your gynecologist probably investigated these possibilities, yet you are still experiencing symptoms. Therefore, I suggest you request a referral to the gynecology clinic in a medical center. Your repeated, combined infections, which occur singly and in cycles, are a diagnostic dilemma. Your symptoms may be the result of iatrogenic factors, such as one type of infection following treatment for another, that must be objectively analyzed by a super-specialist.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Vaginal Infections and Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Cosell recovering following surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — Sports maven Howard Cosell says he's doing fine after surgery this week to remove a malignant tumor from his chest.

The 73-year-old former play-by-play man said he underwent a three-hour operation Monday at Mount Sinai Hospital and was released Tuesday.

"I'll be fine," The New York Times today quoted him as saying.

Think tank: tax could equal recession

AUSTIN (AP) — A Texas think tank says creating personal and corporate incomes taxes here could seriously damage the Texas economy.

The Dallas-based National Center for Policy Analysis said an income tax such as that proposed by former Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby would lower the state's output by 2.7 percent, or about $10.6 billion a year.

John Goodman, the center's president, said Hobby's proposal of a 6.5 percent corporate income tax would "raise a tiny bit of revenue but cause enormous harm." On the other hand, Goodman said Wednesday, a tax proposal advanced by former Gov. John Connally, to replace the current corporate franchise tax with a new "business activity tax," would be a boost for the state's economy.

Goodman said his group's analysis of that proposal indicates it could boost production of goods and services in Texas by 4.3 percent, or about $16.9 billion.

Connally heads the Governor's Task Force on Revenue, which will be making recommendations to Gov. Ann Richards and legislators who convene in special session July 8 to write and fund a 1992-93 state budget.

The state faces a projected $4.7 billion deficit if all current services are maintained at their present levels, according to legislative budget analysts.

Hobby is a member of the task force, which may vote Saturday on its recommendations.

Last week, the committee heard a tax proposal from Connally and one from Hobby and Dallas financier Jess Hay.

Connally proposed boosting the motor fuels tax from 15 cents to 35 cents per gallon, doubling state college tuition, increasing the motor vehicle sales and hotel-motel taxes from 6 cent to 6 1/2 cents, charging a 5-cent per gallon aviation fuels tax and replacing the corporate franchise tax with a business levy suggested by Comptroller John Sharp. That tax would be 2.35 percent on gross receipts, minus raw material costs.

Hobby-Hay proposed establishing a 6 percent personal income tax on earnings over $16,000 per year for a family of four, and a 6.5 percent business income tax to replace the franchise tax.

Their proposal also calls for a 25 percent reduction in property taxes; broadening the sales tax base to include most services but lowering the sales tax rate from 6.25 percent to 5.25 percent.

Goodman said his organization's study of the two plans indicates that the Connally plan would encourage new investment in Texas but the income tax proposal would discourage such investment.
