ALBANY, Texas (AP) -Workers have been unable to determine if there is a connection between natural gas bubbling to the surface of the Brazos River and a nearby gas well that blew last week.

A team including firefighting legend Red Adair of Houston is working on the matter.

Authorities closed the campgrounds at Fort Griffin State Park while more than 100 workers from the Texas Railroad Commission, the Environmental Protection Agency, state parks department and Adair's oil well firefighting team attempted to stem the flow of gas rising from the river bottom.

"We won't open until all the dangers are gone," Will Carroll, the park's assistant manager, said Sunday. "If one cigarette lighter was struck, it could be a major problem. We want to be as absolutely safe as possi-

Park officials spotted gas bubbling on the river's surface in Shackelford County Thursday morning. Access to the camp grounds was cut off Friday when the river's bottom began belching large amounts of the gas, Carroll said.

AUSTIN (AP) - Higher educa- tee would reduce funding to public colleges and universities by 5 percent to 15 percent from the cost to continue current services for the next two years.

If approved the appropriation committee's action would translate into a reduction of 5 percent in state funding for Snyder's Western Texas College. That would mean a loss of just over $100,000 in state funding.

The reduction would translate into a 2.7 percent, or $146 million, cut from current spending levels, hudget officials said.

Lawmakers are midway through a 30-day special session to write a budget facing a projected $4.8 billion shortfall in revenue.

Under the budget recommendation by the Appropriations Committee, the funding cuts for higher education to continue current services would be:

 5 percent at junior colleges and Texas State Technical Institute facilities.

 10 percent at general academic and health-related institutions.

- 15 percent at the Baylor College of Medicine, and the Baylor College of Dentistry. On another front, Mark told

Preacher says story is 'witch hunt'

RICHARDSON, Texas (AP) — A prominent Baptist preacher whose rag-to-riches rise was contradicted in a newspaper article stood before an enthusiastic congregation Sunday to rebut news accounts of his life.

Darrell Gilyard, 29, who often said he grew up homeless under a bridge, actually was reared in a comfortable Florida home, The Dallas Morning News reported in a copyright story Sunday.

Gilyard used an emotional, 50minute sermon Sunday to attack the article, calling it "the most devious and sinister story I have ever read in my life." He said the ordeal had been a "witch hunt." He was interrupted several times by cheers and applause by the estimated 125 Grace Church congregants who attended the service, held in a hotel convention room.

Gilyard became one of the nation's most-sought after black Baptist evangelists after frequent appearances on Rev. Jerry Falwell's nationally televised 'Old-Time Gospel Hour.'

But, recent charges of sexual misconduct with female began a fall from grace highlighted previous media accounts. Gilyard questioned the accuracy of Sunday's article, which disputed the preacher's achomelessness.

"I read this story and I was crushed; crushed because they have taken half-truths, half-facts together in such a way that I January have to stand before you this morning and ask, 'Who is trying to destroy me and why?'

"Is it the people for whose ministries I have raised millions profit. of dollars? Is it the pastors who envy or resent the fact that hundreds were saved every time God has used me to minister in their churches? Is it the legalistic Bapmulti-racial experiment is work-

"Who is trying to destroy me?" The News questioned Gilyard's the age of 13 on.

Gilyard conceded Sunday that members of his congregation he may have exaggerated stories of his homeless life, but added that he had at times been forced to sleep under a bridge.

Barbara Davis, the 65-year-old Palatka, Fla. woman who said count of poverty and she reared Gilyard from the age of 5 until he was 19, told The News that she was "embarrassed" when she saw Gilyard's life story on "The Darrell Gilyard Miracle and innuendos and put them Story" on Falwell's show in Gilyard was taken in by Ms. Davis' sister, Mary Eliza James, after his migrant worker parents abandoned him as a baby. When Gilvard was 5, Ms. James died tists who fear that the great and her sister, whom he called "Auntie," assumed his care.

'My life as a poor black teenager is burned into my brain," Gilyard told The News. "Unforrepeated claims that he was forc- tunately, I suspect the passing ed to sleep under a bridge from years have dimmed my aging Auntie's memory."

Gilyard claimed Sunday that Ms. Davis had kicked him out of the house repeatedly and at times she did not know where he was living. Ms. Davis, listed on school records as Gilyard's only guardian, denied the account.

Gilyard said as recently as last Sunday that benevolent Palatka police officers routinely allowed him to sleep in the police station.

But Lt. Robert Ricks, a 24-year veteran of the Palatka Police Department, told the newspaper that if "the kid had been growing up under the bridge, it looks to me we would have known it." Gilyard asked his congregation

Sunday if they could "honestly believe that a white policeman would really know what was going on" in a black section of Palatka and would the officer "even care."

He disputed several of the article's claims that he exaggerated his scholastic and athletic achievements by producing school records and old Oklahoma.

A Falwell spokesman described the evangelist's reaction to revelations about Gilyard's background as a "devastating disappointment."

The News also reported that Gilvard falsely claimed on his resume that he graduated from St. John's Community College in Palatka and Criswell Center for Biblical Studies in Dallas. Registrars at both schools said Gilyard did not graduate. He did not address the issue Sunday.

Prominent Baptist leaders in Dallas moved last week to cut their ties to Gilyard, whose national exposure had helped him establish Victory Baptist Church in Richardson.

Gilyard resigned his pastorate July 10, under pressure from Baptist officials, following allegations of sexual misconduct with female congregants at Victory Baptist and three other churches in Texas and

DEAR DR. GOTT: What is your opinion, the cost and what can one expect from a penile prosthesis implant?

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR READER: I've answered this question before, but I'm happy to have another go.

There are many types of penile implants for men with impotence. These devices include both permanently erect prostheses and those which can be inflated. The type best suited to a particular patient should be chosen by a qualified urologist who is familiar with the patient's age, state of health and preferences. There are no standard costs for the prostheses, since the cost of each device is included in the entire surgical expense for implantation.

Therefore, I cannot answer your aliens in this country, we certain-question more fully except to say that many men who otherwise could not enjoy normal sexual relations; you should direct your specific questions to a urologist.

I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach To Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am 83 and have chronic, painful constipation. I have tried many laxatives, which were either ineffective or turned me inside out. Doctors haven't been able to help

Finally, my daughter, who also suffers constipation, brought me some Lacie Le Beau herbal tea. It's a "super dieter's tea" that comes in a red box, which contains 30 tea bags at an approximate cost of $7.

The first time I took it, I drank a full cup and that was too much for me. I eventually found that a half cup at bedtime keeps me regular. I usually brew a whole pot and keep the unused portion in the refrigerator.

I can't tell you what a difference this tea has made in my life. Without the fear and discomfort of constipation, I am much happier. I thought you might be interested in learning about

DEAR READER: I have had no experience with Lacie Le Beau tea; therefore, I can neither endorse nor condemn it. However, yours was one of several letters I received from readers, all of whom swore by the gentle laxative properties of this product. I am merely passing on your experience with the tea, which is ordinarily purchased in health food

According to the manufacturer, the instructions for preparation are as follows: Pour two cups of boiling water over one tea bag in a container, cover, steep for about three minutes, then press the tea bag lightly. Drink no more than one cup and save the other for the next day. Drink hot or cold, but always after a meal.

I would be grateful to hear from other readers who may have tried Lacie Le Beau tea for constipation.

Gays protest beating death

(AP) — Queer Nation activists said they led a protest march through this affluent Houston suburb to help educate residents about hate crimes like the one in which a gay man was killed in Houston recently.

"Someone is teaching young people that it is all right to attack and kill those who are different from themselves," said John Bourgault, 21, a member of Queer Nation, which organized Saturday's march through the suburb that four beating suspects

"Today, we challenge you to find ways to teach your children a better way," Bourgault said. "They must be taught tolerance and respect for human life and human diversity. You can begin by expressing your own outrage over the murder of Paul Broussard.'

Broussard, 27, and two companions were attacked by two carloads of teen-agers and young men as they left a Houston gay nightclub on July 4.

Leandro Edmundo Ramirez, 17; Dan Attard, 17; Jon C. Buice, 17; and Paul Chance Dillion, 22, have been charged in connection with the slaying. All four are residents of The Woodlands. Three are students at Mc-Cullough High School and Dillion is a former student there.

On Saturday, some protestors carried a wooden coffin through a grocery store parking lot, while about 100 others held placards with such messages as, "Intolerance destroys; Teach love," and "What are you teaching your kids anyway?"

"It's disturbing that people from the suburbs would travel all

Control vs. Kaos

By Phillip Alder

From 1965 to 1970 the top-ranked TV show was "Get Smart," a sitcom spy spoof. An organization called Control fought for goodness and niceness against the forces of evil from Kaos Government cutbacks closed Control early in 1970, leaving Kaos unchallenged. The two organizations agreed to carry on their struggle for supremacy by playing bridge. For the first rubber, Control was represented by the Chief and Maxwell Smart, Agent 86. Siegfried and Shtarker played for Kaos.

Today's hand was the first one played. Siegfried, West, opened one club, but the Chief and Max cruised into three no-trump. Siegfried led the club seven. The Chief tabled his cards. 'Good luck, Max."

"Thank you, Chief. Now let me see. I have to win nine tricks. Yes, well, hmm. Low please, Chief."

Max won the first trick with the club nine, played a diamond to dummy's king and led a heart back to the king and ace. Siegfried returned a

Max won with the club queen, cashed the diamond ace and, when the queen didn't drop, played another heart. Siegfried won with the queen and led a third club, holding Max to seven tricks.

"Missed it by that much, Chief. You bid too much.

"No, Max," replied the Chief with a sigh. "If only you'd won the first trick with the club ace and overtaken the diamond king with your ace at trick two, you could have driven out Siegfried's diamond queen. You would have won two spades, five diamonds and two

Club's Lone Star Chapter said the bill made some improvements. But he said the Senate had caved in by accepting much of the House bill. Royder said lawmakers are

"guilty once again of pandering" to the highway department's "self-perpetuating needs to continue to spend taxpayer dollars to build new roads when they should have taken the opportunity to shift" the department's "responsibilities toward public transit and environmental protection."

Like so much other legislation in the 30-day special legislative session, which reached the halfway mark today, the transportation bill could end up in a House-Senate conference committee.

Senators, for example, on Sunday accepted a request by the House for a conference committee on a measure that would reorganize state health and human services agencies.

The Senate, with the House in adjournment, also approved a bill that sponsor Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, claimed would bring in $500 million a year in federal funds for Texas hospitals that serve a disproportionate share of patients on Medicaid.

The concept is to reward those hospitals and to provide an incentive to others to do more, so access to health care will be improved. Currently, 24 hospitals meet the criteria for the federal matching funds, according to figures compiled by Brooks' staff.

The proposal was sent to the House on a 30-0 vote.

Under the transportation bill, the three-member board overseeing the new department would be selected by the governor, which is the practice now for the state highway commission. preached by regular appoint-

A Senate amendment also deleted a provision that would authorize the department to place a lien on a motorist's car for failure to pay toll road fees. Instead, the motorist could be fined $100.

The bill would require the Department of Public Safety to reduce the number of commissioned officers at driver's license facilities, with a cap at 100, and would phase out use of troopers for motor vehicle inspection by on the disabled list that time. Juan Gonzalez had three hits and two RBI for the Rangers. who beat Frank Tanana, 7-7.

It was the first time that Rvan and Tanana, who were teammates for California in the 1970s, had pitched against each other.

Texas moved within four and one-half games of Minnesota in the AL West.

Detroit manager Sparky Anderson said Ryan looked good to him.

This was more of a tightness like "It was the same old Nolan," Ryan said it was getting a little Anderson said. "I have a lot of respect for him. He's super. He just has to be careful when his back starts bothering him."

Anderson said that although the Tigers are second in the AL East they don't deserve to be there because of their pitching.

"There is no reason for us to get excited about being in second place when we are last in the majors in ERA," Anderson said. 'We shouldn't be in second place. We should be out of circulation."

"You have to be concerned when a legend pulls himself out,' House said. "I think he just got a spasm because of lack of fluids on a hot night. We'll be stricter about the number of pitches he throws and watch him closely."

49ers seek swap for FB Highsmith

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Dallas Cowboys fullback Alonzo Highsmith is talking to the San Francisco 49ers about a possible trade, a Dallas television station reported Sunday.

The 49ers have asked Dallas for permission to talk with Highsmith, a Cowboys contract holdout, television station KDFW reported. Officials told the station that the Cowboys gave permission for the discussions to proceed.

Earlier this month, David Levine, Highsmith's agent, was given permission by Dallas to seek a trade for his player.

Highsmith took a physical for the Detroit Lions on Wednesday.

The Cowboys were in San Antonio on Sunday for a controlled scrimmage with the Houston Oilers at Alamo Stadium, which Dallas won 24-6.

The Oilers are training in the Alamo City.

HOUSTON (AP) — The Pitt- club record for most runs scored sburgh Pirates have been play- in a game with four

"This was a nice win because we've been pummeled by these guys this year," Candaele said. The Astros chased Smith with a five run third after the lefthander had retired the first two batters in the inning. "I really didn't have the stuff

I'd like to have, I was pitching series from the last-place Astros 8-4, including a 5-1 mark at the high and falling behind in the count. That's the way you give up "We won two out of three and five runs in one inning, with two had a chance to win the other one, outs no less.

so I'm happy," said Pittsburgh Manager Jim Leyland. "Our pit-Bowen, who pitched five no-hit innings at St. Louis in his first ching was horrible today and I start a week ago, allowed three still thought we were going go earned runs in five innings.

"He needs to work on com-Zane Smith, 10-8, lasted only 2 mand of his pitches," Astros 2-3 innings, yielding six hits and Manager Art Howe said. "He is six runs as the Astros took leads still trying to get over the butof 6-3 in the third and 8-4 in the terflies, but he has a win against sixth before the Pirates cut the the hottest team in baseball."

The top three batters in the Rookie Ryan Bowen, 1-1, took Pirate batting order reached the victory and Jim Clancy pitchbase 12 times in 15 plate aped a scoreless ninth to record his pearances.

Playoff round set for Open

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) -It could be golf. Or showtime. Or secutive times, popped out to both.

first while attempting a sacrifice Jack Nicklaus and Chi Chi Rodriguez will settle the U.S. Senior Open championship in an ed pinch-hitter McClendon but 18-hole playoff at historic retired Bonilla on a fly ball to left Oakland Hills today. Nicklaus is big and blond, strong and long. He's the best golfer to ever play the game. The 132-pound Rodriguez grew up hitting tin cans with a guava-tree stick in Puerto Rico.

But they finished 72 holes tied at 2-over-par on the 6,718-yard layout. Al Geiberger, victim of a heart-breaking bogey on the 18th hole, finished one shot back at 283. Lee Trevino, closing with a 4over 74, tied with Jim Dent at 284.

"To me golf is show business," Rodriguez said. "They come to be entertained, see a good show well staged. I give them a show. Jack gives them good golf."

But the crowd-pleasing Chi Chi, who earned a spot in the playoff with a dramatic birdie on the final hole Sunday, made it clear his familiar sword-fighting routine has a serious side.

"If the big bear goes to sleep, the little mouse from Puerto Rico will slip right in," he said.

Only USGA events go to a fullround playoff to break ties.

But few people believed him. And many recognized a distressing pattern.

The Kenya Medical Association noted many similar, less violent, incidents recently and decried "a catastrophe that has befallen our land."

The association and others blamed this month's rampage on factors ranging from the lowly place of women in Africa's maledominated society to student stress and lack of proper role

And in apportioning blame, they did not spare politicians like Education Minister Peter Oloo

Since June, disturbances have led the government to close nine high schools, two universities and five colleges across this East African nation.

Student complaints, the medical association noted, followed a similar pattern: shortages of teachers and equipment, badly prepared or monotonous meals, fee increases, dilapidated buildings, misuse of school property by teachers and embezzlement of funds by administrators.

The July 13 melee at St. Kizito Mixed Secondary School was unique only in its unprecedented violence.

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — CBS nerdy, bowtied Pee-wee Herman, said. He was freed on $219 bail.

The Emmy-winning "Peewee's Playhouse" was canceled in April, but reruns are scheduled through August, said Ann Morfogen, CBS vice president of media relations. She said the network would decide today whether

If convicted, Reubens could get up to two months in jail and a $500 fine. Arraignment was set

Three other people were arrested separately at the theater, which was showing "Nancy Nurse," "Turn Up The Heat" and

"Tiger Shark." Reubens grew up in Sarasota and his parents still live here. He lives in Studio City, Calif.

His attorney, Dan Dannheiser, said the actor had no comment.

"He does a lot of things with kids over the world and his career will be over when that story runs," Dannheiser said. Reubens had earlier brushes with the law, the Sarasota Herald-Tribune reported today.

According to sheriff's records, he was arrested in 1983 by an undercover officer for allegedly loitering outside an adult film theater and bookstore. The state attorney's office declined to press charges.

In 1971 he was arrested in Sarasota for possession of marijuana. A judge withheld a formal finding of guilt and placed him on two years' probation.

Reubens developed the character of Pee-wee Herman.

Shamir says barriers to peace in Mid East may be resolved

Minister Yitzhak Shamir said today it would be possible to resolve problems blocking a Middle East peace conference during another visit by Secretary of State James A. Baker III.

Shamir's comment came shortly after Foreign Minister David Levy said he expected Baker to return for another peace shuttle "in the next few days."

However, Levy did not specify when Baker might arrive. Nor did Shamir make a definite statement on the secretary's plans. There was no immediate word from U.S. officials - including the secretary of state himself on any new Baker trip to Israel.

"If, for example, Baker comes in the coming days, I suppose that it will be possible to conclude during his visit all the things which are delaying opening the conference." Shamir told an Israel radio reporter.

"In our opinion it is possible to conclude them, but he of course will have to talk to others," the prime minister added.

Shamir said, however, that Israel still had not decided how it Lebanon have all agreed to atwould respond to any invitation tend Baker's proposed peace conto a peace conference from Presi-ference. last Aug. 7. On their day-long journey halfway across the world to draw President Bush's line in the sand, Leary and his 209 fellow paratroopers readied for war.

They double-checked weapons and gas masks. They swallowed as much water as they could. And they smeared on camouflage makeup, which later dripped from their sweaty faces in 130degree heat.

"It was so quiet, you could have heard a pin drop. Nobody knew what to expect. Not knowing was the worst," said Leary,

No figures are available, but Cubans say relatively few Americans visit the island. An estimated 340,000 foreigners came to Cuba in 1990, most of them from Canada and Europe.

Under the Trading with the Enemy Act, only American journalists, professional scholars, Cuban-Americans visiting immediate family and fully sponsored guests may spend money in Cuba. It is part of a trade embargo imposed 30 years ago when the Caymans and Bahamas. Washington broke relations with Fidel Castro's government.

"If Americans are going to Cuba through a third country, they're going there illegally, said Robert Levine, a U.S. Department Treasury spokesman.

He said anyone prosecuted under the act could face maximum penalties of 12 years in prison and a $250,000 fine.

All an American needs to enter are a tourist card and a passport, which Cuban officials won't stamp if asked not to.

The travel ban appears an effective deterrent. A visitor spending a week in Cuba saw only three other Americans, all of whom had traveled via Canada.

"The alcohol ban has been very positive so far," says police Capt. Rick Boyle. "The feedback we're receiving from citizens and business has been very favorable."

"I have noticed a very big change," Mayor Crews agrees. What I have seen are more families and individuals who seem to be really taking advantage of the seawall, strolling, riding bikes, running, walking and just enjoying the sights. It's just more pleasant."

"It's been a 100 percent improvement," says Carl Schutz, who's been running on the seawall several times a week for 20 years. "It's the best thing they've ever done. You don't get all the groups that sit around and no bums. It was a despicable situation."

"At least it's a lot calmer than it used to be," adds Elizabeth Taylor, 21, who works at a seawall clothing store called Surf Styles. "You don't see as many people drinking. It had gotten pretty scary here. I had to call 911 a couple of times."

Charles Walker, who operates a bicycle rental and facepainting shop on the seawall, says the pro-hibition also has helped keep the boulevard and sidewalks clean.

"People would walk with a bottle of wine in a bag and leave it or break them," he says. "I didn't like that at all."

DEAR ABBY: In Richland, Wash.; men and women are carrying signs and parading small children in front of family-planning clinics in opposition to a woman's right to choose. Meanwhile, a newborn baby boy was dumped in an apartment com-plex trash bin and left to die. He was found, hospitalized and survived. The baby, his 17-year-old mother and another son, a 1 1/2-year-old, have been placed in separate King County foster-care families.

DEAR BARBARA: Indeed I will. And here it is:

DEAR ABBY: This is a message to those men and women who try to prevent women from entering abortion clinics and carry big signs that say, "They Kill Babies Here!"

Have you signed up to adopt a child? If not, why not? Is it because you don't want one, can't afford one, or don't have the time, patience or desire to raise a child?

What if a woman who was about to enter a family-planning clinic saw your sign, then decided not to have an abortion but chose instead to give her baby to you? Would you accept it? What if the mother belonged to a minority group — or was addicted to drugs, or tested positive for AIDS?

Why are you spending your time carrying a sign? Why aren't you volunteering to baby-sit a child born to a single mother so she can work? Why haven't you opened your door to a pregnant teen-ager whose parents kicked her out when she took your advice and decided not to have an abortion?

As for the taxpayers who resent paying for abortions, who do you think pays for foster care, welfare, social workers and juvenile delinquency? The taxpayers.

DALLAS (AP) — The founder he asked members to join him in pushing for a less fundamentalist Southern Baptist Convention.

Rev. John H. Hewett is the newly elected chairman of the Cooperative Baptist Fellowship, an organization trying to regain moderate power from fundamentalists holding key positions in the SBC.

"I was overjoyed," Hewett said late Sunday night following the meeting. "I didn't think anybody would come out like this on a Sunday night.'

Since 1979, Baptist fundamentalists and moderates have fought for control of the convention. Fundamentalists hold to their belief in a non-changing, strict interpretation of the Bible, while most moderates contend that the true roots of Baptist beliefs lie in individual interpretation.

Fundamentalists claim most convention leadership positions and now hold the majority of seats on the governing boards of most SBC affiliated institutions and committees.

The 38-year-old pastor of First Baptist Church of Asheville, N.C., said earlier this weekend the fundamentalists' victory at the SBC's annual meetings last year "spelled the end of the efforts to fight the fundamentalist movement in the convention.'

celebrating an apparent horse racing boom, while tracks across the country appear to be up to their manes in financial ruin, experts say.

Weak attendance and slow betting has some of the industry's most familiar tracks, such as Calumet Farms in Kentucky, near collapse. Several new ventures never made it.

Meanwhile, groups of investors are fighting for rights to build Class 1 tracks in Dallas-Fort DALLAS (AP) - Texas is Worth, Houston and San Antonio, which rank among America's 10 largest cities.

"The way things are going now, I wouldn't consider building a track anywhere in the country, unless it was Texas," says real estate developer Jerry Carroll of Florence, Ky., an investor in a proposed San Antonio-area track.

After years of struggling for reasons, track operators still haven't reached a consensus on why racing fails while other sports in their towns prosper. Some explanations for the slide

-Competition from other gambling, legal and illegal. -An aging fan base combined with a failure to attract new

-A revision in tax laws to restrict writeoffs for horse owners.

-High pari-mutuel takeouts. The Birmingham Turf Club in Alabama and Iowa's Prairie Meadows are in bankruptcy. Minnesota's Canterbury Downs and The Woodlands in Kansas City are struggling against a discouraging bottom line.

A rare exception to the widespread failure is the $100 million Remington Park in Oklahoma City.

But now breeding farms are suffering. The famed Calumet Farms in Lexington, Ky. has filed for bankruptcy and many other farms in Kentucky are up for sale.
