Ask Us

Q—A recent Ask Us stated that voters in Ira and Hermleigh are to cast their ballots in the county education district election at the Snyder administration building. But officials at Snyder ISD say each school district is holding its own election. Which is correct?
A—Each school district is holding its own election. The answer in the Ask Us question to which you refer was based on information provided by school officials at that time. After some confusion, however, the situation has been corrected.

For the sixth consecutive year, the Corky Ogden Memorial World Championship Barrel Race will mark the unofficial opening of the AJRA National Finals Rodeo in Snyder. The championship barrel race, for boys and girls ages 8 and under, is scheduled for 1 p.m. Sunday in Scurry County Coliseum.

The AJRA National Finals Rodeo officially opens on Tuesday, Aug. 6, although team roping finals and slack performances will be held Monday.

Admission to Sunday's barrel race is free. The contestants will include some of the top horses and best young rodeo talent from several states.

A championship saddle will be awarded for first place. A trophy bucket goes to the second place winner, and the top ten contestants will receive awards jackets.

Admittance to Monday's team roping finals and slack performances is without charge. In fact, all AJRA slack performances during the week-long rodeo are free to the public.

The rodeo officially gets underway from the fan's viewpoint on Tuesday — the first of five nightly shows that culminate in the televised finals on Saturday, Aug. 10.

Top rodeo professionals and celebrities return for this year's AJRA, including acclaimed rodeo announcer Bob Tallman. Rodeo clowns and bullfighters Rick Chatman, Leon Coffee and Snuffy Chancellor also return, as does co-announcer Curt Robinson.

Special week-long passes are available this year. The price is $15 for adults and $8 for children. These general admission passes are available at Snyder Chamber of Commerce and McDonald's. Box seats, at $6 each, are available only at the chamber.

Senior citizens will be admitted for half price on Senior Night, Wednesday, Aug. 7. Rodeo fans who attend the Tuesday, Aug. 6, performance, can get in for half price if they are wearing a 1991 AJRA cap. Caps are available at the chamber office.

Ira ISD hires new principal

Jane Matlock has been hired as principal of Ira ISD, school officials confirmed this morning.

Matlock was hired during a board meeting Thursday in which two teachers were also hired.

She comes to the district from Spur where she served as curriculum director for the past two years. She also taught at Spur Elementary. She also has teaching experience at Henderson Junior College and Sam Houston High School in San Antonio.

Matlock is a graduate of Spur High School with a bachelor's degree in English from Texas Women's University and a master's from Texas Tech University.

"I realize that a woman principal is unusual in a small district. I'm excited to be the first one," said Matlock, as she began her first full day in the position.

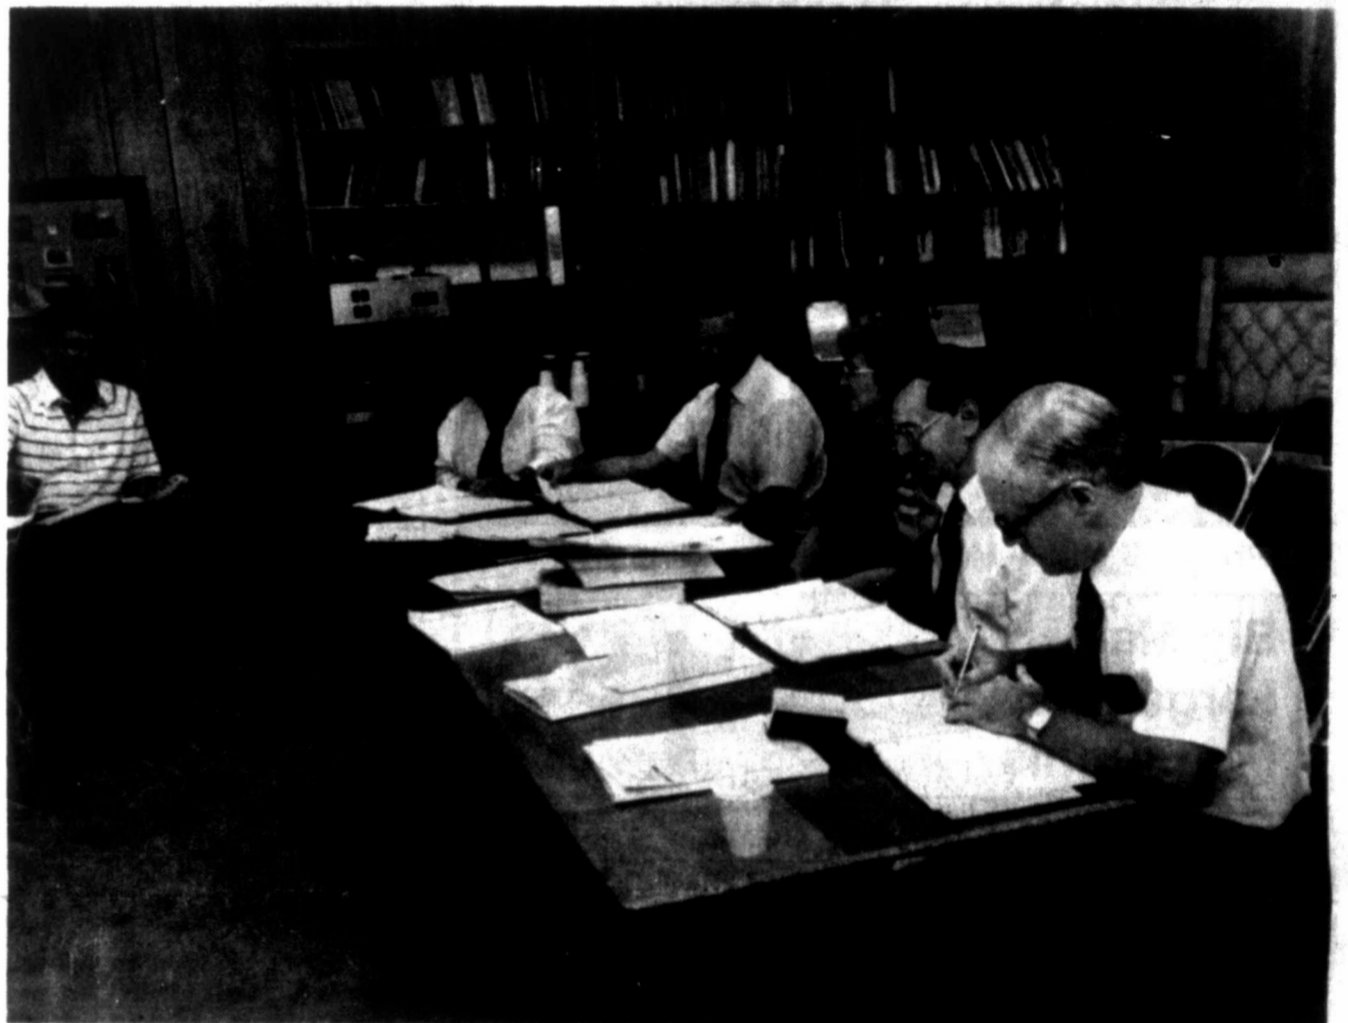

As principal, Matlock said she would like to continue the reputation of Ira as a good school throughout the state.

She has a son, Dale, who is a senior at Southwest Texas University and a daughter, June Hood, who is a senior at Wayland Baptist.

In addition to Matlock, Carol Eiland of Snyder was hired as special education director and Lynn Carol was hired to head the school's new baseball program and as assistant football coach, girls' basketball coach and history teacher.

Review of county budget drags on

Sheriff Keith Collier presented what he called a "conservative budget" for his department — and like other department heads — heard a request from Precinct 2 Commissioner Roy Idom for a staff reduction.

Except for 30 minutes spent in discussion of the county animal damage control contract, Scurry

County Commissioners Court spent all of Thursday afternoon in detail review of the sheriff's department and jail spending proposals for 1992.

Commissioners completed their fourth day of budget talks late Thursday, a county document calling for expenditures of $5.6 million — same as the current year budget.

This morning, commissioners looked at budgets for Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace, the extension service, adult probation, health unit and Scurry County Work Center.

In addition Friday morning, District Judge Gene Dulaney reported on a telephone conversation with the attorney general's office concerning the possibility of contracting with a lawyer for a fixed fee for court-appointed attorneys.

The court had asked Judge Dulaney about the feasibility as a way of holding down costs. Dulaney was advised that the county should seek an attorney general's opinion either through the district attorney or county attorney.

In most cases, budget requests have been on par with current-year expenditures, but commissioners have yet to look at anticipated revenues which are likely to be down due to a decline in county tax values. This year the county will base its tax rate on values of $918,945,718, a decrease of $49 million from a year ago.

The requested sheriff's department budget is $271,355, down some $10,000 from last year. Sheriff Collier said the department will have one less employee.

Idom asked if Collier could cut further and Collier countered that he was not padding the budget on employees. Collier said he was able to hold overtime to a minimum because of the superior cooperation with the Snyder police department which handles

Citizens warned of possible scam

Scurry County residents are cautioned of a possible scam in which senior citizens are being asked to invest money.

Norma Laywell, administrative assistant at Scurry County Senior Citizens Center, said a woman who is a regular at the center informed her of the scheme this morning.

Both the police department and sheriff's office have been made aware of the complaint.

The woman said someone had telephoned her, claiming to be connected with the senior center, and asked for permission to visit her at her home.

When the man arrived at the residence, he displayed a photocopied set of credentials and wanted to talk about how to save her income tax money on investments. He asked for $10,000, but only for a percentage of it at the present time. The man claimed he would invest the money, which would be sheltered from taxes, and after it drew a substantial amount of interest, he would return for the rest of the $10,000.

The man has not mentioned a company and has not produced a business card or identified himself.

"People need to be aware that this is happening," said Lieutenant Steve Warren with the police department. "He has been described as a white male, about 5-10, kind of heavy set in his early to mid 50s. He is carrying a brief case and wearing a business suit.

"We'd like to take this opportunity to warn anyone to be extremely cautious when approached by anyone stating they can save you money."

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Think of life as one big picnic — with lots of ants."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors: Con artists are nothing new. According to Gene Dow in the Seminole Sentinel, some scams have more class than others.

Dow was writing about a visit to Seminole by Liberal Bill in February of 1941. Liberal Bill, likely somebody's favorite brother-in-law, bragged that he had "never worked and never will."

He drew a big crowd in that city to watch a beautiful damsel climb the sheer walls of the Piggly Wiggly building, attired only in a pair of red tights.

Once he got the crowd's attention, he vowed that he would sell them empty match boxes at a dollar a piece. He did, and so masterfully, that after collecting some $95 from the crowd, he departed without a complaint.

The crowd obviously thought it was the price for such good entertainment. He was truthful all the way, except the damsel, clad in a pair of red tights, never did climb the wall of Piggly Wiggly.

The following was published in The Oklahoma Observer:

"Dart: To Marilyn Quayle, who blames the media for her husband's image. This from a woman who practices birth control by giving her husband a piece of gum when they retire in the evening."

O.G. Nieman, in the Hereford Brand, overheard a conversation in a restaurant. A salesman said if a certain electronic device was purchased, it would make life much easier.

"It comes with a 60-page user-friendly instruction booklet," added the salesman.

"No deal," said the prospective customer. "Nothing that needs 60 pages of instructions is going to make life easier."

Tourism group notes several events planned

An antiques and collectibles show is scheduled later this month at Scurry County Coliseum, members of the chamber's tourism and retirement committee were told Thursday.

Also during the meeting, the committee heard brief reports on upcoming events including White Buffalo Days, the AJRA National Finals Rodeo and the chamber fundraiser.

The show, scheduled for Aug. 31, will feature local antique dealers and a barbecue dinner, said Bernhard Bartels, committee member. The event is sponsored by Historic Scurry County Inc. and Scurry County Historic Commission.

Bartels said the show will begin at 4 p.m. and the dinner will be served at 6 p.m. A silent auction will also be held. Tickets will be $7 and will include the dinner.

Shirley Leftwich said that the annual White Buffalo Days is scheduled for Oct. 12 and this year's event might feature a live white buffalo. In addition, the committee discussed trying to organize a hot air balloon festival in conjunction with the day-long event.

The chamber fundraiser is slated for Oct. 19 with entertainment from Snyderite Brad Naule, according to organizer Jerry Baird. The fundraiser will be held in a large tent at the Jack Greene residence. Cost will be $100 per couple. Cash prizes will be awarded.

Members noted the upcoming AJRA National Finals Rodeo and encouraged everyone to welcome participants and their families to the community.

In addition, the committee appointed a subcommittee in charge of billboards promoting the city.

Porn firm's assets seized by fed jury

DALLAS (AP) — The future of the nation's largest distributor of X-rated videos is in jeopardy following a federal jury's decision to strip assets worth more than $10 million from the California-based company. A jury in Dallas decided Thursday that six of the eight assets, which include bank accounts and two warehouses, owned by California Publishers Liquidating Corp. and its two subsidiaries could be forfeited.

Records seized from the defendants indicate the estimated value of the forfeited property exceeds $10.2 million, U.S. Attorney Marvin Collins said Thursday.

Jurors couldn't reach a verdict on two other bank accounts.

Thursday's verdict came two days after jurors decided that California Publishers shipped four obscene cassettes to Dallas in 1989 and 1990. Defendants have not indicated whether they will appeal the verdict.

Jurors acquitted one of the original eight defendants. The judge ordered charges against another dropped because the evidence failed to substantiate charges against him.

TU Electric, not customers must absorb 'Peak' expense

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Utilities Co. must absorb $1.38 billion of the cost of the Comanche Peak nuclear plant, the Public Utility Commission decided.

By a 2-1 vote, commissioners Thursday prevented the Dallas-based utility from passing the costs to consumers. The decision came as the PUC approved a 10.2 percent hike in revenue sought by Texas Utilities in its first rate request since 1984.

The PUC decision essentially passes the burden of the $1.38 billion disallowance to Texas Utilities' shareholders.

More than $900 million of the disallowed costs were tied to the utility's repurchase of a 12 percent stake in Comanche Peak held by other owners.

The utility argued the repurchase was made necessary by federal law when the minority owners could not meet loan repayments when Comanche Peak's costs soared in the 1980s. The plant has cost $9.1 billion so far.

TU Electric Chairman Erle Nye said the decision will damage TU Electric's "credit worthiness" and ability to borrow money.

The ruling could "make it very difficult, if not impossible, to conduct reasonable customer operations and ongoing programs," he added. "I think bad management can cause a utility to have high rates. But bad regulation can as well," Nye said.

"We're extremely disappointed in that disallowance, particularly considering what the majority of the disallowance is for," Texas Utilities spokesman Dick Ramsey said. "We just can't agree that there is any logic in it at all."

What the decision means to 10 charged in killing at gay bar

HOUSTON (AP) — Police charged seven more young men Thursday in the beating death of a man outside a gay bar, raising to 10 the number charged in the July 4th attack.

All 10, ranging in age from 17 to 22, live in the northern suburb of The Woodlands. Bond was set at $10,000 each. They all remained in the Harris County Jail on Thursday.

A Harris County grand jury indicted the 10 on Thursday.

They are accused of participating in the beating and stabbing death of Paul Broussard, 27, on the Fourth of July. Broussard, Richard Delaney, and another man had just left Heaven, a gay nightclub in the city's Montrose area.

The three were walking four blocks to their car when a group of young men asked them for directions to the club. After a brief exchange, the group beat and stabbed the men, killing Broussard and injuring Delaney.

Gay activists called the assault a gay-bashing incident, and complained that police did not do enough to protect people in the Montrose area, a neighborhood frequented by homosexuals.

At the time, police said they had no evidence to indicate the attack was motivated by anti-homosexual sentiments.

customers' utility bills can't be precisely gauged until the commission's final ruling, which is expected next week, PUC spokesman Bill Dunn said.

"They've still got a ways to go in terms of voting. We've still got a considerable amount of work to do in nailing down the final calculations," Dunn said.

The commission today was expected to consider another major segment of the request, reconciliation of fuel supply costs since the early 1980s involving about 900 contracts.

Texas Utilities implemented increased rates a year ago pending the PUC's decision. At that time, the bill for a residential customer who uses 1,500-kilowatt hours a month jumped 15.3 percent from about $101 to $117.

Money received since last August is subject to refund pending the final PUC decision.

Dallas-based Texas Utilities has about 2.1 million customers and serves about 3 million others in an area stretching from northeast Texas, Dallas-Fort Worth, Waco, the High Plains and into West Texas.

Commissioners Marta Greytok and Jo Campbell supported the $910 million disallowance for the minority ownership repurchase. PUC chairman Paul Meek voted against it.

Meek joined the others in support of about a $470 million disallowance for imprudent management costs related to Comanche Peak.

The combined disallowance is one of the nation's largest for a nuclear plant. The New Hampshire rate agency prevented $1.4 billion in costs associated with the Shoreham nuclear plant from being passed to consumers. In New York, regulators ruled four utilities had to absorb about $1.7 billion in costs related to the Nine Mile Point 2 plant, according to the Edison Electric Institute.

England's King Charles II granted a charter in 1681 to William Penn for an area of land that later became Pennsylvania.

Your Birthday

Aug. 2, 1991

It looks like you may be given greater responsibilities in your chosen field of endeavor in the year ahead. Perform up to your capabilities, because it could offer substantial rewards over a protracted period of time.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone with whom you were once very tight is beginning to lose patience with you; this person resents being taken for granted lately. Some fence-mending is needed. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences governing you in the year ahead. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may lack the ability to see the error of your ways today, but you could have an extremely critical eye for finding faults in others. This is not a formula for popularity.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be extremely careful as to whom you delegate authority today, because a poor choice could force a commitment on your behalf that you'd never agree to in person.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Family members, including yourself, might be a trifle edgy today. Be very careful that you don't do something without thinking that could raise their boiling points.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If possible, try to temporarily shelve tasks or assignments that you find extremely distasteful today. Doing work you dislike tends to create results that aren't up to par.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Business and pleasure might not mix too well today, so think twice before pitching a deal in a social setting. Your chance at making a sale doesn't look good.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In your last-minute effort to catch up on things you've left undone this week, you may start cracking the whip over others instead of yourself. Whipping the wrong horse won't save the day.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't misread your feelings of apprehension as intuitive hunches today. The first comes from negative thinking and is not related to the latter.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Try to be as prudent as possible in your leisure activities today. If you don't keep a lid on your wallet, you might spend much more than you anticipated.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may get involved with several people who, in regard to their objectives, aren't in harmony with one another. It could impede your progress regarding something you want to do.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A similar situation to one you didn't handle too well recently might present itself today. If you're not thinking, you may make the same mistakes you did previously.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This is not a good day to poke your nose into an affair that a friend is trying to keep secret. If this individual wanted you to know, you would have been briefed.

Woman's Childhood Abuse Is Wound That Must Be Healed

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am glad you agreed with Grandma! Her 11-year-old grandson and 8-year-old granddaughter should not be sleeping with their father — or each other.

When I was 10 years old, my 12-year-old brother and I were forced to sleep together in one bed at a cousin's house. In the middle of the night I found my brother on top of me! He molested me until I was 17 years old, and to this day I have not told a soul — including my husband, and we have been married for nearly 20 years.

I am so ashamed of it, that even now if I think of it for a few minutes, it makes me physically ill!

Please, parents, friends, relatives — don't let this happen to children. I came from a very respectable family, and I am sure that nobody would believe that this happened to me. But it did!

KEEPING MY SECRET

DEAR KEEPING: Please, don't keep your secret any longer. Contact your local rape crisis center and inquire about counseling and support groups for people who have kept this kind of secret for years. You have nothing to be ashamed of — you were a victim. Victims should bear no guilt.

In counseling, you will learn that in order to heal, you must confront your brother after all these years and tell him how much pain he has caused you. With counseling this can be accomplished. Trust me. Please get counseling, then write again and let me know how you are. I care.

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years and have never seen a problem quite like the one I have. It all started when my son bought one of those video cameras. Since he bought it, he's been driving everyone crazy sticking that camera in their faces.

He wants me and my ex-wife (his mother) to act like we're a lovey-dovey couple before his camera, so my granddaughter (his daughter) can watch it someday and see her grandma and grandpa when they were "happy" together.

Abby, we were divorced 14 years ago because of her infidelity, and the thought of pretending to be civil with that woman is more than I can stomach. Of course, she's all for it, so now I'm the bad guy. Normally, we can't stand the sight of each other, and I think the idea of pretending is ridiculous.

Both of our current spouses have said they wouldn't mind. Any suggestions?

RETIRED IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR RETIRED: Unless both you and your "ex" are Academy Award-winning performers, you'd be foolish to act like you're a "lovey-dovey" couple before a camera. I agree with you — the idea of "pretending" is indeed ridiculous. It is also dishonest to attempt to rewrite history.

CONFIDENTIAL TO IN LOVE IN HOUSTON: Send your married man back to his wife and children, and tell him to stay there. You can't build happiness on the misery of others. And by the way, nobody "falls in love" with a person who is married; they either kick the fence down or climb over it.

To get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Boy killed after cops misjudge Dahmer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Police officers who brought a naked boy back to Jeffrey Dahmer's apartment in May detected nothing unusual inside and insisted to concerned witnesses that the boy was Dahmer's adult lover, tapes disclosed.

Two months later, Dahmer told police he killed the boy as soon as the officers left, a newspaper reported Thursday. Dahmer has confessed to killing and mutilating 17 people since 1978. Neighbors said his apartment had reeked for months before he was arrested last week.

The three officers have been suspended with pay and face disciplinary charges because they "failed to conduct a basic, proper investigation," said Police Chief Philip Arreola. The officers, who have not been identified, won't face criminal charges, he said.

Dahmer, 31, was on parole for child molesting, but the officers did not run a background check during the incident May 27.

A tape recording of a phone conversation has one of the officers telling a concerned neighbor there was no need to worry.

The remains of Konerak Sinthasomphone, 14, were among those found in Dahmer's apartment.

The woman had repeatedly asked an officer if he was sure Sinthasomphone was an adult and the officer insisted he was. "It's an intoxicated boyfriend of another boyfriend," the officer said.

The Milwaukee Journal, quoting unnamed sources, said Dahmer told police that when the officers brought Sinthasomphone back to his apartment photos of previous victims were strewn on the floor and there was a body in his bedroom "smelling like hell."

A police union lawyer, Laurie Eggert, said the officers saw no such evidence and believed Dahmer when he told them Sinthasomphone was his lover.

Ms. Eggert said police tried to interview the boy but he appeared highly intoxicated and "did not respond." She said Dahmer was "calm, relaxed and showed no sign of trying to hide anything."

Dahmer has since told police he drugged his victims before killing them.

"No one knew. ... And I don't think it's fair for anyone to second guess what these officers did," Ms. Eggert said.

In a Police Department tape recording released Thursday, an officer repeatedly assured a skeptical Glenda Cleveland that the boy was an adult.

The conversation occurred less than 30 minutes after Cleveland's daughter and niece saw the boy on a street corner and called the police. One told a dispatcher: "He's been beaten up real bad. ... He can't stand up. ... He has no clothes on. He is very hurt."

In a follow-up call, Mrs.

Cleveland asked six times if the officer was sure the boy was an adult.

"Ma'am. Ma'am. Like I explained to you. It is all taken care of. It's as positive as I can be. OK," the officer said.

EPA reveals new draft plan to clean up southern border

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawmakers say the Environmental Protection Agency's draft plan to clean up pollution on the Southwest border is a good first step, but they're still waiting to see how much money the program gets.

"My concern is that it's a show piece and not a work piece," Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., said Thursday. "I want to see if they make it a real working environmental plan with muscle behind it, and that means funds and commitment."

Rep. Ron Coleman, D-El Paso, said the plan "doesn't yet speak to dollar amounts, and I think it has got to do that to have credibility."

The EPA released its draft plan Thursday and said it would be the subject of hearings along the border in September as the agency and its Mexican counterpart, SEDUE, develop a strategy to clean up and protect the borderlands environment.

The plan is in addition to a review of environmental issues being conducted by the U.S. trade representative's office as part of negotiations for a free trade agreement with Mexico.

Rapid industrial and population growth on the border has left thousands of people living in makeshift housing without running water or sewage systems. Environmentalists complain the expanding maquiladora industry, which has drawn people to the region, has also contaminated the land, air and water with toxic discharges.

More industry and commerce along the border are expected under a free trade agreement, and some lawmakers and environmentalists fear the growth could exacerbate pollution in the region.

Three consumer and environmental groups filed suit Thursday in federal court seeking to force the U.S. trade representative to conduct an environmental impact statement on how the free trade agreement would affect public health, safety and the environment.

sources told them that the leader of the group is David Glass, president and chief executive officer of Wal-Mart Stores Inc.

In addition to Walton, Devine and Glass, the group also includes Oklahoma oilman A. Ray Smith, the sources told the newspaper.

In addition to Wal-Mart, Walton is also founder of Sam's Wholesale Club stores and is one of the richest men in the United States.

Astros owner John McMullen has been negotiating for several months with a Houston group led by former Texas Commerce Bank chairman Ben Love and his son Jeff, but there have been no indications of progress despite a face-to-face meeting on July 2.

the Love group's best offer falls well short of the more than $100 million McMullen is seeking. Sources told the newspaper that the Love group offered $50 million for the Astros two weeks ago, but did not want to purchase the other HSA properties, which include three hotels and the lease to Astrodome facilities through the year 2024.

McMullen is interested in selling the entire package and Glass has been waiting on the sideline for two months for the right time to step into the negotiations, the newspaper reported.

The Glass group is interested in buying the entire HSA package for an unknown amount of money.

Although Glass lives in Bentonville, Ark., he is not interested in moving the team from Houston but is excited about the growth potential of this market, sources told the newspaper.

Glass, 54, likely would retire in four to six years and move to Houston if the deal goes through, a source said.

"David told me the other day he thinks this is about the perfect time to go in and start

Dallas starts preseason against Chiefs in K.C.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Dallas fans will get their first glimpse of their new-look passing offense Saturday night.

The Cowboys and the Kansas City Chiefs, two teams who spent last season on the rise, will open their exhibition campaign with a 7 p.m. kickoff at Arrowhead Stadium.

The Chiefs will be without quarterback Steve DeBerg, a contract holdout. But Dallas quarterback Troy Aikman will be on hand to unveil Norv Turner's passing offense.

Hired from the Los Angeles Rams, Turner is putting in a short passing game that will feature the receivers much more than last year's Dallas offense.

Chiefs' holdouts also include running backs Barry Word and Harvey Williams, the first-round draft choice who is waiting to join an already crowded stable that includes Christian Okoye and veteran Stump Mitchell. Steve negotiating," said one source. "Something could happen as soon as the next 10 days.

The newspaper also reported that the Glass group met in St. Louis last month with McMullen's representatives and Louis Susman of Salomon Bros., the investment company handling the sale.

Others included in the meeting, the source said included Hall of Famer Stan Musial and St. Louis radio executive Bob Hyland, both friends and advisers to the Glass group.

"I can assure you the interest is genuine, but what will become of it I don't know," Devine said. "I think it's time for the deal to come to a head, one way or the other."

Glass earlier was part off unsuccessful attempts to purchase the Minnesota Twins and San Diego Padres and also has inquired about a possible purchase of the Kansas City Royals. He began to focus on the Astros about six months ago, when his other purchase attempts seemed to be going nowhere, a source said.

Pelluer, who hit four of five passes in a touchdown drive in a scrimmage against Minnesota this week, is expected to share duties with Mike Elkins. One deficiency from 1990 the Chiefs are eager to address is a lack of scoring from inside the 20-yard line. Last season, Kansas City finished last in the league in touchdown percentage on plays from inside the 20. It was a constant sore point during a 9-7 campaign that carried them to the playoffs for only the second time since 1971, and it was a factor in their 17-16 loss to Miami in the first round of the playoffs.

Against the Vikings on Wednesday, the Chiefs gave no reason to hope for better things to come when they came up empty after getting a first down on the 8.

"We failed," coach Marty Schottenheimer said simply. "We've got to make the plays. We had two opportunities to do it."

Hermleigh players need physicals

Texas Stadium may become dome

DALLAS (AP) — The hole in the Texas Stadium roof may be closing soon, if Irving voters approve alcohol sales at the facility. Dallas Cowboys owner Jerry Jones and Irving Mayor Roy Brown say they intend to begin talks this month about building a dome on Texas Stadium. Brown said Irving's participation depends on whether city residents vote Aug. 10 to rescind the ban on beer and wine sales at the stadium. "If our election passes and the Legislature passes it, I would expect shortly we'd be getting together to talk," Brown told The Dallas Morning News. "You can't go to the expense to dome the stadium if you can't get events to fill it. Events always require that vendors be able to sell beer." The permanent metal roof, siding and air-conditioning would cost about $25 million, or roughly 15 percent of what it would cost to build a new domed facility, Jones said. San Antonio is spending about $177 million to build the Alamo Dome. The Georgia Dome being built in Atlanta will cost about $158 million. Jones said he is interested in a joint project that would include the Cowboys, the city of Irving, which owns Texas Stadium, and possibly Dallas County. The Cowboys are in the 20th year of a 32-year lease. Neither the Cowboys nor Irving city officials have analyzed the economic impact of an enclosed Texas Stadium, but some studies indicate that such a structure would be an economic boon for both.

Streaking Sox drop Rangers

by The Associated Press

In the streaky American League West, now the Chicago White Sox are taking their turn. The White Sox won their eighth straight game Thursday night, trouncing Texas 13-2 and closing to two games of the first-place Minnesota Twins.

Rookie Ramon Garcia (3-3) won his third game in his last four starts. He gave up seven hits in seven innings and stayed unbeaten since June 26. Bobby Witt (3-4) made his first appearance since going on the disabled list on May 27 with a rotator cuff problem. He was tagged for eight runs on five hits in 3-1-3 innings.

Von H. Criswell

LUBBOCK — Services are pending for former Snyder resident Von H. Criswell, 29, of Lubbock. The Seigler Funeral Home in Paducah is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Criswell died Wednesday afternoon when the 1984 Harley-Davidson he was riding slammed head-on into an oncoming pickup truck south of Lubbock, police said.

Born Aug. 17, 1961, in Paducah, he had lived in Snyder from 1978 to 1986 and was an auto mechanic for Wilson Motors, Donelson Chevrolet and Nix's Auto. He was a 1981 WTC graduate. He was employed at Granite Construction in Lubbock. Survivors include his mother and father, Bert and Kay Criswell of Guthrie; two brothers, Van and Rickey of Guthrie; a sister, Debra Moorhouse of Guthrie; two grandmothers, Sybel Hensley of Slaton and Mamie Criswell of Guthrie; his fiancée, Christy Warren and her two children, Chrystal and Steven.

some calls outside the city limits at night.

Collier also suggested that the county charge $20 per hour when deputies provide off-duty security for such things as dances and rodeos. Collier said the $20 will cover any overtime charge and related benefits.

Collier also noted that no funds were requested for new cars even though it has been suggested that a depreciation fund be established. Collier said he is also looking at replacing autos less frequently, perhaps having only one late-model car for trips to transport prisoners.

Collier said the need to replace an underground fuel tank faces the department, and he had not included that in the budget. That subject prompted commissioners to discuss at least three other tanks that will have to be replaced. None are in the proposed budget.

The jail budget, as presented, calls for expenditures of $365,467 compared to $297,263 last year. Salaries remain stable. Again, Idom asked if the jail could function with one less employee. The sheriff said he might be able to look at that option during the next 60 days.

The jail budget calls for repairs of $26,000, up $19,000 over last year. Items include heating and cooling repair, safety equipment, electric door locks and a fire alarm.

The sheriff has projected utilities to increase from $16,000 to $21,000 and inmate medical care to increase $15,000 to $35,000. Food costs are expected to be an additional $5,000.

Collier noted the need to budget money for various supplies for the county work program and added that he would be back later to ask for a budget amendment for boiler repair.

"We've always operated in a tight-fisted manner, even in good times," Collier said. He said the fact that his wife accompanies him on trips to pickup prisoners saves the county money for the payment of an additional deputy since Mrs. Collier goes without compensation. "The only cost to the county is a meal," Collier said. "This is especially helpful when transporting a female prisoner."

Rick Gilliland, with the Department of Agriculture's Animal Damage Control Department, also met with commissioners to explain a $4,800 budget increase for the county trapper.

Gilliland was accompanied by county trapper Ray Turner and four county ranchers who also supported continuation of the program. Gilliland said the $15,000 is about half of what the total program costs.

Target of the program are coyotes, which kill producing livestock. Gilliland said the increase is the first requested since 1986.

Scurry County residents Tommy Riley, Wade Davis and Dick Hart spoke in favor of the program.

JP Wanda Rushing, in her $76,992 budget, asked that the clerk in her office be designated as a chief deputy. Rushing said that when she assumed office, she replaced a full-time employee with a part-time.

Rushing was told that commissioners would meet next week to in hopes of revising the county pay and classification system. Rushing had also asked for an increase for the lone part-time employee, from $5 to $6 an hour. During budget talks, discrepancy in hourly rates have surfaced.

The requested budget for adult probation for 1992 was $3,850, down from $7,915 in 1991. The Scurry County Work Center asking budget is $13,555, down from $17,430 last year.

Commissioners also met with representatives of the Scurry County Health unit, presenting a $93,928 budget that is substantially in line with the current year.

Commissioners were told that $7,911 in fees collected from clients are available for use. Commissioners asked if a $2,000 computer request could be used from the state portion of collected fees.

Louie Vaughan, director of the health unit, also discussed the need for additional parking and suggested turning a grassy area in the rear into employee parking with the help of county equipment and precinct employees.

Mike Morrow, county extension agent, presented the department's $59,029 budget, again on level with current year spending. Commissioners were scheduled to resume budget workshops at 1 p.m. today.

Police note three arrests

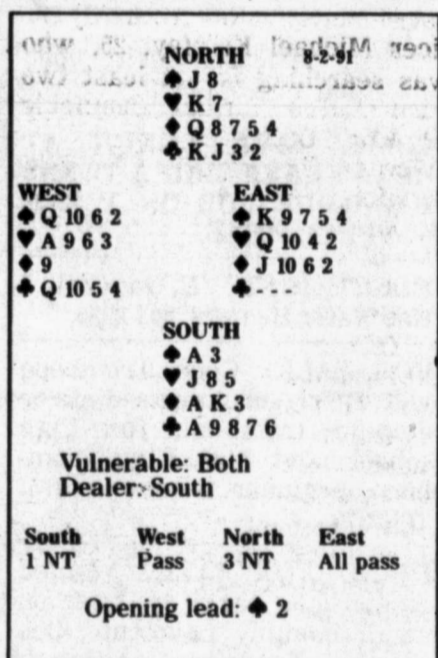

Snyder police made three arrests and worked two accidents Thursday and early this morning.

Officers arrested two males, ages 19 and 22, for public intoxication at 28th St. and Ave. H at 9:51 p.m. Thursday. They also arrested a 42-year-old male at 12:33 a.m. today in the 2400 block of Huffman Ave. for driving while intoxicated and driving while license suspended. All three subjects were taken to the county jail.

At 2:13 p.m. Thursday, officers worked an accident at Wal-Mart involving a 1990 GMC Suburban driven by Rebecca Beaver of Fluvanna and a 1991 Ford pickup driven by Tommy Green of 908 Clairemont. No wrecker or ambulance was needed.

At 5:15 p.m., officers investigated a second accident at Wal-Mart. Involved was a parked and unoccupied 1987 Buick, owned by Paul Wood of Levelland, and an unknown vehicle which left the scene.

The count counts completely

By Phillip Alder

The rubber-bridge match between the two defunct spy organizations, Control and Kaos, finds both sides vulnerable in the initial rubber. The sixth hand (today's) was dealt by the Chief, who has been moved to the South position in the diagram since he is the declarer.

Shtarker (West) led the spade two. "Good luck, Chief," said Max. "Thank you, Max. Spade jack, please."

But when Siegfried covered with the king, the Chief won with the ace, there being no point in ducking. The Chief played a diamond to the queen and a diamond to the ace, but Shtarker discarded a heart.

It was time to turn to the clubs. The Chief cashed the ace, but this time it was Siegfried who threw a heart. The Chief shook his head in dismay. He led the club six, covered by the 10 and jack. The Chief returned to hand with a diamond to the king and led the club seven, but Shtarker didn't cover with the queen. The Chief could win only eight tricks.

"What an unlucky hand, Max." "Yes, Chief." "Vee dodged zee bullet zere. Shtarker." "Vat do you mean, Siegfried?" "Vell, it is simple. Smart. Ven Shtarker led zee shpade two, showing only a four-card suit, and zen turned up viz only ein diamond, he must haf dersherte viz 4-4-1-4 distribution. U'dersherte he has a five-card suit to lead. So zee clubs must be 4-0. Zee Chief should lead zee club six immediately, not cash zee ace first." "The old fourth highest from the longest and strongest trick got you again, Chief." "Thank you, Max."

San Antonio officer shoots unarmed man

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A police officer who fatally wounded an unarmed apartment resident is on administrative duty while internal affairs investigators probe the killing, authorities said.

Police officials said Thursday's fatal shooting of Robert Estros, 44, also will be presented to a Bexar County grand jury.

The death marked the second fatal shooting by San Antonio police in less than three days. Tuesday night, a police officer fatally wounded a suspected shoplifter he was chasing.

Estros was shot once in the chest shortly before 5 a.m. by Officer Michael Katzfey, 25, who was searching for at least two suspected car burglars, homicide Lt. Albert Ortiz said.

Ortiz said Estros, who was behind a fence on his apartment patio, was unarmed and was not one of the suspects Katzfey and Officer Ronald Atkinson were looking for.

"Officer Katzfey made that decision in a split second," Ortiz said. "It may not have been the results that we wanted, but nevertheless, we have to shoulder that burden."

Katzfey, who has been with the police force almost three years, was placed on administrative duty, Ortiz said.

Becky Estros, the victim's wife, was in the apartment when the shooting occurred.

She said her husband came home about 4:40 a.m. after helping a friend move. She said she believes her husband heard a noise and went to see what it was. Several minutes later, she said, she heard a shot.

She said police came to her door and told her not to worry and to get some towels and plastic kitchen wrap for the officers, who authorities said performed first aid on Robert Estros until an ambulance arrived.

Katzfey and Atkinson were searching Thursday morning for at least two men a witness said were acting suspiciously near a car at the Courtyard Apartments, police reports said. The suspects never were apprehended.

Bush upbeat about Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush appears to have lost any doubts about Mikhail Gorbachev's commitment to difficult reforms and he's proclaiming that the two superpowers now see eye-to-eye on most global problems.

Bush returned home from the Soviet Union late Thursday with a new optimism about U.S.-Soviet relations. He also was buoyed by Israel's acceptance of terms for a Middle East peace conference sponsored by Washington and Moscow.

"This indeed is good news," Bush said after reading a wire service report that Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir had informed Secretary of State James A. Baker III that Israel would sit down with Arab neighbors in an effort to end hostilities.

"There is still a lot of hard work ahead but this is bound to be good news for peace in the Middle East. ... So let's mark this one up as good tidings and I hope that things go forward right now in a good way," the president said.

Similarly, he was upbeat about his meetings with Gorbachev, where he signed a landmark nuclear arms reduction treaty and discussed a number of thorny issues.

"A lot has been accomplished ... the establishment of a good mood, a good view as far as future relations go," Bush said.

Bush, who was meeting with his Cabinet this morning before heading to his Camp David, Md., retreat for the weekend, must submit the Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty to the Senate for ratification.

Bush refused to make major concessions with the Soviets in order to make the treaty strong enough to win Senate approval.

The summit was seen as a political plus for both Bush and Gorbachev. In Moscow, Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman Vitaly Churkin said it enhanced both leaders, pointedly adding, "Maybe both of them are going to have elections next year."

Bank scandal probe widens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Reserve officials are promising to take further action against the Bank of Credit and Commerce International as they continue investigating what's being called the biggest bank scandal in history.

But they declined to say Thursday whether they are considering removing two top officers of First American Bankshares Inc., a bank holding company based in Washington. The Fed has found that BCCI, a prominent bank in the Third World, secretly acquired First American in 1982.

The Fed has the authority to remove bank officers and directors if there is evidence that they broke the law or damaged the bank.

Luxembourg-based BCCI is entangled in a global scandal involving huge fraud and drug money laundering.

In related developments: —In Britain, former BCCI officials said the British MI5 secret service knew years ago that BCCI held terrorist accounts, but apparently condoned the activity in order to track arms deals.

In a startling disclosure, an ex-branch manager turned informer said Palestinian terrorist Abu Nidal opened a $50 million account at the BCCI branch in London's Park Lane in 1981 and personally visited the English capital several times during the 1980s.

—Barclays Bank, one of Britain's largest banks, said it had benefited from the recent closure of BCCI by the government and was going after more of its business. Hongkong Bank, one of the largest banks in Asia, said it also has won some market share and was looking at other opportunities, as was another competitor, Standard Chartered Bank.

—In Peru, legislators called for commissions to be set up to investigate claims that two Central Bank officials accepted $3 million in bribes to deposit half of Peru's currency reserves in BCCI.

Baker seeking concessions

JERUSALEM (AP) — After inching Israel toward a Middle East peace conference, U.S. Secretary of State James A. Baker III today undertook the task of trying to squeeze concessions from reluctant Palestinians.

Baker met with three leading Palestinians after getting Israel's agreement on Thursday to attend talks on condition the Jewish state gets its way on who represents the Palestinians.

Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir's conditions are: no negotiators tied to the Palestine Liberation Organization and none from east Jerusalem or outside the occupied territories.

But the Palestinians Baker met with — Faisal Husseini, Zakariya al-Agha and Hanan Ashrawi — have rejected Israel's demands. Moreover, all three are identified with the PLO, and they presented Baker with a letter from the organization calling for a role in the negotiations for Palestinians from East Jerusalem.

Husseini, himself an east

Jerusalemite, said on Thursday he was ready to hear Baker's proposals but suggested that little room was left for compromise in the dispute over negotiators.

"Conditions concerning the Palestinian representation are a matter concerning the Palestinians, and not anyone else," Husseini told a news conference on Thursday night.

Shamir met with Baker for 90 minutes, earlier in the day and later claimed the Americans had accepted the Israeli conditions. He also hinted that any attempt at compromise could scuttle the peace talks.

Prison overcrowding plan said nearing end

AUSTIN (AP) — A senator helping lead negotiations to reduce the glut of state prisoners held in county jails said lawmakers still must decide how to pay for the plan and what to do about county lawsuits against the state.

However, Sen. John Whitmire said Thursday that House and Senate negotiators are "90 percent there" on a plan to end the backlog.

Several counties have sued the state to try to force them to accept convicted felons being held in county jails. A federal court order limits the number of prisoners Texas penitentiaries can hold.

House leaders want the counties to drop the legal actions, while counties want to keep open the possibility of suing the state if it does not live up to the agreements, said Whitmire, D-Houston.

"I'll be honest with you, I don't know how that's going to be resolved," he said. "I don't believe the lawsuit should make or break implementing this package that we're hopefully going to pass."

Another sticking point is how to pay for the proposal, expected to cost $400 million, Whitmire said.

House Speaker Gib Lewis said Thursday that he felt "very good about resolving" the jail dilemma.

"We've had people working night and day on trying to find a solution to it, and they indicate to me that they are very close if they haven't already done it. So I feel good about finally getting that thing behind us and I hope we do," said Lewis, D-Fort Worth.

House negotiator Rep. Allen Hightower said, "I think we're close to coming to a consensus and making a recommendation to the governor in what we want to do."

Get pain relief without peptic ulcers

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My friend has arthritis and developed an ulcer from too much medicine. It was suggested she use suppositories for her pain relief so she can avoid the consequences of oral medicine. What do you think of this treatment, and can they be purchased without prescription?

DEAR READER: Arthritis medicines — such as aspirin, ibuprofen, Naprosyn, Voltaren, Feldene, Ansaid, Motrin, Anaprox, Indocin and others — cause gastric irritation that sometimes leads to peptic ulcers. This complication of treatment exists irrespective of how the drugs are administered. Therefore, I do not believe that rectal suppositories are an answer to the problem; moreover, these prescription arthritis medicines are not available in this form. For patients unable to swallow pills, suppositories — such as aspirin — are available without a prescription.

However, patients with intestinal symptoms from these compounds may find relief from the prescription drug Cytotec, a new medicine that, when taken four times a day, will usually prevent the ulcers caused by anti-arthritis drugs.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicines." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 27-year-old son fractured his femur at the age of 6. His leg is nearly an inch longer than the other and causes him an appreciable amount of back pain. A built-up shoe helps, but is any other treatment available?

DEAR READER: Post-traumatic shortening of a leg can be a real hindrance because it usually leads to a disordered gait, compensatory muscle spasm and chronic low back pain. I say "shortening" rather than "lengthening" because it's the shorter side that causes the trouble, even though the injured leg may be longer. Your son should see an orthopedic surgeon. While a built-up shoe (on the short leg) may relieve symptoms by re-establishing better mechanics of walking and standing, it certainly won't cure the affliction. Such a cure would require an operation to remove bone from the longer leg, thus shortening it.

For most people, this is an unacceptable option; they would rather put up with unequal leg length and use special shoes. The orthopedic specialist can advise your son about the operation, as well as other practical aspects of therapy, including special exercises.
