

Coup falters; Gorbachev to return

MOSCOW (AP) — Mikhail S. Gorbachev was said to be returning to Moscow today as the coup against him by hard-liners crumbled. Military units deployed after the takeover were withdrawing from the capital and the coup's leaders reportedly fled.

In further signs of the coup's collapse, press restrictions were lifted and Gorbachev's foreign minister resurfaced at a news conference and denounced the coup, as did the national legislature and the Communist Party.

Outside the Russian Parliament, which served as the headquarters for Boris Yeltsin, leader of the resistance to the eight hard-liners who staged the coup on Monday, rejoicing crowds cheered and waved flags. Soldiers, their tanks strewn with flowers, waved at television cameras. Leaders of the national legislature invalidated all decrees made by the coup leaders, national lawmaker Yuri Karyatkin told the Russian legislature. He gave no details about the vote.

In the United States, President Bush hailed the coup's apparent end. He said the coup leaders "underestimated the power of the people, underestimated what a taste of freedom and democracy brings."

Word of Gorbachev's imminent return came from Lev Y. Sukhanov, a long-time Yeltsin deputy. He said Gorbachev would fly from his vacation retreat in the Crimea to the Soviet capital with Vladimir Ivashko, the deputy general secretary of the Communist Party and other aides. The report could not be independently confirmed, however.

In the secessionist Baltic republics, which had borne the brunt of the post-coup crackdown, Latvia joined neighbor Estonia today in declaring immediate independence from the Soviet Union. Some Soviet troops in the region began returning to their permanent bases.

The coup's failure could deal a fatal blow to organized, high-level efforts to thwart reform drives in the Soviet Union by Gorbachev and Yeltsin.

The country's future course depends, however, on who remains in power. Although Yeltsin supported Gorbachev during the coup, the two men maintain different approaches to Soviet reforms.

With the coup's demise, the Communist Party moved to (see SOVIET, page 8)

Preliminary budget ok'd

Snyder public schools trustees approved a $14.4 million preliminary budget for 1991-92 Tuesday — "preliminary" because they do not yet know what revenues will be.

Administrators told board members and teachers attending the public hearing/board meeting that the district is expected to have tax rate figures in four to five days, but also warned that the outlook is not good.

"We do not have all the information from the TEA (Texas Education Association); therefore we cannot look at anything in the budget," Superintendent Dalton Moseley said in response to teachers, who asked if a pay raise is still under consideration for the school year. "All we are doing is recommending a preliminary budget and after the facts are known and the tax rate is set, that is the time consideration will be given."

"We received more information from the TEA today and all I can say is it is not good. The effective tax rate will be very, very high. Taxes could skyrocket."

This morning, administrators received notice of the effective tax rate, which is $.3361 per $100 valuation. The rollback rate, adjusted by $.1367 to recoup lost revenue, is $.5528. County Education District 11 will set a minimum rate of 72 cents, but that figure is expected to be in the 76-78 cent range.

CED 11 will meet on Sept. 3 to set the CED tax rate. The school district will then post notice and probably set its tax rate in the middle of the month.

Administrators noted Tuesday that the district expects to get some $8,286,000 from the county education district and $1,106,000 from the state. The $1.1 million from the state represents a cut in funding of $857,000, board

Enrollment totals still in question

Whether enrollment is up or down in the Snyder Independent School District was still a question at noon today, the first day of classes for the 1991-92 school year.

Students were still registering at Central Elementary, and enrollment figures from West were not finalized.

Enrollment numbers from the four other elementaries, the high school and junior high totalled 2,707 students. Last year, the enrollment at those six schools was 2,711.

District administrators note that first-day enrollment figures can change substantially as the year progresses.

Snyder High School reported 870 students today, compared to the 1990-91 enrollment of 916. In contrast, the junior high reported 530 students this morning, compared to 489 last year. Numbers at the four elementaries which have reported include 255 at North, down from 259; 325 at East, up from 323; 334 at Northeast, up from 351; and 393 at Stanfield, down from 364.

members were told. Snyder ISD's local maintenance fund budget — again, preliminary — was set at $13,952,425, an increase of $696,600 from 1990-91.

Key increases in the budget include health insurance premiums, $202,000; teacher pay (see SISD, page 8)

Pay-to-play studied in Grapevine

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A plan to charge students to participate in extracurricular activities, including interscholastic sports, has tentatively been endorsed by the Grapevine-Colleyville school district.

If it receives final approval, the school district would be the first in Texas to adopt a pay-to-play plan.

"I think you'll find more and more schools in Texas will be doing this," said school board president Walt Milner. "Under the new finance law, they won't have a choice."

The public school finance plan approved in April shifts hundreds of millions of dollars in property tax revenue from wealthier to poorer school districts within new education taxing regions.

Milner says a final fee system has not been worked out. But he said charges would probably vary from $35 to $50 for the 1992-93 school year.

Pay-to-play critics claim the scheme would circumvent the new finance law. They say funding for after-school activities would come from taxpaying parents instead of through the new centralized distribution system.

"They can do that if they want, but he won't be playing," said Darrel Forsberg, referring to his son Jeremy, a junior defensive end at Grapevine High School. "We pay enough in taxes that we don't need to be charged any more."

Before final approval, the district must first come up with a detailed fee scale and answers to some difficult legal and ethical questions.

County tax rate slips under rollback mark

County commissioners concluded their Monday meeting shortly before 5 p.m. Tuesday as they unanimously adopted a proposed tax rate of $.3787 per $100 valuation, just below the rollback rate of .3788.

The proposed rate will still fall short of funding the $5.177 million budget. County reserve funds will be used to make up the approximate $150,000 budget deficit.

A tax of $90.89 would be rendered on a $30,000 family home; this includes an exemption of 20 percent or $6,000. The tax on the same home last year was $80.09, based on the 1990 rate of .3337.

This year's tax base fell to $917 million, down from last year's $969 million, raising the effective tax rate to .3516 per $100 valuation. The new rate reflects a 7.99 percent increase over the effective rate.

A public hearing on the proposed rate has been set for Sept. 3 at 7 p.m. at the county courthouse.

The finalized budget of just under $5.2 million reflects a trim from the earlier proposed budget of $5.6 million. County officials worked to cut 10 percent of controllable expenses from departments. Additional cuts came from the county's health insurance fund to the tune of $50,000. Commissioners are considering changing the current health insurance plan which county employees say would effectively "cut salaries."

Another significant cut will be felt by Cogdell Hospital as the county sliced $35,000 from its ad valorem tax contribution. Originally, a sum of $350,000 had been budgeted. Last year the hospital received $225,000.

The setting of the proposed tax rate closes almost four weeks of daily budget work sessions by county officials.

Redistricting plan gets through Senate

AUSTIN (AP) — A leadership-backed State Board of Education redistricting plan was defeated by a Senate coalition including blacks, Hispanics and Republicans. They replaced it with a plan that could elect more minorities.

The measure Tuesday sparked a fiery debate between lawmakers who also must adopt a congressional redistricting plan.

One of the key conflicts is that white Democrats want to hold on to minority voters who have helped them win election in the past, but minorities want to increase their numbers in elected office.

A motion to kill the minority-backed Education Board plan offered by Sen. Eddie Bernice Johnson, D-Dallas, was rejected 13-18. Of those 18, nine were Republicans and nine were Democrats, including three Hispanics and two blacks.

Ms. Johnson's measure to redraw the 15 Education Board districts later passed 29-2, and was sent to the House for consideration.

Under Johnson's plan, Scurry County, along with Nolan, Mitchell, Fisher, Jones, Shackelford, Callahan, Coleman, Brown, Mills and Hamilton counties would form part of the southern boundary of a newly redrawn District 14.

The district would run northward to the Red River and into the southeastern part of the Panhandle. District 14 is (see SENATE, page 8)

Lawsuit filed on behalf of teenager who had abortion

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A former Granbury High School student and her parents have filed a lawsuit alleging a drug counselor coerced the student into having an abortion without telling her parents.

The suit, filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court by Bill and Roberta White and their 19-year-old daughter, Melissa Balderaz, names Evelyn Blake, a former contract counselor at Granbury High School, the high school and school district as defendants.

"I just want people to know we don't need any more problems," Mrs. White said. "Kids have enough problems. If you can't trust your school, who can you trust?"

Mrs. Balderaz says she was persuaded to have an abortion in October 1989 when she was 17.

She told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram the counselor told her not to tell her parents about the abortion because, she said she was told, "Parents basically aren't for abortion. They either don't agree with them or they don't believe in them."

The lawsuit also alleges Ms.

Balderaz suffered a uterus infection and psychological distress as a result of the abortion, performed at a Fort Worth clinic.

"Even to this day she has a lot of anger," her mother said. "She is a very bitter person. She has no trust."

Jerry Christian, superintendent of the Granbury school system, told the Star-Telegram he and other school officials could not comment on the lawsuit because they had not seen it Tuesday. He added "there is a district policy against discussing pending litigation."

Christian did say the Granbury school board considered Ms. Balderaz's complaint before the lawsuit was filed and decided to take no action.

Ms. Blake was working for a private firm while at the school and was never a school employee, the secretary to principal Mitch LeMoine said Tuesday.

LeMoine has labeled the girl's account of the incident an "hallucination," the lawsuit said. The suit also said Ms. Blake denied involvement in arranging the abortion.

Ms. Blake was no longer associated with the school and could not be found for comment.

The Whites' attorney, Kim Norris of Fort Worth, said, "It is against the law for kids to be psychologically counseled without informed consent of the parents."

The lawsuit seeks unspecified punitive and compensatory damages, Ms. Norris said.

It also seeks an injunction requiring the Granbury school district to obtain parental permission before providing abortion counseling or psychological treatment.

The suit was filed with the assistance of the Rutherford Institute of Charlottesville, Va. The institute is a civil liberties organization specializing in the defense of religious liberty, family autonomy and the sanctity of human life.

Mrs. White said she made a down payment to the institute and has been billed monthly for expenses incurred.

Rock stars are turning to golf for peace, quiet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Golf has long been the game of choice for presidents and corporate types, but rock stars such as Glenn Frey, Huey Lewis and Eddie Van Halen now have found peace on the links.

"It relieves a lot of stress," said Ratt drummer Bobby Blotzer, who learned to play in Hawaii.

Man Still Mama's Boy Even After Her Death

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Abby is on a two-week vacation. Following is a selection of some of her favorite past letters.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 55-year-old woman with a problem I've never seen in your column.

I have been going with this man for six years. He is 43, and he says he can't marry me because he promised his mama before she died three years ago that he wouldn't get married until his daddy got married, as she didn't want his daddy to be left all alone. His daddy hasn't got anybody to marry, and he isn't even looking.

Abby, I am no spring chicken, and I need to know how I can get this man either to let me quit him or marry me.

NO SPRING CHICKEN IN ADA, OKLA.

DEAR NO: Only a dumb cluck would coop herself up waiting for her boyfriend's daddy to marry. Get another rooster on the roster.

DEAR ABBY: I have been living with Don for two years. I am 22 and he is 25.

I hear girls at the office talking about bringing covered dishes to family gatherings, going to his folks' or hers for dinner, or for the weekend or the holidays, and I get more heartsick every day.

I've begun to realize what marriage is all about. It's really belonging to someone who loves you enough to want to make you a member of his family.

Don is always telling me what a wonderful arrangement we have and how much he loves me.

The past several months, I've been asking myself: "If it's so wonderful and he loves me so much, why do we lie, sneak around and let people assume we are married?"

Why doesn't he ask me to marry him and become a member of his family? They don't even know I exist.

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: Because he doesn't want a legal commitment. And if he is able to get all the benefits of marriage with none of the responsibilities, who can blame him? I am assuming he didn't kidnap you. You agreed to live with him without marriage. You walked into it of your own free will, and you're free to walk out. Why don't you? I think you're ready.

DEAR ABBY: When I first heard about topless swimsuits for girls, I thought it was just a lot of talk, but yesterday I actually saw one for sale in a store!

If women would consider wearing a topless swimsuit in public, we have reached a new low in our civilization — even lower than the decadence that preceded the fall of the Roman empire.

Topless swimsuits? Have we lost all sense of decency? Who cares if we are bombed back to the Stone Age? What's left to save?

MOTHER OF GIRLS

DEAR MOTHER: The bottoms.

Rape victim awarded $17.1 million in negligence suit

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A rape victim awarded nearly $17.1 million in a negligence suit was more concerned that she make a statement about the rights of victimized women than about money, her attorney said.

Judge Mike Westergren of the 214th District Court in Nueces County entered the judgment Tuesday in favor of Juli Bliske, who was raped in her apartment after her assailant stole the keys to her home.

"While she's pleased with the money, that is not the important part of it to her. The important part is the statement she made," said Bill Edwards, Ms. Bliske's attorney.

"She has taken the lead in seeking additional legislation in Austin that would result in better security for apartment dwellers and other resident tenants," Edwards said. "She is a believer in standing forward for the rights of people who have been raped."

Ms. Bliske filed suit in 1987 against Berry Property Management Inc., the management company of the town home where she was raped in October of that same year.

Annette Berry, the owner of the management company, said she had not been notified of Tuesday's ruling and would not comment.

"I will have no comment because I haven't heard from anybody," she said. "I have not been notified of anything."

In the suit, Ms. Bliske contended that the company was negligent in refusing to give her the deadbolt lock she requested and in the way keys and files were kept.

The rapist, who has been convicted and sentenced to a 99-year prison term, broke into the apartment leasing office, searched through leases to find single women and stole a key to Ms. Bliske's condominium.

"He took the key, used the key to enter her apartment, found her asleep in bed and proceeded to rape her, sack her apartment, and take her jewelry and money," Edwards said.

Afterwards, the assailant dragged Ms. Bliske to a nearby automatic teller machine, where he forced her to withdraw all her money, the attorney said in a telephone interview.

In making its decision, a jury agreed with Ms. Bliske's contention that the management company had been negligent, Edwards said.

My apologies to you!

By Phillip Alder

Today's hand is one of the most unpleasant I have ever seen. I would expect most players, even some experts, to go down in the grand slam. Only the most careful declarer, who believed in looking for the best possible line, would come home safely. And he would deserve to win all the points.

If you would like to test yourself, hide the East-West cards and plan the play in seven spades, West leading the diamond queen.

South's two-club opening was strong, artificial and forcing. North's three-diamond response was positive, showing a good five-card or longer diamond suit. After finding the spade fit, South used Blackwood twice before bidding the grand slam.

There are 11 top tricks: five spades, two hearts, two diamonds and two clubs. It appears that two heart ruffs in the dummy will bring the total to 13. But there is a snag: when you lead a heart to the king, West ruffs. Ugh!

However, there is a successful (and better) line available. Win the first trick with dummy's diamond king, ruff a diamond with the spade queen and lead a low trump to dummy. If the spades break 4-0, you must abandon this line and play for the heart ruffs. But here you continue with the dummy reversal. Ruff a second diamond high in hand, cross to dummy with another trump and ruff the third low diamond. Finally play a club to dummy's king, draw West's last trump and claim 13 tricks: four spades in the dummy, two hearts, two diamonds, two clubs and three diamond ruffs in hand.

They say we should have listened to their warnings

WASHINGTON (AP) — They struck a discordant note for years by insisting that Mikhail Gorbachev could not last, that U.S. policy toward the Soviet Union had grown too dependent on the uncertain future of one man.

But now the doom-sayers seem prescient, and they're not shy about it.

"I am one of those who said years ago, 'Don't let Gorbachev allow you to take your eyes off the ball,'" Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., said after Gorbachev was removed from office.

"I have been warning all along about relying totally on one man in the Soviet Union," said former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

A slew of Monday-morning quarterbacks has emerged in the wake of the Soviet coup, prompting conservative analyst Frank Gaffney to comment: "They're coming out of the woodwork now. Where were they yesterday?"

Gorbachev generated so much optimism that voices of caution sounded jarring. But there were a few — conservative analysts and lawmakers, even a former president and two members of the Bush administration — who resisted the euphoria.

Some warned against making policy decisions based on trust in Gorbachev's longevity; some urged the administration to support the Soviet republics' desire for independence and develop relations with democratic reformers outside the central Soviet government.

More than two years ago, with communism still choking Eastern Europe, Defense Secretary Dick Cheney offered a strikingly grim and accurate prognosis.

"I would guess that he would ultimately fail," Cheney said of Gorbachev in an April 1989 interview on CNN. "That is to say that he will not be able to reform the Soviet economy to turn it into an efficient, modern society. And when that happens, he's likely to be replaced by somebody who will be far more hostile than he's been in terms of his attitude toward the West."

Following Cheney's statements, President Bush hastily assured the world that the United States wanted Gorbachev to succeed. "The administration chooses not to speculate" on his chances, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said at the time.

Vice President Dan Quayle also seemed at times to be at odds with Bush's embrace of the Soviet leader. In December 1989 he warned that relations should not be based on one man and added: "Gorbachev will not, sometime down the road... be the leader of the Soviet Union."

Former President Nixon weighed in with a warning two months ago in The Washington Post. "U.S. policies cannot be built on the fortunes of one man," he wrote, "even as outstanding a man as Gorbachev."

The administration has many staunch defenders, of course. "Our policies have been wise and prudent" and rightly focused on Gorbachev, former U.N. ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick said after Monday's coup. "Gorbachev was a good example of the importance of individuals in history. He led the changes."

But a number of conservative Republican senators this week asserted they had longstanding concerns about Bush's approach — among them D'Amato, Trent Lott of Mississippi, Malcolm Wallop of Wyoming and Bob Dole of Kansas.

Orioles blast Boyd, Rangers

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — There must be something about the Texas Rangers that brings out the best in the Baltimore Orioles.

Unfortunately for the Orioles, mired near the cellar of the American League East at 49-71, they don't play the Rangers enough.

The latest evidence of the hold the Orioles appear to have over the Rangers came Tuesday night when they blasted starter Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd for six runs in five innings and then scored two more runs against two reliever for an 8-6 victory.

The Orioles are 8-3 against the Rangers this season. All three Rangers victories have been with Nolan Ryan on the mound.

Dave Johnson, who relieved Jose Mesa in the fifth inning, took the win to go to 4-4 while Wayne Rosenthal (1-2) was the loser after coming in for Boyd in the sixth.

Baltimore finally earned Tuesday's victory when Mike Flanagan got Refael Palmeiro to ground into a game-ending double play with the bases loaded in the ninth.

"That's about as tight as you can get," said Oriole manager Johnny Oates said afterward. "That was about the best I've seen Davey Johnson pitch in about a year and a half."

For Texas, that figures. "We had a lead (at 6-3) and didn't hold it," said Texas manager Bobby Valentine. "We had our chances tonight. We still had a good chance with the bases loaded and Raffy up. But I'm not putting it all on Raffy."

Baltimore's Glenn Davis finished with five RBI, Leo

Gomez hit a game-winning solo home run in the sixth inning and Chris Hoiles added an insurance homer in the ninth for the win.

The Orioles scored three runs off Boyd in the first inning and rallied for three more runs to tie the game in the fifth before Gomez' homer.

Davis' two-run double, a grounder to the corner of the left-field fence, scored Joe Orsulak and Cal Ripken, both of whom had singled. Randy Milligan followed that with a bloop RBI single to shallow right field that put the Orioles up 3-0.

In the fifth, Davis tied the game at 6 with a three-run blast to left that also scored Mike Devereaux and Ripken, both on base with singles. Davis' second safety of the night was his first round trip since April 24 and also gave him his eighth career five-RBI performance.

Texas put five runs on the scoreboard in the top of the third and added a sixth run in the fourth.

Designated hitter Brian Downing smacked a two-run home run to center off Baltimore starter

Jose Mesa after Jose Hernandez had singled up the middle.

Kevin Reimer soon followed with a two-out homer to right with two Rangers already on base. Palmeiro had earlier drawn a walk and Juan Gonzalez singled to set the stage for the three-run blast, Reimer's fourth home run in seven days and his eighth of the month.

Texas tacked on another run in the fourth before the Orioles tallied the four unanswered runs, as Palmeiro lofted a sacrifice fly to deep right to score Hernandez, who had gotten Mesa to walk him.

Cowboys cut Mays as roster trimmed

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Only one cut remains for players hoping to be on the Dallas Cowboys' roster for the team's Sept. 1 season opener against the Cleveland Browns.

The Cowboys reduced their roster to 60 players Tuesday with a number of moves that included the release of ninth-round draft pick Damon Mays, a wide receiver from Missouri who had been impressive in training camp.

The Cowboys cut Mays, running back Paul Frazier, a free agent from Southwestern Louisiana; defensive back Don Smith, a free agent from Liberty College; and linebacker Reggie Cooper, a rookie linebacker and free agent from Nebraska.

Veteran lineman Willie Broughton and Keith Powe, a rookie free agent defensive end from Texas-El Paso, were waived with an injury settlement.

Linebacker Kevin Harris and running back Tony Boles were put on the reserve non-football injury list.

Running back Keith Jones was placed on the reserve physically unable to perform list.

Free agent safety Michael Brooks and running back Undra Johnson were placed on injured reserve.

The team's final cut, to 47 players, comes after Friday's preseason game against Atlanta.

Paper reports umpires' gambling

NEW YORK (AP) — Two unidentified major league umpires are on probation for gambling, according to The New York Times, but the commissioner's office won't comment on any discipline handed out to the men in blue.

"The public has a right to know when persons are removed from the field of play," deputy commissioner Steve Greenberg said Tuesday. "Otherwise, it will not become public."

Greenberg said the gambling cases involving former Cincinnati manager Pete Rose and Philadelphia outfielder Len Dykstra warranted comment because they became public.

"If it requires that people like Pete Rose are absent from the field, obviously it will become public," Greenberg said, adding that an umpire suspension involving his removal from the field would be made public, but that other forms of discipline would not.

The Times reported Tuesday that an umpire from each league is under probation until December for gambling. The report said the umpires had placed small bets on sporting events other than baseball.

"That's the first I've heard of it," umpire Jim McKean said. "What does probation mean?"

Richie Phillips, head of the Major League Umpires Association, did not return messages left at his Philadelphia office.

Pardee wants to waive DB Kinard

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers should waive free safety Terry Kinard to avoid further disruptions to the team, coach Jack Pardee said.

"I thought it was very disruptive to the team," Pardee said Tuesday. "I said go ahead and put him on waiver. ... End the disruption as soon as we can."

Kinard walked out of camp last week after the Oilers told him he would have to take a pay cut to keep from being released if he is not the starting free safety.

The pay cut amounted to about $54,000.

"I'd be crazy if I was going to do that," Kinard said. "If they're going to get rid of me, they'd have to make me sign the regular waiver form at that point in time."

Jobs secure for Valentine, Grieve

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Barring a total collapse in the final weeks of the season, Texas Rangers Vice President-General Manager Tom Grieve and manager Bobby Valentine are not in danger of being fired, according to Managing General Partner George W. Bush.

Bush, who had been vacationing with President and Barbara Bush in Maine, told reporters Tuesday that although he was disappointed with the way the team has been playing, Grieve and Valentine are not in danger of being fired.

He pointed to a series with Milwaukee in which the Rangers won only one game and then were swept in a three-game series at Baltimore last week.

"As a result, there is a certain level of frustration building and people are trying to effect some changes," Bush said. "They are not able to do that with us. Our ownership group is patient, and we think people make bad decisions when they feel they are on a short leash."

"It's very important for our people here not to feel they are on any short leash whatsoever," Bush said. "We are as happy with them now as we were when we had a 14-game winning streak."

Season debut... SHS spikers claim two wins

BROWNFIELD — The Snyder Lady Tigers took an early-season 2-0 record Tuesday, defeating Brownfield, 15-7, 8-15, 15-6, and Levelland, 15-4, 15-11, in their three-way debut volleyball matches.

Houston falls to Giants, 9-3

HOUSTON (AP) — Kelly Downs claims he's just been lucky to become the San Francisco Giants' first 10-game winner this season.

Tuesday night provided him with an excellent example.

Downs (10-4) pitched the sixth inning and then watched as Will Clark hit a grand slam homer and Kevin Mitchell followed with a solo homer in a five-run seventh inning that lifted the Giants to a 9-3 victory over Houston. It snapped a three-game losing streak.

"This is a weird game but I'll take it," Downs said. "It seems like I'm just in the right place at the right time. A couple of wins I deserved, but mostly I've been lucky like tonight."

Downs walked one, struck out one and gave up one hit for his victory.

Houston's Jim Deshaies' luck held up for five and one-third innings of hitless pitching until he walked Tommy Herr and Darren Lewis got the first hit of the game in the sixth inning.

Willie McGee followed with a two-run double and Clark's double off the right field wall tied the game at 3-3.

The Giants won it with a five-run seventh that included back-to-back homers by Clark and Kevin Mitchell.

Joellen King served for 10, Melody Sargent and Nicky Riggin were each credited with six, Swedish foreign exchange student Emma Skold got three and Lynette Sears scored two.

Snyder takes to the court again Thursday in Andrews against the Lady Mustangs before competing in the Monahans Tournament Friday and Saturday.

The Lady Tigers' home opener is scheduled for Tuesday at 5 p.m. against Big Spring.

"We played them real tough," she reported. "We slacked off a little in the second game but we came back and put the match away in the third."

"Now, at least, I know we can come back."

She continued, "We played a real good defensive game against Brownfield. We also had several ace serves and some ace hits."

"The girls looked real good, offensively, against Levelland," the coach stated. "We played two different systems in the matches, but they (the players) did a good job adapting to the changes."

Stephanie Fambro led the Lady Tigers in scoring with 14 points in

Mortar fire rocks major city in rebel Croatia again today

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Mortar fire hit a major city in rebel Croatia again today, reportedly killing a policeman and wounding six civilians, as leaders of Yugoslavia's quarrelling republics sought a political solution.

The leaders scheduled more talks in Belgrade today after they agreed Tuesday to respect each other's sovereignty and right to secede, raising hopes for an end to nearly two months of violence that left more than 250 dead.

Such negotiations had been interrupted after Croatia and Slovenia declared independence on June 25.

The republics said they were seceding after feuding republican leaders failed to reach agreement on the country's future. Croatia and Slovenia envisaged a loose association of states. Communist Serbia, the largest republic, and its ally Montenegro favored maintaining strong central control.

Before today's talks were set to begin, reports from Osijek — the capital of Croatia's battle-scarred Slavonia region bordering Serbia — said the city was still under sporadic mortar fire. Croatian officials blamed it Serbian forces.

One policeman was killed and six civilians wounded when more than 100 mortar shells fell on the city's southern outskirts overnight and early today, Osijek mayor Zlatko Kramaric told a news conference.

Surrounding Croatian villages and the nearby town of Daruvar were also targeted by Serb militias, he added.

There were no immediate reports of casualties outside Osijek.

As leaders met Tuesday, new clashes broke out in the ethnically mixed Slavonia and Banija regions of Croatia, the republic's Information Ministry said. At least 10 people were killed in fighting, officials said.

The leaders of the six republics and eight-man federal presidency said in a statement Tuesday that they agreed to base further talks on "respect for the right of every nation to self-determination, including the right to secession and association."

The statement, carried by the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug, also declared unacceptable "changes of the country's external and internal borders through unilateral acts or the use of force." It said this could only be done "by democratic and legal procedures."

Serbia says that if Croatia secedes from Yugoslavia, it cannot take along territories largely inhabited by the republic's 600,000 ethnic Serbs, who make up about 12 percent of Croatia's population.

Donald Leroy Evans...

Prosecutors build death penalty case

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — As Mississippi authorities were building a case to put drifter Donald Leroy Evans to death, the self-proclaimed serial killer's lawyer said the Texan may represent himself in court.

Evans, 34, made an initial appearance Tuesday in Harrison County Court on capital murder charges in the death of 10-year-old Beatrice Louise Routh, who authorities say was raped, sodomized and strangled.

"I will seek the death penalty," District Attorney Cono Caranna said. "Clearly, the law allows it, and the facts demand it. We don't catch many volunteers in a death penalty case."

Tuesday's hearing lasted less than 15 minutes, with Judge Gaston Hewes Jr. setting a preliminary hearing on Sept. 3.

Evans, wearing blue sweat pants, an orange jail shirt, tube socks and flip-flops, became aggravated after Hewes named Gulfport attorney Jim Davis to represent Evans on the state charge, and said Davis should pick a co-counsel.

"I'd like to know why the appointed Jim Davis is allowed to choose, and I'm not," Evans told the judge.

Evans, who had earlier asked that photographers be barred from the courtroom, said he instead wanted Fred Lusk, who has been his court-appointed attorney on federal kidnapping charges, or himself.

"He (Evans) says he wants to represent himself," Lusk said. "Jim Davis is a very good lawyer."

Hewes told Evans that Davis, who is contracted to do capital defense work, would be adequate counsel.

"He will do everything in his power to see that your rights are protected," the judge said.

Davis was not at the hearing and later refused comment.

A day earlier, Evans pleaded guilty to federal kidnapping charges in the case. He faces a possible life prison sentence and a $250,000 fine on the charge, with sentencing Oct. 24.

Caranna said he expected a "hotly contested" case against the Galveston, Texas man who has claimed he killed more than 60 people in 21 states and a foreign country.

"In a capital murder case, it would be a unique experience for (Evans) to plead guilty," Caranna said.

Evans has said he wants to die, but will not assist with investigations unless he is allowed to tell his story to the world through the media. He said he "wants to get the truth out (because) there have been misconceptions represented by William L. Hudson of Wichita Falls.

Sen. Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, opposed Ms. Johnson's plan. He said that it split 32 counties, while his proposal, which was backed by Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, cut only nine.

"It's not logical. It's not rational," he said of Ms. Johnson's (about) how people like me are allowed to slip through the system."

Evans was arrested Aug. 5 near Covington, La., in the disappearance of Routh, a homeless child taken from a Gulfport playground. He led police to her body several days later, though Lusk warned him against being open with authorities.

"He said he had to do it," Lusk said.

Mississippi and Louisiana authorities have each charged him with murdering the girl, and he faces a death sentence if convicted in either state.

Soviet coup collapses salvage its own credibility. It called the takeover unconstitutional and demanded a meeting with Gorbachev, the party chief, the official news agency Tass said. The party renounced any connection with the coup leaders.

The news of the coup leaders' departure — and Gorbachev's planned return — followed a series of dramatic developments pointing to the disintegration of the takeover, one of the most tumultuous events in recent Soviet history.

His foreign minister, Alexander Bessmertnykh, who had dropped out of sight during the takeover, reappeared today and gave a news conference.

Bessmertnykh called the takeover a page in Soviet history that "has got to be turned" and promised that reforms would continue and that Moscow would honor its international commitments.

Tass reported that the Soviet Defense Ministry decided to withdraw the hundreds of tanks and troops that had poured into Moscow to enforce emergency decrees after the takeover Monday.

Tanks and armored personnel carriers were seen moving away from the Russian Parliament. A 2 1/2-mile-long column of about 180 tanks and 60 trucks was heading out of Moscow, kicking up huge clouds of dust. The soldiers on board said they were returning to their base.

Radio and television broadcasts that were banned during the takeover reappeared on the air, and Tass said a decree shutting independent publications was being lifted as of today.

Even before the announcement that the ban was being lifted, state-run media dropped the previous official line on the 3-day-old takeover and began reporting the unfolding events.

An announcer on Soviet television broke into a broad smile after reading a report calling the the coup leaders dangerous. "I'm sorry comrades, but I'm very excited!" he said.

Several calls kept local police busy

Snyder police recovered three stolen bicycles, made one arrest and handled several other calls Tuesday and early today.

At 1:36 a.m. today, Judy Senell informed officers that a male subject had stolen three T-shirts from the Plaza Truck Stop. The subject left the truck stop on a bicycle, accompanied by a female. A subject fitting the description was located but the suspect abandoned the bicycle and eluded officers on foot. Police filed a report for Class C theft and took the bicycle to the police station.

At 2:10 a.m., Becky Kenney of 2104 Huffman called and reported her daughter's bicycle had been stolen. The bicycle was identified as the same one found abandoned near the Plaza Truck Stop. The bicycle was released to the owner.

At 12:44 p.m. Tuesday, John Coffman informed police that he observed someone riding what he believed was his son's BMX bicycle. The bicycle had been reported stolen on Aug. 3. Officers recovered the bicycle in the 1000 block of 26th St. and returned it to the owner.

In a similar case, Ed Blocker informed police at 1:33 p.m. that he believed he had seen his grandson's bicycle in the 500 block of 28th St. The bike had been reported stolen Aug. 17. The bicycle was located and returned to the owner.

The period's only arrest came at 12:51 a.m. today when police took a 31-year-old male into custody in the 2400 block of 26th St. on a warrant for failure to appear.

Officers also took a report of family violence Monday and noted an advisory from Garza County Sheriff's Office.

Garza County officials advised that someone had been contacting elderly persons in Post by telephone and advising them they had won a car. The caller said the vehicle would be delivered to them if they would send $500 for tax and license. The caller then gave instructions on where to wire the money.

Officers also worked two cases of theft and one of criminal mischief.

At 7:53 p.m. Tuesday, Maxine Amerine of 4100 Brick Plant Rd. told officers that someone had stolen several articles of clothing from that location. A report for Class A theft was filed. At 5:13 a.m. today, an employee at Allsup's reported that a suspect had left without paying for $10 in gasoline. A report for Class C Theft was filed.

At 4:13 p.m. Tuesday, Jonathan Garrett of 604 33rd St. informed police that the back side window on his 1980 Chevrolet had been broken out. A report was filed for Class B criminal mischief.

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been nauseated every day for the past two months. An upper GI revealed my stomach juices backing up into my esophagus for which my doctor prescribed Reglan. The medication doesn't help. Do you have any advice?

DEAR READER: You appear to be suffering heartburn and dyspepsia because of reflux, the backwash of stomach acid into the sensitive esophagus.

Reglan, a drug that promotes gastric emptying, is suitable only for short-term use; in your case, it's ineffective anyway. Therefore, I recommend the use of antacids (to neutralize the acid before it causes symptoms) or — if this doesn't do the trick — Tagamet or Zantac, two medicines that reduce the production of gastric acid. Ordinarily, these medications are quite effective in controlling the symptoms of reflux. Ask your doctor about this.

If, after trying this therapy, your symptoms are not relieved, seek a consultation with a gastroenterologist. Such a specialist can perform additional tests, such as esophagogastrospectroscopy (looking into your stomach with a tube) to identify the source of your problem and give you further advice.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Hiatal Hernia." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been diagnosed with inflammatory bursitis in the left thigh and leg. An orthopedic surgeon gave me a cortisone injection that was unsuccessful, and an internal-medicine specialist gave me Motrin that didn't help. Where do I go from here?

DEAR READER: Back to the orthopedic specialist. If you do have bursitis, a common inflammation of the joint covering, you may be helped by further cortisone injections, physical therapy with special exercises or ultrasound treatments. The orthopedic surgeon can coordinate your care.

In the event that your hip and leg pain have another cause (such as a tendon inflammation or a calcium deposit), the specialist can test you further with X-rays and blood tests and order additional therapy, such as stronger medicine or an operation to remove the inflamed tissue.

No wrecker was needed.

Last units return home to Fort Bliss

FORT BLISS, Texas (AP) — It was a special day for Sgt. Enrique Castellanos and the other members of the HHB company of the 70th Ordinance Battalion when they became the last full Fort Bliss unit to return from the Persian Gulf after 10 months.

About 40 members of the company returned Tuesday night, to the delight of some spouses who felt their soldiers, among the first to deploy, had been forgotten. Their plane landed at Biggs Army Air Field just before 9 p.m. CDT.

"I feel great," said Castellanos, 29. "Today is my 11th wedding anniversary, so it has special meaning."

The soldiers, who left El Paso on Oct. 24, 1990, were overseas longer than any other Fort Bliss unit.

"We wouldn't take down the yellow ribbons, which are frayed and faded, until all our soldiers came home," said Maj. Gen. Donald Lionetti, post commander, told a crowd of 3,000 flag-waving people.

Castellanos said he was surprised at the turnout.

"I didn't expect so many people, just a little commotion but not this. I'll never forget this," he said.

A C-5 full of electrical equipment and eight soldiers spent Tuesday night in Spain, awaiting their return to Fort Bliss. The members of the U.S. Engineering and Housing Support Center Detachment III were expected to arrive soon.

"We're ecstatic about them coming in. It's really nice to see all of them coming in," said Maj. Ruth Nutter, Fort Bliss public affairs officer.

More than 10,000 troops deployed from Fort Bliss to the Persian Gulf, including several Patriot missile crew members. Most of the post's main battle units, the 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment and 11th Air Defense Artillery Brigade, have already returned.

The post and city plan a large celebration for the returning troops, Ms. Nutter said. She said she didn't expect events in the Soviet Union to temper the celebration.

"But everybody is going to be looking at it real closely to see if anybody's going to be going back," she said.

The arrival of the last units means El Paso Electric Co. can turn off a star of lights that has remained aglow for 261 days on the cliffs of the Franklin Mountains that line west Interstate 10.

The star usually is lit during the holiday season and traditionally turned off on Jan. 6. But the utility decided last year to keep the star lit until all Fort Bliss units returned.

Ms. Nutter said some Fort Bliss soldiers remain in Saudi Arabia, but no full units are still there.

El Paso Electric spokesman Alan Bunnell said the star would be turned off after the second plane arrived.

"We're pleased to be turning the star off because that means the soldiers will be reunited with their families," Bunnell said.

Baptist leader says heart trouble no problem

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Rev. Jimmy Draper of Euless, Texas, the new president of the Baptist Sunday School Board, assured trustees his irregular heartbeat won't affect his work for the world's largest publisher of religious literature.

Draper, 55, is the first president selected by conservative trustees since Lloyd Elder was forced to resign early this year.

Draper suffered a heart fibrillation on July 23, five days after his election.

"The busier I stay, the better I feel," he said. "You may have a funeral but you're not going to have a resignation."

A former president of the Southern Baptist Convention, Draper is the most prominent conservative to head an SBC institution since the conservative wing wrested power from the moderate establishment in the late '80s.

Farm workers are testifying during federal court case

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — Mexican farm workers have testified in federal court that an Edinburg man failed to deliver on a promise that they could have two or three months of 40-hour work weeks in the West Texas cucumber fields and then cheated them out of their Social Security payments.

The 135 workers claim in a lawsuit against Richard Ruiz that they slept on the floor of cramped shanties and received less than a quarter of the work and wages promised them.

Six of the workers and an expert witness testified Tuesday for the workers in a case being heard by U.S. District Judge George P. Kazen.

The workers represented two groups Ruiz allegedly recruited at different times in the summer of 1983.

The workers claimed they were promised two or three months of 40-hour work weeks when recruited near the Hidalgo International Bridge in the Rio Grande Valley. But after driving or being bused to the work site in a West Texas cucumber field, they wound up working only two full weeks and finally went on strike.

Testifying through an interpreter, Juan Gonzalez described the living conditions and said they had to sit for hours at a time in a work shed between trips into a field near Hale Center, about 30 miles north of Lubbock.

Gonzalez said that since they were not paid for idle time, their weekly checks sometimes amounted to between $25 and $40.

Speaking of the living conditions, Gonzalez said, "You couldn't roll over without rolling over on top of the guy next to you."

Gonzalez also complained about "cockroaches and other insects" in the rooms where the workers lived.

Most of the first group struck on Aug. 8. Ruiz responded by offering to bus them home to Hidalgo. He then hauled out another group of workers, who met similar conditions. They struck in late August, and some left.

Andrea Collins, an expert witness, described irregularities, including unaccounted-for Social Security deductions, that she found in examining pay records.

"They basically stole everybody's Social Security money," William Beardall, litigation coordinator for the Farm Workers Division of the Texas Legal Aid Society, said outside the courtroom.

It is expected that defense attorney Alejandro Moreno will claim that crew leaders, not Ruiz, were responsible for deducting Social Security payments from the checks and were thus liable.

The farm worker witnesses testified under questioning from Moreno that their contracts included no mention of hours to be worked. All of them said they were promised 40 hours of work per week.

Moreno said he also will point out that bad weather, such as hail storms, high winds and extreme heat, caused problems during the harvest.

Reagan won't discuss coup

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Ronald Reagan declined to discuss the Soviet coup as he and wife Nancy arrived for their annual physical exams at the Mayo Clinic.

"I don't think we have enough facts yet," Reagan said Tuesday.

The exams were to begin today and conclude on Friday, when the Reagans will leave for their California home.

Murder defendant investigated in more cases

DALLAS (AP) — Murder defendant Charles Albright, charged with killing four prostitutes, is a suspect in three other slayings, police said.

Albright remained jailed Tuesday on $3 million bond, charged with killing four prostitutes, three of whom were mutilated.

Authorities said Albright is a suspect in two Arkansas slayings and one in Dallas.

Detectives in Hot Springs, Ark. are trying to solve a 9-year-old case, the murder of runaway Cindy Curtis.

Faulkner County investigators were awaiting a full set of Albright's fingerprints as they seek clues in the 1990 abduction and murder of Conway, Ark. store clerk Pamela Faye Felkins.

Dallas police detective John Westphalen said inquiries about Albright have been received since information about a series of slayings were circulated by federal agencies.

Westphalen said he planned to charge Albright in a fifth Dallas slaying, but would not elaborate.

"From the start everyone involved in this has said that we felt there were more murders out there than the four we've charged him with," Westphalen said.

Defense attorney Brad Lollar said his client is innocent and would be willing, once cleared, to help police find the "real" killer.
