Ask Us

Q—What is the city's change in policy regarding sanitary sewer blockage complaints?

A—The only change is that if a city crew is called to a sewer stop and it is determined that the stop is within the building or between the building and the edge of the street or alley, the plumber will be billed an hourly rate of $45 minimum. If the problem is determined to be past the edge of the street or alley, it will be the responsibility of the city and no charges will be assessed. The city crew can be requested only by a plumber.

In Brief

Near collision

CHICAGO (AP) — A Southwest Airlines passenger jet with 62 people aboard passed within 50 feet of another aircraft as it prepared to land at Midway Airport, the Federal Aviation Administration said today.

"I don't remember anything that close," FAA spokesman Mort Edelstein said today of Thursday's near collision, which occurred about 21 miles southeast of the airport.

The Southwest Airlines Boeing 737 was "doing what it was supposed to do," flying under instructions of air traffic controllers at O'Hare International Airport at about 5:15 p.m. when the near collision occurred, Edelstein said.

Triple slaying

HOUSTON (AP) — Harris County sheriff's deputies today were investigating the slayings of a father and two sons who were found shot to death in the living room of their home in an upper middle-class neighborhood.

Authorities said Lynn Woodley returned home with her daughter Thursday evening and found the bodies of her husband, Barry, 45, and their sons, Greg, 22, and Jeremy, 15.

Detective Chuck Lightner said the sons were tied together at their feet.

Police said they had no motive and there were no indications of forced entry into the home. Police were trying to determine if anything had been taken from the two-story home.

Neighbors told officers the family had been trying to sell a piano and had expected a potential buyer who had responded to a classified ad to show up at the house Thursday night.

Bush to unveil turning point in nation's defense strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush will unveil a "turning point" in the nation's defense strategy in a televised address tonight. He will propose large cuts in U.S.-Soviet nuclear arsenals, an administration official said.

Bush told reporters his speech will have "major worldwide implications for world peace."

One administration official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said Bush is expected to propose mutual reductions in superpower nuclear arsenals, and will offer some unilateral cuts.

The official described the speech as "comprehensive and significant" and said it may refer to recent discussions within the Soviet Union about how to handle its nuclear arsenals.

Russian Republic President Boris Yeltsin has called for moving all Soviet nuclear weapons to Russia, and other leaders have sought to banish missiles from different republics within the Soviet Union.

Morningside plans 35th anniversary celebration Sunday

Morningside Baptist Church will celebrate its 35th anniversary Sunday.

Services will begin at 10 a.m. with A.M. Orval Barger, the church's first pastor, bringing the message.

A brief history will be read and charter members will be recognized. Lunch will be served in the church fellowship hall.

A singing gospel will be held from 2:30-4:30 p.m. Ray Smith, the immediate former pastor, will speak at 4:30 p.m.

All past and present members are invited to attend.

Robert Isaacs of Lubbock, an interstate missionary, will conduct a seminar on the doctrine of the local church beginning Monday and concluding Friday, Oct. 4. Services will begin each day at 7:30 p.m. and a nursery will be provided.

Morningside Baptist Church was organized in March of 1956 as a mission of the Baptist Missionary Association of Texas with

The 20-minute address will be broadcast live from the Oval Office at 8 p.m. EDT, 7 p.m. CDT.

The speech will focus on "a new path for peace" as well as the status of U.S. forces and changes in the Soviet Union, said Press Secretary Marlin Fitzwater. He said Bush will announce "a number of decisions related to our nuclear weapons program."

"He will discuss with the American people our thorough readiness to provide for the security of the United States in the new world order," Fitzwater told reporters in a formal announcement.

"It will mark a historic turning point in our national defense posture, pointing out a new path for peace," Fitzwater said. "The president will announce a number of decisions relating to our nuclear weapons program."

Fitzwater said Bush will deal with "long-term defense posture."

Bush told reporters during a

Other pastors who have served the church during its 28 year history include: O.M. Barger, James Green, James Rogers, Roy Sande, Dan Collum, Ronnie Travis, Gerrie Hensley, Dan Humphries, Vernon Parnell, Roy Brashea, Bill Strickland and Smith.

During its first four months, the church met in an old store building on the corner of 30th St. and Ave. F. Then, the membership began meeting in East Elementary until the present facilities at the corner of Ave. B and 36th St. were completed in 1958.

The association supported the congregation until it was able to become self supporting in late 1959.

In 1974, the church added fellowship and educational space. Recently, the membership (see ANNIVERSARY, page 10)

The administration source also said Bush will state a new strategy on sea-launched cruise missiles, a system in which the United States has an advantage over the Soviet Union.

The Washington Post said that move would be a concession on Bush's part to entice the Soviets to agree to other proposals, including a component on the Strategic Defense Initiative, popularly known as the Star Wars system.

Homecoming events slated in Hermleigh this weekend

HERMLEIGH — Saturday's biennial homecoming at Hermleigh promises to be a day-long occasion, beginning with registration in the morning and ending with an after-game dance.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. Those attending may register at anytime during the day. A business meeting will be held in the auditorium at 2 p.m. with special recognition of the Hermleigh men and women who have served or are serving in the armed forces.

The classes of 1941 and 1942 will be recognized for their 50th reunion. There will be rooms available at the school for other classes to hold reunions.

Cardiac care unit okayed

Hospital Foundation committee also formed

Cogdell Memorial Hospital board of managers Thursday gave the go-ahead for a cardiac rehabilitation unit and approved seven appointments to a newly formed Foundation Advisory Committee.

The board also discussed stop smoking classes, a payment to Howard College, a donation from Snyder National Bank and plans for a health fair.

The board's approval now allows hospital administrators to Committee locked 7-7 on Thomas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee deadlocked 7-7 today on Clarence Thomas' nomination to the Supreme Court, and the panel's chairman said he would send the appointment to the full Senate for a final vote.

All six Republicans joined Democrat Dennis DeConcini in voting for Thomas, a conservative appeals court judge who would be the second black to sit on the high court.

The committee's seven other Democrats opposed him.

The tie vote in committee heartened opponents of Thomas, who has been criticized by Democrats for failing to discuss his views on abortion, and for undergoing a "confirmation conversion" that caused him to step away from earlier conservative views.

Even so, a leading supporter, a prominent opponent and President Bush all predicted that Thomas would eventually be confirmed for the seat currently held by Thurgood Marshall, a pioneer of the civil rights movement.

"It'll be all right," Bush told reporters at the White House.

The committee voted after one lawmaker after another read forgo about the process of securing a qualified employee to oversee the cardiac care unit, planning renovations to house the unit, and purchasing necessary equipment. Hospital CEO Tim Lancaster said he will present the board with a timetable for the unit's startup as soon as possible.

Lancaster projected an initial equipment and renovation cost of $62,577 — $20,000 of which he said Cogdell will have to spend on replacement equipment regardless. He also noted that $8,000 in equipment would not be purchased immediately; therefore, the total cost would be $54,577.

One employee will be hired to run the clinic.

Currently, Scurry County residents who undergo cardiac rehabilitation are forced to go out of town. Normal treatment is two-to-three days a week for 13 weeks. The treatment program includes education, exercise, testing and overall management for patients who have suffered a heart attack or have been identified by a physician as having a weak heart or weak cardiovascular system.

Based on only 10 patients, Cogdell would lose $42,523 the first year, but take in $27,548 over a five-year period. The figures are based on funding the entire $62,577 for the first year.

"This (10 patients) is a very conservative number," said Lancaster, who also projected figures for 24 and 32 patients.

If the unit treated 24 patients, it would take in $1,556 the first year and $243,692 over five years. Based on 32 patients, the hospital would take in $30,211 the first year and $386,808 over five years.

Lancaster said hospital staff is also considering having the unit double as a fitness center, open to the general public for a fee.

As to funding for the cardiac unit, Lancaster said the hospital can seek monies from three sources: possible grants, the hospital's Foundation, or the (see CARDIAC, page 10)

Nieman said the man was lucky. "He could have been pulled over for the illegal use of a firearm."

Uninsured drivers entitled to coverage

AUSTIN (AP) — Drivers seeking to obtain the state-required financial responsibility needed in case of an accident are getting a break from the State Board of Insurance.

The board approved an emergency rule Thursday to prevent insurers from denying auto coverage of charging higher rates to drivers just because they previously did not have insurance.

However, the State Board of Insurance also asked that insurance companies supply data to determine whether previously uninsured drivers are a higher risk and potentially should pay higher rates.

Board action follows a state law, which took effect Sept. 1, that is meant to force more drivers to buy insurance.

Under that law, drivers must show proof of financial responsibility when getting or renewing a driver's license, registering a vehicle, or obtaining a safety inspection sticker. The law also increases penalties for not having insurance.

An estimated 2 million Texas drivers — 25 percent — do not have state-required financial responsibility in case of an accident. Financial responsibility most commonly is fulfilled with an auto liability insurance policy.

Insurance Board Chairwoman Claire Koriath said the emergency rule was needed because of an increase in the number of uninsured motorists rejected for coverage.

The rule is in effect for 60 days.

It can be renewed for another 60 days before the Board finally adopts it, amends it, or votes it down.

Insurance industry representatives blasted the rule, which the board approved 2-1.

Rick Gentry of the Insurance Information Institute said that people who have been without insurance have more and costlier accidents.

Charles Wirth of State Farm Insurance Co. said that people who were uninsured before getting coverage through his company in Texas have losses about 130 percent higher than previously insured drivers without other accidents. The company had 21.9 percent of the Texas private passenger auto insurance market in 1989.

"If the rate that the State Board allows insurance companies to charge these drivers is not adequate, it will be the 75 percent of the good drivers in the state who are paying for the mistakes of the bad," said Jerry Johns, president of the Southwestern Insurance Information Institute.

But Amy Johnson, the state lawyer for insurance consumers, said that a lack of insurance alone does not put a driver at a high risk for losses.

"If the average Joe Blow who has not been insured and has a good driving record comes in to get auto insurance, he should be written at the same rate as anybody else who's had auto insurance and has the same record as he does," she said. "If these people have worse records, they'll pay more."

During a recent trip to the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Ms. Johnson said she met people who simply could not afford automobile insurance. Sixty-five percent of the drivers in Cameron and Hidalgo counties had no insurance in 1990, she said.

Drug interdiction program called costly failure in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A costly U.S. drug-interdiction effort is not fazing a high-tech cocaine-smuggling industry that is driven by enormous profits, a congressional report said today.

One member of Congress said the General Accounting Office report shows the Bush administration "is losing and mismanaging the war on drugs."

"It is distressing to learn that what we are doing is achieving so little, and to see that we have spent billions and billions of dollars in the process," said John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., chairman of the House Government Operations Committee.

The GAO, the investigative arm of Congress, said the Defense Department has made an "impressive" commitment to the drug war since it became the lead agency in 1989 of all federal efforts to detect and monitor drugs smuggled by air and sea.

But the cocaine supply has not been reduced, and no amount of effort by the Pentagon will bring success, the report said.

The Defense Intelligence Agency estimated that the cocaine supply did not decrease in 1989 and 1990. DIA officials said their estimate "was the consensus of the intelligence agencies" and was used by the administration's Office of National Drug Control Policy in a classified national cocaine threat assessment it issued

Videotape murderer sentenced to 30 years

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A judge has sentenced a government witness to 30 years in a federal penitentiary for his involvement in the slaying of a constable whose attack was partially recorded on videotape.

Jesus "Jesse" Cortez Zambrano, 23, of Edinburg, pleaded guilty on April 11 in the capital murder of constable Darrell Lunsford, 47, in January.

Zambrano then testified against brothers Baldemar Sambrano Villarreal, 29, and Reynaldo Sambrano Villarreal, 25, in July. The older brother received a life sentence without parole and the younger was sentenced to 40 years in prison.

The two were convicted after three days of testimony, which ended with the panel viewing a dramatic videotape of the brothers and Zambrano attacking the constable.

The constable started the video camera mounted on the dash of his patrol car before getting out to question the suspects during a routine traffic stop in Garrison in in May, GAO reported. But a drug policy office technical paper, prepared by a contractor and released in June, said the supply did decline.

Residents are victimized by phone scam

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Several Beaumont residents have been victimized by a California-based phone scam involving "calls from people who identify themselves as law enforcement officers investigating the theft of telephone company credit cards."

About eight Beaumont residents received extremely high telephone bills this past month, including one that totaled $1,395, after giving their calling card numbers to someone over the phone, according to Southwestern Bell spokesman Frank Merriman.

Merriman said the caller identifies himself as a law enforcement officer or a telephone company employee who needs the resident's calling card number to catch a credit card thief or an employee suspected of misconduct.

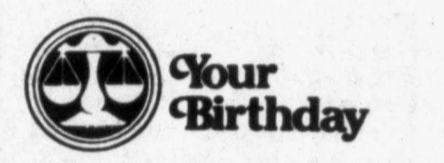

Most of the victims are elderly and are eager to cooperate since they are promised that they will be reimbursed for any long-distance calls.

A Beaumont physician, who was not identified, told authorities he gave his number to a man who posed as an FBI agent. The physician later received long-distance bills totaling $1,395 that included calls to Iran, Puerto Rico, Hong Kong, Belgium and China.

The doctor said the man who called him said they had arrested a man in Atlanta who had 19 cards, including his.

African ally's troubles evoking only shrugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — For some American allies, the end of the Cold War has not been a blessing. One such example is President Mobutu Sese Seko of Zaire.

Just a few years ago, the spectre of unrest in Zaire would have produced fits of anxiety in Washington because of Mobutu's reputation as the most stalwart ally of the West in Africa.

His most recent favor to the United States was to allow U.S. military equipment to be secretly shipped from Zaire to American-backed rebels in neighboring Angola.

But with the peace agreement in Angola last spring and the collapse of the socialist bloc, Zaire has become a depreciating asset. Mobutu's fate as he confronts his worst political crisis in 27 years draws little more than shrugs here.

A European relief group says as many as 100 people may have been killed since the rioting broke out Monday. It was started by soldiers who were angry because they hadn't been paid in months.

French and Belgian troops have fanned out throughout the countryside to evacuate thousands of foreigners as the violence spread.

Supporting a leader like Mobutu has not been easy for a country such as the United States that prides itself as a defender of freedom and democracy.

Although he has loosened up somewhat in recent years, Mobutu historically has had little patience with critics.

In his book "Modern Dictators," Barry Rubin wrote that political conformity in Zaire, like cultural homogeneity, "is seen as an essential form of loyalty and patriotism."

"Participation in the (official) party and mouthing the official line, as in communist states, are a precondition for temporal success."

Corruption under Mobutu, Rubin points out, "is extreme even by African standards."

Mobutu is one of the world's richest men, with holdings estimated at between $3 billion and $5 billion. He has 11 palaces.

Despite these abuses, successive U.S. administrations have stood by Mobutu. With $280 million over the past five years, Zaire has been among the top recipient nations of U.S. assistance in sub-Saharan Africa.

When the Cold War was at fever pitch, analysts here felt that a communist takeover in Zaire would have been a strategic nightmare for the United States. It would have given the Soviets influence over a huge, virtually uninterrupted stretch over Africa's heartland, extending from Ethiopia in the east, to Zaire in Central Africa and on to Angola in the southwest.

Given recent developments, that scenario seems fanciful in retrospect.

Other allies, like Zaire, seem expendable now that Washington and Moscow are no longer at loggerheads.

The Reagan administration struggled hard to maintain good relations with Pakistan because of its role in sheltering Afghan rebels fighting Soviet military occupation of their homeland.

But Pakistan's strategic importance has been diminishing ever since the Soviets completed their withdrawal from Afghanistan in February 1989.

El Salvador offers similar parallels.

Torger Tøkle, born in Norway in 1920, emigrated to the United States in 1939 and became a ski jumping champion. He won 42 out of 48 meets and bettered the North American record three times. Tøkle, who became a citizen after enlisting in the U.S. Army in 1942, was killed in action during the Italian campaign.

Cartel's most trusted assassin nabbed

NEW YORK (AP) — A man said to have killed at least 40 people as a Colombian drug cartel's "most trusted assassin" was seized on a New York street days after coming to this country on what authorities say was a murder mission.

Paul Daniel Munoz Mosquera was seized late Wednesday as he used a pay telephone in the city's Queens borough, said Robert A. Bryden, head of the New York office of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration.

Bryden said Munoz was the mastermind behind the Aug. 18, 1989, assassination of Colombian Sen. Luis Carlos Galan, who was then the leading candidate in his country's presidential campaign.

"We believe we have captured the single most trusted assassin of the Medellin cartel," Bryden said Thursday.

"The Colombian national police credit him with the murder of at least 40 Colombia national police officers, judges, public officials and innocent bystanders," he said.

Bryden said Munoz had been in this country a little more than a week before his arrest and had arrived in New York Saturday from Los Angeles.

He said authorities learned from confidential sources in Colombia that Munoz had come to the United States to carry out an assassination, but he said they didn't know who the target was.

He noted that Munoz came to New York just before the opening of the United Nations General Assembly and the arrival of President Bush earlier this week.

The two erstwhile spy networks, Control and Kaos, have put aside their well-known secret weapons for playing-cards.

Both sides are vulnerable in the second rubber. In today's hand, the simple auction resulted in the Groovy Guru. South, having to play in three no-trump. Maxwell Smart, Agent 86, who was sitting West, led his fourth-best spade, the four.

The Groovy Guru saw at a glance that if the diamond finesse worked, he would win 11 tricks. But in case it didn't, declarer ducked his ace when 99 played the spade jack.

Now 99 stopped to consider the position. From the point-count and the play at trick one, it looked as though Max had started with king-fifth in spades. If that was the position, 99 could establish Max's suit, but he would have no entry. If only she could get Max to switch to hearts — but how?

Then she saw the solution. At trick two, 99 returned the spade three, which the Groovy Guru had to duck. When Max won with the king, he saw no future in continuing spades, so he switched to the heart nine. Declarer tried dummy's queen, but 99 covered with the king. The Groovy Guru won with the ace and took the diamond finesse, but it lost. The defenders then cashed three heart tricks to defeat the game by two.

"That was a brilliant return at trick two, 99. Wasn't it, Siegfried?"

"Ja, Shmart, it vos. But if 99 had been my partner, she could haf led zee shpade kveen at trick two. I vood haf overtaken viv zee king to svitch to hearts myself."

"And so would I, Siegfried," said Max, fooling no one.

LAFF-A-DAY

All right, already! Cut it out, you two!

DENNIS THE MENACE

DID YOU KNOW YOU HAVE A MUSTACHE IN YOUR EAR TOO?

Arkansas woman is one of 33.6 million poor

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sheila Johnson is behind in her rent, has sometimes had to plug an extension cord into a neighbor's electrical outlet to turn on her lights and says her refrigerator recently held nothing but ice.

The 30-year-old mother of two is one of 33.6 million Americans — 13.5 percent of the population — the U.S. Census Bureau says live in poverty.

The number of poor Americans grew by 2.1 million between 1989 and 1990, the first increase since 1983, the Census Bureau reported Thursday. Some economists warned things may worsen as weak economic conditions continue.

Mrs. Johnson, who has just returned to work after months of unemployment, is hopeful things will improve for her.

"I have hope every day that I wake up that today is going to be better," she said.

Mistrial called after guards blow surveillance of jury

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A mistrial has been declared in the federal trial of an alleged hit man for a Mexican drug gang because of an accusation, apparently unfounded, that a juror was under the influence of marijuana.

U.S. District Judge James DeAnda declared the mistrial Thursday in the case against Miguel Lucio Botello.

Early Thursday, a courthouse security officer reported to DeAnda he had detected the odor of marijuana on a juror on two different occasions.

"I was looking at an accusation that a (juror) was habitually using marijuana while on jury service," DeAnda said.

Defense attorneys objected to replacing any juror, DeAnda said. So the judge ordered federal officers guarding the courthouse to monitor the juror. DeAnda said if the rumor proved true, he would have disqualified the juror and used one of two alternates as a replacement.

But DeAnda said the officers confronted the juror prematurely and accosted the panelist. The juror then told other jurors what happened, leaving DeAnda no choice, he says, but to grant a defense motion for a mistrial.

"I think (the officers) actually jumped the gun," he said.

Botello, 33, is charged in the May 13 drive-by shooting of Gerardo Luis Quintanilla, killed while waiting at a stoplight in Brownsville.

The Census Bureau considers a family of four earning $13,359 or less to be poor. The definition does not include family owned property and some forms of assistance people may receive. It also does not reflect regional differences in the cost of living.

The bureau's findings, based on interviews with about 60,000 households, are the first to track poverty in America since the nation fell into recession last year. They showed that the number of poor Americans increased by 2.1 million between 1989 and '90.

Until last year, the poverty rate had fallen steadily since 1983, the year after the last recession ended.

The figures indicated that being black or Hispanic, a child, a city dweller, a Southerner or a member of a family headed by a woman meant a person was more likely to be poor.

One-fifth of the nation's children and nearly one-third of its blacks were considered poor.

Mrs. Johnson, meanwhile, expects a paycheck today for the first time in months. She recently began a job as a day-care worker, earning $4.35 an hour, the minimum wage. She had quit the same job in June when she couldn't find a baby sitter for her children.

This summer, she and the boys lived in a two-bedroom flat without utilities. She ran an extension cord from an adjoining apartment for lights and hauled pails of water from neighbors.

She cleaned trash from yards for "extra change."

An understanding landlord recently allowed her to move into a three-bedroom house, forgoing the rent for now. Family and friends have paid for the water and lights.

Madigan names private reps for trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Edward Madigan has named 10 private sector representatives from the U.S. agriculture industry to accompany him to the Soviet Union next month.

Madigan is leading the Oct. 1-10 mission at the direction of President Bush to help the Soviet Union and its republics establish efficient agricultural production and delivery systems.

Madigan said the mission will also continue to assess the need for short-term food assistance to the Soviets this winter.

The private sector delegates are Russell J. Bragg, vice president, Food Sector, Grand Metropolitan Inc., Minneapolis, Minn., parent company of Pillsbury Co.; Majeed Gheissari, countertrade manager, FMC Corp. N.V., Brussels; Howard S. Gochberg, vice president for ingredients and logistics, Land O'Lakes Inc., Minneapolis; Maurice A. Steers, Tigers renew rivalry

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Followers of Snyder football almost unanimously agree that the turning point in the Tigers' 1990 charge to the District 2-4A title hinged on a 14-14 tie with then No. 9-ranked Big Spring in the season's fourth game.

This year, with wins against Clyde and Littlefield, like last year, and a loss to Monahans in the season opener, like last year, Friday's Big Spring game looms as a possible season maker.

"Well," said Snyder coach David Baugh, "If we were to beat them then I imagine it would be another springboard for us. But if we were to lose. We'd just be a half game behind where we were last year."

"It remains to be seen how crucial this game really is."

For the Tigers to beat the 3-0 Steers, according to the SHS coach, they will have to control senior quarterback Gerald Cobos.

"To beat them," Baugh reported, "We're going to have to do something about their passing game. We're fairly good against the rush — and they can rush the football, I don't mean to say that they're not going to make yardage rushing, because they will — but their passing game is what they do best. What we're doing worst right now is covering the pass, so we've got to do something about that.

"We've got to give our young defensive backs some help and hopefully control the run," he stated. "We're going to pressure some. We've also got to drop some ends off and get our linebackers to wall receivers better, not just let them off the line of scrimmage. That's got to come from our ends and linebackers."

win over Littlefield, Wildcat QB Michael Vaught passed for 190 yards.

"All that stuff that happened last week was not just the secondary, it was a lot of the up-front people not doing what they were supposed to letting the receivers out.

"We've got some things on that will, hopefully, help our ends and linebackers do that job better."

Cobos leads the list of Big Spring offensive standouts. The 5-8, 145-pound signal caller leads the area in passing, as well, completing 24 of 41 throws for 444 yards and four touchdowns while giving up six interceptions.

"He also audibles a lot," Baugh said. "He'll put them in the right play. That's one of the reasons he is so good."

"It's a tremendous chore to get your defense ready to play them because they run so many offensive sets," Baugh said.

"They'll run everything from a straight T to a power-I, a slot-I, quads, twins, everything."

Other playmakers for the Steers include senior wingback Pat Chavarria, who has four catches for 72 yards and a TD to his credit and split end Nick Robertson, who is averaging over 25 yards on his seven receptions for the season.

"He has big-play capability," said Baugh of Robertson. "He's a good pass defender and an excellent receiver. He's a lot like (Chris) Matthews from Frenship. He's got good speed and good savvy."

The Steers will line up in what coach Baugh calls a 41 defense. "We don't see it from anybody but them," he said. "It's an even front with an odd look.

"They are real active on-line of scrimmage before the snap trying to get linemen to lose concentration.

"Their defense is geared to stop wing-T teams," the coach reported. "They have run it for three years and they seem to get better every year.

"They will stunt their front a lot, they'll shift a lot, and they'll move people up at the last minute. They seem to be doing more of that this year than in the past."

Defensive players to watch include Chavarria and Robertson in the Big Spring backfield and linebacker Jon Downey, a 5-9, 185-pound junior.

Tiger starting fullback and free safety Mark King, who suffered a strained neck against Littlefield, will miss this week's game but should be back in uniform for the Seminole game next Friday.

Filling in for King on offense will be junior Wayland Harrison, who rushed for 155 yards and two touchdowns a week ago on 20 carries.

Matt Cave will get the starting nod at free safety. Cave had two interceptions off Littlefield last Friday and had a third called back on a penalty.

Noseguard Bradley Williams twisted his ankle in practice this week but is still expected to draw the start for Snyder.

According to Baugh, Williams has responded well to treatment and should be at around 90 percent by kickoff. Eddie Byrd is the backup at noseguard, should Williams not be ready.

Game time is set for 8 p.m. at Steer Stadium.

6-man teams seek success this week

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

District 6-A teams are still having a tough time breaking into the win column in 1991.

After three weeks and 18 games of non-district competition, Borden County has one win and Ira has one win and the rest of the loop has zilch.

Ira's victory came last Friday against Grady. The Bulldogs, who have had no problem scoring points, finally outlasted an opponent, whipping the Wildcats, 64-33.

In other district games last week, Borden County was upset by Wellman, 38-12; Aspermont blasted Loraine, 42-0; Moran handed Highland its third straight loss, 47-0; and Panther Creek handled Trent, 58-12.

Hermleigh was supposed to travel to Rule for a Friday game, as well, but the Cardinals forfeited the game due to reported bad weather en route.

This week's games of local interest find Ira at Jayton, and Borden County hosting Loop in Friday games. Hermleigh will entertain Patton Springs on Saturday in the HHS homecoming game.

Other matchups include Loraine at Grady, Blackwell at Highland and Trent at Aspermont, all on Friday. All games begin at 7:30 p.m.

Ira at Jayton

The Bulldogs scored 64 points against Grady last week to notch coach Mike Cook's initial football win at Ira.

The 'Dogs' junior deep back, Mike Hughes, romped for 220 yards rushing and four touchdowns against the Wildcats.

Hughes also connected on a scoring strike of 15 yards. Joe Luna rushed for four scores for Ira last Friday and Chris Haynes caught a Hughes TD pass and raced in from 25 yards away.

Jayton defeated Newcastle, 26-12, in its last game. The Jaybirds' Beau Norris gathered 283 yards and three TDs rushing on 33 attempts.

Ira moves to 1-2 with its win while Jayton rests at 2-1.

Loop at Borden County

The Borden County Coyotes fell to 1-2 last Friday, in spite of a 41-yard scoring jaunt by junior John Paul Harris in the first quarter, and a 41-yard pass from Clint Wills to Kirk Jones in the fourth.

Wellman's Wade Rowden rolled over the BCHS defense for 145 yards and four touchdowns.

Loop was a 26-14 loser to Amherst a week ago. The Longhorns, now 0-3, were led by quarterback David Rodriguez who scored on runs of 11 and 26 yards.

Patton Springs at Hermleigh

The Cardinals had an unexpected week off with last week's forfeit to Rule, which left Hermleigh with an 0-3 mark going into Saturday's homecoming game against Patton Springs.

Hermleigh lost its opener 50-0 against then-No. 4 Sands, and then fell to Southland, 40-18, in the season's second week.

Patton Springs sports an 0-3 record for '91, as well, following last week's 44-34 loss at the hands of Southland.

JV Tigers lose, 27-16

Snyder fell to visiting Big Spring, 27-16, in junior varsity football action Thursday at Tiger Stadium.

A sustained 9-minute drive, capped by a 2-yard touchdown run from Keith Orosco and Gilbert Orosco's 2-point conversion, gave the Tigers an 8-0 lead before the offense lost its steam.

"We just kind of bogged down, offensively, after that drive," said Snyder JV coach Bud Birks. "We couldn't seem to get anything going in the second or third quarters and we gave them two real cheap touchdowns that turned out to be the difference in the game."

The Tigers' Jim Pat Griffin scored on a 10-yard scramble in the fourth quarter, then passed to Chris Stansell for the two extra points.

"It was a good effort by our guys," Birks said. "They seemed a little confused at times, but we're going to get better."

The Snyder JV, now 2-2, will host the sophomore team from Abilene Cooper, Saturday, Oct. 5 at 10 a.m. in its next game.

Snyder frosh edge Big Spring, 26-24

BIG SPRING — Eddie Martinez scored on a fourth-down 55-yard touchdown run with 22 seconds remaining and Greg McAden slashed in for the two-point conversion as Snyder's freshmen Black team edged Big Spring, 26-24, Thursday.

Snyder Gold also won yesterday, notching an 8-6 victory. "Big Spring jumped out to an 8-0 lead," said SHS coach Mike Meek of the Black contest. "We came back and took a 12-8 lead in the second quarter.

"Just before halftime," he continued, "they scored two quick touchdowns and were ahead at the half, 24-12. "We made a few adjustments at halftime and our defense held them scoreless in the second half."

Martinez started the SHS assault with a 3-yard TD run in the first period followed by Chris Mitchell's 6-yard rumble for a touchdown in the second.

McAden added a 1-yard dive for paydirt in the third quarter. The Gold game's scoring all occurred in the first period as both teams scored on their opening possessions.

Big Spring took a quick 6-0 lead that was answered by Gabriel Castillon's 20-yard pass reception from Brad Runnels for a TD.

The difference in the final score was the 2-point conversion by Castillon. "Our guys worked well together," said Meek. "I really think that's what won it for us." The freshmen will next take on Rotan, Saturday, Oct. 5, there, in a 10 p.m. battle.

Steers sweep eighth grade

Snyder eighth grade football coach Rudy Hinojos had a simple explanation for Thursday's losses to Big Spring.

"We were just outnumbered," he said. "Our kids did a good job, but they had over 40 kids on both the A and B teams."

The Steers won the A battle, 24-6, and beat the B squad, 12-6. Tommy Torres, who had two catches for 56 yards, scored on a 60-yard punt return for the A team.

Also in the game, Brandon Hill managed 55 yards rushing on seven carries, Heath Gayle caught two passes for 28 yards and Wayne Braziel had a reception for 11 yards as standout offensive players.

Brandon Caswell was cited as the Big Hitter by Hinojos for his work on defense.

The B crew's TD came as when Brandon Rollins stripped the ball from a Big Spring ball carrier and rolled in from 30 yards out.

The eighth graders next play Seminole, there, Saturday, Oct. 5, at noon.

7th grade splits with Steers

Snyder seventh grade football teams hosted Big Spring Thursday with the A squad falling to the Steers, 12-0, and the B team winning, 20-0.

"The B team played extremely well," said coach Roger Goodwin of the Tigers. "They hustled and we're very proud of them."

Richard Cana scored twice for the victorious Snyder crew, William Clayton managed a touchdown and Michael Rangel ran for a pair of two-point conversions in the win.

The A team, in spite of a stellar defensive outing, fell to Big Spring as a result of eight turnovers, seven fumbles and an interception.

Seventh graders will take on Seminole, there, at noon Saturday, Oct. 5 in their next outing.

U.S. Senate bill largely mirrors Bush request

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate adopted a $269.7 billion defense spending bill for 1992 that largely mirrors President Bush's priorities, but not before some prized Pentagon programs barely survived floor challenges.

The Senate, after two full days of debate, passed the appropriations bill for the budget year starting Oct. 1 in a voice vote Thursday night.

The measure differs in significant ways from the $295 billion appropriations bill the House passed in June. The differences will be reconciled by House and Senate negotiators.

The Senate debate over spending on the B-2 stealth bomber was the most divisive issue. It also was the best reflection of how the debate over defense priorities is changing in the aftermath of the collapse of Soviet communism.

The Senate bill includes $3.2 billion, the amount the administration requested, to buy four B-2s next year. But it stipulates that the money cannot be spent until Defense Secretary Dick Cheney certifies that the radar-evading plane has met several flight test performance standards, and until Congress takes a separate vote next year on whether to proceed with B-2 production.

Three B-2s have been built and are being used in testing. Congress has authorized a total of 15, and the Senate defeated, 51-48, an effort to stop the program at that point. The House bill eliminates money for further purchases of B-2s.

The administration wants eventually to build 75 of the batwinged planes, which it says are crucial to the future of the U.S. nuclear deterrent.

But even some of the Senate's B-2 supporters, citing the disappearance of the Warsaw Pact military alliance and the dissolution of the Soviet Union, said they saw little chance that the full 75-plane fleet would or should be built.

"The world has changed dramatically," Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., said in arguing that America did not need a plane designed mainly to penetrate Soviet air defenses.

The other main argument against the B-2 is that it is too expensive at $864 million a copy.

Acting on amendments during consideration of the bill, the Senate:

—Voted, 67-33, to shelve plans to spend $225 million for tests on a rail-mobile MX nuclear missile.

—Defeated, 50-49, an attempt to reduce the bill's provision for spending on the Strategic Defense Initiative to $3.5 billion. The bill in its final form included $4.6 billion for the project, which is attempting to build a ground- and space-based defense against ballistic missiles. The administration asked for $5.2 billion.

—Rejected, 90-10, an attempt to cancel the troubled Seawolf nuclear attack submarine.

Miners marching on palace

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Thousands of angry coal miners marched today on the presidential palace after hurling gasoline bombs elsewhere in the capital in their drive to oust leaders they blame for ruining their lives.

"If an institution is attacked with violence, we cannot but respond with violence," warned President Ion Iliescu, whose resignation the miners were demanding.

Asked whether the security forces would shoot, he said today, "We are trying to avoid shooting, but it depends ... troops should act to maintain order."

Interior Minister Doru Viorel

Ursu said in a statement published by the Rompres news agency that police "will take all measures to defend the fragile democracy in Romania."

Premier Petre Roman resigned Thursday, and protesters demanded Iliescu also quit because of the government's tough austerity policies. Miners complain they cannot afford to feed their families because of high prices and low wages.

Inside the palace, government and opposition leaders debated forming a new coalition to placate the miners.

Iliescu said the current government would remain until a new one could be named.

On Thursday, protesters ransacked the Parliament and besieged the television center, scene of fierce fighting during the December 1989 revolution that toppled Communist dictator Nicolae Ceausescu.

Roman called the unrest "a Communist coup" led by people who wanted to turn the clock back on reform.

Three people died in riots Wednesday, and by Thursday afternoon, the number of injured had climbed to 284, the state news agency Rompres said.

At 3 a.m. today more clashes occurred around the TV station and on Bucharest's downtown University Square for an hour. At the square several hundred miners and some other protesters battled with police arriving in armored police trucks.

The police stopped at metal barricades near the square, where the protesters hurled firebombs while police fired tear gas grenades to clear the square.

Several people were seen taken away by ambulance, but it was not clear how many were injured.

The protests were the worst since June 1990, when thousands of miners went on a three-day rampage through Bucharest that left six dead. The crisis threatened to blow up into a major confrontation between the ruling National Salvation Front and angry Romanians.

Earhart's airplane...

Anonymous donation extends search

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A Houstrop company specializing in deep-water research will take part in the search for Amelia Earhart's plane after an anonymous donor solved an 11th-hour funding problem.

The donor has given $200,000 to the International Group for Historic Aircraft Recovery (TIGHAR), a non-profit foundation, for its expedition to the remote South Pacific island of Nikumaroro, TIGHAR spokesman Gary Quigg of Crawfordsville said Thursday.

The uninhabited atoll, located 2,000 miles southwest of Hawaii, is believed to be the site where Earhart and navigator Fred Noonan crash-landed during their around-the-world flight on July 2, 1937.

Oceaneering International, Inc. has been involved in more than three dozen civilian and military undersea searches, including the space shuttle Challenger off the Florida coast, an Air India 747 off Ireland, and the United Airlines 747 cargo door off Hawaii.

use sonar and a remote camera to scan the ocean bottom at a depth of 2,000 feet off the island's coral shelf for the wreckage of Earhart's plane.

Researchers and history buffs who have delved into the disappearance of the pioneer aviator believe Earhart and Noonan crash-landed July 2, 1937, on a coral reef off the shore of Nikumaroro and later perished on the island.

Police note two arrests

Snyder police made two arrests Thursday and early this morning.

Officers arrested a 60-year-old female for Class C theft, shoplifting, at 12:35 p.m. Thursday at Lawrence IGA.

A 19-year-old male was arrested at 3:08 a.m. today in the 100 block of E. 37th St. for driving while intoxicated.

Both subjects were transported to the county jail.

At 4:12 p.m. Thursday officers worked a minor accident at Howard Gray Motors. Involved were a 1991 Pontiac driven by Lila Marie Thompson of Rt. 1 and a 1980 Chevrolet pickup driven by Karen Jean Wortham of 2607 Ave. Y. No wrecker or ambulance was requested.

At 8:05 p.m. Thursday, officers worked an accident in which a 1980 Buick driven by Joanna Fuentez of 1402 7th St. struck the west side of the Everybody's Thriftway building. No wrecker or ambulance was needed.

One treated, released at ER

Forty-one-year-old Randy Crow was treated and released at Cogdell Memorial Hospital emergency room following a one-vehicle rollover near here Thursday morning.

Reports indicate that the one-vehicle rollover occurred at about 1 a.m. at county roads 2085 and 1606. The 1986 Isuzu pickup is owned by Theresa DeShaye Rudloff of Box 1293.

Crow was taken to Cogdell by private vehicle at 7:15 a.m.

Thomas vote to full Senate mal statements outlining the reasons for their decisions on Thomas, a 43-year-old who rose from extreme poverty to become a Senate aide, chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and federal appeals court judge.

"Judge Thomas spent five days running away from his record," said Sen. Thomas Metzenbaum, the Ohio Democrat who was one of his most vocal critics during Thomas' five days of confirmation hearing testimony earlier in the month.

Countered Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., "There's been no confirmation conversion."

The 7-7 tie was sealed by conservative Democratic Sen. Howell Heflin's announcement Thursday that he would oppose Thomas, and by a similar announcement today by Sen. Joseph Biden, the Delaware Democrat who is chairman of the committee.

Biden said he would not support any effort to block a vote by the full Senate on the nomination. In a speech in the Senate shortly before he convened the committee, he said his own decision to oppose the nomination was a "close call."

Biden and Sen. John Danforth, the Missouri Republican who has been Thomas' most vocal supporter in the Senate, joined Bush in saying the nomination would eventually be approved.

purchased three lots behind the church. One lot has been sold and the congregation plans to construct a new parsonage on one of the others. Expanding the present building has also been considered.

In addition to its regular schedule, the church supports an active youth program and a children's church ministry.

Morningside Baptist Church is affiliated with the Central West Texas Baptist Association, the Baptist Missionary Association of Texas and the Baptist Missionary Association of America. Money for missions is given through these organizations.

hospital's depreciation fund.

In other action Thursday, board member Brenda Hedges presented the names of seven individuals who have agreed to serve on the Foundation Advisory Committee. They are Jack Denman, Sue Mize, Donna Gray, Carol Davis, Dan Cotton, Roy McQueen and John Jarrell, who will serve as temporary chairman. The president of the hospital auxiliary will automatically be named to the board annually. Hedges will serve as board liaison. Two more board members will be named at a later date.

The committee's task will be to raise funds or solicit donations from friends of the hospital, said Hedges. Key needs for the hospital include some interior remodeling, the planned cardiac care unit and dialysis equipment. There is currently $33,000 in the Foundation fund.

In other action, the board accepted "with appreciation" a donation of $12,500 from Snyder National Bank for the purpose of refurbishing the fourth floor waiting room.

Also discussed were no smoking classes for Cogdell employees. Cogdell must go "smoke free" according to Joint Commission guidelines, and will do so on Jan. 1, 1992. Cost of the course, which will be taught by a health education representative from Hendrick Medical Center, will be $125 per employee. Cogdell will allow employees to deduct the cost of the course from their paychecks, at a minimum of $25 a pay period. A free introduction session is scheduled for 5 p.m. Oct. 14 in the doctor's lounge.

Board members also approved the August financial report, which indicated a net income of $25,615 for the month. The hospital cash balance stands at $1,132,714.

August statistical information indicated an average daily census of 11.2, a long term daily census of 28.3, 40 surgeries, 18 newborns and 619 emergency room visits.

Lancaster informed the board that the hospital will hold a health clinic for the public from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 2. A number of health screenings, such as blood pressures, blood chemistry profiles and lung-function testing will be available. Various outside agencies will also present information at the health fair.

In other business, the hospital announced a payment of $10,877 to Howard College to offset a shortfall in the ADN program. Cogdell officials feel that the recruitment opportunities more than outweigh the costs of the program, Lancaster pointed out.

In one final item, it was noted that Cogdell employees will hold a picnic Saturday in Towle Park. The picnic is not funded by the hospital.

All board members were present, to include Hedges, Ted Crenwelge, Jim Palmer, Bill Wilson III, Doug Foster and G.A. Parks Jr., chairman.

TIGHAR had raised $200,000 for the expedition, but needed another $200,000 to fund Oceaneering International's role in the search.

About 10 TIGHAR members, under the leadership of Richard E. Gillespie, will participate in the expedition. Their research vessel Acania will leave Honolulu on Monday, and is scheduled to return Nov. 2.

The TIGHAR team will search an area extending from the island's southeast shore to a lagoon a quarter-mile from the ocean, Quigg said. The island is four miles long and two miles wide.

Oceaneering International will

During the massive search for Earhart, a plane from the battleship USS Colorado found signs of recent habitation on the island, which was supposedly uninhabited at the time.

Gilbert Island natives who later settled on the island also reported discovering bones and some personal effects, including a shoe that was Earhart's size.

And Coast Guardsmen stationed on the island during World War II found the remains of a survival camp on the island's southeast side.

Others, however, believe Earhart crashed in the Marshall Islands.

Former workers seek compensation

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a skin problem called erysipelas, which is being treated with penicillin and cephalixin. I'm concerned about spreading this to my children and grandchildren, and I would like to know how to avoid getting it in the future.

DEAR READER: Erysipelas is a painful skin infection caused by streptococcus bacteria. The infected lesion usually occurs on the face, arms or legs and appears as a shiny, red, raised, tender area with irregular borders. It is associated with malaise, fever and swollen glands.

Penicillin (or penicillin-derivatives, such as cephalixin) is the preferred treatment and ordinarily produces rapid improvement.

Like any skin infection, erysipelas is highly contagious. However, once it is treated and begins to heal, the risk of contagion is nil. For unknown reasons, some patients with erysipelas have repeated infections, requiring antibiotics.

Although once on treatment, you will not spread the disease to the children in your family, I cannot give you specific advice about how to avoid future episodes. Some patients have had success in controlling repeated outbreaks by regularly washing with anti-bacterial soap, such as Dial, and by seeking prompt medical attention for early, trivial skin infections.

Because erysipelas sometimes occurs in conjunction with chronic conditions, such as eczema, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Eczema and Psoriasis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've suffered from several different kinds of vaginitis for the past 12 years and am tired of visiting my doctor, who doesn't even perform an examination so I can get a prescription from him. Is anything available over-the-counter that might help me?

DEAR READER: Vaginitis has many causes, ranging from bacterial and viral infections to yeast inflammation. In menopausal women, hormone deficiency may lead to a form of vaginitis, marked by discharge, irritation and painful intercourse.

Therefore, the cause of vaginitis must be identified before appropriate therapy can be prescribed. I believe you are being short-changed by your doctor. There is absolutely no excuse for you to suffer uncomfortable symptoms for 12 years without relief.

Ask for a referral to a gynecologist. You need a meticulous examination and cultures of your vaginal secretions. Then the specialist can pick the proper therapy.

I hesitate to suggest over-the-counter remedies without knowing the cause of your problem. Good medical practice dictates further testing.

See a gynecologist.

Wilson to speak
Stanley A. Wilson, chaplain at Price Daniel Unit, will be the guest speaker at Fluvanna Baptist Church on Sunday. Everyone is welcome.

Walt Disney World in Florida, covering 43 square miles, is about the size of San Francisco. With 33,000 workers, it is the largest employer in Central Florida.

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) — At 16, Francisco Javier Zavala still isn't able to speak. He can't dress or feed himself, and the prospects that he'll ever be able to do so are bleak.

His mother, Irma Duenes, gave up her job at a Matamoros maquiladora years ago to give him the extra care and attention he requires.

"I have to feed him," Ms. Duenes said recently. "He doesn't say when he has to go to the bathroom. He wears diapers day and night."

She said her son is a victim of chemicals she was exposed to during her pregnancy when she worked at a Matamoros electronics plant owned and operated by Mallory Capacitors Co. in the 1960s and '70s.

Now Ms. Duenes and other former Mallory employees who say their children suffered from birth defects because of the chemicals want assurances that they'll be compensated, and that their children will be cared for in the future.

Some 40 families from Matamoros and Brownsville, Texas, filed suit Monday in state district court in Brownsville against Mallory. They seek unspecified damages.

However, it's not clear who would be liable for any damages that may result from the lawsuit since Mallory has been sold at least twice since the plant shut down and neither its current nor former owners claim to have assumed the liabilities.

The lawsuit charges that the company was negligent in not warning employees about potential dangers posed by the chemicals and by failing to provide adequate safety equipment or ventilation.

According to the lawsuit, women who were pregnant while working at the plant subsequently either experienced miscarriages or stillbirths. Some babies died shortly after birth or suffered from extensive physical and mental defects, the lawsuit says.

More than 50 afflicted children are listed as plaintiffs in the suit.

Ms. Duenes and another former Mallory employee, Eva Ortiz de Rivas, said they had normal children before working at the plant. They said their lives have been turned upside down by the need to care for their afflicted sons.

"He can't dress himself," Ms. Ortiz said of her 15-year-old son Juan Arturo. "We have to do everything for him and take care of him."

Ms. Ortiz said she worked at the plant, which employed about 200 people, until it closed without warning in 1977. Since then, Mallory has been sold several times and it is not clear who is liable for the plant's operations.

Perot group entered in contract for ranch

WESTLAKE, Texas (AP) — The Perot Group has entered into a contract to buy the Circle T Ranch, the 2,000-acre ranch that once served as a weekend retreat and thoroughbred race horse training center for Nelson Bunker Hunt.

Frank Zaccanelli, an executive for The Perot Group, confirmed

Thursday that a contract has been signed with the trustee representing the bankrupt estate of Nelson Bunker Hunt.

"We see the property as being a mixed-use development, ranging from residential properties to a corporate relocation center for Fortune 500 companies," Zaccanelli said.

If the contract is clinched, the developer would control more than half of the prized highway corridor between Alliance Airport and Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport.

The Perot Group was established by Dallas entrepreneur H. Ross Perot and is managed by Ross Perot Jr., developer of Alliance Airport.

Three previous multimillion dollar offers have fallen apart because of zoning disputes with the town of Westlake, about 10 miles north of Fort Worth.

"We have contracted for the property and we are in the process of doing the basic analysis that anyone would do before buying," Zaccanelli said. "We have the deal under contract, but there are still a lot of contingencies to study before closing."

Zaccanelli declined to disclose the purchase price, though sources close to the negotiations told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram the price was considerably less than the most recent offer of $33.5 million by Israeli developer Gad Zeevi.

With the addition of the Circle T Ranch, The Perot Group will own more than 20,000 acres in Tarrant and Denton counties.

By comparison, Manhattan Island in New York City takes up 18,000 acres.

The holdings would include more than nine miles of continuous highway frontage along Texas Highways 114 and 170.

R. Carter Pate, the trustee liquidating Hunt's estate, said he was pleased with Perot's offer in the wake of Zeevi's sudden pullout.

"I think The Perot Group represents one of the finest developers in America and certainly one of the most flexible," Pate said. "We are very excited."

Zeevi withdrew his offer in August after Westlake declined to act on an eight-month-old zoning application that included 6,000 homes, shopping malls and golf courses.

The Perot Group also faces the fallout from Pate's $35 million lawsuit against Westlake. The suit claims two deals with Canadian firms were dropped last year when the town rezoned the ranch to permit only "campus-style" office parks on most of the property. Trial on the matter is set for early December.

The lawsuit is significant to the future owner of the Circle T Ranch because a judgment levied against Westlake could be paid for in property taxes against land owners.

The ranch takes up more than half of Westlake, which now has no property taxes or municipal services.

Westlake Mayor Dale White said the town was "tickled to death" by The Perot Group's interest.

Suspended police officer indicted

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — A suspended Donna police officer has been charged with sexually assaulting a 25-year-old Central American woman.

Police reports say Sgt. Eugenio Ayala apprehended the woman July 17 as she was leaving a night club in Donna.

The woman told police Ayala took her to a secluded area and assaulted her.

Ayala was suspended from the police force July 19 pending investigation of the accusations.

Texas Ranger Richard Bennie testified at an Aug. 12 hearing that a witness saw Ayala escort the woman from the club.

Westlake police said they found sequins and lipstick smears matching those the woman was wearing when they searched the back seat of the squad car Ayala was using that night.

Bennie said an analysis of blood specimens taken from the victim matched Ayala's.

Missing boater's body discovered

FREEPORT, Texas (AP) — Coast Guard officers recovered on Thursday the body of an elderly Houston man who had not returned the day before from a fishing trip in the western part of Galveston Bay.

Lewis Hawley, 78, of Houston, was reported missing late Wednesday, the Coast Guard said. He had left at about 8:30 a.m. Wednesday to fish in the San Luis Pass, Christmas or Bastrop Bay areas.

Helicopter searches of the area were fruitless Wednesday, and the search resumed early Thursday.

Hawley's capsized, eight-foot outboard boat was discovered near San Luis Pass at about 8 a.m. Hawley's body was found face-down in the water about a half-mile away in Cold Pass near Freeport, the Coast Guard said.

Dear Abby

Midwife's Practice of Medicine Leaves Daughter Feeling Sick

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My mother is a native of Mexico. I don't know if you are familiar with the medical-pharmaceutical practices in Mexico, but they are very "relaxed." In Mexico, my mother was a midwife. She assisted the local doctor, but she has had no formal training. She has lived in America for 30 years and fully understands the laws of being a citizen.

I recently learned that my mother is giving injections to people who seek her out. These people obtain the medication in Mexico and my mother has a syringe. A relative brought her children over to be injected with so-called vitamins, so I asked her why she was doing this. She said, "The American doctors are afraid to cure people quickly."

I said nothing more to anyone; then I told my mother that if she continued to practice medicine without a license, I would turn her in. She laughed and said that she would stop. I know my mother and doubt that she will stop.

Abby, I don't want to turn her in. Other family members agree that what she is doing is wrong, but they think it's none of my business. Their attitude and my mother's actions appall me, but I don't want to visit her in jail. Please answer in the paper.

CONCERNED DAUGHTER
IN FRESNO

DEAR CONCERNED: I consulted my personal physician, Dr. Jaime Paris, who practiced at the Mayo Clinic for 20 years. He said: "Regardless of what the laws are in Mexico City, the woman is breaking the law here. Furthermore, if the needles she uses are not properly sterilized, she could be spreading all kinds of diseases. Inform her emphatically and immediately that no one should be giving shots unless supervised by a doctor of medicine or osteopathy."

DEAR ABBY: Whatever happened to dinner? Everyone here in my section of Florida eats "supper," never dinner, in the evening. Isn't it correct that if you have lunch at noon, you have dinner at night? Or if you have dinner at noon (as farmers do), then supper is a light meal in the evening?

Even the "Golden Girls" on TV refer to their dinner as "supper," and it's obvious they are not eating their dinner at noon.

FLORENCE KRUEGER,
BAYONET POINT, FLA.

DEAR FLORENCE: Webster's Ninth New Collegiate Dictionary defines "dinner" as "the principal meal of the day." And "supper" is defined as "the evening meal, especially when dinner (the principal meal of the day) is taken at midday." "Supper" is also described as "a light meal served late in the evening."

So, technically, you are correct. But if local or regional custom dictates that the evening meal be called supper — then the word from here is, Don't argue with the natives, or you might wind up eating your words regardless of the hour.

By popular request, Abby shares more of her favorite prize-winning, easy-to-prepare recipes. To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: More Favorite Recipes by Dear Abby, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054.
