Q—Why weren't Hermleigh residents allowed to vote in Hermleigh Community Center during Tuesday's election?

A—In September, county commissioners approved the consolidation of 15 election boxes to four boxes and four locations for Tuesday's state election. County officials estimated the consolidation would save $5,000.

In Brief

Bus wreck

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Eleven children suffered minor injuries today when a school bus and a car collided, the Department of Public Safety said.

DPS spokesman Mike Cox said the accident was reported at 7:39 a.m., at an intersection just outside the Amarillo city limits.

Highway Dept.

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Transportation Commission today approved a plan to pull highway district headquarters from seven towns and open a new one in Laredo as part of a legislative mandate to cut costs.

Transportation Engineer-Director Arnold Oliver said the reorganization plan was a thankless task that would affect hundreds of state highway employees.

Under the plan, Atlanta, Brownwood, Childress, Lufkin, Paris, Waco and Yoakum would lose their district headquarters. Oliver said some of those offices, however, might remain open in a limited capacity.

The state's 24 highway districts would be realigned into 18, including a new one based in Laredo to handle increased highway needs on the Texas-Mexico border, officials said.

The deadline for the plan to take effect is September, 1992.

By 80% in county...

Prison bonds get strong support

Scurry County citizens overwhelmingly cast their support for the authorization of $1.1 billion in bonds for more prison beds, youth correctional institutions and mental health facilities during Tuesday's constitutional amendments election.

County voters also approved a state lottery by a narrow margin, favorably passed amendments for home rule and for bonds to finance student educational loans, and soundly defeated a proposal to allow more diverse investment of public retirement system funds.

According to the county clerk's office, 2,418 cast votes in the election, a turnout considered good since there were no direct local issues.

By a count of 1,875 to 454, 80.5 percent of the county's voters said "yes" to Proposition 4, which will lead to the construction of 25,300 new prison beds in the state. The proposition passed by a 68 percent margin statewide.

Jack Smartt, chairman of the economic development committee, said the overwhelming support of Scurry County voters for criminal justice needs will be noticed in Snyder's efforts to acquire another unit here.

In 1989, 75 percent of local voters approved prison bonds. The fact that voters increased their support by more than five percent speaks loudly to the support Snyder and Scurry County have for law enforcement and the criminal justice system," Smartt said. "I think that's (the vote) super. I think it's a positive statement from Scurry County and the state of strong support for law enforcement and incarceration of offenders," said Mike Thornton, Western Texas College dean of continuing education, who has worked closely with the state prison system.

Since securing the 1,000-bed Price Daniel Unit here in 1987, Snyder has shared an innovative relationship with the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, particularly through Western Texas College and Cogdell Memorial Hospital. The college provides pre-training and in-service for correctional officers and secondary education and vocational training for inmates. These programs have recently expanded to include the French Robertson Unit under construction near Abilene. Cogdell provides healthcare and pharmacy (see COUNTY, page 8).

Council renames roads; approves chamber request

Following a lengthy discussion, Snyder city council voted unanimously Tuesday night to rename East Highway as "Coliseum Drive."

The vote came during the council's November meeting at City Hall in which granting a request from the chamber of commerce and again tabling a franchise agreement were among the items voted on by the council.

Effective Jan. 1, the East Highway — which is now the part of U.S. Hwy. 180 from Ave. H east to the traffic circle — will be designated Coliseum Drive. The change was needed to clarify addressing for both the post office and the pending 911 emergency assistance service, according to city staff.

Apparently there is some confusion with street addresses along this part of the highway because currently one portion is known as East Highway while the section of the street from Ave. A to the traffic circle is addressed as east East Highway. To further confuse the situation, the portion of Hwy. 180 running through the city has several names, in addition to East Hwy., depending on the location, including 25th St. and Lamesa Hwy.

The name change came only after a lengthy discussion of the issue in which a staff recommendation was rejected, and two related motions which would have seen all of U.S. Hwy. 180 within the city limits renamed also were rejected — one was voted down and another was withdrawn after other council members showed a lack of support for the motion. Rejected was a resolution presented by city staff which would have seen Ave. A to the traffic circle renamed. The rejection came as members of the council voiced concern over renaming only a portion of the street. Council member Jackie Greene made (see SNYDER, page 8).

CIA gets Gates as new chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert M. Gates is becoming director of the CIA with the task to redirect and slim down the spy agency into a new, post-Cold War mold.

The Senate's 64-31 vote Tuesday to confirm Gates ended a six-month ordeal for the first careerist ever from the CIA's analytical branch to rise to the top of the 44-year-old agency.

With support from a solid phalanx of Republicans, Gates benefited from a split among Democrats to roll up his easy margin of approval.

Four months ago, such an outcome seemed unlikely when his confirmation hearings were postponed amid new revelations about CIA knowledge of the Iran-Contra scandal.

But Gates answered those and many other questions during three weeks of intense confirmation hearings that served as a rare public forum for the airing of bitter feuds within the CIA.

Texans favor lottery 11 of 13 propositions approved

by The Associated Press
Now even dreams are bigger in Texas.

The lottery hit its biggest winning number yet Tuesday when Texans overwhelmingly approved a constitutional amendment to lift a 146-year-old ban on the numbers game.

Texas will join more than 30 other states with lotteries. It had been the largest without one.

Voters also adopted a $1.1 billion prison bond proposal and in Houston, ousted Mayor Kathy Whitmire, whose 10-year reign ended when wealthy developer Bob Lanier and state Rep. Sylvester Turner qualified for a Dec. 3 runoff.

In Dallas, voters elected Steve Bartlett, a five-term Republican congressman who resigned to run for mayor. He will lead a new council that gives widespread political power to the city's ethnic minorities for the first time.

Backers of the lottery hailed it as a shot in the arm for the state government, forced to raise taxes repeatedly since the devastating oil and real estate busts of 1986. Opponents said it would encourage gambling and not prevent higher taxes.

Texas approved the lottery by a 64 percent-to-36 percent margin. With all but two precincts reporting, the results were 1,331,618 in favor and 733,288 opposed.

Instant games will start by July 1, 1992, and computerized "lotto" games in January 1993. The lottery is estimated to generate $462 million for the current two-year budget cycle and $1 billion for the 1994-95 budget.

"We badly need that additional revenue to educate our young, to fight crime and to bring jobs to Texas," said Gov. Ann Richards. She had urged lawmakers to put the lottery on the ballot — something they had refused to do eight times since 1983.

In Houston, the nation's fourth-largest city will get a new mayor for the first time in a decade when Lanier and Turner face each other next month.

Lanier, 66, and Turner, 37, sent five-term incumbent Whitmire to defeat for the first time ever. Lanier cashed in on public opposition to a controversial $1 billion monorail project favored by Mrs. Whitmire.

Turner, trying to become Houston's first black mayor, drew support from black voters who accounted for much of Mrs. Whitmire's backing in her previous five successful races.

Lanier got 136,918 votes, or 44 percent, to Turner's 109,801, or 35 percent. Mrs. Whitmire had 62,608, or 20 percent.

Mrs. Whitmire, 45, had come under fire for not reacting to crime problems and for her insistence in promoting the monorail project. During her tenure, she presided over a city ravaged by the oil industry bust of the mid-1980s, then took credit for Houston's subsequent economic resurgence.

She was Houston's first woman mayor and broke new ground by appointing the city's first black (see TEXANS, page 8).

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A good rule is not to talk about money with people who have either much more or much less than you."

We noticed in a national magazine that gold plated Monopoly sets are being marketed. Even as collector items, it won't come close to making the return that it did for the game's inventor.

Back in 1932, a fellow named Charles Darrow was broke and out of a job. His wife was expecting. Although he was a heating engineer, no jobs were available.

The Darrow family was barely subsisting on odd jobs he could obtain as a handyman. The outlook was bleak.

Fate didn't reckon with the courage of this man and his wife. They laughed at it — literally. In the evenings, to take their minds off their troubles, they made up a little game in which they could pretend to be millionaires. Recalling pleasant vacations in nearby Atlantic City, the couple reconstructed the area adjoining the boardwalk. Darrow carved hotels and houses out of small pieces of wood. They named it Monopoly.

Three years later, in 1935, the game was marketed nationally by Parker Brothers, making the Darrows wealthy.

In 1836, President Andrew Jackson not only had the U.S. out of debt for the first time, but had a surplus of $37.4 million in the national treasury. In 1937, he turned over the White House to Martin Van Buren. By 1840, the U.S. owed 21 cents per capita, and the nation's not been out of debt since.

The Democrats are looking for someone to run for President. If Zack Taylor can be resurrected, why not Andrew Jackson?

Divided federal appeals court oks symbol of Texas

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A divided federal appeals court has agreed that a Christian cross that appears in the seal of the City of Austin, Texas, does not violate constitutional prohibitions against government display of religious symbols.

In a 2-1 decision Tuesday, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld a September 1990 ruling by U.S. District Judge James Nowlin in Austin. However, it vacated undisclosed sanctions imposed by Nowlin against plaintiffs Jon G. Murray and the Society of Separationists Inc.

Contacted in Dallas, Murray said he had not seen Tuesday's opinion and would not be able to say immediately whether a rehearing might be sought or if the ruling would be appealed.

Murray is the son of atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair, whose judicial battle in the 1960s produced the U.S. Supreme Court's ban against prayer in public schools. He said he believed the sanctions imposed by Nowlin might have required him to pay lawyers who defended against his lawsuit.

Murray and the society maintained in their lawsuit that the cross appearing in the City of Austin's official seal violates the Establishment and Free Exercise clauses within the U.S. Constitution.

When it adopted the seal in 1916, the Austin City Council chose a design that incorporated the family coat of arms of Stephen F. Austin, for whom the city is named. Among other items, Austin's coat of arms contains three crosses topped by crosslets which, in heraldry, signifies that an ancestor had participated in a crusade.

Agricultural info availability sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senior agricultural officials and library directors from Eastern Europe will meet at the Agriculture Department's National Agricultural Library in Beltsville, Md., later this month for a discussion on enhancing global access to agricultural information.

In addition to librarians and information technology specialists from USDA, officials from Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Romania and Yugoslavia will participate in the Nov. 12-20 conference.

"Within the last year, we began to receive a number of requests for visits to NAL (the library) from agricultural specialists in these newly reorganized countries," said Joseph H. Howard, the library's director.

"There is obviously much concern about improving agricultural output in these countries and NAL is viewed as a prime resource for information on doing this," Howard said.

Astrograph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Nov. 6, 1991

There is a possibility you might do something in the year ahead more significant than anything you've done previously. Both chance and friends will be among the key elements.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You could be quite lucky today — if you operate along progressive lines and deal with intangibles. But if you get bogged down with the traditional, the opposite might be true. Scorpio, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Scorpio's Astrograph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astrograph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your financial prospects look good today, especially if you're promoting or selling something that is both unusual and expensive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Helpful contacts can be established in this cycle through club or professional affiliations. Try to spend more time in both of these areas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Challenges that associates feel are too intimidating aren't likely to scare you off today. You're in tune with your inner self and you, better than anyone else, know what you can do.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're very good at conceptualizing today, and you shouldn't treat your inspirations indifferently. What you conceive can be accomplished.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you have to make a critical change today, don't be wishy-washy, timidly using half measures. For best results, make a total alteration.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Where mutual interests are concerned, don't play down or ignore your mate's suggestions today. Your partner might be able to spot certain nuances you'll overlook or don't understand.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You could be rather lucky at this time in opening up an avenue for additional earnings. It's similar to something that has been generating income for a friend.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you have met someone recently whom you'd like to know better, don't be bashful about opening up lines of communication. This individual has been waiting for you to make your move.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The timing is right to push for a close in a matter that you feel can enhance your prestige and security. Stop dragging your feet.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is a rather unusual day where you could learn the most from what you teach. If you have constructive information to pass onto others, now is the time to talk about it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Sometimes, the well-intended tips given to us by relatives are of small value. However, if Aunt Minnie or Uncle Joe tells you something today, be a good listener.

Smithsonian Institution plays down aviation's roll in WWI

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forget what you heard about the Red Baron or watched in movie dogfights pitting Fokkers and Pfalz against Spads and Sopwith Snipes. The Smithsonian Institution doesn't think aviation contributed much in World War I.

Almost in time for Veterans Day — or, more appropriately, Armistice Day — the National Air and Space Museum is opening an exhibit Nov. 13 designed to show that World War I flying wasn't the big deal it's been made out to be.

"I think it's safe to say it is the first time the museum is trying to debunk the myth," said Dominick Pisano, lead curator for the exhibit

"Legend, Memory and the Great War in the Air."

"The basic idea is to set the record straight what aviation in World War I was all about," Pisano said. The idolizing of aces in that war was brought on in part by the news media, movies, magazines and books, he said.

To drive home his point, Pisano stops a tour of the exhibit at a Pfalz D.XII which, he said, logged more hours flying in Hollywood aviation films than it did during the war.

It starred in the 1930 version of "The Dawn Patrol," with a fictitious red color scheme and a skull and crossbones on the fuselage.

Then Howard Hughes bought it for "Hell's Angels." And finally, it flew in "Men With Wings." The Smithsonian unkindly refers to the wartime history of this German plane as "obscure."

World War I aviation, thought of as dogfights and derring-do and the pursuit of infamous German flying ace Manfred von Richthofen, lived through pulp magazines, comic books and model-making in the minds of untold numbers of children.

"Curse you, Red Baron," the Peanuts character Snoopy echoed time after time.

Buffs won't like it, but the fact is that many of the Red Baron's 80 kills came not in dogfights but through stealth and surprise. That did not stop Floyd Gibbons from writing in his best-seller about von Richthofen that "he fought fair, hard and to kill, and the better his foe man fought to kill him, the better he liked him for it."

Such idolatry made him a hero to many a youngster in the 1920s and '30s. Reflecting that fact, the Smithsonian included a typical boy's room in the exhibit, complete with a BB gun, socks on the floor and an airplane model hanging from the ceiling.

World War I, which pitted Germany and its allies against France, Britain, Russia, Italy and the United States, cost more than 11 million lives. A monument similar to the Vietnam Veterans Memorial listing names of the dead would need to be more than eight miles long.

Veteran TV and movie star...

Fred MacMurray is dead at age 83

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fred MacMurray, who dispensed fatherly wisdom between puffs of his pipe on television's "My Three Sons" and played lovable kooks in a string of Disney movies, has died at 83.

MacMurray died of pneumonia Tuesday at St. John's Hospital and Health Center in Santa Monica, a day after being admitted for cancer treatment.

Although light comedy was his strength, MacMurray played almost any film role with success, including Western hero, high society figure and double-dealers of various stripes.

MacMurray played against type in 1944 when he starred opposite Barbara Stanwyck as a crooked insurance salesman recruited for murder in Billy Wilder's moody "Double Indemnity."

He worked with Wilder again in 1960, playing a philandering husband in "The Apartment." In "The Caine Mutiny" of 1954, he played a deceitful Navy lieutenant.

Wilder joked about the character switch, saying MacMurray "gives people the feeling that he's kind to dogs, children, mothers and widows."

The good-guy image served MacMurray well in "My Three Sons," in which he played widower father Steve Douglas.

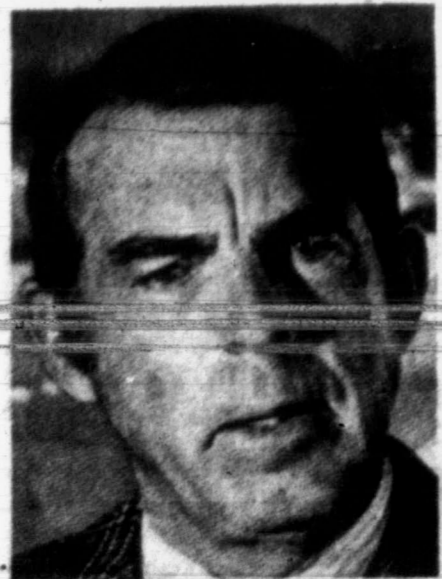

The show ran from 1960 to 1972, second only to "Ozzie and Harriet" as network TV's longest-running situation comedy. It still is popular in reruns.

He also played good guys in several Walt Disney films, including 1960's "The Absent-Minded Professor," in which he portrayed an inventor who created a lighter-than-air substance called flubber that enabled his Model T to fly.

Other Disney roles included the sequel "Son of Flubber," "The Shaggy Dog" and "The Happiest Millionaire."

Friends said that image better reflected the real MacMurray.

FRED MacMURRAY

"Such a lovely, shy, funny, wonderful man. I'll miss him," said Beverly Garland, who played MacMurray's second wife on "My Three Sons."

"He was a fine gentleman and a wonderful actor. He was adept at both comedy and drama with a style all his own," said actor Jimmy Stewart.

Barry Livingston, now 37, played son Ernie on "My Three Sons." His real-life brother, Stanley, played his TV brother, Chip.

"He would always defer to his boys as the success behind his show," Livingston said. "He was always a very humble man."

MacMurray's stage, film and television career spanned more than 50 years. He made more than 80 motion pictures before retiring a decade ago.

Interviewed when he turned 80, he said: "I have some wonderful memories and people have asked me, 'Why don't you write a book like everyone else is doing?' I have trouble remembering the names of guys I played golf with last week."

Born in Kankakee, Ill., MacMurray sang and played in orchestras to earn tuition at Carroll College in Wisconsin. The son of a concert violinist, he formed a three-piece band called Mac's Melody Boys in which he sang and played saxophone.

He came to Hollywood in the 1920s and worked with dance bands and as a movie extra. He then went to the East Coast, making his Broadway debut in 1930 in "Three's a Crowd." He moved to Los Angeles when Paramount signed him.

His first hit film was the 1935 romantic comedy "The Guilted Lily" with Claudette Colbert. He followed that with such comedies as "Champagne Waltz," "True Confessions" and "Take a Letter, Darling."

He is survived by his wife, actress June Haver, three daughters and a son. His first wife, actress Lillian Lamont, died in 1953.

Funeral services will be private.

Widows of workers killed in plant mishaps testify before panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Texas woman whose husband was killed in a 1989 petrochemical plant explosion tearfully painted the human suffering that is often forgotten in the national debate on worker safety.

"Two years have gone by, but I still haven't gotten over my husband's death," Carol Arce told a Senate labor subcommittee Tuesday. "Bert died earning a living, which is an honorable thing, but nobody ought to have to die to earn a living in this country."

Mrs. Arce's husband was among 23 workers who were killed and another 130 injured in the October 1989 explosion at the Phillips 66 Co. chemical plant in Pasadena.

All they found was half of a jawbone, some hand bones, part of his skull and a few bits of clothing," Mrs. Arce said, bringing tears to the eyes of some in the packed hearing room.

In 1989, the most recent year for which figures are available, 10,400 Americans were killed on the job and another 1.7 million injured, said Sen. Paul Wellstone, D-Minn.

The labor subcommittee is considering the overhaul of the 20-year-old law that created the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

A bill introduced in August by Sens. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, and Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., would strengthen OSHA's standard-setting and enforcement authority. It also would force employers to set up joint labor-management safety committees.

Also testifying was Bonnie Skala, whose husband, Richard, was killed in October 1990 when his head was crushed in a machine at the Monfort meat-processing plant in Grand Island, Neb.

The magazine is aimed at the upper echelons, but there is a monthly declarer-play quiz, with prizes, for the less expert player. Today's hand is from this competition. To test yourself, cover the East-West cards and plan the play in three no-trump, West leading the spade 10.

South decided his hand was worth a three-no-trump rebid because of his five-card suit and excellent controls. Also he was influenced by his lack of interest in finding a major-suit fit.

There are seven top tricks, but you don't have time to play on diamonds. The right play is to start by cashing the three top hearts. If they break 3-3, you guarantee your contract by leading a club to dummy's queen. You will collect two spades, four hearts, one diamond and two clubs.

However, when the hearts split 4-2, you need three club tricks. The right play depends on the standard of your opponent. If East would always win the queen with the king, you should lead the club nine to the queen. But against an opponent who will realize that his only chance is to duck the king, the percentage play is to lead low to dummy's eight, hoping that West has the 10 and East the king (or, if East has the club 10, that the club king is doubleton).

If the layout is as shown and East ducks his club king, you lead the queen for a winning finesse.

LB Sollis claims two coaches' grid awards

Linebacker Ricky Sollis nabbed a pair of honors Tuesday when Snyder's football coaches handed out their awards for last Friday's 35-6 win over Frenship.

Sollis was recognized as the team's leading tackler, notching 13 1/2 takedowns, and was credited with a quarterback hurry.

Offensive standouts Matt Cave and Michael Fields were each given helmet decals for surpassing 100 yards.

Sophomore quarterback Cave passed for 112 yards and a TD against FHS while Fields, running from the wingback slot, scored twice and rushed for 104 yards on just four carries.

Offensive linemen won their share of awards at Tuesday's team meeting, too.

Tackle Dakon Hollingsworth claimed decals for 15 knockdowns, five drives and three pins. On the other side of the line senior tackle Chad Fox gathered kudos for three pins, five drives and 16 knockdowns.

Tight end Hayward Clay registered 10 knockdowns and three pins and center Leonard Tovar managed 16 knockdowns, six drives and a pair of pins.

Also in the trenches, Brad Hart was credited with 17 knockdowns while Brian Lickey earned 11.

Among backs and receivers, split end Jason McAden was recognized for nine knockdowns and quarterback Chris Sutherland and tailback Mark King each turned in seven.

King earned recognition, also, for five great fakes.

A great fake is defined by the coaching staff as one that pulls at least four defenders.

Cave and fullback Wayland Harrison each had a great fake, as well.

Besides Sollis, defensive honorees include linebacker Charlie Richardson with a pair of sacks of Frenship QB Kendrick Hollie, as well as a hurry.

Chris Carrasco nailed Hollie in the backfield for losses three times, once for a safety.

Clay was also honored for two sacks and a hurry.

Defensive linemen Ben Wilson, Todd Iglehart and Eddie Byrd each won coaches' awards for hurrying the opposing quarterback.

Williams, Wilson and Ismael Avila each notched a tackle behind the line of scrimmage and Clay, King and Wilson each earned decals for deflecting passes.

Wilson caused a fumble in the Friday contest and Locadio Luera and Eric Braziel each came up with a fumble recovery.

Kickers Bobby Clinkinbeard and J. Parker, holder Chris Sutherland and long snapper Chad Fox were each cited for three consecutive extra points.

Also on special teams, King was honored for punt returns and punter Brian Crawford won an award for his 36.5-yard punting average against Frenship.

Bi-district volleyball...

Demonettes eliminate Snyder

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

PLAINVIEW — The Snyder Lady Tigers' volleyball season came to an end Tuesday night with a 6-15, 2-15 playoff loss to defending state Class 4A champion Dumas on the campus of Wayland Baptist University.

Snyder coach Patty Grimmett feels like experience on the part of the Demonettes gave them an edge in the bi-district battle.

"I don't think the girls really think about it that much," she said. "But experience always helps. They've won state the past three years, so they have been here before."

"I thought we had a great season. I thought the girls did great. We're going to have a lot of them back. We only had two returning this year on the varsity. Next year we'll have six. That's going to help us out because that'll give us some experience."

Grimmett recounted, "and that really hurt us. We had serves missed at important turning points in the match. Other than that we played them tough."

"We were getting there on defense, we were there when they hit, we just couldn't do what we wanted to."

Grimmett gave credit for much of the season's success to the squad's fans.

"I want to thank all the parents and fans who have followed us all season," she said. "The booster club helped us a lot this year, too. Thanks also to the administrators, Krueger (team trainer), and the cheerleaders. It meant a lot to the girls to have everyone supporting them."

Snyder took an early 2-0 lead after a grueling 18 rotations in the match's first game. Dumas pulled ahead 7-2, but four points and a pair of aces by Lady Tiger stand-out Melody Sargent pulled the Black and Gold to a 7-6 tally before the defending champs struck for the game and, eventually, the match.

Sargent paced Snyder's offense in the playoff game with four points, including three aces. Joellen King managed two service points and Stephanie Molina and Amber Bowlin each registered one.

The loss set the SHS season record at 16-7. Dumas moves to 29-2 and will play District 3 runner-up Monahans in the area round of the playoffs at a time and site to be announced.

In other post-season action featuring area teams Tuesday,

Lamesa, District 2-4A champion, was upset by District 1 runner-up Hereford, 13-15, 8-15.

Hereford moves into the area round against District 3 champ Pecos, also at a time and site still to be decided.

The Herd takes a 23-4 mark on in the playoffs. Lamesa winds up with a 22-4 slate.

WTC thumps McMurry IV

The WTC Westerners used a 15-0 burst to open the second half and a 20-point performance by freshman Brent Murphy to secure a 110-87 season-opening win over McMurry University's JV Tuesday at the Western Texas College gym.

Murphy, a 6-5 talent from Smithfield, N.C., hit nine field goals and was successful on two of three tries from the charity stripe.

Five players wound up in double figures for the Westerners including Murphy's 20, David Owen and Jonathan Gaston with 15 each, 14 from Ricardo Hamilton and Chad Landrum's 10.

The Westerners connected on 10 three-pointers including four from Owen and Gaston's three.

Randy Bradley, a 6-1 wing from Waco, paced the Indians with 18 points.

The WTC men took a 48-37 halftime advantage and held the Indians scoreless for the first 9:20 of the second half before David Heights finally hit a basket for the visitors.

Western Texas sank eight of 15 from the free throw line to McMurry's 37 of 43 showing.

The Westerners have precious little time to savor the win as the team heads to Hobbs, N.M. Friday to compete in the two-day Thunderbird Classic with host New Mexico Junior College, Ranger JC and Carl Albert College.

SPIKE! — Snyder's Melanie Duncan goes high for a slam at the Dumas defense in Tuesday's bi-district volleyball playoff game in Plainview. The Lady Tigers lost to the defending Class 4A champion Demonettes, 6-15, 2-15, and were eliminated from post-season play. See story this page. (SDN Staff Photo)

NBA roundup...

NY Knicks blast Milwaukee

by The Associated Press

After flopping on the road, the New York Knicks polished their act and opened on Broadway to rave reviews from coach Pat Riley.

"After what happened over the weekend, they were committed to come home and have a great home opener, and they did it," Riley said after the Knicks whipped the Milwaukee Bucks 113-85 Tuesday night.

Returning to the bench after an absence of one season, Riley watched the Knicks lose twice to recent expansionists Miami and Orlando. And for a while, it seemed that the Bucks might upstage him in his debut at Madison Square Garden.

With the Knicks leading just 42-41 at halftime, the director changed the script.

"We changed defenses at halftime, going to a pressure defense," he said of the strategy that resulted in eight Milwaukee turnovers in the third period.

Leading the way for the Knicks was Mark Jackson, who got 14 of his 16 points, five assists and three steals as New York outscored Milwaukee 40-13 in the third period.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Philadelphia 107, Washington 106; Atlanta 98, Utah 94; Detroit 117, Charlotte 93; Boston 93, Miami 89; Golden State 118, Chicago 110; Cleveland 112, Dallas 101; Houston 106, Portland 99; Indiana 111, Phoenix 105; Seattle 98, Sacramento 87; Denver 97, San Antonio 96; and the Los Angeles Clippers 114, the Los Angeles Lakers 109 in overtime.

Xavier McDaniel, acquired from Phoenix just before training camp started, had 28 points and 13 rebounds, and Patrick Ewing scored 24 points for the Knicks.

Dale Ellis and Jay Humphries had 14 points each for Milwaukee.

Nuggets 97, Spurs 96

Reggie Williams' layup with 6.7 seconds left capped Denver's 8-0 run and a rally from a 14-point deficit in the final 4:47.

Williams had 24 points and rookie Dikembe Mutombo 21 points and 13 rebounds. Antoine Carr led the Spurs with 23 points.

Cavaliers 112, Mavericks 101

Larry Nance scored 13 of his 29 points in the fourth quarter.

Craig Ehlo added 22 points and Brad Daugherty scored 20 and had 12 rebounds for Cleveland. Dallas, led by Rolando Blackman's 23 points, is winless in three starts.

Rockets 106, Trail Blazers 99

Vernon Maxwell scored 24 points, including the go-ahead basket with 1:17 to play.

Hakeem Olajuwon led the Rockets with 27 points and 20 rebounds, and Otis Thorpe added 16 points and 17 rebounds. Clyde Drexler had 18 points to lead Portland.

Clippers 114, Lakers 109 OT

Loy Vaught scored six of his career-high 20 points in overtime. Danny Manning scored 22 points for the Clippers, including a basket that forced overtime at 102-102. Sedale Threatt led the Lakers with 25 points and James Worthy added 22.

Warriors 118, Bulls 110

Chris Mullin scored 38 points and led a 20-2 fourth-quarter charge.

The Bulls fell to 1-2, despite 40 points from Michael Jordan.

Sarunas Marciulionis added 18 points for Golden State, while Scottie Pippen had 26 for the Bulls.

Thornburgh's defeat 'depresses' president

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush said today that the loss by his Senate candidate in Pennsylvania made clear that voters want health care and economic relief. He looked ahead to his own re-election saying "Nobody is taking anything for granted."

He said he was "depressed" that his former attorney general, Dick Thornburgh, lost the Senate race to Democratic incumbent Harris Wofford, who was appointed to the Senate seat after the death of Republican Sen. John Heinz.

But Bush tried to put the best face on that stunning defeat for his party, citing other results in New Jersey, Virginia and Mississippi as big victories for the Republican candidates.

But Bush, speaking as he departed for a trip to the NATO meeting in Rome, also acknowledged that the Pennsylvania race was a tough blow.

"There's a message here for the administration and a message here for the United States Congress. When the economy is slow, people are concerned. They're hurting out there. They're concerned about their livelihood."

"I listened to the message from all these people — governors, senators, legislatures," Bush said. In reference to New Jersey, where voters angered by hefty tax hikes ended Democratic control of their legislature and elected large Republican majorities, Bush said: "One of the messages was don't raise taxes."

"One of the messages from Pennsylvania, try to help people with health care, so you got to try to balance these two."

He said he would have his own health care proposal, "something that's constructive."

"We'll go the extra mile and we'll try even harder," he promised. But he also said, "I must try to protect the taxpayers in this country who don't need another tax increase."

Bush disputed speculation that his cancellation of a 10-day Asia and Australia trip later this month was due to White House worries about mounting criticism that he is neglecting the home front while concentrating on foreign affairs.

"That's crazy," he said, adding that he put off the trip so that he could be home when Congress winds up its session.

He said he had seen various "head on heads," polls showing him running ahead of any of the current Democratic challengers "and I feel pretty good about it."

Nonetheless, he said, "I'm going to be facing a tough fight. ... Nobody is going to be taking anything for granted."

On another sensitive political issue for the Republicans, Bush derided Louisiana's GOP gubernatorial candidate, David Duke, the former Ku Klux Klan leader in harsher terms than he has used before.

He called Duke "an insincere charlatan" who is "attempting to hoodwink the voters of Louisiana. And I believe that he should be rejected for what he is and what he stands for," Bush said, reading at times from prepared notes.

When asked if he would urge people not to vote for Duke, he said, "Yes, strongly."

Asked the same question recently, he had said he didn't want to inject himself into the Louisiana race.

Today, it was clear he had decided to take a stronger approach to distance himself from Duke's racist background.

He said Louisiana voters have "got to make their own decisions."

"But when someone asserts that the Holocaust never took place, then I don't believe that person ever deserves one iota of public trust. And when someone has so recently endorsed Nazism, it is inconceivable that such a person can legitimately aspire to leadership in a leadership role in a free society."

He accused Duke of an "ugly record of racism and of bigotry," saying, "That record simply cannot be erased by the glib rhetoric of a political campaign."

Two missing men haven't turned up

Two local men reported by acquaintances as missing Monday have yet to be located.

Police have sent a teletype to surrounding areas in an effort to locate Paul Milford, owner of Fast Oil Change, and an employee of the 25th St. business, Arthur Harding.

Officers were notified at 9:15 a.m. Monday that Milford did not open the business and could not be located. At 9 p.m., a woman contacted police to advise them that she had been unable to locate Arthur Harding.

Police have also been in contact with Milford's mother, Mrs. A.E. Welch of Kansas, and a brother, Gary Hanson of Tennessee, who said they have not been in contact with the missing man.

According to police, there is no reason to suspect foul play.

In other police reports, Guy Allen informed officers at 9:50 a.m. Tuesday that someone had stolen some tools from Allen Motors. A report for Class B theft was filed.

Officers made two arrests Tuesday. The first came at 10:20 a.m. as officers took a 48-year-old male into custody at Municipal Court and transported him to the county jail to lay out fines for no insurance. At 9:12 p.m., officers arrested a 22-year-old male in the 400 block of 30th St. on warrants for failure to appear and Class C assault.

Police also worked a minor traffic accident at 11:53 a.m. in the 4100 block of Denison. Involved were a 1984 Ford pickup driven by Charles Lickey of Box 1241 and a 1980 Buick driven by Bobby Hammock of 3912 Eastridge.

Officers also cleared a hit-and-run reported on Oct. 17. Involved were a 1981 Chevrolet pickup owned by Elton E. Donelson of Brady and a parked, unoccupied 1988 Ford owned by John Walker of Rt. 3.

Police responded to complaints of assault Tuesday but no charges were filed and no arrests made.

Indictee arrested; oil theft probed by local deputies

The theft of crude from a local oil lease and the arrest of a woman indicted by a grand jury were among activities by Scurry County sheriff's office Tuesday.

Arrested was 28-year-old Terri Lynn Jackson of 1000 30th St. Jackson was indicted earlier this week by a Scurry County grand jury for an Aug. 21 forgery charge. Lynn was taken to Scurry County Jail where she remains in lieu of a $3,000 bond.

Deputies are investigating the theft of over 100 barrels of crude from the Surratt lease, two miles north of Ira. The theft was reported after an employee of H.A.T. Oil found a valve on a production well open. An estimated 130 barrels of oil are thought to be missing. The incident was discovered Monday.

Investigators note that the Texas Railroad Commission has been notified and the investigation is continuing.

In other activity, another report of theft and a report of criminal mischief were filed.

Teena Callaway reported her 35mm camera had been taken from Ira Baptist Church during a function at the facility on Oct. 31. Tuesday morning, Dennis Hartley of Ira Cafe reported damage to the Coke machine just outside the cafe.

Snyder City Council renames East Highway, others

 The two related motions, one in which all of Hwy. 180, east and west through the city, would be renamed Commerce Street and one in which the highway would be named in a naming competition involving local residents.

Some council members said they did not want the entire highway renamed because of expense to business owners along the road. Other name changes approved included a portion of Shady Oaks Circle now be known as 38th St and the remaining section now be called "Live Oak Lane" and that Business US 84 be known as "Old Lubbock Hwy."

In other business, the council granted a $2,000 request for hotel/motel tax funds to help fund the chamber's business committee's "Light Up Snyder" project. The project will see some 100,000 lights outline the courthouse and downtown area.

Plans include the lights to be turned on Nov. 29 and a lighted Christmas parade Dec. 14.

A franchise agreement with Lone Star Gas was tabled for the second consecutive month as city staff and the gas company continue to work out details of the contract. Portions of the contract already agreed upon include a franchise tax increase from two percent to three percent and a 15-year contract instead of a 25-year contract proposed earlier by Lone Star.

Also tabled was a rezoning request of the 2900 block of 25th St. as the council requested the planning and zoning commission again review the request. However, another zoning request was approved as the council allowed a portion of the Nunn addition to be subdivided in order for an additional structure to be moved in. Also approved was a citizen request for traffic signs at the intersections of 29th St. and Aves. I, U, X and Y.

Other action taken included the nomination of Ross Carroll Jr. for a position on Scurry County Appraisal Board and the second reading of four ordinances including the calling of a Jan. 18 election on a 1/2-cent sales tax and two ordinances pertaining to the city's retirement plan.

Police Chief Lannie Lee attended the meeting to give the council an update on the activities of the department's newly formed community service division. In addition, city staff reviewed plans to implement the use of caustic soda at the water treatment plant.

Recognized during the meeting was former councilman Joe Coronado as the council presented him with a plaque. Coronado resigned his District 3 seat last month after moving out of the district.

Mayor Troy Williamson presided. Present were City Manager John Gayle, City Attorney Ernie Armstrong and council members Mike Thornton, Vernest Tippens, Jack Denman, Jackie Greene and J.D. Smith.

In Dallas, Bartlett won 54 percent of the vote in a crowded field of mayoral candidates.

With all ballots counted, Bartlett had 84,785 votes. His nearest opponent, lawyer Kathryn Cain, had 41,985 votes or 27 percent. Forest Smith, a former president of the Greater Dallas Chamber of Commerce, had 20,887 votes, or 13 percent.

Incumbent Annette Strauss did not seek a third two-year term.

Bartlett, who resigned from Congress March 11, will lead a new City Council that was expanded to 14 single member districts to settle a 3-year-old lawsuit over minority representation.

With all but the mayor's post chosen from single-member districts, the elections were considered one of the most important in the city's 150-year history.

Depending on the outcome of Nov. 19 runoff, at least six and possibly seven of the 14 council seats will be held by minorities.

"I think a newly elected, a newly empowered, a newly energized City Council will be able to put the City Hall itself onto the track of problem-solving," said Bartlett.

Of the $1.1 billion in bonds approved, the Legislature has earmarked $672 million for new prison beds, $41 million for youth correctional facilities and $35 million for mental health and mental retardation.

The money would build 25,300 new prison beds — 13,300 maximum-security and 12,000 for drug and alcohol treatment, which is said to be unprecedented.

In El Paso, voters narrowly approved a proposal to increase the help to thousands of border residents who are in dire need of improved water and sewer service.

The amendment will allow the state to spend another $150 million on projects that provide clean water and flush toilets to people living in substandard subdivisions, known as colonias, along the Texas-Mexico border.

Voters passed 11 of 13 amendments on the ballot, including one authorizing Texas to issue up to $300 million in general obligation bonds to finance loans to college and university students.

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Backers cheered what they said was a wise investment by Texas voters who narrowly approved a proposal to spend more money helping border residents in dire need of water or sewer service.

ceuticals for the Daniel Unit. The unit opened in 1989 and employs about 300 people with an annual payroll of $7 million.

Local and county boards have strongly endorsed the location of a second correctional facility in Snyder and a committee is currently working daily in that regard. The state is expected to award contracts for three 2,250-bed units and six 1,000-bed units next year. In addition, an undetermined number of facilities will be constructed to house 12,000 substance abuse treatment beds. Of the $1.1 billion in bonds, the Legislature has earmarked $672 million for new prison beds, $41 million for youth correctional facilities and $35 million for mental health and mental retardation.

Texas currently has 50,284 beds with another 15,000 under construction, prison officials say.

While Scurry County citizens voted in favor of a state lottery, they did so by only a slim margin — 17 votes. Tallies from the county's four precincts, including absentee votes, indicated 1,198 people, or 50.02 percent of the voters, were in favor of a lottery. Another 1,181 voted against the lottery.

In contrast, the proposition passed statewide by a margin of 64 percent.

Scurry County voted 1,352 to 857 to authorize bonds for college student loans, and 1,710 to 490 to allow home-rule communities under 5,000 in population to amend their charters.

Statewide, only two propositions failed: they were Proposition 5, the freeport exemption, and Proposition 7, retirement investments. Scurry County citizens joined in defeating those two propositions, but also voted against Proposition 2, allowing the Texas Department of Transportation to spend money on turnpikes and toll roads, Proposition 3, easing restrictions on investments by the Veterans' Land Board; and Proposition 6, the ethics panel. County voters rejected Proposition 2 by 259 votes and Proposition 3 by 127 votes and Proposition 6 by 164 votes.

Below are the total votes cast by Scurry County on each proposition in Tuesday's election.

1. Home Rule, passed with 1,710 for, 490 against.
2. Toll Roads, failed with 958 for, 1,217 against.
3. Veterans Investments, failed with 1,064 for, 1,191 against.
4. Prison Bonds, passed with 1,875 for, 454 against.
5. Freeport Exemptions, failed with 920 for, 1,232 against.
6. Ethics Reform, failed with 1,015 for, 1,215 against.
7. Retirement Investment, failed with 602 for, 1,638 against.
8. Bond Indebtedness, passed with 1,545 for, 668 against.
9. Land Patents, passed with 1,177 for, 1,003 against.
10. Water Corporations, passed with 1,178 for, 1,044 against.
11. Lottery, passed with 1,198 for, 1,181 against.
12. Colonia Water, passed with 1,190 for, 974 against.
13. College Loans, passed with 1,352 for, 857 against.

Comptroller readies for lottery odds and ads

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans who win lottery games shouldn't have to drive more than 100 miles to claim their prizes, says the state official heading the enterprise that is expected to generate $1 million a day for the state Treasury.

While voters didn't approve the legalized numbers game until Tuesday, the comptroller's office has been getting ready for months.

That's because the Legislature that put Comptroller John Sharp in charge also gave him orders to move fast.

Sharp plans to hire a lottery director by Dec. 1, begin offering instant "scratch-card" games by July 1, 1992, and start big-money computerized "lotto" games by Jan. 1, 1993.

Things may move even faster, he said Tuesday night.

"Obviously, we're going to try to beat those time lines if we can, because every day we beat them means $1 million to the state Treasury. This thing's worth about a million bucks a day," Sharp said.

Sharp estimates the lottery would generate $462 million profit for the state during the current two-year budget cycle, and about $1 billion per budget after that.

Lottery preparations began shortly after lawmakers voted last August to put the question on the ballot, said Andy Welch, a comptroller's office spokesman.

"The lottery task force has been at work for the last three months.

They've traveled to other states. They have looked to see how lotteries are run in other states. They have explored the different concepts of how you run it," Welch said.

While Sharp said rules haven't been finalized yet, some lottery details are known now:

—Regional lottery centers will be located around the state. "Winners would have to drive no more than 100 miles" to claim their prizes, Sharp said.

—Convenience stores, gas stations and other outlets which sell tickets will be strictly regulated.

"We're going to make this warning real clear to people who sell those tickets: If they violate one single law and get caught, they're not going to sell lottery tickets again for a long, long time. There's no appeal, and we're simply going to remove their licenses," Sharp said.

—Promotional advertising will be contracted out to private firms, but there will be limits on the types of pitches that can be made.

"One of the things we want to watch out for is some advertising that we've seen in some other states that we think borders on the obscene," Sharp said, citing ads that claimed lottery could get people off welfare or make them millionaires.

"We're going to make sure whoever's doing our advertising is not involved in that kind of thing ... (and make sure) certain people aren't targeted unfairly."

—Lottery drawings likely will be broadcast on statewide television hookups, as is done in several other large states.

—Lottery tickets themselves should state the odds of winning and include a toll-free phone number for help with gambling problems, Sharp said.

"One of the things we're going to put on the tickets is the 1-800 number of the (state) alcohol and drug abuse agency," he said, adding that $2 million in lottery proceeds is going to the agency each year.

"Every single lottery ticket is going to have their 1-800 number that they'll have for compulsive gambling," he said.

Food safety advice on food labels sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Turkey Federation is encouraging turkey processors to include instructions on safe food handling in their packaged products.

Consumers are at risk of food-borne illnesses such as salmonella poisoning if they fail to properly handle, prepare or store raw meat and poultry products or other foods, including some fruits.

The federation's announcement is the latest move by the poultry industry to include safety recommendations on labels, said Jim Greene, spokesman for the Agriculture Department's Food Safety and Inspection Service.

"We've been encouraging this kind of labeling initiative by the poultry industry for some time now," Greene said Tuesday. "Many big chicken producers are doing it, and this completes the loop. It is appropriate they do it at this time of year, with Thanksgiving around the corner."

The government estimates that up to 6 million people a year get sick from salmonella and other food-borne organisms, including about 16,000 people who become ill from eating undercooked poultry, Greene said.

The National Turkey Federation's executive vice president, Stuart E. Proctor Jr., this week wrote the nation's approximately three dozen turkey processors to recommend they place one of two federation-written safe food-handling statements on their packaging.

"We in the turkey industry strive to produce a highly nutritious, safe product, and we believe we have succeeded in doing that," said the federation's president, Gary Ruka of Madison, Wis.

"But with any perishable food product — whether it's meat, pork, poultry or fish — consumers must take certain precautions to make sure it remains safe once it has left the supermarket," he said. "These instructions are designed to make sure consumers are aware of those precautions."

The instructions, which contain the same information in different formats, warn consumers to keep cold food cold and hot food hot, and everything clean.

Per capita turkey consumption is estimated at 19 pounds this year, compared with 10.5 pounds in 1980. The industry cites consumer concerns about fat in other meat products and the diversity of turkey products, particularly deli products, for the expansion.

Poultry's share of overall meat consumption has grown from 25 percent in 1980 to 37 percent in 1991, according to USDA's Economic Research Service.

Pest killing wasps housed in 'parasite pills' tested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pest-killing wasps housed in "parasite pills" are undergoing their first field trials in the United States, aimed at controlling a damaging corn pest.

An Agriculture Department scientist said the wasp-laden capsules are "probably the most unusual kind of natural pest control we have imported in recent years" to fight U.S. insects and weed pests without chemicals.

Made by a French firm, the soft cardboard capsules are the size of oyster crackers, said Larry Ertle, quarantine officer at USDA's Beneficial Insects Introduction Research Laboratory in Newark, Del. "Inside each capsule are 500 to 600 eggs of the Mediterranean flour moth. And inside each moth egg is a tinier egg of a wasp known to kill European corn borers and other crop pests," said Ertle.

He said the capsules, called Trichogramma maidis, protect the immature wasp from predators and the environment.

After the young wasps hatch, they devour the flour moth eggs. Later, when the wasps mature, they mate inside the capsule. Then the females exit through a tiny hole and start looking for corn borer eggs to lay their own eggs in.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Can you provide information on attention deficit disorder?

DEAR READER: Attention deficit disorder occurs in childhood and is marked by impulsivity and poor attention span. ADD is believed to affect up to 10 percent of school-aged children; the cause is unknown. ADD children are poor learners and are often overactive. They cannot concentrate. They usually are disruptive because they cannot sit still and focus on the job at hand; they constantly shift activities, have difficulty taking turns and fail to organize their work. Anxiety, anger, poor coordination, oppositional behavior and low frustration tolerance are common secondary signs.

The diagnosis is difficult and rests on observed behavior and attitudes. There are no tests to confirm ADD.

Treatment consists of Ritalin, a prescription stimulant that seems to interrupt the cycle of inappropriate behavior that characterizes ADD. In addition, cognitive-behavior modification is useful: special training in role-playing, self-monitoring and control of environmental noise and light. In short, ADD children and their parents need professional assistance.

To give you further information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Physical Illness." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

I also suggest you write to Children with Attention Deficit Disorder, 499 N.W. 70th Ave., Suite 308, Plantation, FL 33317; telephone: (305) 587-3700.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What danger does moldy bread cause for a person who eats it? I live alone and sometimes have food that spoils. Will cutting off the mold and eating the rest cause problems?

DEAR READER: The mold on bread is usually a penicillin mold, the same material that forms the basis for the antibiotic. Therefore, the only health hazard of eating moldy bread would be an allergic reaction to penicillin.

Nonetheless, most people choose to discard old bread that has become moldy because it is usually stale and less flavorful. Cutting off the moldy portions simply gets rid of the most obvious source; significant numbers of mold spores may remain, unseen, in the bread.

As a general principle, it's unwise to eat spoiled food, which is often rich in other contaminants, such as bacteria, that can cause disease. I advise you to be more frugal in your purchases, plan your meals more efficiently and improve your storage techniques. For example, freeze your unopened bread, thaw it when needed and refrigerate the unused portion; this will virtually eliminate your mold problem.

'Nick & Nora' delayed again

NEW YORK (AP) — The opening of the Broadway musical "Nick & Nora," starring Barry Bostwick and Joanna Gleason, has been postponed — again.

The $4.3 million production — the only Broadway musical scheduled to open before the new year — will be put off until Dec. 8 while creators reshape it and add two songs, spokesman Jeffrey Richards said Tuesday.

The show, based on the husband-and-wife detective team created by Dashiell Hammett, was to have opened Nov. 10, and then Dec. 2. It began preview performances Oct. 8, but word of mouth has not been good.

An earthquake in January 1556 in China's Shensi province killed 830,000 people, the largest number of fatalities on record from a tremor.

Public Notice

On October 18, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to add a new optional service offering called SmartTrunk™ Service. The application has been assigned Tariff Control No. 10687.

SmartTrunk Service provides access between the customer's premises and the serving Southwestern Bell central office for circuit-switched voice and data communications. This communication capability is provided where facilities are available using Integrated Services Digital Network architecture. ISDN services available with SmartTrunk Service use Primary Rate Interface (PRI) technology. SmartTrunk Service requires PRI ISDN compatible Private Branch Exchange (PBX) customer provided equipment registered under FCC Part 68 Rules. SmartTrunk Service employs a 1.544 Mbps facility (denoted as SmartTrunk Interface) typically divided into twenty-three B channels and one D channel. B channels are used for voice and data communications while the D channel provides out-of-band signaling.

If approved by the Commission, the rates for each SmartTrunk Interface facility will be $1,110 per month under a 36-month service contract or $1,010 per month under a 60-month service contract. The proposed rate for the use of the central office varies from $12.25 up to $18.90 per month for each B channel depending on the rate group classification which is determined by the customer's location. Southwestern Bell estimates revenue of $2.8 million from this offering during the first year.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should file comments regarding this application with the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256. Man killed during crime spree for being homosexual

HOUSTON (AP) — A man accused of killing a man outside a gay bar says he intended to rob the victim as part of a night-long crime spree but shot him because he hates homosexuals.

"It was a hate crime. He said he was angry at all homosexuals because he had been sexually assaulted by one when he was 8 years old," Houston homicide detective William Belk said of Johnny Bryan Darrington, III, 20.

Darrington has been charged with murder in the death of Phillip W. Smith, 24, who was shot to death early Sunday.

Darrington and three companions also were charged with aggravated robbery in the alleged all-night crime spree that included Smith's slaying, Belk said.

It is the second killing in Houston this year in which hatred of homosexuals was the motive, police said.

On July 4, banker Paul Broussard was beaten and stabbed to death after leaving the Heaven bar, a gay nightclub. Ten young men were later arrested in what police said was a hate crime.

Belk said Tuesday that Darrington and the others, Marcus Willis, 19, Pedro Paez, 17, and Francisco Rosales, 17, had met Saturday night and decided to go out and commit some robberies.

"They were on a crime spree. They had robbed two men of their jackets and jewelry and wallets in northwest Houston," Belk said.

The suspects also stole purses from two women at gunpoint, Belk said.

Water commission chairman hesitant to regulate water

AUSTIN (AP) — State water officials say they planned no immediate action against a catfish farm that is using more water than many cities, and would regulate ground water only as a last resort.

Texas Water Commission Chairman John Hall said Tuesday an opinion by Texas Attorney General Dan Morales allows the agency to limit pumping of ground water.

But he added, "we believe very strongly that local problems are best solved through local solutions."

Hall said limiting the use of ground water would break a long-standing Texas tradition that landowners can do whatever they want with the water under their property. Such regulations would probably be challenged in court, he said.

But, he said, declining water levels in the Edwards Aquifer have reached a crisis, and that the agency is prepared to step in if factions continue to war over usage of the underground reservoir that feeds San Antonio and other areas.

"The midnight hour is approaching," he said referring to the Edwards Aquifer. "Those who depend on overtaxed water supplies must act to solve the problems they face. In absence of such action, it is our intention, and we are prepared, to exercise oversight."

Despite the urgency, Hall said the Water Commission would not use the attorney general's opinion to move against a Bexar County catfish farm that is using 43.2 million gallons of water per day. By comparison that is about one-fourth as much water as the city of San Antonio uses daily.

It would be unfair to single out the Living Waters Artesian Springs Catfish Farm, Hall said. He said a comprehensive conservation and drought management plan is needed for the entire aquifer.

He said if parties dependent on the Edwards Aquifer fail within the next three or four months to show a good-faith effort in resolving their differences, then the Water Commission could develop criteria for regulating water usage within 90 days after that.

Hall said the Water Commission would only propose regulating ground water in "those very serious cases where local solutions are not being developed."

He said water districts, such as the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, would have nothing to worry about because they have effectively managed their water supply.

Selleck, Lucci picked by fans

ATLANTA (AP) — Producers of the TV version of "Scarlett" want unknowns to play Rhett and Scarlett, but many Atlantans would cast Tom Selleck and soap opera star Susan Lucci if they had the choice.

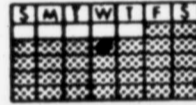

Almost 400 Atlanta Journal-Constitution readers called the newspaper Monday to nominate actors for the lead roles in the "Gone With the Wind" sequel.

Selleck of "Magnum, P.I." was the top choice for Rhett Butler, with one-third of the votes.

No News Can Be Bad News Where Cancer Is Concerned

By Abigail Van Buren
1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column in the Oregonian that shook me up. It was from a woman who said that her husband had had a physical every year since 1971, checked out 100 percent — then out of the blue he was diagnosed as having inoperable prostate cancer! No one had told him that if his father or a brother had had prostate cancer, he should take a P.S.A. blood test. After I read this in your column, I wrote "GET THIS" on the column and handed it to my husband, because his brother has had prostate cancer. So with no symptoms, my husband took the P.S.A. test and was found to have early prostate cancer!

Thank God for that letter — and thank you, Abby, for publishing it. I had copies made and sent them to all my male relatives. I even posted one on the bulletin board at our club. You may use my name.

his system and he required radical and painful surgery. Prognosis: We buried him last week, and it was so unnecessary! Please excuse the tear stains. I miss my brother.

GRIEVING IN THE OZARKS

DEAR ABBY: Last weekend I went camping with my family and a friend. I met a really special guy who I fell for right away. The problem is, I told him I was 17 (I am 15).

He is 17. Now I am worried that he will be mad at me for lying and think I am too young. The reason I told him I was older is because a lot of guys think I'm too young even before they get to know me. I look 17 and am very mature.

I don't think age should matter if two people really like each other. How do I convince him that I like him so much, and that I'm sorry for lying?

SORRY I LIED IN YUBA CITY, CALIF.

DEAR SORRY: Age does matter during the teen years, and so does the degree of maturity. Some 17-year-old "boys" are men — and much depends upon his degree of maturity at age 17. Liking him so much that you lied about your age is not much of a defense, but my advice is just to be straightforward and tell him what you've told me. Lying about one's age is, in itself, immature. But if he likes you enough, perhaps he'll be forgiving.
