Ask Us

Q—We received a letter from an agency with a government-sounding name that said they will help us obtain a Social Security card for our five-year-old for a fee of $15. A friend said this is a scam. Is it?

A—According to the State Attorney General's Office, it probably isn't a scam, but it also isn't necessary. You can pay if you don't want to bother with the paperwork yourself, but obtaining a Social Security number is a free service. You can call 1-800-234-5772 for Social Security information.

B-Spring police

BIG SPRING (AP) — A grand jury has declined to indict any Big Spring police officers, amid complaints that some officers engaged in aggressive behavior.

A Howard County grand jury late Monday announced no indictments would be returned.

The Texas Attorney General's office had been investigating the Big Spring police department for about two months.

Assistant Attorney General Shane Phelps said the grand jury singled out a handful of cases, where officers could have used better judgment.

New board told..

Coliseum costs 'must come down'

County officials, addressing members of their new Coliseum Board for the first time Monday, stressed that the cost of operating the coliseum must come down.

"Right now, the more we use it, the more we lose," explained Precinct 4 Commissioner Jerry Gannaway.

"The cost has got to start coming down," said Precinct 3 Commissioner C.D. Gray Jr., as commissioners reviewed a summary of the facility's 1990-91 budget showing expenses of some $180,000 and revenues of only $40,000, a loss of $140,000.

County officials told the board they feel the loss could be reduced by implementing a new fee structure — the current one has been in place since 1979 — and by attracting revenue-generating events into the facility, which could be done through a promoter.

County Judge Bob Doolittle informed the board that a promotions line item of some $20,000 had been added to the coliseum budget for 1992. He acknowledged that additional funds will be needed if a promoter is hired.

Judge Doolittle told the board that Towle Park Barn will also come under the direction of the board.

Board members asked commissioners to prepare a formal charge for the board and also provide a job description for the possible promoter position.

Roy Carter became the 11th member to be named to the board. Judge Doolittle said the final member will be named soon.

Other members of the board, appointed during a meeting last week, are David Holt, Joni Gonzales, Art Feinsod, Donald Tate, Drew Bullard, Blanche Chisum, Shawn Ragland, Bruce Kalle-meyn, Bo Robinson and Eddie Eicke.

"You represent a cross-section of the county," the judge told the board. Members were chosen from rural residents, local merchants, the oil industry and those directly associated with the tourism industry.

One-third of the board will be appointed for a one-year term, another third for a two-year term and the other third for a full three- (see COLISEUM, page 8)

'Putting on Ritz' plans going well

Putting on the Ritz Community Theatre group confirmed Monday night that the formation of a local community theatre group is well underway.

About 20 people attended the meeting in which Roy Baze, Ricky Fritz, John Gayle, Paul Gilbert, Emily Hataway, Jerry Worsham, Mike Thornton, Janeen Patterson and Ellie Dryden were named to an interim board of directors to serve for 12 months. Snyder Chamber of Commerce will be acting manager for the organization.

The Ritz Theatre, donated by Glenn and Janeen Patterson, is on the agenda to be accepted by the city at the Dec. 10 council meeting. A request for hotel/motel tax funds will be made by the governing board to begin exterior renovation of the theatre, located on the south side of the square.

Estimated cost for the total renovation will be $100,000.

Serving on the renovation committee are Worsham, Janeen Patterson and Dryden.

Other discussion was held on architectural services and the projected opening of the theatre with a production the first week of July. With volunteer services considered, a total of $23,532.83 has been estimated for the cost of the exterior renovation.

Dryden and Thornton commented on the enthusiasm of the community and said further plans may be implemented following the building acceptance by the city.

Car tour set here in 1993

The 31st Grand Ole Tour will be held in Snyder in 1993, according to a vote taken in Big Spring on Sunday.

Members of the Big Spring Region of the Antique Automobile Club of America made the decision after hearing presentations from both Snyder and Big Spring chambers of commerce.

Ricky Fritz, Snyder chamber manager, made a presentation, accompanied by slides of city locations shown by club member and Snyder businessman Art Feinsod. Members from Snyder, Big Spring, Colorado City and Lamesa voted on the club site.

Kenneth Wood was chosen as tour chairman for the three-day event, which is expected to draw between 75 and 100 classic and antique vehicles to Snyder. Five cities participate in the Grand Ole Tour on a rotating basis. They include Abilene, which is hosting the 1992 tour, San Angelo, which hosted the 1991 tour, Midland and Amarillo.

Snyder hosted the tour in July of 1983.

Actual dates for the 1993 tour have yet to be determined and will be announced at a later time.

Feinsod said members who voted were impressed by Scurry County Coliseum facilities, which offered everything in one area, including outdoor display of the antique cars and space for the annual "car games," as well as trailer spaces. The Dodson House and Dermott School exhibits, Towle Park, Western Texas College and Scurry County Museum were other attractions mentioned.

Schools set for holidays

Snyder public schools students were to be dismissed at their regular times today and need not report back to class until Monday as the district honors three days of vacation for Thanksgiving.

Ira, Hermleigh and Western Texas College students all dismiss at various times Wednesday.

Hermleigh students will begin their holiday break at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Ira students get out at 2:30 p.m.

Fall classes at Western Texas College will dismiss at 1 p.m. Wednesday and dormitories will close at 2 p.m.

Dorms will re-open Sunday, Dec. 1, at 2 p.m. and classes will resume Monday, Dec. 2, for "pre-exam" week.

Insurance carrier accepted for Cogdell Hospital board

Cogdell Memorial Hospital board of managers accepted a recommendation for an insurance carrier and approved the monthly financial report during a 7:30 a.m. meeting today.

The board unanimously accepted CEO Tim Lancaster's recommendation to accept a Houston firm, Johnson and Higgins of Texas, as the carrier for trustees' liability insurance. Lancaster informed the board that the firm is endorsed by the Texas Hospital Association and the Texas Hospital Insurance Exchange. The annual premium will be $8,374, he noted, with a deductible of $25,000.

The financial report indicated a net loss to the hospital of $7,432 for October. Lancaster cited several reasons for the negative income, including higher than average indigent care costs.

The hospital maintains a cash balance of $1,044,072.

The monthly operating report for October listed an average daily census of 18.2 patients, 59 surgeries, 17 newborns and 870 emergency room visits.

Also discussed was a routine risk management/safety report and several informational items. Lancaster informed the board of a $10,000 donation from the hospital auxiliary to be used toward the purchase of cardiac rehab equipment.

Lancaster also noted that Kathryn Hanks, manager of medical records, will be retiring after 28½ years with the hospital.

Upcoming events for the hospital include the annual employee (see COGDELL, page 8)

Judges nix Bell's rate hike request

HOUSTON (AP) — Prices for directory assistance, call waiting and other services offered by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. should not be raised, judges for the state Public Utility Commission have said.

In two separate cases, PUC hearing examiners Monday recommended against the phone company's requests for higher rates for "custom calling" services and directory assistance, saying that the company offered no proof it needs the money.

Both cases will be decided by the full commission next month.

Southwestern Bell wants to raise the price of call waiting to $3.10 per month from $2.10 per month, and charge higher prices when customers opt for that service in conjunction with other services such as call forwarding, three-way calling and speed dialing.

For certain other combinations of features, customers would pay less than they do now.

The company also wants higher rates for directory assistance calls. Customers still would get three calls free each month, but would be charged 40 cents for every call after that. The current price is 30 cents.

The higher charges for custom calling would increase the company's revenues by $15.9 million. The proposed rates for directory assistance would add another $11 million.

62nd fireman's banquet scheduled here tonight

The annual fire department banquet — one of the oldest events in Scurry County — will be held this evening at Snyder Country Club.

Highlighting the 7 p.m. banquet will be the naming of the Fireman of the Year and the Fire Department Sweetheart.

"It's one of the oldest, if not the oldest, observances in the county," Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell said of the 62nd annual banquet.

State Rep. David Coates will be the guest speaker. Darrell Doty will provide entertainment.

Among the awards to be presented will be service pins and attendance awards. Gerrel Bigham will be recognized for 40 years of service. Others receiving service pins will be Albert Canon, 15 years, John Pilgrim, 10 years, and Sterling Williams, five years.

Receiving 100 percent attendance awards will be Malcolm Crawford, Breland Ledbetter, Robin Smauley, Jack Callaway, Perry Westmoreland, Garry Kubena, Larry Kubena, Kenneth Wood and Tommy Guynes.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The one time a home really feels like a castle is when the heater goes out."

Rusty Shannon, a former Snyder banker now living in Andrews, contends that after some recent national events, some folks need a lesson on the importance of telling the truth.

Shannon attended college in East Texas and became familiar with coon-hunting dogs. He told a story about some hunters who were particularly proud of their dogs and had one hunt that was different.

The dogs, after long and mournful baying, finally treed the coon, and the baying turned to furious yelping as the coon crawled to the uppermost branches.

By previous agreement, the hunters pulled all the dogs away from the trunk of the tree, leaving the best coon dog, Old Blue, to stand guard.

Also by previous arrangement, here came Wilbur and his trained monkey, Socrates, to administer the finale to the coon. Wilbur had trained Socrates well. The monkey had been trained to climb the tree, find the coon, pull out a pistol from his belt, cock it, shoot the coon and thereby save the hunters from the physical chore of climbing the tree.

Socrates moved into action. He shoved the pistol in his belt, snatched up the tree, and started making his way to the tallest branches.

Meanwhile, the coon had exercised his option to jump to a limb on another tree and another and another and disappeared into the night.

Socrates reached the upper limits of the tree, searched diligently for the coon, climbed several more branches, searched again, and finally concluded that no coon existed.

He slowly made his descent and once on the ground, he pulled the pistol, cocked it, and shot Old Blue.

Wilbur explained to Old Blue's master, "I forgot to tell ya, if there is one thing that Socrates hates worse than coons, it's a lying coon dog."

Demand for holiday aid is up

By The Associated Press

Whether you call it a recession, a double-dip or just a slow recovery, the weak economy is boosting requests for charity this Thanksgiving and forcing organizations to be more creative with fundraising or make do with less. "It's very difficult to raise more money because many of the people who used to give are now receiving," said Kay Wallick, executive director of the Mid-America Assistance Coalition in Kansas City, Mo.

Bill Thompson, 47, has been living at the Open Shelter in Columbus, Ohio, since July when he lost his job at a racetrack. Though he found work at a paper company this month, he will be spending Thanksgiving at a shelter. "It'll be something new for me. I have to put up with what I can do," he said.

Many charitable organizations said their caseloads are rising, and they cited the recession. "I've had a 30 percent increase in the first 10 months of this year over all 12 months last year," said Ruth Sheeter, executive director of the Housing Information Center in Kansas City, Mo. "Don't tell me that the recession is over. President Bush needs to walk with the people and find out what it really means."

"Many people who were barely making it at the beginning of the recession are getting to where there's nothing left and they have to ask for help," said Susan Stewart, administrative director of the Atlanta Community Food Bank. Many charities are trying new strategies to boost donations.

In Columbus, Ohio, the Mid-

Ohio Food Bank enlisted the local letter carriers union, whose members collected about 60,000 pounds of food during their rounds Oct. 26. That helped make up for a drop in donations from restaurants and other traditional sources, said executive director Matt Habash.

In Lewiston, Maine, Bill Blodgett of the Good Shepherd Food Bank said donations are steady or even up from last year because the state's largest supermarket chain, Hannaford Bros., asked suppliers to donate damaged goods. Good Shepherd, Maine's only food bank, distributes 3 million pounds of food a year to 400 agencies.

In suburban Cincinnati, developers of the Kenwood Towne Centre mall donated use of a vacant store to the St. John Social Service Agency. Customers come to The Miracle Center, not to shop but to drop off food, clothing and toiletries.

Habash said the recession has both hurt and helped fund-raising, making people more understanding of the poor but wary about their own situation. "They realize they could be only a paycheck or two away from that situation," he said.

YES youth, senior adults share activity together

Youth Exchanging With Seniors (YES) held its intergenerational activity last week. Senior adults from the Golden Terrace Housing development were invited to participate in a YES activity hosted by youth from Scurry County. The activity included a meal, YES video of the project and visitation with senior adults and YES youth. Twenty-four adults attended.

YES youth assisting with the activity were Brandy Burleson, Dena Atkinson, Lena Atkinson, Ample Hsieh, Tammy Voss, Kim Mitchell, Suzanne Holton, Lisa Duncan, Jennifer Beard and David Beard.

The activity was planned and conducted by the YES county resource team. Team members include: Luann Stover, Ira Home economics teacher, Nicci Beaver, Home Health Agency, Kathryn Roberts, county extension agent, and two 4-H youth, Charlie Busby and Jennifer Treve.

The YES project is an intergenerational program designed to develop relationships between youth and senior adults by providing assisted living services that enhance independent lifestyles of the elderly in rural communities.

YES is a cooperative effort of the Texas Tech University College of Home Economics, District 2 Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My brother died recently of mitral valve regurgitation. We are devastated by the loss and wonder if dental work while in the military, without benefit of antibiotics, might have aggravated the condition.

DEAR READER: Yes, it might have. The mitral valve is one of four valves in the heart. When diseased, it can either stick in a closed position (mitral stenosis) or in an open position (mitral regurgitation or insufficiency).

A small amount of regurgitation, marked by a murmur (extra heart sound) and slight backwash of blood through the valve, usually does not require repair. More severe forms, however, can lead to chronic heart strain, cardiac enlargement and heart failure. In such circumstances, surgical correction (or replacement) of the valve is necessary. In either case (mild or severe), the diseased mitral valve is especially susceptible to bacterial infection (endocarditis), an extremely serious complication. Patients with untreated endocarditis have an astronomically high mortality rate.

Dental procedures, including scaling and professional cleaning, release bacteria into the bloodstream. In people with normal heart valves, the body's defenses destroy the bacteria before they cause infection. However, these bacteria readily adhere to damaged heart valves, where they grow and gradually destroy the valves. This is the reason doctors and dentists routinely administer prophylactic oral antibiotics to such patients before and after dental procedures. The antibiotics kill the bacteria before the microorganisms have a chance to thrive.

If the military dentists failed to give your brother antibiotics in conjunction with the dental work and if he was known to have a defective valve, the dental manipulation could certainly have led to endocarditis and death, even if the patient had received the standard treatment for endocarditis, which is massive doses of intravenous antibiotics.

Although there are other causes of endocarditis (such as bacterial spread from pneumonia or other infections), from the information you supplied, there appears to be a cause and effect relation between the dental work and your brother's unexpected death. I recommend that you request his military medical records. The information contained therein could enable you to determine if a liability exists. At the very least, you could discover if your brother received standard preventive treatment.

Husband's Demand to Tape Sex Is Part of Troublesome Change

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Over the years, you have provided your readers with numerous comments and some helpful, serious advice. But, Abby, your age and the changing technology have caught up with you — and passed you by. The advice you gave "Living a Nightmare," whose husband wanted to videotape their sex act, was so off base. I had to let you know that you are out of touch with today's men and technology.

Today's women claim that the men in the U.S. Senate are not in touch with women's needs (Professor Anita Hill's charge of sexual harassment against Judge Clarence Thomas), and you are not in touch with today's men's needs. Abby, men have been capturing the sex act through photography since the invention of the camera. So, for your information, a man does not have to have a tumor on the brain to possess an age-old desire.

Abby, had you been up on the videotape technology available today and attuned to male desires, you would have given your correspondent at least one of the following options: 1. View themselves on the monitor without a tape in the camera. 2. Tape the act and she keeps the tape. 3. Make him agree that the two of them will be the only viewers of the tape. 4. Use the tape as a bribe to get all those things she's always wanted and couldn't get before.

Abby, you need either to retire or get a male adviser for males' problems.

ALPHONSE BUSH,

behavior had changed so noticeably that even his co-workers had mentioned it.

Furthermore, the issue was not the husband's wanting to videotape their sex act — it was his heavy-handed tactics. When she advised her husband that having their sex act captured on a videotape made her uncomfortable, he told her that he would not have sex with her again unless it was on film! And when she suggested they consult a marriage counselor, he flatly refused. After her husband had been "badgering her every night for two months," she finally wrote to me.

I have always felt that what happens in the bedroom of two consenting adults is their own business, providing they are both agreeable and neither is harmed. The wife felt that his request was degrading, but he continued to badger her; therefore, I concluded that his behavior was sick. Whether it was a symptom of a potentially life-threatening illness would have to be determined by a medical doctor.

I rest my case and stand by my answer, even though it's entirely possible that the husband was more brutish than brain-damaged.

P.S. I already have a male adviser. I sleep with him.

Agents seize ton of cocaine in one of Texas' largest busts

DALLAS (AP) — Law officials have seized more than a ton of cocaine at two East Texas locations and arrested five men on charges of conspiring to distribute the bricks, worth $240 million on the streets.

Of the five men arrested, two have been ordered held without bond, two have been released on bail and a fifth faces a judge today.

Charged with conspiracy to distribute cocaine, they could face a minimum of 10 years in jail to life without parole and a $4 million fine.

The seizure last week of 2,400 pounds of cocaine is the largest in the history of the Dallas offices of Drug Enforcement Administration and the U.S. Customs Services, whose regions encompass north, east and portions of south-east Texas.

The cocaine was packaged in 2,200 bricks, each weighing a half kilo, and was displayed Monday at the DEA's regional office.

Sorority gets tips on exercising by proper walking

Xi Alpha Alpha Theta met at the Snyder Country Club recently with Brenda Hedges presiding and Barbara Bills and Bette League hosting.

Jackie Buckland presented the program, "Walking." She told members that by walking just 15 to 20 minutes a day, a person can lose 10 pounds in a year. "Increasing the speed will lose the same amount in less time. Walking lowers cholesterol and triglycerides, keeps you physically fit, increases heart rate, tightens muscles and relieves tension," she said. She concluded by explaining that walking is the cheapest exercise, the only cost being associated with proper shoes.

Committee reports were heard, noting progress for holiday projects. The next social for members and guests will be Friday, Dec. 6, at the home of Larry and Barbara Bills.

The sorority will meet again on Dec. 3 with Jacalyn Lowrance and Patricia Warren as hostesses.

Holiday cookies

Homemade cookies are a traditional part of the holiday season. And Rose Beranbaum, author of "Rose's Christmas Cookies," has created a recipe that is easy, no-bake — and delicious.

Chocolate Butter Balls can be made in advance, to have on hand when guests drop by for an unexpected visit, or they can also be packaged in tins for gifts, or served as dessert with eggnog.

Chocolate Butter Balls
3 1/4 cups ground chocolate wafer crumbs (about one and one-half 9-ounce packages chocolate wafers)

1 and 1-3rd cups finely ground pecans

1 1/4 cups confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter, melted and cooled

1/4 cup light corn syrup
1/4 cup bourbon or water
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
Granulated sugar

Combine wafer crumbs, pecans, confectioners' sugar and cocoa in large mixing bowl. Stir in butter, corn syrup, bourbon and vanilla; mix well. Let stand at room temperature, covered, for 30 minutes to absorb liquid evenly. (Add water 1 tablespoon at a time if mixture is too dry.)

Roll level tablespoons of mixture between hands into balls. Roll in granulated sugar. Store in an airtight metal container in a cool place. Allow to mellow at least 24 hours. Reroll in granulated sugar before serving. Will keep up to 3 weeks at room temperature; will freeze up to 6 months. Makes 4 dozen cookies.

Time hovers o'er the contract

By Phillip Alder

In London, someone who wants to know the time asks, "What is the time, please?" When someone in New York asks me, "What time do you have?" I force myself not to answer, "A Seiko." As in life, timing is often crucial in the play of the hand.

Today's hand, from a tournament in the watch center of the world, Switzerland, is an interesting example. If you wish to challenge yourself, cover the East-West cards and plan the play in four hearts, West leading the diamond five.

North's three-heart bid over West's unsound takeout double was pre-emptive. With enough for a normal jump raise, North would have bid a conventional two no-trump. Holding 19 points, South felt justified in bidding game.

Without thinking too much, one declarer took the first trick with dummy's diamond king, cashed the A-K of hearts and ran the diamonds, discarding two spades from the dummy. However, West ruffed and returned a low club. Whatever South did next, he had to lose three black-suit tricks: one down.

The winning line was found by Janusz Polec of Poland, a world champion in 1978. He won the first trick in the dummy and led a club to the king and ace. West returned a diamond, and Polec cashed a third round, discarding a club from the dummy. Next he played the club queen, ruffed the club five in the dummy, drew two rounds of trumps ending in hand, and led the diamond jack. West discarded, but Polec put him on play with a trump. West had to lead a black card. Whichever he chose, Polec would lose only one spade trick: contract made.

Quiett gives program

The Scurry County Penwomen met on Nov. 20 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Foy Westmoreland. Dorothy Cox gave the invocation.

"The Sound of Poetry," was the title of the program given by Garet Quiett. She told the sound values of poetry: imagery, illiteration, verbs, onomatopoeia, rhyme, meter and tone. She read her poem, "Night Storm" as an example of using imagery, illiteration, strong verbs and tone. They bring the reader into the poem, she noted.

"A good poem is not a mere communication of meaning, but communication of a total response. One way to do this is read your poem aloud and act it out as your read. Shakespeare was an actor before he was a playwright and a playwright before he was a poet.

During the reading session, writers read their own poems. Bertha Warren read "A Diamond in the Sky," and "It'll Be Better Next Year;" Betty Boyd read "Good Samaritan," and "My Chattering Friends;" Sherry Bryant read "Lonely Cross," and "This Promise From Me;" and Betty Kellum read "Autumn."

Others were Schooler Samukawa reading "Wings," and her short story, "The Pet;" Janelle

Burk read "Tangled Yarn," and "Mass Removal;" and Christine Killgo read "Thoughts," from a book by Norman Vincent Peale.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. Burk gave the word of encouragement.

The group's next meeting will be a Christmas party Dec. 13 at 7 p.m. in the home of Bertha Warren, south of Hermligh. They invite interested writers to attend.

Lansbury not ready for autobiography

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't go to the bookstore looking for "My Life, She Wrote." Not yet, anyway. Angela Lansbury says that at 66 she's too young and too busy working to write her autobiography.

"It's taken Katharine (Hepburn) all these years to finally write her own book and she's 83," Lansbury said in Vogue's December issue.

"I don't know when I'm going to get to write mine, because I'm also a working woman and will remain so, I'm sure, right up to the high numbers of my life," said Lansbury, who plays novelist-detective Jessica Fletcher in the CBS TV series, "Murder, She Wrote."

Snyder boys, girls host cage contests

Snyder's boys' and girls' basketball teams will be in action today at Scurry County Coliseum. The Tigers host Midland Lee at 8 p.m. and the Lady Tigers entertain Abilene High in JV and varsity action, starting at 5 p.m.

In addition, Snyder's junior varsity boys will tangle with Lee at SHS at 5 p.m.

The Tigers are coming off an impressive 74-66 win over Class 5A San Angelo Central Saturday in which Snyder's post threesome of Hayward Clay, Jeff Wortham and Barron Wesley accounted for a combined 44 points.

Clay led the group with 22 points. Wortham scored 16 and Wesley contributed six.

The Tigers are 1-1 on the campaign which started Friday with a 61-59 loss to Andrews.

The Lady Tigers are 0-2 so far, with their most recent outing being a 71-26 loss to Eldorado Friday.

Junior guard Dena Ball scored 12 to lead Snyder in scoring.

Second-year girls' coach Laurie Welch feels like the Lady Eagles will present a stern challenge for Snyder.

"They have most of their team back from last year so you know they'll be tough," she said. "I think we'll see a running type offense and a pressing defense from them."

In other games of area interest today, Ira hosts Westbrook at 6:30 p.m. and Hermleigh entertains Abilene Christian High at 6 p.m.

Following tonight's game, the SHS girls will be off until next Tuesday when they travel to Coahoma to take on the Lady Bulldogs. The Tigers will next see action Saturday when they battle the defending District 3-4A champion Sweetwater Mustangs there.

11 Tigers named all-district Richardson and Clay both tabbed as two-way selections

LUBBOCK — Senior Hayward Clay and junior Charlie Richardson pace a group of 11 Snyder High School football players selected to the recently announced All-District 2-4A squad.

Clay, a defensive end and tight end for the loop runner-up Tigers, was named for the third straight year, his second season as a two-way selection.

Richardson was also a two-way pick, earning recognition as a guard and a linebacker.

Joining the pair on the mythical first team are Tiger teammates Chad Fox, a senior second-time selection at offensive tackle; and Mark King, also a second timer at defensive back.

Second team choices from SHS include senior defensive backs Locadio Luera and Roe Patterson; junior defensive end Ben Wilson; junior defensive tackle Todd Iglehart; sophomore Brad Hart at guard; senior tackle Dakon Hollingsworth; and junior kicker J. Parker.

Typail McMullen, Dunbar's all-everything running back earned district MVP honors while loop champion Estacado head coach Linn Kelley was voted Coach of the Year, for '91.

In addition, senior defensive lineman Jeff Nunn of Levelland was tabbed the year's defensive Most Valuable Player.

The rest of the first team offense includes center Joe Manus; guard Payton Williams; tackles John Upshaw and Curtis Draper; split end Richard Gilbert; running back Robert Johnson and quarterback Zebbie Lethridge of Estacado.

Also on the offensive roster are tackle Aaron McConic and running back McMullen from Dunbar; Frenship standout Chris Matthews at wide receiver; and Levelland's Esteven Golightly at running back.

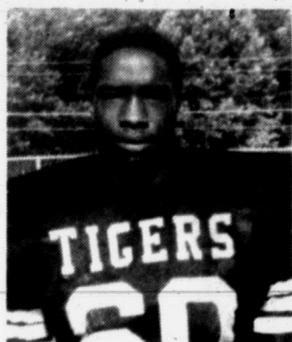

The first team defense is led by McMullen, Taje Allen of Estacado and Frenship's Matthews in the secondary.

Linebackers earning first-team recognition feature Richardson, Brant Wallace of Levelland, who also carried off top honors as the all-district punter, and Estacado's Bobby Whitehead.

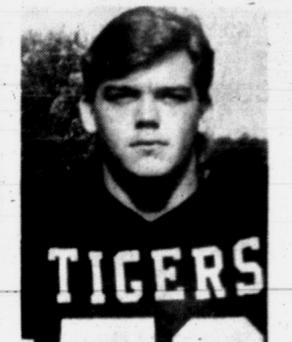

Estacado's Larry Issac, Justin Felts of Lamesa, Nunn and Frenship's Shawn Casali were tabbed first-team defensive linemen while Clay, Estacado's Richard Essix and Robbie Bergt of Levelland round out the picks at defensive end.

At Hawk Classic... Westerners tripped by Lamar

BIG SPRING — Lamar Junior College standout Troy Rivers slammed in 35 points to lead his squad to a 108-89 win over Western Texas College in the first round of the Hawk Classic at Howard College Monday.

"They shot the ball really well," said WTC head coach Kelly Green. "They hit a lot of threes and, obviously, we didn't defend very well."

The Colorado team hit eight buckets from three-point land Monday, including two from Rivers.

Western Texas answered with six treys of their own, including two each by Jon Gaston, Michael Crowe and David Owen.

While dismayed at the Westerners' defensive intensity against Lamar, Green felt like Crowe and fellow freshman Brent Murphy had a good offensive night.

Crowe led the WTC squad with 21 points and Murphy added 19. "Michael played really hard," Green said. "He went out and competed and had a good night."

"Brent has had a couple of bad games lately, so it was good to see him snap out of that and come up with some big plays." Also in double figures for the Westerners were Gaston, who put in 14 points, and Owen, who managed 12.

In Monday's late game at the Hawk Classic, host Howard College outlasted Cisco Junior College, 113-102.

LAMAR (108) — Nelson 5 2-2 12; Foster 1 4-4 7; Gardette 1 2-3 4; Williams 9 2-4 20; Briggs 5 0-0 13; Rivers 14 5-5 35; Cunningham 2 5-6 10; Clark 1 0-4 3; Johnson 2 0-2 4; TOTALS 40 20-30 108.

3-point goals: WTC 6 (Gaston 2, Crowe 2, Owen 2), Lamar 8 (Briggs 3, Rivers 2, Foster 1, Cunningham 1, Clark 1). Total fouls: WTC 22; Lamar 20. Fouled out: Outlaw. Halftime score: Lamar 54, WTC 49. Records: WTC 6-5; Lamar 6-5.

Snyder splits b'ball games

Page Patterson scored 12 points Monday to lead Snyder's eighth grade 'A' boys' basketball team to a 46-41 win over Andrews.

Snyder's eighth grade B team fell to the visiting Mustangs 42-31, in spite of an 18-point effort by Bryant Roberson.

Following Patterson in the A game was Beau McLeod and Jeff Hobbs with seven each, six apiece from Matt Parker, Marlowe Riggins and Robbie Huestis and two by Wayne Brazier.

Other scorers in the B battle included Chris Denson with six, four from Bubba Hildebrand, Ty Parks' two and one from Heath Gayle.

The eighth graders will be in action in Big Spring Saturday, Dec. 7, with games beginning at 10 a.m.

Aikman out for a month

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys will have to make the NFL playoffs without Troy Aikman.

The quarterback may miss a month because of a partial tear in the lateral collateral ligament of his right knee.

Backup quarterback Steve Beuerlein, who led the Cowboys to their victory over Washington on Sunday, will start even though he's limping with a sprained left ankle.

Aikman was injured in the 24-21 victory over the previously unbeaten Redskins when he was tackled by Charles Mann with 12:54 left in the third quarter.

Ex-KKK recruiter changed by rabbi's friendship, love

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — In the end, a rabbi Larry Trapp had once harassed softened the heart of the self-proclaimed Nazi and Ku Klux Klansman.

The rabbi did it by harassing Trapp right back — with friendship.

For more than three years, Trapp had spread a message of white supremacy and hatred through mailings and phone calls.

He was a self-proclaimed Nazi and Klan recruiter who called his Lincoln apartment the KKK's state headquarters and himself the grand dragon.

A life of trouble and trial had left the 42-year-old, clinically blind, double amputee, in his own words, "in too deep to get out by myself."

Then Michael and Julie Weisser entered his life.

Weisser, rabbi and cantor of the Congregation B'nai Jeshurun, received a bundle of hate mail from Trapp after he and his wife moved into their Lincoln home in September.

The mail was followed by phone calls from Trapp, who was convicted earlier this month of trespassing for leaving a message laced with racial slurs on a former neighbor's answering machine.

At first, the Weissers were so afraid they locked their doors and worried for their three teen-agers' safety.

Then Weisser decided to leave his own messages on Trapp's answering machine.

"The first time I called him, I said, 'Larry, you're going to have to answer to God for all of this someday,'" Weisser said.

"I probably called 10 times and left messages before he finally picked up the phone and asked me why I was harassing him. I told him I was the rabbi and said I'd like to help him. I offered him a ride to the grocery store."

Trapp started thinking. "When Michael started calling my racist hotline I could sense something in his voice that I hadn't heard before... something I hadn't experienced. It was love," a tearful Trapp said Monday.

Trapp called the Weissers on Nov. 16, the day after he was in court.

"He called me that night and said he wanted to get out, but didn't know how," Weisser said. "We grabbed a bucket of fried chicken and took him dinner."

Trapp gave the couple his swastika rings, his hate tracts and his Klan robes. The Weissers gave him a silver ring with a twisted strand design.

"I called it my brotherhood ring. Julie bought it for me several years ago. She said it could symbolize Trapp's twisted past," Weisser said.

The couple talked with Trapp for hours. "They showed me so much love that I couldn't help but love them back," Trapp said.

That same day, Trapp gave up his recruiting job. There are now only two Klan members believed to be left in the state.

Trapp had dinner Saturday at the Weisser home with John Ways, president of the Lincoln branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and the Rev. Dr. Norman Leach, executive director of the Lincoln Interfaith Council.

"He's made some promises, said he wants to apologize to a number of people, that he really wants a fresh start," Weisser said.

What about the skeptics? "To those people who don't believe that a person can change, I say, walk a mile in my shoes," Trapp said.

"Hate is like a seed," he said. "You feed it and water it and it grows into a tree beyond your control. You can't prune it anymore, you have to chop it down."

NYC students can get condoms

NEW YORK (AP) — Teachers and counselors in the nation's biggest school system begin handing out condoms on demand today during the early stage of a program that survived months of attacks by church and parents' groups.

The New York program is considered one of the most liberal because it does not require visits to health clinics or permission from parents.

Separately, volunteers from the group Gay Men's Health Crisis today planned to hand out 100,000 condoms and safe-sex instructions at subway stops during the morning and evening rush hour in one of the biggest such giveaways ever.

Beginning today, specially trained teachers and counselors in the school program will give condoms to any high school student who asks at one unidentified school in the city. Sex education counseling is optional.

Sixteen high schools will be phased in during the next two weeks. The Board of Education aims to make condoms available to 260,000 students at 120 high schools by the end of 1992.

Although New York City is home to only about 3 percent of the nation's 13-to-21-year-olds, it accounts for 20 percent of all AIDS cases in that age group.

Proponents said the program — part of beefed up, kindergarten-through-high school AIDS education — will slow the spread of AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases.

Hands moved further from midnight on Doomsday Clock

CHICAGO (AP) — The keepers of the Doomsday Clock turned back its hands today to 11:43 p.m. — its farthest point ever from nuclear midnight — to reflect the end of the Cold War. The clock, which appears on the cover of the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists and symbolizes the threat of nuclear war, had stood at 11:50 p.m. since March 1990, after a democratic tide swept Eastern Europe. "The Cold War is over. The 40-year-long East-West nuclear arms race has ended," the Bulletin said in an editorial today. "The world has clearly entered a new, post-Cold War era. The illusion that tens of thousands of nuclear weapons are a guarantor of national security has been stripped away." Since the magazine's founding in 1945 by scientists Chicago on the Manhattan Project to build the atomic bomb, the clock was closest to midnight — two minutes — in 1953, after the United States tested the hydrogen bomb. Until today, the clock was farthest from midnight — 11:48 p.m. — in 1963, after the signing of a test ban treaty, and again in 1972, when the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty was signed. The Bulletin's directors and editors determine the setting.

Dad commits suicide after accidentally shooting teenage son during hunting trip

TABERG, N.Y. (AP) — When Gene Bulak discovered he had shot and killed his son while hunting deer, he sent a fellow hunter for help. Then, standing over his son's body, he put his son's shotgun in his hand and pulled the trigger. The deaths of Bulak and his 18-year-old son Michael stunned this central New York hamlet of 400, where deer hunting is considered a rite of passage. "The kids all knew when they got here," said Donna Gordon, assistant principal at Camden High School, where Michael Bulak graduated last year. "It's a very small community." "Everyone's in too much shock to talk," said a woman at the Country Bumpkin, Taberg's only grocery store. Town Clerk Christine Broski, whose duties include selling hunting licenses, said youngsters look forward to getting junior licenses at 12 and big-game licenses at 16. The tragedy was particularly surprising because "Gene always stressed safety," she said. The deaths occurred Sunday while the Bulaks were on a hunting trip with three friends in woods near Cooperstown, about 50 miles from their home. Neither the father nor the son was wearing bright-colored safety clothing during the hunt, which was conducted in fog, rain and wet snow. Bright clothing while hunting isn't required in New York, but it is recommended. The Bulaks and the other hunters had split up to encircle a deer, said state police investigator Karl Chandler. Michael Bulak was in heavy brush about 150 yards from his father when the elder Bulak shot at a movement, then discovered he had mistaken his son for a deer, Chandler said. The teen-ager was shot in the head. Two hunters ran for help and Bulak sent a third. As they were returning 10 to 15 minutes later, they heard a shot as the man committed suicide with his son's gun. The elder Bulak, 41, was a truck driver for a wire company. The son left home earlier this year to attend Mohawk Valley Community College in Utica but returned for the hunting trip. Gordon, the assistant principal, said school counselors were on hand to comfort students and staff distraught over the deaths. Wrestling coach Wayne Edkin described Michael Bulak as a hard-working student with a good sense of humor. "He was a boy who was not particularly outstanding as a student or a wrestler — and I say that as a credit to him," Edkin said. "The fact that he had stuck with it all the way through his high school career is as important as any point I can make." Suddenly, he said, students are wondering about the safety of a sport they had taken for granted. "Some of them are saying, 'You know, I don't know if it's worth it,'" Edkin said. At least five hunting-related fatalities have been reported in New York state since the deer season opened Oct. 19. Ed Feldmann, spokesman for the state Department of Environmental Conservation, said the average annual number of hunting fatalities in the state over the past 10 years is eight. The National Safety Council said 138 people died nationwide in firearm-related hunting accidents in 1989, the last year for which statistics are available.

Another phase opens in redistricting court fight

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — The battle over the state's new voting boundaries has begun to wind down with a judge derailing one challenge and preparing for the end phase of another. District Judge Mario E. Ramirez on Monday denied a motion for a new trial to challenge the underrepresented minorities and diluted their voting strength, the suit says. The plaintiffs, several South Texas residents who said they were missed in the final tally, had asked Ramirez to force the state to redraw the lines. Ramirez did just that in August, ordering lawmakers to adjust population figures and remap the state accordingly. The state, which argued that it had no choice but to use the census count for redistricting, appealed to the Texas Supreme Court. Before the high court ruled, however, minority groups and 19 state senators reached an agreement on a Senate plan. Ramirez approved the settlement last month. That left only the House map, which in addition to being rejected by Ramirez was also declared invalid by the U.S. Justice Department.

Judge grants execution stay

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — "Disappointed is a fair way to describe it," Mark Murdaugh, whose parents were killed in the robbery, said early today when told of the reprieve. May, 45, was convicted of capital murder and sentenced to die for the June 27, 1978 shooting death of Jeanetta Murdaugh, 43. The woman's husband, Frank, 42, also was killed during the robbery at the couple's Western Auto store. Late last week, defense attorneys obtained affidavits from two witnesses, both ex-convicts, who said May was not involved in the robbery and slaying. The new evidence now will be presented to the 5th Circuit Court, where assistant Texas attorney general Bill Zapalac said the state would continue its fight to have May executed. "This is just a stay; it hasn't overturned the case. They have to

Police note burglary, two arrests

Snyder police worked a burglary Monday evening and made two unrelated arrests early this morning. Police were called to 2611 32nd St. at 9:51 p.m. Friday where Mrs. Hugh Birdwell reported that the home had been burglarized. According to the report, a VCR was taken. At 2:03 a.m. today, police arrested a 50-year-old male for driving while intoxicated in the 2100 block of Ave. R. Officers also arrested a 40-year-old male at 4:23 a.m. in the Town & County parking lot for public intoxication. Both subjects were taken to the county jail. Officers worked a minor accident Friday at 1:14 p.m. in the 2700 block of Hightown Dr. Involved were a 1990 GMC pickup driven by Floyd Kalka of Fort Worth and a 1985 Oldsmobile driven by Connie Fine of 3206 Irving. No wrecker or ambulance was needed. At 7:18 p.m. Friday, a woman notified police of a bag containing school books on 37th St. between Skinny's and the city barn. The bag was taken to the police department. At 5:03 p.m. Friday, Cogdell Memorial Hospital notified police of a dog bite victim. Fourteen-year-old Amy Vaughan of 2112 O'Neal Ave. was treated for a small laceration to the top of her left ankle and released. The owner of the dog took the animal to West Texas Animal Clinic for observation.

Congress struggles with final bills as end of session nears

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress struggled today to complete action on contested bills to fight crime, build highways and protect the bank deposits of average Americans as it aimed to end its session for the year. Above it all hovered concern about the economy. "Twas the night before recess, and all through the land, the economy was stagnant, employees were canned," intoned Sen. William Roth, R-Del., in a poem he read as the Senate convened for what lawmakers hoped would be the final day of the year. The $151 billion highway measure and banking bill remained the subject of negotiations between the House and Senate. The crime bill was thrown into jeopardy when it became obvious that House Democratic leaders could not muster the votes, even within their own ranks, to pass it. The bill was opposed strenuously by Republicans and the White House. The measure provides a five day waiting period for handgun purchases. It calls for expanded capital punishment, a provision that drew opposition from liberals. President Bush and many Republicans objected to provisions they said didn't go far enough to limit appeals by convicts or to permit prosecutors to use evidence seized without warrants. "The president has added an element of confusion and misinformation by suggesting it would weaken federal law," said House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash. There seemed no chance that Congress would enact a fresh tax cut to stimulate the economy, although there was plenty of talk of one. The White House announced its support for a plan crafted by Republican House members that would cut the capital gains tax. The Senate Finance Committee called a hearing on Democratic

Dry hydrant said 'extreme success'

The first dry hydrant installed west of Interstate 35 was demonstrated at a field day in Gail recently.

"The use of dry hydrants to assist rural fire departments to have easy access to a supply of water has been extremely successful in other states," said Charlie Henderson, president of the Big Country Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Area, Inc.

A dry hydrant is a non-pressurized pipe system permanently installed in existing ponds, lakes and streams to provide a ready means of a suction supply of water to a tank truck.

Tommy Guynes, assistant fire chief, and Kyle Cox, fireman with the Snyder Fire Department, demonstrated how the 4 1/2 inch hard suction hose is attached directly from the dry hydrant to the fire truck.

"We began drafting water 30 seconds after the pump was started. There was no problem in maintaining water to four lines. We were drafting up to 1,000 gallons of water a minute. Since I have been a fireman, I have never drafted so much water, so fast and so easily," stated Cox.

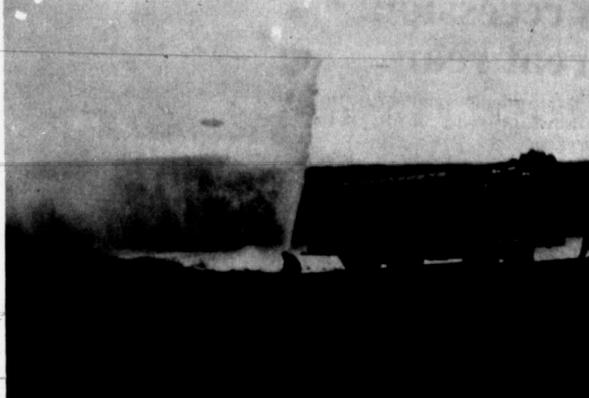

The Fluvanna and Gail Volunteer Fire Departments were on hand with their fire trucks. While two lines were attached to a deluge nozzle, the other two lines were being used to fill their trucks.

"KenMar Industries of North Carolina, manufacturer of the dry hydrant assembly, donated this unit to be used as a demonstration project," stated Borden County Judge Van York.

"The Borden County Commissioners Court installed the unit and the additional six-inch PVC pipe required to complete the installation was donated by the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District," said York.

"The use of dry hydrants will allow unprocessed water sources to be used for fire protection. This will allow small towns to better utilize their limited drinking water. Location of dry hydrants in rural areas will reduce the time required to refill tank trucks and save on energy costs," said Henderson.

The dry hydrant units can be ordered through the Big Country RC&D Area. For additional information contact Jimmy Apel, coordinator for the Big Country RC&D Area, at (915) 235-4300.

DRY HYDRANT — The Snyder Fire Department was able to draft 1,000 gallons of pond water per minute through the first dry hydrant to be installed in West Texas.

The hard freeze at Halloween and the cool, moist conditions which have blanketed area cotton fields since then are creating widespread problems for farmers trying to harvest their crop. But there are several adjustments or modifications to cotton strippers which might help reduce costly trash and bark content of stripped cotton, contend specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and U.S. Department of Agriculture.

When strippers pick up excessive amounts of leaves, bark from the plant stems and twigs with the desirable lint, the farmer is penalized in higher ginning costs and possible lowering of the grade in the ginned lint, noted Dr. James R. Supak, extension service cotton agronomist.

Working over the past several years with Dr. Alan Brashears, agricultural engineer with USDA Agricultural Research Service at Lubbock, Supak said several ideas for equipment modification have helped in some situations to improve turnout and grades for fields troubled by bark conditions. They are:

- *Allow fields, plants and cotton to dry before stripping, and strip only when humidity levels are low enough to allow the burrs to snap cleanly away from the fruiting limbs.

- *This is a tall order when moisture-laden frontal systems are coming through the area back to back and cotton needs to be harvested to reduce further weathering," Supak said.

- *Use the burr extractor if the stripper is equipped with one. For the extractor to work properly, the cotton has to be dry.

- *Space the stripper rolls as far apart as practical. Spacings should be widened until the machine begins to "string" cotton, or leave burrs and unopened bolls on the plant. On machines where such adjustments are easily made, the settings may need to be changed during the day as humidity levels change.

- *Consider using five brushes and one rubber bat per roll, rather than the alternate brush-paddle arrangement. After cotton gets dry and brittle, consider using the narrow bat modification.

- *Open the combing pans as far as possible — usually about 2.25 inches — or until some cotton is being lost, to allow more fine trash to fall to the ground. "This will remove about 25 pounds of trash per bale," Supak said.

Supak and Brashears said there are some more complex modifications producers can make which may improve turnout and possibly grade. These include:

- *Adding auger attachments: these require welding or bolting a one-inch length of 1-by-1-by-1/4-inch angle irons to the inside of the auger, approximately one per flight. These attachments tend to remove some of the burr and other trash material from the cotton and allow it to drop through the grates.

- *Add finger attachments to the front of the stripper to remove leaves and brittle stem materials prior to harvest. Or, run a tool such as a rolling cultivator across the top of the cotton to break off brittle stems and leaves.

Corn may help stop earworms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Corn from Mexico that is unsuitable for commercial production may help U.S. farmers stop corn earworms, a costly insect pest, without insecticides.

The corn has cornsilk so toxic to earworms that most of them die while munching on it, says an Agriculture Department report on the Mexican corn research project.

"Breeding this trait into U.S. corn is a strong possibility," according to Agricultural Research Service scientists.

"They've already identified the trace chemical that kills the earworms — it's called maysin," the report said. "It occurs naturally in the silk, and has no known effect on humans or livestock."

Most of us know what our clothing "size" is — or do we? Perhaps you too have wondered why a size 12 dress in one store will fit perfectly, yet another store's size 12 is too small or too large. This size variation can even occur in the same basic type of garment when it is made by different manufacturers. Be assured that your body weight and measurements are not mysteriously fluctuating. The problem lies with an inconsistency of a sizing standard throughout the apparel industry.

Ag Department plans Thanksgiving hotline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department's Meat and Poultry Hotline will have extended hours through the end of November, including Thanksgiving Day, to help consumers practice safe food handling. Home economists will answer consumer questions about turkey preparation and other food safety issues from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. CST weekdays. On Thanksgiving Day, the hotline will be open from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. CST.

"Consumers may jeopardize their turkey dinner by making common mistakes in handling and cooking," said hotline Supervisor Susan Templin Conley. "One of the hardest things we have to do is advise callers that the turkey they've worked so hard to fix may not be safe to eat." The most common mistakes include thawing the turkey on the kitchen counter, pre-stuffing the turkey the day before cooking or cooking the turkey at a low temperature for a long period. To keep that turkey safe to eat, Conley said, defrost it in the refrigerator, allowing one day in the refrigerator for every five pounds of turkey. You can defrost safely outside of the refrigerator if you can submerge the wrapped bird in cold water and add ice or new cold water every 30 minutes. Stuff the turkey just before cooking. To cook safely, set the oven no lower than 325 degrees and allow 30 minutes per pound for a stuffed bird. People who want to speed cooking time can cook the stuffing separately or use oven cooking bags. Call the hotline at 1-800-535-4555.

attempting to improve communications to consumers regarding size and fit.

A manufacturer establishes sizes by creating a model form that it feels reflects its customer. Therefore this means that company A's size 12 fits a different figure silhouette from company B's size 12. While model forms may be similar, the drape, shape, fit or dimensions could be adjusted at the discretion of the designer and the fabric utilized.

Human shapes vary. Style sometimes prevents standard garment sizes from being maintained. U.S. apparel manufacturers strive towards this consistency and similar sizings even when most bodies vary considerably in height, weight and shape. This inconsistency also extends to the letter-type size labels. Again each manufacturer has its own size standards as well as its own perception of what a "small" dimension should be, based on the garment it manufactures.

AG wins court order

AUSTIN (AP) — A Pearland medical waste incinerator has been ordered to stop exceeding its permitted burning capacity.

National Medical Waste of Texas, Inc., allegedly burned more than its limit set at 1,000 pounds per hour and no more than 20,000 pounds per day, according to a lawsuit filed Monday by the state attorney general's office.

A state district court issued a temporary order to prohibit the company from burning anymore than that limit.

But Paul Seals, an Austin attorney representing National Medical Waste of Texas, said, "There has been no verification of any kind of air pollution resulting from the operations of that plant.

He said the state's permit actually allows the plant to burn more than 1,000 pounds per hour, but that since July when state officials said the limit was less, the incinerator has complied.

The incinerator burns medical waste, including human body parts. But Seals said that body parts make up only 1 percent to 5 percent of the company's business.

Expiring provisions will be reviewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is preparing to extend 12 expiring tax breaks, including a credit that subsidizes low-income housing and creates 100,000 jobs a year.

Lawmakers were considering extensions of the provisions under rules that would bar any other tax amendments, including President Bush's proposed capital-gains tax cut and Democratic plans for reducing the tax burden on middle-income families.

A bill renewing the provisions through next June 30 was approved by voice vote Monday by the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee.

Floor votes were expected before Congress begins its year-end recess this week.

"Welcome to the season of giving," Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., announced to a mob of lobbyists who filled his Ways and Means Committee room. But he cautioned that "any amendment at any stage will jeopardize passage of this emergency legislation."

Each of the 12 provisions has considerable support, and six of them have the administration's backing. Combined in one bill, the 12 are nearly unstoppable.

With Congress and the administration unable to agree this year on any major anti-recession legislation, the expiring tax breaks are being hailed by lawmakers as a boost for the economy. The prime example is the low-income housing credit, which Bush backed in the budget he sent to Congress in February.

The extensions "are very welcome news for the economy," said Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., who led the fight to renew the provisions without any unrelated amendments. "The provisions serve important national needs and create jobs and economy activity," he said, noting estimates that the housing credit alone is worth 100,000 jobs a year.

The housing credit is the most popular of the dozen tax breaks. It is a credit of up to 70 percent for investors who put their money into the rehabilitation or construction of rental housing for low-income families.

Two of the other provisions are elements of Bush's economic-growth plan. These are a credit for businesses that increase spending for research and special rules that dictate how multinational companies deduct research expenditures against foreign and domestic earnings.

Two of the dozen tax breaks are employer-financed fringe benefits for employees.

Texas sidesteps recession; but still not a great year

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas sidestepped the worst of the national recession for the fiscal year ending in August, but still did not enjoy a great economic period, the state comptroller's office said.

In the November issue of Fiscal Notes, the comptroller's office reported Monday that in Texas, personal income increased, and non-farm employment rose for the fourth year in a row since the 1986-87 slump.

In addition, Texas generated more jobs in fiscal 1991, than any other state.

But the recession did leave its mark, the report said.

State unemployment rose and manufacturing employment declined.

"The recession hurt us, no question; growth was slower than in 1990 and many Texas companies felt the impact of the nationwide slowdown," State Comptroller John Sharp. "But in spite of the sour U.S. economy, we kept expanding, gaining new jobs and new businesses," he said.

The report said that the Gulf Coast region led the state in adding new jobs, fueled by a wave of expansion in the oil and gas business.

THE SECRET WORD — 1992

Astrograph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Nov. 26, 1991

You might be able to successfully finalize an endeavor in the year ahead that's been causing you aggravation for quite some time. Everything will seem worthwhile once it's properly locked down.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be easily aroused to righteously defend your beliefs today. This will come automatically; you'll have implicit faith in your position. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astrograph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Trade on the business acumen of a trusted associate today. With this individual serving as the guiding light, your joint endeavor appears more promising.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you sense that making concessions can be utilized for your ultimate benefit, you're right. Giving is the key to getting.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your probabilities for success in career situations will be considerably enhanced today — if your target is clearly defined. It's better to have one goal rather than many.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Even though it's only Tuesday, some form of social or recreational activity could improve your mind-set for the balance of the week. Select endeavors that give you a lift.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A substantial portion of your time today might be devoted to looking out for the needs of others. You won't be compelled to do this; it will be of your own volition.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There's a strong possibility you might devise a rather ingenious concept today and, since you're also a good salesman, you'll possess the dynamic combination that spells success.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Since you'll be inclined to be generous today, spend your resources on something you'll enjoy that also provides pleasure for others in your company.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not let others do for you today what you are eminently qualified to do for yourself. Delegating could be deleterious.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll be more effective today playing a supportive part in a collective arrangement than you will be playing the starring role. Position yourself where you'll be able to do the most good.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be optimistic regarding your present involvements; things have an excellent chance of working out as you anticipate. Positive thinking accelerates the process.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You could be most fortunate today in your material affairs. Additionally, others will admire the way you handle things and their approbation will enhance your image.
