

Blakley Carries County, Wins In State Vote

County voters gave Wm. A. Blakley a 61-39 vote over the G. Tower in the runoff Saturday. Blakley, a Democrat, won by approximately 400 votes to win the seat in the Senate.

A. M. Turner Sr., 63, prominent civic leader and a director of the Haskell National Bank, died at the Haskell Hospital after suffering a heart attack at his home about 5 a. m.

Death of the popular ex-banker, farmer and stockman, came as a distinct shock to the community and a host of friends. Although he had suffered a serious heart ailment several years ago, he apparently had recovered and had been active in his farming and stock-raising interests lately.

Funeral for Mr. Turner was held at 4 p. m. Wednesday in the First Methodist church where he was an active member and a member of the board of stewards.

Officiating for the service was the Rev. J. V. Vestal of Central Baptist Church, the Rev. M. D. Rexrode, First Baptist Church pastor, and the Rev. Oscar Bruce, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Burial was in Willow Cemetery under direction of Holden Funeral Home.

Mr. Turner came here in 1933 from Jayton, to become active vice president of the old Farmers and Merchants State Bank. He later became president of the bank and held that post when it was purchased by the Haskell National Bank in July, 1947. Since then he had been on the board of directors of the Haskell National Bank.

During his long residence here, Mr. Turner was actively interested in church, school and community affairs. He had served as a trustee of the Haskell Independent School District, and was a member of the City Council from 1948 until 1954.

An active adult worker in the Boy Scout organization, he had received scouting's highest award in recognition of work done, the Silver Beaver award. It was given him in 1953 by the Chisholm Trail Council, of which he was a national member.

Mr. Turner was born April 17, 1898 in Comanche County. He married the former Miss Maxine Tate Jan. 13, 1920, at Meridian, Miss. She died in 1956. On April 17, 1960, he married Mrs. Pearl Monke of Weirnet.

He is survived by his wife, of Haskell; two daughters, Miss Mary Turner of Haskell and Mrs. Janet Owen of Tahoka; two sons, Jimmy and A. M. Turner Jr., of Haskell; two step-daughters, Mrs. Winnie Donald of Stuttgart, Germany, and Mrs. Alpha Mary Stark of Mount Pleasant, Tenn.; one sister, Mrs. Mary Pike of Welch, Texas; and nine grandchildren.

Active pallbearers were A. R. L. Burton, John Rike, J. A. Ryann, Roy Johnson, Tom Barnfield, Stanley Furrh, H. K. Henry, Oliver Cunningham. Named as honorary pallbearers were E. R. Lowe, Bob Herren, D. H. Persons, T. B. Robinson, Clay Hattox, Clay Smith, Hill Oates, Jack Pippin, Buford Cox, Dr. T. W. Williams, Raja Hassen.

Rep. Wheatley (Carl) Wheatley returned Tuesday afternoon from Austin, following close of the Legislative session Monday at midnight.

Commenting on the last minute effort to pass the Senate's version of a revenue bill, based on a sales tax, Rep. Wheatley said he voted against the proposed measure because it was inequitable and would tax "Bibles, baby diapers, children's clothing and school supplies, among other things, while not taxing beer and other liquor."

Rep. Wheatley said Gov. Daniel's call for a special session July 10 would enable legislators to make a sincere effort to work out a tax revenue bill that would be fair.

Johnny Holt Is Seriously Hurt

Johnny Holt, 22, of Haskell, is in critical condition in Bethania Hospital, Wichita Falls, from injuries suffered late Saturday afternoon in Vernon.

Young Holt, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Holt, received a fractured neck when he dived into a swimming pool at a motel in Vernon.

Young Holt, who had graduated from Midwestern University with honors on Friday night, had gone with other MU students to attend the wedding of a classmate in Vernon.

After attending a rehearsal, Holt and others in the party returned to the motel for a swim in the motel pool.

The injured youth was rushed to the Wichita Falls hospital, where little hopes were held at first for his recovery.

His parents have been at his bedside since the accident. Reports from the hospital Tuesday evening were to the effect that young Holt had passed the crisis and was somewhat improved. He was able to talk briefly with his parents and friends.

His doctors said he was still partially paralyzed from his shoulders down, and that recovery would be slow.

Water Permit Hearing Has Surprise Testimony

Upturn Signs In Hardgoods

One of the harder hit segments of the nation's economy in the recent recession was hardgoods, including autos and appliances. Much has been written about the resurgent customer interest in autos, sparked by the compacts. Now comes good news from appliances, with reports from Electrical Merchandising and other trade sources of increased activity at retail in home goods classifications.

A sign of the times is the repetition by the General Electric Company and G. E. appliance dealers of an annual "Trainload Sale" activity, reported by G-E's district office in Dallas. Dealers in the North Texas and Southern New Mexico areas have combined in placing carload orders on G-E's Louisville factory, making up a solid trainload with a retail value of approximately $2,500,000, G-E reports.

For this promotional event the manufacturing facility has made available specially produced and priced models of refrigerators, ranges, washers, dishwashers and freezers. Dealers are expected to advertise these goods and the "Trainload Sale" June 1st.

Opponents of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority, who have been fighting the project with a claim that Lake Stamford is a better and cheaper water supply, ran into strong contradiction in Austin Tuesday.

Mayor J. E. Walling Jr., and members of the City Council, along with their attorney, James Wilson of Austin, Tex., heard surprise testimony that Lake Stamford will not have a sufficient water supply for its present users after 1960.

This fact was brought out in the initial day of hearings Tuesday on an application by NCTMWA for a reservoir on Miller Creek.

Judge Otho Dent of Littlefield, a member of the Board of Water Engineers which is conducting the hearing, said a recently-completed engineering report indicated Lake Stamford's future inadequacy.

Judge Dent told both sides that no water was available from the Stamford reservoir after 1960. He said this had been brought out by recently-completed engineering reports for the state-wide water committee.

This announcement obviously surprised Mr. Wilson, whose firm reportedly had been paid a $1,500 fee by the City of Haskell out of water department funds to represent Haskell in opposing granting the permit. He had been basing his arguments on a claim that a cheaper and better water supply could be obtained from the Stamford reservoir.

Opponents quickly called for a recess during which time Mayor Walling, Councilmen and Wilson grouped to plan further strategy.

Tuesday's hearing was sparked with Haskell politics as Board Chairman Durwood Manford repeatedly warned that the board was interested only in the application and not in local rivalries.

On hand for opening of the hearing Tuesday were approximately 60 persons from Haskell, Rule, Goree and Munday, member towns with Haskell in NCTMWA.

Testifying in behalf of the water authority and the proposed Miller Creek Reservoir were Mayor V. S. Moore of Munday, Rule Water Superintendent Aubrey Simpkins, Ernest Williams, president of the Rule C. of C., Donald Davis, Rule city councilman, Mayor J. W. Lanningham of Goree, Haskell County Health Officer Dr. T. W. Williams, Haskell Fire Marshal R. A. Lane, John Kimbrough, Haskell businessman, and Roy Johnson, Haskell banker.

Letters were entered as exhibits from Knox City and Aspermont pointing out those towns' interest in becoming customers to buy water from the Authority.

NCTMWA President R. W. Herren gave some of the background for the financing of the Authority. He said that no tax levy was made in 1959, but there had been one in 1960. He said tax collections for the Authority had totaled 80 to 83 per cent, which he considered good. He pointed out that tax rate collections at Haskell were 68 to 69 per cent "in spite of Haskell residents being told not to pay" by opponents of the project.

New Liquor Stores Reportedly Doing "Land-Office" Business

Liquor stores in Justice Precinct 4 along the Haskell-Jones County line reportedly were doing a booming business since opening last week-end. At least 12 stores were opened Friday, after operators had received final approval on their permits or license from the State Liquor Control Board in Austin.

Eight of the liquor and beer stores are located on the north outskirts of Stamford, along State Highway 277. Locations range from 20 feet north of the Haskell-Jones County line to one-half mile, on both sides of the highway.

Two of the stores are located south of Sagerton, on Tuxedo F.M. 1661 near the Haskell-Jones County line, another is located on US 277, and the fourth is 6.2 miles south of Rule on State Highway 283.

Members of the Sheriff's department and the State Highway Patrol said that a noticeable increase in traffic has been evident on US 277 from both north and south, since the liquor stores have been open.

Whether this heavier traffic will continue is problematical. Some officers believe traffic will taper off as "the new wears off" in what has always been "dry" territory in regard to sale of liquor.

STUDY IS BEING MADE OF FINDINGS IN CITY AUDIT

The report of Lester Barry, Abilene certified public accountant, on the initial phase of his audit of the municipal records of the City of Haskell, is being studied by a Citizens' Committee which is having the audit made.

Some of the findings in the audit are to be referred to legal counsel retained by the citizens' group, John Kimbrough, chairman of the committee said. Careful study of the audit findings to date will be necessary in determining the next steps to be taken, it was explained.

In addition to the phase of the audit just completed, it is expected that further studies will be made covering a period of several years.

Mr. Barry, in reviewing the work he had done to date at a recent meeting of the citizens' group, complimented the manner in which the City Secretary, T. J. Arbuckle, had recorded all the city's transactions.

Announcement was also made last Friday that E. J. Stewart, Haskell machine shop and garage owner, had replaced Halie Chapman on the sub-committee of the Citizens' Committee, Chairman Kimbrough said that Chapman, who is administrator of the Haskell County Hospital, is too busy with hospital duties to serve on the committee.

Impertinence

Impertinence of public servants reached a new high in the State of Washington. A bill was introduced in the Washington Legislature to prohibit service station operators from exhibiting signs showing how much gasoline tax motorists have to pay.

Gasoline taxes—federal and state—now total an average of about ten cents a gallon. Gasoline is a necessity and yet the tax on it is far higher than on luxuries.

Is the public supposed to accept this abuse of the taxing power without a murmur? Apparently so, if legislation such as proposed in the State of Washington is adopted.

Strictly From the Birds

The daintiest sparrow can perch on a power line carrying several hundred thousand volts and never singe a feather. Man may not be able to fly like a bird but he has learned to "perch" on hot wires.

Linemen can now work barehanded on high-voltage lines while standing in a fiberglass bucket hoisted to overhead wires by a truck-mounted, insulated aerial boom.

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

For the first time in history, Texas voters elected a Republican as United States Senator last Saturday, when John G. Tower nosed out Democrat candidate Wm. Blakley by a bout 7,000 votes out of almost one million polled.

Despite the closeness of the vote, strangely missing are the screaming charges of "illegal votes," and "election irregularities" that followed the close presidential vote last fall.

Evidently, it depends altogether on whether a Republican or Democrat candidate is leading as to whether a close vote can be accepted without question.

Although the Haskell area has been in what might be called a mild drought for about two months, at least the hail storms and tornadoes have all so passed us by.

June brings the anniversaries of at least two disastrous storms, one in 1909, and another in 1930, when rain, hail, and windstorms caused loss of life and heavy property damage.

As a rule, this section's storm season is over by mid-June. But until then, weather-wise old-timers keep a close eye on every threatening cloud, ready to make a quick dash to a cellar for safety.

Last Thursday evening brought a bad-looking cloud, but fortunately the worst feature was a severe electrical disturbance and a few minutes of pouring rain.

In one respect, the threatening storm did a good turn by settling what might have been a dispute over a minor automobile collision.

A few minutes before the storm hit, officers here were notified of a two-car collision on the highway about seven miles south of town. They started to the scene to investigate just as the storm broke. Slowed by the dashing rain, they were kept jumpy by the vivid lightning and crash of thunder, but kept going.

When they reached the vicinity of the reported accident, no cars were found. Officers continued cruising up and down the highway for several miles and still no vehicles were seen.

Finally they concluded the cars involved had sustained little if any damage, and that in view of an incipient storm, owners had decided against braving the elements just for the sake of an investigation.

Since opening of the liquor stores on the south county line along US Highway 277, a suggestion is gaining support that change of the traffic artery be changed to "Bourbon Drive."

Streams of cars on the highway Friday and Saturday nights were reminiscent of football at mid-season, officers said. If all the traffic was occasioned by opening of Prec. 4 liquor stores, the establishments did a landoffice business.

In Stamford, the mushrooming development of the area of Prec. 4 which adjoins the city limits is becoming known as "The Strip" because of the blaze of brilliant neon signs.

Actually, to a stranger, it would seem that many of the beer and liquor stores are located in the town of Stamford, since the north outskirts of the city have gradually extended into Haskell County.

So, for all practical purposes, voters of Prec. 4 have made Stamford a "wet" town and zoned the area in which alcoholic beverages may be legally sold.

One of our statistically-minded scouts has come up with a surprising report on the depression which has hit the bootlegging industry which once thrived in Haskell and (so we are told) Stamford, since sale of beer was legalized in Prec. 4 last fall, and now hard liquors are included. He estimates that no fewer than 116 former bootleggers have gone out of business in the two towns!

WTU Advertising Is Award Winner

West Texas Utilities Company has won outstanding honors in the field of advertising in the 38th annual Better Copy Contest sponsored by the Public Utilities Advertising Association. The announcement was made by May 4 at the association's annual convention in Detroit.

WTU received a second place award for a single newspaper and magazine advertisement—an area development which appeared in national newspapers and magazines in 1960.

The winning advertisement, "A Good Place to Hang Your Industrial Hat" was produced by the Curtis Haulbee Advertising Agency of San Angelo under the supervision of Dan Jones Castles, WTU Advertising Manager. This ad is one of a series used for the past four years by WTU to assist in the development of West Texas nationally.

West Texas Utilities Company has been a consistent winner in the Better Copy Contest during the past 10 years and has won many first place and second place awards in several categories, including display advertising, window displays and publications.

It is said to have been a mile wide and struck several farms, beating the leaves on corn that was waist high to frazzles and breaking down some that was smaller. Garden stuff and young cotton were obliterated and will have to be re-planted, and wheat and oats in the path of the storm, were almost totally destroyed.

Ranchmen Told Of Spread of Poisonous Plant

By F. W. MARTIN County Agent

Ranchmen in the western half of Texas are advised to be on the alert for an invader that is spreading threadleaf or woolly groundsel. G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist, says the gray-green, yellow flowered plant is now about 18 inches tall and the flowers are too mature to use chemicals for control as the seed would mature after the chemical application.

The plant is a member of the senecio family and is especially toxic to cattle. The senecios contain an alkaloid poison that usually causes abnormal births in cattle and possibly some abortions, according to Hoffman. He adds that cattle which are grazing senecios usually have yellow on their noses. He suggests that they be moved to a pasture which is free of the plants. Heifers with their first calves usually are the heaviest grazers of senecios.

Since it is too late to use chemicals for controlling the plants, Hoffman suggests that a sharp-shooter shovel or a grubbing hoe be used to dig up the plants. They should be hauled immediately from the pasture, stacked and burned to kill the seed. If the plants are dug and left on the pasture, cattle will graze them when they begin to dry and the seed may also be scattered by the wind. Hoffman emphasizes the need for digging the plants immediately to stop the spread of this range invader.

Every year more and more Texas cotton is machine harvested, resulting in a larger supply of cotton burs at the gin. To dispose of these burs, most ginners burn them, thereby increasing the fire hazard.

Research by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has proven, however, that there is a better use for this gin waste. These burs, when applied to the land, will increase cotton yields. In a four-year study at Lubbock, the use of cotton burs under non-irrigated conditions increased lint yields by an average of 27 lbs. per acre, and the residual effect increased yields by 28 lbs. per acre for five years.

Liberal application of burs resulted in a better soil-water relationship, thus letting crops use the available moisture more effectively. Soils to which cotton burs have been added are also more resistant to wind and water erosion, and they may have a better infiltration rate.

Angular leaf spot, verticillium wilt or cotton seedling diseases have not shown any increases on land receiving six applications of burs at Lubbock. In years favorable to

Nine Teens Count Graduation Night As Their Most Memorable Moment

(In this concluding article, The Nine Teens tell of their plans for the future.—Ed.)
By JO COX

The nine girls agree that graduation night was probably the most memorable moment. Also included was the last concert and the Rotary District Conferences.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Herren's daughter, Jan, who plans to teach English or speech in high school some day, will begin summer school June 6 at Abilene Christian College. Jan says the Nine Teens would never have become an active musical group without the Bells. "The Bells have given so freely of their time—the real credit must go to them. It would be impossible to ever repay them."

Jane and June Bell, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bell, will teach twirling this summer and will enter McMurry College this fall majoring in elementary education. These girls give the credit for their success to the people of Haskell "who have really pushed us along." Both enjoyed their performances with the "Sons of the Pioneers."

Much of the credit for the smoothness with which the Nine Teens perform goes to their faithful and efficient accompanist, Linda Speer, say Margie and Hubert Bell. She can sing any of the three voices and on several occasions has substituted in one of the sections. Linda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Speer, will enter Abilene Christian College as a music major this fall and will teach piano this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jirek's daughter, Carol, says she is going to attend North Texas State this summer and rest. She will major in secondary education or music. Carol's most memorable moment was her role as "Madame Butterfly" in the Negro Minstrel.

Janice Hattox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Hattox, will attend Glenn and Lottie's Beauty School in Abilene this summer and fall with hopes of becoming a licensed beautician.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hopp's only daughter, Twyla, is going to recuperate this summer. This fall she will enroll in the Nixon-Clay Business School in Austin. She says that the "Nine Teens has afforded many memorable moments for all of us."

Dorothea Rueffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rueffer, plans to work this summer and will attend McMurry College and major in business and fine arts this fall. "It," she says, "has been three wonderful years of work, play, frustrations and happiness."

Suzanne Lane Starr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lane, and the first of the group to marry, is now living in Waco but will return for the last concert and graduation. She and her husband, Robert Starr, will make their home in Waco where Robert is a student at Baylor University.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bynum's daughter, Jane, hopes to work this summer and attend McMurry College this fall with a major in elementary education. Jane also expresses gratitude to the Bells for all the time and patience they have given to the girls and to the people of Haskell for being so encouraging and receptive during the Nine Teens' three years.

Certainly the story of the Nine Teens could not be told without praising the parents of the girls. They have provided costumes, transportation, moral support and their children, for some 140 performances in Haskell and surrounding towns. They will miss this group as much or more than any one.

A grateful note goes to the long-suffering beaus who have had many a late date during the past three years. They have spent as many hours waiting as the girls have rehearsing.

To the Bells a word of thanks for making their dream come true and for continuing this talented vocal group with the 1961-1964 Nine Teens.

To the original Nine Teens you will be missed and remembered. Haskell wishes you the best in the happy days ahead and thanks you for the fine contribution you have made to your town and to yourselves.

Arrow Heads Make Subject For New Book

A Texan who has collected more than 40,000 arrow heads in the last 25 years has written a book under the title of "Arrows Over Texas." It is reviewed in the May issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine, out this week.

The author is R. S. Reading, mayor of Corsicana. He is a retired public utility executive who started his interesting hobby in El Paso, some 25 years ago. Since then, he and his family have hunted arrow heads and Indian artifacts all over the southwest.

His present collection, numbering approximately 45,000, has been classified and mounted. They occupy a large room in the Navarro Junior College at Corsicana. He presented the collection to the college, and it is studied by students and archaeologists interested in early-day man.

Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford Named President Pro Tempore

Sen. David W. Ratliff of Stamford, a quiet, easy-going personable man who "grew up" in Haskell where his mother, Mrs. L. D. Ratliff Sr., three brothers and a sister still live, Monday was elected president pro tempore of the Senate of Texas and will serve between now and the next session of the Legislature.

One of the days between now and that day of reconvening, in accordance with custom, he will be Governor-for-a-day and his friends will celebrate with flowers, gifts and a gala banquet.

Sen. Ratliff's wife, Priscilla; his two daughters, Lynnora, a student at Baylor University; and Janie, his son John, his wife's father, J. A. Gladish of Austin, were present for his swearing in Monday.

Only his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David L. Ratliff of Lubbock, and their children, Robert and Rebecca, of the family circle were absent.

Senate President Ratliff, now 48, has served in the Legislature for the past 10 years. He was in the House as a representative in the 52nd and 53rd Legislatures and was elected to the Senate to succeed the late Harley Sadler in the 54th legislature.

The quiet, easy fellow, from Jones County made about as long a speech as he ever finds necessary, when he thanked his colleagues, said he didn't know he was as good as he had been painted by them and enjoyed membership among such a group.

Ratliff had been nominated by Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe whose district adjoins on the north with seconding speeches by Sens. George Parkhouse, Dallas; Frank Owen, El Paso; Ray Roberts, McKinney; Dorsey Hardeman, San Angelo, Wardlow Lane, center; Hubert Hudson, Corpus Christi and Preston Smith, Lubbock. Through all of the speeches ran this single theme: "He studies awhile before he answers and when he answers he's on record and you never have to look back for a change in the signals."

Sen. Ratliff was born in Wise County and was moved with his family to Haskell in early youth where his father, who had practiced law in Wise County and earlier during a sojourn in Indian territory had been a territorial chancellor, resumed the practice of law.

Law and public service seem to run in the Ratliff family with accent on legislative service. During a considerable portion of the last half century a member of the Texas Legislature. The late W. H. Ratliff, for many years tax attorney and Legislative representative of the Texas Power and Light Company, came to the House of Representatives in 1911 from Quanah where he was practicing law. That was the year Sam Rayburn was speaker of the Texas House. That Ratliff was an uncle who studied law in David's father's Haskell office. David's brother, Dennis Ratliff, came to the House from Haskell in 1931 and served two terms before he was appointed district judge of the 39th Judicial District by Governor Allred.

David Ratliff escaped the law only because the depression overtook him while he was a student at North Texas State

Chaplain Robt. Barnett and Family Living Near Fabled German Castle

Friends here will be interested in learning that Chaplain and Mrs. Robert Barnett and girls now live in Darmstadt, Germany, famous for the Frankenstein Castle, once legendary, now tourist attraction.

Mary Shelley, wife of a British poet, Percy Shelley, is said to have been inspired by a dream and a half-serious pact with friends, to write her greatest novel, "Frankenstein." A ruined castle near Darmstadt and the local tale of an odious monster that stalked the countryside also played a role in the creation of the 19th century romance of the overzealous doctor who found a way to breathe life into a man made body.

tower some 1200 feet above the Rhine valley.

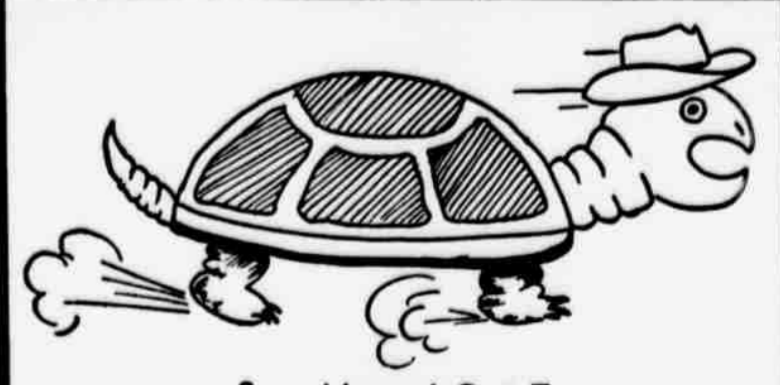

The Barnetts have been several times to this Castle, and although they have not seen the monster, one member of the family, Marguerite, is sure he is there.

Chaplain Barnett is Post Chaplain of the Darmstadt Community which has an average Sunday School of over 450 in attendance each Sunday. The Barnetts expect to take a trip this summer into Switzerland, Italy, France and Holland.

The castle was completed in 1252 A. D. by the youngest son of an old German baronage, the Frankenstein. The family isolated itself completely from the rest of the world, and an acute state of degeneration developed as a result of centuries of intermarriage, and rivalry split the clan into two quarreling factions.

Finally the family was forced to leave, and the fortress was converted into a sanitarium for invalids and pensioned soldiers. The place began to decay; wooden floors were torn up and used for firewood and furnishings sold. By 1740 an empty shell was all that remained. Later, rumors of a buried treasure circulated through the countryside and treasure hunters descended on the castle and dug up everything in sight. One day a man was killed by a falling stone, and because of this incident and other unexplainable occurrences, the villagers began to attribute weird powers to the castle. Accordingly, the story arose that a creature, eight feet tall, covered with hair, lived in the nearby forest. He mclested and frightened villagers, and it is believed that even today, that the spirit of the monster of Darmstadt Frankenstein Castle still stalks the forests.

Frankenstein's castle is still standing today, crumbling, weatherbeaten and mysterious.

Hitch-Hiking Negro "Pastor" Found To Be Culprit Officers Seeking

There was this neat-appearing Negro man, wearing a light colored coat and carrying three Bibles, walking down the highway shortly before midnight Monday, apparently hoping to hitch a ride.

He had all the appearances of being a colored preacher.

The two lawmen, Sheriff Garth Garrett and Rule Constable Raymond Denson were looking for a car thief, and it seemed a pity to question such a studious-appearing character.

But experience has taught these two officers that appearances are deceiving and that it pays to check every suspect, so they started questioning the Bible-carrying character.

First, he told them he was "pastor" of a colored church in Abilene.

Then, asked if he knew anything about a 1952 Chevrolet pickup stolen in Rule about 10:15 p. m. and which had been abandoned back up the highway a few miles, the 35-year-old Negro admitted he did. He had started in the stolen vehicle to Abilene, the motor overheated and stuck, and he "balled out" and took off on foot.

While being brought to county jail here, the self-styled "pastor" talked freely, telling them he had served a prison term for "salt to murder." After leaving prison, he said he was drafted in the Army in 1950.

One officer, dubious about the statement, queried: "You mean they took you in the Army after you had been convicted of killing someone?"

"Sho did, Mistuh Lawman. That Draft Board told me if I could shoot a black man, I could shoot a Red."

Sheriff Garrett said charges of theft over $50 had been filed against the Abilene Negro to await Grand Jury investigation.

Harvest of Grain Brings Need for Handling Stubble

Small grain harvest is upon us. The harvest of wheat and other small grains brings to mind stubble management. And the management of stubble presents, not a problem, but a challenge to the conservation farmer, stated Hinds A. McGowen, Soil Conservationist, Haskell, Texas.

Our old slogan of "Conservation Doesn't Cost, It Pays" is again proven true, McGowen said. The Haskell County ASC office is now accepting applications for stubble mulching of small grain residues. McGowen pointed out. The payment rate will be $1.00 per acre, and Mr. Farmer—you can apply for 30 acres or 1/3 of your cropland at this payment rate.

McGowen pointed out that to qualify for the $1.00 per acre the farmer must mulch his crop residues using sweep-type or chisel-type plows. The stubble mulch must be maintained until September 15, 1961.

Clyde Mayfield of Weinert, cooperating with the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District, states that he has stubble mulched wheat residues since 1955 using chisel-type plows immediately following harvest and again just prior to seeding. He has found that his wheat holds up better on stubble mulched land than wheat on non-stubble mulched land. Mayfield said that since 1955 his wheat yields have been on the increase on stubble mulched land.

H. H. Segó of Mattson, another Wichita-Brazos SCD Cooperator, planted wheat on the same land for the last three years. He stubble mulches wheat residues using sweeps lows with sweeps to prevent weed growth. Then at planting time he sweeps shallow and drills at the same operation by a mechanical hook-up of the drill behind the chisel-type plow, saving one operation. Segó states that the moisture-saving benefits of stubble mulching are the greatest assets in using this type of residue management. Yields have remained on a steady increase under stubble mulching reported Segó.

Dallas Men Are Charged With Tax Cover-Up

The Federal Grand Jury at Fort Worth, Texas, returned a secret income tax indictment against James W. Almond and Otis J. Straughan on May 19. The two men were arrested on May 23 and posted $2,000.00 bond each. Mr. Almond is president of the Almond Electric Company, Inc., of Dallas, Texas. Mr. Straughan is assistant secretary-treasurer and responsible for keeping the books and records of the corporation.

The indictment charged that Almond paid $11,226.91 on his personal income tax covering the years 1955, 1956 and 1957 but that he owed $105,485.10. The indictment further charged that the corporation paid $41,394.16, but owed $129,280.44.

Use Light Loads

Many hunters shoot better with light loads when hunting upland game.

Because of the lesser recoil they flinch less and therefore make more kills. And the cost of light ammunition is less.

Save your long brass shells for geese, ducks and other other long-range targets.

Terrace Building Slows, Row Crops Occupy Farmers

Terrace construction has come to a virtual standstill with row crop farming taking over the spot light in farming operations according to Harry G. Koehler, SCS, Haskell Texas. A limited amount of terrace construction will be carried out following small grain harvest.

John P. Perrin, cooperating with the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District has just completed rebuilding the terraces on his farm located six miles north of Haskell, Koehler said.

As another important aspect of our conservation program, Koehler pointed out, water conservation must not be overlooked. Additional water can be stored on our cropland where it falls by the proper management of crop residues. Farm ponds assist in the vital program of water conservation as do the proper use of irrigation systems.

A. E. Fouts of Rule, cooperating with the California Creek Soil Conservation District has just recently completed a farm pond to provide needed livestock water. Bailey Foster of the Jud Community has a farm located west of Haskell in the California Creek SCD on which he plans to construct a farm pond. No other water was available, Koehler pointed out.

Tom Bevel of Rochester, M. W. Phemister of Weinert, Wallace Cox of Haskell, and Willie

Lees of Rule are the most recent Haskell County farmers to join the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District family. Joe Clark of Sagerton and Bailey Foster have signed up their farms agreeing to cooperate with the California Creek Soil Conservation District in its program of conservation.

Speed is still the number one killer on our highways. During 1960, 10,970 persons lost their lives in accidents blamed on speed. More than 1,000,000 were injured.

County In Brucellosis Control Area; Rules Govern Moving In Livestock

Now that Haskell County has been proclaimed by law a Type II Brucellosis Control Area and is working hard toward a Modified Certified Brucellosis status, certain requirements must be legally met to bring cattle into the county.

The following outline should cover most circumstances, according to Dr. Seymour J. Smith, supervisor of Livestock Markets of the Texas Animal Health Commission:

(1) Cattle originating from another Modified Certified Brucellosis County may enter without being tested. A bill of sale or waybill should accompany the shipment in the event that the shipment is stopped for inspection at a roadblock.

(2) Steers, calves under 8 months old and official vaccines under 30 months old may move into Haskell County without restrictions.

(3) Cattle moving to a bona fide slaughtering establishment may move into Haskell County without restrictions provided that they are not diverted in route, and are slaughtered immediately.

(4) All other cattle not covered above; ie, adult cattle moving into Haskell County for feeder or stocker purposes, that do not originate from a Modified Certified Brucellosis County, MUST BE TESTED FOR BRUCELLOSIS PRIOR TO MOVEMENT INTO THE COUNTY, AND BE ACCOMPANIED BY AN OFFICIAL HEALTH CERTIFICATE SIGNED BY A VETERINARIAN.

(5) In order that buyers may know the brucellosis status of cattle at local livestock auction markets, the following color code has been adopted:

(1) At markets where the "clean" cattle are in the minority (less than half of the total consignments at the sale) the CLEAN cattle will be marked BLUE with a paintmark next to the barn's back tag.

(2) At markets where the "clean" cows are in the majority, or over half of the total consignments, the UNTESTED cattle will be marked GREEN on the hip or back. Such cattle need testing prior to release from the market if they are to enter a certified county, or one in the process of certification, without a test.

(3) Herd additions must be tested at the buyer's expense. The home herd, however, is tested at State-Federal expense. Herd additions need a test PRIOR to entry into the county, if they come from a non-certified county, must be held separate and apart from other cattle, and retested at the buyer's expense in 30 to 90 days.

(4) High team, one game: Bill Wilson Motor 2380; C&B Store 2304; M-System, Haskell 2215; High individual, 3 games: Harlan Weiner 542; F. E. Frierson 536; M. L. Cook 533.
