Prayer Is Bulwark of Mankind

December is a month of holy days for the religious communities of America and throughout the world. During this time, emotions are stirred and the meaning of life deepened for a great many people. There are, on the other hand, people whose monotonous routine is never broken by a thrilling experience of religious worship. Their holiday experience is lived on a purely materialistic level with a prevailing philosophy of "give and get." But for the many who have experienced the intense religious emotion of faith, hope, and love, the holiday season is anticipated with joy, and enthusiasm.

One of the great joys of the season is the rethinking of experiences of the past. Sir James Barrie once said, "God gave us memory that we might have roses in December." Remembering the events of yesterday that surround the seasons of Christmas and Hanukkah brings pleasant memories. But more important, celebrating these holy days reminds us that the events of the past influence the present. Our great religious traditions come down to us from a rich heritage; and whether we observe the appearance of the Star of Bethlehem or light a Hanukkah candle, memories bring a blessing from the past and shed light upon our path as we journey into the uncertain future. The prayers of a religious people for peace and good will blend with the hopes of the centuries, for mankind has ever so prayed. And, in spite of the ill will we see around us, and man's inhuman treatment of his fellowmen, the hope of the world lies in the prayer, faith, and work of its religious people. The prayer that every one of us can offer up to God this December is that there might be peace on earth, good will among men.

There, Belton told Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hill about the rush decorating job at Lane-Felker's As a result the Hills returned to L-F's with Belton and pitched in to help their business neighbors with the window. It was a case of having to do something whether it could be be done or not. Something on the order of the Seabees motto during World War II. "If it's cultural, livestock and poultry difficult we'll do it immediately; if it's impossible we may take a little longer."

As we said at the outset, this procedure is not recommended as standard in arranging Christmas windows. But in this particular case it paid off. The Lane-Felker window was prize-winner.

About this time of year small fry in towns the size of Haskell get the annual warning against shooting fireworks anywhere except in their own back yards. This ban, in some form or other, has been a bane to enjoyment of holiday fireworks as far back as we can remember. But, for the same length of time, it has failed to prevent firing of almost every conceivable type of "firecracker" at

Many oldsters recall the most stringent and effective ban against firing fireworks downtown was the 9 o'clock curfew law which was enforced prior to the first World War. By 9 o'clock at night, every youngster under 16 years old had to be off the street. No ifs, no ands about it. The C.ty Nightwatchman didn't issue "warning" tickets when he spotted a youngster downtown after hours. He accompanied the truant home and told the parents the lad had no business being out at such hours. We recall the late "Uncle Tom" Lemmon, nightwatchman for many years. He was a real friend of boys, but he believed they should be at home by they should be at home by 9 o'clock at night and he enforc-ed that belief, fairly but rigidly. There were few street lights in those days, but "Uncle Tom" didn't need them to spot youngsters. IN MEMORIAM To Roy Killingsworth

He left us when the January winds were blowing cold, when the day was whispering snow he was set free of all his suffering. But, something tells us he went to That Land of Tomorrow with the same smile he wore on earth.

His passing was gentle and quiet, as was his life. It was just another door closing softly. As we write this, we feel no words of ours adequate, no wreath of rosemary could give him proper honor, but for all that sweetness, we know that heaven will compensate.

He loved life and living: he loved to fix and do little things around the home he loved so much. He took pride in his work at his office, and was always kind and generous, en-

Many Persons Fail to Speak Distinctly

There's a good chance that you haven't learned to speak. That is, you haven't learned to speak out clearly, so that those around you can hear and understand what you say. Mil-lions of people are more or leas handicapped in their everyday aff a irs because of slurred speech, mumbling, swallowing word endings and other viola-tions of vocal expression that tions of vocal expression that leave an impression of carelessness and lack of self-confidence.

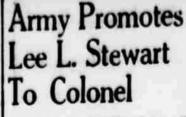

Speech is our direct means of communication. Clear enunciation and a pleasant voice are among the greatest assets in modern society. This doesn't mean that everyone need be an orator, or even a public speaker. It does mean that we must make ourselves understood in our everyday dealings with the people around us.

Some people are fortunate enough to be born with voices that yield true, pure tones. From this group we obtain most of our vocal talentsingers, orators and radio and television announcers. Most of us have to be content with everyday quality of voice, but we at least can use it to best advantage.

Some can gain from voice lessons. Not to become a singer, but just to develop a better voice quality. Almost everyone can gain from coaching in public speaking and dram-

Most important of all is the effort to express ourselves as clearly and as pleasantly as possible. It doesn't require a teacher to tell us that we must speak loud enough and distinctly enough to be understood. The American Medical Association suggests that you try a simple experiment. Ask two or three close friends or rela-tives-those who will give you an honest answer-whether they can understand your speech all of the time. The answers may surprise you. Never before such a team of totally new cars! Sedans, hardtop, station wagons, even a convertible . . . you name it, Chevy II has it. Nine models in all now in production. What are they like? Well, imagine all the solid virtues you've always counted on from Chevrolet . . . the steadfast dependability, the dyed-in-the-wool comfort . . . all dressed up in a new just-right size and built a modern new way. That's Chevy II. It's easy on the eyes, easy on the road and easy on your pocketbook. It's ultra-easy to service and maintain. Front fenders, for instance, bolt on and off for easy repairs. Two spunky engines, a four and a six (your choice in most models), purr along merrily on regular gas-and darn l Thanks to new Mono-Plate rear springs, the ride reminds Chevrolet-and you know how smooth that is. The space in and things puts you in mind of big cars, too. So does the But Chevy II parts company from anything else around to offering all these fine features-at a sensible low price. Fact is, luxury and low price CIII have never been blended so beautifully. Check your Chevrolet dealer and see for yourself.

Absent When Names Called

In the initial drawing last

Saturday for Christmas gifts of $100 in cash being given as a feature of Haskell's annual hol.day program, none of the three winners whose names were called were present in a cooperating store to claim the awards.

As a result, 'winners received a total of $25 in three awards, and $75 went into the Christmas "jackpot award" to be given away in the tinal drawing Dec. 23.

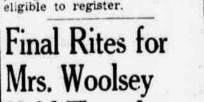

The name of Mrs. Marvin Letz, Haskell, who had registered at Necly Dry Goods store, was called for the top award of $50 in cash. Since she was not present in a cooperating store at the time of the drawing, she received only 25 per cent of the award, or $12,50 in

The name of Carl Norman Rule, who had registered at the Ben Franklin Store, was called for the second award of $35 cash. Since he was not present, he received only 25 per cent of the amount.

Called for the third award of $15 cash was the name of Vir-Lions View ginia Bruton, Throckmorton, on a registration slip from the Dad 'n Lad Shop.
