

Peddy-for-Senator Club Is Formed Here

C. S. Williams Declares Peddy a Real Democrat With Constitution as Platform

At a meeting in the District Court Room Monday night of this week, at which C. S. Williams, an attorney of Plainview, made the principal address, a "Peddy for Senator Club" was formed, and a number of prominent business men and farmers subscribed to the club membership.

Declaring that George E. B. Peddy is a real democrat, running with the constitution of Texas and the United States and the bill of rights enunciated by each as his platform, Mr. Williams in his address pledged himself to join in a "fight to a finish" with any organization or set of men who would foster religious intolerance or usurp the authority delegated by the constitution and bill of rights.

Judge A. P. McKinnon opened the meeting. He declared himself in favor of Peddy for senator. He recounted that he had been a Democrat all his life, casting his first vote for Richard Coke against Edmund J. Davis, and declared that when he cast his vote for Peddy this election he would be voting for a good citizen, a good democrat and a good man.

Mr. Williams opened his address with a preamble of discussion on the United States and Texas Constitutions particularly stressing the Bill of Rights contained in each, and declared that these rights are being taken from many people particularly Catholics and Jews in some sections of Texas. "A Jew or a Catholic cannot get justice in Fort Worth or Dallas now," he declared. And for fear of the Ku Klux Klan he said many lawyers, who have been considered leaders in Texas have become afraid to talk because of the injury they might do themselves or their clients by taking a bold stand, and that this organization is wrecking Texas institutions through the enmities it has created.

He praised George Peddy as a Democrat, the son, grandson and great grandson of a democrat, who had been the floor leader in the Texas House of Representatives for Woman Suffrage, though a mere youth, and who had begun making speeches for prohibition when just a boy.

The pledge on the Democratic ticket is not binding on Democrats, Mr. Williams said, declaring it a "put up" job, with the cards all stacked. To bear out his contention he declared that the San Antonio Convention, while posing as an assemblage of Democrats tabled a motion to "reiterate the provision of the Constitution." He flayed the Ku Klux Klan for their alleged control of this convention and declared he was prouder of being an American citizen than of being a Democrat. Z. T. Marvin, of Fort Worth and Will Hanger, of Dallas, were flayed as leaders in the Klan organization in North Texas.

Arguing further that Democrats had been released from their pledge to vote for Mr. Mayfield the speaker declared that the proofs furnished in the courts at Corsicana were sufficient in his mind to prove that this candidate had expended more than the lawful $10,000 to gain the Democratic nomination and by this act had forfeited the right to have his name appear on the ballot as a Democrat.

"The defeat of Mayfield will be a vindication and reiteration of the principles of Constitutional Government in Texas," he said, and recounting many of the atrocious acts with which the Ku Klux Klan is charged as fathering, he added he would be a traitor to all the American blood in his veins to vote for a thing like that.

Declaring in the most vigorous language that intolerance is the most dangerous thing ever known in history Mr. Williams pointed out the many acts done in the name of religion by protestants and Catholics alike and said that in a religious persecution has followed religiously intolerant got.

Following the address McKinnon called for Peddy for Senator and the list him age of the pledge to the Corn UMBLES and KELLOGG'S

The library will be run this year on a systematic plan and record will be kept on all books going in and out. A good list of reading matter, consisting mostly of current magazines has been added, and this with a new supply of books will make the references more complete.

C. of C. Gives O. K. To Public Library Plan

Report of Hopkins on Fair Exhibits Made—Lee Highway Activities Stated

At Friday night's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce that body gave emphatic approval to the plan of its committeemen, acting jointly with committees of other civic organizations of Floydada, for the organization of a Public Free Library Association here, and 14 members of the association were taken in a short time among the Chamber of Commerce members present.

The report of the library committee, a special committee appointed several months ago, was presented by J. Pat Horton, chairman of the committee, who read the constitution and by-laws of the proposed organization and submitted it for approval or rejection. That the plan evolved is a good basis on which to work was the belief expressed by several members from the floor.

The report of Maury Hopkins, secretary of the Chamber, giving detailed statement of receipts and expenditures during his absence in charge of the exhibits from this county to Oklahoma City and Dallas, was received and approved unanimously. After deducting prize money received at Dallas the actual cost, aside from salary, of the display at Dallas together with advertising matter issued, was $119.

Donors to the fund for the exhibit were refunded fifty per cent of their original donation on Saturday following the receipt of Mr. Hopkins' report. This report was remarkable in that it detailed every expense of every kind and left no doubt as to any expenditure. Hearty commendation for the way in which the exhibits were handled was voiced from every side.

Activities in regard to the Lee Highway, proposed to be routed through Floydada and Lockney, were detailed at some length at this meeting. It was pointed out that if counties to the east of Floyd County can be induced to open up a real highway to the Red river, connecting at Vernon with the Gulf-to-Colorado Highway, such action will be worth all the money and time Floydada and Lockney people may give to the enterprise whether or not the Lee Highway itself may prove a winner. Recent inspection trips have been made by Dr. Johnson, head of the Lee Highway Association, and R. H. Coffee, of Vernon.

Mrs. Glad Snodgrass and daughter Gwendolyn, Miss Julia Adams, and Mrs. Edd Johnson were in Plainview Saturday.

How Whiskey Can Be Made Shown in Court

Local Jury Gets Straight Pointers From Texas' Leading Expert

How whiskey may be made by a simple distilling "outfit" with a few ingredients such as may be easily obtained was told a jury in the District Court for Floyd County Tuesday afternoon by Dr. W. W. Battle, of Austin, expert charged with the enforcement of the Pure Food and Drug Act of Texas.

The doctor's explanation and demonstration of the processes of distilling came as a part of the state's testimony in the case of Claude Nunley, charged with unlawfully manufacturing for sale intoxicating liquors. Mr. Nunley with two others was arrested following a raid of a farm by the sheriff's department in May of 1921 southwest of Lockney three miles. Distilling apparatus, whiskey and mash were found by the officers in the raid, Dr. Battle furnishing the expert testimony to the effect that some of the liquid found was whiskey. The barrels, copper coils, and other paraphernalia found on the farm at the time of the raid were brought into court and the processes by which the spirits could be made with the apparatus at hand was shown to the jury.

The case was given to the jury yesterday afternoon following arguments by attorneys.

The case of the State against George Pickett, of Briscoe county, arrested last week in Lamb county and charged with a statutory offense, was transferred to Briscoe county by Judge Joiner this week. The bill of indictment was returned by the Floyd County Grand Jury this term.

On the civil docket disposition was made of one case when the parties this week reached an agreement out of court. This suit was styled W. W. Moore vs. Lee Montague and was over a question of boundary lines. J. E. Lucius was given a judgment for foreclosure of lien against G. R. Tibbetts and others on two sections of land in the east part of the county. The suit of J. I. Pitts against John F. Gibson, the latter of Paducah, was dismissed upon motion of plaintiff.

The case of Bill Lee, charged with arson, was continued until next term of court. A. J. Fires of Childress and Kenneth Bain of Floydada have been retained as attorneys for the defendant.

At Wednesday noon there had been no new developments in the injunction suit of W. N. Jones and others against the Commissioners' Court and others.

The business of the court is being drawn to a close, the last day of the term being Saturday of this week.

Acala cotton seed are proving worth the money they cost Floyd County farmers this spring. An instance of this occurred Wednesday when E. J. Barker, who lives on the Glad Snodgrass place near Fairview, had a bale of Acala cotton on the market here.

From 1260 pounds of seed cotton Mr. Barker ginned a 515 pound bale of cotton, for which he was paid 23 1-16 cents per pound, the top price for the day. As a general rule the Acala cotton sold on the local market this season has been bringing the top of the market.

Old Timer Tells of Early Days in Floyd Co.

Della Plains Proponent Gets Past Bollyhoo Men to See Floyd County Exhibit

(Maury Hopkins)

The Floyd County Exhibit at the Texas State Fair was especially interesting to many people who chanced to stray down through the Agricultural Building after having wound through the labyrinth of the midway, and successfully undergone the many temptations and siren calls of the famous "Land of Bunk". But the most interested observer of the Floyd County exhibit who had passed safely by where "the one and only one in captivity" could be seen, or whose system had successfully manipulated big juicy hamburgers "for only a dime ten cents," or even perchance disregarded for a moment a puritanical conscience and listened to the ballyhoo of charming chorus girls, spent a dime and seen beautiful Fatima in alluring poses and dances extraordinary, was R. E. L. McLain of Hastings, Oklahoma.

Upon his arrival at the exhibit, Mr. McLain smiled with fatherly pride as he read the legend "Floyd County," placed his hands in the deep of his pockets, took a long breath and drawled with an unmistakable western accent, "Well young man, you needn't give me any of that literature, I was there before there was anything like that stuff grown and helped to get that county organized and started off in the right direction, and that was way back in eighty eight."

Following which declaration and in answer to numerous interrogatories, it developed that Mr. McLain was the first editor of the "Della Plains Review," and energetically supported Della Plains as the county seat of Floyd County against the embryo Floydada of that day. He owned one of the sections at Della Plains upon which it was planned to erect the court house of Floyd County and of course he was vitally interested in the county seat election. He worked night and day for Della Plains and remembers now the stiff fight put up by the opposition led by Dug Starks and others of Floydada who were ultimately successful over him.

Mr. McLain attributes the loss of the election in a large way to Prohibition. This is of especial interest in these Volstead days, and his recital of the first prohibition speech made in Floyd County would make Carrie Nation smile with exultation were that good woman alive today. It seems that on the night before the election, there was a big Della Plains rally at Della Plains and numerous speeches were made by the most interested citizens among whom was Dr. Wilson, an ex-preacher who made the aforesaid prohibition address which stands out in such bold relief in the memory of Mr. McLain. One sentence of Dr. Wilson's speech, according to McLain lost Della Plains the identity of County Seat of Floyd County and that was, "if Della Plains is selected as the County Seat of this County, you people can rest assured that there will never be a drop of liquor sold within its limits." On this statement, Mr. McLain says he saw his visions take wings and fly away. That was in the days before the Anti Saloon League, and the cowboys who constituted the suffrage of this county all had the real stuff on their hips, and Cuba was not a health resort. In fact many of them were at that moment enjoying the generosity of the campaigners for Della Plains. The consequence was that since the cow boys all had a vote and didn't have the Morris Sheppard viewpoint on some things, it worked a hardship on Della Plains.

Mr. McLain had some trouble keeping the business houses in Della Plains. It seems that one night while the city slept, some people from Floydada stole the school house or some other public building and moved it to Floydada. The building was not regained until the courts were appealed to.

Mr. McLain left Floyd County soon thereafter and has only been back here once and that was in 1894, but he still contends it is the best country in the world but that Della Plains was the logical place for the county seat of Floyd County.

All indications are that the cotton crop in Floyd County is going to be more valuable by just about double what was expected of it. It is a story repeated year after year in Floyd County. The fact that the price of the staple has held steady right along and has gradually advanced even with the progress of the season. This in spite of the fact that 90 per cent of the cotton has gone on the market as fast as ginned.

COTTON SEED

Cotton seed, which they used to consider a nuisance but do not any more, are a considerable part of the farmers' cotton crop these days and with prices looking up a bit have helped the farmer considerably in paying ginning charges.

Many years ago they used to use seed to fire the gin boiler, after the farmers laid in their supply for feeding the old cow. Now the cotton seed oil business is a big one in Texas.

Probably as interesting a thing as happens, to the farmer at least, is a cotton seed fight. Over at Slaton they have such a thing and cotton seed has been bringing $42 per ton right along for several days. Hard on the ginners but it's an ill wind, you know, that blows nobody good.

APOLOGIZING FOR NEWS

Why a newspaper should apologize for printing the news, if such news is not improper to be used as such, or in other words, if it is fit to print, we are made to wonder by an editorial which leads the editorial column in the Amarillo Daily News in a recent issue. It is the second such we have seen in that newspaper during the past few months. Headed "The News and Mr. Peddy" the article says in part:

"When Mr. Ferguson spoke in Amarillo several months ago, the News was criticized for the way it reported his speech. The News was simply reporting his speech as it was given and was not giving assent to Mr. Ferguson's views.

"Today the speech of Mr. Peddy is reported in detail. The News is a supporter of Mr. Mayfield and has not changed its political faith. It is very easy to make statements in a public gathering which go unchallenged and it is probable that Mr. Mayfield has as good arguments to his credit as his opponent."

Perhaps the News thinks that if apologies are rendered each time it prints the news of the day it may head off criticism. Perhaps, also, sooner or later, its publishers will learn that criticism is inevitable if they continue in business. In order to forestall critics The News might consider the suggestion to head their editorial column with an omnibus apology. Or another good way would be to crawl in a hole and pull it in after you. If neither of these alternatives appeal to The News management, we advance the idea that not everybody will like the way you part your hair nor the way you "sing" your soup. Neither will everybody like the way you run a newspaper.

F. M. Price, W. F. Birch, Carroll Trowbridge and Jack Childers left Tuesday for Pacific Coast States. They will spend some weeks on a tour of California.

FLOYDADA TO MEET STRONG LUBBOCK ELEVEN SATURDAY

Floydada high is scheduled to meet the Lubbock delegation next Saturday at Lubbock. This will be a case when two conquerors meet on the field to do battle to the finish. Floydada stands with Lubbock and Plainview as the three strongest teams in this district and undefeated. These three teams remain out of 25 counties.

Coach Wester will hurl a team at Lubbock that is in the pink of condition. Every man has been carefully coached as an individual and in team work. The Floydada squad has the makings of a real fighting machine that has spelled disaster to every opponent this season. When the punch to carry over the victory is needed the "whirlwind" team is always ready. This fighting spirit was displayed in the game with Paducah, when they were, it appeared, hopelessly defeated, they came from behind in the last few minutes of play and carried the ball across the length of the entire field and to victory. This same spirit was displayed at Ralls last Friday when they carried the ball 58 yards in less than two minutes and were only stopped by the whistle that signalled the end of the game.

With this spirit in them and knowing that they are the chosen defenders of the F. H. S. they will put on a fight that will make their opponents next Saturday keep on their guard all the way.

Captain King will not be in the line up owing to a broken leg which he sustained in the game at Ralls. King is a demon on the offensive and a brick wall on the defensive. His place will be hard to fill, but faith is held in Coach Wester that he furnish a man that will fill his place in the line.

Robert Eubank will probably serve as captain in the tilt with Lubbock.

Coach Wester is anxious to get in touch with all people that are going to the game at Lubbock, and with those that will take cars and will carry passengers.

This promises to be the most interesting game of this season and a large delegation is expected to go from Floydada to cheer their team on to victory.

FLOYDADA HI DEFEATS RALLS 23-10; CAPTAIN KING INJURED

Playing their first game on foreign territory for this season, Floydada High crashed their way to another victory last Friday over the Ralls eleven at Ralls. The Floydada team scored 10 points in the first few minutes of play and then seemed to lose their stride. They were in 6 yards of the goal line when the final whistle blew.

COUNTY TAX VALUATIONS IN NORTH TEXAS TOO LOW

Gus Reiniger, secretary of the State Tax Assessors Association, has called attention in an official way to the exceedingly low valuations put upon property in several north Texas counties for the purpose of taxation, declaring that about 25 counties named by him are actually paying in taxes for all purposes to the state more than a million dollars less than they are taking out of the school fund for school purposes.

and cannot be prevented by the remainder of the counties in the state until remedial legislation is passed by the legislature, is a fact to which he calls Governor Neff's attention and declares that this condition is ample justification for calling the matter to the attention of the governor.

Counties named by Mr. Reiniger are Collin, Denton, Delta, Falls, Freestone, Grimes, Bell Gaudalupe, Hopkins, Hunt, Hill, Johnson, Kaufman, Lamar, Limestone, Milam, Navarro, Parker, Red River, Shelby, Smith, Upshur, Van Zandt and Washington. In these counties, he avers, the valuation rate runs 13 per cent to 35 per cent of the actual values. The most of these counties, he asserts, are paying far below the average of the state, thus "imposing on the other sections of the state and the people generally."

The country, he asserts, is paying less proportionately than the cities.

W. Q. RICHARDS LEFT PADUCAH SANITARIUM FUND

Paducah Post: Many people have been wondering about the will of the late W. Q. Richards, Sr. At this time there is nothing permanent to be said, as the administrators have not probated the will, but it is sure, as given out by the administrators, that Mr. Richards left an endowment of $50,000.00 to build a sanitarium at Paducah.

Rumor has had it that he also left $100,000.00 with which to maintain the institution. This is somewhat incorrect. After all bequests and the debts on the ranch are paid then 50 per cent of the balance derived from the proceeds of the ranch is to be used for maintenance purposes for the sanitarium.

The administrators as named in the will are Judge A. J. Fires of Childress, O. L. Thomas and B. F. Tippen of Paducah.

The Eye

Is the most delicate Motor Apparatus of the human body, and yet its muscles are subjected to a degree of abuse that no one would think of inflicting upon any other organ of the body, even their feet.

When nature made the human eye, she designed the mechanism and arranged its delicate adjustments for the requirement of outdoor life and outdoor life prevailed on the planet for many thousands of years. The conditions of life have undergone a great change, the desk and work benches imposed close-range tasks upon the eye, for which they are neither built nor adapted.

This is why so many people wear glasses.

PIGS FEATURE BOYS' CLUB SHOWS SATURDAY

Delays and Changes in Dates Cause Attendance to be Poor—Other Stock Shown

Although delays and changes of dates for the annual Boys' Club Show of Floyd County caused several boys to drop out of the competition in some lines Saturday's show in Floydada was a good one, the boys taking much interest and pride in the animals shown. Pigs raised by members of the Pig Clubs made up the larger part of the exhibit.

No poultry was shown at this time the plan being to have the Poultry Club Show at the same time as the Poultry Association Show is held early in December.

T. Pryse Metcalfe, agricultural agent of Motley county, judged the exhibits at Saturday's show and gave lectures on the individuals as judgment was given.

Others who had live stock here for exhibit on the day of the show, aside from club boys were George Finkner who had a Chester White boar here, Ed Holmes, who was showing a Duroc Jersey gilt, and Henry Graham who showed his Black Percheron stallion. Several Jersey cows and calves were also on exhibition.

The list of winners announced following the judging is as follows:

Duroc gilt: first, N. B. Stansell; second, Douglas Hollums; third, Jesse Amburn; fourth, Riley Holmes.

Duroc boar: first, Douglas Hollums; second, Oliver Holmes.

Poland China gilt: first, Ivan Thompson; second, Everett Perry; third, Lloyd Wofford.

Senior Poland China boar: first, John Scott.

Junior Poland China boar: first, Winston Wofford.

Hereford bull calf: first Lawrence Adams.

Jesse Amburn showed maize and kaffir and Hal Scott exhibited cotton.

PLAINVIEW AND PADUCAH TEAMS BATTLE TO TIE

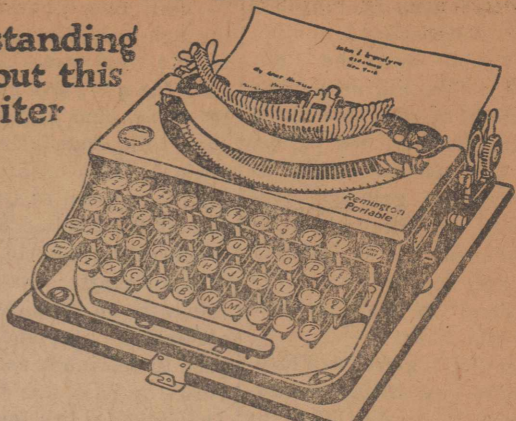

Plainview and Paducah Highs fought yesterday to a 13-13 tie at Plainview. The teams were evenly matched, with Paducah having the advantage on speed.

Paducah scored early in the first quarter. After a completed pass and a line plunge they put over their first counter. Anderson, Paducah's fleet half back intercepted a pass and ran 50 yards, broke from two tackles and scored the second Paducah touchdown.

With Paducah leading with a score of 13 to 6 and only five minutes to play, things began to look uncertain for Plainview. They had 14 yards to go and last down. They staged a rally, completed a pass for twenty yards, and then on the third down plunged three yards for a touchdown. Their drop kick for goal was blocked. This tied the count 13-13. The last two minutes were spent in see-sawing the ball from one end of the field to the other, with neither team having the necessary punch to score a winning point.

TAKING DICTATION FROM THE AIR, NEWEST THING

Local Station Intercepts Message Broadcasted from Moving Train From St. Louis

The Mitchell Hardware receiving station is continuing to prove a place of interest to radio fans of this territory and with decreasing trouble from static or heat waves the messages from over the country come in with increasing clarity. Tuesday night this station intercepted a concert broadcasted from the Post-Dispatch office at St. Louis by the Edwardsville, Ill., Orchestra for passengers in a Pullman on the Chicago & Alton Railway.

That these concerts and lectures are coming through in excellent shape is indicated by the fact that a few nights ago, Miss May Montague, stenographer for the First State Bank, who was listening in at the Mitchell Station, took down in short hand two interesting short talks from the Post-Dispatch studio. One of them was made by a prominent doctor of St. Louis. As transcribed by Miss Montague the doctor's talk was as follows:

"There is a movement for improvement of physical condition of all the boys and girls in all schools of America. There is pending in Congress today a bill to do this important service of providing a physical condition for every boy and every girl in this Republic so that they may have as fine bodies as is possible for them to have. Out of that will come a better intellectual power and better moral standing. It is a well known fact that our moral standing cannot proceed long without basing these upon a sound physical condition.

"Another thing, preventable diseases are costing our people in money alone more than two billion dollars a year. If our people were trained to care for their health and acquire habits of health, we could remove the anguish and heartaches when sickness and death come where they ought not to be.

"Another thing was revealed to us when our boys went into camps—over 60 per cent of all boys—it was found 400,000 men could not understand the commands of their officers when given in the language of this republic, and we witnessed the shameful aspect of 400,000 men in uniform with only the learning of children. That portrays the situation. In order to be understood, anyone coming into this country that does not within five years require our language, should be forced to leave. We do not want people here who cannot speak our language. Sooner we take stand against overfilling America with such people, sooner we will be rid of the I. W. W. Organization which was a menace to life and property during the war in our Republic.

"The duty of every citizen today is to assist in removing this condition. It is a mark of patriotism. If we love our country, we should see to it that all the people in it should love its language and love its ideals."

The other talk was from Mrs. Helen B. Talston, nationally known as the Mother Goose Lady. Mrs. Talston spent last week in St. Louis assisting in the celebration in that city of "All American Girls Week." Mrs. Talston said:

"The outgrowth of the church of women is great for building up womanhood. One purpose of girls week is to interest girls in themselves. Emphasize this, as it is one of greatest assets to many. Every girl needs a mother chum with whom she can talk things over. There are fifty-co-operations in St. Louis working to make this week a success. We hope the work will go on throughout the United States. Girls have a great influence over men, they can mould their characters just as they wish. To give some idea of a girl's influence over boys, I will relate this little story. It is from my own life. If my father were here, he would say we had a time with her, and I will say my father had a time with me. "As I stepped out at the door of our church one Sunday night, there were two lines of boys on each side of the walk. The boys who did not have grit enough to take their girls to church yet. One of the most bashful boys asked me to take a walk. Perhaps you think we did not take a walk. We went around and around. My father did not say a word that night when we reached home, so we repeated the performance the next Sunday night. We finally came to our gate, and I bid Prince Charming good night. This time I found my father standing in the door. He took me in the parlor and said, "Look at these chairs, the table, the carpet, etc., what is the matter with this room." I answered, "nothing." "Well daughter, if there is ever a thing you want in this room, I will get it. Nice girls do not walk the streets at night with men."

"My father put it in such a way it impressed me. The next time Prince Charming came I told him my father's request. I went with this fellow two years after that. If it is the right kind of a fellow, he will keep coming. Prince Charming never asked me to walk the streets again with him. In other words, girls have the making of men just as they choose, but we have to teach the girls the standard. Teach them the right habits. It did not take long to teach him.

"I remember one fellow who had the staying habit. Father came down stairs one evening an invited the young man to go home. The boy turned aside to me and said, "Your father is an awful crank," and father remarked to the boy, "it takes a crank when you don't have the self-starter."

GIBSON-COVINGTON

Miss Dona Gibson and Mr. Jess Covington, of this city, were married in Plainview yesterday morning about nine o'clock and left that place for Amarillo and Clovis. At the latter place they will spend the latter part of this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beedy. Mrs. Beedy is a sister of the bride.

Both of the contracting parties have resided at Floydada a number of years. Miss Gibson has been employed with Arthur B. Duncan as abstractor and Mr. Covington has been building roads in this county for his father. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Covington.

The couple are expected to return to Floydada the earlier part of next week and will make their home here.

LOCKNEY NEWS BRIEFS

From the Beacon:

Clarence Thompson, the electrician, has installed a successful radio outfit at his home. He is in touch with the leading stations of the country. Monday night he received messages from Davenport, Iowa, Denver, Colorado, St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Irick Theatre of Houston and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Clarence made his own set and it works fine. It has a distinct tone and concerts can be heard plainly.

Mr. A. B. Brown, president of the First National Bank, left yesterday for Chicago, accompanied by Grandma Taylor, who goes to spend the winter with her son, M. A. Taylor, president of the First Trust and Saving Bank and the First National Bank of Chicago.

Last Saturday the marriage of Mr. Ennis Cummings and Miss Jewell Newman was announced. The wedding took place in July, and was kept a secret until Saturday, when the young people made the announcement.

Mr. Cummings is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Cummings, who live east of Lockney, and is one of our prominent young farmers, and stands high in his community. Miss Newman is the daughter of Mrs. Claude Tatum, who lives in the same community.

Thursday evening at 10:30 o'clock Mrs. Lillie A. Blackwell, wife of A. J. Blackwell, passed to her reward, after a brief illness, as a result of a stroke of paralysis. Funeral services will be held at the Church of Christ worshipping at the College this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Services will be conducted by Elder Liff Sanders.

Deceased was born September 1st, 1850, died October 19th, 1922, aged 72 years, 1 month and 19 days. She was a member of the Church of Christ and a devoted Christian woman. She has lived in Floyd County with her husband a number of years, moving to Lockney a few years ago.

WHITEFLAT OIL WELL NOT TO BE ABANDONED

Motley County News:

The development of the Whiteflat Oil Well, which has been a paramount issue with the people of this country ever since it started, and which has promised so much, is right now at a standstill, but there is every reason to believe it will soon be resumed and pushed until something definite is developed.

Last week we had with us Dr. J. Francis Schefcik, president of the Minneapolis Oil Co-operation and Mr. Morissey, a prominent stockholder. These people still have the utmost confidence in the well and are willing to go fifty-fifty. It has required a vast sum of money to put this proposition to where it is today, and it has all been put up by local people and the Minneapolis Oil Corporation and this company is still willing to demonstrate its faith by putting up $5,000 if the local people here will put up the same amount. Up to date $3,500 has been raised.

The feasibility of the proposition has been discussed with the Texas Company, of Wichita Falls also the T. & P. Coal and Oil Company, of Ranger. The plan has also been discussed with several noted Geologists who are of the opinion that we will not be justified in quitting the well now as we really have actual production.

Mr. Miller and Dr. Lewis are of the opinion we are due or there is every evidence of the Whiteflat Oil Well being one of the largest wells in Texas. This opinion is based on the size of the structure, the enormous rock pressure, and the presence of a large quantity of gas found in solid rock formation. And furthermore that the largest salt domes in the world are located in this locality.

1 Bay horse, 14 years old. (Boys, that's his age. It is not our aim to mislead anyone about anything we are offering in this sale.) This horse will weigh about 1400 pounds, and I doubt if there is a horse in the country that will do more work than this one.

REMODELING AND PATCHING UP THE OLD HEN HOUSE

By F. W. Kazmeier
(All rights reserved)

The question of housing at this time of the year is always an all important one. Some of us are not so fortunate that we can build a new hen house. These must find a cheaper way of providing protection for the fowls in inclement weather, which we are sure to have very soon.

The housing of chickens is important, they must be kept comfortable in the cold weather or they will contract disease of all kinds and at best will not produce eggs. The hen house may be very inexpensive, but one thing it must provide, and that is comfort. The house may appear like patched up trousers, but it must provide comfort and protection to the occupants.

The kind of a house depends to some extent on local conditions, also the section of the state. In the gulf coast country we require a different house than in the Panhandle of Texas. The big idea is to protect against rain and the cold north winds. In all cases and in all sections of Texas, we believe that the south side may be left open at least the biggest part excepting for the inch mesh wire netting, to keep varmints out, and confine the fowls when necessary.

Remodeling

By remodeling in this instance we mean the rebuilding of the present hen house you may have. The majority of hen houses do not provide sufficient fresh air. We have seen many hen houses with closed up fronts. Here we recommend cutting out the biggest part of the front to bring the hen house up-to-date and make it a better house for the hens to live in. A lack of fresh air causes a large number of poultry diseases, the most common of which are roup, colds, sore-head and a long string of other ailments. Open up the front and let in the light and air.

Don't be afraid of getting the front too open. The ends and the north side of the house should be so-arranged that they can be closed tight in cold weather and opened up in hot weather. The best way of accomplishing this is by arranging shutters hinged at the top to swing out and up.

Roof

No doubt the roof needs repairing. It must shed water. If it leaks look into the matter now before it is too late. The hen house must be dry. If it is not a fit place for chickens, it should be used for something else. We have been using paper roofs, or composition roofing paper, but find that in open front houses it does not last long enough. For this reason we are covering all of our hen house roofs, as fast as they require repairing with galvanized iron. Then we have a roof that lasts. We place the galvanized iron right over the composition roofing. This does away with the serious disadvantage of iron roofs making the houses too hot in the summer. Shingle roofs are not satisfactory because they provide an excellent harboring place for mites and blue bugs.

Floor

In old hen houses with the dirt floor, now is the time to get in there and remove about five inches of the top and replace with fresh and clean dirt. This is important and should be attended to now. We also like to go around the hen houses on the outside and see to it that all of the surface drainage is so the water runs or drains away from the house. Sometimes a few hours work with a wheel barrow and shovel will greatly improve the dryness of the floor, and in turn the health of the fowls. Hens will not do well in houses with damp floors.

Fixtures

The fixtures like nest boxes all should be cleaned out thoroughly and disinfected and if they require repairing now is the time to do it. We have found quarter inch mesh hardware cloth very good bottoms for nests. If any hinges are off, repair them. The roosts should be put in good shape. Short roosts are better than long ones. Roosts running with the narrow side of the building are better than running with the long end of the building. It is a good idea to paint roosts with a coat of wood preservative or liquid mite killer. If possible, install trap nests, dry mash hoppers and ways of providing artificial light during the short winter days.

Foundations

All permanent buildings should be built on concrete foundations. The present prices of all building material makes it unwise to locate houses directly on the ground, or in such a way that they will soon decay or rot. A house lasts only as long as the foundation lasts. Movable houses should be blocked up on brick, rock or concrete blocks made for the purpose. It is a great mistake to place a hen house directly on the ground.

Rats

Now is a good time to spend some time killing out the rats, especially if they infest the hen houses. A rat eats about as much feed or at least destroys as much as 25 hens will eat in a year. They multiply much faster than most varmints, hence it is important to kill as many as possible. There are many ways of accomplishing this, altho not any seem to be perfect. Poison is only satisfactory in special cases. Traps always are good. Cats and dogs that will kill rats are very good. All buildings especially where feed is stored should be blocked up from the ground so there are no harboring places for the rats.

Painting Houses

Too few farm buildings are painted. It may be that most people are not financially able to paint the home, much less the hen houses. Where possible, we firmly believe that it pays to keep the buildings painted. We find they last much longer, and do not leak as bad in rainy weather which is important in all poultry houses. White, grey and red are desirable colors.

We are proud to so designate our bank.

Proud of the safety and happiness which membership in this great system of banking affords our depositors.

That the powerful Federal Reserve, which has operated with such safety throughout the length and breadth of this land, should have ever come in for the slightest unfavorable comment or criticism, must certainly have been based upon a misunderstanding of its splendid accomplishments; and the results of its working in steadying and stabilizing the business of the nation.

NOTHING ELSE CALLED FOR

New York Store Had Eyebrow Pencils in Plenty, but None of the Writing Variety.

For several years a large drug store on a busy New York corner facing Columbia university has been freely patronized by students. Presumably the owner of the store knew his business and caters intelligently to the demands of his customers. A young lady with an armful of note books and papers chanced to be passing the store the other day, on her way to a lecture, when she discovered that she had forgotten her pencils. The time was short and she dashed into the drug store.

"Have you pencils?" she asked hurriedly, "any kind will do."

"Certainly," replied the clerk. "One moment, please."

He returned in a moment with his hands full. The highbrow student regarded them curiously.

"But I can't write with such things," she protested. "You've made a mistake. I want a nice, soft, black pencil for taking lecture notes. What are these?"

"Why, eyebrow pencils, of course," said the clerk disdainfully. "There's no demand for any other kind here."

TO SEND REPORTS BY RADIO

Plans Completed for Daily Weather Bulletins From the Amundsen Arctic Expedition.

When Capt. Roald Amundsen goes into the Arctic this summer with his ship, Maud, on another scientific expedition, he will send out daily weather reports by radio. During the first part of his proposed trip from Bering strait across to Greenland these flashes of polar weather news will be caught by the United States wireless station at Nome, Alaska, and forwarded to the weather bureau at Washington. As the Maud makes her way down the other side of the world her messages will be received by the Norwegian radio station at Spitzbergen.

The Norwegian government has suggested that it would be desirable that weather reports of such scientific value be continuously at the disposal of all countries on both the European and American continents, and proposes that an exchange of this information be arranged, the messages received during the first part of the expedition to be sent out by the United States and those received later to be sent out by Norway.

THE ACID TEST

The newly engaged girl walked along Michigan avenue with her fiancé, feeling perfectly at ease with the universe. He was so good-looking and he understood and approved of everything she did. Came a display of women's sports wear, featuring prominent tweed golfing suits with knickers.

He stopped abruptly and gave them a long look, whether of admiration or disapproval the girl could not tell.

"Do you wear these?" he asked. The girl hesitated. She hated to disappoint him. Perhaps he thought them the last word in camaraderie.

"No," uncertainly. Emphatically—"Thank goodness! I'm an old-fashioned man."—Chicago Journal.

BIRDS GUARD TREES

We can spray orchards and shade trees with poisonous insecticides, but we would stand aghast at the impossible task of spraying all the trees in all the woods. We must perforce depend on the natural enemies of insects to protect our forests. Fortunately, birds and other foes of insects, wherever their numbers are sufficient, act as effective forest guardians.

DRAMATIST WAS NOT KNOWN

Author of Play Being Presented at Theater Actually Turned Down at the Box Office.

In 1909 Mr. Shubert asked me to go to Chicago to overlook the performance that the John Mason company was giving in my play, "The Witching Hour," at the Garrick theater. I purposely stood in the lobby until the curtain had gone up, and then in my most humorous manner asked the man in the box office if he passed the profession.

The lobby was filled with posters bearing Shubert's and Mason's names, and my own, in that order of importance and display. The treasurer asked my name, the branch of the profession in which I was. I told him. He asked me the name of some plays I had written. I named four or five, omitting "The Witching Hour." He said he would have to ask the manager. The manager came to the box-office window, put me through the same questionnaire and shook his head; and it was only when I told him how he would disappoint Mr. Shubert, and pointed to the three-sheet bearing the name I had given him, that he in any way associated the sound with the type.—Augustus Thomas, in the Saturday Evening Post.

AT SEA

Arnold W. Brunner, the New York architect who recently declined a $20,000 salary from the Pennsylvania government because he thought himself sufficiently well paid for his work already, said at a dinner in Philadelphia:

"Some people are puzzled by my action. Well, such people, when it comes to government jobs, don't know the meaning of the word 'honesty.' Speaking etymologically they are as much at sea as the club steward."

"An elderly clubman, after a long sojourn in the Orient, said on his first visit to the club:

"Where's Abram, my old waiter? Not defunct, I hope?"

"That's what he's done, sir," said the club steward furiously—"with every blessed thing he could lay his hands on!"

CHARACTERISTIC

Not long ago the Woman attended a patriotic meeting with a friend who had lived so long abroad as to have become almost expatriated. In the course of the afternoon "The Star-Spangled Banner" was sung. The audience had no printed text and not very many could get through the first verse, but all began lustily. When the performance was over the Woman's friend whispered wickedly: "Don't you think it is very characteristic of us that our national anthem should begin 'Oh, say!'"

ONLY SURE OF ONE THING

No Matter What the Hour, Irishman Knew He Could Not Attend That Meeting.

A short time ago a conference was arranged in one of the Superior courts by the judge and two other persons, one of whom was a man of Irish descent. The conference was set for five o'clock on a certain afternoon. In ample time the judge and one of the others appeared, but not the Irish individual. Five o'clock came, but the Irish brother failed to show up, and at 5:30 he had not come. At this point the conference was abandoned and the other person went his way. The judge, however, remained in his study until after six o'clock. After the judge had reached his home later in the evening he received a telephone call. The first sound of the voice of the caller told the judge it was the Irishman.

"N hello, jedge, is that you?" he asked.

"Yes," the judge answered.

"Why, jedge, Oi was jes' thinkin' Was that meetin' this afternoon fer four or foive o'clock?" he asked again.

"Five o'clock," the judge replied.

"Well, you see, Oi didn't know sure whither it was four or foive, but Oi knew well it was impossible for me to be there at the appointed hour," he said.

The judge was not equal to the occasion.—Indianapolis News.

FORD PRODUCTION INCREASES; COSTS ARE REDUCED

According to a statement just issued by Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, a general reduction of $50.00 a car has been made in the prices of Ford Model T Cars and the Ford 1 ton truck, effective October 17th.

"The revision in prices," said Mr. Ford, "is the result of the increased volume of business which our company has enjoyed during the present year, and also to the fact that we now own and operate many of our own sources of raw material, which enables us to continue increasing the quality of our product and at the same time keep prices so low that Ford cars are in reach of everybody."

"Our production for 1922 is already in excess of a million, which has been an important factor in bringing down costs. Our present daily output is averaging better than 5,000 cars and trucks, which means a complete Ford car or truck every 5 1-2 seconds, of each eight hour working day. It is in anticipation of this continued demand that price adjustments are again being made in order to keep in effect the policy of selling Ford products at the lowest price consistent with quality."

"Quality, as usual," said Mr. Ford, "will continue to be prime consideration in the building of Ford cars. As our business has increased we have constantly increased our equipment and manufacturing facilities, so that this price reduction merely reflects the progressive methods which come as a result of increased volume."

"This reduction which is the sixth since March 1920, brings the price of the Ford touring car from $575, the price in effect early in 1920, to the present extremely low level of $238, which is nearly 50 per cent less. Corresponding reductions have been made on all other types."
