Poll tax payments are run-ning far behind last year, a check with the County Tax Assessor-Collector's office revealed Wednesday, with only 1,270 poll tax receipts having been issued at noon Jan. 18.

Last year, a total of 3,186 persons paid their poll tax. This apparent lack of interest on the part of voters exists despite the fact that several important elections are to be held this year.

These include the annual school trustee and city council elections, along with the spe cial election for U. S. Senator and a "run-off" election if nec

Also, there are the possibility and follow-up letters have been of other elections being called this year, such as bond elections or local option elections on the sale of beer.

Final date for payment of the current poll tax is Jan. 31.

New Members Installed At Lions Meeting

Douglas Myers, of Weinert Zone Chairman, was the guest speaker at Tuesday noon-day luncheon meeting of the Haskell Lions Club, and also installed three new members, Bob Brad berry, Rogers Durham and Robert Lansford.

Myers pointed out in his talk the many advantages and opportunities Lions organization offers, and challenged the new members to attend meetings regularly, and to accept responsibilities in the club. "The distinctive thing about

Lions International is the activities of the clubs in their communities all over the world," "Strong finances, fine attendance are wonderful, but without activities for the unfortunate individuals of our community and for the community itself, Lionism would not hold the commanding position it has attained over the years. Therefore we should adopt a program of activities that will hold the interest and the support of the entire membership. This will provide ineresting and important work for every member and it will command the interest, attention and the support of the community. Such a program will interest good men in the community in becoming Lions, and it will retain old Lions by maintaining their interest," the zone chairman emphasized.

Myers also commended the Haskell club for the many ways t has served the community through Goodfellows, health and welfare, safety, and community betterment in general

Attending Water Resources Meet In Big Spring

A group of five Haskell businessmen and civic leaders is representing this city at a meeting of the Water Resources Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Big Springs today.

Attending from Haskell are Dr. T. W. Williams, John Kimbrough, Bob Herren, Roy Johnson and Tom Barfield.

Hon. Jim Wright of Fort Worth, candidate for United States Senator to succeed Lyndon B. Johnson, will be guest speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet to be held Monday evening, Jan. 30, in the Elementary School Cafe-

The banquet will be the an-nual membership meeting of the civic organization, with new officers and directors for the ensuing year to be intro-duced. Also, reports on activities and projects during the past year will be presented, along with a suggested work program for the year 1961.

C. of C. officials and committees in charge of plans for the banquet expressed pleasure at being able to secure Congressman Wright as speaker for the banquet

The Fort Worth man is well on his way to becoming a prominent national figure. Already he has spent 14 years, almost half of his life, in distinguished public service.

He gained recognition on the Washington scene almost as soon as he entered the corridors of the House of Representatives. After a relatively short career in the House only six years-he is recognized as one of its most eloquent and effective members.

Wright has won praise from the nation's leading newspapers. and surprisingly enough, from members of both political parties. One of his leading accomplishments, the introduction of a plan for a systematic retirement of the country's debt, focused national attention on him almost overnight.

Because of the prominence of the speaker, a heavy demand for banquet tickets is expected. committee in charge of the al fai said Tickets went on sale this week, and a canvass will be made in the business section during the next few days.

Plans are being made for an attendance of 300 guests, including visiting delegations from a number of neighboring towns. In addition to the address by Congressman Wright and introduction of new Chamber of Commerce officers and directors, an excellent entertainment program will be presented during the evening.

Annual School Census Being Taken Here

The annual school census is now being taken in the Haskell School District by Mrs. Ferrell Coston, who plans to complete the work this month. The census is to include everyone between the ages of 6 and 18 years living in the Haskell school district, regardless of whether they are attending school or not.

Children now six years old, or who will become six before Sept. 1, 1961, should be enumerated in the census. Those families having children of scholastic age who have not been contacted by the census enumerator should call the school office, UN 4-2860.

The Task Ahead

The New York Times says: "Senator Kennedy must now consider what he will ask appointees to do and what he himself will do to bring about changes in policy which he promised during the campaign.

'To increase the strength of our defenses, to promote dis armament, to try for a settlement in the Middle East, to deal with the huge problems of newly liberated African peoples, to face up to the windy young dictator in Cuba without alienating the Cuban people, to handle various home-grown economic problems and purposes, including the ambitious task of wiping out poverty here in the United States'-such is the appalling load that the incoming President has accepted."

Oppose Extension of Temporary Federal Gasoline Tax

Congressman Frank kard has been sent the names of more than 10,700 persons from this district who advocate scheduled expiration next June 30 of the "temporary" 1-cent per gallon federal tax on gasoline

Paul Peters, Wichita Falls, North Texas area chairman of the Oil Information Committee, announced that petitions had been mailed to Rep. Ikard along with a letter asking his support in resisting proposals to extend the federal levy.

A one-week petition drive that afforded Texas motorists a chance to express their desire on expiration of the 1-cent federal levy and cut their gasoline bill nearly $38 million a year was sponsored last October by the Texas petroleum industry through OIC. Statewide, some 278,924 Texans signed petitions and were joined by 5.5 million motorists nationwide,

In his letter to Rep. Ikard. Peters said: "These petitions represent consumers in the 13th Congressional district who want Congress to keep its promise and abolish the temporary 1-cent

Pointing out that the petroleum industry advocates better highways, Peters said that the federal highway program "can be financed without this extra penny if all federal highway user taxes are devoted to roads. Some $1.7 billion in auto-user taxes are now diverted to other purposes.

Peters said that expiration of the penny tax next June 30 will not hurt the federal highway program because the present law provides that about $802 million a year in auto excise taxesnow going into the Treasury general fund-will be channeled into the program next year, resulting in a $225 million gain over cur-

A new addition to the Guidance Department which will help each Indian plan for his or her future is a Vocational Guidance File. The file contains information on about two hundred occupations. The information on each, occunation is in a separate folder. Many topics and detailed information are discussed within the pamphlets. Such topics as the demand for the occupation, the qualifications (background knowledge and knowledge that must be acquired), the cost of preparation, length of time of education, cost of going into business in that field, and retirement plans, pensions and

"SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

There is little doubt that one of the important matters the new Congress will act upon is that of making revisions in the taxing structure.

At the time when the platform committees of each major political party met last summer, officials of the National Federation of Independent Business appeared by invitation to advise the nation's small businessmen, members of the organiza- C. W. Harder tion, have long requested revised depreciation schedules.

Subsequently, both party platforms pledged themselves to work for such revisions. Later in the summer the U.S. Treasury Dept. granted authority to the Small Business Administration to conduct a sampling of the nation's independent businessmen to determine what rein expanding the economy.

The Federation offered its services to the SBA to make such a survey among nation-wide membership. With ap-proval of Treasury Dept. this poll was taken on the government's form. Results are in the hands of the government officials studying situation.

A great deal of the data gaththe major points, it does highlight some of the greater drags on the American economy.

It would appear that there are many firms among the enterprises in the U. S. who to compete.

modernize, if the expenditures could be more closely geared to current earnings.

In many cases the revenue bureau, guided by laws it must follow compels a business to stretch out depreciation allowances for tax purposes over an over long period.

For example, if a building or piece of machinery, costs $10,-000, and it is required to take ten years to depreciate this amount for tax purposes, it works out something like this. The first year, only $1000 can be deducted for income tax purposes, and income tax must be paid on the other $9,000.

This means in case of a small corporation, that $10,000 improvement cost at least $12,250, as the $10,000 in the first place was derived from profits, of which $9,000 would be taxed a minimum of 25%.

Now this is a problem that is peculiar to the small, independently owned business. It is not necessarily shared by visions would be most helpful the big public owned corporation which has access to Wall Street through the securities market for new capital.

But in average small business, the proprietors have all their resources tied up in their enterprise, and any money for growth must come out of operating profits.

There seems little question that a revision of the tax laws ered is quite technical, but on as they are presently applied to small business capital in vestments could result in development of many millions, if not billions, in new business and wages, and at same time, are many firms among the improve facilities of small 4,000,000 or so small business firms, making them better able

Legislators Have Major Headache in Finding New Sources of Tax Money

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association

Texas' 57th Legislature began on a note that's likely to continue for some time-difficulty over money. Many House members felt influential joint House-Senate their colleagues had made an awkward of proposals for new legislasituation when they voted themselves salary raises as the first item of business. ### Why is our faith backed by dollars?

Very simply, it is because the Southwest is growing 25% faster than the nation, and the WTU service area is the CENTER OF THE SOUTHWEST.

As a result, one of our major projects is designed to stimulate this growth, and another is designed to add service facilities to meet it. These projects are described briefly below. We will keep you informed of their progress as we go along, since they are of vital importance to this community.

It is our conviction that with faith, vision and cooperative effort on the part of all of us, the Center of the Southwest has a sound foundation for GROWTH UNLIMITED in the years ahead.

AUSTIN-"Texas boat owners may need a woman's opinion in choosing the colors for registration numbers on the hulls," Bob Townsley, Director of the Texas Highway Department's Motor Vehicle Division said to-

"Poat number colors and boat hulls aren't contrasting enough to be readable - that's the problem,

"Too many boats are not numbered in accordance with the law-which requires a legible, visible, contrasting number for good identification. The number should contrast strongly with the hull of the boat. A good many of the boats we've Officers to Be looked at have white numbers on a white hull—and the thin colored border around the number doesn't make it show up. Three things the Texas boat owner should do after getting his registration number from the Texas Highway Depart-

1. The solid-color area of the regulation three-inch, block letters must contrast with the hull of the boat. 2. The numbers should be located on each side of the for-ward half of the hull, as near to the stem as possible. 3. Between each part of the number there should be a hyphen or a space. Example: TX-1234-AA or TX 1234 AA.

Townsley said the boat-num-bering problem was nationwide, and that manufacturers who make boat numbers are helping out by increasing the size of the solid-color area of the boat number to a full three inches.

Coast Guard and local enforcement authorities will give owners of boats whose numbers do not meet the federal numbering specifications until July 1, 1961 to make necessary changes.

"The registrations are good," explained Townsley, "Now we want to get the numbers so we can read them. No matter what power rating a boat may carry, it is to the owner's advantage to register his boat. The boat's registration will provide an inexpensive way of quick and positive identification should the craft be stolen or involved in difficulty."

Plant Cover Is Best Protection Against Erosion

For the protection of cultivated land against erosion by and water, nothing can ake the place of continuous cover of dead or living plants,

This is true regardless of location, rainfall, soil, or the kind of farming or ranching that goes

In the area of Haskell County and surrounding parts, how ever, according to J. C. Yeary, Jr., Work Unit Conservationist, Haskell, the need for plant cover grows more important when conditions tend toward the dry side. At the same time getting good cover becomes a tougher job. But everyone seems to get a crop of small grains. If stands of small grains can be gotten. other types of crops can be planted with the expectation of securing a stand, Cover really sn't so hard to secure.

Experience has taught important lessons. We know that burning crop residues is one of the worst mistakes that can be made. And too much tillage wear out residues and therefore should be held to a minimum J. B. Dunnam, who farms north of Haskell, had a field of mulched wheat residues last summer that required over three weeks after the July rains to dry up enough to construct terraces. No water to speak of was lost from this field. The leaving of stubble and other erop residues on the surface of the soil has proved especially valuable in catching and holdng rainfall on the land.

Rice Alvis and Roy Wiseman, who farm midway between Rule and Haskell, and Henry Smith and Roy Fought of Matt son leave grain sorghum stub ble standing or on the soil surface through the winter and early spring months to prevent wind erosion in their fields. Standing stubble also aids in catching and holding snow to provide more moisture for the next crop

Leon Burson of Haskell, who farms just north of Rochester, sweeps his grain sorghum stub ble and then plants Austrian winter peas on his irrigated and for cover and soil improvng. He also uses many tons of otton burs for cover and soil protection as well as soil im-

Yeary concluded by stating hat stalks and s'raw put organic matter in the soil, someimes sorely needed in all culivated land, "The wise use of rop residues." Yeary said, "inluding stubble mulching, takes op billing in any conservation plan or plan of operations in the Great Plains Conservation Pro-

SCS Helps 477 Landowners In Soil Districts

A total of 477 farmers or ranchers cooperating with the California Creek and Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation Districts in the Haskell area were serviced by personnel of the Haskell Soil Conservation Servaccording to Work Unit Conservationist J. C. Yeary Jr., 315 of the 477 cooperators serviced applied one or more conservation practices. Basic plans and revisions of old basic plans were developed by 95 individual farmers or ranchers in

Highlighting the list of con-servation practices applied in the Haskell Work Unit Area during 1950 was conservation cropping systems applied on 5622 acres. Contour farming was established on 4053 acres. Over 19,000 acres of small grains residue was stubble mulched. The proper management of crop residues during the critical blow season last spring was accomplished on over 6000 acres. 93 miles of terraces were contructed and two waterways established to native grasses. Yeary stated that he and his staff were going to concentrate their efforts during 961 on serving more cooperators, securing the application of crop residue management practices to prevent wind and water erosion, more and better grassed waterways to dispose of excess runoff water, and better application of irrigation water.

There is a terrific waste of irrigation water each year," Yeary stated, "that could be used to irrigate many more

The staff at the Haskell Soil Conservation Service Office is always ready to serve farmers and ranchers of the area.
