Little League Schedule Finished With Hawks Holding 3-Game Lead

Final games in the 1961 major division of Haskell Little League were played last week, with the Hawks finishing out front by a 3-game margin over the second-place Cubs.

All games last week were make-up games due to rains and the Jaycees Rodeo early in the season. Results in the final games:

June 28—Hawks 4, Lions 0.
June 29—Lions 7, Rams 4.
June 30—Cubs 7, Tigers 0.
July 1—Tigers 9, Rams 5.
Pitchers Fourth No-Hitter.

The league's top-rated pitcher, H. J. (Rickey) Hambleton of the Hawks, pitched his fourth no-hitter of the season against the Lions on June 28.

Other highlights of last week's games included a double play, unassisted by the Tigers June 30, against the Cubs when Sam Rodriguez caught a fly and tagged the man who had started to run off second.

Saturday, July 1, a triple play was made in the top of the second inning by the Tigers against the Rams, when Andy Rodriguez caught a fly and threw to David Jacobs on first who trapped the runner off base, then fired the ball to second baseman Dulaney who nabbed the runner who had failed to tag up before running, after the fly was caught.

4 Games Left in Minor Division

In the minor division, four games remain to be played in winding up the season.

However, the Red Horse dominate this division and have a cinch on top place.

In the only games played during the past week, the Red Horses defeated the Owls 18 to 8, the Cats defeated the Frogs 15 to 3, and the Frogs won, 20 to 19, over the Cats.

For the four remaining games, plans are being considered to play them at night, possible.

Water District Tax Rate Remains at 50c

The 1961 tax rate on taxable property in the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority will be 50 cents on each $100 assessed valuation, it was announced following a regular meeting of the Authority's board of directors, held Thursday night in Munday.

This is the same tax rate as last year. Taxable property in the four towns comprising the Authority is assessed on the tax rolls at 65 per cent of present value, it is understood.

Based on total assessed valuations of the Authority's tax rolls, with collections estimated at 90 per cent, the 50-cent tax rate will be sufficient to finance construction of the dam and pay for the land needed for the reservoir on Miller Creek. This was the estimate given NCTMWA directors by Frank McMahon, fiscal agent for the Authority.

Jim Nichols of the Ft. Worth engineering firm of Freese, Nichols and Endress, engineers on the project, told directors that virtually all engineering work had been completed and that everything was about ready to let contracts.

Principal work remaining to be done, Nichols said, was the core drilling to check foundation sites for the pumping and filtering plants. These installations will be located on the Spann place east of Munday.

Because of litigation resulting from the case filed by J. E. Walling Jr. and others of Haskell challenging validity of the law creating the Authority, directors have held up advertising for bids and awarding contracts on the project.

Oral arguments in connection with the case will be heard in Austin by the State Supreme Court on July 19. Pending that hearing, progress toward starting actual construction has gone about as far as possible, directors stated.

They expressed confidence that constitutionality of the law setting up the Authority will be upheld by the higher court, and that a favorable ruling would eliminate any further litigation.

A financial report of the Authority for the year ending June 30, 1961, is to be prepared by R. E. Smith, Dallas CPA, and will be published in all newspapers in the Water Authority.

New Officers Take Posts In Rotary Club

New officers for the ensuing year assumed their places in the Rotary Club at the weekly luncheon and meeting Thursday and one new member was introduced.

Succeeding Thos. B. Robertson as president was R. A. (Shady) Lane, while E. J. Stewart became vice president, and Desmond Dulaney, sergeant-at-arms. W. R. (Roy) Johnson was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Past District Governor Robt. R. King introduced the incoming president, and explained that the customary installation ceremony would not be held at this time due to illness of outgoing president Thos. B. Robertson.

New member introduced was Rev. C. R. LeMond, pastor of the First Methodist Church. H. V. Woodard led the group in two songs, with Mrs. Ruthie Withers as accompanist at the piano.

President Lane, in a brief talk, stressed the importance of each member's obligation to Rotary. "Just as each citizen has an obligation to fulfill to his church, schools, and community, each of us has an obligation to fulfill as Rotarians," he said.

He announced plans for the district governor's visit in July, and stated the club's annual report would be worked up Friday night, June 30.

Announcement was made that the club was now more than a 200% club in contributions to Rotary Foundation Fellowship.

It was also announced that the new meeting place of the Rotary Club of Stamford was the Cliff House in that city, each Tuesday at noon.

Guest at the luncheon and meeting was Rev. W. C. Ray, new pastor of Central Baptist Church who was the guest of Rotarian J. V. Vestal. Rev. Ray comes to Haskell from Sweetwater.

About 9:30 p. m. the 10-year-old boy stepped outside the trailer to get some ice from a box, and was bitten on the foot by a rattlesnake.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardin immediately brought the boy to the Haskell Hospital where anti-venom shots were given.

The boy responded quickly to the treatment and will suffer no ill effects.

Things One Remembers

There has been much criticism of the prices charged for prescription drugs, says R. A. Lull, writing in the Industrial News Review. Continuing, he says:

The writer of this piece, as a layman, hasn't the slightest personal knowledge as to whether these criticisms are justified or not.

But he has just had an illuminating experience. He was struck with a sudden infection, diagnosed as an exceedingly severe case of erysipelas complicated by other disorders of a serious nature. There was severe pain, along with temperatures running to 104 degrees.

The treatment consisted primarily of heavy doses of antibiotics. Within three days infections and temperature were gone, and convalescence began.

As a matter of curiosity he asked the doctor, who is also an old friend, what would have happened in the same circumstances 50 years ago. The doctor answered: "You don't have to go back that far. Even when I started to practice, within the last 20-odd years, you'd probably have been dead in 24 hours. We didn't have the weapons to fight with."

The modern antibiotics used, bought at retail in a prescription pharmacy, cost something like $6.00.

The Next Drouth

In all the clutter now about taxation we should try to remember that the legislature, the governor, and the people themselves by not caring, have done nothing to cherish the waters that fall on the lands they nourish, points out the Texas Observer in a recent issue. The Observer continues:

It is always depressing to be reminded that California's water control programs are costing that state's taxpayers billions—that the people of California have the courage to act on an understanding of progress instead of covering before the dollar sign—and that, so far, Texans and the state they sustain have not.

We would recite this troubling editorial from the Waco Times Herald May 29:

Dr. Walter Orr Roberts of the High Altitude Observatory of the University of Colorado (said) in 1957 that "by 1972 or 975" we are likely to have seen a drouth of the great plains more severe and sustained than the recent drouths of the 1930s and 1950s. . . this great area is likely to face the granddaddy of all drouths.

Measures to effectively end pollution of streams and rivers are imperative. Measures to store rainfall instead of permitting it to run into the Gulf of Mexico are also imperative. Very little has been done commensurate with need. The prospect is dreary if we wait much longer."

Each legislator is responsible for all he does not do. Will one come forward—one, two, or three, that would be enough—and take adequate water control appropriations and programs in 1961? in 1963?

We do not know when the next drouth will come, but we know it will come.

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

We have learned that the incident at the ball park on the June tenth, when a Negro man was slugged with a baseball bat in the hands of his half brother, was a mistake after all—in the sense that the wrong man was hit.

There was no mistake about a man being clobbered. The sturdy blow edged him close to the bank of That River and he was hospitalized for several days. But it was all meant for another Negro man who was having much to say about the ball game in progress.

When the bat-wielder decided to do something about stopping the comment, he drew back with his bat and came around with a healthy swing. Just in time, the Other Man ducked, and the bat-slinger slugged his own half-brother with a blow that would have felled a fair-sized elephant.

Before the man with the bat could regain his balance and swing again, the Other Man had left the vicinity, our informant reports.

Tom and Sue Barfield are owners of what is believed to be Haskell's only cat with ambitions for space flight. Right now, the feline is in a phase of training which Sue and Tom describe as pre-orbital flight jumps and landings.

Answering to the name of "Precious"—a moniker given the feline as a kitten of undetermined gender—the cat quickly grew into the exact opposite of his name. At the same time, with feline instinct, he weaseled himself into the affections of his owners to the extent he was soon having his way in the Barfield household.

Recently, "Precious" developed the habit of sleeping on top of Tom's car, parked each night under the airport. Considerable coaxing is necessary to get "Precious" from his lounging spot so the car can be used.

Tuesday morning of last week, Tom was to do some work around the house but Sue needed to be at work at her customary time.

Without noticing "Precious" on top of the car, Sue backs out of the airport and heads for the highway. Strangely, the cat did not elect to quit his perch at that time.

Then, about two blocks down the highway, with Sue clipping along about 40 miles per hour, she was startled to see out of the corner of her eye something that appeared to have streaked just above the car and landed some 15 or 20 feet away in dense weeds.

Charlie Matthews, driving behind her in his truck, saw "Precious" make his take-off, and declared the cat must have leaped a "good 20 feet" to clear the highway barrow ditch and land in thick weeds.

Sue, worried about the pet, and certain he'd spent one of his nine lives, drove back and called several times, but a contrary "Precious" refused to answer.

At noon, however, he was "Johnny-on-the-spot" for chow. Sulkily and apparently at odds with Sue, "Precious" meowed incessantly to Tom, evidently giving him a full account of the space flight.

Rev. Oscar Bruce, likable Methodist pastor here for several years, who was recently transferred to Post, will remember his last service at Paint Creek Methodist Church for a long time.

A stranger entering the church shortly after the service started, would have been dismayed to see women with brooms and men with sticks or anything they could lay their hands on, rushing toward the lectern where Rev. Bruce had been standing talking.

The weather was warm, and a window had been left raised near the table or lectern used by Rev. Bruce when he started his talk.

Members of the congregation were startled when a small snake crawled through the window and onto the table, and they were momentarily speechless as the snake crawled around a vase of flowers on the table, then partly off one end of the table, all the time unnoticed by Rev. Bruce. However, he was probably puzzled by the oh's, ah's and subdued murmurs of what he must have thought was one of the wackiest congregations he'd ever faced.

Suddenly, one woman broke the spell, "Brother Bruce, we can't pay attention to you because we're afraid of that snake there on the table."

Action followed as brooms and sticks were brought into play in the battle against the reptile, a harmless grass snake, but extremely lively. Finally, one man in the congregation cornered the snake, gingerly picked it up behind the head and carried it outside where it was quickly executed.

If the Barfields cat "Precious" thinks that he's had a rough time, consider the plight of a mother cat with four kittens and an adopted "baby" owned by a Latin American family in Throckmorton.

Rev. Luis Gomez, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Mission, a Latin church here, also does missionary work in adjoining towns, and we are indebted to him for the following story.

Isabel Navarro, Latin laborer of Throckmorton, was recently given a baby pig, the "run" in a litter. He carried the small pig home and placed it in a small shed at the Navarro home.

The Navarros family cat recently had kittens, and the mother cat is also using the small shed as a home for her brood of four kittens.

Rev. Gomez says the mother cat has now adopted the pig, and that he witnessed the strange sight of kittens and pig nursing together the other day. The mother cat apparently has no objection to the extra boarder, the preacher says.

Legalizing the sale of beer in the areas adjacent to Haskell has had a perceptible effect on the cost of farming operations, we have been told.

Although roundabout and not directly a part of farming, the cost is there just the same.

One farmer, who works several thousand acres and necessarily employs a large number of farm workers, explains it this way:

In order to keep a sufficient number of dependable workers, generally Latins, the farm operator advances money for "living expenses" for the workers and their family during slack seasons in the summer.

In the case of this particular farm operator, the advances for each of his workers had remained fairly stable from year to year.

After the Old Glory precinct voted in beer, this farm operator noticed his "steady" farm workers were needing more money than usual when they asked for slack period advances.

Keeping careful check, and noting that a few of the men were having to pay occasional fines, he finally figured an estimate of the increased cost.

According to his figures, as a result of beer being more easily obtainable, his farm workers have upped their request for advances on an average of $5 per week.

Now, since sale of all alcoholic beverages has been legalized in the Sagerton Justice precinct, he's wondering if this will result in another increase in "living expenses" for Latin farm workers.

Final outcome, he believes, is that farm operators, for their own protection, will discontinue the practice of making advances to farm laborers. "In the past, when the advance was needed for actual living expenses, it worked out fairly satisfactorily," he said. "But to advance a worker money to get drunk on, and again to pay his fine, is a different story. It's no soap as far as I'm concerned," he declared.

A certain little Haskellurchin came home proudly clutching an expensive toy motor car.

"Where did you get that, Tommy," queried his mother.

"I got it from Johnny for doing him a favor," said Tommy, putting the car away.

"What was the favor," "I was hitting him on the head," Tommy replied, "and he asked me to stop."

"We also are considering the value of teaching machines and other methods for helping students learn faster and absorb more in a shorter length of time," he added.

Coleman City Council Eliminates All Utility Rate Concessions

As a followup of recent action to eliminate all financial assistance by the City of Coleman to programs and organizations, after being advised by their City Attorney that city funds could not be legally spent for such programs, Coleman city officials have taken further action along this line, reports the Coleman Democrat-Voice.

The following news story is taken from the June 20 issue of the Democrat-Voice.

The City Council yesterday took action to eliminate all utility rate concessions, as such has also been declared illegal under Texas laws.

Affected are the city schools, Holiday Hill, Overall Memorial Hospital, etc. The action means that these groups pay a higher utility bill in the future, as they will be charged at the regular rate structure. In the past a low "flat rate" has been charged to these groups.

Concerning schools, the system has 18 different meters. In the past the flat rate has been charged in all but one of the meters. According to action yesterday, regular rates will be charged on each meter.

A ruling on the matter has been obtained from the Texas League of Municipalities, addressed to City Attorney R. E. Murphey. Mr. Murphey states that a ruling from the league is "about the same as a ruling from the Attorney General." The letter is reprinted below, as a matter of public interest and information.

R. E. Murphey, City Attorney, City of Coleman, Coleman, Texas.

Dear Mr. Murphey:

Thank you for your recent letter to the League concerning the legality of your Council making donations of city funds to various programs instituted by civic groups.

Sections 50, 51 and 52 of Article 3, and Section 3 of Article 11, of the Constitution of Texas expressly prohibits a city from giving or donating public funds or anything of value in aid of any individual, association, or corporation whatever. Any action of the city which violates this Constitutional prohibition is void. Tompkins v. Williams, Tex. Com., on App., 62 S. W. 2d 70; T. and N. O. Railway Company v. Galveston County, 141 Tex. 34, 189 S. W. 2d 713; Texas National Guard Armory v. McGraw, Tex. Supr. Ct., 126 S. W. 2d 637; and San Antonio Independent School District v. Board of Trustees, 204 S. W. 2d 22 error refused, n.r.e. In the last cited case (204 S. W. 2d 25) the court said: "A city cannot donate its funds to an independent municipal corporation such as an independent school district, Sections 51 and 52, Article 3, Constitution of the State of Texas; City of El Paso v. Carroll, Tex. Civ. App., 108 S. W. 2d 251 (wr. ref.)."

As you can see from the above authorities, a city making donations of its funds to any outside activities other than those actually a part of the municipal government comes into direct conflict with these Constitutional prohibitions. If your City conducts certain programs under its parks and recreation department such as swimming programs, etc., then of course public funds may be expended for these programs. However, where the swimming program is not at all connected with your city government, it will not be possible for the city to make a donation to another individual, corporation or association conducting such a program. Perhaps your City could hire the swimming instructors for a certain period of time in order to make available swimming classes for all children in your City.

Your City may not make any contributions to a welfare home not owned and controlled by your City, and this would include the giving of lower utility rates. The giving of lower rates for lights, water and sewers is certainly a donation of "anything of value" and in this case would be an aid of an individual, association, or corporation. This same prohibition would apply to your hospital, Boy Scouts, Little League, etc.

Again, thank you for your inquiry, and if we may be of any additional assistance, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely yours,
Robert T. Davis
Research Attorney
Texas Municipal League

On Honor Roll at U-T Pharmacy College

James D. Freshour of Haskell was among the 88 honor students listed on the spring semester honor roll at the University of Texas College of Pharmacy, Austin.

A graduate of Haskell High School, James is the son of Mrs. Imogene Freshour of Seymour.

Four Students Attend Methodist Church Assembly

Four high school students from Haskell attended the annual Senior Assembly of the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Church on the campus of McMurry College, June 26-30.

The Methodist young people met daily in workshop and study groups, for organized fellowship, recreation, and worship during the week-long assembly. They resided in McMurry's dormitories and had their meals in the college dining hall.

Theme for the assembly was, "My Living Bible," and daily worship and study were built around the Bible theme.

Speaker for the assembly was the Rev. Bill Kent, former missionary to Bolivia and now associate pastor of St. Paul Methodist Church in Abilene.

Assembly delegates from Haskell were: Donna Brown, Vicki McClure, Tommy McGowan and John Kimbrough.

Haskell Native is Amateur Florida Naturalist

A former Haskell man, born and reared here, Joe Larned of Bradley, Fla., has become an authority on fossils of prehistoric animals as the result of his hobby of collecting fossils of now-extinct animals.

Larned is the son of Mrs. Mae Larned of Haskell. A link to animal history was recently discovered by the amateur Florida naturalist, when he found a claw of the Megatherium (ground sloth) while digging in a phosphate pit at Brewster, Fla., near his home town of Bradley.

"It's the only complete claw ever found of the animal," said Larned. "This will be quite a find and one that will help in animal evolution history," he explained to a newspaper reporter.

Larned discovered the claw, which measures 12 inches long and 8 1/2 inches wide, while hunting for other fossils. He also recovered part of its jaw and teeth.

The only other link to this huge specimen was uncovered in the same general area by a Prof. Theodore E. White in 1941. This claw was so badly broken, it had to be restored with plaster, however.

Today, the specimen of this partial claw is in the Cambridge Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard University at Cambridge, Mass.

The teeth of the animal found by Larned measure approximately 2 1/2 inches wide and five inches long. The claw was also in such good condition that blood veins are still visible.

Larned said he should be able to recover enough of the bones of the animal to reconstruct it with some degree of accuracy. He estimated the jawbone would be about the size of an elephant.

The overall size of the creature, according to Larned, will measure between 40 and 50 feet, weighing between 15,000 and 20,000 pounds. This generally is the size of two huge elephants.

"After all calculations, the results should show it was as big as any animal could ever get without bogging down in the sand," he said.

Larned said he conferred with officials of several Florida museums about the discovery and "they thought it was quite a find."

The Megatherium was a herbivorous creature that dates back more than 10 million years. Smaller sizes are still alive in South America.

Why the animal became extinct in this country is one of the big mysteries of science, but it is generally believed that during the Ice Age it became too cold for them to live.

Smaller size fossil remains have been discovered in other parts of the United States and Europe, but Larned said this size ground sloth apparently lived only in Central Florida.

The ground sloth was a sluggish animal and although they attained prodigious sizes, it is believed their brain weighed only a few ounces.

Larned will keep the fossils in his private collection.

Young Haskell Engineer Believes Old Glory 'Mines' to Be Developed

A former Haskell man, a graduate of Haskell High School, who is now an electronics engineer with Kennecott Copper Corporation in Silver City, N. M., believes there is a good possibility that recent ore findings along the Salt Fork north of Old Glory in neighboring Stonewall County will eventually be developed.

He is Sam Gay, who with his wife of four months, visited here last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. (Dude) Gay and other relatives. Sam grew up here and graduated from Haskell High School in 1953. He later attended John Tarleton and New Mexico State, where he received his degree in electrical engineering.

While here last week, Sam spent considerable time looking over the site of recent ore findings north of Old Glory, where one company has been organized to conduct mining operations.

The youthful engineer is familiar with that country, having lived in Stonewall County as a boy.

He picked up numerous samples of ore which he plans to have assayed, out of curiosity to learn the different kinds of metals they contain. In talking with discoverers of the ore strata, Gay was told that 14 minerals had been found in the assays made to date. One is a rare metal used in electronic equipment, he said.

From his observations and talks with those interested in the find, Gay thinks the principal mining development will be for copper as that seems to be the predominant ore. "I think there is a very definite possibility that it will be developed," he stated.

Gay made it clear that he was not speaking for the company he is working for, but that his opinion is based on what he has seen and has been told about the assays that have been made to date.

Mr. and Mrs. Gay returned to Silver City Sunday. They were accompanied by his younger brother, James, who will visit there for a while.

Ray Hill Joins Father and Brother For Two Weeks Tour of 'Old South'

Raymond (Ray) Hill, who with Mrs. Hill own and operate the Ben Franklin Store here, has returned from a two weeks vacation tour which carried him to Washington D. C. and points of interest in Virginia and Maryland, as well as other areas of the Old South.

First stage of his trip carried the Haskell man by plane to Chicago, Ill., where he was met by his father, C. E. Hill of Wyoming, Mich., and a brother, Sidney Hill, of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The three then drove to Washington D. C., visiting briefly at points along their route. After touring Washington, they went to Arlington, Va., where they spent several days visiting relatives.

From Arlington they went to Southern Maryland, where C. E. Hill was born and reared. Despite the passing of years, Mr. Hill was able to locate many places with which he was familiar during his boyhood, and pointed out many interesting places for his sons.

They next went to Norfolk, Va., to visit a daughter and sister and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Green and children in that city.

One of the highlights of their tour of Southern Maryland was a visit to the small homeplace of a Negro woman, still living, who had worked for the Hill family when C. E. Hill was a child.

The Negro woman, now 113 years old, still lives in the small house which was sold her by the elder Hill's mother in 1901. The house, well preserved, still stands unchanged today after the passage of some 60-odd years.

Remarkably, the aged Negro retains fairly alert faculties, and to the surprise of her visitors, recognized the elder Hill and they talked about many incidents of his boyhood.

Mr. Hill returned to Haskell last weekend. During his absence, Mrs. Hill handled the management of their large store.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES

No other wagon can match Ford's features (or popularity!)

There's a whole wagonload of Ford features that only America's station wagon specialists can bring you.

First, there's more room. Ford's extended load deck is the longest and widest in its field. The tailgate opening is seven inches wider than last year, too.

There's more convenience. You can roll an electrically controlled roll-down rear window in any Ford wagon... it's standard in all Country Squires and 9-Passenger Country Sedans. In their field, only Ford wagons have all seats facing forward.

There's more distinction. The Country Squire (shown above) is the one and only wagon in its field with body panels that look like mahogany, wear like steel.

There are more savings, too. Ford's Ranch Wagon is America's lowest-priced,* full-size wagon. And like all Fords, every Ford wagon is built to be more service-free: goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 4,000 miles between oil changes, brakes adjusted automatically, mufflers are made to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers, and the finish never needs waxing.

STOP putting off that station wagon you've always wanted. SWAP for a '61 Ford wagon now while your Ford Dealer's celebrating record-breaking sales. SAVE with the wagon America loves most... made by FORD... America's station wagon specialists for 32 years!
