CMSAF James C. Binnicker

Tomorrow the Annual Enlisted Awards Banquet will put three Reese members another step closer toward becoming one of the Air Force's 12 Outstanding Airmen of 1986.

Social hour begins at 6 p.m. and dinner at 6:30 at the Officer's Open Mess. The event is hosted by the Noncommissioned Officers Academy Graduates Association. Formal dress is required.

Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force James C. Binnicker will be the guest speaker.

Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force James C. Binnicker is advisor to the secretary and the chief of staff of the U.S. Air Force on matters concerning welfare, effective utilization and progress of the enlisted members of the Air Force. He is the ninth chief master sergeant appointed to this ultimate noncommissioned officer position.

Leaving Vietnam in September 1969, he moved to Robins Air Force Base, Ga.

Chief Binnicker served as the Air Force enlisted representative and senior enlisted advisor on the President's Commission on Military Compensation from October 1977 to April 1978. He returned to 12th Air Force as senior enlisted advisor and in June 1978 he was appointed senior enlisted advisor to the commander in chief, Pacific Air Forces, Hickam Air Force Base. In June 1981 he was assigned to Randolph Air Force Base, Texas, first as chief of the Enlisted Retention Division, Manpower and Personnel Center, and in May 1982 he was appointed assistant for chief master sergeant matters. He became senior enlisted advisor to the commander, Tactical Air Command, Langley Air Force Base, Va., in May 1985. He assumed his present duties in July 1986.

He was promoted to chief master sergeant Feb. 1, 1976. In February 1985 he was selected for the 33 Year Extended Tenure Program.

Airman sentenced to four months

On Oct. 30, 1986, A1C Randall R. Evers, 64th OMS, was tried by a special court-martial, judge alone. In accordance with his pleas he was found guilty of assault with a dangerous weapon, communicating a threat, disorderly conduct, and destruction of government property, specifically a dorm room chair.

On Sept. 6, 1986, A1C Evers procured a 10 and one-half inch buck knife from his room and confronted another military member. While holding the knife,

A1C Evers then threatened the other member and a struggle followed. Fortunately, no one was seriously injured from the assault, although the circumstances surrounding the assault and the size of the knife could have easily lent themselves to serious injury being inflicted on one or more of the parties involved.

The military judge sentenced A1C Evers to be reduced to the lowest enlisted grade, to forfeit $1,704 and to be confined for four months.

As I see it

By Col. James McIntyre
Wing Commander
64th Flying Training Wing
Reese AFB, Texas

This will be brief. The truth is that I'm writing these words a week early—Nov. 14 to be exact. The reason for this is that a DoD sponsored "Commanders' West Conference" has taken me out of pocket all week. Still, there are so few opportunities for me to communicate with all of the Reese folks that I hate to waste even one opportunity in this AS I SEE IT.

See You At The Banquet

By the time I return to Reese on Friday, Nov. 21, we will all be looking forward to a tremendous Enlisted Awards Banquet Saturday evening—no doubt the best ever with CMSgt. James Binnicker as our honored guest. To me, this affair is a highlight of the year. The theme of this year's banquet, "The Year of the Family," suits Reese well. I guarantee that I've never seen a wing anywhere that is as closely knit and family conscious. I'll comment further along these lines in my closing remarks at the banquet. See you all there.

Thanks

A special thanks to all the folks who pitched in to help prepare Reese Village and the Family Housing Branch for the Air Force Housing Inspection Team which visited us Nov. 16-18. Though the results aren't known yet, I am confident that we did well. Thanks a lot for everyone's hard work.

Col. James McIntyre

Air Force Sergeants Association

One of the more significant contributors to the Reese community is our local chapter 1068 of the Air Force Sergeants Associations which is headed up by SMSgt. Jimmy Robinson. Under his leadership, our chapter is moving out with renewed vigor this year. That's great to see—and important for all of you to know. They sure have my full backing and support, and I'd ask that all of you consider why. Much of what we do to reward our Reese "winners" would not be possible without our AFSA troops. For example, since May 86, the AFSA has sponsored awards for our Honor Guard Members of the Month, Quarter, and Year, and their next fund raiser will go toward purchasing a new bugle for the Honor Guard.

Additionally, starting with NCO Leadership School Class 87-A, our chapter will sponsor the Leadership and Management Award for each graduating NCOLS class.

These things may seem small on the surface, but they are not. Being involved and doing one's part in helping enhance the morale and welfare of our own people is an important characteristic of the Reese team. We all win when this attitude prevails. Think about how you might be able to help and get involved. AS I SEE IT that's what helps make us a close family.

Care line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. James McIntyre, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, on a weekly basis. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty telephone number so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers should use the CARE Line only after all possible means to air their views or complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARE Line number is 885-(Ext.) 3273.

Consider others when parking in Reese Village

I live in base housing and I have a suggestion to make for people who park vehicles in Reese Village. Many people park in other peoples' parking spots. I think some do this because they don't know they are in the wrong spot. My suggestion is to mark the curb with an identification of the house authorized to park there. Then let people know they will be ticketed if they park there illegally.

I know it can be frustrating if you can't park your car in front of your own house, but we shouldn't have to resort to using our security police forces to enforce parking in Reese Village. After all, we are all neighbors and ought to be able to get along with each other—and I think we do a pretty good job at it most of the time. I would like to take this opportunity to ask all Reese Village residents to be considerate of your neighbors my making every attempt to park in front of your own house. If there is a problem, please talk it over with your neighbor first—that alone can work wonders. Thanks for your call.

Special diet, special menu

I attended an official function recently at the Enlisted Club. The affair had a set menu but I am on a special diet that excluded the fare being served that evening. Knowing this, Pauline Reed and Vicki Morris went out of their way to prepare for me a special supper that was altogether different from the menu. I guess that's just another example of the Reese spirit—the way people from the club go out of their way to help. I really appreciate it.

Super! I'm glad that special "Reese spirit" touched you personally. You observed first hand what I've known for a long time: that the MWR staff strive to make "service to Reese people" their number one goal! Thanks to you also for taking the time to recognize something extra. You've obviously caught the "Reese spirit" yourself.

Kudos to...

Capt. Scott Barger, Capt. Karen Evans, MSgt. Robert Hotaling, A1C Herbert Siefhart, A1C Valin Groat, and Gwendolyn Grant for their superb support of the South Plains Boy Scout summer camps. Their excellent work as organizers and medics was an extremely valuable service to the camps...Mr. Jim Cummings, South Plains Council President, Boy Scouts of America.

Maj. Doug Lane for an outstanding job in the Combined Federal Campaign. Under his leadership, Reese passed the goal and funds are still coming in...Ms. Marjorie Cone Kastman, Campaign Chairman, United Way of Lubbock.

Amn. Yolanda Blount, Amn. Gregory Early, and Amn. Lonnie Owens for their professionalism in running the 64th OMS Administrative Section. Although still in upgrade training, these superb airmen flawlessly handled the demands of the squadron...from Lt. Col. Clifton Hardison, Commander, 64th OMS.

2nd Lt. Susan Shankland and 2nd Lt. Christopher Cook for outstanding achievement as Honor Graduates from the ATC Maintenance Management School. Their examination averages were 20 percent higher than the class average...MSgt. James A. Powell, Commandant, ATC Maintenance Management School.

Commander's Column

After all, it is Thanksgiving

by Lt. Col. William M. Drennan
Deputy Commander for Operations

We get a day off next Thursday, a break in the action to celebrate Thanksgiving. I tried hard to come up with a subject for this article that didn't have something to do with Thanksgiving—it seemed a little too obvious, slightly unimaginative, to pen a few lines about a holiday that everyone is anticipating. (Is there anyone out there who doesn't know that Thanksgiving is next Thursday?) But whether it's lack of imagination or not, I couldn't get Thanksgiving out of my mind, and it forced me to think about those things for which I'm most thankful.

The following come to mind—in no particular order. I'm thankful we're at peace. To paraphrase former Texas governor John Connally, "I've seen war, and I've seen peace. Peace is better." I'm thankful to be associated with the rest of you in uniform—you're a big part of the reason we're at peace. I'm thankful for my family, for the love and support which they have never failed to provide and without which I could not devote 25 hours a day to the Air Force—or so it appears to them. I'm thankful to those folks in the DO complex who do work 25 hours a day backing the primary mission at Reese AFB, and to our brothers and sisters throughout the Wing who help us do it.

I'm thankful to be among the fortunate few in the world who can call themselves Americans. I'm thankful to those U.S. servicemen and women who preceded us, whose sacrifices preserved the freedom we enjoy today. I'm thankful to God, for all the above, and much more. Happy Thanksgiving.

Plan a safe holiday

by Lt. Col. Phillip S. Marzolino
Wing Safety Chief

Thanksgiving is the traditional beginning of the holiday season. Starting with this time, most of us start becoming more involved with parties, Christmas shopping, and plans to make trips to be with our families over Christmas. I'd like to take this space to talk about some common sense planning in each of these areas.

First, let's talk about parties. The message, "Don't drive drunk" has been out for some time, and I know each of you is aware of the inherent hazards associated with alcohol and the highways; however, the warning bears repeating since each year we see evidence of someone attempting to press their luck. The solution is simple: if you're attending the party and plan on drinking, make arrangements for someone else to drive and if you're giving the party, draw up a plan to take care of those who have been drinking that will keep them from being behind the wheel. An extra word of caution—expect the unexpected. I remember one unit party I attended at Reese where the weather was beautiful when we arrived, but by the time we left, a front had moved through, and there was two inches of snow covering everything.

These types of changing conditions can easily happen and present an added hazard getting home.

Christmas shopping can involve some unique challenges, particularly if there are some little ones on your list. Each year we read stories of where the holiday has turned to tragedy for some family due to a fatal accident involving a child and a Christmas present. Plan ahead! Check the recommended age on the toy with the age of the child for which you're buying the present. Look for the obvious hazards—are there small pieces the child can place in their mouth (that is where virtually every small child will first try out the new toy) and get choked, will proper adult supervision be available for those toys that require it.

Additionally, do your Christmas decorations constitute a hazard? Are the trees fresh? Are they placed in a good location away from fireplaces? Will the stand keep them watered and provide sufficient support to keep them from being knocked over? Also, have you checked those old lights to insure the wiring is still good? A little planning can insure a festive season rather than a tragedy.

Finally, what about that trip home? Some well earned leave at home with family and friends can be a high point for the year if you plan it right. Now is the time to make reservations if you're flying or to plan the route if driving. I recommend each person draw up their own individual checklist for their trip. This checklist should incorporate several important questions: Have I allocated enough time to make the trip without pressing into the danger zone of fatigue?

Have I got a back-up plan in case the weather doesn't cooperate? If driving, have I had my car checked thoroughly for any defects that might show up on the road? Supervisors—have you reviewed the predeparture briefing and are you prepared to adequately counsel that young troop prior to their trip?

Obviously, I can't cover everything in this short article. I'm sure each of you can add several items to those I've already listed, and you'll possibly find that it takes less time than reading this article did. Most importantly, however, you'll never miss the small amount of time it took to plan a safe holiday season but it may keep you from a lifetime of regret for failing to plan.

Thanksgiving message—

President Ronald Reagan

1986 Thanksgiving Day message to the members of the armed forces from President Ronald Reagan.

"In this Thanksgiving season, it is appropriate that we once more pause and take time to thank God for another year of peace and freedom. And as your commander in chief, I thank all of you who wear the uniform of our country for your role in preserving those blessings for your fellow Americans.

Throughout our history, Thanksgiving has found Americans grateful to God that he has steered our Nation's course through trying as well as Tranquil times.

Our first President, George Washington, aware of the many threats to this young nation, observed with humility the 'Great degree of tranquility, union, and plenty' Americans enjoyed, and made Thanksgiving the first nationally proclaimed holiday in 1789, the year of his inauguration.

Abraham Lincoln, in the midst of the dark days of the Civil War, perceived the blessings that perdured through the rage and fire of a divided nation. In spite of the devastation all about him, he saw in this country 'bounties...of so extraordinary a nature that they cannot fail to penetrate and soften the heart,' and he called on all Americans to thank the beneficent God from whom these blessings flowed.

Over the years, our nation has triumphed in many difficult contests. If we face challenges in the future, I am confident that, with the help of the almighty and with your skill and dedication, we will triumph anew.

Happy Thanksgiving to you and your families. To those of you serving on ships at sea and at isolated and dangerous posts around globe, Nancy and I send our special thanks. God bless all of you."

President,
Ronald Reagan

Thanksgiving message—

Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger

"On Thanksgiving Day, 1986, Americans everywhere will give thanks, continuing a tradition started more than three centuries ago by our pilgrim forebears.

Thanksgiving is a special time for Americans, a time to be together with family and loved ones, enjoy a good dinner, and watch parades and football games. For those of you on duty this Thanksgiving, separated from your families, I want you to know that your sacrifice is recognized and deeply appreciated by thoughtful Americans everywhere.

We Americans have much to be grateful for—A robust economy and the freedom to live, speak, work and worship as we choose. Peace is not maintained by merely proclaiming that we seek peace. It is maintained by the sometimes tedious, sometimes dangerous, and always necessary daily business of remaining strong, alert, and prepared to defend our precious liberties.

To every soldier, sailor, airman and marine and to all your families, I send my warmest wishes for a Happy Thanksgiving.

Secretary of Defense,
Caspar Weinberger

Not a pilot for a paycheck

by Col. Marvin S. Ervin
Norton AFB, Calif.

I had a pleasant surprise the other day as I walked into the officers' club. I rounded the corner in the main hallway and came face to face with a sharp captain I have known for only the past two months.

I will refer to this sharp captain as Captain X since he'd probably be embarrassed if I printed his name here. Well, as Captain X and I exchanged greetings, he produced a carefully folded sheet of paper from his pocket.

He had a very contented expression as he invited me to read his typed letter. Just so I don't spoil his message by conditioning your response to his letter, I'd like to read it "cold" as I did:

"Although many of my peers are not aware as of yet, I stopped my separation request today. Like many of the pilots who edged into their six-month window before termination of their pilot training commitment, I applied for separation. Not so much for dissatisfaction with the Air Force, as for the chance to excel in a new arena. With the current airline hiring boom, I had little doubt about the direction or success of my future civilian career.

"I was transferred to the simulator for the last months of my active duty service, where I would administer evaluations to both the active and reserve wings' pilots. It was in this close association with the airline pilots who fly reserves that I first began to be troubled by my decision to leave the Air Force. Not that the airline pilots were bad guys, rather many were and are my friends. But, in all the discussions, not once was a 'greater good' mentioned. The guys basically worked for a paycheck and owed their more to a better contract and perhaps a better offer than to a greater good.

"This greater good is more important to me than the eventual financial rewards of a successful airline career. I flew the initial resupply of Marines to Beirut after the terrorist bombing there and immediately returned to participate in the rescue efforts on Grenada. I truly believe my actions had contributed to something important then and I liked how it felt.

"Through this somewhat circuitous route, I discovered the feelings which motivated me to enter into the service of my country so long ago still controlled my heart and hence my actions. Although I've always been proud of my position as a member of the U.S. Air Force, I believe I now have a greater appreciation of why. You see, I've never worked for just a paycheck before."

I can't add much to what Captain X had to say. He realizes at a very young age what so many of us take years and often many jobs to figure out—happiness is derived from within when we feel we have served a greater cause and monetary compensation will never replace personal satisfaction over the long haul. Thank you, Captain X. We're all looking for satisfaction over the long haul and some of us have found it. (Courtesy of MAC News Service)

Automobiles recalled

Ford Motor Co. is recalling approximately 250,000 cars and 162,000 trucks. Included are about 162,000 1985 and

The company will also recall approximately 258,000 Ford Tempo and Mercury Topaz vehicles to replace bolts in the seat assembly. Ford said the two bolts that attach the driver's seat-back assembly to the seat-cushion frame may fracture during vehicle use. That could cause the seat-back to recline. The condition is alleged to have caused one minor accident and five minor injuries.

Contract dental care to begin

The Defense Department, in getting ready to begin the new Active Duty Dependents Dental Plan, has asked for bids on a contract to provide dental benefits to the dependents of active-duty service members.

The "request for proposals" was released Oct. 31. The bidding period ends Jan. 7, 1987; after evaluation of the bids, the contract is expected to be awarded in early April 1987.

Under the contract, active-duty families will be automatically enrolled in the dental program and will pay a small monthly premium—probably no more than $10, since about 60 percent of the premium will be paid by the government. The family members (not the active-duty military sponsors themselves) will receive diagnostic, oral examination and preventive dental services at no additional charge (unless they decide to go to a dental care provider who doesn't participate in the new dental program) in addition to the monthly premium.

Besides cost-sharing the monthly premium, the dental plan will pay 80 percent of charges for basic restorative services such as cavity fillings, stainless steel crowns, and repairs to dental appliances, such as false teeth.

Payment of the monthly premium share will be through payroll deduction.

Since enrollment is automatic, military sponsors will have to fill out a disenrollment form to drop out of the program, or to decline participation for their families. This process of confirming enrollment will take place next spring.

Military dental clinics will continue to provide dependent dental care on a space-available basis, and families may choose between relying on space-available care or enrolling in the new dental plan for the services covered by the plan.

Enrollments will be for a minimum of two years. The planned start-up date for dental benefits is Aug. 1, 1987.

The dental benefits program will not be open to military retirees or their families, to survivors of deceased active or retired military members, or to former spouses of service members.

Suggestion program needs suggestions

by Robin Ream
Staff Writer, Roundup

Air Training Command members were awarded $281,838 for money saving ideas submitted through the Air Force Suggestion Program in Fiscal Year 1986.

Reese is off to a good start this fiscal year, with a participation rate of 3.13 percent, the AIMS goal is 1.13 percent. The AIMS goal for adoption of ideas is .25 percent. The adoption rate at Reese is 1.28 percent.

Headquarters ATC is planning to change the AIMS goal and it will be more difficult to reach the new one.

The Air Force suggestion program seeks ideas to help the service do jobs better, faster or cheaper. Your ideas are needed, send them in!

If you're

...about progress in resolving the POW and MIA issue: Admiral William Crowe Jr., chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, on July 19 reassured the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia of this nation's continuing commitment and of recent progress in resolving the POW and MIA issue. Admiral Crowe listed:

—Enhanced intelligence resources. He said intelligence priorities for the POW and MIA issue have been "refined" to bring the "entire intelligence apparatus to bear more directly on the problem."

—An increased responsiveness by the governments of Vietnam and Laos to U.S. concerns.

—Continuing efforts to locate and free any live Americans who may still be in Southeast Asia. He said, "The U.S. government operates on the assumption that at least some Americans are still being held captive, which we believe is the only position to take."

Admiral Crowe said the United States presses for answers in the face of factors which might discourage nations without the resolve of America. "This is what America is all about—mustering expertise and technology to overcome the adverse and unkind circumstances," he told the families.

He said that despite hopeful signs, "This is a painful process and final success remains elusive."

Weather

by TSgt. Mark J. Campbell
Det 11, 24 Weather Squadron

For the first time in a long while, the weather at Reese became a little more normal and desirable. For most of the week, the temperatures have been mild, staying in the mid-sixties and lower seventies and the overnight lows in the mid-forties. Winds made their appearance resulting from disturbances that continually moved through the area throughout the week. On Wednesday morning rainshowers entered the area during the morning hours producing .11 inches of rainfall. The winds have been out of the west and occasionally gusting to 35 knots but then again, for anybody that has been at Reese for any length of time will remember that this is nothing out of the ordinary.

The weather trend for the next few days will not be bad at all. On Friday the area will be under the remnants of a high pressure center that moved into the area late Wednesday, early Thursday. The skies on Friday should remain partly cloudy with temperatures in the mid sixties and the overnight low of about forty. The winds should remain predominately out of the south well into the weekend.

As a result of the southerly wind direction, the temperatures will be a little warmer on Saturday but by late Saturday and into early Sunday, there will be a minor frontal passage from the north and this will switch the winds around once again out of the north. There will be a small chance of precipitation associated with the increasing cloudiness resulting from frontal passage Saturday evening. The front appears to be moving quite rapidly and is expected to be through the area by late Sunday leaving the rest of the weekend quite pleasant. The temperatures on Saturday will be around the upper sixties to the lower seventies with the overnight lows expected in the mid forties. The winds will be gusty on Saturday and Sunday because of the presence of the front. On Saturday the winds are expected out of the south while on Sunday, the winds should begin to come out of the north. For the early part of next week, there is no real threatening system moving into the Reese area at this time. Have a pleasant weekend since Mother Nature is out causing trouble for other portions of the world and leaving us alone.

Chapel Notes

New adult forums will be starting up this winter during the Protestant Christian Education hour (1000 on Sunday mornings). Come and learn about Christian life, using the "fruit of the Spirit" (Galatians 5:22f), or come and learn about how the books of the Scriptures were written, collected, and formally gathered into the Bible as we know it today. Who determined which writings should be formally recognized as "inspired" and authoritative, and on what grounds did they make those decisions? Come to our study on the Development of the (Biblical) Canon, and learn the answer to these and other important and interesting questions.

Last chance to contact Chaplain Stroud to express your interest in attending the informal (week-night) class on basic Christian doctrines. Call him for more information if you are interested.

The Catholic Adult Education Discussion Group meets each Sunday from 11:00 to 12:00 in the Blessed Sacrament Chapel. Topics for discussion and study are put forward by the group. The group is open to anyone who wants a question answered.

Catholic Men of the Chapel meet the last Tuesday of the month at 6:30 a.m. for Mass, fellowship, and a short spiritual enrichment program. All Catholic men are invited to attend.

Have you ever gone on a Marriage Encounter weekend? If you have, and your marriage was blessed by it, give Chaplain Stroud a call. He and his wife are wondering if there is enough interest at Reese to begin a monthly "Love Circle" fellowship, so that encountered couples could continue to encourage and support one another's marriage.

Last Wednesday, the Women of the Chapel enjoyed a dramatic presentation about St. Peter by Rev. "Doc" Henry. Watch for our future programs. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Be sure to make your Thanksgiving Day, a Day of Giving Thanks. To help you center this special time around its true meaning, the chapel is offering two special Thanksgiving services on Thursday, November 27th:

9:45-Catholic Thanksgiving Mass
11:00-Protestant Thanksgiving Service

Movies

The Mathis Recreation Center offers free movies, this week, the dates have been changed due to the Kris Kringle Karnival being held Friday through Sunday.

Thursday, at 7 p.m.—Getting Even, starring Edward Albert and Joe Don Baker. A successful Dallas industrialist is ordered by the United States government to obtain a deadly new poison gas from the Russians and develop an antidote. A rival chemical magnate gets his hands on it first, though, and threatens to obliterate the entire population of the city unless his demands are met—R.

Monday, at 7 p.m.—Raw Deal, starring Arnold Schwarzenegger, as an ex-F.B.I. agent who is presently serving as a small town sheriff after being asked to leave the agency. When an old friend from the F.B.I. asks him to help revenge the death of his son, Schwarzenegger must go undercover to infiltrate the Chicago Mafia—R.

Tuesday, at 7 p.m.—Fire Starter. Steven King thriller about a CIA experiment that gets out of control and a whole family gets special, but ultimately fatal powers. Drew Barrymore stars as a young girl with pyrokinetic abilities—to set things on fire by thinking about them—George C. Scott and Martin Sheen are both trying to capture the family and harness their powers. Little Drew burns everybody in her path. Excellent action and special effects—R.

Movie review

by 2nd Lt. Lawrence A. Cooper
Public Affairs

This past weekend I got out of the house and went to see The Color Of Money (R) starring Paul Newman and Tom Cruise. Now I really liked this movie and gave it an 8 on the 10 scale. It's not just that I have a weakness for Paul Newman movies, but the story is good, the acting is good, and the action is quick and riveting.

Now I've said that I liked the movie overall. If the ending had lived up to the rest of the movie, I would have given it a 9 or a ten. Now that's all you'll hear about the ending, but let me tell you about the movie. For those of you who saw Paul Newman in The Hustler, Fast Eddie Felsen is back. For those of you who haven't seen it, don't worry, you didn't have to see it to follow The Color Of Money. Now it's not a sequel, but a follow-on. Newman plays Eddie Felsen, former pool hall hustler, now a big-time liquor salesman. He meets Vinnie, a hot, naive pool shark, and takes the boy under his wing to teach him some street smarts and get him ready to play in Atlantic City's Nine-Ball Classic.

Newman's performance is great. At the start of the movie Eddie explains to Vinnie that he is a study of human character and in that statement explains the movie. Now Eddie got blackballed out of pool back in The Hustler and you can see the wheels turning in his head when he first meets Vinnie. You can see his frustration as he tries to teach Vinnie how to hustle and you can feel his despair when he begins to doubt his own abilities. Newman acts well: I felt the tension that Eddie was going through.

In this movie it's the characters that are interesting, not just the action or the special effects. Tom Cruise plays a character as different from Top Gun Maverick as night is from day. Cruise does a good job playing what Eddie describes as "an incredible flake." To Vinnie, Eddie says, "I didn't say you had character... you are a character."

This movie is directed by Martin Scorsese and possesses a fast pace, a lot of suspense, and a lot of good and unusual shots of nine-ball being played. I expect at least a best actor nomination for Newman. Also for those of you who are interested, The Hustler is available on videotape and has become very popular in recent weeks.

Now as a preview, this week look for the opening of Star Trek IV: The Voyage Home. Once again Earth is in danger, and it's up to Admiral Kirk, Mr. Spock, Dr. McCoy, Scotty, Uhuru, and Sulu to save us. This time Kirk and Co. travel from the 23rd century to star-date 1986. There's good acting and interaction among the crew that we've come to expect, as well as, some laughs as the Federation crew encounters the culture of the 80's.
