Bush to offer upbeat State of Union address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush, trying to forge an election-year agenda for a Democratic-run Congress, presents a State of the Union address tonight offering an upbeat picture of the nation's health while prodding lawmakers to approve legislation they ignored last year.

Bush also will issue a challenge to make American students first the world by the year 2000 in science and math, two areas where they have ranked near the bottom in international testing, officials said Tuesday.

Bush will address a joint session of Congress in a nationally broadcast appearance at 8 p.m. CST. It will be his maiden State of the Union address, although he went before Congress with a budget and deficit-reduction package last February.

At the top of Bush's wish list for lawmakers are leftover bills dealing with clean air, crime, child care and cuts in capital gains tax rates.

White House chief of staff John Sununu said chances for action are better this year because of the November elections.

"I think all of a sudden about April or May, it will dawn on Congress that it's a congressional election, not a presidential election year, and that failures to get things done will be seen as failures of the Democrat leadership in the House, the Democrat leadership in the Senate," he said.

"And I think at that time, maybe we'll get them back to a bipartisan perspective and get some legislation passed," Sununu added.

Bush also has the momentum of strong support from Americans. Surveys taken after the invasion of Panama showed Bush with a job-approval rating of 79 to 81 percent, higher than former President Reagan ever attained.

In Brief

Convict man

DALLAS (AP) — Jurors took less than 30 minutes to convict a 21-year-old man of capital murder in the videotaped shooting death of a grocery store security guard.

Gayland Bradford faces either death by injection or life in prison following Tuesday's verdict in the December 1988 shooting death of Brian Edward Williams at Angelo's Food Store.

Roof caves in

DEXTER, Maine (AP) — The roof of a century-old department store caved in under the weight of the heaviest snowfall of the season, slightly injuring three people, officials said today.

Two employees and a fireman who were inside when the roof gave way Tuesday were treated at a hospital and released.

Clements expects broad guidelines, not specific plan

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements told his Task Force on Public Education to come up with broad guidelines, not specifics, for addressing a Texas Supreme Court ruling that the school finance system is unconstitutional.

"I don't think that the task force can come out with any kind of a specific plan," Clements said after addressing the group Tuesday.

"There is no consensus in either the House or the Senate, so if they wasted their time trying to dot 'i's and cross 't's and come out with a specific plan, it would be a useless exercise," he said. "I want them to look at the broad principles of our public education and come out with some guidelines."

Clements created the task force and appointed its members along with Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis. The group is to report to state leaders Feb. 27, the first day of a special legislative session that includes school finance.

The Supreme Court gave lawmakers until May 1 to address disparities between property-rich and poor school districts. The school finance system currently relies on state money and local property taxes.

Clements said that he, Hobby and Lewis have agreed there is no consensus on public education.

The governor has ruled out new taxes, but not new revenues from an unspecified source, to address the court ruling. Hobby has said the only "rational" solution to the school finance problem is a state income tax that would reduce or eliminate other levies.

Lewis wants to look at a plan for solving school finance problems before discussing tax issues, said Tim Conger, his press secretary.

"I can assure you that any grandiose idea with respect to spending a whole lot more money will go over like a lead balloon in the Legislature. So they can (see SCHOOL, page 8)

TNT program developed to help 'at-risk' students

By WENDY BARNETT
SDN Staff Writer
When a student announces he is involved with TNT, there is no cause for alarm, no explosives involved — he is merely participating in a new program at Snyder Junior High.

The program, Tomorrow's

Needs Today, is being developed by Snyder Junior High Principal Gary Patterson, with the assistance of Rueben Gillespie, Snyder High School principal.

TNT seeks out "at risk" students, those who statistically do not graduate from high school, and puts them in a relationship with leaders in the community.

Patterson said, "We need somebody to say they care about this student, other than a parent or school officials." He pointed out that junior high-age students frequently don't think of parents, teachers and principals as being smart.

Community volunteers are being sought to participate in the program. Patterson plans to have an organizational meeting in mid-February with the program kick-off slated for March 1. He said some 40 percent of the SJHS student body is "at risk." Some 25-30 students have been targeted to take part in the program.

Volunteers, or "mentors," as they are termed in the program, will be encouraged to spend a minimum of one visit per month with their students, in addition to attending a monthly luncheon with others involved in the program. Patterson suggests that mentors take students to their businesses and let them see what it's like to be a success in the community. Mentors will be given periodic progress reports concerning academics and discipline of their students.

The principal also forsees mentors as providing incentives for students to be successful in school and in the future. Patterson hopes to see the program teach students responsibility, self-esteem, self-respect and respect for authority whether it be law enforcement, parents, teachers or principals.

"We have to tell kids how important it is to stay in school," he said, noting that the students of today will be out in the community in the near future. He said that some students may be a little "difficult" when the program begins, but urges mentors to stick with them.

Local ASCS receives award

Administering $18 million in federal crop disaster payments over the past 1½ years won local employees of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service an award Monday from the highest non-federal ASCS official in the state.

Lamesa farmer and gin owner Jerry Harris, chairman of the State ASCS Committee, met Monday morning with county executive director Joe Hefner and County ASCS Committee members Morris Light, David Beaver and Lance Autry prior to making the award.

Harris said that during the course of administering the disaster and crop deficiency programs, the local office avoided the problem that some counties have had with federal crop insurance adjustments.

Hefner explained later that federal crop insurance adjustments and ASCS programs are not necessarily linked and adjusters in some counties were making "zero assessments," or far less than farmers felt they deserved.

"We just didn't use their figures," Hefner said.

Harris made his presentation to Hefner and the local committee members along with office (see ASCS, page 8)

Former Snyder coach pleads nolo contendere

A former Snyder High School varsity assistant football coach and biology teacher has received a six-month probated jail term with his plea of nolo contendere in a telephone harassment case that involved a series of obscene telephone calls to a Snyder couple.

Phillip L. Wester, 30, entered his plea before County Judge Bobby J. Goodwin recently in the presence of his attorney, David Lindemood of Midland, and County Attorney Lealand "Pete" Greene.

Wester was assessed a sentence "without adjudication of guilt," fined $250 and ordered to attend six group therapy sessions for alcohol offenders, with the educational program being subject to the approval of the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse and the Department of Public Safety.

He was charged $127.50 for court costs and ordered to pay a $65 monthly probation fee to the Scurry County Adult Probation Office, although his probation will be supervised by Midland County authorities, where Wester has relocated.

Under the maximum penalty, Wester could have received a jail sentence of up to 180 days and a $1,000 for the Class B misdemeanor.

The second-year SHS coach and teacher was charged in December following an investigation by city police into calls the local couple had received in late October. A telephone company "trap" was put on their phone, and a trap was noted by detectives on Nov. 9.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "People who have come a long way in life usually insist on telling you about the trip."

For about 40 minutes each morning, there are several sessions that might be called "Lessons in Humility." The classes are held in various coffee shops around town. Tuition is free except in cases where one gets "appointed" to pick up the tab.

One such session is held on the north side of the square in Stinson Drug. Topics vary and certainly there is no void of answers to life's greatest mysteries—like why does the sun rise in the east and set in the west or why legal pads are yellow.

Recently Dr. Gary Sisson arrived at the coffee klatch determined to do his civic duty on behalf of the Snyder Kiwanis Club and its pancake feast planned Feb. 3.

The optometrist was confident that his fellow coffee drinkers would quickly buy his quota of tickets. Everybody agreed: the Kiwanis Club is a good organization, it has hard-working members, and its civic projects are among the best.

Sisson prepared to close the sale. "How many tickets do you want?"

What Sisson had not taken into account was the thrifty nature of many of the Stinson regulars. A dean of the penny-pinchers is Renal Rosson, and the former state rep had the most innovative way to keep his wallet closed.

Said Rosson, "I buy my tickets from Harold Denson and he buys them at the door."

Word games are a favorite hobby of bureaucrats. Here are some of the latest.

Somebody old is chronologically gifted, and a pothole is now known as pavement deficiency. A lie is now a misspeak and a sidewalk has become a people expressway. A flashlight—with or without good batteries—is an emergency exit device.

Youths indicted for vandalism

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A Smith County grand jury has indicted two Tyler teen-agers in connection with a vandalism spree last November after authorities obtained a videotape they allegedly made.

Assistant District Attorney Frank Henderson said Tuesday a counselor at Robert E. Lee High School obtained the videotape and turned it over to police.

William Dwayne York, 17, and Anthony Michael Gattone, 18, each were indicted on five counts of criminal mischief and one count of arson.

Two younger boys allegedly involved in the incident had their cases handled by juvenile authorities. Their names were not released because they are juveniles.

Dr. Gott Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: A couple of years ago, I had prostate surgery by the transurethral method. A growth on the prostate turned out to be malignant. A half year later, my doctor suggested orchiectomy. About three months later, I began having sweating spells, then chills. My doctor says nothing can be done about it. This is extremely irritating. What's your advice?

DEAR READER: Removal of the testicles (orchiectomy) is a useful method of controlling the growth of malignant prostatic tissue. Most prostatic cancer is stimulated by the male hormone testosterone, which is manufactured in the testicles. Thus, orchiectomy removes a primary growth stimulator and often causes a remission of the cancer.

Unfortunately, however, men usually experience male menopause after such surgery. Without testosterone, they have symptoms of hot flashes, chilliness, moodiness, sweating and emotional ups and downs. Because testosterone could accelerate the growth of your tumor, you should not take this hormone.

I'm afraid you'll have to wait out your symptoms of menopause. With time, your body will adjust to the lack of hormone, and you will feel better. Until then, be patient. The symptoms may be uncomfortable but won't harm you.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Do you think there will be medicines available in the future to treat obesity?

DEAR READER: Future treatment for obesity will undoubtedly involve drugs that correct the problem at a biochemical level — pills that actually accelerate fat metabolism, for example, without causing adverse effects on the rest of the body. However, we're a long way from such a simple and direct method of treating one of mankind's most common woes.

At present, the best way of treating obesity is exercise (to burn more calories) in conjunction with steady dieting (to reduce calorie intake).

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Winning The Battle Of The Bulge." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've recently been taking Desyrel for depression. What exactly does this medication do, and does it help control eating disorders? What are the side effects?

DEAR READER: Desyrel is a prescription anti-depressant. Its mechanism of action is not completely understood, but it appears to improve mood by altering certain chemicals, notably serotonin, in the brain. It is generally a safe medicine when used under close medical supervision.

However, it does have side effects, including: inappropriate and sustained erections, sedation, rash, dry mouth, low blood pressure, vomiting, lightheadedness, confusion, fatigue, incoordination and muscle aches. Desyrel is not a treatment for eating disorders, unless they are accompanied by depression.

Family cannot afford to pay for daughter's medical fees

HOUSTON (AP) — The family of a 3-year-old girl paralyzed in a tree accident that killed her brother say they would like to take her home, but they cannot afford the medical care.

"This is the saddest case I've ever seen," said HealthSouth administrator Darrell Pile. "Monica's family has lost a son already, and now their daughter, who could have a better future, might not have it simply because of money."

Monica Gracia and her 11-year-old brother, Joey, were swinging in a hammock with another brother and their cousins in July 1988 when one of the two trees supporting the hammock collapsed.

Monica survived the accident but was paralyzed from the neck down and permanently placed on a ventilator. After a year and a half at the HealthSouth Rehabilitation Center in Humble, she is ready to go home.

But her parents, Mary and Jose Gracia, can't afford the $35,000 for a portable ventilator and about $28,000 monthly round-the-clock medical care to take their daughter home to Brownsville.

As it is, the family is split up so that Mary Gracia and her 2-year-old son, Christopher, can be near Monica and Jose Gracia can continue at his adult probation officer's job and raise 10-year-old Adam. Mary Gracia was forced to quit her job as a substitute teacher.

At the time of the accident, Monica was insured with Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas. But her $250,000 lifetime maximum policy ran out last February, and since then she has racked up about $600,000 in unpaid hospital bills. Her pediatrician hasn't been paid since last February, either.

While HealthSouth administrators said they will allow Monica to stay in the hospital indefinitely, employees believe she would be better off at home.

Pediatrician Dr. Mark Smith said Monica will remain paralyzed and ventilator-dependent indefinitely because of injuries to her head, neck and spinal cord. She must be fed through a tube and monitored closely for urinary tract infections, and she needs occupational and physical therapy to catch up with other children her age.

"Unfortunately, the cost per month of patients like Monica is about twice as much as the average family makes each year," Pile said.

The Gracias have applied for aid twice from the Texas Department of Health's Chronically Ill and Disabled Children's Program but have been rejected because Monica is ventilator-dependent.

But program manager Eileen Moe said the state-funded organization doesn't provide funds for patients who need continual care because its budget changes with Legislative appropriations.

No job for robots

By James Jacoby

A new book — "Bridging the Gap" by Peter Kichline — is available from Granovetter Books, 18 Village View Bluff, Ballston Lake, NY 12019. Kichline is an entertaining writer, who has some good examples of situations in which it's right to ignore some tenets of play and bidding. Look at today's deal and put yourself in East's position defending against four spades.

After the king of hearts lead, a rigidly schooled East may decide to show his doubleton heart by playing high-low. West would continue with ace and a heart, ruffed by East, but that would be the end of the defense. Declarer would draw trump, and later the potential losing diamond would go away on the good queen of hearts. Here is how Kichline describes East's play of the heart nine at trick one: "I consider this type of mistake intolerable, because East acted like a robot when he gave the high-low heart signal, instead of noticing his natural trump trick."

Of course the right play for East is to simply play the three of hearts. This discouraging card should cause West to make the logical switch, through dummy's A-Q of diamonds, and the contract will easily be set. It is important to remember that the high-low signal with a doubleton is a useful tool, but it should not be used when the defender knows that the defense should proceed along different lines.

Defendant won't clip again

DALLAS (AP) — Despite what a federal jury thinks, "Coupon Connie" says she never considered her use of coupons illegal. But, no matter what, she'll never clip one again.

"I just can't believe this happened to me — it's like a bad nightmare," said Connie Santos Arvidson upon leaving the federal courthouse after her conviction here Tuesday.

"You should never use coupons ... I won't ever again," she said.

The Boca Raton, Fla., woman faces up to 15 years in prison on mail fraud and conspiracy charges in what prosecutors said was a $2 million counterfeit coupon scheme.

Mrs. Arvidson insisted throughout her three-week trial that she didn't know the manufacturers' coupons she began buying and trading through a magazine advertisement were counterfeit.

Sentencing for Mrs. Arvidson.

also known as the "Dumpster Lady" because she would root through garbage bins looking for coupons, is set for March 23.

David Rees of Center Point also was convicted Tuesday of the only charge in the nine-count indictment against him — a conspiracy count, said Maureen Ruprecht, court coordinator for U.S. District Judge Sidney Fitzwater.

A third defendant, printer James Floyd Richards of San Antonio, was cleared of all three counts against him.

Mrs. Arvidson, 34, testified that she earned about $30,000 in 1988 in rebates, price breaks and free products from manufacturers and used the proceeds to buy furniture, toys, to make a down payment on a BMW and pay for cosmetic surgery for herself.

Prosecutors said Mrs. Arvidson purchased bogus coupons from San Antonio counterfeiter David Rackmill. Rackmill, who faces five years in prison for his role in the scam, pleaded guilty to mail fraud and conspiracy and then acted as an informant in the case.

"I never knew anything about counterfeiting and I never wanted to get involved in anything like this," Mrs. Arvidson testified. "I'm broke. I have no money. I have nothing."

The defendants were accused of counterfeiting more than 600,000 copies of coupons issued by 47 companies, including Procter & Gamble, Nabisco Brands Inc. and Campbell Soup Co.

"Basically, it's just a story of greed," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Steve Sucsy during closing arguments. He said Mrs. Arvidson used the coupons to buy products and then sold them at flea markets, but her main income came through selling the coupons for more than she paid for them.

Snyder boys edge Big Spring, 63-60

BIG SPRING — Snyder's district leading Tigers used some clutch free-throw shooting in the fourth quarter to hold off a furious desperation rally by Big Spring to take a 63-60 loop win Tuesday.

"The free throws won the game for us," said Snyder coach Larry Scott, "there's no doubt about that."

The Tigers were 18-23 from the line for a 78 percent success rate.

Ed Rios was four of four, Jason West was good on both his tries from the line, Tracy Braziel was four of six, Lee Hamilton went seven out of nine and Hayward Clay connected on one of two.

Snyder held an eight-point lead going into the final minutes of the game when the Steers hit a pair of long three-pointers, the last almost hitting the rafters of the gym, to narrow the SHS advantage to just two points.

Big Spring called a time-out following the second three, but the Steers had already used their full complement of clock stoppers giving Snyder's Hamilton two free-throws on the technical foul.

Hamilton was good on both and Snyder skated away with their eighth loop victory in nine tries.

"We'll take any win on the road," said Scott. "Any win at all at this point. If we can win the rest of our games we can win district."

Braziel was the high-point man for the Tigers, now 15-10 on the season after starting out the campaign 1-6, with 19 points.

Rios and Hamilton were in double figures for Snyder, too, tossing in 16 and 15 points, respectively.

Rypien and Krieg get tapped as replacement quarterbacks

HONOLULU (AP) — Mark Rypien and Dave Krieg maybe didn't have Pro Bowl-caliber seasons, but the two quarterbacks nevertheless will play in the NFL's all-star game.

Four of their counterparts who received more votes in the balloting by the league's players — Joe Montana, John Elway, Boomer Esiason and Don Majkowski — will miss Sunday's game.

Of the four quarterbacks voted into the Pro Bowl, only Warren Moon of Houston will actually play in the contest.

"The quarterbacks were hard hit this year," said Roger Goodell of the NFL, the Pro Bowl coordinator.

NFL officials had to scramble to fill spots after Montana and Elway reported elbow injuries on Monday, the day after Montana's San Francisco 49ers blistered Elway's Denver Broncos 55-10 in the Super Bowl.

Beckoned were Washington's Rypien, who finished with an 88.1 passing efficiency rating, third in the NFC behind Montana and the Los Angeles Rams' Jim Everett, and Seattle's Krieg, seventh in the AFC ratings at 74.8.

Elway was a replacement himself, scheduled to fill in for Cincinnati's Esiason, who is ailing with rib and toe injuries.

Green Bay's Majkowski, who listed personal reasons for pulling out, was replaced earlier by Philadelphia's Randall Cunningham.

The absence of Montana and Elway takes some luster away from the Pro Bowl, since their appearances would have been a rematch of Super Bowl quarterbacks.

"I know Elway really wanted to play, but I understand that his elbow really swelled up the day after the Super Bowl," Goodell said.

"I know Montana's elbow is an on-going problem. I think they were still talking about the possibility of off-season surgery. He's a tough guy and I'm sure he would like to be here if he could."

"This was a win we needed desperately," said Foster. "We got down by 14 in the first half and were really on the ropes. But we had some people come in who had not even played that much for us in the past and did a great job."

Texas Coach Tom Penders thought the story of the game was his team's poor shooting in the second half.

"The ball just wouldn't drop for us," said Penders, who watched his team shoot 32 per cent in the half. "We come up empty too many times to beat Houston."

Byron Smith and Derrick Daniels had 19 points each to lead the Cougars to the key victory before 13,891 fans at Austin and a national television audience.

Houston improved to 15-6 on the year and 6-3 in conference and Texas slipped to 14-5 and 7-2.

Lady Tigers post win

Snyder girls nail loop foe Big Spring, 64-54

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Snyder's girls took a crucial game from the Big Spring Lady Steers in Tuesday District 4-4A action, 64-54, largely on the second half performance of senior Anne Osborn.

Osborn hit for 31 points on the night including 22 in the second half as Big Spring was mounting a comeback after trailing by as many as 13 points early in the second quarter.

"They really got on 'em tonight," said coach Kenneth Housden of his Lady Tigers.

"It was a game they knew they had to win to stay in the running for a playoff spot," he continued, "and they really came through."

"Anne had a hot hand in the second half and everybody that played did a good job tonight."

The Lady Steers bolted from the opening tip-off to an 11-2 lead with just over four minutes left in the first quarter.

The Lady Tigers came back to tie the score at 15-all with just over a minute in the period and went ahead of the visiting Lady Steers, 17-15, at the end of the first eight minutes on a bucket by Osborn.

Snyder put the clamps to Big Spring's offense in the first half of the second quarter holding them scoreless until the 4:15 mark when Jennifer Hendlman hit a lay-up to set the score at 28-17 in favor of the Lady Tigers.

Prior to the breaking of the Big Spring scoring drought, Osborn hit a basket and three free-throws while Evette Housden tossed in a pair of freebies and Freida Clay hammered in a two-pointer for the SHS advantage.

Peggy Smith brought the visitors within nine points with a basket at the 2:00 mark in the half and a pair of free shots from Hendlman closed the gap to seven.

Smith snapped up another deuce with just under 40 seconds left before intermission to wind up scoring for the half and bring the Big Spring girls to within five points at 28-23.

A 6-2 run to open the second half put the game in a whole new light as Snyder clung to a slim one-point lead, 30-29, with 5:12 left in the period.

Liz Greathouse was fouled with just six ticks of the clock remaining in the third earning a one-and-one opportunity.

Greathouse missed the front end but Snyder's Robbie Braziel scooped up the rebound and hit a neat little lay-up to give Snyder a 44-40 margin at the end of three.

Housden's troops went on a defensive rampage to open the final quarter nabbing four consecutive steals and upping the score slightly to 47-42 with six minutes left.

Smith lofted a three-pointer to make it a two-point game followed by a pair of successful free shots from Osborn.

Hendlman tossed in a two-pointer with under four minutes remaining in the game to make it 49-47.

Robbie Braziel snatched an offensive rebound and stuffed a bucket and Hendlman hit again for the Lady Steers to keep the advantage at two for Snyder.

Snyder post Freida Clay hit a basket in the paint to give the Lady Tigers a lead of four points with time running down.

A three-second lane violation negated a long jump shot by Hendlman that would have kept the two-point difference.

Osborn's bucket at the other end completed the four point turnaround for SHS and Big Spring never recovered.

Teena Braziel scored 11 points and Clay hit 10 to join Osborn as Snyder players in double figures in the win.

The Snyder junior varsity girls collected a win Tuesday, also, beating Big Spring 44-38.

Shanekka Thompson scored 22 to lead the Snyder crew followed by Daisy Braziel with 13.

A 16-point fourth quarter and tenacious defense held off a late rally by the Lady Steers for the win.

The next action for the streaking Snyder girls, who have won their last two ball games, is Friday as they host the Ft. Stockton Prowlers.

Cougars upset UT

By The Associated Press

With Carl Herrera on the bench with foul trouble early in the second half, Houston Coach Pat Foster called on Darrell Mickens for help against the Texas Longhorns.

Mickens responded with a performance that included a Southwest Conference season-high 21 rebounds as the Cougars came from behind Tuesday night to defeat the Texas Longhorns, 102-93.

Mickens also had a steal, a blocked shot and 12 points. All that in 25 minutes of playing time off the bench.

"He was getting rebounds all over the place," Foster said. "If he doesn't get those, we don't win."

"This was a win we needed desperately," said Foster. "We got down by 14 in the first half and were really on the ropes. But we had some people come in who had not even played that much for us in the past and did a great job."

Texas Coach Tom Penders thought the story of the game was his team's poor shooting in the second half.

Registration for the spring season for the Snyder Soccer Association will be held Feb. 2, 3 and 5 at Bargain Time in Varsity Square Shopping Center.

Registration hours will be from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Feb. 2 and 5, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Feb. 3.

A new girls' league is being formed by the association to consist of teams in the under 8 division and up. Registration for the new league will be held at the same time.

Players should bring a birth certificate to sign-ups.

Fees for participation are $18 for the first child in a family and $15 for every child thereafter in the same family.

A $3.50 charge for socks will also be levied at registration.

The Lady Jaybirds clinched the loop crown Friday night with a 61-53 victory over Aspermont.

One of the stars of the Lady Jaybirds' crew is Rebecca Brown, younger sister of Bobbie Brown of the WTC Lady Dusters.

The younger Brown is averaging almost 16 points per game in her senior year at Jayton High School.

Courtney is in his seventh year with Jayton, his fifth as head coach of the girls' squad.

He attended South Plains College, playing basketball and running track upon his graduation from SHS, and attended Angelo State University after finishing at SPC.

Jetliner crash aftermath: helping the helpers

NEW YORK (AP) — At fire houses, police stations, schools and hospitals, Long Island residents still reeling from the Avianca jetliner crash that killed 73 people and injured 86 are beginning to help the helpers.

Even as the dead are buried, the injured treated and the survivors consoled, some mental health and social workers are turning their attention to the people who rushed to the crash scene Thursday night and found a nightmare of death, injury and mutilation.

In most cases, experts say, they need nothing more and nothing less than talk.

"After the crash, there's an emotional aftershock," said Joan Imhof, director of the Nassau County Office of Volunteer Services. "You need to talk about the experience, what you remember, how you felt about it, any symptoms you might be experiencing."

"You have to come to grips with the fact that you and your body have suffered a traumatic experience."

The clinical term is post-traumatic stress disorder; symptoms can include fatigue, nausea, muscle tremors, appetite loss, appetite gain, poor concentration, flashbacks, anxiety and depression.

Ms. Imhof lives near the crash site at Cove Neck on the northern shore of Long Island, and worked there throughout the night.

As rescue workers carried children away from the wreckage, "we felt awful that we couldn't find their parents and reunite them then," she recalled. "But there were so many serious injuries, we just had to ship them out" to hospitals.

Asked about efforts to comfort the rescuers, she spoke about her own memories of the night in great detail.

Asked if she, too, needed to talk about her experiences in order to deal with them, she replied, "You got it."

The Boeing 707 en route from Colombia ran out of fuel and crashed on a wooded hillside Thursday night 15 miles northeast of its destination, Kennedy International Airport.

Helpers at the crash site were not the only ones in need. Spanish-speaking staffers at the state's Pilgrim Psychiatric Center in Brentwood worked for days with crash survivors and the families of passengers at several hospitals.

"Emotionally, I'm still in shock," said Sonia Palacios, a social worker. "It really hasn't sunk in yet."

McDonald's opens in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — With the familiar sign of the Golden Arches embellished by the Soviet hammer-and-sickle flag, McDonald's opened in Moscow today to offer Russians their first taste of Western consumerism, not to mention hamburgers.

Hundreds of people tried gingerly to get their fingers around their first American hamburger. They tried eating them one-handed. They picked them apart to examine the contents.

One young woman finally squashed her Big Mac in order to fit her lips around it.

"It tasted great!" said a 14-year-old boy, a sesame seed still stuck to his nose.

The restaurant "is a lot different from a stolovaya," he continued, referring to the run-down, dirty cafeterias that slop out dishes like rice and fat or boiled sausage in the Soviet Union's closest approximation to fast food.

The restaurant was 14 years in the making, but finally, thanks to the reforms of President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, people got a firsthand look at such alien concepts as efficiency and fast, friendly service.

Unlike nearly all other Western firms opening up in Moscow, McDonald's is selling for rubles, which are worthless outside the Soviet Union and won't even buy much in the shortage-plagued country. It expects to serve 15,000 people a day.

Hundreds of people lined up for the long-awaited grand opening, reaching eagerly for McDonald's flags and pins handed out by the hamburger chain's brigade of workers. An hour before opening, the McDonald's crew handed out advertising leaflets at the Pushkin Square metro stop a few yards away.

Normally dour-faced citizens broke into grins, catching the infectious cheerful mood from youthful Soviet staffers hired for their ability to smile and work hard. Accordions played folk songs and women in traditional costumes danced with cartoon characters.

The line of about 500 people moved steadily, thanks to McDonald's decision to build and staff 27 cash registers.

TNT program to begin

He said potential mentors should realize that they need to be able to commit to the program until the end of the school year, providing a stable, responsible relationship for students.

Patterson said he is volunteering students, but parents must give their consent and sign a waiver of liability so that mentors can pick students up from school. Boys will be matched up with men, and girls will be matched up with women. Patterson said "at risk" students are of all races, not limited to minorities.

Students may be evaluated as "at risk" for a variety of reasons, including poor academic performance, mental or physical abuse, a parent with a dependency problem which might cause a student to want to run away, and many more reasons, according to Patterson.

He said that statistics show some 85 percent of Texas

Department of Corrections inmates were high school dropouts. The 1990 forecast, he said, predicts some 90 percent as dropouts, which cost taxpayers $35,000 annually.

"We can't allow our middle class to evaporate. We must replenish the middle class with a good education," Patterson said.

Patterson is going into the program with optimism, thinking that mentors will encourage students and turn their attitude about school and the community around. He has had contact with school officials in Carrollton-Farmer's Branch where a similar program has been a success.

He told the story of a mentor who faced a student spouting obscenities the first day. The mentor stuck with the student and he finally came around. Following graduation from high school, the mentor gave his student a position in his business.

Resignation rumors denied by Gorbachev

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State James A. Baker III says a report that Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev may surrender his leadership of the Communist Party is "just a rumor" and Gorbachev himself emerged today to deny it.

Baker, who is going to Moscow next week, will see Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze — and possibly Gorbachev — on Feb. 8-9. The talks were rescheduled a second time to avoid interfering with a meeting of the party's Central Committee.

The postponement coincided with a report by Cable News Network that Gorbachev had spent the past eight days at his country home, considering whether to resign as head of the Soviet Communist Party.

Gorbachev denied the report today. "No one has said this, and I certainly didn't make any such statement," the Soviet president and party general secretary said. "Any such suggestions are groundless."

School finances studied forget that," Clements said after talking to the task force.

Task force members examined education issues on accountability, efficiency, performance incentives, professionalism and finances.

School finance proposals before the task force range from a plan calling for no new money to a State Board of Education plan that would increase funding $5.2 billion over the current level in five years.

Clements said when developing a finance plan, it is important to look at the mid-range of schools, not the poorest or the richest.

Two arrested

Police arrested a 15-year-old boy as a runaway and a 21-year-old man for DWI at 12:58 a.m. today at Ave. C and the East Hwy.

Also arrested for being a minor in possession of alcohol, the boy was taken to the sheriff's office and released into the custody of a relative.

A 19-year-old man was arrested Tuesday night on outstanding local warrants for speeding, being a minor in possession of alcohol and failure to appear in court.

He was arrested at 9:55 p.m. at Ave. C and the East Hwy.

Grass fires

Firemen extinguished several grass fires on Santa Fe Railway right of way near Hermleigh Tuesday night.

The fires were reported at 6:20 p.m., and firefighters returned to the station at 8:35 after putting out "four or five" fires, a department spokesman said.

"We don't want that tip of the tail of the dog wagging the dog," he said.

Other proposals the task force is to vote on next month include:

- Appointment of the education commissioner by the governor, with approval of the Legislative Education Board, rather than by the State Board of Education.

- Allowing parents to choose the schools their children attend.

- Expanding the pre-kindergarten for disadvantaged 4-year-olds to include 3-year-olds.

- Giving incentives to schools that meet or exceed student performance objectives.

- Creating an incentive program to reward school principals who demonstrate superior performance and productivity.

Astrograph by Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Feb. 1, 1990

You might make an important change in the year ahead where your work or career is concerned. The rewards will testify to the wisdom of your move.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Persistence and tenaciousness are your keys to success today. Others with whom you'll be involved might fade in the stretch, but your luck will grow stronger as you near the tape. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your good humor and enthusiasm will spill over and inspire others today. Your attitude will make everything you undertake easier, even if testy people are involved.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could be luckier than usual today in situations that are meaningful to you where both your finances and reputation are concerned. You may experience gains from chance as well as your efforts.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your influence over others is extremely strong today and you should be able to effectively sway or persuade small or large groups. Promote pet programs.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Lady luck tends to favor you today in matters that are meaningful to you in material ways. Don't rock the boat, because others can do more for you than you can do for yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try to associate with your enterprising friends today and not those who are indifferent. Fortunate developments could ensue if you get involved with doers.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't be timid about establishing lofty goals for yourself where your ambitions are concerned today. You're capable of achieving your desire. Think big and expect big results.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Take positive steps today towards making something for which you've been wishing a reality. Dreams can come into being if your approach is methodical and consistent.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It looks like this might be a rather profitable day for you, but not necessarily from things you initiate. Your gains could come in areas where you have played a minor role.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your greatest gift today could be your talent for taking the ideas of companions or associates and turning them into something far superior to what they originally envisioned.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Due to a lucky turn of events, you might find yourself in an enviable position today where you can serve as the middleman and gain in a substantial manner from two unrelated developments.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll innately know how to make others feel important today, not through flattery or phony phrases, but through sincerity. You won't be doing this to feather your own nest, yet it will.

Ms. to be revived

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Ms., the feminist magazine that ceased publication last summer after 17 years, will resume this spring free of advertisements, the magazine's founder says.

The first issue of the new Ms. should be out in May, Gloria Steinem said Tuesday after a lecture at Texas Tech University.

Subscriptions will cost $40 per year for six issues, one every other month, Ms. Steinem said. Each issue will have at least 100 pages, and the magazine will be supported solely by readers, with no advertisements.

Ms. Steinem said the subscriptions will be expensive because readers will have to underwrite the entire cost of producing the magazine.

"I don't know if this will work, because we're not used to buying magazines the way we buy books," she said.

The magazine's editor will be feminist writer Robin Morgan. Ms. Steinem will work for the new Ms., but she did not say what her title will be.

On racing tax...

Clements changing his mind

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements, reversing his earlier stance, said he now is willing to consider reducing the state's 5 percent take on track betting revenue if it will speed the start of major horse racing in Texas.

In an interview with the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, the governor said Monday he has not made up his mind, but said it is apparent that horse racing, approved in 1986, is off to "a very slow start."

Horse-racing interests and several of the governor's associates have long lobbied him to allow lawmakers to reduce the 5 percent tax on pari-mutuel wagering. They say the tax is so high that potential track developers cannot afford to build multimillion-dollar Kentucky Derby-style tracks.

The money the state would forgo would be directed instead to track owners and to purses.

However, Clements said in an interview Tuesday with The Dallas Morning News that he opposes giving greyhound race tracks a similar break.

Clements has called legislators back to work Feb. 27 for another special session to work on public school finance and judicial reform.

The governor said he may allow lawmakers to take up the question of cutting the pari-mutuel betting tax "if we can take care of our other business that has a higher priority."

His consent to give serious consideration to the proposed racing tax change gives the green light to racing enthusiasts who say they have the votes in the Legislature to cut the tax.

Minister's Words Remind Us We Should Do the Right Thing

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading your column ever since I was old enough to read a newspaper. My younger brother has just joined Amnesty International, the group that helps to free political prisoners around the world. When he told me he had joined, I told him about a wonderful piece I had read in your column several years ago. I don't recall who wrote it, but it came about as a result of Hitler's reign during World War II.

I'm not sure, but I think the last few lines went something like this: "And when they came for me, there was nobody left to speak out." It brings home the principle that each of us has an obligation to speak out to help others.

If you know the piece I'm referring to, please reprint it. It's well worth seeing again, and I'd like to send it to my brother.

ROBIN MAMMEN,
LONG BEACH, CALIF.

DEAR ROBIN: The wonderful piece you refer to was titled "I Didn't Speak Up." It was written by Martin Niemoeller, a German Lutheran pastor who was arrested by the Gestapo and sent to a concentration camp in Dachau in 1938. He was freed by the Allied forces in 1945. And here it is:

I DIDN'T SPEAK UP

"In Germany, the Nazis first came for the communists, and I didn't speak up because I wasn't a communist. Then they came for the Jews, and I didn't speak up because I wasn't a Jew. Then they came for the trade unionists, and I didn't speak up because I wasn't a trade unionist. Then they came for the Catholics, and I didn't speak up because I was a Protestant. Then they came for me, and by that time there was no one left to speak for me."

DEAR ABBY: May I add one little note to the subject of paying grandmothers who have been sitters for their grandchildren for many years?

I have 15 grandchildren. While they were growing up, I was the official sitter, going from one family to the other — days and evenings, too. I never refused. I was never paid, nor would I have accepted anything had it been offered.

All these grandchildren are grown now. Some are married and others have full-time jobs.

Abby, out of the 15 I sat with, only three have ever called to invite me to dinner or ask if they can do something for me that I can't do for myself.

Why have the others forgotten me now that they don't need me anymore? All but two live within 20 minutes of me!

I would love to share a bowl of soup or chili or be taken out to eat sometimes — if only to some inexpensive fast-food place. I would just enjoy being with them.

Oh, well, I love them all anyway.

MICHIGAN GRANDMOTHER

DEAR GRANDMOTHER: I'm printing your letter. The guilty ones know who they are — so to them I say, "If the shoe fits, put it on, go to the phone, call your grandmother and invite her to dinner."

Don't put off writing thank-you notes, letters of sympathy, etc., because you don't know what to say. Get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)
