

Commissioners sign lease; note employee resignation

Scurry County Commissioners today signed a lease agreement on county-owned property across the street from the airport and accepted the resignation of Karen Goebel as director of the county mental health unit.

Grimmett will pay $150 per month and keep the land mowed and clean for the approach to the airport. Federal Aviation Administration regulations provide that no structures can be placed on the land.

Goebel cited Feb. 16 as her last day as director of the county mental health unit. On Feb. 19, she will be reassigned in the community service division of the Big Spring State Hospital as a nurse in the eastern region, serving Scurry, Mitchell, Garza and Nolan counties. She will be based out of Snyder.

Mandela urges pressure to end apartheid

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Nelson Mandela said today that he is committed to seeking peace and racial harmony but defiantly endorsed anti-government violence as a necessary "defensive act" against apartheid.

The 71-year-old black nationalist leader emerged Sunday from 27 years in prison and, in the day's twilight, urged his countrymen to step up pressure to end white minority domination.

On his first full day of freedom, a graying but vigorous Mandela told a news conference that negotiations between his African National Congress movement and the government could begin "very soon" if President F.W. de Klerk continues his peace initiative.

"The state of emergency has to be lifted in its entirety and political prisoners have to be released," Mandela told more than 200 reporters assembled on the lawn outside the residence of Anglican Archbishop Desmond Tutu.

$100,000 bond set in weekend death of woman

A 37-year-old Snyder man has been charged with murder in the Saturday night beating and kicking death of his 25-year-old wife.

James J. White of 2404 Beaumont Ave. was arraigned this morning before Justice of the Peace Dan Callaway, who set his bond at $100,000.

Police were notified of the incident at 7:47 p.m. Saturday by employees of Snyder EMS Ambulance Service after White had called the ambulance company to help his wife, Belinda J. White, officers said.

Mrs. White was rushed to Cogdell Memorial Hospital, where she was pronounced dead at 8:31 p.m.

Four city officers went to the Whites' home and took the husband into custody for aggravated assault, and he was arrested on a murder charge at the police station about an hour later.

The couple had been married for a month and a day when the altercation took place. Callaway married them in his office on Jan. 8, according to his records.

"Mrs. White had been involved in a family disturbance with her husband at their residence," a city detective reported. "During the fight, she sustained injuries which resulted in her death, due to her husband having assaulted her by hitting and kicking her."

4 injured in rollover Saturday

A 16-year-old Snyder girl was critically injured and three other youngsters were hurt in a one-car accident at 9 p.m. Saturday at China Grove Rd. and County Road 4127 south of the city.

Dora Martinez of 100 37th St. suffered head and internal injuries and was air-lifted to St. Mary of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock, where she was listed in "extremely critical" condition today.

A Department of Public Safety trooper said a 1986 Lincoln Continental driven by Heath Hodges, 15, of 2214 43rd St. failed to negotiate the turn from China Grove Rd. onto the county road and overturned, coming to rest upside down.

Young Hodges had a sprained left shoulder and was to be released from Cogdell Memorial Hospital this morning, a hospital spokesman said.

The DPS investigator said both female passengers, Miss Martinez and 16-year-old Amy Ramirez of 1805 Scott Ave., were ejected from the car.

Miss Ramirez had a laceration to her chin and was being held today for a second 23-hour observation period, the hospital spokesman said.

The third passenger, 16-year-old Greg Robinson of 2718 48th St., had a sprained left shoulder and was scheduled to be released from the Snyder hospital this afternoon.

None of the youngsters was wearing a seatbelt, the DPS trooper said.

Candidates Night is Tuesday

Seven of the candidates running for county or state office in the March 13 primary, including State Rep. David Counts and Republican challenger John Pennington, have confirmed they will address the public during "Meet the Candidates Night," scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Western Texas College Fine Arts Theatre.

Chamber manager Bill Moss noted, however, that a number of the other 17 candidates who were invited may also be planning to attend. He stressed that candidates were not asked to confirm their intentions.

Among those who have indicated they will speak are incumbent county judge Bobby Goodwin, incumbent county treasurer Rita Staton and challenger Polly Wadleigh Echols, justice of the peace precinct 1 candidate Ted Billingsley, district clerk candidate Patsy Williams and precinct 2 county commissioner hopeful Roy L. Idom.

The event is sponsored by the chamber of commerce governmental affairs committee and is free to the public.

Each political candidate will have five minutes to speak. Following the speakers, the floor will be open for questions.

Counts is running unopposed for Dist. 78 State Representative, as is Republican John Pennington, a Sweetwater businessman.

Goodwin is being opposed in (see CANDIDATES, page 8)

Government seminar set for all interested citizens

Saturday's seminar on government is open to anyone, said its principal organizer, who urged people to become involved.

"Citizens truly interested in the quality of their government must get involved...We urge everyone to attend," said Jerry Vestal, of Vestal & Co., CPAs.

The seminar is entitled "Scurry County: Good Government for the 90's and Beyond," and is scheduled from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre at Western Texas College.

The deadline to register is Feb. 14. The $40 fee includes lunch.

Luncheon speaker will be Sen. John Montford. Other speakers include George Patterson, former Snyder city manager for 16 years and current Highland Park city manager; Bill Hicks, Ector County auditor who has 30 years experience and is publisher of an information guide to county government; Giles Dalby, former county judge of Garza County and currently president of the Garza County Economic Development Commission; Rene Henry, supervisor of technical assistance with the comptroller's office; Roy Baze, retired senior vice-president with Exxon USA and a local civic leader; Jay Wright, CPA with Finser Investments Inc. of San Antonio; and Vestal & Co., CPAs.

"Talk about your government is cheap and a duty of citizenship is to become involved in your government intelligently," said Vestal. "People in Eastern Europe tore down the Berlin Wall so that they could have political debate like we had recently during the rollback election. The rollback does not provide necessary leadership to solve future problems, it just dramatizes and temporarily reduces taxes.

"Citizens truly interested in the quality of their government must get involved. This seminar will provide information that can help raise the level of community debate to an important, new level. We urge everyone to attend," he added.

The program is designed and coordinated by Vestal & Co., CPAs and offered through the Western Texas College communi-

College trustees to take up several issues this evening

Western Texas College board of trustees will meet this evening to approve the hiring of a criminal justice instructor, okay classes with less than 10 students, order a trustee election and discuss the athletic program.

The board is scheduled to meet in executive session at 5:45 p.m. The regular meeting will follow immediately.

Trustees are to consider hiring an instructor for the college's newly implemented daytime correctional guard academy. The instructor will also work with the college's criminal justice department. Bettie McQueen, dean of instruction, will give a report on the daytime correctional guard academy during the meeting.

The college plans to hold six daytime correctional classes a year, giving it a total of 10 with its four evening classes.

The board will also order and place notice for a trustee election, scheduled May 5, to elect trustees for positions 1 and 2. Trustees whose terms are ending are Roy Baze and Bill Wilson, Jr.

The period to register as a candidate in the elections is Feb. 19 through March 21.

Trustees will review a list of classes that have less than 10 students and hear an enrollment report from Dr. Duane Hood, dean of student services.

College President Dr. Harry Krenek said he was not sure what the discussion concerning the athletic department will entail. Trustees in a recent meeting mulled over whether athletics at the college — basketball and golf in particular — could be made more cost effective. No decisions were made in that meeting.

Other items on the agenda include pre-bid information on heating and cooling units to replace those damaged by a dormitory fire last year, a resolution concerning state appropriations for public community/junior colleges in Texas, and proposed financial reductions in three programs which receive direct funds from the county.

The college-operated senior center, county veterans office and museum receive funds from the county. It has been proposed that those monies be reduced by $13,900 in response to a request to reduce the county budget.

The county's budget was cut by some $455,000 in a recent tax rollback election.

Q—How does school enrollment in Snyder public schools this year compare with recent years?

A—Enrollment within the district is 3,567 students this year compared to 3,538 last year. Figures indicate that enrollment was 3,554 in 1986-87. The highest year of enrollment in the 1980s was 1985-86 with 3,724. The lowest was 1980-81 with 3,452.

In Brief

Man injured

DALLAS (AP) — A 32-year-old man was listed in serious condition Monday morning after parachuting onto power lines in southeast Dallas County, authorities said.

James Michael Williams was being treated at Parkland Memorial Hospital for burns on his chest, left arm and left leg, hospital officials said.

Dallas County Fire Marshal Jim Badgett said Williams was parachuting about 3:30 p.m. when he failed to notice, and fell onto power lines just outside the city of Combine. Officials said he clipped three of the lines, then fell onto the ground.

Gang shooting

DALLAS (AP) — Four members of a Dallas youth gang are recovering from wounds after being injured in a hail of gunfire by members of another gang, police said.

The four injured youths, who ranged in age from 13 to 17, said they were leaving a birthday party about 11:30 p.m. Saturday when the second group approached them and began shooting.

No other injuries were reported to police.

Police said they are questioning several witnesses, and have no suspects in the incident. But the injured gang members were able to identify their assailants' gang.

Oil spill news

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Divers patched the punctured hull of the American Trader but the Coast Guard said it would be at least another day before the tanker that spilled an estimated 400,000 gallons of oil would be docked.

Plans called for moving the 811-foot American Trader, anchored two miles offshore, into an Arco dock in Long Beach harbor to deliver the remainder of the cargo and make permanent repairs, Coast Guard Capt. Jim Card said Sunday.

Teenager slain

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston teen-ager was shot and killed when he and two friends unknowingly interrupted a late-night robbery at a McDonald's restaurant, authorities said.

Leshon Reagins, 15, died Sunday after he was shot in the back during the early morning robbery, police said.

In New Mexico stabbing...

Paroled Texas man arrested

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — A Texas man who was paroled three months ago despite attempts by officials and citizens to keep him in jail has been charged in the stabbing death of a Las Cruces man.

James Hayes Lane, 30, of Abilene, Texas, paroled from the Texas Department of Corrections, was arrested early Sunday. He was charged with murder and was being held Sunday in the Dona Ana County Jail under $250,000 bond, Las Cruces police said.

The victim was stabbed in the neck, back and stomach with a folding pocket knife about 2:30 p.m. Saturday, police said. He died 1 1/2 hours later at Memorial General Hospital.

Police would not release the name of the 26-year-old victim because they had not been able to locate relatives.

The stabbing took place in the victim's apartment, police said.

"Once he was stabbed, he managed to get to the door, run outside and try to seek help," said Lt. Chuck Franco of criminal investigations.

Authorities said Lane matched the description of a man seen walking with the stabbing victim.

"He had some blood stains on his tennis shoes and he matched the description we had out," Franco said. "According to one lady, she saw him walk into her front yard and wash blood from his clothes and his hands."

"He confessed and indicated that a drug transaction had gone bad," Franco said.

Police said they found a knife and blood-stained pants, sheets and towels during a search of Lane's Las Cruces motel room, and arrested him 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

Lane had in his pocket a newspaper clipping dated Dec. 6, 1989, that reported his recent parole from Taylor County Jail.

In the Abilene Reporter-News story, Abilene law enforcement officials said they were worried about Lane's parole. He was released after serving less than five years on 35- and 20-year sentences for attempted murder and car theft.

"Here is a guy who is an extreme danger to society," Abilene police Sgt. Roger Dickey said in the story.

Dickey predicted Lane would hurt someone again, and said Sunday he wasn't surprised by the arrest.

"That doesn't surprise me," Dickey said. "I told you it would probably be within three months. I'm not surprised at all."

Parent arrested Friday

Kidnapping draws sympathy, criticism

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A psychologist who works with mothers' and children's rights group says she sympathizes with an Arkansas woman recently arrested here after fleeing with her daughter.

But the psychologist, Denise Gooch, does not dismiss the fact that the woman, Vicki Korolko, may have broken the law.

"Obviously no parent runs from the law unless the law is not protecting them," said Ms. Gooch, one of three directors of the Washington D.C.-based Mothers Alliance for the Rights of Children. "Parents who run are basically law-abiding citizens."

But, she said, "I don't think fleeing is the answer. Running is just a band-aid on a huge problem."

Mrs. Korolko, 36, was arrested Friday in Corpus Christi after 19 months on the run with her 5-year-old daughter, Sarah.

In July 1988, Ms. Korolko fled Fort Smith, Ark., with the child. She had lost custody of Sarah to her ex-husband, Joseph Korolko, whom she claimed was sexually abusing the girl.

Mrs. Korolko evaded the FBI with the help of a group called the Underground Railroad, which aids non-custodial parents of children who are allegedly being abused.

Fired deputy is also suspended

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A Tarrant County Sheriff's Department reserve deputy fired for his affiliation with the Ku Klux Klan has also been suspended from his job as an Air Force security officer.

Tim Hall, a 24-year-old sergeant at Carswell Air Force Base, was suspended Saturday after disclosure that he secretly served as a recruiter of the Invisible Empire of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

"We are not supposed to be identified with any type of political activist group because it is contrary to our oath of office," said Carswell spokeswoman Lt. Nori LaRue-Musgrave.

Hall worked with the 7th Security Police Squadron at Carswell, Ms. LaRue-Musgrave said.

Hall was dismissed from the Tarrant County Sheriff's Department Friday after an Internal Affairs investigation revealed his role in the Klan.

Two other sheriff's employees, jailer Charlyn Moore, 48, and dispatcher David White, 26, were also identified as members of the Klan and dismissed by Sheriff Don Carpenter.

The three dismissals were based on "the county policy of non-discrimination as set out in the Civil Service Rules and Regulations."

CREATIVE MATH STUDENTS—David Brown, Ira math teacher, recently praised the efforts of these students who "developed original ways to approach math problems. These approaches were not found in the text, but were discovered by creative thought." From left are, Cindy Stewart, algorithm to find pythagorean triples; Amanda

Sorrells, algorithm to find the endpoint of a segment given an endpoint and the midpoint; and Roger Lindsey, a new way to prove a theorem that says "If two lines are parallel to a third line, then they are parallel to each other." (SDN Staff Photo)

Forget the overtricks

By James Jacoby

The run-of-the-mill player would quickly see that he was right to go to five spades rather than doubling the opponents in five hearts. Although five hearts doubled might be set two or three tricks, that would be only 300 or 500 as opposed to making five spades vulnerable for 650 or even 680. Making 12 tricks in spades would require only that clubs split 3-2 with the club queen in the East hand. So that run-of-the-mill player would ruff the second heart, draw trump, and then play ace of clubs and a club from dummy. When East showed out on the second club, there would be weeping and gnashing of teeth and bitter complaints about luck.

An expert would take a different view. He would ask himself what might cause five spades to be set. The answer is that the contract is threatened if clubs are concentrated in West's hand. So a competent declarer would give up the possible overtrick to guarantee making his contract. He would ruff the second heart, play king of spades, then lead to dummy's diamond ace and ruff a diamond, and lead to dummy's spade ace and ruff another diamond. Next would come a club to dummy's ace and a ruff of dummy's last diamond. The red suits would now be gone, and the defenders' trumps also eliminated. South would forgo the possible overtrick and simply play a low club from his hand. In this instance, West would win the club and have to either lead back into the K-J or give declarer a ruff and a sluff for his contract.

Billionaire, wife plan to divorce

NEW YORK (AP) — Billionaire Donald Trump and his wife, Ivana, who amassed a fortune with their names written all over it, reportedly decided to call it quits on their 12-year marriage.

Trump is giving his wife about $20 million and a 45-room country home in Greenwich, Conn., a representative for the flamboyant tycoon said Sunday.

Trump told his wife Tuesday before he left for a trip to Tokyo that the marriage "just wasn't working out," said the representative, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The Daily News reported Sunday that Mrs. Trump was devastated because her husband was betraying her, but the Trump representative denied that Trump was leaving his wife for another woman.

"It was Mr. Trump who told his wife that he was going to leave her prior to his trip to Japan," the source said. "They have a prenuptial agreement and Mrs. Trump will receive their house in Connecticut and approximately $20 million."

The spokesman did not know if any custody arrangements had been made regarding the couple's three children.

Fire said setback for college

MARSHALL, Texas (AP) — In the week since fire destroyed the main women's residence hall at Wiley College, donations have poured in for students who lost everything.

But college officials have not decided whether to rebuild the 65-year-old Dogan Hall or build a new dormitory. Insurance may not cover the $1 million cost of a new building, they say.

"If we have to build a new structure, we think there may be a gap or window there of $300,000 or so," said Dr. A.J. Stovall, a Wiley faculty member.

The fire displaced 121 women and many lost all their possessions.

"Most of us are from Chicago, and we brought everything we owned down here, TV, clothes, everything," said Carolyn Burnett, who lived on the first floor.

"Just to see that and you know you've got friends in that hall and everyone else's things were gone, that's when it got depressing for everyone else," said Felicia Smith.

Marshall Fire Marshal Bill Elliott said the blaze was caused by a clothing iron left on a bed.

Marshall residents have taken clothes and personal items to the young women. Churches in nearby Longview and Tyler have also taken up collections and some donations have arrived from Louisiana and Dallas-Fort Worth.

Wiley president David Beckley said the college gave each woman $200 for immediate needs from the school's operating fund.

Trials by juries are a rarity

CALDWELL, Texas (AP) — Drunk driving can land a person in jail in Burleson County, unless, attorneys say, the person asks for a jury trial.

There hasn't been a jury trial in the county for at least five years, records show. More than 100 cases were awaiting such trials on the Burleson County Court docket last month and most of those were for driving while intoxicated, the Bryan-College Station Eagle reported Sunday.

Local attorney Joan Scroggins said she regularly advises her clients to plead not guilty and request a jury trial.

"What I tell clients is this: 'They haven't tried one yet. Yours could be the first, but, from experience, I don't see that it's going to happen,'" she said.

One man has at least seven cases pending on the docket. Two of them resulted from DWI charges, the paper said.

Another man was charged with DWI twice within five days in July 1984. He pleaded not guilty to both charges on the same day, requesting jury trials. Each of the cases were continued until the November term of the court in 1984, but no further entries in the docket have been made.

Burleson County Attorney Joseph Skrivanek, the man responsible for prosecuting such cases, said he couldn't explain why people who have requested jury trials haven't gotten them.

"We've had pre-trials and continuations of pre-trials," he said.

Burleson County Judge Woods Caperton said he is willing to hear a juried case whenever attorneys want to schedule one.

Jim Hutcheson, general counsel of the state's office of court administration, said the no-jury-trial situation is prevalent in counties where the county judge is not an attorney. Hutcheson said a solution is to create a county court-at-law, where the judge is an attorney.

Most rural Texas counties don't have courts-at-law, which hear probate, juvenile and family law cases, and all criminal cases. Courts-at-law are created by the Texas Legislature and funded by the counties where they operate.

WTC hosts Odessa in WJCAC contest

The Westerners and Lady Dusters of Western Texas College will host basketball teams from Odessa College tonight as the Dusters try to rebound from a 72-46 loss to Frank Phillips and the WTC men try to build on a 100-91 win over the Plainsmen last Thursday.

The Westerners will be facing an Odessa team that knocked off previously unbeaten Howard College, 94-90, Thursday.

Only three days earlier the Hawks had been tabbed the No. 1 team in the country.

The Wranglers will bring an attack featuring the second best team defense in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference giving up just over 72 points per game.

Offensively, sophomore Lynn Collins is sporting an 18.1 points per game average.

The Westerners are ranked sixth in the country in team offense scoring over 105 points per game.

The Western Texas men are led by freshman Dominick Byrd and sophomore Kenneth Critton.

Byrd is scoring at an 18.8 ppg clip while snagging over 10 boards per game and Critton is pulling down 10 rebounds per outing as well.

Byrd had 26 points in the Westerners' win over Frank Phillips last Thursday and Critton poured in 19 more.

Odessa beat WTC earlier in the season, 92-76.

The Wranglers head into Monday's contest with a 20-4 overall record and a 6-3 mark in WJCAC play.

The Westerners are 17-7 and 6-4.

The Lady Dusters have been victimized by injuries as much as by other basketball teams.

Tami Wilson, sophomore post from Seagraves, has been out with a deep thigh bruise.

She was able to turn in a few minutes against FPC Thursday, but was ineffective due to the injury, according to WTC coach Kelly Chadwick.

Wilson is missed on both ends of the floor as she is averaging almost 19 points a game while shooting 57.4 percent from the floor and pulling down 13 rebounds per outing.

Carla Gladden, the Dusters' freshman point guard from Morningside High School in Inglewood, Cal., has also been out of action for several games.

Gladden has muscle pulls in both legs that are keeping her from seeing the kind of minutes the WTC women need from her.

Gladden is ranked in the top ten in the conference in assists with almost six a game.

Sophomore forward Bobbie Brown scored 16 against Frank Phillips last week for the Dusters as did freshman post Tracey Rome.

If Gladden and Wilson are out look for Vicky Jones to run the club on the floor and the ball to go inside to Rome and outside to Brown, who is making over 51 percent of her shots from three-point land.

Odessa beat the Dusters, 72-59, in Odessa earlier in the campaign.

The Lady Wranglers are carrying a 20-5 record overall this season with a 5-3 mark in conference competition while the WTC women are 2-5 within the league and 15-8 overall.

The games get under way Monday night with the women tipping off at 6 p.m. followed by the men's game at 8 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum.

Kansas regains No. 1

Missouri falls to No. 2 after loss to KSU

by The Associated Press
Kansas and Missouri switched places today as the top teams in the college basketball poll.

The two meet Tuesday night at Lawrence, Kan., with first place in the Big Eight at stake as well as the top spot nationally. Missouri won the first meeting this season, Kansas' only loss and one which ended the Jayhawks' two-week stay as No.

1. The 1-2 matchup is the first since top-ranked North Carolina beat No. 2 Georgia Tech 78-77 on the road on Feb. 4, 1986.

Kansas (24-1) received 58 first-place votes and 1,570 points from the nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters, while Missouri was named No. 1 on four ballots and had 1,442 points.

Missouri had been No. 1 for three weeks until losing at Kansas State 65-58 on Thursday. The Tigers rebounded with a 107-85 win over Nebraska on Saturday.

Kansas won both its games last week — conference wins over Oklahoma State and Iowa State.

Georgetown and Syracuse, both of the Big East, each moved up two spots from last week to third and fourth.

The Hoyas (19-2) had 1,423 points, while Syracuse (18-3) received the only other first-place vote and 1,379 points.

Michigan (18-4) also moved up two spots to No. 5 with 1,249 points, while Duke (19-4) dropped the same distance to sixth with 1,170 points after losing to Virginia and being taken into overtime before beating Maryland.

UNLV (19-4) was seventh with 1,161 points after being ninth last week. Arkansas, which dropped to 20-3 after losing its first Southwest Conference game of the season — 82-77 to Baylor — was eighth after having jumped to third last week.

The Razorbacks had 1,147 points, 50 more than Louisiana State (19-4), which moved from 11th to ninth.

Meeting set to decide...

Tyson-Douglas winner is still unknown

TOKYO (AP) — Mike Tyson says he's still the heavyweight champion.

You could have fooled James "Buster" Douglas, though.

Evander Holyfield, the top heavyweight, would like to fight the champion — whoever that is.

The International Boxing Federation says the champion is Douglas, at least for the time being. The World Boxing Council and World Boxing Association put the title in limbo by suspending the result of Douglas' stunning 10th-round knockout of Tyson early Sunday afternoon in the Tokyo Dome.

The reason for the WBC and WBA's action is that video tape shows that Douglas was on the floor for at least 12 seconds after being knocked down by Tyson late in the eighth round.

"I had him out before he had me out," Tyson said. "I just want fair play. I thought legitimately he was out."

"The first knockout obliterates the second knockout," bellowed promoter Don King.

"There is no champion before Feb. 21," WBC president Jose Sulaiman of Mexico said. The WBC's executive committee will meet that week to act on the matter.

There will be a special session of the WBA's executive and championship committees in a week to 10 days, according to the organization's president, Gilberto Mendoza of Venezuela.

Sulaiman indicated the probable course of action.

"When there are problems, a rematch is absolutely mandatory," he said. Who would be champion or if either man would be champion in a rematch was not known.

Tyson was signed to defend the title June 18 at Atlantic City, N.J., against Holyfield, who was at ringside Sunday.

"Holyfield deserves a shot at the title," said Tyson, who appeared in dark glasses to hide his battered face at an evening news conference in which Sulaiman and Mendoza explained their action.

Douglas remained at his hotel, where he was seen lounging in a sweatshirt and sweat pants with the WBC championship belt around his waist.

Ken Sanders, Holyfield's manager, said he would still like to see a Tyson-Holyfield match, but that he would not resist a Douglas-Holyfield bout. He does not, however, want to see a Douglas-Tyson rematch immediately.

The man in the middle of the knockout controversy was Octavio Meyran of Mexico, who has been a referee for 22 years.

"I'd like to recognize my mistake because the rules are the rules," Meyran said.

When Douglas was knocked down by Tyson with a right uppercut at 2:56 of the eighth round, the timekeeper began counting immediately, reaching three before Meyran began to count. At eight, Meyran stopped counting briefly to glance at Tyson in a neutral corner.

Meyran was supposed to pick up the count at four, but he began at one.

Douglas, of course, was listening to Meyran, who was over him, not at the timekeeper.

"I wasn't really hurt," said Douglas, who appeared to be aware of what was happening as Meyran's count moved toward 10.

"When I looked up, the count was six. I clearly heard eight."

He was upright at nine.

If Douglas was clear-headed enough to rise at eight or nine had Meyran picked up the count at four is a matter for speculation and argument.

The count continued past the three-minute round limit because a fighter cannot be saved by the bell.

"He won the fight in the ring," IBF president Bob Lee said by telephone from his home at Fanwood, N.J. "All he has to do is get up by the count of 10. If the clock doesn't work or the referee makes a mistake, it's not his fault."

"I think the world recognizes James Douglas as heavyweight champion of the world," manager John Johnson said. "He beat Mike Tyson's butt."

Douglas came back in the ninth round to have Tyson in serious trouble from booming punches to the head. Then he knocked him out at 1:23 of the 10th.

A five-punch combination, with a right uppercut, left, right serving as the key blows, dropped Tyson in a heap in Johnson's corner, with his left eye closed. So dazed was Tyson that before trying to rise, he groped for his mouthpiece, which had been knocked out, and put it back in his mouth backwards.

At the end of the ninth round, judge Larry Rozadilla of Los Angeles had Douglas ahead 88-82. Ken Morita of Japan favored Tyson 87-86 and Masakazu Uchida of Japan had it 86-86.

The AP had 85-84 for the 29-year-old Douglas, of Columbus, Ohio.

The 23-year-old Tyson, making his 10th title defense, was such a heavy favorite that Las Vegas bookmakers didn't even offer a betting line. The only betting was whether the fight would go more than three full rounds.

 County Judge Bobby J. Goodwin ordered an autopsy to be performed at Southwestern Institute of Forensic Sciences in Dallas.
 The detective declined to say what the Whites' disagreement was about, although there was an unconfirmed report that the husband was upset when the wife ty service division.

 Topics to be covered include county government as an arm of the state, fiscal responsibility, planning for the 90's and the tax base.

Ken King, of the Texas Association of Counties government and legislative affairs division, noted in a letter to Vestal, "The potential of a program such as the one you have outlined could be useful for our organization statewide and we certainly share your belief that helping the candidates, the media and the public in general to focus on the real issues in political debates is important not only for the candidates themselves but also for the welfare of the community as a whole."
 In a brief overview of the speakers, Vestal said Patterson will discuss budgets with an emphasis on communication, determining the needs and wants of the people, prioritizing them and answering the question, "How much of a tax will the community allow?"
 Montford is expected to speak on the role of leadership.
 "He's not here as a politician or celebrity," said Vestal. "He's agreed to come as an educator, attempting to talk about what leadership is called for."
 Registration forms may be picked up at the Adult Education department of WTC and the chamber office and should be turned in to the college.

 Also in her letter, Goebel thanked Judge Goodwin and the commissioners for their support. Goodwin said he is sorry to see her leave as he has worked closely with her on mental health commitments in the county.
 Commissioners also approved weekly bills payable and minutes for the previous meeting.
 Gail Dixon represented the auditor's office in absence of County Auditor Linda Franklin. Others attending the weekly meeting were Goodwin, commissioners C.D. Gray Jr., Tommy Pate, Duaine Davis and Ted Billingsley, County Clerk Frances Billingsley, and Republican candidate for county judge, Greg Crawford.

Suspects identified

Police have identified two suspects in a Jan. 31 car vandalism case.

Ronnie Fowler reported on that day that the air had been let out of the tires on his 1984 Chevrolet Camaro and obscene words had been written on it with shoe polish.

A city detective said the suspects, whose ages were not reported, have agreed to pay $199 in restitution and that the case has been forwarded to the district attorney's office.

Woman's Quick Thinking Pulls The Plug on Credit-Card Scam

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: The following incident just happened, and it occurred to me that you could publicize it to warn others:

One recent afternoon, a man phoned and asked if I was "Mrs. G" living at (my address). I verified the facts, then he said he handles my account at the bank and asked me if I would be so kind as to get my Visa and Mastercard so he could check the numbers and expiration dates, as the bank is issuing new cards and he wanted the information to be correct.

I laughed and told him he must be out of his mind to think I would give that kind of information over the telephone. Then I hung up.

After thinking it over, I wondered how many people would give out such information without stopping to realize that banks don't operate that way. I called the police department and reported the incident, and I was transferred to the bunco squad, who happily took all the information and said I was a "smart lady" because, since the caller already had my name, address and telephone number, all he needed were my credit card numbers to make purchases by phone. Now, that is something I sure don't need!

Abby, please let people know that if they ever get a telephone call (supposedly from a bank employee) asking to "verify" their credit card numbers, they should get the person's name and call the bank to verify it.

JUNE G. IN DEL MAR, CALIF.

DEAR JUNE G.: You are, indeed, a "smart lady" — and thanks for a valuable tip! You deserve a lot of credit.

DEAR ABBY: As a longtime reader of your column, I often clip letters I want to reread. I am enclosing one I've saved for years, which is even more timely now than it was when it was published. If you agree, please run it again.

CATHERINE FIELD, NEW PORT RICHEY, FLA.

DEAR CATHERINE: I do. And here it is:

DEAR ABBY: In response to "Former Reader" and all others who insist that what they do with their bodies is "their own business":

Yes, it's your business, provided no one else has to pay financially, emotionally or otherwise for your rashness. So long as your parents are footing the bill, your body is "their business." Foul it up, and they must pay to straighten it — and you — out.

Even after you sever parental ties, if you foul up your body with alcohol, drugs or some other foolishness, someone else (the public, your spouse or your children) has to pay in money, hardship or mental anguish.

I am fed up with paying taxes to support wives and children of alcoholics and drug addicts, and I'm tired of paying for public-sponsored medical and psychiatric treatment for people who have chosen to wreck their lives. I am fed up with paying high insurance rates because of drivers who are addicted to alcohol or drugs, and with supporting enormous police forces to combat crimes resulting from such addiction.

The only person whose body is absolutely his (or her) own to treat foolishly is one who is self-supporting, has no relatives, no friends, no dependents and is completely exiled from civilization.

AN OLD SQUARE IN CINCINNATI

DEAR SQUARE: I'm in all four of your corners.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old high school sophomore. I have my driver's license, a car of my own — and a child on the way.

It all started when I met this girl named "Sandy" on a weekend skiing trip. She's exactly my age, and we liked each other immediately and spent every minute of that weekend together (night and day). I bought her a ring and told her I would never forget her. I called her long-distance a couple of times and wrote her once, but she never answered my letter, so we kind of drifted apart. We live 800 miles apart.

Eight months after the trip, Sandy called to tell me she's pregnant and is due in three weeks. Abby, since that weekend I have had other girlfriends and I honestly thought Sandy had forgotten all about me. We had had no contact for seven months.

Well, I told my family and they have been very supportive.

Abby, please tell teen-agers not to have sex until they're at least high school. And if they can't wait, they should use protection. That one weekend sure screwed up my life. My parents told me that I have to face up to my responsibilities, so I will probably have to quit school. (I am also starting quarterback at school.)

You can't tell me anything I haven't already told myself, but maybe if you print this it might help other kids. Sign me ...

TOO YOUNG IN NEW MEXICO

DEAR TOO YOUNG: You are lucky to have such supportive parents. Since you and Sandy are both minors, you and your parents should immediately get some legal advice, then go to visit Sandy and her parents and work out the best solution for all concerned. You should finish your education even if you have to work evenings or go to night school. You appear to be a sensible boy who didn't realize the seriousness of your actions.

I wish you well and am printing your letter because it sends a very important message to teenagers: It can happen to you.

DEAR ABBY: Last week I invited some close friends to dinner. I specifically asked them not to bring anything because I wanted to prepare the entire meal myself. I spent the entire day planning and creating a well-coordinated meal, and I was looking forward to presenting what I thought was a knockout dinner.

Everything was fine, until one of the guests walked in with an entree, some appetizers and a dessert! Not only were these unsolicited dishes redundant, but they were totally unrelated to the theme of my dinner!

I had no choice but to thank her for her generosity and place her food next to mine. The other guests felt obligated to partake of her offerings, and I felt that my dinner was ruined because my cooking had to compete with hers.

This is not the first time this guest has brought something — that's why I specifically asked her not to bring anything. However, she loves to cook, and this is the way she shows her appreciation.

Please tell your readers that sometimes generosity may not enhance a meal, but may, in fact, ruin it.

DEAR F.S.: You say you had no choice — that you had to place her food next to yours on the table. Where is that written? You could have thanked her graciously, then placed her gifts in your freezer for "later."

Don't put off writing thank-you notes, letters of sympathy, etc., because you don't know what to say. Get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Is your social life in a slump? Get Abby's booklet, "How to Be Popular" — for people of all ages. To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Popularity Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Andy Rooney will be welcome back on staff, Wallace says

NEW YORK (AP) — "60 Minutes" anchorman Mike Wallace said suspended humorist Andy Rooney will be welcome back on the CBS news magazine.

"After his three-month suspension, which he himself has acknowledged is understandable, we, who have been his colleagues through the years, surely look forward to his return here," Wallace told viewers Sunday.

In a story published this weekend in The Advocate, a biweekly, homosexual-oriented magazine based in Los Angeles, Rooney is quoted as saying blacks have watered down their genes "because the less intelligent ones are the ones that have the most children."

Rooney, who won his first Emmy award in 1968 for his script for a special about blacks, has denied the remarks. He was suspended last week.

California...

Fourth straight drought year looms

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Unless California gets rains of biblical proportions in the next two months, a drought will enter its fourth year, forcing one city to outlaw lawn-watering and others to require serious water cutbacks.

Los Angeles is drafting a water conservation incentive program, farmers in Turlock are using well water to offset reservoir shortages and merchants along shrunken Folsom Lake near Sacramento are bracing for a decline in visitors.

The state's precipitation stood at 60 percent of normal on Feb. 1 for the rainy season beginning Oct. 1, 1989. The 154 largest reservoirs were at 74 percent capacity and the water content in the snow pack was at 40 to 50 percent of normal, officials said.

If California has even normal rainfall in February and March, officials will declare the fourth consecutive drought year, said Bob Fingado, senior engineer with the state Water Resources Department.

The most critical area is California's central coast, where cities rely mainly on reservoirs for their water. The region's reservoirs are at 20 percent normal capacity, and Gibraltar Reservoir, which Santa Barbara uses for water, is dry.

Santa Barbara, which has already banned hosing down driveways and sidewalks and daytime watering, plans to take more severe steps next month, including a ban on watering lawns and strict restrictions on commercial water use.

"You're going to see a lot of brown lawns around here," said Bill Ferguson, a Santa Barbara water conservation officer. Officials intend to cut city-wide water consumption by 30 percent to 45 percent.

The Los Angeles area has largely escaped the drought's wrath because the region uses a variety of water sources.

Still, plans are being drafted to urge people to conserve water, including a program that gives cash rebates to apartment owners who install low-flow toilets, said Dorothy Jensen, a spokeswoman for the city's Department of Water and Power.

"We are at the position where we are in short supply," she said. "We are having to buy a great deal of water. But we're not to the point where we're going to call for mandatory conservation."

In Turlock, the drought has lowered the Don Pedro Reservoir to the point that farmers will be pumping ground water to meet their demands, said Russ DeLuca, irrigation system administrator with the Turlock Irrigation District.

Continued dry weather has diminished the possibility of a normal runoff from the Sierra Nevada, and officials say precipitation in the Tuolumne River water shed remains 4 inches below normal.

The drought has hurt businesses around Folsom Lake east of Sacramento, which last year lost an estimated 1 million visitors from the previous year because of the low water level, state officials said.

Santa Clara County, which last year ordered mandatory 25-percent water cutbacks for residents, may be forced to resume the program if the water district can't recapture rain water in its now-empty 10 reservoirs.

Reading helps transplant patient

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Stormie Jones, saved by the world's first heart-liver transplant on Valentine's Day 1984, has her own remedy for dealing with the exasperating health problems that seem to multiply with every passing year.

She reads. "That always helps me put my worries and frustrations away," said the 12-year-old mystery buff. "I know my liver problem is never going away and I know my heart problem is never going to go away. So I don't worry about it too much."

She also writes. "I feel better when I write my thoughts down."

In many ways, Stormie is much like any other adolescent girl, said her mother, Lois Purcell, 33. "We're into boys and a different kind of music than mom listens to, makeup, the whole nine yards."

"If somebody says, 'Hey, we're having a slumber party,' I let her go. She goes skating. Now she wants to go to the mall and get her ears pierced."

More than any other year since her historic operation, though, the past one has been tough for one of transplantation's most celebrated patients.

Stormie was doing "super good" and leading a fairly normal life in White Settlement, Texas, until October 1988, when she was re-admitted to Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh for possible organ rejection, Mrs. Purcell said. She improved the next month after surgeons removed a bile duct obstruction.

She was back again in January 1989 because of elevated enzyme levels that interfered with her anti-rejection medication, cyclosporine.

She started losing liver function in November and returned again. Dr. Thomas E. Starzl replaced her cyclosporine with an experimental Japanese drug, FK-506, believed to be 50 to 100 times more powerful with fewer side effects. She takes a pill every day, and will for the rest of her life.

The setback prompted Mrs. Purcell to remove the sixth-grader from school this year and rehire her home tutor.

Stormie returned to Children's Hospital on Jan. 6 with more liver problems. Tests showed no evidence of organ rejection, but rather a non-infectious form of hepatitis. She was discharged six days later and sent home to recuperate.

Airlines generally pick up the travel expenses; insurance covers most of the medical costs.

Now her doctors in Texas want to draw blood once instead of twice a week because her veins are collapsing from so many tests, but they can't because of her rising enzyme levels. "It's to the point where it's getting kind of frustrating. We don't really know what's going on," said Mrs. Purcell.

"If I remember, they told me after the first five years you're over the hump. They didn't tell me it went downhill."

Stormie is just as bewildered as her mother.

"She's to the point where it's really bothering her," Mrs. Purcell said. "If her liver is in rejection one more time, she's going to tell Dr. Starzl she wants a new liver. That's getting pretty desperate when you don't want to try the new medication. It's something I never thought I'd hear her say."

Starzl doesn't intend to give Stormie another liver. And her heart won't need to be replaced even if her liver does. "Her heart is doing perfectly in all this," he said. "The liver is doing quite well. We think we'll keep that liver for the foreseeable future."

Stormie suffered from a rare congenital disease that increased the cholesterol in her blood to nearly 10 times normal; the imbalance was caused by a faulty liver. She had two heart attacks, two triple coronary bypasses and a heart-valve replacement before Starzl decided in January 1984 to replace her heart and liver.

On Feb. 14, 1984, during 16 hours of surgery, Stormie received the heart and liver of a 4-year-old New York girl killed in a car accident. She was discharged as an outpatient that March and sent home in May.

Encouraged by her progress, surgeons did two more heart-liver transplants during the next year in Pittsburgh, the world's leading transplant center, but both patients died within a few days of surgery.

Those were the sole attempts in America at replacing heart and liver in a simultaneous operation until Dec. 3, when Pittsburgh surgeons did the world's first heart-liver-kidney transplant. Cindy Martin, 26, of Archbald, Pa., was still in intensive care at Presbyterian-University Hospital in mid-February. She was receiving FK-506 and had experienced no organ rejection.

Starzl, who heads transplantation at the University of Pittsburgh-affiliated hospitals, remains confident and willing to attempt more combination transplants, especially with the availability of FK-506.

Glitch fixed; more Venus photos taken

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Galileo space ship cruised on the next leg of its 2.4-billion mile, six-year trip to Jupiter after engineers replaced faulty computer commands that made the craft act like a mad shutterbug.

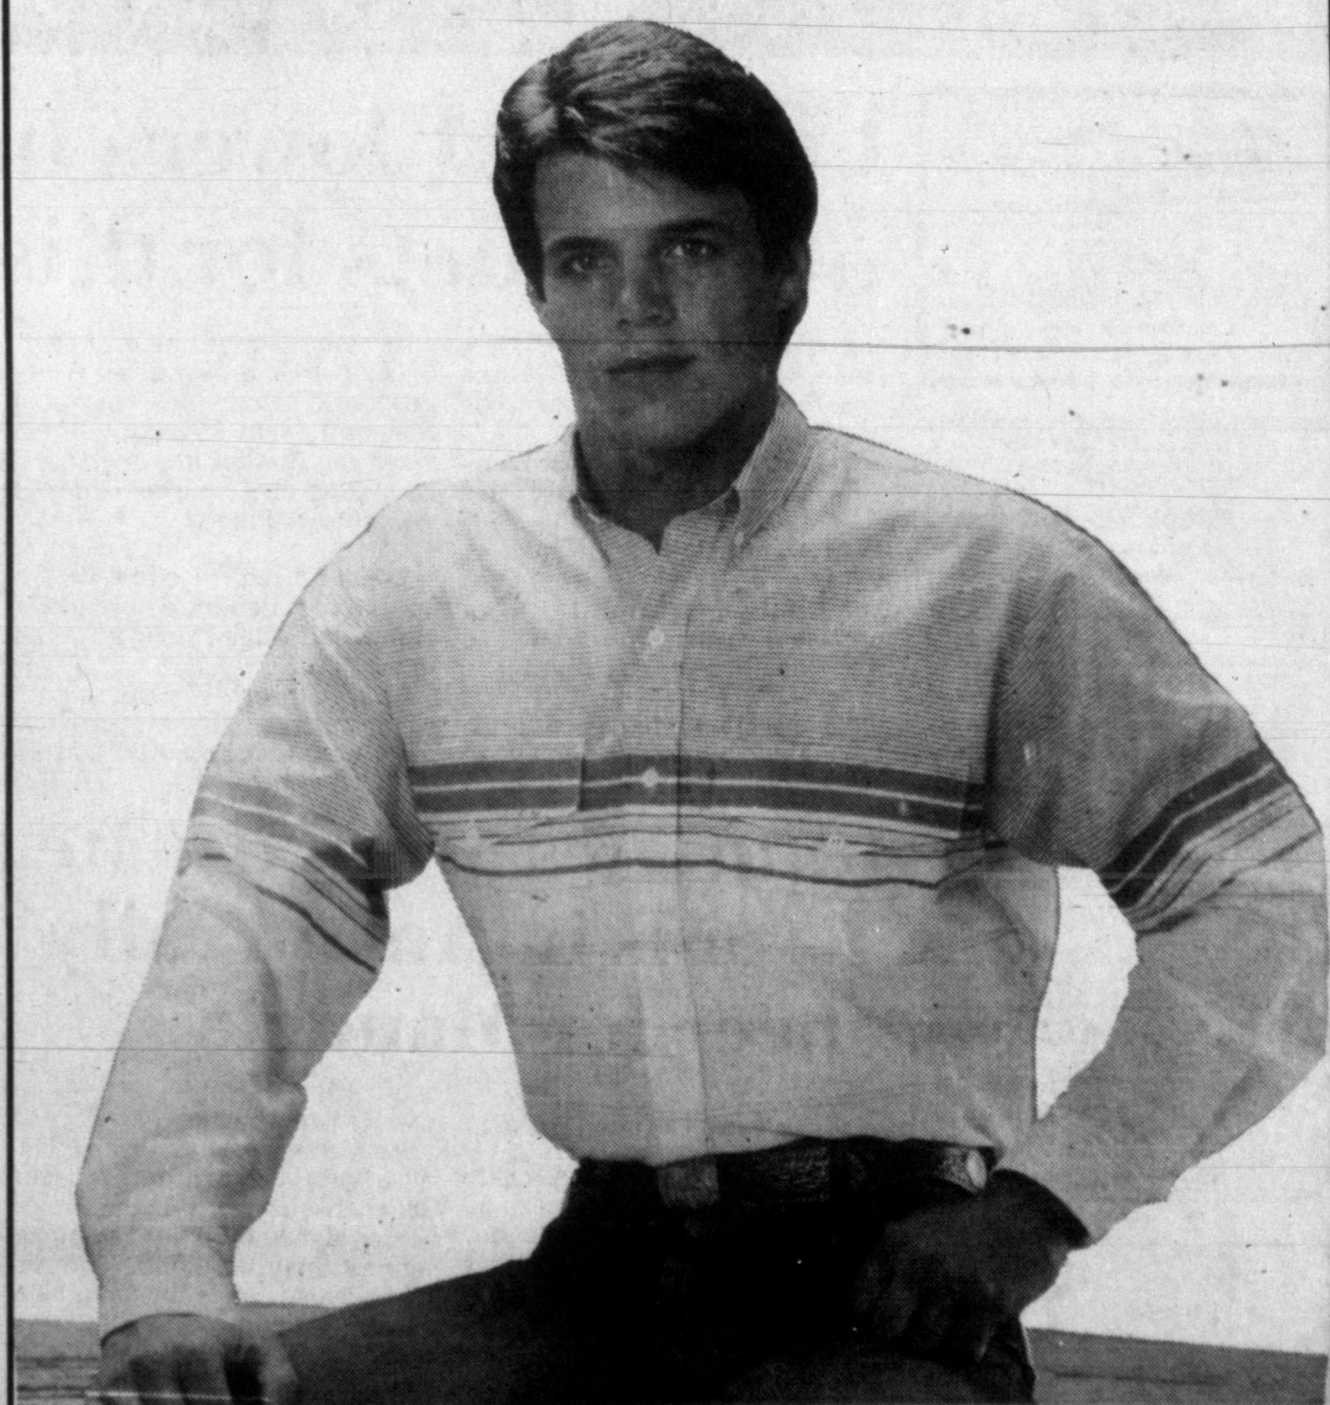

Galileo snapped 16 planned photos of Venus on Saturday, but for about five hours the shutter on the spacecraft's electronic camera opened and closed 452 times when it wasn't supposed to do so. None of those unintended exposures were recorded.

NASA engineers sent the 2.8-ton Galileo new computer commands late Saturday, and the camera was able to snap 38 pictures, right on schedule, of cloud-shrouded Venus in a series that ended Sunday morning.

"They seem to understand what happened, and they're not concerned about any repeats," said Bob MacMillin, spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Galileo is now flying back toward Earth so the planet can act as a gravity slingshot on Dec. 8 to help the spacecraft reach Jupiter in 1995 in a $1.35 billion mission to explore the solar system's largest planet.

Dr. Gott Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had an abortion at age 15. Will this hinder my chances of getting pregnant in the future, and

Joan Rivers is a 'survivor'

NEW YORK (AP) — Talk show host Joan Rivers has gained seven pounds, but is surviving the loss of her husband and her status as permanent guest host of "The Tonight Show."

"The past two years I've lost the two most important men in my life — Edgar and Johnny Carson. They're both gone. One was my life, the other was my career. Edgar was dead, and I was left for dead," Rivers said in this week's People magazine.

Rivers, 56, defected from "The Tonight Show" to become the host of a rival Fox network show. Her husband, who was despondent over the failure of her Fox show committed suicide in August 1987.

She has a new syndicated talk show, and is chronicling her mood swings in a journal.

"Am I losing it? I am fat, old, ugly and scared?" she wrote one day. Another day, after taping two segments of "The Joan Rivers Show" and being cheered by an audience in Las Vegas, she wrote, "Everything is terrific."

Simon, ex-wife get married again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Playwright Neil Simon and actress Diane Lander, who divorced 18 months ago, have tied the knot again.

Actors Richard Benjamin and Paula Prentiss and comic Carl Reiner were among the 30 guests at the wedding Saturday at Simon's Bel-Air home.

Simon, 62, and Ms. Lander, 38, first wed in January 1987 and they divorced in the summer of 1988.

when I do, does the doctor or anyone else have to know what happened? Is there a chance the pregnancy will not go smoothly?

DEAR READER: If you had a single abortion, properly performed and without complications, you will probably have no trouble becoming pregnant again. Problems can arise if you suffered an infection at the time of the procedure. This infection could block one or both Fallopian tubes, making pregnancy difficult or impossible without additional treatment — usually surgery to unblock the tubes.

In addition, repeated abortions often weaken the cervix, which makes it difficult for a woman to carry a baby to term, she may tend to miscarry. If you did not suffer these complications, the abortion should not affect your ability to become pregnant.

Nonetheless, you should share your experience with a gynecologist. This information is part of your medical history and will help the specialist guide you through an uneventful pregnancy. The doctor needs to know in order to give you and your baby the best possible medical care. He or she will keep the information confidential. You do not have to discuss your abortion with any other person, including health professionals.

Abortion should never be viewed as a form of (or substitute for) birth control. Because you may not wish to become pregnant right away, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Contraception: An Update." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 10-year-old niece has been diagnosed with Dyggve-Melchior-Clausen syndrome. It's a very rare genetic bone disease, and the doctor at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, who made the diagnosis, has seen only one other case. Can you provide any information?

DEAR READER: Dyggve-Melchior-Clausen syndrome is an inherited genetic abnormality marked by mental retardation, short stature, exaggerated spinal curvature and clawed fingers. The affliction is so rare that it does not appear in the standard medical texts or dictionaries; in fact, it's so rare that I cannot give you further information about treatment or prognosis. Perhaps you can obtain this information from your Johns Hopkins doctor.

Faith, family and community help woman survive tragedy

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Audrey Teran spoke in a tired whisper about her slain husband and two daughters, but she was willing to share her memories.

"I believe Steven is sending me strength. I believe he and my daughters, my girls, they're all in heaven."

"God has a mission for them. He (Steven) took the girls with him because he didn't want to leave them to suffer," Mrs. Teran said Sunday in a telephone interview from Silver City.

Steven Teran, 26, his stepdaughter Paula Holguin, 6, and daughter Valerie Teran, 2; were killed in multiple shootings at Las Cruces Bowl lanes Saturday.

Another girl, Amy Houser, 13, also was killed and three others were critically wounded.

Police are looking for two men they said robbed the bowling lanes and shot the victims so there would be no witnesses to the crime.

"I don't know how much they got away with. But they've got to be maniacs to do this. What can a 2-year-old do? ... Why my little girls, my babies? This whole thing is senseless," Mrs. Teran said.

She said she hopes her children and husband did not suffer in the shootings. Valerie died on her way to or at the hospital, police have said.

"It kills me that I couldn't have been there with her. I just hope she was not in a lot of pain."

Audrey and Steve had known one another since attending Cobre High School in Bayard, N.M. Teran had played football and run track, his widow said.

They were married Dec. 31, 1986, by a justice of the peace.

"We always celebrated the 31st no matter what, no matter if we went out the rest of the year, we always went out on the 31st," she said.

Steven had recently graduated from New Mexico State University with a degree in criminal justice. He had recently applied to the Las Cruces Police Department.

"He wanted to go into law enforcement. He talked to Border Patrol Customs, anything He wanted to use his college degree," she said.

He worked nights at the bowling alley during the week and the day shift on weekends. On Saturdays he would take his daughters with him because the couple had trouble finding a baby sitter, Mrs. Teran said.

"The girls were very, very attached to him. And he was to them," she said.

Paula loved him, although Teran was not her birth father, she said.

"He took her in like she was his own. They shared the same birthday, July 13 ... He was very, very sensitive," she said.

Mrs. Teran said she feels numb, but she said the outpouring of condolences from the community of Las Cruces and the support of her family have helped her.

"I want to thank everybody in Las Cruces. I want to thank the police department, the fire department, the detectives that are there night and day trying to catch these guys," she said.

She said she wanted the community to put the tragedy behind it.

"They have something I could not give them. They have peace, they are happy, they'll never cry, no pain. I'm going to miss them. To my dying day, I'm going to miss them."

"But they're in God's hands. I could not ask for more."

Real stars were men who learned to read

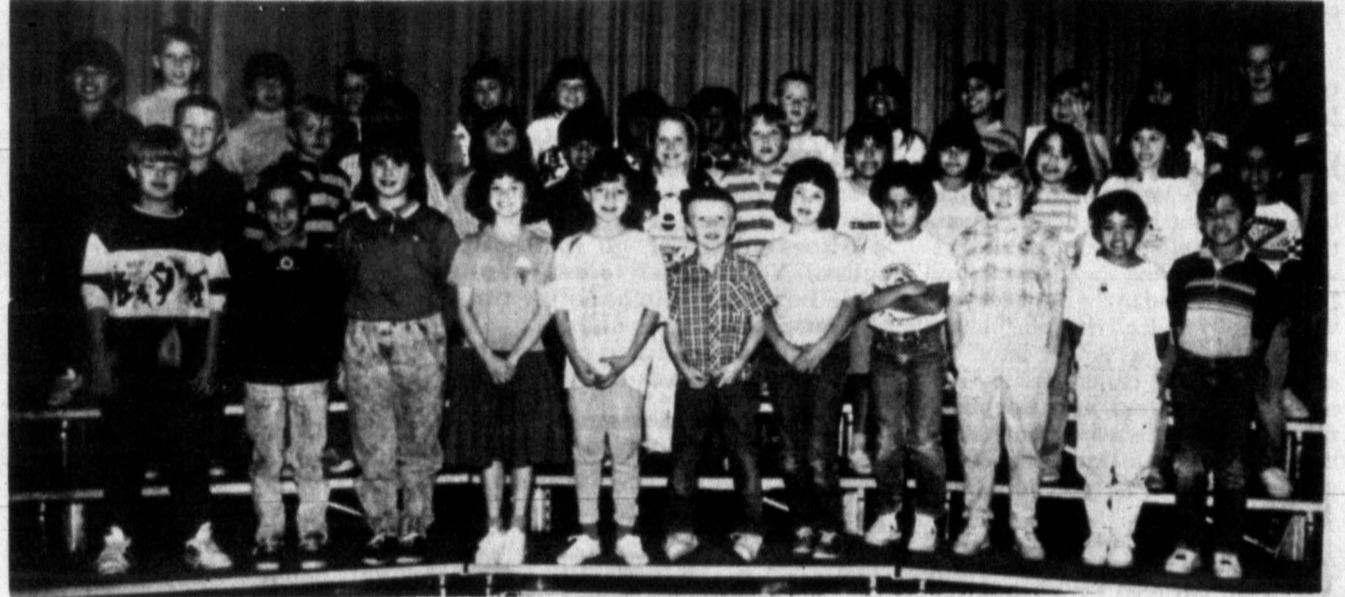

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush gave the opening remarks, but the real stars of a White House television special on literacy were three adults who learned to read late in life.

"Literacy is critical to our very future ... essential to our freedom," Bush said.

The adult learners were: James Underwood, 49, of Charlotte, N.C., who now runs a $300,000-a-year cleaning business; Inez Cortiz, 30, of Nicholson, Pa., an ex-welfare mother now training to be a nurse, and Ed Castor, 47, of Windfall, Ind., who learned to read after technology made his old factory job obsolete.

Churches around state, Texans in Austin rally cheer for Mandela

By The Associated Press

Nearly 250 people at an Austin park celebrated the release of South African black leader Nelson Mandela while similar festivities rang out in churches around the state.

"This is like the Berlin Wall," Rick Marshall-Greene, a San Antonio resident who is a delegate to the African National Congress, told the rally at Rosewood Park Sunday.

"Nelson Mandela is that one brick, the first brick, that is coming out and that will help dismantle that wall (of apartheid)."

Mandela, 71, had been in prison since 1962 after being convicted of sabotage in the ANC's guerilla war against the white regime. He was released Sunday.

"Nelson Mandela has been released, but Nelson Mandela is not free because Nelson Mandela cannot vote in the country where he was born," said Mario Marcel Salas, another ANC delegate who lives in San Antonio. Both men, who have been banned from returning to the separatist nation, said the United States should maintain sanctions against their homeland.

"Because of the sanctions, Mandela came out today," Marshall-Greene said. "This is not the time to get chummy with the South African regime."

But Nat Levy, an Afrikaner who was a member of Mandela's defense team during his 1963 trial and who now heads a financial services firm in Houston, said lifting economic sanctions against South Africa is a vital next step toward political stability there.
