DPS clamps down on trucking with newest regulations

By BOB CAMPBELL
SDN Staff Writer

Texas truckers have been put under new and more stringent requirements for vehicle maintenance, driving time and other aspects of their work by a new set of state and federal regulations — changes that have Department of Public Safety officers watching more critically when one of the vehicles comes up the road.

The United States Department of Transportation enacted new regulations over interstate trucking, and the Texas Legislature followed suit by approving accompanying rules for traffic within the state.

DPS license and weight officers attend a day-and-a-half school to study up on the new rules, which have so far been pulling more trucks off the road than drivers, as requirements for tires, brakes, steering and other facets of a truck's operation have come under new scrutiny.

Intrastate drivers are now limited to 12 hours a day or 60 hours a week and interstate truckers to 10 hours a day of driving, with companies and drivers being required to keep records of drivers' working hours.

But the toughest new requirement for drivers may be the new nationally standardized commercial driving test that industry insiders are saying is twice as hard as the old one, with a 60-percent failure rate in initial applications of it in other states.

Every trucker will be required to have passed the new test by April 1992.

Regular DPS troopers do not regulate truckers, except to cite them for speeding. License and weight officers regulate the industry on Texas highways, making sure trucks are not overweight or, for example, that cotton haulers do not still carry warning placards from a load of hazardous materials earlier in the week.

Snyder-based license and weight officer Kirby McCravey's new book of "Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations" runs 160 pages, and the departmental summaries he has received are almost as exhaustive.

But McCravey sees the changes as constructive, primarily because they will eventually result in taking delapidated and sometimes mechanically dangerous trucks off the road.

API fish fry today

The 12th annual Snyder Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute fish fry and membership drive is scheduled from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. today at the National Guard Armory.

Tickets, available at the door, are $6, or $2 for children under age 12.

During the event, membership signups will be available. Annual dues to join API are $6.

New officers and board members will be introduced by Rickey Daniell of Pride Petroleum Services, chapter chairman.

ENFORCEMENT — Department of Public Safety license and weight officer Kirby McCravey of Snyder was checking this Houston truck driver for compliance to the state's new trucking regulations. He warned the driver about an improper hazardous materials placard, when the truck was not carrying hazardous materials, and had the truck weighed at a local grain company. It was in compliance with weight standards. (SDN Staff Photo)

Leaders mull tax increase to pay for finance reform

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislative leaders say a sales tax increase might be the easiest route if more money is needed for court-mandated school finance reform, but Gov. Bill Clements is standing firm on his vow to veto new taxes.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and key senators filed a bill Thursday that would require $780 million in new money next school year. The action was taken to address the Texas Supreme Court's ruling that the school finance system is unconstitutional because of funding disparities between property-rich and poor school districts.

"There's lots of taxes I'd vote for for the sake of education. I could support a half-cent temporary increase in the sales tax," said Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

While there is no agreement on the level of funding, lawmakers said if new revenues are needed, a sales tax increase would probably be the easiest to pass.

But Clements remained op- (see FINANCE, page 8)

Cooper to speak at Lions banquet

Snyder Lions Club celebrates its 65th anniversary Saturday with dinner and a program at Scurry County Coliseum.

Marshall Cooper, executive director of Boys Haven of America, Inc., will be the guest speaker.

Banquet tickets are $10. Entertainment will be provided by Jack Denman and Mrs. Charlie Reynolds.

Included among the events will be an introduction of past presidents, queens, former district governors and other guests.

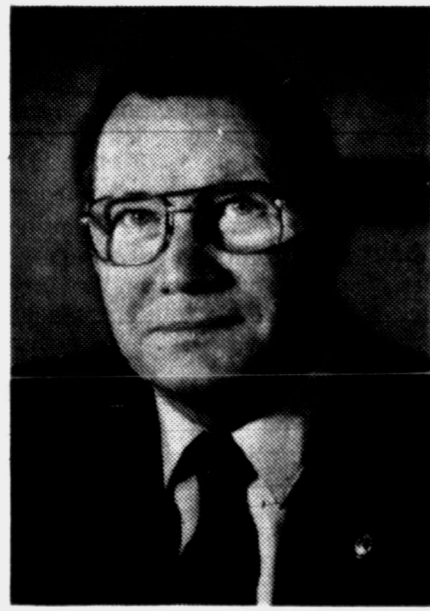

Cooper, 54, was president of the Texas Lions Camp in Kerrville in 1987-88. He is a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Scottish Rite Masons, the Beaumont Young Men's Business League and the Beaumont Founders Lions Club.

He is a former Lions International District Governor and president of the Texas Institute on Children and Youth.

Cooper is a life member of the Texas Corrections Association. He served as Andrews County juvenile officer four years, was superintendent of the West Texas Boys Ranch in San Angelo for four years and was executive director of Girlstown, U.S.A. for 23 years.

He was appointed chairman of the governor's juvenile justice and delinquency prevention advisory board, is a former (see LIONS, page 8)

Members of the chamber of commerce tourism and retirement committee Thursday began organizing efforts to accommodate the several hundred parents and children who will be here for the National Boys Little Dribblers Tournament next month.

"We need 500 beds," said committee chairman Dennis Chisum. "Where are we going to get them?"

Chisum said overflow weekend visitors here often stay in Sweetwater and Colorado City, and committee members agreed to ask Snyder residents to open their homes to prevent the 700-plus Little Dribblers players and their parents from staying elsewhere.

The tournament will be here April 26 through 28.

Other business in the hour-long Thursday morning session at the chamber included a review of the regional junior college basketball tournament, featuring 16 men's and women's teams, which Western Texas College will host next Tuesday through Saturday in the county coliseum.

Chisum reported that 319 tickets have been sold for the Snyder Lions Club's 65th anniversary banquet, 7 p.m. Saturday at the coliseum, when 250 had been the club's initial goal. A total attendance of 350 is expected.

Chamber director Bill Moss said the several high school basketball playoff games that have been held here recently were a success, capped by a crowd of 1,000 people that attended the Pampa-Fort Worth

Brewer game Tuesday night.

Committee member Jack Denman said an Airstream trailer rally will be held here March 15 and 16, and Feinsod reported on plans for a Snyder Wheels antique car club "swap meet" March 16 through 18.

Chisum said schools on child abuse for area law enforcement officers are expected to draw 25 to 30 officers April 18 through 20 and 150 to 200 on June 25 through 29 at Western Texas College.

The annual WTC Rodeo April 19 through 22 will also bring a number of out-of-town visitors to Snyder, Moss noted.

Other committee members who attended the meeting were Blanche Chisum, Bill Davies, Gay Hickman, Roy Carter, Rod Waller, Fran Farmer and John Gayle.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Speakers are expected not only to rise to the occasion, but know when to sit down."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors: Wendy Beckham, in the Lamesa Press-Reporter, wrote about an old man who had the habit of carrying an oil can with him everywhere he went.

When the man went through a door that creaked or heard something with a strange noise, he would stop and pour on a little oil.

If the gates were hard to open, he would oil the latch. Thus he passed through life lubricating the hard places and making it easier for those who came after him.

Said Beckham, "There are lives that creak and squeak all about us—lives that need lubricating with the oil of gladness and happiness."

Larry Crabtree, in the Vernon Daily Record, told about an incident that occurred at his local post office.

The woman went to the post office, and liked to go to the postal window because the clerks were always friendly to her.

Just before Christmas, the woman went there to buy stamps and encountered long lines with persons trying to mail Christmas parcels.

Someone spotted the woman and suggested there was no need to wait in the long line since there was a stamp machine located in the lobby.

"I know," smiled the woman, "but the machine won't ask about my arthritis."

Doug Manning, who lives in the Panhandle city of Hereford, loves to see it snow. Manning says it's the only time his yard looks as good as others in the neighborhood.

March 6-8 designated for achievement tests

March 6-8 has been designated by the Snyder Independent School District as the dates for K-11 grade students to take the Comprehensive Tests of Basic Skills achievement test (CTBS).

Results of the test are used as one means of determining student-achievement growth during the year.

Snyder school officials are encouraging parents who have a child to be tested to discuss the importance of the test with the child. All students need to take the test during the approved time schedule. If for some reason a child is ill and cannot be present on the day of testing, parents should notify the school so that a makeup day can be scheduled.

The results from the test will be available in early May. Parents will be notified when results are available, and a conference may be scheduled with the child's teacher. Parents who have questions about the test may contact Janice Brown, director of testing and curriculum, at 573-9364.

Q—I noticed there is a recall election against the mayor of Big Spring. How many signatures would be required on a petition for a recall of the mayor and city council?

A—A city official said such a petition would have to have either 250 signatures or 51 percent of the total number of votes in the last municipal election, whichever is greater. In Snyder's case, it would be the 51 percent, or 392 signatures, the official said. A petition would be required for each office.

In Brief

SS agent fires

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Secret Service agent opened fire on a sky diver who parachuted into the parking lot of President George Bush's hotel and sped away in a car, police said.

Bush was staying at the Century Plaza Hotel during the Thursday morning episode that ended with the arrest of Charles Sweeney, 47, of Santa Clarita.

Sweeney, arrested at his home hours after the incident, was booked for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon on a law officer and freed on $3,000 bail, said police Lt. Al Moen.

Police and the Secret Service wouldn't comment on what motivated the sky diver.

U. S. casualty

HOUSTON (AP) — A retired Houston man was among 16 people killed in a hotel fire in Cairo, Egypt, where he and his wife had been vacationing, relatives said.

Robert D. Cresap, 67, and his wife, Helen, had arrived Wednesday in Cairo, said Mrs. Alfred Cresap of Sioux City, Iowa, the victim's sister-in-law.

ANC chooses

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — The African National Congress today named Nelson Mandela as its deputy president, a clear signal he will play a leading role as the guerrilla movement moves toward negotiations with South Africa.

Mandela, released Feb. 11 after 27 years in prison, is the ANC's best known figure, but he did not hold a formal position in the organization until today.

Brother of victim said taken into protective custody

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A Fort Worth judge is scheduled Tuesday to decide the fate of the younger brother of a 5-year-old boy who died after drinking 10 ounces of bourbon.

Authorities have taken Rasad Griffin, 2, to a private, licensed foster home in Tarrant County, a spokesman for the Texas Department of Human Services in Arlington said Thursday.

And Juvenile Judge Scott Moore has set a March 6 hearing to determine whether Patricia Griffin will regain custody of the child.

"Our focus is on whether any form of abuse or neglect was involved in the death," said Andrea Helms of the state human services department. "Given that, it is a possibility that this other child is in risk of being abused or neglected."

The boy's brother, Raymond Thomas Griffin II, died at Cook-Fort Worth Children's Medical Center at 8:45 a.m. Wednesday, nearly 11 hours after his family agreed to disconnect life support systems.

Police said Raymond was urged to drink the alcohol "like a man" by an adult at a neighborhood gathering Friday night. Anthony Jimerson, 21, has been charged with injury to a child and is being held on $100,000 bond.

Ms. Griffin said she and her family were upset about witnesses' statements to police that Jimerson wanted the boy to go to sleep so he could be alone with her.

"I'm upset about it," she said. "I didn't know he was saying that."

Officers said the boy was given about 10 ounces of alcohol — roughly the equivalent of a fifth of alcohol for an average adult.

Prosecutors said they would take Jimerson's case to a grand jury, which could consider more severe charges against Jimerson. The charge against him is a first degree felony which carries a maximum 99-year prison term.

DECA students earn District 9 awards

DECA marketing students at Snyder High School competed in the District 9 DECA Career Development Conference last month in Abilene.

Angie Buchanan was selected as a district finalist to compete at the state DECA CDC in the "Advertising and Display" series.

Chris Titus, local DECA Club vice-president, was selected as an alternate to the state DECA CDC in "Full Service Restaurant Management" series.

Darren Pylant was also selected as an alternate to state in the "General Marketing" series.

Hank Earnest, president of the local DECA Club, earned second place in district in the "General Marketing" series.

Jennifer Spence, secretary of DECA, placed fourth in district in the "General Marketing" series.

Susan Harrison placed fourth in district in the "General Merchandising" series.

Jerra Jackson, treasurer of DECA, competed in the "General Merchandising" series.

Each student had to take a 100 question test pertaining to their specific series and then compete in a role-play situation before a judge.

The state DECA CDC will be held March 8-11 in Galveston. Lisa Williams is the local DECA coordinator.

Ex-Orange Co. sheriff sentenced to 20 years

TYLER, Texas (AP) — U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice sentenced former Orange County Sheriff James Wade to 20 years in prison — nearly five years more than the suggested maximum — for conspiring to make and sell methamphetamines.

The U.S. Probation Service set a maximum 15 years and 8 months as a federal sentencing guideline for Wade, based on presentencing report. But Justice said Thursday he went above the guidelines because Wade had been a peace officer for more than 20 years and was the chief law enforcement officer of his county when the offenses occurred.

In addition, Justice added five years probation to be served after the prison term, noting that Wade also was convicted of two counts of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Wade, 44, was convicted nearly 17 months ago by a federal jury in Sherman. He has been jailed since June 1, 1988, and will be eligible for parole in 15 years, officials said.

"I am innocent of all charges," Wade told Justice. "I have broken no laws of the United States. Ultimately I hope the truth will come out."

Wade faced fines of more than $4 million, but Justice said he waived fines since he had granted Wade pauper status. Justice appointed Tyler attorneys Buck Files and William C. Wright to represent Wade during an appeal.

"I hope that you can still make something of your life and that you will do as well as far as circumstances permit," Justice told Wade.

The charges against Wade stemmed from allegations that he oversaw operation of methamphetamine-making laboratories using equipment seized in earlier drug raids and taken from his department's evidence room.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Will you please discuss endometriosis and endometrial biopsy?

DEAR READER: The uterus is lined by tissue (endometrium), containing many blood vessels, that is influenced by the hormonal cycles in a woman's body. Ordinarily, menstruating women shed this inner lining each month.

Endometriosis, a common condition, is the presence of endometrial tissue in abnormal locations, outside the uterus. Nests of endometrium in the abdominal cavity, bowel, umbilicus, vagina, nose — even the lungs — will, along with the normal uterine endometrium, bleed each month. Thus, women with endometriosis will experience cyclic, sometimes bizarre bleeding into the intestine or abdominal cavity — or, depending on the location of the endometriosis, from the nose or lungs.

Endometriosis frequently causes infertility because aberrant endometrium interferes with reproduction by blocking the Fallopian tubes. In many cases, experts do not understand how endometriosis disrupts reproductive ability.

Women with endometriosis usually experience recurring abdominal pain and cramps, as the endometrial nests bleed but cannot drain.

Treatment consists of medicine to suppress menstruation: continuous use of birth control pills, danazol or progestin. Surgery to remove abnormal endometrial tissue may be necessary to reverse infertility.

The degree of success depends on the severity of the disorder; about 60 percent of women who are moderately affected can conceive after the operation, whereas only about 35 percent with severe disease will become pregnant.

Endometrial biopsy is an uncomfortable office procedure during which a gynecologist scrapes out a small portion of the uterine lining. The tissue is then examined under a microscope to determine whether the woman is ovulating and if her hormone balance is in order.

Such a biopsy is a routine part of gynecological practice to investigate inappropriate menstrual bleeding. It is often performed on postmenopausal women to detect cancer of the endometrium.

Endometrial biopsy does not aid in the diagnosis of endometriosis because the surgeon is sampling the uterine lining, not endometrial tissue elsewhere. Endometriosis is usually diagnosed during laparoscopy, when the gynecologist examines the abdominal cavity with a lighted tube.

Report denied

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former President Reagan would welcome an opportunity to see Berlin and may visit soon, his spokesman says.

But Reagan spokesman Mark Weinberg denied a report that the former president will campaign for a fledging East German party, the Alliance of Free Democrats. East Germany's elections are scheduled for March 18.

Y-Z Industries, Inc. introduces customer service telemarketing

In a move to facilitate an ever-increasing demand for auxiliary customer services and to streamline the company's day-to-day operations, Y-Z Industries, Inc. has incorporated Mike Sanders as Customer Service Representative.

This key marketing system will combine telecommunications technology and service program. The company, with operations in Snyder, Houston, Tulsa, Okla., and Baton Rouge, La., has designed and manufactured sampling equipment for natural gas, natural gas liquids, crude oil, refined products, and special products for the hydrocarbon industry since 1949.

Before joining Y-Z Industries, Inc., Sanders had been employed with Key Brothers Implement Co., Inc. in Snyder for eight years as Consumer Products Store Manager.

LAFF-A-DAY

'WELL, WELL! ELVIS LIVES!'

Texans nip Hawks on late free-throw

BIG SPRING — The Texans of South Plains College clinched at least a share of the Western Junior College Athletic Conference title by beating No. 5 ranked Howard College Thursday night here.

Jeff Stern, SPC's 6-10 center, made a free-throw with just five seconds remaining in the game to send South Plains to the title-holder's spot in the standings for the first time since the 1972-73 cage season.

The Hawks took a final 18-foot desperation shot at the buzzer that was wide.

The final standings could still be shaded as the two squads will meet Monday in Levelland to play the last ten minutes of a game suspended earlier this season because of a broken backboard.

The Texans lead that contest 73-70.

South Plains took the win on a nine-point rally that ended on Stern's shot from the line.

Stern finished with 23 points on the night followed by teammate Charles Outlaw with 19 points and 11 rebounds.

Tyrone Maxey added 12 points to the SPC cause.

Johnny McDowell tossed in 22 points for Howard and Terrence Lewis scored 21.

The win gives South Plains an edge as the top seed in next week's NJCAA Region V Tournament to be held in Snyder's Scurry County Coliseum.

The probable rankings for the event place South Plains in first place, Howard in second followed by Odessa and New Mexico Junior College in third and fourth.

The top four teams from the Western Conference take on the Northern Conference top four in the regionals for a trip to the national tournament in Hutchinson, Kan.

On the women's side of the WJCAC, Frank Phillips College will come to the tournament as the top seed by virtue of their 11-1 conference record trailed by Howard's 10-2, Odessa's 8-4 and South Plains' 7-5.

The top seed from each conference in the tournament will face the fourth place team from the other conference in opening round action followed by second place versus third place, third against second and fourth against first.

The women's tournament begins Tuesday at 1 p.m. and culminates with the championship matchup at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Men's tourney action starts Thursday at 9 a.m. with the title game set for 7 p.m. Saturday.

Lady Tigers to run in AHS track meet

The Snyder Lady Tigers track team will participate in tomorrow's Andrews Track Meet.

Snyder claimed a surprise win in last week's Tiger Relays at Frenship with 99 points outdistancing Post and Estacado for first place.

Vinnie Clay grabbed first place in the discus throw and the shot-put for Snyder while injured junior Katrina Brandon, who was not expected to compete snatched second in the discus and third putting the shot.

Jo Ellen King's 4'6" leap was good enough for third place in the high-jump.

The 400 meter relay team of Teena Braziel, Liz Greathouse, Stephanie Fambro and Trina Thompson scooted to a third place finish at Frenship with a 53.34 second time.

Greathouse suffered a minor leg injury and was forced to withdraw from the team's 800 meter effort.

She was replaced by Schenekka Thompson and the altered crew took fourth place.

The mile relay unit made up of Anne Osborn, Dana Fenton, Mandy Fuqua and Tonya Warren scored a third place finish with a time of 4:37.26.

Among individual winners were Fenton, whose 65.06 second time in the 400 meter dash netted her a first place, Schenekka Thompson with a 51.49 third place in the 300 meter hurdles and Shelly LaRoux's third position in the 1600 meter run with a 6:18 time.

The Lady Tigers, coached by Patty Grimmer, will be in Brownwood next weekend for the Brownwood Relays and will host the Canyon Reef Relays in Snyder March 17.

WTC to play C.C. Bulldogs

The Westerners cage squad from WTC will journey to Clarendon College Saturday to tangle with the Bulldogs in a game postponed from Feb. 5 due to water damage on the gym floor there.

The Lady Dusters were to have played the Clarendon team Saturday, also, but by mutual agreement the game was cancelled.

The Westerners were 128-114 losers to Howard College Monday, even though they had five players score in double figures.

Kenneth Critton poured in 31 points on the evening, followed by Alfredo Porter with 22, Ray Johnson with 21, Jeff Shelley with 19 and Dominick Byrd with 12.

Johnny McDowell scored 28 points for the Hawks in the win.

Western Texas, 18-11 in all games played this season and 7-8 within the conference, defeated Clarendon, 99-83, in the first Western Junior College Athletic Conference game for both teams in the 1989-90 season.

Byrd put in 21-points against the Bulldogs that night.

The Bulldogs have managed a 2-10 slate in WJCAC competition and are 7-16 overall.

Game time in Clarendon is 8 p.m. The game is the final contest for WTC and for Clarendon for the season.

Waco Midway faces Calallen

AUSTIN (AP) — Since 1986, Calallen has stood by and watched as Levelland walked off with the Class 4A state championship.

Levelland finally was stopped in its quest for a fifth consecutive title, leaving Calallen to deal with Waco Midway, the team that eliminated Levelland.

The Lady Wildcats will try to shake a 13-year monkey off their backs Saturday when they enter into battle with Midway in the 4A finals of the 40th University Interscholastic League Girls' State basketball Tournament.

In Calallen's 13 trips to the final four, they have yet to claim the big prize despite appearing in the final game three times.

Midway, which won its 24th in a row to improve its season mark to 34-2, jumped out to a 21-point cushion early against tournament newcomer Mayde Creek and never looked back in a 51-42 victory.

The Pantherettes, who won their first state championship back in 1955 followed by four more in '69, '73, '75 and '76, counted on Judy Holcomb's 16 first half points for the win.

Tasha Gordon and Missy Palacios each logged 10 points for Mayde Creek, which ends its season with a 24-11 record.

Calallen converted seven free throws in overtime, six by senior guard Stacy Sherman, to get past Dallas Lincoln Thursday night 68-62.

Sherman had 16 points to lead Calallen, now 38-1 on the season and winner of 27 consecutive

NCSU probe expands

University may have to return $1 million

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — At the moment, investigations of allegations of point-shaving at North Carolina State center on two men and their money: New Jersey Nets forward Charles Shackleford and New Jersey businessman Robert Kramer.

The outcome of the probes, which involve 11 states and will be turned over to prosecutors next week, could cost N.C. State almost $1 million.

But many are not waiting for the investigations to end and are already calling for the ouster of Wolfpack coach Jim Valvano.

"The bottom line is, there are just too many unfortunate things that have happened during his tenure," university system Board of Governors member emeritus William Johnson told The Charlotte Observer. "I think in order to wipe away the stain, there's got to be a general cleaning out."

Johnson's wasn't the only call for Valvano's dismissal.

Some N.C. State faculty members began circulating a petition Thursday calling for the coach's ouster. The Technician, the student newspaper, planned a front-page editorial in today's edition calling for the same.

"Our editorial's going to say that we need to impose the death penalty on ourselves," editor Dwan June said. "As long as any remnant of Valvano remains, the university's reputation is shot."

Acting chancellor Larry K. Monteith wasn't ready to pass out judgments. But he said the school's basketball program is still under a review that began nearly a year ago and which has already forced Valvano to give up his job as athletic director.

The N.C. State basketball program has been under scrutiny since university and NCAA investigations uncovered academic abuses and NCAA violations involving players selling complementary shoes and tickets. During the investigations, former chancellor Bruce Poulton resigned and Valvano was dismissed as the university's athletics director. The university was placed under two years' probation by the NCAA.

ABC News, citing unnamed "inside sources," spurred the new investigations Wednesday night by reporting that as many as four Wolfpack players, including Shackleford, conspired to hold down the scores of four games for betting purposes during the 1987-88 season. Shackleford's lawyer and agent, Sal DiFazio of Bridgewater, N.J., has said his client never shaved points.

Last Sunday, after word had leaked that ABC News was working on the story, Shackleford told The News and Observer of Raleigh that he had taken money while playing for the Wolfpack.

On Thursday, DiFazio provided N.C. State with copies of two checks, saying the documents support their contention that Shackleford repaid money loaned to him, The News and Observer of Raleigh reported in today's editions.

One check copy, for $20,014.46, is dated Nov. 29, 1988, and made payable to Shackleford. It appears to have been endorsed over by Shackleford to Kramer.

The second check copy, for $40,000, is dated May 17, 1988, and made payable to Larry Gillman. Gillman is a Connecticut sports agent who wanted to represent Shackleford when he turned pro, DiFazio said.

On Wednesday, DiFazio gave university officials a copy of a general release signed by Gillman, dated May 19, 1988. Gillman released Shackleford and his relatives and girlfriend from any claims he might have in exchange for the $40,000.

In other developments Thursday:

A man identified as Charles Shackleford was arrested on a charge of possession of a small amount of marijuana, authorities said.

Police said they received an informant's report about 5:35 p.m. and dispatched four detectives to the location, where they found Shackleford sitting in a 1989 Ford Thunderbird. Police approached the car, stopped it and ordered the three adults and two minors out of the vehicle, Orange deputy police director Anthony Benevento said. The detectives said they found the small amount of marijuana after a routine search.

Shackleford was taken to the Orange Police Department headquarters and released after posting bail.

Denville, N.J., Police Chief Howard Shaw said his investigation has involved the states of California, Florida, Illinois, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia. Prosecutors would have to decide whether the case should be heard in New Jersey, North Carolina or the federal courts, he said.

The North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation received a formal request from Wake County District Attorney Colon Willoughby Jr. to conduct an investigation into allegations of gambling and point-shaving.

DEAR ABBY: Today I received a telephone call from a sister I had not seen or heard from in 22 years! We had lost track of each other through a misunderstanding, and neither one of us knew where the other one was. You mentioned in your column about six months ago that the Salvation Army had a Missing Persons Locator Service, so I took a chance and contacted it. I was given a form to fill out, and all I had to pay was $5. The people at the service started their search.

It took them only six months to find my sister. She's living in Florida. They told her how to reach me, and she called me this morning. We both burst into tears!
Abby, please let your readers know about this wonderful service the Salvation Army performs. If I hadn't seen it in your column, I never would have known about it. God bless you.

MRS. JACQUELINE BOUCHARD, BIDDEFORD, MAINE

DEAR MRS. BOUCHARD: I'm glad I was able to help. That's what I'm here for.

Readers, the Salvation Army operates a Missing Persons Locator Service in the United States and 86 countries. This service is available to the public. Interested parties should be aware of the following basic guidelines:
1. The inquirer should be searching for a close relative. Please do not request a search for old classmates, sweethearts, wartime buddies, friends or neighbors. And do not ask to find runaway adult children or someone who has left town owing you money.

2. The inquirer must be able to provide essential information about the missing person.

3. The Salvation Army reserves the right to reject any request for services that does not meet its standards.

4. The inquirer is asked to pay a $5 non-refundable fee.

5. To secure a missing persons inquiry form, contact the nearest Salvation Army office in your area. The addresses:

880 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. 60610-3392;
120 W. 14th St., New York, N.Y. 10011;
1424 Northeast Expressway, Atlanta, Ga. 30329-2088;
30840 Hawthorne Blvd., Rancho Palos Verdes, Calif. 90274.

DEAR ABBY: Please correct the large number of people (including people in the media — magazines, newspapers, television and public officials) who think that 1990 is the beginning of the last decade of the 20th century.

1990 is actually the last year of the ninth decade of this century. 1991 is the start of the last decade, and the year 2000 is the last year of this century.

Accurately speaking — counting 1990 — there are 11 years left in this century.

Let's not appear foolish before the world by celebrating the century change a year early — let's wait until Dec. 31, 2000, midnight — like the rest of the world.

11 AND COUNTING DOWN IN ALBANY

DEAR 11: According to the Information Please Almanac, you are correct. Since a decade is one through 10 — not one to 10 — we should not celebrate the beginning of the 21st century until the year 2001.

What teen-agers need to know about sex, drugs, AIDS, and getting along with their peers and parents is now in Abby's updated, expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know." To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61064. Minority leaders hail 'skinheads' verdict

DALLAS (AP) — A federal prosecutor who helped convict five white supremacists on charges of conspiring to violate the civil rights of minorities says "skinheads" can believe whatever they want, so long as they don't break the law.

The convictions are the first under a new federal crackdown on hate groups.

"This should send a warning across the nation that young racists cannot commit crimes of hate," said Barry Kowalski, a prosecutor with the U.S. Justice Department's civil rights division. "They can believe what they want and say what they want, but they better not vandalize or commit acts of violence."

An all-white jury deliberated for about four hours over two days before finding the so-called "skinheads" guilty Thursday of racially motivated hate crimes against Jews, blacks and Hispanics in Dallas.

The five were accused of defacing a synagogue and chasing blacks and Hispanics from a park named after a Confederate general in 1988.

Minority leaders say the convictions indicate "the average American is fed up with racist ignorance."

"We're gratified that the American judicial system is working and that the people have affirmed that they will not accept hate crimes, or violence directed at any group based on race or religious beliefs," said Morris Stein, executive director of the Jewish Federation of Greater Dallas.

"When the civil rights of groups are protected, the civil rights of all are assured," he said.

Skinheads, characterized by their closely shaven heads, generally espouse a philosophy of intolerance against Jews, blacks, Hispanics and homosexuals.

On Wednesday, Kowalski urged jurors "to tell these five men they can't conspire and stalk Dallas like racist spirits in the night."

Defense attorneys countered that the men were being tried for their beliefs. They said their clients merely were exercising free speech. "It is very unpopular, the things they believe," said Leon Carter, a Dallas lawyer who defended Jordan. "But they have the right to believe it."

Carter, who is black, said he believes his client is innocent.

All five skinheads were charged in two counts of the indictment with conspiring to violate the civil rights of minorities in the synagogue and parks incidents.

A third count of the indictment charged three of them with firearms violations. One man, Michael Lewis Lawrence, 22, of Tulsa, Okla., was cleared of the firearms charge but was convicted with the others on the other counts.

The defendants are Jon Lance Jordan, 19, of Garland; Sean Christian Tarrant, 20, and Daniel Alvis Wood, 20, of Dallas; Lawrence, 22, of Tulsa, Okla.; and Christopher Barry Greer, 25, of Irving.

U.S. District Judge Barefoot Sanders said the earliest possible sentencing date would be April 19. All five remained in custody.

Rabbi Kenneth Roseman, whose Temple Shalom in North Dallas was vandalized, praised the jury's verdict, but added, "just because five people have been convicted, doesn't mean there aren't more radicals and bigots around."

Demo National Convention site crew surveys Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavy rainstorms failed to dampen the spirits of a 60-member site selection team sent to tour Houston as a prospective site for the 1992 Democratic National Convention, an honor the city missed four years ago.

"It's been 64 years since Houston has had the good fortune to host the Democratic (national) convention," said Ben Love, chairman of the city's host committee told the panel Thursday. "I think that we're hungry for it."

Houston is the first stop for the selection committee, which also is considering New York, Cleveland, New Orleans and Detroit for the July 13-16, 1992 convention. The city has committed about $14 million in services to its bid and would expect the convention to pump about $30 million into the local economy.

City officials four years ago thought they had the party's convention bid in the bag and were stunned when Paul Kirk, then the party chairman, opted instead for Atlanta.

This year, the city's team lost no time whisking the committee through the new George Brown Convention Center and the Houston Astrodome, the city's site options for the Democrats' quadrennial gathering that in 1992 will select a candidate presumably to face President George Bush, himself a Houstonian.

"I want to be straightforward with you," Love told the panel. "If we are so fortunate that you recommend that Houston have your convention, I pledge to you that you will be greeted warmly by this city."

At least some committee members said they were impressed with the first of three days' presentation.

"They are a major city and they hold major events here. And we are standing in the 'Eighth Wonder of the World,' as Houston says," committee member George Pla said from the Astrodome. "So they're a serious contender."

"Houston is a very strong competitor," said Graham T. Allison Jr., chairman of the site selection committee. "We've gotten a very warm welcome from the mayor and the business community. They made the position clear that Houston is a very hospitable place. The enthusiasm matters a lot."

Still, he said the May 14 decision is a long way off.

Victoria men plead guilty

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Two Victoria men have pleaded guilty to federal smuggling charges stemming from the deaths last year of five Mexican and Central American nationals who were locked in a railroad car where cargo had been treated with pesticides.

Euleterio Amaya-Torres, 36, and Magdaleno Arcos, 35, pleaded guilty Thursday to conspiracy to transport five undocumented aliens, charges that carry a maximum five-year prison term and a $250,000 fine. Both men were convicted last year in the same court of transporting aliens in an unrelated case.

U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela set sentencing for May 15.

Amaya's wife, Jane, 39, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to tamper with a witness in the case, and another Victoria resident involved in the smuggling ring, Mary Ann Martinez, 24, pleaded guilty to failing to report a felony. Jane Amaya could receive a five-year prison sentence and Martinez faces a maximum three-year prison term.

A fifth defendant, Renato Avila Botello, 28, remains at large.

Assistant U.S. Attorney John Crews agreed to drop 12 other charges against Euleterio Amaya and Arcos in exchange for their guilty pleas.

"The two guys who are most culpable are facing up to five years, and that is equivalent to a 50- to 60-year state sentence," said Crews, referring to longer amount of time served by inmates in the federal prison system.

Crews said there was no evidence the smugglers intended to kill their clients.

Landfill regulations...

Bentsen doesn't want small cities hurt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen is asking the Environmental Protection Agency to weigh the concerns of rural Texas communities when it issues stringent new regulations on municipal landfills.

Officials of sparsely populated communities in Texas fear severe financial problems, including higher bills for taxpayers, if forced to comply with the proposed rules. EPA is scheduled to publish final regulations governing municipal landfills in May or June.

While Bentsen agreed garbage disposal regulations must be "shored up" to protect the environment, he warned EPA Administrator William Reilly that if Texas is denied a role in establishing regulations that are effective and less costly for small communities, "we risk doing more harm than good."

According to Martin County Judge Bob Deavenport, the county and the city of Stanton could operate a landfill for an annual cost of $100,000 if variances are granted taking into consideration low average rainfall, soil conditions, and the water table.

"Complying with all proposed regulations could readily double this figure," Deavenport told Bentsen in a letter. "If convenient landfill facilities are not provided, it is very possible that we will see a return to the dumping of solid waste adjacent to rural roads and in isolated caliche pits."

O'Donnell Mayor David M. Smith told Bentsen his city would be never be able to fund a landfill under the proposed requirements.

"I have researched the cost of garbage collection by private contractors extensively," he said. "Our citizens, many of whom are elderly, underprivileged and on fixed incomes, cannot pay residential garbage rates which might be in excess of $100 per month."

Bentsen, D-Texas, said more than 100 elected officials from Texas have sought his help in ensuring they would be able to meet the new requirements. A coalition of 48 counties and 35 cities, the Sparsely Populated Entities Coalition, has also been formed Ralph Waldo Emerson, American essayist and poet, was born in Boston in 1803.

Assembly of God pastor...

Danny Williams started out as a ranch foreman

At first glance, one might think he's a cowboy, and he still enjoys riding, but Danny Williams was called by the Lord at age 19 and surrendered a year later, changing from a ranch foreman to evangelist.

Currently, Williams is pastor of Lighthouse Assembly of God, located at 30th Street and Ave. G. He was ordained April 28, 1983, after taking extension courses from Southwestern Assemblies of God in Waxahachie. Williams met with other students regularly in Lubbock.

Before being ordained, Williams was licensed to preach. He explained that in the Assemblies of God, those who are interested in preaching go before a licensing committee where they are "tested" to see if "the calling of God in your life is apparent."

Williams said he cannot compare his ranching work to his personal ministry. Even though, at a young age he thought ranching would be the ultimate profession, Williams now says that souls last forever. "The calling of God is really something beautiful," he said. It's not just a job to him, it's a personal ministry.

Williams was involved with Lighthouse Assembly of God before he took over the pastorate. He said that he took the full-time position on a three-month trial basis and "that was 15 years ago."

Stressing that jail inmates are "just people like us who have done things against the law and were caught for it," Williams has been involved with a jail ministry at the county jail for some 11 years. He said that we all sin, "but they've sinned differently."

He said that inmates are often hungry for compassion. "The prison changes them very little, but if Jesus gets into their hearts, something happens that all the prison time in the world can't do."

The church is also beginning association with an interdenominational ministry to the Price Daniel Unit of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

DANNY WILLIAMS

"We have a wonderful congregation of friendly, friendly people who deal with people on a real basis," Williams said, adding that sometimes congregations are stifled inside the four walls of the church building, but the Lighthouse congregation works with him, outside those four walls.

Williams' wife, Connie, also works in the church as a teacher, and is involved with women's ministries. The couple has three daughters, Julie, 18; Rebekah, 13; and Jessica, 11. All three girls attend Ira Public Schools.

Award planned

ATLANTA (AP) — Actress Kim Basinger will return to her home state this month to receive an Outstanding Georgian award.

"Kim is definitely a standout in motion pictures and the entertainment industry and now she's bringing millions into the Georgia economy and becoming a true mover and shaker," Secretary of State Max Cleland said Thursday.

Miss Basinger, a native of Athens, purchased one-third of the northeastern Georgia town of Braselton for $20 million.

Featured Speaker Marshall W. Cooper

Marshall W. Cooper of Beaumont is the Executive Director of Boys Haven of America, Inc. Cooper, age 54 is married and has three children. He received his education at Odessa College, Howard Payne College, and Sam Houston State University.

He served as Executive Director of Girlstown, U.S.A. for twenty-three years, Andrews County Juvenile Officer for four years and was Superintendent of West Texas Boys' Ranch in San Angelo for four years.

Cooper served as District Governor of Lions International (1980-81), President of Texas Lions Camp in Kerrville, Texas (1987-88) and Vice President of the East Texas Lions Foundation. He is a Life Member of the Texas Corrections Association, Past Master of Sundown Masonic Lodge #1289, Scottish Rite Mason, El Mina Shrine and a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. Cooper is also a member of the Young Men's Business League, the Founders Lions Club and the North End Baptist Church in Beaumont.

Appointments include: Chairman, Governor's Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Advisory Board; member, Texas Juvenile Probation Commission where he served as Chairman from 1985-1988 (term on Commission from September 1981 through January 1990); and member of the Advisory Committee on Classroom Management and Discipline Training at Southwest Texas State University.

Cooper was presented the Clayton Award in 1970 for Outstanding Youth Worker in Texas and the Christian Award in 1971 for Outstanding Youth Worker in USA. He is recipient of three Lions International President's Awards and in 1985 received the highest award given to an individual by Lions Clubs International, the Lions International Ambassador of Goodwill Award. Cooper was inducted into the Hall of Honor by Texas Corrections Association in 1982 and received the Melvin Jones Fellow in 1987.

Cooper served nine years as a member of the Board of Trustees at Whiteface Consolidated Independent School District and four years on the South Plains College Board of Regents in Levelland, Texas before moving to Beaumont.

Snyder Lions oldest club in district

The Snyder Lions Club, currently with more than 80 members, was chartered on August 17, 1924.

The Snyder club is the oldest Lions Club in the vast District 2-T2 and over the years the Snyder Club has provided leadership at the district level.

The Snyder club has two reputations that will likely never be outlived. The first is the fun-loving luncheon meetings held each Tuesday in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church.

The second trademark of the Snyder club is service, a motto of Lions International. Through a variety of fund-raising efforts the Snyder Lions Club supports sight conservation and has bought thousands of eyeglasses for Scurry County school children.

The club also supports diabetes research, the Lions Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville, the Lubbock Eye Bank, Leader Dog Schools and Girlstown at Whiteface.

Howard Harrington and Max von Roeder, members of the Snyder Club, are past district governors.

Those who have served as president of the Snyder Lions Club include J.M. Harris, Ernest Taylor, C. Wedgeworth, Warren Dodson, J.C. Smyth, J.E. Sentell, Frank Farmer, A.C. Prueitt, H.L. Wren, Willard Jones, A.A. Bullock, Herman Darby, Lyle Deffebach, Wayne Boren, R.L. Farr, and Leighton Griffin.

Lions organized in 1917 as dream of Melvin Jones

The International Association of Lions Clubs is one of the world's largest and most active service club organizations. Local and district Lions work with more than 1.3 million members in more than 150 countries and geographical areas to seek out and help the needy in each community, country and the world.

The association began as the dream of Chicago insurance man Melvin Jones, who wondered why local business clubs could not expand their horizons from purely business concerns to the betterment of their communities and the world at large.

Jones' idea struck a chord within his own group, the Business Circle of Chicago, and they authorized him to explore his concept with similar organizations from around the United States. His efforts resulted in an organizational meeting at a local hotel on June 7, 1917. The 12 men who gathered there overcame a natural sense of loyalty to their parent clubs, voted the Lions Club into existence, and issued a call for a national convention to be held in Dallas, Texas in October of the same year.

Thirty-six delegates representing 22 clubs from nine states heeded the call, approved the "Lions Clubs" designation, and elected Dr. William P. Woods of Indiana as their first president. Guiding force and founder Melvin Jones was named acting secretary, thus beginning an association with Lionism that only ended with his death in 1961.

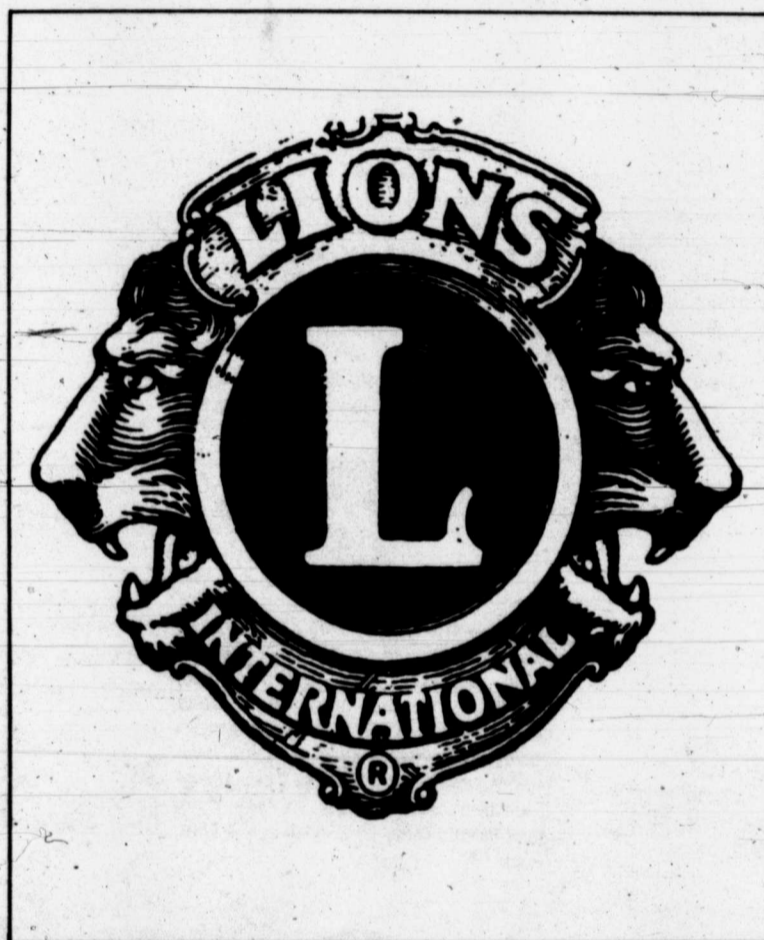

That first convention also began to define what Lionism was to become. A constitution and by-laws were accepted. The colors of purple and gold approved, and a start made on Lionism's objects and code of ethics. One of the objects was starting for an era that prided itself on mercenary individualism, and has remained one of the main tenets of Lionism: "No club shall hold out the financial betterment of its members as its object".

Community leaders soon began to organize clubs throughout the U.S. and the association became "internain Sweden, Switzerland and France. In 1952, the first club was chartered in Japan. Since then, Lionism has become truly global, with clubs in more than 150 countries and areas worldwide.

The motto of every Lion is simply "We Serve". What better way to express the true meaning of Lionism? The slogan of Lionism is "Liberty, Intelligence, Our Nation's tional" with the formation of the Windsor, Ontario, Canada Lions Club in 1920. Clubs were later organized in China, Mexico and Cuba. By 1927, membership stood at 60,000 in 1,183 clubs. In 1935, Panama became home to the first Central American club, with the first South American club being organized in Columbia the following year. Lionism reached Europe in 1948 as clubs were chartered Safety."

The royal colors of purple and gold were selected as the official colors when the association was organized in 1917. Purple stands for loyalty to friends and to one's self, and for integrity of mind and heart. Gold symbolizes sincerity of purpose, liberality in judgement, purity in life and generosity in mind, heart and purse toward one's fellow man.

The activities of Lionism

Sight Conservation and Work with the Blind—Lions Clubs have established glaucoma screening clinics, eye banks and rehabilitation institutes. They support workshops and help pay scholarships for deserving blind students. The familiar "white canes" were introduced by the Lions and clubs provide guide dogs and other mobility needs.

Hearing and Speech Action and Work with the Deaf—Auditory equipment is furnished to schools with hearing-impaired students and scholarships are issued to youngsters with this handicap. Lions conduct screening programs for children and adults, support a variety of rehabilitation services and provide and repair hearing aids for the needy.

Citizenship Services—Lions work with veterans' organizations and hold special programs of a patriotic and civic nature in their communities. They sponsor numerous youth groups such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Guides and others. Respect for law and work with delinquents are also important programs sponsored by Clubs.

Educational Services—Lions award hundreds of scholarships every year. Clubs also sponsor career nights at high schools and invite locally prominent people to help graduates plan their futures. Literacy programs and vocational training in underprivileged areas are also high on the program agendas for many Lions Clubs.

Environmental Services—Lions look for viable and feasible ways of awakening interest in environmental problems and of motivating individuals and Clubs to positive action—whether in the area of natural environment (air, land, noise, water pollution) or social and cultural environment (demographic planning, alcohol and drug abuse education, ethical conduct). Lions are encouraged to cooperate with other individuals, organizations, and governmental agencies in implementing environmental projects.

Public Services—Included in this comprehensive category is the distribution of information concerning the latest methods of food production and protection. Clubs, urban and rural, conduct a variety of programs relative to their areas—programs that emphasize traffic, home, farm, school and recreational safety.

Recreational Services—Lions build playgrounds and contribute equipment. They also build community centers, swimming pools, gardens and town squares. Lions sponsor baseball, football, basketball, hockey, soccer and other sports teams for youngsters. Clubs plan and conduct carnivals, picnics and various celebrations.

Health Services—Lions provide extensive medical relief to underdeveloped areas and organize a wide range of detection and prevention programs.

Medical research institutions have also been the recipients of generous contributions from Lions clubs and districts. Lions are also active in helping to curb drug abuse by conducting Drug Education programs.

International Services—Lions have established many international friendship contacts and participate in worldwide assistance programs. Lions support the Lions Clubs International Foundation, the humanitarian aims of the United Nations and are closely associated with CARE. Increasingly more young people are annually participating in the International Youth Exchange program.

Social Services—Lions sponsor many programs for the physically and mentally handicapped, the aged and the underprivileged. Clubs and districts have also constructed homes for orphans and the elderly as well as rehabilitation institutes for the handicapped. Many clubs supply food baskets for the poor on a regular basis.

Drug Awareness—A marked increase in the number of people who overuse drugs or take dangerous drugs has created a serious problem in many communities. Some District Governors have appointed special Chairmen responsible for the topic of Drug Abuse Education. Many Clubs, in fact, have appointed similar Chairmen at the Club level.

Lioness Clubs—The Lioness Program offers women all around the world the opportunity to serve the needy through their own Clubs. Wives of Lions and other community minded women perform service projects as varied as those of Lions. They receive guide materials and other benefits of an international program tailor-made for the socially conscious woman.

Leo Clubs—Since the beginning of the Leo Club Program, Leo Clubs have engaged in many outstanding activities primarily aimed at aiding the less fortunate and contributing to the betterment of their local communities. By emphasizing Leadership, Experience and Opportunity, Leo Clubs are giving young people a chance to develop into interested and involved citizens.

Youth Exchange—Lions Clubs contribute greatly to international understanding and good will by participating in the Youth Exchange Program. Qualified young people are selected by sponsoring Lions Clubs to visit other lands as the guests of host Lions Clubs. They observe typical community life and gain knowledge of other cultures and peoples.

International Youth Camps—Lionism's first youth camp was conducted by the Swedish Lions of Multiple District 101 in 1963. Since that time thousands of young adults have had the opportunity to share an international camping experience.

Lions Clubs plan and conduct a variety of community and humanitarian projects. The services are part of the broadly-based Ten Major activities of Lionism. Clubs can choose any one or more specific projects from among these comprehensive categories.

Lions Leader Dog Program

Without doubt, one of the most dramatic and best known service activities of Lions is the Leader Dog program. The Leader Dog School was founded in 1939 by three Lions who were unable to obtain Leader Dogs from any other source. Founders were S.A. Dodge, Donald P. Schuur, and Charles A. Nutting, all of whom later served as President of the Leader Dog organization. Conceived in a dream, Leader Dog has grown to be the largest and one of the finest dog guide schools in the world.

The whole enterprise began, with more courage than anything else, when a few Lions from Detroit, Michigan, purchased an old farmhouse which still stands in the center of a complex now valued at over five million dollars. The Leader Dog School in Rochester, Michigan, is adjacent to an estimated 45% of the nation's blind. The Leader Dog School continually adds to its annual graduation output.

During its first years of operation, only a few people graduated. In fiscal year 1989, 293 Leader Dog teams graduated; 293 more blind people went out into the world able to live a life of their own, despite blindness. 8,291 Leader dogs have been trained since the founding of the school in 1939.

For 50 years Lions have invested hundreds of thousands of dollars in the Leader Dog School, and have made it their major project. Each year their contributions increase; over 1.5 million was contributed by Lions during fiscal year ending June 30, 1989.

The Leader Dog School offers its services through the Lions of all states. Lions have the privilege of offering Leader Dogs to all who are eligible. Lions help spread the word that blind people who want to be free and mobile can have a Leader Dog for the asking. Any Lions Club member can write in behalf of a blind candidate to obtain an application. Leader Dogs for the Blind will consider it a privilege and a pleasure to serve that person under the auspices of the Lions.

Code of Ethics

To show my faith in the worthiness of my vocation by industrious application to the end that I may merit a reputation for quality of service.

To seek success and to demand all fair remuneration or profit as my just due, but to accept no profit or success at the price of my own self respect lost because of unfair advantage taken or because of questionable acts on my part.

To remember that in building up my business it is not necessary to tear down another's; to be loyal to my clients or customers and true to myself.

Whenever a doubt arises as to the right or ethics of my position or action towards my fellow men, to resolve such doubt against myself

To hold friendship as an end and not a means. To hold that true friendship exists not on account of the service performed by one to another, but that true friendship demands nothing but accepts service in the spirit in which it is given.

Always to bear in mind my obligations as a citizen to my nation, my state and my community, and to give to them my unswerving loyalty in word, act and deed. To give them freely of my time, labor and means.

To aid my fellow men by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy.

To be careful with my criticisms and liberal with my praise; to build up and not destroy.
