Parliamentarians applaud...

Gorbachev wins presidency

MOSCOW (AP) — Mikhail S. Gorbachev won election today to the strengthened presidency and promised he'd wield its broad powers to tackle the country's economic and nationalist crises with a more radical program of reform.

The Congress of People's Deputies elected Gorbachev, who ran uncontested, to a five-year term by a vote of 1,329 to 495. He needed approval by more than half the 2,245 deputies and the number who voted against him in Wednesday's secret ballot was surprisingly high.

Many had wanted the people to select the country's first chief executive and about 350 did not participate, mainly lawmakers who consider their republics to be independent nations.

When the vote was announced today, parliamentarians stood to applaud Gorbachev and he stood on the dais, hands folded in front of him, to acknowledge them. He took the oath of office and spoke to the Congress.

"The necessity for a more radical perestroika policy is obvious, and it is for these purposes above all that I am going to use my powers as president," Gorbachev declared.

He said the Soviet Union, five years after he took office, was a "young and as yet not fully developed democracy," and pledged not to follow decades of Soviet practice by turning into a dictator.

After Gorbachev's five-year term, the country will conduct its first nationwide presidential campaign.

The new president will have wide powers to propose legislation, negotiate treaties, veto bills and decisions of the Council of (see SOVIET, page 8)

Discipline issue faces SISD board

Snyder public schools board of trustees will meet in executive session at 5:30 p.m. today to consider the discipline of students who allegedly broke school rules.

Superintendent Dalton Moseley said the meeting comes at the request of parents whose children are involved.

Following the executive session, trustees will meet in open session.

In the only agenda item during regular session, the board is expected to accept several teacher resignations.

BCD supports 1/2-cent sales tax resolution

Chamber Economic Development Committee Chairman Roy Baze debated successfully Wednesday that the Board of County Development should pass a resolution favoring the city's passage of a half-cent sales tax.

The chamber board had passed a similar resolution Monday, and Baze said the BCD's action was needed to encourage the city council to move toward an August election in its April 2 meeting.

Baze said Abilene's approval of the tax, for purposes of economic development, was a key last year in its being able to offer $2.1 million in its proposal to gain a Texas Department of Criminal Justice unit.

"The fact is, we don't have a dollar in the pot to attract new business," he said. "If this goes on the ballot and fails, we're dead for years, in my opinion."

The resolution passed unanimously.

Other business in the noon meeting at the chamber of commerce included chamber manager Bill Moss's report that preparations are continuing for the March 31 chamber banquet, featuring ventriloquist and (see BOARD, page 8)

Suspect questioned in vigilante slaying

DALLAS (AP) — The slaying of a man who had fatally shot his ex-girlfriend at a suburban shopping mall might have been justified, said a police captain after questioning and releasing a suspect who said he was just trying to help the woman.

"There is such a thing as justifiable homicide," said Irving Police Capt. Travis Hall. He said a Dallas County grand jury will be asked to review the case for possible charges against the 25-year-old man.

Police Wednesday questioned Todd Allan Broom, who, accompanied by his lawyer, surrendered two days after Eddie Edwards, 41, was shot while fleeing Irving Mall.

"I'm not Charles Bronson. I'm not going to save the world. I feel bad someone died," Broom, a copy machine repairman and co-owner of a pizza parlor, told the Dallas Times Herald in a copyright story. "I watched him chase her down and shoot her... I was just trying to help a lady."

Bronson starred in a movie "Death Wish" that told the fictional story of a vigilante who killed several criminals.

"I didn't want to kill him," he told the newspaper. "It wasn't my goal in life to kill someone. It's something I'm going to have to live with now."

Hall said after officers heard Broom's story, they decided not to file charges against him.

"The issue is whether it was appropriate for him to have shot and killed Mr. Eddie Edwards," Hall said. "Those are all things the grand jury is going to weigh."

Local Early Bird swap meet may double in size this year

Snyder Wheels antique car club's "Early Bird Swap Meet" this weekend will apparently be twice the size it was last year, and organizers hope the national craze for swap meets will help make Snyder's a major local event in coming years.

Club vice president Joe Dan Jones said 100 exhibit spaces were rented for last year's event and the number may reach 200 this time.

Spaces for the Friday-to-noon Sunday exhibition rent for $10 outside, $12 under the outdoor roof and $15 inside the annex, and vendors may offer merchandise other than automobile-related equipment, as long as they do not sell clothing.

Jones said the appeal of antique vehicles varies according to the collector, with many wanting to drive the car of their youth or to have a car they were not able to have when they were young.

"I like 'em because they're different," he said. "You don't see them coming down the road every day."

Club president Moody Thomason said the Pate Swap Meet, south of Fort Worth, started with only 40 spaces 16 years ago and now has 7,000 renting for $30 apiece during the last weekend in April — the third-largest swap meet in the world.

The Chickasaw, Okla., meet is held twice yearly and features 1,000 to 1,200 spaces each time.

The coliseum and annex could accommodate about 600 spaces, at most, Jones and Thomason said.

The biggest swap meet in the world is at Hershey, Pa., with more than 20,000 exhibitors.

Jones said one desirable aspect of swap meets is that some of the people who come to shop have sufficient funds to buy virtually anything they want.

Candidates file for area boards

Hermleigh and Ira have each gained another candidate for their upcoming school board elections.

Current board president Jimmy Hudgins has filed for another at-large term on the Hermleigh board while Doug White, a Mobil Oil employee, has filed for Place 1 on the Ira school board.

Hermleigh currently has three candidates for two at-large positions, including incumbents Hudgins and Brian Blair. Also running for a trustee position is Jimmy Frank Roemisch Jr.

In filing for Place 1 on the Ira board, White will oppose incumbent Bo Robinson. Two other places on the board are up for reelection. Incumbent Kirby Sterling has filed for Place 2 while Carl Smith has filed for Place 3. The Place 3 incumbent, Jim Wilson, has indicated he will not seek another term.

The final day to file for candidacy in the May 5 county board elections is March 21. The boards include the Ira, Hermleigh and Snyder school boards, Western Texas College board and Snyder City Council.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "If people were suppose to talk twice as much as they listen, they would have been created with two mouths and one ear."

Everybody enjoys a good blooper, unless it happens to be in your own publication or column. It's just part of a writer's business to deal with the agony of treacherous typos, misplaced modifiers or malingering malapropisms.

Some guy with little to do has collected the following after reviewing thousands of church bulletins.

- We will be distributing VBS flies in the neighborhood.
- The ladies are invited to a miscellaneous bride tea.
- As she was preparing to come to church last Sunday, she suffered a small stroke.
- Thank you for your sympathy and the lovely pot plant.
- The topic of the Bible class will be "The Simplicity of Christianity."
- Next Friday we will be serving hot gods for lunch.

-As soon as the weather clears, the men will have a goof outing.

Some of these announcements could stand a little more clarification:

-The menu will include road beef, potatoes and gravy.

-The Smiths met Greg in Tuscaloosa this past week to go to Elizabeth's sister's civic club supper and to see her nephew in a play directed by her brother-in-law. They also visited with Bob-his roommate was also in the play.

-Half our difficulty in doing anything worthy of our high calling is the shrinking anticipation of its possible after-consequences.

-Join us in the fellowship room for impromptu adult entertainment.

Snyder, WTC classes dismiss Friday for annual spring break

Snyder ISD and Western Texas College will take a week off for spring break, beginning Friday afternoon.

Area schools will not celebrate spring break in the same fashion, but both Ira and Hermleigh students will enjoy a few days off.

Classes at WTC will dismiss at 1 p.m. Friday. Offices on campus will close at 4 p.m. Dormitories will close at 2 p.m. and remain closed until 2 p.m. Sunday, March 25.

Scurry County Museum on the WTC campus will also be closed for spring break.

Snyder public schools will dismiss students at 2:45 p.m. Friday and will not expect them back until Monday, March 26.

The administration building will also be closed next week, except for anyone wishing to file in the May 5 SISD board of trustees election. The office will reopen for normal business on March 26.

Ira school students will attend school next Monday and Tuesday, but will celebrate spring break Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Students will resume their normal routine on March 26.

Hermleigh school chooses to spread out its spring break holidays through the year. Hermleigh students will attend school through Wednesday of next week, then enjoy a holiday on Thursday and Friday, March 23-24.

Q—Is there a law concerning vehicles that have loud mufflers and make a lot of noise?

A—There is a city ordinance and a state law that require vehicles to have exhaust systems in good working order, which would ordinarily prevent excessive noise, a city policeman said. He also said excessive noise from vehicles is prohibited by city and state law.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: A month ago, I had a colonoscopy and was told I had diverticular disease. My doctor said I shouldn't eat nuts, popcorn or anything with seeds such as berries, tomatoes, pickles, jams and the like. A relative, who is a nurse, says I should eat everything with seeds. Who is right?

DEAR READER: As people age, they tend to develop little herniations or sacular outgrowths in the lining of the large intestine. This is called diverticulosis and causes no discomfort or ill health.

On occasion, these sacs become filled with fecal material; infection sets in. This is called diverticulitis, which causes abdominal pain and — sometimes — hemorrhage. Diverticulitis is treated with antibiotics or, in particularly severe cases, surgery to remove infected, bleeding portions of bowel.

Years ago, doctors insisted on stringent diets to prevent diverticulosis from turning into diverticulitis. Roughage and spices were prohibited. No salads, bran, raw fruit, nuts or seed vegetables were permitted. These restrictions probably did little good, and most physicians have now eliminated them.

However, some specialists still prohibit foods with small, indigestible seeds — such as strawberries, blueberries, raspberries and figs — on the theory that such seeds could become wedged in diverticular sacs to cause infection. Time will tell whether this view is correct.

Given present medical opinion, I side with your doctor. However, I would prohibit only fruit with small seeds; tomatoes, popcorn, cucumbers and nuts are, in my opinion, permissible.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Diverticular Disease." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had a benign thyroid tumor removed a while ago and have been hoarse ever since. Will this problem reverse itself, and can you tell me what happened to cause me to talk like this?

DEAR READER: During thyroid surgery, the nerves to the vocal cords can be inadvertently damaged. This results in hoarseness that is permanent. I advise you to be examined by an ear-nose-and-throat specialist who can verify the cause of your problem and suggest methods of improving your voice.

For example, if one of the two vocal cords has been paralyzed from the surgical injury, you may be helped by an injection of Teflon into the cord; this injection of Teflon and strengthens the cord.

Court sets aside teenager's conviction

DALLAS (AP) — A state appeals court set aside the conviction of a teenager who has been illegally confined in an adult prison for four years.

Dallas County prosecutors said Wednesday they are reviewing the case to determine if they can certify Luan Van Hoang, a Vietnamese youth, who records show was only 13 when he was convicted of armed robbery in 1986, can stand trial as an adult.

"It's difficult for us to determine, or anyone else, how old this guy really is," First Assistant District Attorney Norm Kinne.

Luan, temporarily held at the Lew Sterrett Justice Center, learned of the court's ruling from a Dallas Morning News reporter.

"Really, right now, my heart's beating," Luan said. "I'm really happy that the Texas system does its job right. I'm really happy I have a chance to get home and be with my family."

Luan had been sentenced to 38 years in prison following his conviction in connection with a series of gang robberies in the Dallas area. He was tried as an adult after giving authorities a false name, Michael Nguyen, and a false age, 17, to avoid being returned to a juvenile home in California from which he escaped.

The Dallas newspaper reported Feb. 18 that Luan had been wrongfully sent to an adult prison since records show that his actual age was 13 at the time of his trial.

The appeals court ruled that District Judge Jack Hampton, who presided at Luan's trial, never acquired jurisdiction over Luan because he was a juvenile.

Prosecutors say their records show he was 16 at the time of the crime. He could have, at 16, been certified to stand trial as an adult.

It could take Luan several months to get his freedom because in addition to the conviction that was overturned, he also is serving three 10-year sentences assessed in plea bargains on companion robbery cases.

Defense lawyer Bruce Anton said that the four years Luan spent in prison should qualify him for release on the three remaining cases.

"He ought to be released in the next six to eight weeks, and maybe sooner," Anton said. Janice Warder, chief of the Juvenile Division of the District Attorney's office, said if Luan is found to have been 15 at the time of his trial, he could be retried in juvenile court. If convicted, the maximum sentence would keep him in confinement only until his 21st birthday.

Warder added that if it is determined that he was 16 at the time of the crime, he could be certified as an adult and be tried again. If convicted, he would face a total of 38 years in prison.

Immigration records indicate that Luan, who was born in Vietnam and came to the United States with his family in the early 1980s, was born in 1972. That would make him 13 when he was tried.

Luan was sent to a juvenile home in California after he was arrested for auto theft and joy riding. He escaped from the home in 1985 and came to Texas.

12 sets of twins are enrolled in school

PAGEDALE, Mo. (AP) — Everybody's seeing double at Lincoln Elementary School, where 12 sets of twins are enrolled.

"Maybe there's something in the air in Pagedale," Principal Celestine Knox said Wednesday. "It's just uncanny. The possibility of something like this happening is probably very, very rare."

Nationally, about one out of every 80 births is a twin birth, said Beth Struck, managing editor for Twins Magazine in Overland Park, Kan.

The twins — in kindergarten through sixth grade — make up almost 7 percent of the 350 students at the suburban St. Louis school. When classes started this fall, there were 14 sets of twins, but two families have since moved, Knox said.

"No one really stopped to count them up," she said, until librarian Jane Reese saw an article about another school that bragged of having three sets of twins.

Dear Abby

Hyphenated Name for Newborn Creates Never-Ending Problem

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Your response to "Baffled in Boulder" — to use the hyphenated combination of both parents' last names (Zurawski-Slaff) for their soon-to-be-born offspring — was a Band-Aid solution that fails to foresee the ramifications it creates.

Their son is born in 1992. He is called Peter Zurawski-Slaff. In college, young Peter meets his future bride, Kimberly Sue Feinstein-Collarruso. The following year, a daughter is born. They name her Stephanie. She is Stephanie Feinstein-Collarruso-Zurawski-Slaff. The next year they are blessed with a son, whom they name Buster Feinstein-Collarruso-Zurawski-Slaff.

When Stephanie and Buster grow up, they both become lawyers and form a partnership. They can't agree on the firm's name. Stephanie, it seems, has just married a Neanderthal who insists that she assume his last name, which is O'Connor-Goldberg-Wang-Sanchez (the hyphenated combination of the names of his grandparents — all four of whom were devoted Dear Abby readers).

Buster, however, refuses to be a partner in the firm of Feinstein-Collarruso-Zurawski-Slaff, O'Connor-Goldberg-Wang-Sanchez and Feinstein-Collarruso-Zurawski-Slaff. He prefers "Buster and Stephanie, at Law."

The solution, of course: Write to Dear Abby and let her decide.

It is now 2040, and everyone has to pay the price for the lousy advice you gave to "Baffled in Boulder" back in 1990.

A FAN IN KINGSTON, PA.

DEAR FAN: Oops!

than words!
LOVER IN OLYMPIA, WASH.

DEAR LOVER: I'm not sure I get your drift, but one cannot "show" love by a single act. Being consistently kind, considerate, thoughtful and loving is the best way to show love.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Lefty" who has only one hand — his left — so he avoids shaking hands because it's such an awkward affair.

Abby, most of the amputees I know do not demand special treatment from others. I have been in the prosthesis business for 46 years and can well remember the old claws and hooks. Most have been replaced by a more sophisticated prosthesis.

Once I danced half the night with a lovely lady before I realized that the hand that was resting in mine was artificial!

There are many amputee support groups throughout the country who will offer a hand to "Lefty." I offer mine. Tell "Lefty" to shake hands and come out fighting!

New members give program

Beta Sigma Phi held their first March meeting at the Snyder Country Club March 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Sorority president Bette League presided over the meeting with Wanda Early, treasurer, and Carolyn House sitting in for Patricia Warren, recording secretary. The social committee met prior to the regular meeting time and presented plans for the mother-daughter luncheon March 31 in Early's home. Various other committees gave their reports including the nominating committee.

New pledge members gave a program "Sharing Your Interest." Liza Hartzog presented children's books that she had collected and read to her own children and used in her classroom. She gave a brief synopsis of books from baby's first soft book to books for early readers.

Eddie Hopping shared her interest in sewing and smocking with the group. It is as much a way of life as it is a hobby. She presented some projects that she was currently working on as well as completed things that she has made for her children.

Martha Knowles brought many of her Christmas decorations that she and her family had made. Her collection began with her first Christmas as a newlywed.

Janeen Patterson shared some of the literature from the Bethel Bible Study that she is involved in as well as some of the concepts and understanding that she has gained through the study.

Hostesses for the meeting were Gay Idom and Janeen Patterson.

Girl Scouts observe week

Girl Scout Week is celebrated annually and commemorates the beginning of the Girl Scout movement in the United States. On March 12, 1912, Juliette Gordon Low met with 18 girls in Savannah, Ga., and formed the first Girl Scout troop. The first nationwide Girl Scout Week was celebrated in 1919 in conjunction with the birthday of founder Low on October 31. In 1954, the event was officially changed to the week of March 12.

During the week, Girl Scouts participate in special activities and events. Girl Scout troops frequently conduct ceremonies in schools or public buildings, tracing the history of the organization or demonstrating what Girl Scouts are doing today. Some troops have birthday parties while others conduct community service projects in honor of the birthday.

Today there are more than three million members in the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., making it the world's largest voluntary organization.

points in support. South just bid the slam. Not for him to worry that the defenders might be able to quickly take the first two diamond tricks. Luckily North had the right cards, but there were choices as the play developed.

Declarer won the 10 of clubs in his hand and played a heart to the king. When West played the jack, South remembered reading somewhere that this was likely to be a singleton. So he finessed the 10 on the way back. West took the queen and later East made the diamond king to set the contract.

South should do better. After winning dummy's king of hearts, before deciding the best play in trumps, declarer should try the spade finesse. That will win. He now has a sure-fire play to guarantee the slam: Play the ace of hearts. As it happens, that drops the queen and makes the contract. But see what would happen if West showed out on the second heart. Declarer would cash the spade ace, go to the jack of clubs and ruff a spade. Then he would play out the high clubs and eventually throw East in with the heart winner to force a lead into dummy's A-Q of diamonds.

English wins talent contest

LESLIE ENGLISH

Leslie English, daughter of David and Ginger English of Odessa formerly of Snyder, won the talent contest in the first grade division at Sam Houston Elementary School in Odessa.

Leslie, 7, did a dance routine to "Rockin' Robin." She wore a ruffled black outfit with a tiered skirt. The outfit featured neon green and pink musical note cut-outs on the ruffles and black tights.

The winners were announced March 6 in order for all the winners to perform for the Parent-Teacher meeting that evening.

Leslie is the granddaughter of Peggy English and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Guynes all of Snyder.

Motivation sparks creative home decorating

By BARBARA MAYER
 AP Newsfeatures

When you're ready to redecorate, don't put yourself at the total mercy of an interior designer — even if you think you don't have a creative bone in your body.

"Don't say 'I am not creative, so I can't decorate my own home.' Say 'I'm not sure, but I will try,'" says Prof. Morris Stein, a psychologist at New York University who specializes in human creativity.

Stein says there is no proof that creativity is an innate quality or a learned skill, but it is known that motivation is a powerful stimulus. Therefore, get moving; act as if creativity can be increased. It might awaken what is there or add to your store.

Stein says you can get your creative juices flowing by starting with a metaphor. Inventors often use metaphors in their quest for something new. The metaphor of the human inner ear ultimately led Alexander Graham Bell to the telephone. The Wright Brothers studied buzzards before coming up with the airplane.

Some metaphors liken the home to a castle, palace, museum, cave or shell. A room suggested by the opulence of a castle is going to be quite different from that suggested by a cave, a dark refuge.

The metaphor of a cave might be translated into a bedroom with low light levels, enveloping window coverings and a bed draped in fabric and piled with pillows.

People who spend most of their time and energy away from home might prefer the impersonal surroundings like those found in a first-class hotel — comfortable yet easy to care for.

For some, home is a place where worldly success can be reflected with possessions on display, rich fabrics and plenty of room for entertaining.

Stein made use of a metaphor when he designed his weekend home. "I grew up in a tradition in which the kitchen is warmth and family," he says, "so I can feed 20 people in my kitchen."

He says the kitchen is the social center of his home. When friends come for dinner, they pitch in and help with the cooking because the kitchen encourages working together while socializing.

Creativity is enhanced by knowledge, so in addition to metaphoric thinking, Stein advises exploring the marketplace. "Let your looking stimulate you to write down ideas," he says.

Another way to stimulate the imagination, he says, is to change a noun into a verb. "Don't think about the bedroom — a static concept. Instead, think of bedroom, kitchening, dining and instead of a shower, think of the meaning of showering."

For example, if the meaning of showering is rejuvenating, you will naturally be led to think of whether controls are in the right place and if there should there be more than one shower head.

Not only should spaces and furnishings support your specific activities, you should also try to involve all the senses in your design. Too often, we emphasize the visual and auditory senses and minimize touch and smell.

Very few people pay attention to the kinesthetic sense, which is the body sense that operates when you sit in a chair and it feels good, says Stein.

"You would be amazed at how different each individual is," he says. "Two people may say they like the same style, but their

Nomads have less heart disease

NEW YORK (AP) — We should follow the example of tribal nomads in Africa, says the Reebok Aerobic Information Bureau.

A 15-year study of these African tribes found that their incidence of heart disease was virtually nonexistent. Reason: They eat fewer calories (1,300-1,900 a day vs. 2,500 for Americans; survive largely on grains and vegetables; have low cholesterol levels (130 average vs. 250 for Americans) and are very active.

NCAA tourney begins

Dark horses look for first round surprises

By The Associated Press
NCAA tournament time means everyone is in an upset state of mind.

So who will pull it this year? Murray State? East Tennessee? Coppin State? Towson State? Southwest Missouri?

Last season, Middle Tennessee did the trick, surprising Florida State in the first round. So did Siena, stunning Stanford. South Alabama did the same to Alabama and, in the big one that got away, Princeton came within a point of disposing of Georgetown.

Starting today, teams that basked in the spotlight all season will try to fend off those hiding in the shadows.

"Ball State? I think I heard somebody say it's in Indiana," Oregon State's All-American guard Gary Payton said. "Isn't that right?"

Ball State, which beat Pittsburgh in the opening round last season, was matched against Oregon State today in the first round of the West Regional. The Cardinals, from Muncie, Ind., are 24-6 and have the second-best record in Division I in the last two years (53-9), trailing only La Salle's 55-7.

One of Ball State's tougher victories this season was against Coppin State, a commuter school from Baltimore with an enrollment of 2,000 and twice as many women as men.

Coppin State (26-6) also won at Maryland, although it might be in bigger trouble Friday against No. 6 Syracuse (24-6) in the Southeast Regional. The Eagles, though, aren't worrying.

"What do we have to lose?" Coppin State's Ron Mitchell said. "That's what it's all about, making a name for yourself. This is fun.

"This has been a teacher's college. Most alumni have been women," he said. "We don't have the pressures most school have of alumni banging on the doors."

Syracuse, which lost by a basket in the 1987 championship game, has had its share of struggles in the NCAA tournament. The Orangemen barely got past unheralded Colorado State in the second round last season and, in 1988, hit the skids against Rhode Island.

"We've had our share of tough games against smaller schools in the tournament," senior Stephen Thompson said.

"It doesn't really matter who you're playing. You don't look at the names when you're playing people now," he said. "Everybody is here for a reason, because they beat some good teams or they won a tournament. You know that."

Murray State (21-8) lacks the reputation of its first-round opponent in the Southeast, Big Ten champion and No. 4 Michigan State (26-5). But Ohio Valley Conference teams, and Murray State is that league's champion, have done plenty of damage in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

Last season, Middle Tennessee stopped Florida State. The year before, Murray State upset North Carolina State. In 1987, Austin Peay dumped Illinois and, back in 1982, Middle Tennessee wrecked Kentucky.

Track event seeks helpers

Volunteers to help at Saturday's Canyon Reef Relays track meet are still needed according to Snyder track coach Joe Granato.

Workers at the meet will gather at Spanish Inn at 7 a.m. the day of the event for breakfast, according to Granato.

Anyone interested in helping at the meet should contact Granato at 573-8528 or 573-3129.

A total of 29 teams will enter the competition set to begin at 9 a.m. Saturday morning in Snyder's Tiger Stadium.

NBA roundup...

Philly beats Lakers, 116-110

by The Associated Press
It was a victory that the Philadelphia 76ers wanted, although it proved to be costly.

"It was a huge win for us," Coach Jim Lynam said after the 76ers defeated the Los Angeles Lakers 116-110. "They are the best in basketball. They have the best record."

Charles Barkley had 35 points, 19 rebounds and six assists as Philadelphia snapped a three-game losing streak Wednesday and ended the Lakers' six-year mastery over the 76ers.

"Tonight we caught a good team that is on their way to be a great team," Lakers coach Pat Riley said. "They were in a desperate situation and came through."

The 76ers suffered a blow with 3:04 left in the game when Rick Mahorn, after blocking a Los Angeles shot, collided with Barkley and crumpled to the floor. Mahorn strained his lower back and sustained contusions to the left hip and will be lost for about a week.

In other NBA games Wednesday, it was Dallas 113, Boston 102; Phoenix 138, Denver 108; Seattle 103, Charlotte 100 and Miami 113, the Los Angeles Clippers 108 in overtime.

"We really needed this game," Barkley said of Philadelphia's first victory over the Lakers since Dec. 7, 1984.

Johnny Dawkins tied his career high with 30 points and Hershey Hawkins had 24 as the Sixers held off a final-period rally by the Lakers.

"Their guards (Dawkins and Hawkins) just killed us," Riley said. "We just let them get confidence outside. We focused on Charles too much, and Johnny and Hersey just drilled us."

After Hawkins sank two free throws to give the 76ers a 111-106 lead, Magic Johnson, who scored 34 points, hit a driving layup to pull the Lakers within three points with 24 seconds remaining. Dawkins missed two free throws, but he grabbed a rebound of a Johnson miss and was fouled with 15 seconds to go. This time, he made both shots.

Barkley then stole the inbound pass and converted a three-point play, sealing the victory.

Snyder hosts tennis event

Coach Charlie Chrane's Snyder Tiger tennis team will host the Snyder Team Tournament Friday and Saturday on the Snyder Junior High School courts.

The Tigers have already participated in team format tournaments this season in Abilene, San Angelo, Sweetwater and Midland.

Snyder's boys' singles entrants Brandon Martin and John Griffin claimed second and twelfth places, respectively, in the Tigers' fourth place finish at Sweetwater.

Kathy Ogburn grabbed a third place for Snyder in Sweetwater in girls' singles while Leslie Sandoval finished tenth.

Among doubles participants Snyder's Marcus Best and Bill Vestal took fourth for the boys while girls' competitors Racheal Wilson and Gayle Henderson took third.

Points are awarded in the team tennis format for finishing position with more points going to a higher finisher.

SHS netters will be in San Angelo next week for the Lake View tournament.

The district tournament is scheduled for April 6-7 at Odessa College.

Kevin McHale scored 30 points and Larry Bird 21 for Boston.

Suns 138, Nuggets 108
A decisive third-period run helped Phoenix defeat the Denver Nuggets for the Suns' 18th consecutive home victory.

The win was sparked by Tom Chambers, who had 31 points, and Kevin Johnson, with 29.

Dan Majerle added 20 points and Eddie Johnson 19 for the Suns.

Michael Adams and Walter Davis scored 16 points apiece and Danny Schayes had 15 for the Nuggets.

Sonics 103, Hornets 100
Jim Farmer scored a career-high 26 points, including six free throws in the final minute.

Charlotte was paced by Kelly Tripuka with 27 points.

Tournament starts with 11 a.m. game

Snyder's baseball tournament got under way today with Brownfield facing Canyon in the event's 11 a.m. opening game.

The field for the tournament, which runs through Saturday, includes state quarterfinalist and three-time winner of the Snyder tourney, Brownwood, a well as two of the defending District 4-4A tri-champions, Snyder and Pecos.

Other first round games today include the 2 p.m. meeting of Sweetwater and Levelland, Brownwood against Pecos at 4:30 p.m. and Snyder facing rival Lamesa in the 7 p.m. nightcap.

The Tigers are coming of a 16-9 loss at the hands of Brownwood Tuesday.

Snyder's all-district third baseman Randy Morris slammed the Tigers' first home run of the season in the contest and shortstop Willie Garcia drove in four runs to pace the Snyder squad offensively.

Brownwood scored eight runs in the game's sixth inning to ice the win.

Friday's games in the tournament begin at 10 a.m. with consolation bracket competition.

Championship bracket games start at 2:30 p.m. Friday and the title game will be played at 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

Winds have been strong all week.

You!!" and watch things jump. Tagliabue's whirlwind makeover of the league he took over in late October continued Wednesday when he took aim at two major trouble spots - steroids and the lack of a labor agreement. He also took a little time on the side to try to lessen the gap between coaches and officials.

Golf squads start district

Both Snyder High School golf teams begin District 4-4A competition this weekend with the boys heading to Andrews to play and the Lady Tigers hosting the Snyder District Tournament.

Coach Penny Perry's girls' squad finished fourth in their last outing with a team total 368 at the Abilene Invitational, and first among class 4A teams competing.

Snyder's Amy Armstrong shot an 83 to place fifth among individual golfers in the event while teammate Kim Duncan's 87 placed her in tenth.

The boys' team climbed from seventh place on the first day of last weekend's Sweetwater Invitational to fifth on Saturday.

The Snyder two-round score of 662 put them behind Big Spring's 609, a 616 from Abilene High, Sweetwater's 623 and Lamesa's 652.

Jay Parker and Chad Jacobi led Snyder.

Parker carded a 155 on rounds of 78 and 77 while Jacobi registered an 80 on Friday and a 78 on Saturday for a 158 total.

The girls tee-off at 9:45 Friday at Snyder Country Club and the boys begin Saturday morning in Andrews.

Satellite expected to last 12 days in useless orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An uninsured $150 million communications satellite whirled uselessly around the Earth in a dangerously low orbit today as its owners raced to devise a way of saving it before it burns up.

The Intelsat VI satellite was propelled into space Wednesday in the fourth commercial launch of a payload by a U.S. company but wound up in the wrong orbit after failing to separate properly from the giant Titan 3 booster rocket.

Intelsat was considering various options to save its satellite, including a space shuttle recovery, Intelsat spokeswoman Martha DiSario said. She declined to elaborate on what other options were available before the satellite burns up in about 12 days.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman Dick Young said a shuttle rescue attempt would be unlikely in the near future. Shuttles have brought back two satellites for refurbishing and repaired two others in space.

The payload, which cost a total of about $270 million to launch, initially failed to separate from the Titan rocket. Engineers and technicians sending computer commands finally managed to divide the satellite and rocket, averting the threat of the two re-entering the atmosphere together and burning up.

But the perigee motor that was to have boosted the satellite into higher orbit remained on the rocket, officials said.

"When we separated it, we had to sacrifice the perigee to get the launch vehicle off," Ms. DiSario said. "We've bought some time and it's in a safe, lower orbit."

Early data indicated the satellite could last 12 days before crashing through the atmosphere, said Army Maj.

Thomas Niemann of the U.S.
Space Command near Colorado Springs, Colo. The orbital period and altitude were not immediately known.

Objects re-entering the atmosphere burn up nine times out of 10, said Air Force Col. Jim Moore of the Space Command.

The satellite has thrusters for maneuvering. "If they can execute that, it has the potential of lasting longer," Niemann said.

The satellite was intended to transmit three TV channels and up to 120,000 telephone calls simultaneously for several companies for more than 13 years. It was to have replaced two older satellites over the Atlantic.

"While obviously disappointed by the launch failure, service to our members and users will continue through our global network of 14 operating satellites," said Dean Burch, director general of Intelsat.

Intelsat, a not-for-profit international consortium known formally as the International Telecommunications Satellite Organization, had not insured the satellite.

Insuring satellites is prohibitively expensive, especially since last month's explosion of an Ariane rocket over the Atlantic shortly after liftoff from French Guiana.

The commercial cooperative of 118 member nations owns and operates a global communications satellite system used by more than 170 countries.

Moore said it was difficult to predict how long the satellite might have lasted if it had remained attached to the rocket.

Wednesday's launch was the 44th for Intelsat. Of the 43 previous launches, 35 were successful, Ms. DiSario said.

Principal arrested for sexual molestation

DALLAS (AP) — A middle school principal has been arrested on charges accusing him of sexually molesting two students at his school in the Dallas suburb of Seagoville, police said.

Louis E. Moore Jr., 61, principal at Seagoville Middle School, was free on $15,000 bond today after he was arrested Tuesday on three felony counts of indecency with a child.

Lt. Bill Walsh, commander of the department's Child Exploitation Unit, said the investigation is continuing.

News of the arrest shocked school board member Richard Curry, who represents the area in which the middle school is located.

"He seems like a fine man," Curry said by telephone Wednesday night. "But everyone is entitled to the presumption of innocence until proven guilty."

The charges against Moore stem from three alleged incidents last March and October involving two boys, a seventh-grader and an eighth-grader, at the southeast Dallas school, which is part of the Dallas Independent School District.

Police said a 15-year-old youth was allegedly fondled once and a 16-year-old twice. The charges came to light in February when police received an anonymous tip that Moore was involved in "criminal activities" at the school, Walsh said.

Indecency with a child is a second-degree felony punishable by two to 10 years in prison, a $10,000 fine or both.

The DISD has placed Moore on paid administrative leave, Rodney Davis, a spokesman for the district said.

Moore, a 39-year school district employee and North Dallas resident, has no criminal record,
police said.

Moore was arrested the same day that Gerald Yale David, a former Dallas teacher, was sentenced to 45 years' imprisonment for molesting three children, whom he also photographed in sexual acts.
Those incidents happened off school grounds and didn't involve David's pupils.

Reports vary about Libyan plant burning

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Libyan leader Col. Moammar Gadhafi today threatened to retaliate if Western agents were to blame for a fire that broke out at a Libyan plant suspected of producing poison gas.

The plant near Rabta, about 60 miles southwest of the Libyan capital, Tripoli, caught fire on Wednesday. There were conflicting reports about damage.

ABC News quoted unidentified Libyan security sources as claiming the plant was burned to the ground by U.S. and Israeli agents. The United States and Israel denied any involvement.

Today, the British Broadcasting Corp. quoted an unidentified spokesman for the official Libyan news agency JANA as saying there had been a fire in some machinery at the plant but that the building had not been damaged. JANA officials in Rome said they had no information on the fire.

Gadhafi said on Radio Tripoli that an investigation has been launched to determine if West

German intelligence services are implicated in "an action committed in Libya."

Gadhafi was quoted as saying that if West Germany is implicated, "the economic presence of Germany will be eliminated from Libya, and that state which is involved in espionage and sabotage in the interests of imperialism and Zionism will lose out."

For more than 14 months, the United States has accused Libya of using the plant to make chemical weapons, including mustard and nerve gases. Last week, the White House said the plant was dangerous and should be shut down. The White House refused to rule out the possibility of military action to close it.

The radical North African nation has denied the plant produces poison gas. Gadhafi has said it was designed to produce pharmaceuticals.

Mahmoud Azzabi, press secretary at Libya's U.N. mission in New York, confirmed that the fire began Wednesday.

"There is speculation that it was possibly sabotage, somebody coming in from Tunisia," Azzabi said.

An Interior Ministry official in Tunisia said late Wednesday that neighboring Libya had sealed its borders, but other Tunisians of-

Minor injuries noted in accident

An Amarillo man and a Snyder woman had minor injuries in separate accidents involving tractor-trailer rigs here Wednesday.

Police said a 1985 Peterbilt rig owned by Amtruk of Amarillo and driven by Willie A. Ashley was westbound on U.S. 84 when the driver turned onto the College Ave. access road, the truck's load of bagged charcoal shifted and the truck turned onto its side.

Ashley was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by private vehicle and was treated and released in the hospital's emergency room following the 7:16 a.m. accident, a city policeman said.

And at noon Wednesday in the 1800 Block of 30th St., a 1979 GMC tractor-trailer rig driven by Ronnie Anderson of 2310 Ave. M was in collision with a 1986 Ford driven by Michele Callahan of 1909 30th St.

Callahan had minor injuries and was taken by private vehicle to Cogdell, where she was treated and released.

officials later denied that the frontiers had been closed.

There was no answer at Libyan ministries in Tripoli.

West Germany's ambassador in Tripoli was scheduled to meet with Libya's Foreign Office, a West German government official said in Bonn. The official, who demanded anonymity, said he did not know the reason for the meeting.

West Germany at first denied U.S. assertions that West German firms helped build the plant, but later acknowledged the claims and launched its own investigations.

Soviet

Ministers, appoint a Cabinet, declare war if the country is attacked and, under certain conditions, impose presidential rule.

Since taking office, Gorbachev has repeatedly shaken up the Soviet political system and improved personal liberties, but the country is beset by worsening ethnic strife and economic paralysis.

Strong independence movements and bloody clashes between ethnic groups also threaten the union. Lithuania declared independence on Sunday, and Estonia, Latvia and Georgia have all moved in that direction.

Gorbachev has been pressed for more radical solutions and this year has led the Communist Party to renounce its lock on political power and accept some forms of private property.

He said the only solution to the continuing problems is to search for even more radical solutions. "The greatest barrier to change remains ossified thinking," he told the deputies in a firm, strong voice.

Gorbachev promised to be president of all of the country's more than 100 nationalities. He promised to work to keep the Soviet Union together while pressing for a new agreement of union among the country's republics.

Tank battery fire put out

Firemen worked for two hours Wednesday morning to extinguish a tank battery fire eight miles west of Ira.

A department spokesman said the oil storage tank, with 2½ feet of oil in the bottom, had been hit by lightning.

The call came in at 10:01 a.m., and firefighters returned to the station at noon.

Owned by the W.V. Hardin Estate, the tank was destroyed.

PI arrest

A county sheriff's deputy arrested a 34-year-old man for public intoxication at 7:55 p.m. Wednesday at Rip Griffin's Truck Service Center off the Roby Hwy. east of town.

Soviet Union, Vatican establish official ties

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican and the Soviet Union established official ties today for the first time since the 1917 Russian Revolution.

The Vatican and Moscow said the two sides agreed to exchange representatives with the rank of ambassador extraordinary and apostolic nuncio. Initially, the representatives will not have permanent residences.

The ties fall short of full diplomatic relations. Vatican spokesman Joaquim Navarro described them as "pre-diplomatic relations."

The move was the latest of several that have improved relations between Moscow and the Vatican after more than 70 icy years.

The decision was made during the meeting at the Vatican in December between Pope John Paul II and Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev. They were the first talks ever between a Roman Catholic pontiff and a supreme Soviet leader.

The Vatican will be represented by Archbishop Francesco Colasuonno, an Italian prelate who has been a roving Vatican envoy to Eastern Europe.

The name of the Soviet ambassador was not immediately announced.

The Vatican announcement said the pope and Gorbachev agreed to give an official character to contacts between Moscow and the Holy See to facilitate a "permanent dialogue on matters of mutual interest" and promote cooperation in the international sphere.

The Vatican and Moscow had diplomatic relations under the Russian czars, but those ties were broken when the Communists came to power. The Soviets long disparaged religion, but Gorbachev pledged to the pope that the Soviet Union would guarantee freedom of religion.

One of the points of dispute between Moscow and Rome has been the Ukrainian Catholic church, which was suppressed by Soviet dictator Josef Stalin and forcibly merged into the Russian Orthodox Church.

It would regain legal status under a proposed freedom of religion law, but there has been no movement yet on adopting the measure.

Vehicles damaged

At 9:32 a.m. Wednesday in the Furr's supermarket parking lot, an incident was discovered in which a parked 1989 Pontiac owned by Louis Buerlein of 2604 35th had been damaged by a motorist who has not been identified.

A 1982 GMC van driven by Dolores Garza of 2107 41st St. was in collision with a 1988 Ford Mustang driven by Martin Orsco of 3308 Irving Ave. at 7:43 p.m. Wednesday in the 3200 Block of College Ave.

Britain recalls its ambassador...

Reporter accused of spying said executed

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The government today defied international appeals for mercy and hanged a London-based newspaper reporter who was arrested near a military complex and convicted of spying for Britain and Israel.

Britain recalled its ambassador from Iraq, accusing Baghdad of an act of barbarism for executing Farzad Bazoft, 31. The Iranian-born journalist was working for the British weekly The Observer and traveling on British documents.

Britain's foreign secretary, Douglas Hurd, also announced the suspension of ministerial visits and said all Iraqi students would be sent home.

Bazoft was convicted Saturday by a revolutionary court in a closed trial.

He was arrested in September near a plant where ballistic missiles are reportedly being developed. He was investigating reports that hundreds of people had died in an explosion.

Robin Kealy, the British consul in Baghdad, spent more than an hour with the condemned reporter before the hanging. He told the British Broadcasting Corp. that Bazoft looked "hollow-eyed and subdued."

Information Minister Latif

Nassayif Jassim said the body was turned over to the British Embassy. "British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher wanted him alive. We sent him in a box," he told journalists.

"This is a very, very grave and serious matter. The Iraqi government's action is an act of barbarism which is deeply repugnant to all civilized people," Mrs. Thatcher said in the House of Commons after Bazoft was hanged.

"There have been few occasions when there has been such a universal appeal by world leaders for mercy to be shown," Hurd said in London. "We are appalled that despite that worldwide appeal, the Iraqi government has gone ahead with this barbarous act."

The execution came despite pleas for clemency from Britain and other persons and organizations.

An AP analysis...

Candidates slung mud, cash

AUSTIN (AP) — While the Democrats slung mud, Clayton Williams was slinging cash. And Mark White found out it's easier being a former governor than a future one.

Tuesday's primaries also indicated that Texas Republicans still have a way to go to stake their claim on majority party status.

In the words of Democratic runoff candidates Ann Richards and Jim Mattox, Williams "came in third" as each of the top two Democrats outpolled his 517,683 votes.

But everything else about Williams landslide win in the GOP race looked flawless.

From his lavish television commercials to a crack staff to his own sense of humor, the Republican winner seemingly could do no wrong.

He spent a total of more than $8 million on his race, with $6 million of that from his own pocket. Voters, he said, liked knowing he wasn't beholden to special interests.

When a "character" question was raised during the first debate and his opponents sounded rather pious, Williams allowed as how he liked a cold beer now and then. The audience loved it.

When opponents attacked his lack of experience in government, he just grinned. "The biggest applause I get is when I say I'm not a politician and I'm not a lawyer," he said.

Then there was his TV advertising. In a state with 20 television markets, it is crucial, and Williams knew it. His commercials were well-written, well-produced and well-received.

"Nobody's television — Democrat or Republican — is as good as Williams' ... It's convincing stuff; it's memorable stuff," observed Austin consultant George Christian, former press secretary to President Lyndon Johnson.

All three rivals for the nomination were viable. Railroad Commissioner Kent Hance touted experience to the Legislature to Congress. Dallas lawyer Tom Luce toured the state to tout his endorsements from newspapers. Former Secretary of State Jack Rains won the debates. But none had Williams' money.

In the words of Democratic state Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, "I don't think you have to sling mud when you can sling cash."

And the Democrats did sling mud.

Mattox and White attacked Ms. Richards for failing to say whether she'd ever used illegal drugs. She accused both of profiting from public service. They called her a liar.

Democratic National Chairman Ron Brown said Wednesday that the tone of the campaign had become a concern to him.

"We are hopeful that the runoff will focus on the issues and that the campaign will be taken to a higher plane. We hope that we can focus on the Republican nominee and not on each other," Brown said.

To top the field, Ms. Richards ran strong in the cities. Mattox ran strong in rural areas of East Texas, West Texas and in South Texas. White ran strong nowhere, losing even his hometown of Houston. The former governor's 19 percent total was below what most pre-election pollsters had predicted.

But White was carrying some heavy baggage. During his one term, the former governor had seen the state's economy hit a tailspin. Unemployment soared and oil prices plummeted during his administration. The state budget hemorrhaged red ink, and he raised taxes by billions.

Some analysts — particularly Republicans — called Tuesday's results indicative of the "liberalizing" of the Democratic Party in Texas.

Both Mattox and Ms. Richards are from the party's liberal wing. Ms. Richards worked for 1984 presidential nominee Walter Mondale and she keynoted the party's convention that nominated Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis for president in 1988. Mattox has described himself as a populist and boasted of his record in fighting big insurance companies, big utilities and the like.

"The Republican Party is becoming a dominant party in the state of Texas ... The reason is for what we stand for," Gov. Bill Clements said Wednesday.

"We're a party that most people in the mainstream of Texas can relate to. They feel that on the Democratic side they don't really represent mainstream Texas and I don't think they do," the only 20th century Texas Republican governor said.

But Ed Martin, executive director of the Texas Democratic Party, said the numbers of votes cast for Ms. Richards, Mattox and Williams are the final measure in proving the liberal theory nothing but a GOP fantasy.

"I think 'Blatant Millions' should be congratulated on his third-place finish," Martin said. "It shows who votes. It shows the overwhelming majority of the people really haven't met Clayton Williams and really haven't voted for him, either."

Credits dogs for win...

Butcher wins 4th Iditarod; now looks toward number 5

NOME, Alaska (AP) — With her fourth victory in the Iditarod Trail Sled Dog Race behind her, Susan Butcher already is anticipating No. 5, but a more immediate concern was ensuring that her dogs got proper credit.

"This team had power coming out of its ears," she said Wednesday, minutes after winning the 1,158-mile Anchorage-to-Nome trek in record time. "Not so much charging up hills, but stamina. It just had it."

"This team has been absolutely incredible. I've never had a team go as strong as this."

Butcher finished with 11 dogs. During her 11 days on the trail she had to drop three veteran dogs that pulled her to previous victories.

She wins $50,000 in first-place money plus $25,000 from Purina Pro Plan, one of her sponsors. Defending champion Joe Runyan finished No. 2.

Butcher said she wants an error-free race en route to an unprecedented fifth Iditarod win.

"I made so many mistakes," she said. "I'd like to come into the Iditarod again and have a race like I had in 1986. I held that lead for a ways."

Her time was 11 days, 1 hour, 53 minutes and 23 seconds. That was an all-time record, beating by more than 10 minutes her 1987, which was set on another route. The previous record for the slightly longer northern route — also set by Butcher in 1986 — was 11 days, 15 hours and 6 minutes.

Various obstacles stood in the way of a record this year. The 70 mushers who began the race March 3 had to contend with the deepest snow in a quarter-century, ash from Redoubt Volcano, some unseasonably warm days that tired their dogs, buffalo on the trail and hunger-crazed moose.

At least two mushers had run-ins with the huge animals, which tangled their lines and stomped their dogs.

The only other four-time winner, Rick Swenson, was leading near the halfway point but had to turn back and have his team checked by a veterinarian after one such encounter. He was running in sixth Wednesday.
