Court okays revised budget

Tax refunds, statements to be mailed Wednesday

Scurry County commissioners today accepted the revised 1990 county budget and granted County Auditor Linda Franklin permission to transfer funds to pay for rollback expenses and tax refund checks.

Commissioners also approved a request from Sheriff Keith Collier to apply for a government grant which would provide funds for an instructor for the Drug Awareness Resistance Education (DARE) program.

Commissioners unanimously approved the revised budget of $12,203,510, which reflects the amended tax rate of 34.75 cents per $100 valuation. The county last year had approved a budget of $12,625,031 and set the tax rate at 39.80 cents, but county residents voted to roll back taxes in a Jan. 20 election.

Franklin was given authority to move funds necessary to refund taxpayers and pay for the rollback. She said refund checks amount to $325,306 and rollback expenses are $18,161.55 for a total of $343,473. The monies will be taken from the general fund, the road and bridge fund, the Board of County Development and the hospital operating fund and placed in a newly-established rollback fund.

New tax statements and refund checks will be mailed out Wednesday, March 21, commissioners were told. Taxes will become delinquent Sept. 6 if not paid.

Tax Assessor Collector Rona Sikes said her office will return some $192,417 in refunds to oil companies and $132,889 representing real estate.

Statements to be mailed out (see COURT, page 8)

School finance...

Senate will ponder $1.2 billion bill

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate will consider a $1.2 billion school finance bill today that Gov. Bill Clements has vowed to veto because of cost.

Supporters of the measure say it would meet the state Supreme Court's order to revamp the public school funding.

But Clements doesn't want to spend more than $300 million in additional money on public schools in 1990-91. Clements says state taxes would have to increase if more than that is needed.

"I think that number of around $300 million is the magic number and we're going to stay here 'til it happens," Clements said. "There's nothing mysterious about this."

Speaker Gib Lewis said the House on Tuesday will take up its own education proposal, which would cost an estimated $450 million next year.

The House measure was approved Saturday by its Public Education Committee.

"I think it's a very good bill," said Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby. "I think they (schools) could use that much money and more very efficiently."

Lawmakers are meeting in special session to address the Supreme Court's ruling that the school finance system is unconstitutional because of disparities between property-rich and poor school districts. The $13.5 billion public school system relies on a combination of state aid, local property taxes and some federal funds.

The Senate measure would raise the basic allotment per student from $1,477 to $1,910, and guarantee school districts an additional $22 per student per penny if they impose local property taxes at a particular rate.

The bill also includes provisions designed to improve education. It would require teacher training in the use of technology; strengthen the education commissioner's power over schools that do not meet accreditation standards; and require performance reports for campuses.

Q—What was the worst tornado ever in Texas history?

A—Considering deaths, the worst would be the May 18, 1902 tornado which killed 114 in Goliad or the May 11, 1953 tornado which killed 114 in Waco. A number of other major ones have occurred, including the April 10, 1979 tornado in Wichita Falls which lead to 1,700 injuries and 46 deaths, or the May 22, 1987 tornado which virtually wiped out the small community of Saragosa, killing 30 and injuring 121.

In Brief

Spilled fuel

DALLAS (AP) — Jet fuel, spilled from a truck at an airport here, flowed into a lake where it soaked birds and other wildlife, say authorities who rescued some of the animals today.

More than 4,000 gallons of fuel spilled into Bachman Lake about 4:30 a.m. Sunday as an employee of Associated Air Center attempted to load it into a truck at Dallas Love Field, said Danny Bruce, the airport's director of aviation.

Strike update

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Greyhound and its striking drivers exchanged barbs after negotiations broke down when company officials charged that union leaders failed to negotiate and were "stepping up the violence."

Union leaders presented a new contract proposal in talks held in Tucson on Saturday, but the company said it was unacceptable. Negotiations broke off Sunday after only about an hour.

SMITHVILLE, Okla. (AP) — A Texas man drowned and another was hospitalized following a weekend canoe outing on the Mountain Fork River in southeastern Oklahoma.

The Oklahoma Lake Patrol said John Trenelone, 43, of Longview, died in Sunday's accident after a canoe carrying him and two others capsized when it became lodged sideways in the swirling water of river rapids.

ON-THE-JOB TRAINING — A number of men are learning new skills in the use of heavy equipment through the Job Training Partnership Act here. The men, including John McKinney, above, are doing landscape-type work along Deep Creek, behind the Varsity Square Shopping Center. The program is through the West Central Texas Council of Governments. (Howard Bigham Photo)

Program retains displaced workers

What are eight men doing using heavy equipment behind the Varsity Square Shopping Center?

They are staying off unemployment and learning skills while turning the area into something the city can be proud of.

Under the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) the men are cleaning up the area and leveling it out. The plans include room for a soccer field and a one-acre pond.

"It kind of benefits everybody," said Keith Wallace, occupational training specialist with West Central Texas Council of Governments in Abilene, which oversees the program in this area. "These guys go to work and aren't unemployed, they are trained in heavy equipment and the city benefits, too."

Under the JTPA program, federal tax dollars are funneled through 23 "service delivery areas" in the state such as WTCOG and are used for retraining eligible applicants into new jobs. Many are former oil field workers, who are unable to find employment in their field of expertise. They are retrained in the use of heavy equipment, or truck driving, diesel mechanics, computers, electronics and other fields.

"It's almost unlimited," said Wallace.

There are two adult training programs — classroom and on the job training. The classroom-type programs can include vocational licensed nurse training or correctional officer training, for instance. On the job training consists of heavy equipment work such as being done in the Deep Creek area behind Varsity Square. Workers are using graders, backhoes, front-end loaders, dump trucks, dozers and other equipment.

"We use what we can that we see there is a job market for," said Wallace. "We won't spend time training for jobs that there isn't any call for."

(see JTPA, page 8)

First daytime correctional officers class set by college

Western Texas College will begin its first daytime correctional officer training course May 7.

The course is the first of six daytime classes planned on a yearly basis at Western Texas, which will also hold four evening classes.

For the first daytime course, classes will meet from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday for three weeks. Tuition for the 120-hour course is $225, payable at registration on May 7. The college will aid students in locating housing for the three-week stay in Snyder.

Applications for the daytime training course will be accepted beginning Monday, March 26, and will continue to be accepted through April 6. Applicants must furnish a driver's license, social security card, birth certificate and proof of highest level of education completed.

J.D. Barham, formerly an inmate advocate for the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, is instructor for the daytime course.

WTC will continue to offer its evening classes, with the next evening course scheduled June 2 through July 26.

Both daytime and evening courses are certified by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice for correctional officers for all state prison units.

Further information about the correctional officer training program can be obtained by calling the adult education office at 573-8511, extension 240 or 390.

Coalition sweeps to surprise victory

EAST BERLIN (AP) — A conservative coalition, bolstered by promises from West Germany's government for a brighter and richer future through speedy unification, swept to a surprise victory in East Germany's first free elections.

But the three-party Alliance for Germany fell just short of a parliamentary majority and worked today to forge a coalition.

Sunday's vote culminated a peaceful democratic revolution that toppled hard-line Communists five months ago. The turnout was high — officials put it at 93 percent — and the results appeared to reflect sentiment that the faster East Germany is joined with its prosperous neighbor, the better.

The victorious coalition, which has promised quick moves to achieve a united Germany, had received massive backing from Chancellor Helmut Kohl of West Germany and his Christian Democrats.

Two Fort Hood officers visit SHS last week

Janie Carter, Snyder High School resource teacher, can keep a secret and no one knows that better than Gonzalo Lara, one of her students.

Lara received the surprise of his life Wednesday when he learned that a Lt. Joanna Foitek, now stationed at Fort Hood Army Base, would pay him a surprise visit that day.

The student and the Army lieutenant became acquainted, well sort of anyway, this past holiday season when Lara and his classmates all wrote about 100 cards to U. S. service men and women stationed all over the world. This was the second year that Carter's students had participated in "Operation Dear Abby."

Essentially anyone participating in Operation Dear Abby just writes a generic holiday greeting card to service men and women.

Foitek was stationed in Korea at that time and since she is from Louisiana she said she picked Lara's card because it had a Texas postmark. She said spending the holidays so far away from her family made her homesick and getting Lara's Christmas card was just the day brightner she needed.

Foitek contacted Carter and told her that she would be coming to Snyder on Wednesday and that she wanted to meet Lara and his classmates. All the plans were made in advance and kept "under wraps" so that none of the students, including Lara, knew what was going to happen. As far as everyone knew Wednesday was just going to be a regular school day.

Foitek arrived with a Sgt. Thomas Fuller, who had also been stationed in Korea, and together they visited several classrooms in Snyder Wednesday morning to speak to the students about the Army, what it was like being stationed in another country and how important Operation Dear Abby is to them.

Both Foitek and Fuller treated Lara to an off campus lunch and later that afternoon they spoke to him and his class. Other resource students were allowed to attend also if they wanted to, Carter said. Foitek presented Lara with a Korean fan and several pictures of cavalry units.

Carter said that out of the 100 cards her students mailed out several received answers, but Lara's card was the only one that resulted in a personal visit.

SPECIAL GUESTS—Sgt. Thomas Fuller and Lt. Joanna Foitek spent Wednesday visiting Snyder High School. They came because Foitek had picked a Christmas card written by Gonzalo Lara, third from left, as part of Janie Carter's resource students' participation in Operation Dear Abby. They visited with students and school of-

Commissioner arrested for whitewashing billboard

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas County commissioner, free on bond today after his arrest for painting over a cigarette billboard showing a black woman, said minorities are being victimized by advertisers.

Commissioner John Wiley Price was released Sunday from Lew Sterrett Justice Center after paying $52 of a $200 bond. He was arrested two hours earlier on a charge of criminal mischief over $400, a class A misdemeanor.

"We are the target of adverse advertising. We are the victims," Price, who is black, said.

Price, while he was handcuffed before several dozen onlookers and the gates of Fair Park, said he would continue to do "whatever it takes" to stop tobacco and alcohol advertising targeted at minorities.

"We'll be back out again next Sunday," Price said.

He led two dozen people who whitewashed between 25 and 30 billboards Sunday. All the billboards contained advertising for alcohol or tobacco products.

"I didn't paint but one sign, but I was the only one arrested," Price said.

Police confirmed that Price was the only person arrested in connection with the actions.

Last week, similar demonstrations occurred last week in New York, Chicago and Detroit.

The president of the Dallas Outdoor Advertising Association said he spoke with Price last week.

George Reynolds, the organization's head, said sign owners and advertisers were upset by the action because they had been asked by minorities in the past to use minority models in their ads and were now criticized for putting up the billboards at all.

"We can't win either way," Reynolds told The Dallas Morning News.

But Price said the billboards violate a federal law.

"The Beautification Act of 1965 says that you shall not erect any billboards detrimental to the public safety, health and welfare," said Price. "We are at risk in terms of our safety, health and welfare."

Conviction on the charge is punishable by up to one year in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Gramm, Army meeting slated

WACO, Texas (AP) — U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm wants to meet with Army and government officials to "nail down" a strategy to deal with a possible deactivation of Fort Hood's 2nd Armored Division.

The Republican lawmaker said Saturday that he and U.S. Rep. Marvin Leath, D-Waco, would try to meet this week with the Secretary of the Army and the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency to dispel some of the uncertainty surrounding the division's future.

SURPRISE VISIT—Gonzalo Lara, Snyder High School student, received quite a surprise Wednesday when Lt. Joanna Foitek, who had received a Christmas card from him through Operation Dear

Abby, paid a surprise visit to the high school where she presented him with a Korean fan. She was stationed in Korea when she picked his card because of its Texas postmark. (SDN Staff Photo)

Dallas fails to use millions in grant funds for housing

DALLAS (AP) — A published report says tens of millions of federal dollars to help fix housing and neighborhood problems were not used by Dallas city officials.

The Dallas Morning News reported in copyright stories Sunday that, of the millions spent from Dallas' allocation under the Community Development Block Grant program, few dollars benefited poor people.

The report also says Dallas City Auditor Dan Paul neglected for years to release federally required audits of some of the largest and most troubled recipients of community development funds targeted for the poor.

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's contract conditions require the city to meet spending deadlines in the next two years or lose millions.

Dallas is the only major city in the country facing HUD sanctions for repeatedly failing to spend money allocated under the Community Development Block Grant program, according to the report.

Newspaper interviews and records it obtained show primary beneficiaries of the community development grant money are the City Hall bureaucracy and a few private, nonprofit groups headed by administrators who are paid as much as $115,000 annually.

resolve the problem of unused money, which he called "very significant." Every dollar that was spent went toward projects and activities eligible under federal rules, he said.

Federal officials have allocated Dallas $208 million since the community development program began in 1976. But they said $31 million remained unused at the end of February.

"Much of the money is not being spent, and much of the money that is being spent is not being spent on the right people," said Harryette Ehrhardt, a member of the Community Development Advisory Committee, a group appointed to oversee such spending.

"It means elderly people dying every winter because of the condition of their houses," said Ms. Ehrhardt. "It means men who ought to have work who don't. It means red-lining, crack houses, delinquency, lack of pride and whole communities falling into disrepair. It literally makes me physically ill."

"Dallas has the worst record of any city in my jurisdiction," said Roberto Gomez, an area manager in HUD's Community Planning and Development Office in Fort Worth.

Records obtained under the Freedom of Information Act show city officials have violated federal regulations for three years by failing to use $22 million to $24 million, almost double the amount Dallas receives annually. Three of the largest and most troubled recipients of community development funds for the poor used more than $800,000 in taxpayers' money for fraudulent rent payments, a failed real estate project, home loans to ineligible borrowers and other questionable expenses, according to federal audits, court records and internal reviews by the auditors' office.

Officials said the money has not yet been repaid. In an interview last week, Paul told The News that his office has done a good job auditing all recipients of community development funds.

DEAR READERS: It's National Poison Prevention Week again, and I am happy to report that because of poison prevention awareness, deaths of children under the age of 5 due to household chemicals and medications have declined substantially since 1972. I will continue to focus on children, who are still involved in more than half of our poison exposures. However, the next largest group who seems to be at risk from accidental poisoning is our senior citizens!

People over 65 constitute 11 percent of the U.S. population, and they take 25 percent of all prescription drugs sold.

Here are some rules for seniors to follow:

MEDICATIONS:

READ THE LABEL BEFORE TAKING THE PILL: Too often seniors take medication without checking the labels. If the medication is taken during the night, they either don't put on their glasses, or they don't turn on the light because they are afraid of bothering someone.

DON'T TRUST YOUR MEMORY: Some seniors tend to forget things they do routinely. They know how many pills to take and when to take them, but they can't remember if they took them or not.

CHECK THE EXPIRATION DATE AND DISCARD OLD MEDICATION: It is hard to throw away old prescriptions when they cost so much, but if the expiration date has passed, throw the medicines away, because they can lose their potency or break down and react differently with other medications, thereby making them risky. Also, a child can find them and ingest them accidentally. (Always keep medications in their original containers.)

DON'T SHARE YOUR PRESCRIPTION WITH OTHERS — OR TAKE SOMEONE ELSE'S MEDICINE.

CHILDPROOF YOUR HOME: Store all cleaning supplies out of sight and out of reach of children. Here's a checklist of potential poisons found in almost every home. These products should be locked up or kept out of reach of children. Never store them under your sink where a toddler can find them.

Kitchen: aspirin, vitamins, furniture polish, detergents, cleansers, ammonia, air freshener.

Laundry: bleaches, detergents, disinfectants.

Bedrooms: all medications, cosmetics, perfumes.

Bathrooms: all drugs, pills, shampoo, nail polish and polish remover, deodorants, bath oil, lotions and hairspray.

Closets/attic/storage: rat, roach and ant poison, mothballs, all aerosol sprays.

Garage/basement/workshop: lye, gasoline, kerosene, lighter fluid, paint, paint remover and thinner, anti-freeze.

GENERAL: Some flowers and plants are poisonous. Protect your children and your pets by keeping them inaccessible.

GRANDMA'S (OR MAMA'S) PURSE: If you carry pills or cigarettes in your purse, do not leave your purse where a child can get into it.

FIRST AID FOR POISONINGS: Keep ipecac syrup on hand in your home, but do not use it except on the advice of your poison center or physician. (Call information now for your local poison center's 24-hour hot-line number and keep it on or near your phone.)

Poison prevention is the best antidote for poisonings, but accidental poisonings can occur in any home. The natural impulse is to act at once, but the wrong treatment for poisoning is often more harmful than none. So, call your poison center or physician for advice immediately.

The facts about drugs, AIDS and how to prevent unwanted pregnancy are all in Abby's new expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know." Voice-activated typewriter unveiled NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — A new, voice-activated "typewriter" is a science-fiction dream-turned-reality that promises to boost productivity and open a world of opportunity for the handicapped.

The DragonDictate Voice Typewriter, which was being formally unveiled today by Dragon Systems Inc., is billed as the first of its kind in the world.

"My only regret is that your product didn't come out 20 years ago," Frank Whitney, a quadriplegic Maryland computer scientist, told the company in a letter written on the system. Whitney has used the system for the past year.

The "typewriter," which consists of software and a speech-recognition circuit board for personal computers, allows users to create memos, manuscripts and other documents by speaking instead of typing. Users speak into a microphone and see text appear on a video screen at the rate of 35 words a minute.

The $9,000 system can recognize 30,000 words and adapt itself to individual speakers. Until now, voice-activated systems had not been able to recognize more than 5,000 words.

The commands are simple. To turn off the system, one says, "Voice Console: Go to Sleep." To turn it on, the command is "Voice Console: Wake Up."

A mistake is corrected by saying "oops" and repeating the correct word. Many functions can be operated manually as well.

"The technology can address all segments of the workplace," says Janet Baker, who founded the company with her husband, James, in 1982 after stints in speech-recognition product development at IBM Corp. and Exxon Corp.

The system is designed for professionals who don't type well or who want to write reports and letters that otherwise would be dictated to a secretary, then transcribed.

"The only people who are really good typists are journalists, computer programmers and secretaries," said Baker. "Doctors, lawyers and a lot of other people often just hunt and peck or they rely on handing notes to someone to type up."

DragonDictate is also seen as a great boon to the disabled. Whitney and others with disabilities have used the system in test marketing around the country for the past year.

Laura Harris, a 19-year-old sophomore at Harvard University, was born without fingers on her left hand. She taught herself to type with her right hand, but did so much typing as a freshman government major, she injured her hand. She was forced to dictate her papers into a tape recorder and give it to another student to transcribe.

Since January, Harris has used DragonDictate.

"It was so hard to dictate before because I couldn't actually see what I was writing, so I couldn't edit. I often ended up trying to write longhand and that was painful," said Harris. "DragonDictate is just amazing."

It allows me to go back to typing and editing my work."

The system adjusts to each user's voice and vocabulary because individual voices can vary widely.

DragonDictate is compatible with an IBM personal computer with a 386 microprocessor.

Operators of track lose money

BRADY, Texas (AP) — Horse race betting has paid off for the state of Texas, but not the operators of the first pari-mutuel track.

G. Rollie White Downs paid nearly $300,000 to the state treasury and the Texas Racing Commission during its first three months of operation. But its operators lost more than $180,000.

The San Angelo Standard-Times reported Sunday that Heart of Texas Racing Inc., which operates the track, paid $193,303 to the state and $101,527 in fees to the racing commission in 24 days of racing last year. The track is the only one where betting has occurred since Texas voters in 1987 approved a pari-mutuel referendum.

The operators are seeking a Small Business Administration loan to keep the track alive.

Clifford Grubbs, president of Heart of Texas racing, said the track won't survive without the loan. He said he was optimistic that it would be approved.

Several Brady track officials will attend a special meeting Tuesday of the Texas Racing Commission in Austin. They are expected to respond to questions on track financing that came up at the March 5 meeting of the commission.

The right sequence

By James Jacoby

Do you wonder why South was so slow about getting to game? Bear in mind that North was not really raising spades but merely showing preference. If North had a minimum response with his strength in minor-suit junk cards (queens and jacks), South might very well wish he had stopped in only two spades. However, North had an ace as well as a prime card in trumps, so he was happy to accept the game invitation. He was not so happy with the play of the hand.

Declarer won the king of hearts, took the ace and ruffed a heart with the nine of spades. East overruffed with the queen and led back a trump. Declarer took that with the ace in his hand and ran four more high trumps. Eventually he got to dummy with the club ace and led a diamond to the king. West took the A-Q of diamonds and another heart trick, and that was down one.

Declarer's play was inexcusable. He can gain nothing by ruffing the third heart with the spade nine rather than the king, since his plan is to ruff a club back to his hand and ruff the last heart anyway. In fact, best play is for declarer to win the first heart and go to dummy with the club ace to lead up to his other high heart. This gives declarer some extra play in those instances when West is leading from a six-card suit and East has only a singleton heart.

Tigers claim crown in baseball tourney

The Snyder Tigers scored six runs behind the 18-strikeout pitching of senior Jamey Morton to claim the Snyder Invitational Baseball Tournament championship Saturday night over Brownfield, 6-2.

"I was just in awe of his performance," said coach Albert Lewis of Morton's pitching.

Snyder, now 8-2 on the season, scored three runs in the first inning, one in the second and two more in the top of the third to claim the tourney title.

In other Saturday action, Pecos ran past Lamesa for the consolation crown, 9-0, Brownwood clobbered Levelland for third place 8-3, Sweetwater outscored Canyon 9-8, and Lamesa edged Vernon 3-2.

Snyder struck quickly in the championship contest as No. 2 hitter Jason West was issued a walk by Brownfield hurler Eddy Garza who wound up with 14 K's on the night.

Toby Goodwin stepped in a rapped a single for the Tigers followed by a pair of wild pitches from Garza and an error and finally a base hit by Willie Garcia that scored two.

Garcia came in later in the inning on another wild pitch.

In all, the Tigers managed their total of six runs on seven hits including a two for three performance by Garcia.

The Cubs scored a run on just two hits, both by the pitcher Garza.

The Tigers raised their team batting average over 40 points in the tournament against tough pitching including Garza for Brownfield who was 4-0 on the season before meeting the Tigers.

Snyder is hitting at a .336 clip as a squad on the season.

Garcia's 478 with a homer leads the club followed by Randy

NCAA tournament...

LMU romps over Wolverines

by The Associated Press
Loyola Marymount's sorrowful mission is only one-third complete.

An incendiary formula blending equal parts of skill and emotion over the death of Hank Gathers has powered the No. 21 Lions to a pair of explosive victories in the NCAA tournament. First came a 111-92 romp over No. 24 New Mexico State, followed by Sunday's record-shattering 149-115 blowout of defending champion No. 13 Michigan, the highest-scoring game in tournament history.

"We just want to go out and win because we're doing it for Hank, and nothing is going to stand in our way," Jeff Fryer said after ripping Michigan for 41 points, including a tournament-record 11 3-pointers.

"Loyola is on a crusade, and they played that way," said Steve Fisher, who coached Michigan to the 1989 title and suffered his first loss in eight NCAA contests.

The Lions' next opponent will be No. 23 Alabama in the West Regionals at Oakland, Calif. The Crimson Tide advanced with a 77-55 rout of No. 14 Arizona.

Baseball agreement finally worked out

by The Associated Press
Fittingly, peace was announced in Versailles — the Versailles ballroom at the Helmsley Palace.

The terms of the agreement include:
— Salary arbitration eligibility for 17 percent of the players with 2½ years of service. Those players must have spent at least 86 days on the roster in the previous season.

— A $100,000 minimum salary for major leaguers.

— An annual $55 million contribution by owners to the players' pension fund.

— Rosters will stay at 24 players this season. They will expand to 25 in 1991 and stay that way at least through expansion.

The deal also means baseball will announce plans within 90 days to expand to two National League cities.

"It is a compromise," management negotiator Chuck O'Connor said at 6:15 a.m. as he announced the details.

Agreed union chief Donald Fehr: "It has been a long process and often a torturous one. The task now is to heal the wounds of

ARN selects Braziel for all-area team

Snyder's Tracy Braziel was named to the just-released Abilene Reporter-News All Area basketball team for the second year in a row.

Braziel and Brownwood's Roosevelt Duffie are the only repeaters on the team this year.

Braziel, a 6-1 wing, was voted to the All-District 4-4A team for three consecutive years and was the loop's most valuable player for the 1989-90 season.

The SHS senior averaged over 16 points and 11 rebounds per game in leading the Tigers to a 12-2 league record and a district co-championship in the campaign that just ended.

Ira's Jason Withers was listed as an honorable mention as was Dane Hoover of Colorado City and Joe Huitt of Rotan.

The rest of the first team includes James Rike from Haskell, who was also tabbed the area MVP, Duffie, Edwin Randle of Brownwood, Brandon Thetford of Comanche, Tim Taylor of Sweetwater and Billy Lund of Ranger.

Other team members include Scooter Hines of Westbrook, Todd Garner of Wylie, Eastland's Phillip Montgomery and Bronte's Justin Phillips.

Sunday produced more wild upsets and three of the upcoming four regionals will include at least one unranked team — Ball State in the West, North Carolina and Texas in the Midwest, UCLA in the East.

The "Sweet Sixteen" field was completed Sunday when No. 6 Syracuse edged Virginia 63-61 and No. 20 Minnesota eliminated Northern Iowa 81-78 in the Southeast; No. 25 Xavier of Ohio stunned No. 8 Georgetown 74-71 and Texas nipped No. 10 Purdue 73-72 in the Midwest; and UCLA outlasted No. 5 Kansas 71-70 while No. 15 Duke held off St. John's 76-72 in the East.

On Saturday, it was No. 2 Nevada-Las Vegas 76, Ohio State 65 and Ball State 62, No. 16 Louisville 60 in the West; No. 4 Michigan State 62, UC-Santa Barbara 58 and No. 9 Georgia Tech 94, No. 19 LSU 91 in the Southeast; North Carolina 79, No. 1 Oklahoma 77 and No. 7 Arkansas 86, Dayton 84 in the Midwest; and No. 3 Connecticut 74, California 54 and No. 17 Clemson 79, No. 12 La Salle 75 in the East.

The regional semifinals will send Loyola against Alabama and UNLV against Ball State in the West, Michigan State-Georgia Tech and Syracuse-Minnesota in the Southeast at New Orleans, Arkansas-North Carolina and Xavier-Texas in the Midwest at Dallas and Connecticut-Clemson and Duke-UCLA in the East at East Rutherford, N.J.

People's Front wins...

Independence activists in Latvia miss 2/3 majority

MOSCOW (AP) — Latvia's People's Front emerged victorious today after the Baltic republic's first free elections in 50 years, but initial results showed it failed to achieve the majority needed to press for independence.

Meanwhile, reformers claimed victories in crucial runoff elections Sunday in Russia, Byelorussia and the Ukraine, the Slavic heartland that accounts for 80 percent of the Soviet Union's territory and two-thirds of its population.

Pro-democracy activists in Leningrad claimed many victories in individual races and estimated they would control at least 65 percent of the city council, said Elena Zelinskaya of the Northwest Information Agency.

Communist Party officials scored some victories, she said, mostly in the "closed" electoral districts such as army bases, where campaigning is not allowed.

Activists had hoped Sunday's elections to parliaments in the Baltic republics of Latvia and Estonia, annexed by the Soviet Union in 1940, would follow the lead of nearby Lithuania and bring independence supporters to power. Estonia has not yet reported any election results.

Lithuania's parliament was taken by independence activists in February and early March elections, and legislators declared the republic independent on March 13.

The Soviet Congress declared the move illegal and President Mikhail S. Gorbachev on Friday gave the republic three days to respond. He later offered to meet with Lithuanian lawmakers and a delegation arrived in Moscow for talks today, just as the deadline was expiring.

Latvia followed Lithuania in legalizing political parties several months ago. No such move was made in Estonia but several parties put forward candidates without interference. The Soviet Parliament legalized multiple political parties for the entire country last Tuesday.

In Latvia, People's Front supporters won 108 mandates to the 201-seat parliament, a large majority among the 170 legislators elected, according to initial results cited by the Soviet news agency Tass. But independence activists needed a two-thirds majority to change Latvia's constitution.

Among the newly elected lawmakers were 97 Communist Party members, 34 of whom were supporters of the People's Front. Party officials lost badly in the countryside but were victorious in Latvia's capital of Riga, Tass reported.

In Estonia, local journalist Michael Taro predicted the People's Front would win about 35 of the 105 seats in the republic's parliament, with 15 or 20 more going to other pro-independence groups.

Throughout the Slavic republics, from Moscow to Yarkuta in northern Russia, reformers ran against Communist Party and government officials. Voters chose among candidates in some 1,610 runoffs, held after no candidate gained 50 percent of the vote in the main round on March 4.

In Moscow city council races, the pro-democracy bloc claimed 10 of 14 contested seats, said Irina Boganeva of the Voters' Club.

Mexican residents to face judge in abduction incident

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Three Matamoros, Mexico, residents who will appear today before a judge for kidnapping some vacationing Americans say the visitors willingly went on a three-hour joyride with them.

Matamoros police arrested the three men after rescuing three Oklahoma college students and a friend about 3:30 a.m. Friday as they were being led into a vacant warehouse.

The four vacationers, who had been visiting bars in Matamoros during a spring break trip to the border region, were heading to an international bridge to return to Brownsville when they accepted a ride, said Marland Crabtree, one of the Americans.

"As soon as we got in, they turned around and started to drive really fast," said Crabtree, 25. "They drove us all over town going at about 100 miles an hour through city streets and running stop signs."

The police charged Jesus Rangel Gonzalez, Oscar Garcia Velazquez and Olga Lidia Castillo, all of Matamoros, with deprivation of freedom. They said the vacationers asked for the ride and asked for marijuana, the Brownsville Herald reported.

Last year, University of Texas student Mark Kilroy was kidnapped in Matamoros while on spring break and was killed at a nearby ranch, allegedly by members of a drug cult. Fourteen other bodies were also found at the ranch. Crabtree, his brother Darren, 19, Jeff Jones, 21, and a 19-year-old woman told police they were held for about three hours, threatened with death and taken to a vacant warehouse. The woman, who was not identified, said she was sexually molested.

Matamoros police said they did not know what university the three students attended. The Oklahomans could not be reached for comment Sunday.

The abductors were ordering the Americans to go into the warehouse when Matamoros police officer Ruben Morales Gonzalez drove by.

"I saw them there, and I thought it was strange for them to be at that side of town at those hours," said Gonzalez. "When I stopped, one of them raced toward the car and told me they were taken against their will. Then I called for reinforcement."

Darren Crabtree said the Americans feared for their lives when the abductors told them to go into the warehouse. "At that point we thought they were going to kill us because last year those people got killed during spring break," said Marland Crabtree. "They were telling us that we better go in because they had a gun."

The Oklahomans told the Brownsville Herald they could not get out of the car's back seat because it had electric-powered windows and child safety door locks.

JTPA program at work

JTPA pays half of the hourly wage to hire on-the-job training personnel during a training period. Training periods may be from 30 days to six months.

JTPA "students" must meet eligibility requirements. Usually, anyone receiving food stamps is automatically approved because they have already met income standards. An applicant's income over the last six months is compared to a federal guideline table to see if he or she is eligible.

Target groups for JTPA include those who have been out of work for a while or working erratically, who have a limited income.

"The biggest goal is to get people off unemployment and off tax dollars," said Wallace. "It helps the economy and the government."

Wallace said the idea to train a group in heavy equipment was presented by Texas A&M University and was to be held in Abilene. When that fell through, Wallace was contacted. He arranged to bring the school to Snyder. The school costs $3,000 per person and lasts eight weeks.

Wallace said he invites local contractors to "watch these guys work and see what kind of potential employees we have out there. With me (JTPA) paying half of their wages, they'll go quick."

Wallace said that anyone interested in applying for JTPA programs should contact the Texas Employment Commission here or in Sweetwater. Wallace visits the TEC locally from 10:30 a.m. until noon each Tuesday. He spends the rest of the day meeting with employers. He covers six counties, including Nolan, Mitchell, Kent, Stonewall and Fisher.

There are also programs available for youth and older workers.

Wallace said that combined, the programs train over 200 people a year. Most of the training programs last three to four months.

Payments backlogged

AUSTIN (AP) — An estimated backlog of $20 million in Medicaid payments to Texas homes for elderly and mentally retarded people has forced some nursing homes to be delinquent in paying property taxes and other bills, the Austin American Statesman reported today.

Some nursing homes have delayed payrolls and borrowed money, the newspaper said, and some medical professionals are withholding services to homes for mentally retarded people unless they are paid in cash.

Commodities distribution set Wednesday

Commodity distribution this month will be Wednesday, March 21, from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center, 2603 Avenue M. All participants are asked to enter through the north door and to bring paper sacks or boxes to transport commodities.

Income eligibility guidelines for all citizens of Scurry County are posted at the Senior Center. Rules for participation in the program are the same for everyone without regard to age, marital status, color, religion, sex, handicap, national origin or political belief.

Items missing

Bill Baldwin of Bill's Auto Salvage called police at 8:22 a.m. Saturday in reference to some air tools and personal checks that were apparently stolen. Police are investigating the matter.

2 PI arrests

Police arrested two people for public intoxication over the weekend, including a 27-year-old male at 9:43 p.m. Saturday in the 3100 Block of Ave. I.

The other PI arrest was for a 26-year-old male at 5:05 a.m. Sunday, at the police department.

Wallet found

At 10:04 p.m. Saturday, Don Chapman brought a man's wallet to the police station which he had found along Farm Road 1269 near Highway 84.

The wallet was traced to a man from Post, and the Garza County Sheriff's Office was notified.

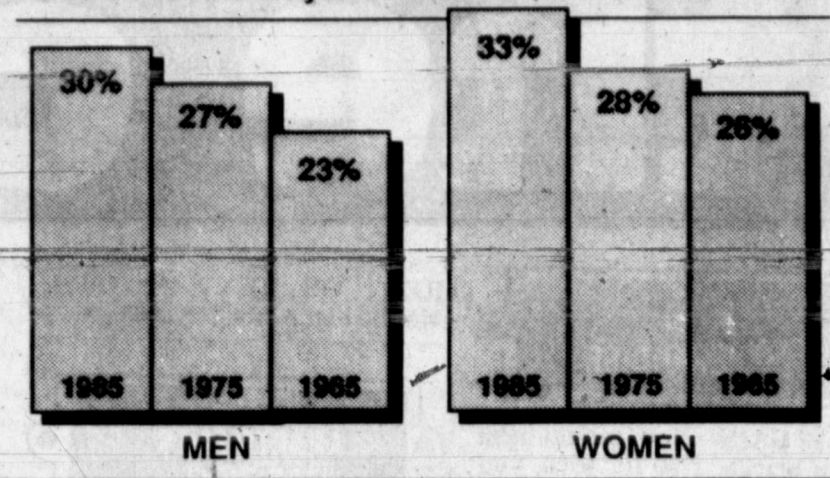

Grass fire

Snyder Fire Department responded to a grass fire at 9:55 p.m. Saturday at 301 Wheat St. in Hermleigh.

The fire was extinguished in a matter of minutes.

Teen not old enough to vote gets genuine GOP $25 check

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rita Schattman isn't old enough to vote, but the national Republican Party thinks she's got enough cash in the bank to automatically hand over $12.50 a month to its "Secret Candidate Support Weapon."

A 16-year-old Democrat from Fort Worth, Miss Schattman was surprised to find a genuine $25 check mailed to her recently from an arm of the National Republican Senatorial Committee.

But it wasn't until she got to the 11th paragraph of a three-page letter touting the GOP's new "Candidate Escrow Funding" concept that Miss Schattman realized that by cashing the check she was agreeing to let the party take $12.50 a month out of her bank account.

After a two-month trial at the GOP's expense, Miss Schattman could either cancel participation or continue letting the party automatically transfer $12.50 a month from her bank account to a fund to help Republican candidates.

Trouble is, the high school junior says she doesn't even have a checking account.

"It's the oddest thing I think I've ever received," she said after school Friday. Republican officials are also at a loss to explain how Miss Schattman, who hopes to get her driver's license this week, wound up on a mailing list for prospective members of the Republican Presidential Task Force.

When she saw the check, Miss Schattman said her first reaction was: "That's pretty stupid for them to send me money, I wouldn't do anything for them." Miss Schattman said she then tried to think of a way of endorsing the check over to a cause like Habitat for Humanity or the Abortion Rights League, but decided she didn't want to risk having her name show up in the "charter issue" of "Who's Who in the Republican Party."

The fund-raising letter, paid for and authorized by the National Republican Senatorial Committee, said recipients who deposit their checks before the expiration date would be included in what promises to become "one of America's most

The state is handing out millions of dollars in a one-time emergency payment to help in the financial crisis, the newspaper said.

"It's killing the nursing homes because they don't have any cash flow," said Sara Speights, spokeswoman for the Texas Health Care Association. "The (payment) system has just fallen apart."

The backlog in Medicaid payments is nearly a third of what the Texas Department of Human Services pays out each month. Annually, the state processes almost $800 million in Medicaid payments to Texas nursing homes and community homes for retarded people, DHS statistics show.

"We have a psychologist who is withholding reports because we can't pay her," said Carol Anderson of Fort Worth, who helps run 41 homes for retarded people and eight nursing homes. "We had a dentist who made us go on c.o.d. We had to hold up a check at the door and show him we were going to pay."

"The state owes us a third of a million dollars right now," said Ms. Anderson, vice president for operations of Special Services Management.

Tough abortion bill signed by Guam's governor

AGANA, Guam (AP) — Gov. Joseph F. Ada today signed into law a bill containing the most restrictive abortion legislation in the United States, and opponents pledged to fight to measure all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

"The question for me really boils down to one simple point," Ada said. "In my heart, I believe a fetus is a human being."

The law prohibits abortions except when a pregnancy endangers the life of the mother. The law makes it a third-degree felony to perform an abortion or aid in the procedure, a misdemeanor for a woman to solicit or have an abortion and a misdemeanor for a person to solicit a woman to have an abortion.

Although the bill is now law, it contains a clause calling for a referendum on abortion during the Nov. 6 general election, allowing voters to decide whether they want to retain the law.

Ada signed the bill before a room packed with dozens of abortion rights supporters and opponents.

reflect $532,143 due from oil companies and $192,507 from real estate.

Commissioners also amended the budget to transfer funds to various departments to pay for the county audit, fuel tanks at the airport and plumbing repair work needed at the health unit. Those funds total $22,090 for the audit, $21,854 for the mandatory fuel tanks and $4,825 for plumbing.

In other business, Sheriff Collier was told to proceed with an application for a government grant which would provide financing for an instructor's salary for the DARE program. Collier said that he would have to hire an additional officer in order to meet the requirements of the grant. The grant would provide 100 percent of the deputy's salary the first year, 80 percent the second and so on. Collier told commissioners that there is no minimum time limit on the grant, and the county could stop at anytime.

"We can look at it after a year or two and see if we all still think it is doing some good and go from there," Collier said.

Currently, Deputy Charlie Reynolds instructs the DARE program at eight elementary campuses, including Ira and Hermleigh, and six in Snyder. Collier said Reynolds will probably continue his role if the grant is approved, and could be assisted by another person in the department. Collier noted that a DARE program — which has received strong vocal support from the schools — is being considered in the junior high also.

All commissioners were present at the meeting

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: You are incompletely informed as to the current evidence concerning the use of zinc supplements in treating macular degeneration, a disease of unknown cause that is a major cause of blindness. Also, you stated that 200 milligrams a day could be toxic.

I'm a practicing ophthalmologist and published a report in 1988 showing that zinc treatment helped to reduce visual loss in patients with macular degeneration. You are inadequately informing the public, the degree of misinformation already printed is great enough to require printing a clarification.

DEAR DOCTOR: Like many research specialists, you don't seem to do a very good job distinguishing between research data and practical consumer information. I said in my

Leather goods confiscated

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Federal agents confiscated $29,400 worth of leather goods made from the hides of a number of endangered species in raids at arts and crafts markets in the capital and two southeastern states, the government news agency Notimex reported Sunday.

The raids were carried out by inspectors from the Department of Urban Development and Ecology at Mexico City's La Merced market, and in markets in the states of Campeche and Tabasco.

Notimex said that in Campeche alone, the inspectors confiscated 193 jaguar hides. Also seized were belts, boots, billfolds and other leather goods made from the hides of such endangered species as iguanas, rattlesnakes, alligators and boa constrictors.

The second Continental Congress made the term "United States" official on Sept. 9, 1776. It replaced "United Colonies."

column that there is no known medical treatment for macular degeneration — and I stand by that statement. However, I am printing the "clarification" you requested and, in doing so, I am quoting from your very own study, which, I might add, closely corroborates my original column on this subject. Fasten your seat belt, doctor.

"It would be definitely premature to recommend the widespread use of oral zinc, since, as has been pointed out, zinc ingestion can be associated with a number of potentially serious side effects and complications, including anemia and worsening of cardiovascular disease."

"One possible adverse effect of oral zinc administration is the development of a copper-deficient anemia."

"It should be emphasized that some eyes in the zinc-treated group shared the worst outcome..."

"Because of the pilot nature of the study and the possible toxic effect and complications of oral zinc administration, widespread use of zinc in macular degeneration is not now warranted."

Doctor, I understand the favorable results of your preliminary (pilot) study, and I hope your findings will be substantiated by other scientists. But on the strength of your report and its conclusions, I could hardly endorse the use of zinc for macular degeneration. However, if and when the treatment gains more general acceptance, I would be happy to update my readers.

As a medical columnist, my job is to give people information about diseases and treatments. This information is not wildly radical, new and revolutionary; it's basically the same information most general doctors possess. Of course, sometimes I stub my toe, as does any practicing physician. But, by and large, I believe my information to be fair, conservative and useful.

Often a technique that shows promise in research is not ready for use by the public. It must be tested, and sometimes we discover that it does not live up to the original hoopla. In cases such as this one — where a treatment can do actual harm — we must be particularly cautious. In my opinion, zinc therapy for macular degeneration is still experimental. If and when there is more evidence that it works, I'll re-address the issue.

Baker bound for Namibia, South Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State James A. Baker III is bound for Africa's newest nation, Namibia, where he aims to mix celebration with negotiations to end apartheid in South Africa and to achieve a cease-fire in Angola.

In six fast-paced days, Baker will visit three countries, including South Africa — the first secretary of state to go there since 1978. He will fly to Cape Town on Thursday to show U.S. appreciation for the preliminary steps taken by President F.W. de Klerk and to try to drive him to go faster.

To underscore U.S. support for the black movement Baker will go on Friday to Soweto, the black township outside Johannesburg, for talks there with Desmond Tutu, the black Anglican archbishop, and other black leaders. Soweto has been the cradle of the anti-apartheid movement.

Baker's 25-hour flight to Namibia requires two refueling stops before his arrival in Windhoek, the capital, where world leaders are gathering for independence ceremonies. The country was freed from South Africa's control with the help of U.S. diplomacy that is now shifting its focus to Pretoria, where a white minority government is being urged to dismantle racial segregation.

Baker will meet in Windhoek with Nelson Mandela, the deputy president of the African National Congress, and then in Cape Town with de Klerk and Foreign Minister R.F. Botha. "The purpose of our seeing these gentlemen is to encourage negotiations, to move as rapidly as possible, and to see what we can do to contribute to that," a senior U.S. official said.

Baker also will hold talks in Windhoek with Jose Eduardo dos Santos, the president of Angola, a potentially rich African nation with which the United States has no diplomatic relations. Baker intends to urge him to negotiate for a share of the government with Jonas Savimbi, the U.S.-backed leader of the UNITA insurgents in a 14-year war.

He will see Savimbi in Kinshasa, Zaire, before flying home on Saturday.

Canadian PM leaves after visit

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney left for Barbados on Sunday after an official visit aimed mainly at boosting trade between the two countries.

"There is a vast unexploited potential between our two countries," the English language newspaper The News quoted Mulroney as saying at a breakfast with businessmen Saturday. "Neither Canada nor Mexico can afford to leave such potential untapped."

Officials from both countries said they expect bilateral trade to at least double over the next 10 years. Mexican exports to Canada totaled $1.7 billion in 1989 and imports from Canada were $600 million.

During the three-day visit, Mulroney and Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari signed 10 agreements that include promotion of trade in mining, agriculture, manufacturing, services and transfer of technology, the battle against drug trafficking, environmental protection and tourism.

Canadian investment in Mexico, estimated at $354 million, is expected to increase, with the focus on small and medium businesses, Mulroney said.

Mexican Ambassador to Canada Alfredo Phillips Olmedo said a Canadian trade mission will visit Mexico in April.

California became the 31st state in 1850.

Petroleum reserves said declining

MINATITLAN, Mexico (AP) — Mexico's proven petroleum reserves dropped by 1.7 percent, the sixth consecutive annual decline in as many years, the head of the state petroleum monopoly said Sunday.

Francisco Rojas, director of the state petroleum monopoly Petroleos Mexicanos S.A., said reserves stood at 66.45 billion barrels on Jan. 1 of this year, down from 67.6 billion on Jan. 1, 1988.

He said Pemex — as the monopoly is also known for short — will try to bridge the gap by investing close to $1 billion in developing Cantarell in Campeche Sound and other oil and gas deposits, and through new exploration within the next couple of years.

Most of Pemex's development projects were suspended in 1982 when international crude oil prices tumbled, plunging Mexico into a severe economic crisis, from which it started pulling out last year.

Rojas' statistics, based on Pemex's annual report, were contained in a speech he delivered at this Gulf of Mexico petrochemical center during a ceremony marking the 52nd anniversary of the country's expropriation of the then foreign-owned petroleum industry.

Astrograph by Bernice Bede Osol

March 20, 1990

There is a possibility you might become involved in a very interesting enterprise in the year ahead. What develops could be brought about by chance, yet it may turn into a profitable second source of income.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The urge to splurge might be a strong inclination with which you'll have to contend today. If it manages to get the upper hand, your credit cards could get a real workout. Major changes are ahead for Pisces in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It might be wise to reevaluate today any big deals in which you're presently involved. Be sure they actually have the potential you believe them to have.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The road to Hades is paved with good intentions, and there's a chance you might add some fresh brick and mortar to it today. Don't make promises you cannot deliver.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone you like might ask you to help sort out some complications today. Do what you can to help, but think twice before making an unsecured loan or co-signing legal documents.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Taking things for granted today where your career is concerned could contribute to your downfall. Double check all of your positions, especially those that appear to be obvious shoo-ins.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Optimism is a constructive asset today, but wishful thinking could be self-defeating. You might think you're the former, but in actuality, you may be the latter.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't grab the managerial reins from the hands of another today unless you're absolutely certain you can do a better job. If you foul up, it could be very embarrassing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't be intimidated today by people who flaunt the trappings of power. This could be just a big facade which needlessly puts you in a subservient position.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Uncharacteristically, your motto for today might be, "Don't do now what you can put off until later." Unfortunately, the later to which you refer might be closer than you think.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Where gambles are concerned today you may be relegated to the role of sweetening the pot for others. Even if you're holding aces, don't up the ante.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't pawn off on others today matters that you hope to conclude. Those to whom you delegate the task may attempt to pass the buck themselves and nothing will be accomplished.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Owning up to your own shortcomings could be exceptionally difficult for you today. You'd much rather help remind others than make any corrections in your own make-up.
