Cogdell Hospital...

Board hears positive audit; okays equipment requests

Cogdell Memorial Hospital board of managers accepted the 1989 financial audit, approved the amended 1990 budget and okayed almost $94,000 in capital equipment requests during Thursday's monthly board meeting.

In executive session afterwards, the board gave permission to the CEO and chairman of the board to offer a financial incentive contract "deemed prudent and competitive for this geographical area" to a family practitioner from East Texas who has shown interest in relocating to Snyder. Details of the incentives were not disclosed.

Jerry Vestal, CPA, presented his 1989 financial audit to the board, noting that Cogdell ended the year with a net loss of $98,872, as compared to a loss of $236,000 in 1988 and $1,134,000 in 1987.

He pointed out that total gross revenues increased by 18 percent to $7,759,000 while operating revenues increased nine percent, or $413,000. In contrast, operating expenses increased by only 5.9 percent, or $311,000, in 1989.

"As shown by the hospital's balance sheet and statement of cash flows, its financial position at the beginning of 1990 is stronger than a year ago," Vestal read from a statement he had prepared. "The hospital's cash position has stabilized, showing a positive cash flow of $43,000. Had the hospital not been refunded $200,000 by the clinic in 1988, the hospital's cash position would have increased $350,000 since December 1988."

Vestal pointed out that a significant improvement was made in the area of accounts receivable collections.

Receivables as a percent of patient revenues declined favorably from 37 percent to 26 percent. "This is an excellent indication that less patient revenues are being exposed to uncollectible status," Vestal noted.

In conclusion, Vestal stated "The stabilized financial position as 1990 begins comes at the close of two years of St. Mary's professional management assistance. With physician recruitment investments now paying off and the TDC contract in full swing, Cogdell Hospital's financial statements show it positively (see COGDELL, page 8)

Valdez skipper convicted only for misdemeanor

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Flushed with a feeling of victory after three acquittals and a conviction on a minor misdemeanor, Exxon Valdez skipper Joseph Hazelwood says he longs to return to the sea as a ship captain.

His lawyer, Michael Chalos, said he will start negotiating with Exxon to regain the skipper's job with the shipping company that hired him out of college and fired him after his tanker grounded a year ago, causing the nation's worst oil spill.

"I'd like to go back to the sea. That's what I do," Hazelwood said Thursday after jurors absolved him of accusations he was reckless and drunk during the disaster that blackened the rocky shoreline of Prince William Sound.

The misdemeanor charge of negligent discharge of oil on which Hazelwood was convicted carries a maximum sentence of 90 days in jail and a $1,000 fine, far less than the 7 1/2 years and $61,000 fine he could have faced if found guilty on all four charges. Superior Court Judge Karl Johnstone set sentencing for today.

A grand jury indicted him last year on a felony, criminal mischief, and two other misdemeanors, reckless endangerment and operating a vessel while intoxicated. Jurors took only 10 1/2 hours in deliberations to reject those counts.

House kills $511 million reform bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — House members' rejection of a school finance reform bill will make it "very difficult" for the Legislature to resolve the issue before the special session ends, Speaker Gib Lewis said.

The House late Thursday voted 45-101 against a bill by Rep. Ernestine Glossbrenner, D-Alice, that would have pumped $511 million more into public schools in 1990-91.

The vote ended nine hours of debate in which more than 50 amendments were offered and the bill's cost was raised $61 million.

"Maybe I was the only one that was optimistic enough in the very beginning to think we could do it in 30 days," said Lewis, D-Fort Worth, who stopped short of declaring the issue dead for the session.

Thirty days is the maximum a special session can last, and Gov. Bill Clements can call an unlimited number of consecutive special sessions.

Lewis said he planned to meet with Clements, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House leaders before the House met again at 10 a.m. Friday. Clements has vowed to veto any education bill that spends more than about $300 million next school year, the amount he said could be spent without raising state taxes.

Q—How long did it take to complete construction on the O.H. Ivie Reservoir?

A—According to the Colorado River Municipal Water District, the site was completed after nearly three years of construction. It took 12 years, however, from the time of permit application until completion.

In Brief

Drug meeting

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Task Force on State and Local Drug Control will meet in the Dallas area on April 6 to hear what law officers from around the state think should be done to combat drug abuse, the chairman of the task force says.

Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Mesquite, said Thursday, "We want to find out exactly what they need."

Lyon, a former police officer, also told the citizen-legislator task force that plans were being made for members to take part in a drug raid. "I'm not going to tell you when — every drug dealer in Texas would be interested," he said.

2 bills passed

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Maryland Senate today approved an unusual plan, passing both an anti-abortion bill and an abortion rights bill and giving the state's voters a chance to decide which should become law.

Acceptance of the two-bill plan shortly after midnight broke an eight-day filibuster in the Senate, where abortion rights forces had the 24 votes needed to pass a liberal abortion law but were one vote shy of the 32 required to end debate.

To re-locate

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The Western Company of North America, founded by the outspoken Eddie Chiles, will move its corporate headquarters from Fort Worth to Houston, company officials say.

A company spokesman said Thursday that 100 employees at Western's headquarters will be offered jobs in Houston. Western has substantial operations in Houston.

The oilfield services firm Chiles popularized with the advertising slogan "If you don't have an oil well, get one," will keep some employees in Tarrant County.

BIG LOAD — Snyder Iron and Metal received this electromagnet crane recently, enabling employees to load scrap steel and iron in as little as three hours per truck load, or about 30,000 pounds. According to crane operator Chris Maxfield, the electromagnet is capable of lifting 6,000 pounds of prepared iron at a time. (Howard Bigham Photo)

College banquet Tuesday

The annual Western Texas College All-Sports banquet is scheduled for Tuesday, March 27, at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church activity center.

Adult tickets for the event, which honors athletic achievement on the college's rodeo, golf and basketball teams, cost $6 and are on sale at the Student Activity Center at WTC or the athletic office.

Children's tickets to the dinner are $3.

The meal will be catered by Reta's Cake Shop and Texas Barbecue.

The banquet is sponsored by the WTC Booster Club.

Census forms ready to be mailed today

It's time for Scurry County citizens to stand up and be counted. Today, the Census Bureau is mailing out questionnaires to 106 million households nationwide, including Scurry County. Five of six homes will receive a short-form questionnaire containing 19 questions. One in six will get a longer, 59-question form. By law, they must be returned by April 1.

According to the Abilene district, residents in Taylor, Wichita and parts of Scurry, Howard, Wilbarger and Palo Pinto counties will be asked to return their completed questionnaires by mail before April 1. In other parts of Scurry, Howard, Wilbarger and Palo Pinto counties, questionnaires are to be completed and held for collection. Enumerators will pick up the questionnaires and record addresses. This will begin Monday, March 26.

The Census is more than a head count. It determines congress-sional representation, how billions of dollars in federal aid will be distributed, and provides demographic information on which a myriad of decisions are based.

The Census Bureau expected about 79 percent of the questionnaires to be returned. In anticipation of this, beginning April 10, several hundred thousand Census takers will personally call on every household that failed to return a questionnaire.

By October, Census field work is expected to be completed and on Dec. 31, the president will be presented with the data by which congressional seats will be assigned. Then, no later than April 1, 1991, all states will receive the detailed figures they need to create new congressional and state legislative districts.

Due to a shift in population to the Sunbelt states, Texas, California and Florida are expected to gain the most House seats after redistricting. Texas is projected to gain four additional House seats based on the 1990 Census count.

Keeping tabs on our neighbors: Developments in Eastern Europe during the past several months has surprised and delighted western observers. One editor ran across an opinion written several years ago by Lenin. The quotation was contained in a new book, "The Delights of Reading."

Lenin said, "Why should freedom of speech and freedom of press be allowed? Why should a government which is doing what it believes to be right allow itself to be criticized? It would not allow opposition by lethal weapons. Ideas are much more fatal things than guns."

"Why should any man be allowed to buy a printing press and disseminate pernicious opinions calculated to embarrass the government?"

Democracy may have its flaws and warts, but it's still the best system yet.

Gene Dow, in the Seminole Sentinel, told about a fellow who hit town selling a "Fountain of Youth" pill that promised to reverse the aging process.

The man was arrested and charged with fraud. When brought before the judge, his honor was outraged at such a scam and asked the defendant if he had any record of prior arrests.

"Yes indeed," replied the defendant. "I was arrested for the same offense in 1981, 1965, 1908, 1873 and 1847."

Wendell Faught, writing in the Haskell Free-Press, said if you didn't make the news in the '80s, he has the following suggestion guaranteed to put you in headlines in the 1990s.

"Win a $10 million sweepstakes or do a little illegal trading. You might get on Geraldo's show or fly a plane into Red Square. Another possibility is to get too friendly with a TV evangelist or write a book with 'satanic' in the title."

Creditors may oppose plan to sell to Japanese company

DALLAS (AP) — Southland Corp.'s plan to sell control to a Japanese company could face strong opposition from creditors who must approve a restructuring of $1.8 billion in junk bonds and other debt, analysts say.

But the proposal by the owner of the 7-Eleven convenience store chain gets different views from opposite sides of the Pacific: Japanese analysts say the deal should go smoothly while some in the United States say it's shaky.

"The exchange offer ... will ensure a rapid descent toward bankruptcy," said Chriss Street, a managing director with Seidler Amdec Securities Inc. in Los Angeles.

Southland said Thursday it agreed to sell 75 percent of its common stock for $400 million to Ito-Yokado Co. Ltd., Japan's second-largest supermarket operator, and longtime Southland affiliate 7-Eleven Japan, which Ito-Yokado controls.

7-Eleven is the world's largest convenience store chain, offering items ranging from milk and frozen foods to newspapers, hot coffee, video rentals and "Slurpee" slushed ice drinks. It began in 1927 as a Dallas ice house.

Southland, which sought the Japanese buyer, said the deal hinges on the company's ability to get 32 bank creditors to restructure terms of its outstanding preferred stock and $1.8 billion in debt.

Much of the debt is in high-interest junk bonds used to finance the $4.9 billion leveraged buyout by its founding Thompson family in 1987. Under a restructuring, the debt would be exchanged for new bonds and stock with a much lower face value.

"The Japanese acquisition asked the bondholders to put themselves at tremendous risk if Southland files for bankruptcy reorganization," Street said. "It is a 'trust me' situation. Bond holders and Southland are suffering from their original acquisition."

A recent court ruling limiting bondholders' claims in a bankruptcy proceeding to the bonds' fair market value at the time of the exchange offer will hurt the deal's acceptance by creditors, he said.

Mark Yim, an analyst with Baring Securities Inc. in Tokyo, said the deal makes good sense for Ito-Yokado, which is flush with cash after a successful introduction of point-of-sale systems for tracking inventory at check-out counters.

"Their profitability is among the highest in Japan," Yim said. "That is all the more remarkable because what they sell — food — traditionally has a lower (profit) margin. Their cash position is very, very strong."

Southland, to raise money for paying debt, sold its 58 Hawaiian stores to 7-Eleven Japan Co. Ltd. for $75 million cash last November.

Train conflict denied by former governor

AUSTIN (AP) — Four appointees to the Texas High-Speed Rail Authority were endorsed by a Senate committee and said the multi-billion dollar project may have to rely on private financing.

Former Gov. John Connally, one of the appointees, said Thursday that the groundwork for the project needs to be laid quickly, because Texas may have to compete for dwindling federal funds with other states, most notably Florida.

Sen. John Whitmire, D-Houston, agreed saying he didn't want another state "to beat us to the draw."

Because President Bush plans to decrease the role of the federal government in transportation funding, rail authority appointees said the project may depend on innovative private financing.

Connally also told lawmakers his past business ties with the representative of a group bidding for the franchise wouldn't affect his decisions.

Connally in the past was in partnership with former Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who now is an agent for an Idaho-French group that is seeking the estimated $2.2 billion franchise for a high-speed train between Houston and Dallas.

"The one that makes the best proposal ... is probably going to get my vote," Connally said when asked if there was a conflict of interest.

The rail authority has been charged with determining the feasibility of linking Texas' major cities with "bullet" train service.

The Senate Nominations panel, on a 5-0 vote, endorsed Gov. Bill Clements' four appointments. The recommendation goes to the full Senate for consideration.

The nine-member Rail Authority also includes representatives of five state and local transportation agencies.

John Connally calls Caro's book 'unfair'

AUSTIN (AP) — Former Texas Gov. John Connally said author Robert Caro's portrayal of former President Lyndon Johnson focuses only on his dark side.

"Most of the things that Bob Caro says in his book you can't refute specifically because Johnson had some undesirable traits and mannerisms and behaviors," Connally, who was one of Johnson's closest friends, said Thursday.

"But he also had some good ones. Up until now, Caro has not given him credit for any of the good ones," he said.

Caro's second volume on Johnson, "Means of Ascent," portrays the 36th president as a man who consistently lied in his ruthless pursuit of political power.

Much of the book focuses on the 1948 Senate election between Johnson and former Gov. Coke Stevenson, an election that Caro says Johnson stole with bogus votes in South Texas.

Connally worked for Johnson in that election. "Historically and traditionally, as you well know, the votes in South Texas in those years were controlled votes," he said in an interview Thursday.

Both he and Johnson told their supporters to get as many people to the polls as possible, Connally said.

"Certainly none of us told anybody to falsify votes or stuff a ballot box," he said.

Connally also said Caro, a Pulitzer Prize-winning biographer, "almost did everything but beatify Stevenson."

"Caro's treatment of him went overboard and I think he did it in order to make Johnson look all the worse," he said.

Connally said Caro's massive study of Johnson will be one of the "definitive pieces ever written on Johnson, but there are going to be others that will paint a different picture."

Connally is writing an autobiography and said, "It's not going to be a whitewash of Johnson, I'm going to make every effort to treat him factually and fairly."

Ancient skeleton is found

AUSTIN (AP) — A dentist's discovery in Austin's Shoal Creek turned out to be a 90 million-year-old skeleton of an aquatic reptile that should give scientists a better idea of the diversity of animal life that existed then, experts say.

Excavation of the plesiosaur fossil — found in January by a local dentist — began this week and is expected to continue for at least another week.

"We've had bits and pieces found before, but we don't know of any skeleton like the one here," said John Buckley, paleontology instructor at Austin Community College and a member of the Texas Memorial Museum's Vertebrate Paleontology Laboratory at the University of Texas.

"We still don't know how much we have. We don't know how far under the (creek) bank it goes," Buckley said.

He said plesiosaurs lived during a 100 million-year span that included the late Jurassic period about 190 million years ago to the beginning of the Cretaceous period that ended about 65 million years ago.

Gorden Bell, a paleontology graduate student at UT, said plesiosaurs were giant swimming reptiles that frequented the warm, shallow sea that once covered central Texas. The reptiles were mostly carnivorous and fed primarily on fish.

Bell is one of about 10 students working on the excavation. Based on the fossil remains that have been uncovered so far, this specimen appears to have weighed about a ton and was from 14 feet to 18 feet long, he said.

The painstaking excavation — done with small chisels, brushes and dental picks — so far has unearthed what are believed to be femurs from three of the creature's four flippers, two humerus bones, three ribs, the pelvic girdle and part of the jaw.

The fossil was discovered by Dr. Bob McDonald, an amateur paleontologist and full-time dentist, who was hunting for fossils along the creek in January with his 5-year-old son.

"I'd found fossils like this along the Sulphur River (northeast of Dallas) so I knew this was something," McDonald said.

"The large bone was in plain sight but submerged in water. I suppose that's why it may have been overlooked."

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine — I'll call her Sara — asked if she could stay with me temporarily until she found employment and an apartment. (She's relocating.)

She had no trouble getting a job because she's well-qualified in her field, but she hasn't found an apartment yet. She says she's looking, but I doubt if she's looking very hard.

Sara is not the ideal houseguest. She's on the telephone constantly, comes and goes at crazy hours, and has friends calling her all through the night. I just discovered that she had checks printed with my address!

I think she's abused the free room-and-board privileges long enough, which is where I need your help. Please tell me how to get her out of here.

ENOUGH IS ENOUGH

DEAR ENOUGH: Tell Sara that you both need your space, and she appears to need more space than you can give her, so you would like her to be out of your apartment in "two weeks," or "three," or "30 days." (Give her a deadline.) Anyone who would have checks printed using the address of a friend without that friend's consent has nerve she hasn't used yet.

DEAR ABBY: When I read the letter from "Fed Up," I had to write. My situation was almost identical. From the day "Don" and I were married, we had one of his friends staying with us — and it continued for eight years!

I was the medical miracle who was walking around with no brain and no guts. I should have spoken out sooner. I finally filed for divorce when my husband refused to ask his buddy to leave, and the buddy refused to leave. It became apparent that my husband preferred his friend's company to mine.

You're right, Abby, assertiveness training can give a person courage she never knew she had. I feel like a new person since I learned to speak my mind without being defensive.

Keep up the good work. People need to be told that they don't have to live in abusive situations — that help is out there if they have the guts to leave, and go for it.

IN CONTROL IN FAYETTEVILLE, N.C.

DEAR IN CONTROL: Congratulations for taking control of your life. And to those of you who don't know where to find a course in "assertiveness training," inquire at your local college or university, or your local mental health association.

DEAR ABBY: Very briefly, my question is this: If both the donor and the recipient of a gift are in the same room when the gift is opened, and if the recipient expresses sincere gratitude for the gift — and even gives the donor an appreciative hug — is it still necessary for the recipient to send a written thank-you note?

ME IN TORRANCE, CALIF.

DEAR ME: Very briefly: Yes.

DEAR ABBY: Fiddledeedee, none of those explanations of "Mind your P's and Q's" is the proper one.

The expression harks back to the days when type was set by hand, letter by letter. Of course, the letter on each piece of type looked "backward" in order to print "forward"; hence it was very easy to mix up lowercase "p's" and "q's" — hence apprentice typesetters were constantly admonished by their masters to "Mind their P's and Q's."

Commerce Department issues ban on capture of bottlenose dolphins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has ordered a ban on the capture of bottlenose dolphins in the Gulf of Mexico as scientists attempt to learn what caused more than 190 stranding deaths since the first of the year.

According to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, dozens of dolphins have been stranded and died since Jan. 1 in five Gulf states — 118 in Texas, more than 45 on the barrier islands of Louisiana and Mississippi, 21 in the Alabama-Florida panhandle, and 10 in Florida's Tampa Bay.

The dolphins have been stranded at four to five times the usual rate for the time of year and the die-off continues, a NOAA spokesman said.

NOAA announced a halt in dolphin collections late Wednesday and said the ban would remain in effect through at least June 15.

William W. Fox Jr., NOAA's assistant administrator for fisheries, said the National Marine Fisheries Service "will not hesitate to obtain agreement for an extension of the non-capture period or to protect further the dolphins as the situation demands."

Although cold weather is believed responsible for the deaths of 26 dolphins in Texas' Matagorda Bay, the NOAA spokesman said "this thing could involve a number of reasons."

Until the past week or so, adult dolphins have been the victims, but scientists are now watching to assess how the newborn dolphins will be affected.

During the calving season, which began during the second week of March and goes into April, some pups and females die.

"We're going to try to keep as close track on it as possible. A number of tissue samples are in laboratories for analysis and we don't know how long it will take to analyze them or whether we'll be able to draw any sort of conclusions," the spokesman said.

Under the Marine Mammal Protection Act, the bottlenose dolphins are considered a protected — but not endangered or threatened — species.

According to NOAA, 11 organizations hold permits to collect live dolphins, but only three do the actual collecting. The dolphins can be taken for educational purposes such as aquariums or marine-type theaters.

A chance wasted

By James Jacoby

Bridge critics are by and large an unmerciful lot, quick to condemn errors by others but full of excuses for their own misdeeds. Take West, for example, who had a problem after he had cashed the K-A of hearts against four spades. Of course East, who had played a low heart at trick one, might now play the nine as a suit-preference signal for a diamond lead. In the absence of such direction, West had to guess. If East held Q-10 of clubs and only the diamond king, a club shift was necessary. But as we can see, a club play here would go around to declarer's queen, and now the club trick would be lost. A diamond shift would be best, but that might lose when declarer held J-x of diamonds and nothing in clubs. Ah, the travails of defense!

Eventually West weaseled out by playing a trump. Declarer won in his hand and played the queen of clubs. West covered and dummy won the ace. Declarer came back to his hand with another trump and played a club to the nine. East took the 10, got out with a club and eventually took the setting trick with the king of diamonds.

Declarer missed his opportunity when West failed to shift to diamonds at trick three. The queen of clubs play was fine, but after the cover South should come back to his hand with a trump and lead the 10 of diamonds. If West is not able to cover with the jack, declarer can play low from dummy and East will be stuck on lead. Whatever the return, into the A-Q of diamonds or the J-9 of clubs, declarer will have 10 tricks.

Rebozo interviewed

KEY BISCAZYNE, Fla. (AP) — Richard Nixon's longtime friend Charles "Bebe" Rebozo said the president laughed when he first heard of the break-in at the Watergate headquarters of the Democratic Party.

Rebozo, who owns the Key Biscayne Bank, gave a rare interview to The Miami Herald to help promote a benefit he and Nixon are holding for the Boys Club.

He said Nixon was visiting him at his Key Biscayne home in June 1972 when they first heard news of the incident that, two years later, led the president to resign in disgrace.

"We were swimming at Key Biscayne in front of my house," Rebozo said in the interview published Thursday. "They came out and told him. He said, 'What in God's name were they doing there?'"

Then, said Rebozo, "We laughed and forgot about it."

The banker said the subsequent scandal, in which he was also investigated, was a "terrible experience," but seeing Nixon deal with the crisis helped him.

"The truth of the matter is, I don't think I could have taken it had I not seen what he was taking, and how he was surviving," Rebozo said.

Discovery's crew excited to launch space telescope

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The commander of the upcoming Discovery shuttle mission says the Hubble Space Telescope his crew will put into orbit should help scientists unlock mysteries about the heavens.

The powerful $1.5 billion astronomical observatory, the most expensive unmanned spacecraft ever built, will be put in orbit 370 miles above the Earth where it can provide scientists a clearer view of space because it will be unhindered by atmospheric distortion.

If all goes according to plan, Hubble will be deployed a day after Discovery and its five crew members blast into space from Cape Canaveral, Fla. Liftoff is scheduled for April 12.

"We're getting very excited,"

Discovery commander Loren J. Shriver said Thursday at the crew's final news conference and individual interviews held before the mission. "We've been training for a long time. This is a major milestone... We're glad to be finally this close to launch."

The 25,000-pound, 43-foot-long telescope originally was scheduled for launch in late 1983 but technical problems postponed liftoff until 1986. The Challenger accident on Jan. 28, 1986, delayed the mission until 1989, and concern over the shuttle's solid rocket boosters pushed it back yet again.

It has been a long wait for the scientists waiting to use the telescope.

"They're beaming with pride at the prospect of finally getting the space telescope that they've worked with for so long... to finally see it getting so close and producing results in the near future," said Shriver, an Air Force colonel commanding his first shuttle flight.

Hubble will allow astronomers to study stars and galaxies so distant that their light has been traveling toward Earth for 14 billion years — meaning that scientists will see what the objects looked like near the creation of the universe, an estimated 15 billion years ago.

On American beef...

U.S.-South Korea sign pact to phase out tariffs, quotas

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korea has agreed to phase out all quotas and tariffs on American beef entering the country, according to Sen. Phil Gramm, who says Texas producers could find a lucrative new market for their cattle.

Gramm, R-Texas, said the agreement sets up a three-year "transition period" in which current American sales to South Korea, which are running at 63,900 tons, would grow to 68,300 tons this year and to 72,800 tons next year.

Gramm said full terms of the agreement, signed Thursday by U.S. Trade Representative Carla Hills and South Korean officials, "sets out procedures to eliminate all quotas and tariffs on American beef going into Korea."

"This is another major step toward opening the world market to the joys of eating American beef," Gramm said.

Gramm said he believed the agreement would vastly increase demand in Korea for beef, which has been kept artificially high due to quotas and tariffs. The agreement was not immediately announced by the Trade Representative's office.

Gramm said the agreement opens up a potentially huge market for Texas beef producers, who supply 20 percent of the U.S. market, more than any other state. Texas Department of Agriculture spokesman Andy Welch said Texas ranks first nationally among the states in the number of beef cattle and in beef production.

"There are thousands of beef producers in the state who are eager to find new markets abroad and are willing and able to customize their production to meet any legitimate cash market," Welch said.

As of Jan. 1, there were 13.4 million head of beef cattle in Texas, and of that, 5.3 million were in feed lots being fattened for slaughter.

Texas beef is largely shipped to the Midwest for slaughter and packaging, and then is exported or sold domestically. Welch estimated that 20 percent of beef sold to Korea would originate in Texas.

'Cats humble SHS in non-district tilt

The Snyder Tigers lost their last non-district game of the season to San Angelo Central's Bobcats, 16-4, Thursday at Moffett Field.

Tiger starter Willie Garcia, who played with a slight fever, was saddled with the loss.

Snyder coach Albert Lewis was philosophical about the result.

"It was a game where we got to play every one of the players and all our sophomores got base hits."

Indeed the sophomore class kept the Tigers from being shut out as a rally sparked by the lower-classmen gave Snyder its four runs.

Central scored a run in the first inning and five each in the second and third to put the game away for the Bobcats.

The San Angelo School added four more in the fourth stanza and one in the seventh to complete the rout.

Snyder had the bases loaded twice during the early innings but couldn't get the crucial hit to drive in the runs.

The SHS rally came in the last half of the sixth when Randy Morris got a lead-off single followed by a base hit from Chad Fox.

David Patrick rapped a single that loaded the bases for Jamey Morton's two-RBI hit.

Bobby Clinkinbeard added a base hit and run batted in to end the scoring for the Tigers.

The Bobcats' Janus Carter claimed the win in relief.

Fox, who came in to play first base in the late innings of Thursday's game, was two-for-two at the plate. He was the only Tiger batsman to get two hits against Central.

Tigers to face Pecos Eagles

The Snyder baseball Tigers begin District 4-4A competition tonight at 7 p.m. against one of last season's loop tri-champions, the Pecos Eagles.

Pecos will start Cruz Abila on the mound against the Tigers.

Abila is 0-3 in the young baseball season.

Top hitters on the Eagle squad are Ricky Flores who is rapping out base hits at a .333 clip and Louis Cerna who has the same batting average but every hit of his this season has gone for extra bases.

Catcher Tommy Valdez is hitting .304 in 1990.

Snyder, coming off an embarrassing 16-4 loss to San Angelo Central Thursday, will counter with senior Jamey Morton on the hill.

Morton's last performance was the championship game in the Snyder tournament versus Brownfield when the hurler tossed 18 strikeouts and allowed just two hits in the 6-1 SHS win.

As a team the Tigers are hitting .336 with five hitters over .400, led by Willie Garcia's .478, and two more Tigers over the .300 mark.

Snyder carries an 8-3 season mark into district action while Pecos enters circuit play at 5-4.

The Eagles defeated Lamesa 9-0 in last week's Snyder tourney to win the consolation title.

NBA roundup...

Rockets end Detroit streak

by The Associated Press
The Detroit Pistons aren't perfect. Every two weeks or so, they lose a game.

The defending NBA champions had their 12-game winning streak stopped Thursday night, 115-110 by the struggling Houston Rockets.

The Pistons lost just once in February and this was their first defeat in March. The Pistons had won 25 of 26 since Jan. 21 before falling at Houston, and are 33-5 in 1990.

"We'll just have to start another streak. We've already had two this year," Detroit coach Chuck Daly said.

In other games, San Antonio stopped Portland 107-106, Dallas beat Orlando 116-106 and Seattle downed Denver 125-118.

With a month left in the regular season, the Pistons have the league's best record at 51-16 and are the only Eastern Conference team to have clinched a playoff spot.

Houston is fighting for a playoff slot in the Western Conference. Eight teams make it and the Rockets rank ninth at 32-35, behind Seattle's 34-32.

"The game tonight had playoff intensity," Houston coach Don Chaney said.

Houston led 84-81 after three quarters and opened the final period with a 17-4 spurt. Down by 16 points, the Pistons rallied to 108-104 with 1:34 left, but got no closer.

The Rockets' point total was the most against Detroit since Golden State scored 119 on Jan. 19.

Akeem Olajuwon led the Rockets with 26 points and 10 rebounds. Buck Johnson had 20

Both SWC teams advance to regional final

by The Associated Press
Texas and Arkansas will play for the third time this season, while Duke and Connecticut will meet for the third time ever in Saturday's NCAA regional finals.

After Arkansas routed North Carolina 96-73 on Thursday night, Texas rallied from a 16-point deficit to beat Xavier 102-89 and set up an all-Southwest Conference battle for the Midwest Regional championship at Dallas.

Although Arkansas beat Texas twice this season, Longhorns coach Tom Penders is happy to play the Razorbacks again.

"It will be a great matchup," he said. "It's good for the conference."

In the East final at East Rutherford, N.J., Duke and Connecticut will renew an interconference rivalry that produced a 4-4 split during the season-opening ACC-Big East Challenge.

UConn edged Clemson 71-70 on Tate George's jumper at the buzzer, and Duke beat UCLA 90-81 to reach the regional final for the fourth time in five years.

In tonight's regional semifinals, it will be Michigan State vs. Georgia Tech and Syracuse vs. Minnesota in the Southeast at New Orleans. UNLV plays Ball State and Loyola Marymount meets Alabama in the West at Oakland, Calif.

George ruined another colossal Clemson comeback and put Connecticut into the final eight for the first time in 26 years.

After missing a jumper with three seconds left, George got another chance to win the game when Clemson's Sean Tyson missed a free throw with 1.6 seconds remaining and the Huskies got the rebound.

Following a UConn timeout, the senior guard took a length-of-the-court pass and hit a 12-foot jumper at the buzzer.

"When I missed that first shot, I was coming to the realization that my career might be over," George said. "But they said in the huddle, 'It's not over, it's not over.'"

George got a perfect pass from Scott Burrell, a major-league pitching prospect. George caught the ball on the right side of the basket, turned around and swished the winning shot over Tyson as the buzzer sounded.

"The game isn't 39 minutes and 59 seconds," Connecticut coach Jim Calhoun said. "We had just enough time to win it."

Chris Smith led UConn with 23 points. Elden Campbell and Dale Davis, Clemson's 6-foot-11 "Duo of Doom," each scored 15.

No. 15 Duke 90, UCLA 81

Phil Henderson scored 28 points, including six 3-pointers, and sparked a decisive second-half run as Duke continued its mastery at the Meadowlands.

UCLA, which trailed by as many as 11 points in the first half, rallied to lead 66-65 on a 3-pointer by Tracy Murray with 7:53 left.

With Duke trailing 68-67, Henderson hit his final 3-pointer to start a 15-5 run that put the Blue Devils ahead to stay.

Henderson said the game changed when Duke's big men, Christian Laettner and Alaa Abdelnaby, each went to the bench with four fouls in the second half.

Laettner had 24 points and 14 rebounds and Abdelnaby had 14 points.

Don MacLean led UCLA with 21 points.

Texas 102, No. 25 Xavier, Ohio 89

Lance Blanks fired blanks in the first half, then found the mark in helping Texas shoot down Xavier.

final eight because their "BMW" guard trio — Blanks, Travis Mays and Joey Wright — operated on all cylinders. Mays scored 32 points and Wright 26.

Led by their 6-foot-10 duo of Derek Strong and Tyrone Hill, the Musketeers increased a 53-41 halftime lead to 16 points by scoring the first two baskets of the second half. Texas rallied and went ahead 75-74 on Blanks' steal and dunk with 9:10 remaining.

Blanks then led Texas on a 15-2 run that broke the game open. Strong scored 27 points and Hill had 22.

No. 7 Arkansas 96, North Carolina 73

Lee Mayberry's 3-point shooting and the inside play of Oliver Miller helped Arkansas pull away from North Carolina.

The Tar Heels outscored the Razorbacks 11-1 early in the second half to take a 45-42 lead. A Mayberry 3-pointer broke a 54-all tie and gave Arkansas the lead for good.

After a free throw by North Carolina's George Lynch, Arkansas got two more 3-pointers from Mayberry and one from Todd Day in just over a minute for a 66-55 lead with 8:17 left.

Lenzie Howell led Arkansas with 25 points. Miller, who scored 13 points in the final 6½ minutes, finished with 19.

Scott Williams led North Carolina with 20 points.

With Greyhound negotiator...

Federal mediators call meeting today

DALLAS (AP) — Federal mediators called a Greyhound Lines negotiator to Washington today against a backdrop of continued violence in the three-week-old nationwide drivers' strike.

The union, which has asked its members to refrain from violence, said it has not yet been recalled to a separate meeting with mediators, who have talked with both sides once before in the strike that began March 2.

"The purpose of the meeting is to continue discussions that might lead to a joint (bargaining) session," said Jim Powers, spokesman for the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. "We also plan to reach out to the union."

No new contract talks have been scheduled since Sunday, when bargaining broke down in Arizona. Nick Nichols, spokesman for the Amalgamated Council of Greyhound Local Unions in Washington, said the company had left the table.

"We are absolutely ready to meet at any time," said Jeffrey Nelson, another union spokesman.

Powers said that the new violence has helped prompt mediators to try to reopen negotiations or to arrange "shuttle diplomacy" between the sides.

"We can't tell when that (negotiations) would occur; it might just be a separate series of meetings," he said. "They are just as important. As a mediator, one finds that more mediation is done separately than in joint sessions."

Greyhound's chief negotiator, Anthony P. Lanney, was in Washington as authorities investigated five violent acts against buses, including two in Texas, in the past two days. Federal and state authorities were investigating the shootings. The company said another bus was fired upon 15 miles east of Lake Charles, La. Thursday evening. The bullet penetrated a rear air filter. No passengers were aboard, though.

Earlier Thursday, gunfire hit the windshield of a bus carrying 19 passengers from St. Louis to Memphis, Tenn., on Interstate 55, just south of St. Louis.

Also near St. Louis Thursday, four shots struck a bus carrying eight passengers from Chicago, said Greyhound spokesman George Gravelly in Dallas.

A bullet was fired at a bus carrying 30 people in San Antonio on Wednesday. The bullet struck but did not penetrate a service door.

A Greyhound bus en route to Los Angeles was pelted by rocks on Interstate 15, west of the Las Vegas Strip on Wednesday, said police. An elderly passenger was slightly hurt by flying glass.

Agents of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco & Firearms have "been investigating a number of these bus shootings," said ATE spokesman Jack Killorin. But he declined to say which shootings the agency is investigating.

The union issued letters Wednesday afternoon asking members to refrain from violence, Nelson said.

positioned for the coming year." The hospital's revised 1990 budget indicates a projected net income of $301,638 with a total patient revenue of $10,378,601, a net operating revenue of $6,828,690 and a total operating expense of $7,120,052. The difference, a negative $291,362, is offset by $488,000 in ad valorem taxes and $105,000 in interest income to total $301,638.

The former budget called for a projected net income of $706,974 but was amended due to changes in four key areas. As explained by Administrator Tom Hochwalt, when the budget was drawn up last June it was anticipated that the hospital would have two additional physicians. The fact that the hospital has only recently contracted with one physician — Dr. Martin Ochoa — means a reduction in admissions and in patient revenue from the original proposed 1990 budget. The other three areas were a reduction in ad valorem taxes due to the rollback election, an increase in emergency room physicians' fees and an increase in hospital liability insurance.

In other business, managers approved capital equipment requests totaling $93,963. The equipment includes a refurbished ultrasound system at $63,567, an autoclave for instrument sterilization at $23,096, a Buchwald retractor for $4,800 and an Apnea monitor for $2,500. Hochwalt noted that the ultrasound system, autoclave and retractor have been budgeted and only the monitor is a non-budgeted item.

In an informational discussion, Hochwalt told the board that the long-term care unit has been relocated to the top floor of the newest part of the hospital. The move, considered a positive one, came about because the unit had reached an "overflow status." Physicians and patients were consulted prior to the move, he informed the board.

Also on the agenda were routine items including approval of previous minutes, a medical staff report, quality assurance report, hazardous materials report and the monthly financial report.

In one other item, managers approved the annual auxiliary banquet, which is to be held 7 p.m. April 26 at Snyder Country Club.

Prior to the meeting, managers went on a board orientation tour and posed for customary photographs.

The February financial report noted a total revenue of $94,100, a net revenue of $89,410 and expenses of $63,313, leaving a net income of $26,097.

For February, the hospital had 118 acute admissions and five long-term admissions, 44 surgeries, 14 newborns and 465 emergency room visits.

Operating income was $11,371 as compared to a negative $13,986 for February of 1989, with a net income of $59,049 and a cash balance of $1,201,842.

All board members were present, to include Brenda Hedges, Bill Wilson III, Jackie Smith, Dr. Jim Palmer, Roy McQueen and G.A. Parks Jr., chairman.

Census

naires is a battle fought by competing interest groups. The 1980 Census form asked two questions about a person's ability to work and access to transportation. This year, the question concerning transportation has been replaced by one seeking to identify the disabled and the extent of their handicaps. The disabled hope the result will show a greater need for funding for the handicapped.

Also this year, the Census Bureau wants to focus on the growing number of "blended" families. Homosexual rights groups won a major battle to include "unmarried partner" as a category that two non-relatives living in the same household can use to identify their relationship. Gay rights groups hope that by combining gender-identification statistics with those who list themselves as unmarried partners, the Census will show that larger numbers of gays live in many communities and thereby increase their political clout.

The Census' latest headache is getting people who are distrustful of government to answer honestly, or at all. Because of this, the bureau insists on the confidentiality of the data it collects. Census employees releasing information are subject to a $5,000 fine and up to five years in jail. Further, U.S. law forbids any government agency from obtaining Census information about an individual or specific household.

Bob Rhodes has preached at 3 churches

According to Bob Rhodes, pastor of Northside Baptist Church, "there's not a lot of security in pastoring churches." Maybe not for some, but for Rhodes, his career as a minister has been somewhat secure by minister standards. He has preached at three churches in his 25 years as a Baptist minister.

Long traditions and Rhodes just seem to go hand in hand. Northside Baptist is one of the oldest Baptist churches in Snyder. In September it will celebrate its 50th anniversary. In addition, Rhodes continues the Sunday evening radio broadcast started in 1953.

Every Sunday evening, Rhodes can be heard on KSNV conducting evening worship services at the church. It's a part of the job that he enjoys because he reaches so many people. "All types of people with many different religious background listen to the broadcast."

He remembers one broadcast in particular. The weather had been bad and therefore Northside Baptist, along with a number of other congregations had cancell-

Pageant on Christ's life set April 15

The Kendrick Religious Pageant, "The Life Of Christ," will begin its 1990 productions on April 15 with the 26th Annual Easter Pageant.

The production is the complete life of Christ from the birth to the resurrection, portrayed by a people from all walks of life and religious denomination, beginning at 3:30 p.m. and lasting two hours.

The Pageant will be held in the Kendrick Amphitheater halfway between Cisco and Eastland on U.S. Highway 80. Admission is a free offering will be taken at the gate.

Foreign missions to come to HSU next month

Foreign missions is coming to Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

"Missions Fest Texas," a two day program on the HSU campus April 20-21, will spotlight the foreign missions program of the Southern Baptist Association.

It is sponsored jointly by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board, the Baptist General Convention and HSU. HSU will be hosting the only type program of its kind in the state during 1990.

Palmer McCown, director of religious activities and chairman of the effort, said there is no registration charge. Persons who come will only be responsible for their food and lodging. Questions may be directed to his office, 915-670-1256.

Dr. R. Keith Parks, president of the Foreign Mission Board and a former professor at HSU, will speak and answer questions about Southern Baptists' part in global missions. Missionaries will be present on the campus.

Registration will begin at 1:30 p.m. Friday, April 20, with activities beginning at 2 p.m. On Saturday registration will begin at 8 a.m. with activities to start at 9 a.m. ed services. The day went by very slow for Rhodes who is used to being in church on Sunday.

"I grew up going to church on Sunday, whether you wanted to be there or not."

When it came time for evening worship, he decided to go ahead with the broadcast, alone.

Rhodes was going to play disc jockey. "Now I know why all those d j's seem to be in outer space. I felt strange sitting there talking to myself."

Being a radio personality is just part of Rhodes' work. He is also on the advisory committee for state missionary work. Promoting mission work is something that he strongly believes in. "Go

Accuations fly over state deficit

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Department of Human Services chairman Rob Mosbacher was blasted by state lawmakers for not attending a legislative hearing on his agency's projected $850 million budget shortfall.

Mosbacher, the Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, was on a trip with his children during spring break, DHS Commissioner Ron Lindsey said Thursday.

"All of us must meet our public commitments as well as our personal responsibilities. Certainly spring is a time for all of us to meet family commitments but this is our primary responsibility," said Sen. Judith Zaffirini, D-Laredo.

Lindsey told the Senate Health and Human Services Committee that if the Legislature doesn't help bridge the shortfall, the agency would have to implement cuts that would leave many needy people unprotected and jeopardize $1 billion in federal funds.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, who attended the meeting, said more revenues — not cuts — were needed to prop up DHS, which has projected a budget deficit because of increased demand on services and increased responsibilities mandated by the federal government. Hobby favors a 14-cent increase in the cigarette tax to help bridge the budget gap.

The agency faces a $152 million projected deficit for the current fiscal year that ends Aug. 31 and the remaining $850 million shortfall at the end of the next fiscal year.

Stephanie Thomas, one of many disabled advocates at the hearing, said she was "tired of the Texas Department of Human Services and the state Legislature treating people like throwaways."

Leslie Lanham of the Children's Defense Fund said, "Texas should be investing more, not less on its children." She said Texas ranks 48th in the nation in funding for early prenatal care.

The DHS board on Wednesday approved freezing rate increases proposed earlier this year for a number of contract providers of services, such as pharmacists, nursing homes, day-care centers and hospices.

The rate increases would have helped cover the cost of the federally required increases in the minimum wage as well as other expenses, such as increased minimum staffing requirements at nursing homes.

forth and teach all nations," he quotes.

But he hasn't always been in the ministering business. "I spent 10 years refusing to do what I knew God wanted me to do."

Rhodes was unwilling to give up the security he had with his job to go into ministering full-time. So, for a year and a half, he preached on Sundays at a rural church in East Texas and kept his other job in Texarkana.

"Finally I just had it." He had heard a sermon on priorities and, "I decided to get mine straight." Shortly after, the Rhodes family moved to Daingerfield where Bob himself had grown up. In fact, he was now going to work at the church in which he had attended growing up. He had even "had a hand in building the church building."

After almost eight years with the Daingerfield church, Rhodes came to Snyder.

This is where he has been for the past 12 years. During that time he has seen a change in the congregation.

"When I got here the average age of the congregation was around 60. There was only four teenagers in the church and two of them were my daughters. And then one of them married one of my daughters!" Rhodes said.

Now he says the average age of his members is 30-40.

He doesn't do it all alone. Rhodes says his wife, Bonnie, is his co-worker. "She's my secretary, bookkeeper and appointment companion."

They have two married daughters who reside in town Denise Brown and Kathy Scott.

Helicopter crashes

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — The wife of the governor of Jalisco state and a schoolteacher died in a helicopter crash Thursday and five people, including the governor's daughter, were injured, news reports said.

The official news agency Notimex said Idolina Gaona de Cosio Vidaurri died shortly after the crash at a hospital in Guadalajara, the state capital.

"Her death is an immeasurable blow to our family," Gov. Guillermo Cosio Vidaurri said.

Mrs. Cosio Vidaurri and her daughter Guillermina were on their way to a regional conference on family development in Villa de Purificacion when the government helicopter went down, the reports said.

The pilot, a bodyguard and two other people were also injured. Rescue teams were rushed to the crash site, a rural spot known as the Hill of the Birds about 100 miles southwest of Guadalajara, the state capital.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 37-year-old male with diverticulitis. How common is this at my age, and what are the chances of recurrence and the possibility of it turning into colon cancer?

DEAR READER: Diverticulitis, inflamed sacs surrounding the intestine, is unusual in patients under 50. It does occur, but I'd be suspicious that your "diverticulitis" might be masquerading for other types of bowel infection, such as colitis or regional enteritis, two intestinal diseases that are more common in men under 40.

Diverticulitis often follows a pattern of attacks and remissions. It is not related to cancer. The affliction is usually treated with antibiotics, which cure acute attacks.

In my opinion, you should have two tests: colonoscopy and a CT scan of your abdomen. During the first test, a gastroenterologist or a surgeon examines your entire colon with a long, flexible, lighted tube. The tube is passed through the rectum, and the specialist looks at the interior of the intestine to identify sites of infection and diverticular sacs, the areas that can become inflamed in diverticulitis.

Some doctors prefer a colon X-ray, called a barium enema, to obtain similar information.

A CT scan of the abdomen is a special X-ray examination during which the diverticular abscesses, which usually lie outside the lining of the colon, can be seen as abnormal shadows.

Your diagnosis may well be correct; however, I'd feel more comfortable knowing that your doctor has conclusive evidence for it. To give you additional information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Diverticular Disease." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have two children, ages 5 and 6. The oldest gets a ton of mosquito bites, while the younger one does not. Is there a chemical difference, and is there something we can do to prevent this?

DEAR READER: Insects seem more attracted to some people than to others. Although the reason for this preference is not known, experts believe certain people may emit odors that actually repel bugs. While these aromas are too faint or too subtle for human recognition, the insects can perceive them.

Like many medical hypotheses, this theory has no practical application at present. I suggest you apply insect repellent to both your children during the mosquito season; be sure to follow directions on the product label, because some repellents are applied directly to clothing and not to skin.

Kidnapping charges dropped

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) — Kidnapping charges have been dropped against three Mexicans accused of abducting a group of Oklahomans, but two remained in jail pending a drug investigation and the other one has lost her job.

The Matamoros residents were jailed last Friday after four Oklahoma City-area vacationers told police they were abducted by them near an international bridge. The Mexicans were arrested outside a warehouse, where they had stopped with the Americans.

Judge Manuel Ceballos Jimenez said there were too many contradictions in the different versions of the alleged kidnapping.

"It is not believable what the North American students said," the judge said Thursday.

Police in South Texas also didn't believe that George Marland Crabtree, 25; his brother, Darren Crabtree, 19; Jeff Jones, 21; and Kerry Ramsey, 19, were kidnapped.

The four have since had a string of encounters with the law north of the border.

The Americans told Matamoros police the abductions occurred late last Thursday and early Friday in this border city full of students, many of them drinking heavily, on spring break.

The story brought back memories of the disappearance and murder of University of Texas student Mark Kilroy last year in Matamoros at the hands of a cult of drug traffickers.

Three of the Oklahomans said the Mexicans saw them having trouble carrying the inebriated Jones to the Gateway International Bridge, and offered a ride. Jones said he passed out after getting in the car, did not awaken until the next morning and did not remember being kidnapped.

The other three said the Mexicans held them at gunpoint as they sped around the city, fondled Ms. Ramsey and finally took them to a warehouse.

Scientists say...

Collider will provide new information

WASHINGTON (AP) — The super collider will put the United States back on the cutting edge in basic science and high technology, a prominent scientist has promised Congress.

But some Republicans say the particle accelerator may instead become an $8 billion boondoggle.

Tsung-Dao Lee, professor of physics at Columbia University, testified the high collision energy of the super collider would "recreate the physical state that existed in our universe" about one millionth of a billionth of a second after the Big Bang, in which scientists believe the universe was created.

In testimony Thursday before the House Appropriations subcommittee on energy and water development, Lee also said the superconducting super collider would "restore our cutting edge in both basic science and high technology."

"Our aim is to understand that set of laws which governs everything," Lee said. "SSC makes a direct route toward achieving this understanding. It will be our contribution to the civilization of the next century."

Subcommittee Chairman Tom Bevill, D-Ala., called Lee and Sidney D. Drell, professor and deputy director of the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center, Stanford University, to Capitol Hill to explain the importance of building the super collider as he seeks congressional approval of second-year construction funds.

But despite the scientists' assurances that the SSC would "explore a specific region in which major new discoveries will be made," some Republicans appeared unconvinced spending $8 billion is justified.

'No more broccoli,' Bush says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Read his lips: no more broccoli. George Bush on Thursday demonstrated just how far presidential power can go when he insisted he would just say no to vegetables.

"I'm president of the United States and I'm not going to eat any more broccoli!" Bush proclaimed, resolving to stand fast against his wife's mealtime entreaties.

Broccoli-booster Barbara Bush tried to put a good face on her husband's rebellion.

Asked what example the 65-year-old president was setting for America's children, the first lady replied crisply: "He ate broccoli until he was 60. Tell them to eat it until they're 60."

She said the president's 88-year-old mother, Dorothy Walker Bush, still eats her broccoli.

Bush's taste in food runs to pork rinds, olives, taco salads and Tabasco sauce. He set some new culinary standards in December when he was spotted crunching bits of Butterfingers candy bars into oat bran.

Bush's bravado has not gone unanswered by the broccoli industry. California growers are shipping 10 tons of the vegetable to soup kitchens and shelters in the nation's capital.

Consumer group says...

Pork not as healthful as advertised

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a town where the pork barrel is considered a treasured commodity, one consumer group says producers and advertisers of ham, bacon and sausage are going too far.

If taxpayers can get through...

IRS will probably give right answers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service blames a budget squeeze for its inability to answer two of every three taxpayer telephone calls for help.

But if you can get through to

The Center for Science in the Public Interest said Thursday that it wants the federal government to halt advertising by the National Pork Producers Council it says is "deceptive and dangerously misleading."

It said it would file a petition today with the Federal Trade Commission challenging various ad claims that pork is low in fat, low in cholesterol and low in calories.

The center said the industry's 3-year-old campaign touting pork as "the other white meat" is misleading because it claims pork "is as nutritious as chicken, turkey and fish."

the agency, you have a better chance than last year of getting the correct answer to a tax question. The General Accounting Office says IRS employees give the right answer 78 percent of the time, up from 66 percent last year. The bad news is that only 34 percent of callers are getting through to the IRS, down sharply from 61 percent in 1989, Jennie S.

Stathis of the congressional investigative agency told the House Ways and Means oversight subcommittee Thursday.
