Appreciation Day honors some 300 area law officers

Colleagues of State Rep. David Counts joined the Knox City Democrat in a first-ever appreciation day for law enforcement officers in Northwest Texas.

About 300 area officers gathered in the Scurry County Coliseum Thursday night and heard Jim Lynaugh, director of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, praise the efforts and cooperation of personnel at all levels of the state's criminal justice system.

Lynaugh was introduced by State Rep. Dan Morales of San Antonio, and the Democratic nominee for state attorney general.

Morales, who chairs the Criminal Justice committee in the House, described Lynaugh's position as "one of the toughest public jobs in the state."

The TDCJ director said the legislature is often criticized for doing nothing, but said recent legislatures have been very responsive to criminal justice needs.

He said since 1987, the state has added 17,333 additional prison beds. Another 1,000 beds will come on line this summer and another 10,809 beds have been approved for construction. In addition, a special session request asks approval for 5,250 more beds.

"It took a lot of money that was hard to get," Lynaugh said. "We got behind and have been catching up. We're just beginning to pull down the population backlog in county jails."

Lynaugh also noted that the Legislature has approved other innovative programs in an effort to reduce jail overcrowding. He said education is a key to a successful turnaround and cited Houston where recent statistics indicated that 48.9 percent of current seventh graders would not finish high school. "This is where we get 26 percent of our inmate

City hosts state meet Saturday

An estimated 1,500 competitors from 49 teams are expected at Scurry County Coliseum this Saturday for the State Division I Power Tumbling and Trampoline Meet.

The meet is free to the public and a concession stand will be available. The Grand March opens ceremonies at 8 a.m. and competition is to start at 9 a.m.

Divisions include age and ability levels — pre-beginner, advanced beginner, pre-novice and novice in ages 2-4, 5-6, 7-8, 9-10, 11-12 and 13 and over.

All routines are freestyle. There are, however, skill requirements which must be met.

The event will conclude with an awards program scheduled for 7 p.m. First place winners will receive trophies and gold medals. Other places are silver and bronze medals and ribbons.

Area teams include clubs from Rotan, Sweetwater, Abilene and Lubbock.

Also competing will be Snyder Springers, under the direction of Kay Porter and Dwayne Cato. The team is made up of 28 members ranging in age from 3 to 13.

School trustees name coach, 5 teachers; note resignations

Snyder public schools board of trustees reassigned Laurie Welch as head girls' basketball coach and approved the hiring of five other teachers during a multi-faceted board meeting Monday evening.

Trustees also accepted two resignations, recognized Snyder Junior High School and Stanfield Elementary for TEAMS test results, and elected Luann Burleson as president of the board.

Among other action, the board recognized out-going trustee Ygnacio Benitez and conducted oath-of-office ceremonies for re-elected incumbents Billy Bob McMullan and Ann Walton, and newly-elected member Glenn Clarady. During board reorganization, Terry Martin was elected vice president.

Benitez thanked board members and administrators and in closing, encouraged the audience of 30 to 35 — mostly teachers — to "work hard with every student and don't let anyone fall through the cracks. If they don't make it here, they'll wind up out there," he said, referring to the TDCJ's Price Daniel Unit.

Athletic Director David Baugh told the board that a three-member committee recommended Welch as the next Lady Tigers basketball coach from a list of 25 applicants. Welch, replacing long-time mentor Ken Housden who resigned earlier this year, has been serving as junior varsity basketball coach in addition to duties as assistant volleyball and track coach.

Welch has a two-year record of 42-6 as junior varsity basketball coach. The committee's recommendation was unanimously accepted by the board.

Hired by the board were five teachers, including Carrie Richardson, who will serve as vocational education instructor at the high school and junior high; Rebecca Johnson, who will teach junior high English; Louise Taylor, as speech pathologist; Brenda Billings, who will instruct kindergarten at West Elementary; and Magdalena Aguirre, who will serve as third grade bilingual instructor at Central Elementary.

Resignations were accepted from high school counselor John Short and West Elementary sixth grade teacher Elizabeth McCloskey.

"Success Through Achievement" plaques were awarded to representatives of both the junior See SCHOOL, Page 8

Western Texas graduation ceremonies set this evening

Western Texas College will present degrees and certificates to about 105 students during its 19th commencement exercise at 7:30 p.m. today in the central courtyard on campus.

A reception honoring the graduates will follow in the student center.

Roy Baze, outgoing member of the board of trustees, will welcome visitors to the program. College President Dr. Harry Krenk will introduce special guests. Bettie McQueen, Dean of Instruction, will award the degrees and certificates.

Speakers will be three graduating students, Shea Fenton and Troy Dale Williamson of Snyder and Gregory Parker of Albany. Marilyn Lancaster will give the faculty recognition. She will be receiving recognition as one of 10 Piper Professors for 1990, an honor given annually by the Minnie Stevens Piper Foundation of San Antonio.

Processional and recessional music will be played by Jane Womack, assistant professor of music, on the Sears carillon. Pre-commencement music will be performed by Mrs. Womack and Brent Hardegree, assistant professor of music.

Keith Berryman, pastor of North College Avenue Baptist Church, will give the invocation. The benediction will be given by See GRADUATION, Page 8

Winkler to receive 2 degrees

Becky Winkler will be in a class by herself at the Western Texas College commencement program this evening.

She's the only student who will be awarded two degrees in the program — one, the Associate in Arts degree, and the other, the Associate in Applied Science degree. Actually, this will be her third degree from WTC since she received another AA degree in 1974.

Several other students have received more than one degree from WTC, but Dan Dever, See WINKLER, Page 8

Lady Tigers hold 2nd place at state

AUSTIN — Snyder High School's Lady Tigers got best-of-the-season scores from two individuals Thursday to hold down second place at the midway point of the State Class 4A UIL Girls' Golf Tournament.

Amy Armstrong shot a 79 and Jacy LaRoux an 85 to help Snyder turn in a strong 359 total over the first 18 holes at Jimmy Clay Municipal Golf Course. The Tigers, under the direction of Coach Penny Perry, were to tee off in the final 18-hole round at about 9:30 a.m. today.

District 4-4A and Region I champion Andrews High School led Thursday's round by a 29-stroke margin. The Lady Mustangs shot a 330, followed by Snyder's 359, and Silsbee High School's 363. A close fourth was Uvalde at 365.

Back in the pack were Friendswood with a 384, Sulphur Springs with a 399, Corpus Christi Midway with a 429 and Henderson with a 435.

"We had one of the best team scores we've had all year and Amy and Jacy did have the best scores they've had all season," said Coach Perry late Thursday afternoon. "We're pleased to be in second place but we've got our work cut out for us. The competi-

The feller on Deep Creek says, "It's estimated there are 90 million overweight Americans—that's in round figures of course."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors: Lynn Brisendine, writing in the Brownfield News, noted that West Texans have the feeling of being left out. It again led to the idea of forming the State of West Texas.

"It's not an original idea. It crops up everytime we think of getting the short end of the Texas stick, which happens in our paranoia every day, but in reality only once a week.

"Imagine what life would be like in this 51st state known as West Texas.

"Some central spot (like Snyder) would be the Capitol of West Texas.

"State Flag—We can do better than a Lone Star. The official flag of West Texas would be a brilliant setting sun. As Japan continues to buy up the state, it would be used as its Rising Sun flag. "State Tree—In Texas it's the pecan. Boring. In West Texas, it would have to be the ever-present and hearty mesquite.

"State Flower—How long has it been since you've seen a bluebonnet? The dandelion grows best in almost every yard.

"State motto—In Texas its Friendship. In West Texas it would have to be 'Howdy, Y'all.'

"State Song—Tumbling Tumble Weed by the Sons of the Pioneers wouldn't be bad.

"State Bird—There's a few Texas Mockingbirds around, but the Sandhill Crane would probably be more appropriate.

"State Mascot—The Diamondback rattler would be great, but we might have to choose the jack rabbit. Cost of rattlesnakes is getting too high.

If Snyder is the Capitol, we'd suggest the White Buffalo.

Q—Will Snyder High School be performing "Taming of the Shrew" locally, or was the performance at state the final one?

A—The SHS drama department's production, which won second place in state competition, is scheduled for Tuesday and Friday, May 15 and 18, at 8 p.m. in Worsham Auditorium.

In Brief

Retail sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail sales slumped 0.6 percent in April, posting the second consecutive monthly decline and the biggest setback in six months, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said sales fell by $907 million last month to a seasonally adjusted $148.64 billion.

The April decrease was a disappointment to economists, who had been looking for a small rebound following a 0.2 percent decline in March and no change in February.

Busy burglar

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A paroled burglar who served only six months of a 10-year prison term has been accused of 50 residential burglaries in the 17 days since his release, Tyler police say.

The first burglary that Michael Bernard Gardner, 19, was accused of came on April 25, one day after he was released on parole from the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, according to police spokesman Tom Giorgio.

Peek getting used to Snyder's change of pace

West Texas is a long way from Nashville. "We felt this is where the Lord wants us," said Rick Peek, pastor of the Church of Nazarene.

"If you're from Nashville, everyone thinks you must play the guitar," he said.

That's okay because Peek thought everyone in West Texas wore cowboy boots. He was surprised to see so many people wearing tennis shoes.

Peek and his family have been in Snyder only since the first of April, but already they have seen much of the area. They have traveled to Abilene, Lubbock and

Big Spring, and Peek hopes to visit "Historic Sweetwater," as the sign he spotted read.

Life in Snyder is a change of pace for Peek who has spent most of his life in the Nashville area.

"Our shopping habits have changed...in Nashville we lived near a mall," Peek said.

However he added, "We have been so busy that we haven't gotten homesick yet." Peek spoke and his wife sang during Holy Week services shortly after their arrival.

Peek agrees that the area is a long way from the hills of Tennessee. "There are no hills, no trees; but we have one tree in our front yard and we are very proud of it."

Peek felt his calling as a teenager, but it was 10 years before he stopped "running" from it. "I was miserable with myself."

Until that point, he worked in the boat manufacturing industry working mostly with fiberglass. Peek is currently a partner in a fiberglass company, Performance Plastics in Nashville. They make parts for conversion vans.

Peek is the first pastor the church has had in nine months. Oliver Butler had served as the interim pastor.

"We are finding out a lot of people don't know we are here," Peek said. The church is located on the Colorado City Highway just down from Big Country Chevrolet.

He is optimistic about the church's future. "We have five acres to grow on. We are going to need it."

Ministry begins

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A windowless warehouse auditorium in an industrial park is the new headquarters for Tammy Bakker's New Covenant Ministries, and she says the Orlando area is the next best thing to Heritage USA.

This world of theme parks is the place for her, Mrs. Bakker said Wednesday even though her husband, Jim, is in Minnesota serving a 45-year federal prison term for fraud.

"This is where my husband left me, this is where he placed me, and I feel that I need to stay where he placed me," she said.

teaches. "I've become Mr. Mom," he said. They have two children — Katherine, four, and nineteen-month old Barrett.

Astrograph

by Bernice Bede Osol

May 12, 1990

There are indications you may enter into a productive arrangement with two associates in the year ahead. Once you deal with previously, the other could be someone new.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today after giving ample time to evaluate a hunch, you may see an effective course of action you can take on it, knowing full well the efforts and risks involved. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A material aspiration you've been nurturing can be realized at this time, but it's going to take a concerted effort on your behalf to bring it about.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Do not be reluctant today to call on certain contacts you've established who have promised they would be willing to lend you a helping hand when and if they are needed.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A bright idea you have could work out if you're assertive enough to take action on it promptly. Waiting might lessen your chances considerably.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Advantages aren't likely to develop for you today through singular effort, but they could transpire if you are allied with industrious teammates who can offer what you lack.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Services you render for another today will not go unacknowledged or unrewarded, although the returns for your efforts might come back to you in bits and pieces instead of all at once.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your organizational and managerial abilities will be very pronounced today. If you see associates fumbling, move in and take over matters, so that your interests are protected.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Persistence is of extreme importance today if you hope to be successful. However, you must be prepared to see things through to a final conclusion and not leave anything up to chance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Companions will sit up and take notice when you speak today. This is a good time to express your opinions regarding an issue about which you feel strongly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) An ambitious venture in which you're presently involved is beginning to take root. This is the time to start increasing your efforts instead of slacking off on them.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) An old interest can be resurrected in this cycle, provided you start figuring out ways to put it to a profitable use by adding a few new twists.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't be timid today in developments where bold measures are required. It will enhance your feelings of self-esteem if you are courageous and if it will also win you the admiration of associates.

Selections sought for rural minister of the year honor

COLLEGE STATION — Nominations are being sought for the most outstanding rural minister of Texas for 1990.

"The rural minister might be considered an unsung hero, and where that's the case, his associates can bring some special recognition to him," said Dr. David Ruesink, a sociologist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

Ruesink said the award is given annually by the progressive Farmer Magazine during the annual Town and Country Church Conference, scheduled Oct. 1-2, at Texas A&M University.

The conference is an Extension Service educational program for the rural and small town ministers and lay leaders.

To be eligible for the award, Ruesink said, a minister must have served for at least two years a congregation in a rural community or town of less than 10,000 population.

Ruesink said nominations should focus on how the minister has made a difference to his church and community.

"Show how the minister's leadership has helped bring the people together to fulfill their community and religious needs," he said.

Ruesink said 53 rural ministers were nominated last year. The winner was Rev. Larry Castillo-Wilson, who helped organize relief efforts for victims of a tornado that devastated the West Texas community of Saragosa. Ruesink said all nominees are recognized, and the top minister is named at the conference.

Nominations should be sent by Aug. 1 to Texas Rural Minister of the Year Committee, Dept. of Rural Sociology, Texas A&M University, College Station, Tex., 77843.

For more information, contact Ruesink at (409) 845-0859. County Extension Service Agents also have details on how to submit nominations.

Ex-con indicted

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Police hope an indictment against an ex-convict in the assault of an elderly woman will lead to more charges for other attacks that have taken place since March 1989.

Police Chief Freddie Poof said Tyrone Williams fits the general description of the attacker given by elderly victims. But none of the victims got a good look at the man because he covered their faces or made sure they looked away from him while the robberies and assaults took place.

Williams, 30, was indicted Wednesday on two counts of burglary of a habitation, one of aggravated robbery and one of aggravated kidnapping involving an 88-year-old woman on Feb. 1. Bond was set at $100,000 on each count, said Assistant District Attorney George Cooley.

Because he has a prior felony conviction, Williams faces a minimum of 15 years and maximum of life in prison on each count, Cooley said. The charges also carry fines of up to $10,000 each.

Poor said physical evidence rather than identification by the victim led to Williams' indictment. Williams has spent time in state prisons on burglary and theft charges since August 1980.

When the indictment was returned, Williams was in the Galveston County Jail after being charged with two burglaries in April.

Lake Ivie reservoir opening day slated

Those attending the May 19 celebration of the completion of the state's newest reservoir will get to see a lake taking shape.

Although flooding rains which engulfed Brownwood largely missed the new watershed, Lake O.H. Ivie has gained 25 vertical feet since closure of the outlet works on April 24. While much of the 17,000 ac. ft. is represented in filling the Colorado River channel and the borrow area at the foot of the dam on the upstream side, the main body of the fledgling lake is just beginning to spread.

Meanwhile, officials are noting that the deadline to purchase tickets for the celebration's barbecue dinner is noon Monday, May 14. Tickets are $7.50 and are available at Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

Plans are shaping for the 11 a.m. event which will give the public its first look at the lake and dam. U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm will be the dedicatory speaker.

Several state senators and representatives will be on hand, as well as will mayors from the member cities of Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder, and contract cities of San Angelo, Abilene and Midland. A number of other state and county officials have also accepted invitations.

Approximately two square miles of surface area of the lake are now inundated, according to John L. Taylor, president of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, which built the project as a long-range regional water supply. This represents about six percent of the reservoir area at capacity, and three percent of the 554,000 ac. ft. capacity.

The reservoir has only 17 more vertical feet to go before the lake is opened to the public for recreational purposes.

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What is your opinion on a resting pulse rate of 40 to 45 and occasional irregular heartbeats that leave me dizzy and unable to catch my breath? An echogram reveals a healthy heart, except for the fluttering beats. I'm 26 and active.

DEAR READER: Although cardiac beats are ordinarily triggered by the heart's own natural pacemaker (the sinoatrial node), cardiac muscle can, on occasion, produce electrical impulses sufficiently strong to cause cardiac contractions. These maverick contractions commonly occur prematurely — that is, before an expected normal beat. Therefore, they are called "premature contractions."

The heart is divided into four chambers: two low-pressure compartments (atria) and two stronger, high-pressure compartments (ventricles). When premature contractions arise from the atrial muscle, they're known as premature atrial contractions; extra beats derived from ventricular muscle are called premature ventricular contractions.

PACs and PVCs are universal; they occur in almost everybody at one time or another. Their appearance is often associated with fatigue, stress and stimulants, such as caffeine and nicotine. In most instances, they cause no symptoms (other than an awareness of the irregular pulse). They pose no health hazard. However, they may heighten a person's anxiety level because they feel unnatural and strange.

Well-trained athletes commonly have resting pulses in the range of 40 to 50 beats per minute. This is considered a normal adaptation to physical activity. Athletes also experience premature contractions of no consequence.

Your slow pulse and occasional, irregular heartbeats are probably normal. People who experience extended attacks of rapid, irregular heartbeat may require treatment to return the heart to normal.

I'm concerned about your dizziness and difficulty breathing. These symptoms are not normal. Although dizziness and difficulty breathing could reflect disease elsewhere in the body, you and your doctor need to know more about your heart — specifically if your heart irregularity is the cause of your symptom.

At the very least, you should have a resting cardiogram (an EKG taken when you are supine) and a Holter monitor. This latter test is a continuous 24-hour cardiogram recorded on magnetic tape. At the conclusion of the test, the tape is computer-scanned; abnormal or interesting portions are printed-out and examined by a physician.

The Holter monitor would enable your doctor to answer important questions about your heart's electrical activity — for example: How many premature contractions do you have in a day? From which chamber are the contractions arising? Are they always associated with symptoms? Do they appear singly or in multiples? Are you having PACs or PVCs at night while asleep?

Based on these data, your doctor should be able to reassure you that your heart is normal — or order further tests, as indicated. For example, you may need a stress test, a cardiogram obtained while you exercise on a treadmill.

You have already had a cardiac ultrasound (echogram), during which a technician beamed high-frequency sound waves at your heart and measured the bounce-back. This radar-like device is a method of measuring the thickness of the heart's walls and examining the cardiac valves; however, it tells little about cardiac electrical activity.

I believe the additional testing I've suggested would either confirm that your heart is normal or would indicate the need for treatment (drugs to suppress the frequency of premature contractions). If (in the unlikely case) the findings are inconclusive, you should request referral to a cardiologist for another opinion.

To give you additional information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Help I — Physical Illness." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

he simply bid game in no-trump. That allowed New York expert Dave Berkowitz to put a little shine on his declarer shoes.

With some trepidation, declarer played dummy's jack of hearts on the opening lead. When that held, he was off to the races. He played queen of clubs from dummy. East played low, usually the right play. Next a diamond to the jack, followed by a low spade. West rose with the king and continued with the king of hearts, taken by the ace. Declarer cashed Q-J of spades in dummy and took another diamond finesse. Meanwhile East had thrown a diamond on the third spade. Declarer now cashed the ace of spades. East could not let go a diamond or a club, so he threw his last heart. Berkowitz cashed the ace of diamonds and put East on lead with the last diamond. East had to lead away from the king of clubs to let declarer score 11 tricks.

Footnote: Although it's not usually right, East could have done better by covering the queen of clubs with his king.

Sisters confused

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's not easy being Zsa Zsa's sister, dahlink.

Eva Gabor, whose Bel-Air mansion is just a few miles from Zsa Zsa's estate, complains she's always getting mixed up with her more notorious sibling.

But convicted police officer slapper Zsa Zsa also has suffered an occasional identity crisis: Witnesses testified in last fall's colorful trial that they recognized Zsa Zsa from her "Green Acres" TV role.

Conservative players might suspect that West was afflicted with a touch of moon madness when he made a major-suit takeout over South's opening no-trump. No argument here, except to say that some very successful players stick their necks out in the bidding. Perhaps North-South could have stopped off to double whatever contract East-West got to, but North wasn't sure East-West would fail by four tricks wherever they landed, so

Welch named new Snyder cage coach

Assistant Snyder girls' basketball coach Laurie Welch was promoted to head coach as part of Thursday's SISD school board meeting.

Welch, who has been in the Snyder program for two years, replaces Ken Housden who resigned from the post March 30. The new basketball coach accompanied Snyder state track qualifier Katina Brandon to Austin and was not available for comment.

Snyder athletic director David Baugh said of the hiring, "We interviewed 25 applicants and eventually reduced that number to three and we decided Laurie was the one."

"We know that she has no head coaching experience but we feel like she's ready to step in and do the job we want done."

Welch's duties as assistant and JV volleyball coach will be taken over by an as-yet-to-be designated coach. She is also assistant track coach and it has not been decided if she will remain in that post.

Welch has coached the Lady Tiger JV cagers to a 42-6 mark in her two years here, according to Baugh.

COACH LAURIE WELCH

NBA playoffs...

L.A. pops Phoenix, 124-100

by The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers, the first team to lose at home in the second round of the NBA playoffs, are determined not to be the last.

The Lakers travel to Phoenix for the third and fourth games Saturday and Sunday after tying the best-of-7 series against the Suns at a game apiece with a 124-100 rout at the Forum Thursday night.

"We're not about making statements," said James Worthy, who scored 23 of his 27 points as the Lakers took control in the first half. "This team has made enough statements. It's a seven-game series."

Former Tiger gets tagged Chaps' MVP

Former Snyder Tiger baseball standout Brad Holcomb made it two in a row recently as he earned Most Valuable Player honors as a member of the Lubbock Christian University Chaparrals.

Holcomb, a third baseman at LCU, finished the 1990 campaign with a .371 batting average with 12 doubles, three triples, 12 home runs and 56 RBI to his credit.

The Snyder native also tied a school streak hitting safely in 28 consecutive games equaling a 1986 run by Kerry Richardson. Holcomb, a junior at LCU, was the team's MVP as well as being named to the Region A all-tournament squad for two years.

Snyder baseball coach Albert Lewis said of Holcomb, "He was a real asset to his family, our program and his community."

"He really blossomed as a hitter in the summer before his senior year. He played on a state champion Babe Ruth team and went with them to the Babe Ruth World Series in Louisiana and his hitting just carried over to his senior season."

Indeed it did. Holcomb hit a .351 clip his final season with the Tigers and earned All-District 2-4A honors as a third baseman leading Snyder to a berth in the state Class 4A tournament in Austin in 1986.

"I wouldn't be surprised if he were drafted by the pros," said Lewis of Holcomb.

SCC Swingers

Betty and Larry Hildreth took first place with a low-gross 83 while low net winners were Suzy and John Reed in the First Flight in last Friday's Swinger's event at Snyder Country Club.

Other winners announced by the group, which plays each Friday afternoon, include Second Flight low net winners Norma and Bill Crowder with a 72 and Kathy and Dwayne Duncan's low gross 88.

Marjorie and Bill Briggs and Marie and Don Dollins were the winners in Third Flight competition. The Briggs' registered a low gross 92 and the Dollins' carded a low net 65.

The Suns lost 21 straight games at the Forum since 1984 before winning 104-102 on Tuesday night. So the Lakers, who had the best record (63-19) in the NBA during the regular season, were in a must-win situation.

Los Angeles took control early, leading 33-20 after one quarter, 63-48 at halftime and 97-73 after three periods. The margin was as great as 31 points in the fourth quarter.

"Most of all, there was total concentration for 48 minutes," Worthy said. "I think it was just overall focus and we didn't give them easy buckets."

In Thursday night's other games, San Antonio routed

Portland, cutting the Trail Blazers' series lead to 2-1, and Detroit beat New York 104-97 for a 2-0 advantage.

Tonight's only game has Chicago at Philadelphia, which trails its Eastern Conference semifinal 2-0.

On Saturday, Detroit is at New York and Portland at San Antonio in addition to the Lakers at Phoenix.

Magic Johnson, who had 21 points and 14 assists, said the Lakers wanted to build a big lead because of the Suns' proven comeback potential.

"We've got to play like that when we play this team because they keep coming back," Johnson said.

Phoenix center Mark West, who had 24 points, 16 rebounds and seven blocked shots in Game 1, didn't score until late in the first half and finished with just nine points, five rebounds and one block.

"The Lakers did a great job of getting to the defensive boards,"

HHS athletes to be honored

Athletes competing for Hermleigh High School in the 1989-90 school year will be honored at the annual spots banquet scheduled for Saturday at 7 p.m. at Reta's Cake Shop and Texas Bar-B-Q.

Tickets sell for $6 per person and are available through the office at HHS.

West said. "Basically, the man playing me stayed with me, faced up. They did a good job of keying on me."

Orlando Woolridge also had 21 points and Byron Scott added 18 points for Los Angeles. Vlade Divac had 16 points and A.C. Green 13 points and 13 rebounds for the Lakers.

Springers tab meet winners

ODESSA — Kristi McClure earned a first in both tumbling and trampolining, Lisa Thamez notched a first place in tumbling and a second in trampolining, Miranda Terry received a one and a four in tumbling and trampolining, respectively and Michelle Roemisch garnered a first position in tumbling as the Snyder Springers competed in an advanced meet here last Saturday.

The group is preparing to host about 1500 competitors in power tumbling and trampolining events at the state meet to be held Saturday at Scurry County Coliseum.

Results from the May 5 meet follow:

Tumbling
First: Michelle Roemisch, Lisa Thamez, Kristi McClure, Miranda Terry. Second: Roland Nelson, Tara Lyons. Sixth: Shellye York. Ninth: Mikella Tidwell.

Trampoline

4-4A squads await results

District 4-4A baseball playoff contenders Pecos and Andrews will know their first round opponents later today as Pampa and Estacado face each other in a one-game playoff to decide the District 1 champion.

Estacado beat Pampa in Lubbock, 4-1, and the Harvesters downed the Matadors in their second meeting, 13-4, in Pampa.

Both teams ended the regular season with 14-2 loop marks.

Andrews, as district champion, will battle the loser of the Estacado-Pampa tilt while Pecos will tangle with the winner in a game to be scheduled next week.

Andrews ended the season at 19-6 overall and 12-2 within the loop and Pecos finished at 16-7 and 11-3.

First use of U.S. drug law seeking death penalty set

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal prosecutors will seek the death penalty for two men charged with murdering a drug case witness in what would be the first execution by the U.S. government in 27 years.

"We recognize the death penalty is an extreme sanction," Attorney General Dick Thornburgh said.

high and Stanfield for their students' results on TEAMS tests, taken in February. The junior high was recognized for "outstanding gain," after showing a gain of 21 percent over the previous year. Past winners of the plaque have been the high school and Central Elementary. Stanfield was recognized for the second consecutive year for outstanding mastery. Some 98 percent of the third and fifth graders at Stanfield mastered all three portions of the TEAMS test. East Elementary won the first plaque, awarded in 1987-1988.

Later in the meeting, trustees again reviewed results of the TEAMS tests district-wide. Those results were detailed in Tuesday's edition of The Snyder Daily News.

During the meeting's communications period, in which principals give a brief overview of their respective campuses, high school principal Rueben Gillespie informed the board of extracurricular activities, new course offerings for next year and campus improvement.

"I am very proud of our staff and students...and can foresee only great things for SHS..." Gillespie said in closing.

Among business items, the board gave approval to seek bids for copy paper and janitorial supplies, and approved a one-year extension to the current food service contract.

The board also appointed Clarady as the SISD delegate to the 1990 Texas Association of School Boards convention, scheduled for Sept. 22 in Houston. Walton will serve as alternate.

No action was taken during the board's executive session, which was to discuss personnel and sealed bids for the possible purchase of property.

drea L. Zopp, one of the federal prosecutors handling the case, said Thursday. "We think it is appropriate in this case."

It would be the first use of a November 1988 federal law that allows the death penalty for murders committed to further drug conspiracies. The so-called "drug kingpin" provisions sanction the death penalty for murders ordered by drug dealers as part of their business.

Alexander Cooper and Anthony Davis are charged with murdering a federal witness to protect their $50,000-a-day drug ring. Davis is still at large.

In a statement, U.S. Attorney General Dick Thornburgh said, "Street level distribution networks such as the one alleged in this indictment cannot be effectively dismantled without the cooperation of citizen-witnesses."

population. We must improve education and stop losing generations."

Lynaugh thanked local law enforcement officials for their support and cited Snyder as an example. "We had an inmate escape on a Saturday night, and by Wednesday he was apprehended and convicted with five years stacked and on his way back to Daerlington." (a maximum security unit)

Rep. Counts spear-headed the appreciation function which was patterned after one held in Brownwood. Also attending were State Sen. Steve Carriker of Roby and Sen. Bill Sims of San Angelo.

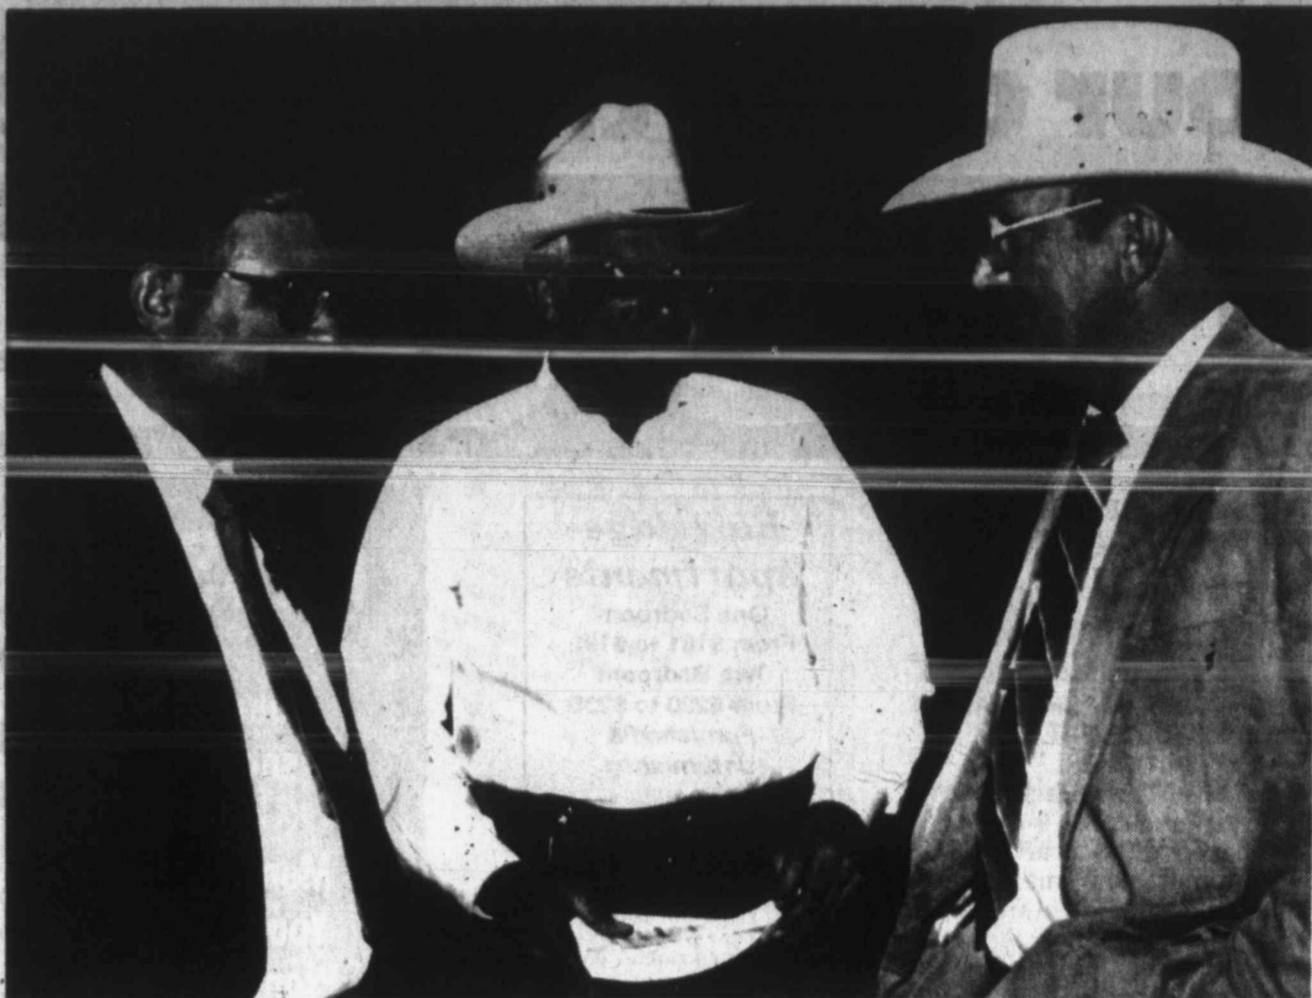

Representatives, in addition to Counts and Morales, were Layton Black of Golthwaite, Warren Chisum of Pampa, Charles Finnell of Holiday, Bob Hunter of Abilene, Delwin Jones of Lubbock and Pete Laney of Hale Center.

Also attending were Michael Moore, TDCJ southern regional director; and Jim Gant, with TDCJ internal affairs. Sheriff Keith Collier gave the invocation and Mayor Troy Williamson gave the welcome.

The barbecue dinner was prepared by Bill Moss and Jerry Beard, and entertainment was presented by Donna Fowler and Cindy Nix.

Earlier in the day, Price Daniel unit wardens Leslie Woods and Charlie Streetman conducted tours for area law enforcement personnel.

Cullen gets 9-year sentence

AUSTIN (AP) — A hometown attorney for the man sentenced to 9 years in prison for poisoning the historic Treaty Oak says jurors withstood severe community pressure in assessing the sentence for Paul Stedman Cullen.

Attorney Terry Kirk, who recalled playing as a child under the branches of the centuries-old tree, said the punishment, including a $1,000 fine, was a victory.

"I honestly do believe ... that there are people out there (who would) make him drink Velpar, hang him," Kirk told reporters, referring to the poison that has nearly killed the tree.

"I don't think that reflects the majority of Austinites. In fact, I know it doesn't," Kirk said. "Nevertheless ... there are many out there who had that attitude, and there was tremendous pressure on this jury, in my view, because of that attitude."

Velpar, a liquid herbicide, was poured on the ground around the tree early in 1989. About two-thirds of the tree is now dead, foresters said, but the remaining third is still producing leaves.

News reports about the case

Guilty pleas are heard in district court

Sentences have been handed down in 132nd District Court against four men previously indicted by a Scurry County grand jury.

Darwin Lee Garvin of Colorado City has pleaded guilty to two felony counts of driving while intoxicated. District Judge Gene Dulaney sentenced the 31-year-old man to two years probation and two $500 fines.

Thomas Bernard Abell of 1310 17th St. pled guilty to felony DWI and was ordered also to serve two years probation and pay a $750 fine.

Alfredo Carrizales, 35, charged with indecency with a child, pleaded no contest and was sentenced to 10 years in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

Johnny Nelms pled guilty to a July 31, 1989 charge of delivery of marijuana and was sentenced to serve five years in the TDCJ and was fined $500.

brought international attention to the giant live oak, which according to legend, was the site of a treaty signing between Stephen F. Austin and Indians.

The seven-woman, five-man jury convicted Cullen, 46, on Wednesday night after about 3½ hours of deliberation. But it took more than five hours to reach a decision on a sentence Thursday night.

State District Judge Bob Perkins, who presided over the trial, said people still find "this crime unfathomable in terms of rationale — nobody can figure it out. It makes it that much more of a crime."

Perkins said Cullen would get credit for time he has spent in jail, taking about a year off the sentence.

Cullen, who did not testify during the 9-day trial, showed no emotion and had no comment as he left the courtroom.

registrar, said it is the first time he remembers that a student received two diplomas on the same night. For example, Troy Dale Williamson, who will be among the students receiving AA degrees tonight, received his AAS degree in 1989.

Mrs. Winkler graduated from Snyder High School in 1971 and has also attended Angelo State University. She has been enrolled at WTC for the past three semesters. In the semester just ended, she carried nine hours while holding a fulltime job at West Texas State Bank where she has been employed for six years.

She was recognized as Outstanding Management Student at the 1990 WTC Awards Day, and is a member of the Century II Leadership Program.

She has two children, Banyan and Bryce, and serves as referee commissioner in the local soccer league. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Johnston of Snyder.

Jack Price, Mrs. Winkler's management instructor who nominated her for the Outstanding Student award, said it has been a pleasure to have her in his class.

"She is a good representative of the management program," he says. "Management is a work/study plan in which the student's employment gives practical application of what we study in the classroom. I would like to commend West Texas State Bank and other local employers who cooperate with us in our program."

Today's graduation program, scheduled for 7:30 p.m., will probably mark an end to Mrs. Winkler's college career, at least for the time being. With her busy schedule, she plans to concentrate on her job and family.

Three teens escape serious wreck injuries

Three Scurry County teenagers escaped serious injury Thursday night in a one-car turnover 2.3 miles west of Ira on FM 1606.

Two passengers in the car, Martin Orosco, 18, of 3308 Irving, and Jennifer Allen, 15, of Star Route, Box 77B, in Ira were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder EMS where they were treated and admitted for 23-hour observation.

The driver, William Curtis Jackson, 17, of HC 72 Box 85, Ira, was thrown from the vehicle. Jackson was taken to the Scurry County sheriff's office and charged with driving while intoxicated.

Investigating DPS patrolman Rick Campos said Jackson lost control of the vehicle on a curve, overturned and hit a TU Electric utility pole. The rear of the vehicle sustained major damage.

After 20 years, Lubbock still recalls devastating tornado

By Jim Barlow
Lubbock Avalanche Journal
LUBBOCK (AP) — Twenty years ago today, a force of nature destroyed one-fourth of Lubbock, Texas.

Twenty years later, residents remember the night the Lubbock tornado came to town.

"The house just exploded, disappeared," recalled Connie Delgado.

"The sky had a sick, green-gray color," said Mary Aguilar. "I can still see the color."

With the exception of a construction accident early in the day, a Monday, Lubbock had been quiet all day on May 11, 1970.

The National Weather Service forecast for balmy conditions was issued at 5:10 p.m. with a clear blue sky overhead. Rain was not mentioned.

Less than an hour later, cumulus clouds blossomed. By 7 p.m., rain began falling south of Lubbock. Shortly after 8 p.m., hail the size of eggs, then baseballs, then grapefruit was reported.

The winds intensified, then swirled and spun. Electrical power for much of the city went out. Water pumps were knocked out.

In the dark of the night, downtown Lubbock took a direct hit from a massive tornado — maybe two, perhaps three, investigators and survivors theorized.

Clocks in the 20-story Great Plains Life Building, now called Metro Tower, were frozen by estimated 250 mph winds at precisely 9:45 p.m.

By 10 p.m., cries of pain rang out from 15 square miles of powerless and debris-riddled neighborhoods between downtown and the airport.

The predominantly Hispanic Guadalupe neighborhood, consisting of old wood-frame or stucco homes, and parts of affluent Mesa Road area near the Lubbock Country Club were leveled.

"That night, the streets were more than curb deep in water," recalled then-mayor James Granberry.

All the familiar landmarks were destroyed. Off in the distance, emergency lights were flashing everywhere. There were ruptured gas lines spewing gas up through the water. Electric lines were sparking in the water and darkness.

The new First National Bank building looked like someone had shot it with a giant shotgun. There were automobiles rolled into steel balls. It was a really frightening, frightening sight," Granberry said.

The storm's zone of extensive damage cut a three-quarter-mile-wide path from near Seventh Street and Avenue Q angling to the northeast, gradually reducing in size to a half-mile-wide near Loop 289 and U.S. 87 on to what was then called Lubbock Regional Airport.

The destruction included:
—26 persons dead, including motorists, residents and pedestrians. Many were killed by flying debris.

—As many as 1,500 people injured. More than 650 received hospital treatment.

—100 private aircraft destroyed.

—19 of 23 Air Force trainer aircraft at the municipal airport destroyed.

—600 commercial structures destroyed or severely damaged, including 20 major private and city-county facilities and every motel near Fourth Street and Avenue D.

—100 mobile homes destroyed or severely damaged.

—949 family housing units destroyed or severely damaged.

—9,000 other housing units damaged.

—220 street light poles toppled.

—25,000 telephones knocked out with long-distance service curtailed.

President Richard Nixon declared Lubbock a disaster area two days later.

The designation also covered Hockley, Hale, Briscoe, Donley, Swisher, Gray, Cochran, Lamb and Parmer counties to allow disaster aid for victims of a series of April tornadoes that had spun a trail of destruction and death from Whiteface to Pampa.

Twenty years have passed. The memory never will.

"There was so much destruction here," recalled John Logan, president of the Chamber of Commerce. "We sort of looked at each other...I'm sure our conversation was, 'Where does one start to do anything constructive here?'"

A weather service study noted the storm was unique because of the meteorological conditions, widespread severity, disorganized patterns of structural damage and impact on Lubbock's economic, sociological and political systems.

It affected four areas of Lubbock: the inner city commercial and residential areas; the light industrial district south of Loop 289; the residential area north of the Loop and airport; and a large area south of the city where massive hail stones fell.

Logan, then the chamber's general manager, went to his garage to turn on his radio after the power in his home, near Monterey High School, went out.

"I knew something was going on," he said.

His ensuing trip downtown took one and one-half hours.

"The streets were flooded, the lights were all out, and the closer we got to downtown, the more the amount of debris increased," Logan said.

"I'll have to say, and I'm sure it's been said over and over again, had it been between 4:30 and 6 in the afternoon, with traffic heavy and people moving about...there's no way of knowing how many would have been killed.

"When the sun came out the next day, and we were in Lubbock we could really see the devastation, there was disbelief that this could happen with so much destruction....

"We, the people of Lubbock, had to put this back together.

"The immediate impact was on the families, relatives and friends of those who were killed," Logan said. "Everybody's heart went out to those people."

Granberry assembled a recovery committee to draft a plan for cleaning up the carnage.

"It still remains very, very vivid in my mind how the people of Lubbock united in the recovery effort," Granberry said.

Before the summer was over, Lubbock residents approved a $13.6 million in bonds for a Disaster Recovery Package that featured $7.8 million for the Memorial Civic Center, $1.2 for the public library, $2.8 for the Canyon Lakes projects and $1.8 million for parks.

Three years earlier voters had rejected a Civic Center package.

Airport expansion had been approved in a $14-million bond issue less than one month before the tornado hit.

The Civic Center project became — as well as a monument to those who died in the storm — the focus for a virtual rebirth of the downtown area. Other projects which would cluster around the facility included a new West Texas Hospital, headquarters for the Department of Public Safety, two major hotels and the IBM building.

The storm hit at a time when Lubbock's growth rate had slowed after a decade of population growth and construction boom. On paper, retail sales and bank deposits for the last five years of the 1960s indicated a stagnating yet stable economy.

Granberry said craftsmen had been leaving the city to search for jobs.

Lubbock had been struggling with sharp divisions between whites and blacks, between whites and Hispanics, and between blacks and Hispanics.

"There was a lot of friction," he said, but the tornado brought an "immediate transformation from division to cooperation and compassion."

"The storm," he said, "while a real tragedy" in terms of loss of life and financial status, sparked a decade of growth and prosperity.

"It did clean up an area that was a real blight," he said of the Guadalupe neighborhood, then known as the barrio.

"Nothing could, or can, bring back the people or fill the void in the hearts of those people who lost family members, but it brought things Lubbock might or might not have had," Logan said.

Business was impacted. Some businesses went out of business. Some never went back. Others took their place. Others moved. I don't know if there even was a count of who and how many actually left."

Lumber yards and other construction-related businesses, however, saw the demand for their products jump.

"We had a boom on the one hand and a complete wipeout on the other, depending on who you were," Logan said.

"I think, in the long run, Lubbock benefited from the storm, although nothing can take the place of the lives that were lost," Logan said. "The economic impact of the rebuilding, the federal and state funds and the community's determination stand out."

Trinity River Bottom residents bracing for predicted flooding

DAYTON, Texas (AP) — Each day, water from a small nearby lake edges closer to Elaine Coward's home. When it reaches her driveway — she's gone.

She expects to be leaving soon, perhaps as early as Sunday, to avoid the anticipated flooding from waters that continue to rampage in the Trinity River.

"There's nowhere for it to go but to head for the Gulf," Ms. Coward said Thursday. "But it's got to run over us first."

The predicted flooding are the result of heavy rains more than a week ago that inundated north Texas, more than 200 miles away. The waters are headed for Lake Livingston and eventually the Gulf of Mexico.

But there are many communities in the path, including the Liberty-Dayton area about 40 miles east of Houston, where residents have been told they may be hit with the worst flooding in 80 years.

Some dirt roads already are covered with water, but the real flooding isn't expected until early next week.

During the past week, many residents threatened by floodwaters have moved their belongings to higher ground and made plans to stay elsewhere.

At Ms. Coward's home, which she has owned for 12 years, the furniture is up on blocks. Clothes, important documents and mementos have been moved into a travel trailer where she too will live temporarily if her home is flooded.

"It's hard to accept the fact that the water is going to come into your home," she said Thursday. "It's heartbreaking."

Last July, her home was flooded by rain, causing $7,000 worth of damage. It took four months to repair the house, which is located in a community several miles from Dayton.

Now, Ms. Coward keeps an eye on the lake as it fills, creeping to the edge of her yard. Once it reaches her driveway, she said she knows it is time to take the dog and leave.

The potential flooding is the talk of this town of about 6,000 residents, even though many are not expected to be hurt by it.

"If they're not personally affected, they have family or friends who are," Ms. Coward said.

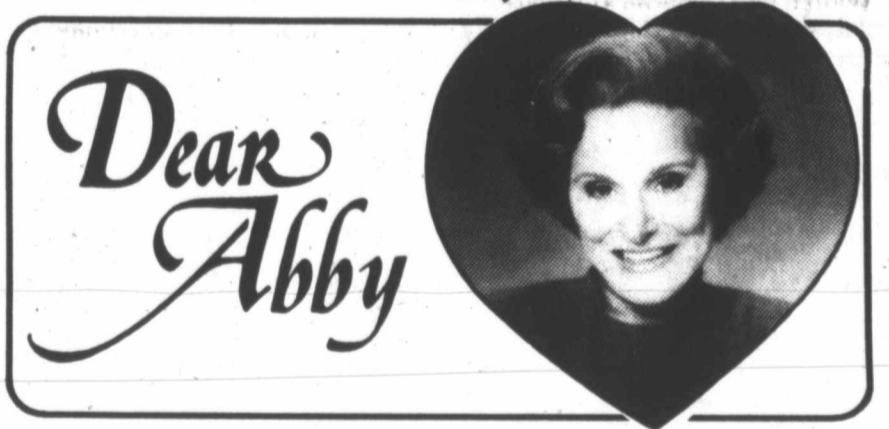

Jim Mitchum, emergency management director for Liberty County, said Thursday there already is flooding in some areas because of the large releases from Livingston Dam, about 25 miles to the north.

Exactly one year ago, Mitchum said, his agency was dealing with flood victims after receiving 15½ inches of rain.

"How's that for an anniversary?" he says.

Mitchum predicted about 700 people will be affected either by having their homes flooded or through other inconveniences such as washed out roads. An area judge Monday issued a voluntary evacuation notice to people in low-lying areas in Liberty County.

"I promise you that many, many left," Mitchum said.

Doctors Speak in Tongues As Well as Examine Them

DEAR ABBY: So many physicians today seem to be of foreign extraction. I have no problem with that, if one can understand them. However, my gynecologist's new partner is Asian, and I often leave his office wondering what he has told me.

I shudder to think that one day I might need surgery. How can the operating nurses understand the surgeon's orders when the surgeon's incomprehensible speech is further muffled by a surgical face mask?

Since these physicians (and other professionals who deal with the public) apparently intend to stay in the United States, would they please consider some diction lessons? They all seem to be taking golf, tennis, music and computer lessons. And skiing lessons are a family "must" for them, so please ask them to consider some kind of speech lessons.

BEWILDERED PATIENT

say that excessive tickling stimulates children inappropriately, and instead of experiencing pleasure, they experience pain.

Tell this "playful" relative to keep his hands off the girls. And remind him that in ancient times, tickling was used as a method of torture.

DEAR ABBY: We are writing, hoping you will pass on our story as a safety warning to others.

Our daughter was married recently and all the bouquets held hurricane globes with lighted candles. Our daughter visualized how she wanted the flowers to be done, and they were lovely. However, what happened could have been the most tragic thing anyone could imagine.

Her long hair fell into the candle in her bouquet, and the flame instantly went right up the side of her head! Her husband immediately put out the fire with his bare hands, and thank God no one was hurt.

We are telling everyone we know never to use candles in the bridal bouquets. We hope that your wide circulation will prevent a tragedy from happening.

'Down on luck' get cards for their mom

AUSTIN (AP) — Somebody in Austin loves you, Mom.

The message may have been a long time coming, but it's on its way now, a pledge of affection tucked inside pastel envelopes destined for Mexican casas, Iowa farmhouses and urban Illinois townhouses.

To California and Florida, to Ohio and Mississippi, the cards from the soup kitchen are on their way.

It may have been months, or even years since you've heard anything from them, but your kids are hanging in there. They haven't forgotten.

It's just that lots of things have been getting in the way of family reunions. Surviving, for instance. Finding jobs, a house, enough to eat. Summoning enough self-esteem to get through this situation called homelessness.

Just before he went through the lunch line at Caritas Austin Baptist Chapel on Thursday, Al Alexander walked up to the table behind the yellow shed, picked out a card adorned with pink flowers and addressed it to someone special in Arkansas.

He penned a little message that told his mother "I'm going to try to come home soon, and thanks for the loan."

It's been eight years since Alexander saw his mother. That was just before he rode into Austin in the boom times with dreams of making it big as a singer. But Austin, and Alexander, soon fell on hard times.

It's been eight years since Alexander's gone home because "I was determined I wasn't going to leave broke, but..."

The Ladies of Charity aren't sure who thought up the idea to provide Mother's Day cards to the people who gather each day at the East First Street soup kitchen. It just came up in conversation. But once the idea was born, the volunteers went begging at Austin businesses for donated cards, and they bought lots of stamps — the pretty ones that say "LOVE."

Several men and women among the lunch crowd of 100 took advantage of the match of sentiment and convenience. Some purposefully avoided listing a return address. A few simply couldn't remember where their mothers live.

"One young man said he hasn't seen or corresponded with his mother in six years," said Frances Doetsch, a Ladies of Charity volunteer. "Don't you know she's going to be thrilled? I hope she's still alive."

Fourteen-year-old Gerardo Garcia Gareia and his friend, Jesus Jimenez Lara, 17, wrote long messages on their cards. And they wanted to know how quickly the cards would get to their mothers in Mexico.

Berry's World

DEAR ABBY: Please let me know what doctors say about a grown man tickling girls who are 10 and 11 years old. The girls scream hysterically and try to get free, but he holds them and tickles them all the more. He happens to be a relative.

I am very much concerned for the girls even though others say the girls enjoy it because they laugh and scream.
