Law officials warn pyramid schemes are illegal in Texas

Although no formal complaints have been logged with local law enforcement officials, residents were warned that participation in a pyramid scheme remains illegal in Texas.

District Attorney Ernie Armstrong said such programs surface from time to time. He noted that honest citizens unknowingly get involved, and he warned that residents should be made aware to avoid such programs.

One of the latest to surface is called "Advisory Board" being operated statewide under the pretense of being a mail-order catalog co-op.

A suit has been filed against Mary Vannoy Schermerhorn of Bracketville, doing business as World of Products Cooperative, and World of Products. The pyramid is commonly called "Advisory Board."

In the suit, Attorney General Jim Mattox alleges that members are required to pay $150 for the right to recruit other members. When a member recruits another, he is allowed to keep $50 of the member fee.

Mattox says another $50 goes to the defendant, and the remaining $50 is sent to a person whose name is at the top of a list of "Advisory Board" members.

In order to become a member of the Advisory Board, a member must sell two memberships within two weeks. New members are added at the bottom of a 10 member list, and new lists are created for each new member.

Mattox says in the suit that 1,024 people must join the scheme before any one member can receive his $50 fee from each new member. "And in order for those 1,024 people to reach the top of the list, another 1,048,576 people must join." At the top level, promotional literature promises income in excess of $50,000.

Members are also sent a catalog from which they can order general merchandise at prices below retail. Mattox, however, noted that retail prices in the catalog bear no relationship to the prices regularly charged for the same items in the open market.

Mattox said it is just another endless chain scheme in which only a few profit. The case is being reviewed and others could be added as defendants, the attorney general said.

Hermleigh students to graduate May 25

Nine seniors and 12 eighth graders will graduate from Hermleigh Schools on Friday, May 25, beginning at 8 a.m. in the auditorium.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Lawrence Clayton of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

Honor students will each give a short speech. High school honor students include Tisha Crumly, valedictorian and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Crumly, and Crystal Church, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Church, as the salutatorian.

Junior high honorees include Chris Lambaren, valedictorian, and Melinda Estrada, salutatorian. Lambaren is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Lambaren and Estrada is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angel Estrada.

Rev. Rex Reynolds, pastor of First Baptist Church in Hermleigh, will give the invocation. Cheryl Beeks will play the processional and Doug Cook, senior class sponsor, will be in charge of the tassel ceremony.

Superintendent Jerry Church and Jimmy Hudgins, president of the school board, will hand out diplomas. Tommy Riley, principal, will hand out awards.

Senior class members will conduct the Red Rose Ceremony at the end of commencement exercises.

High school ushers include Melissa Anderson and Robert Romero. For the junior high, ushers will be Lori Anderson and Charles Sweatt.

Graduating seniors in addition to the valedictorian and salutatorian include: Allan Jones, Laramie Collier, Marie Sanchez, Manuel Castillo, Susi Harty, Karen Olsen and Rebecca Hermosillo.

Graduating eighth graders in addition to the valedictorian and salutatorian include Norma Alfaro, Buddy Atkinson, Jay Harty, John Harty, Freddie Martinez, Kim Matthews, Leon Mireles, Eric Romero, Sheri Sandefur and Monica Verdine.

Ira sets graduation exercises on Friday

Ira plans its commencement for Friday, May 25, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Some 19 seniors and 22 eighth graders will graduate that night.

The Rev. C. E. Cox, pastor of the Church of God in Ira, will be the guest speaker. Addresses will also be given by high school valedictorian Julie Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Williams, and salutatorian Susan Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Johnson.

School officials taking part in the program include Superintendent Ted Bedwell; Rick Howard, newly hired principal; Ben High, interim principal; and Sidney Wall, president of the school board.

Honor guards include Dave Holmes and Amy Shoultz.

Seniors, in addition to the top students, include Michelle Smith, Lori Clark, Amy Webster, Chris Espino, Brandy Robbins, Sherry Goswick, Cindy Groce, Andrea Shatney, Stephanie Weber, Denver Oppogard, Shane Ballard, Jason Withers, David Reyna, Tomas Juarez, Craig McMullen, Greg Box and Shane Bearden.

SHS Powder Puff activities Monday; senior plans noted

Traditional activities for Snyder High School seniors begin with the Powder Puff pep rally at 2:15 p.m. Monday in the school gymnasium.

Several senior events are scheduled, culminating with Operation Graduation on June 2.

Monday's pep rally will be followed by the annual Powder Puff volleyball game, in which girls coach the boys. The traditional Powder Puff football game is slated for 6 p.m. Monday at Tiger Stadium. In that game, the girls are players, coached by the boys. Boys also serve as cheerleaders.

Tickets to the volleyball game are 50 cents each. Powder Puff football game tickets are $1 each.

On Friday, May 25, the annual senior steak supper will be held at Towle Park Barn. The supper will begin at 7 p.m.

Senior activities end with Operation Graduation, an all-night drug- and alcohol-free party to follow graduation.

Following graduation ceremonies, there will be a dance at Scurry County Coliseum from 10:30 p.m. on June 1 until 2 a.m. on June 2. The graduation party begins at 2 a.m. at Western Texas College Gym. Various events, including a silent auction, are planned. The college swimming pool will also be available to the students.

Drawings will be held throughout the early morning hours with a grand prize to be given away at 6 a.m. Students who stay from 2 a.m. until 6 a.m. are eligible for the prizes.

The students have also been issued tickets to a 6 a.m. breakfast at McDonald's.

Monies raised from the events will help to offset costs for senior activities. Operation Graduation is accepting prizes, or monetary donations with which prizes will be purchased. Anyone wishing to help should contact Carol Ig-

Medrano trial set Monday

A 90-member jury panel has been called Monday in 132nd District Court for the attempted capital murder and aggravated robbery trial of Raymond Medrano Jr.

Jurors are to report at 9 a.m. in Judge Gene Dulaney's court. District Attorney Ernie Armstrong will represent the state and defense attorney is James Clark of Snyder.

The 42-year-old Medrano of 1900 Ave. 1 is charged with attempted capital murder and aggravated robbery of Gilberto Jimenez of 1401 20th St. on Sept. 9. Medrano was indicted by a Scurry County grand jury on Oct. 2 for the alleged stabbing and robbery.

SHL absentee voting period ends Monday

Some 275 people have voted absentee so far in the Silver-Haired Legislature election.

Ruth West of Snyder is running unopposed for her first time in the Silver-Haired Legislature (SHL) as representative from District 3, which includes Scurry and 11 other counties.

Absentee voting continues through 4 p.m. Monday at Scurry County Senior Citizens Center. Officials have noted that absentee ballots will be brought to any homebound voters if they will contact the center.

The election will be held at the center on Tuesday from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1-3 p.m.

Voters will also be electing an at-large candidate who will represent the 19 counties of the West Central Council of Governments.

Although West is unopposed, the center is encouraging voters to cast their ballots both to show their support for her and for the SHL. All county residents age 60 and older who are registered voters are eligible to vote.

The SHL was created by the Texas Legislature to encourage all Texans to learn more about the operation of their state government and to give older Texans an avenue of contact with the legislature and the governor. Members of the non-partisan SHL pay their own expenses to attend the SHL session in Austin.

Election judge is Loyed Dempsey, who will be assisted by Purnie Dempsey and Annie Mae Allen and Ollie Clements.

Blood drive set Sunday

United Blood Services of Lubbock, in conjunction with the local National Guard Armory, is sponsoring a blood drive Sunday from 7:30-11:30 a.m. and 12:30-4 p.m. in Towle Park.

United Blood Services is a non-profit community blood center, which provides blood and blood products for patients in area medical facilities.

Giving blood takes about 30 minutes, only 10 minutes of which are actually spent with the donation process. The first step is a brief interview and a check of temperature, blood pressure, pulse and blood iron level.

Following the donation, donors are invited to rest and enjoy a light refreshment.

UBS serves 30 hospitals in a 35,000 square mile area, spanning northwest Texas and eastern New Mexico. More than 506,000 people depend on United Blood Services and volunteer donors for blood and blood components they may need.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Dating is a hit-or-miss proposition—if she's not a hit, she remains a miss."

Times have changed since we grew up in an oilfield town where everybody was poor—even those who pretended not to be.

Because the prom in Snyder was set this weekend, a little item in the Wall Street Journal caught our attention: According to the financial newspaper, prom spending on a nationwide basis is strong.

Snyder's social shindig is nothing like teens attend in San Francisco's ritzy Fairmont Hotel's Tona Room. During prom season, it is said to be sold out nearly every weekend.

Nationwide, girls begin the hunt for that unique prom dress in February—often before she even has a date. One publication says prom dresses may run as much as $700. Prom magazine reports that the cost per couple runs between $300 and $1,000.

Although not normally a part of the local scene, some kids in the urban areas may rent a stretch limo at the hourly rate of $100.

We did a little research about the Snyder prom and found out that the cost of a prom date will run from $269 per couple to $389.

Our source tells us that a dress likely will cost $175, $18 for a hair-do, as much as $30 for a girl's flower and $11 for the guy's.

The girl's shoes, which likely will have to be dyed to match the special dress, will run another 30 bucks. The fellow will spend up to $100 renting a tuxedo. If they eat out, the couple could spend another $25. And to capture this special moment, pictures will run an additional $10.

That doesn't include gasoline for the family's best car, nor the tranquilizers that mom downed trying to make it through the evening.

Q—I noticed an article about the Borden County Rodeo in June. Will they also be having the Trades Day this year?

A—Yes, The Borden County Junior Rodeo is set nightly at 7:30 June 8-9 and Trades Day in Gail will be held June 9-10.

In Brief

Pact possible

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of State James A. Baker III said today that a "trail-blazing agreement" on U.S.-Soviet cooperation to ban superpower production of chemical weapons would be signed at the Washington summit at the end of the month.

The two sides also have resolved major disputes on cutting their strategic nuclear arms, Baker announced at a news conference.

His comments followed four days of intensive negotiations on an agenda for the May 31-June 3 summit.

Local

Reception

A reception to honor Brice and Joyce Fuqua will be held from 2-4 p.m. Sunday at Hermleigh School.

The Fuquas are retiring from the school after 23 years.

Commissioners

Scurry County Commissioners Court will convene at 10 a.m. Monday. The only item on the agenda is a request from the justice of the peace for permission to dispose of old records.

AARP meets

The local AARP chapter will meet at 1 p.m. Monday in the Senior Citizens Center. Guest will be Norman Burgess, who will sing and speak to the group.

A board executive session will precede the meeting at noon.

Teachers

Scurry County Retired Teachers Association will meet at 11:30 a.m. Monday at The Shack.

Speaker for the Dutch treat luncheon will be C.D. Holmes, a member of the Texas Retired Teachers Legislative Committee. He will speak on upcoming legislation which concerns Texas retired teachers.

Alzheimer's

The local Alzheimer's Support Group will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the Trinity United Methodist Church parlor.

The program will include services provided by Cogdell Hospital Home Health Service and I.D. bracelet information.

Ringleader acquitted of murder

NEW YORK (AP) — One day after another youth was convicted of murdering a black teenager in an unprovoked racial attack by a white mob, the group's alleged ringleader was acquitted of murder.

The verdict Friday in the case of Keith Mondello, no less than that of Joseph Fama the day before, had been closely watched by city residents fearful that a sense of injustice could provoke racial violence.

Supporters of the family of the black victim, 16-year-old Yusuf Hawkins, took to the streets Friday night, but there was little violence. Five local television news employees received minor injuries in attacks by demonstrators.

Hawkins was shot to death Aug. 23 after he and three friends were surrounded by a mob of about 30 whites in the mostly Italian-American Bensonhurst area of Brooklyn.

Mayor David Dinkins asked New Yorkers to join in a "weekend of unity" in the wake of the verdicts.

"I ask those of you who grieve over the loss of Yusuf not to be swayed by those who would use this occasion to spread their venom and cause our city more pain," Dinkins said.

Mondello, his hands clenched on the table in front of him, stared at the ceiling crying as jury forewoman Mimi Snowden announced "not guilty" verdicts for charges of murder and manslaughter.

Before Ms. Snowden could pronounce the 19-year-old defendant guilty of 12 lesser charges, near bedlam erupted in the courtroom as supporters of Hawkins parents jumped to their feet screaming at the jurors.

The jury convicted Mondello on charges of riot, unlawful imprisonment, discrimination, and menacing and criminal possession of a weapon, a baseball bat. Prosecutors said they would request the maximum sentence, eight to 24 years in prison.

Mondello was jailed pending sentencing June 11 by Judge Thaddeus Owens.

Anger quickly spread to the streets outside the Brooklyn courthouse, where scores of people had gathered for more than a week awaiting the verdicts in the Fama and Mondello trials.

"I lived 60 years to see the white man win again," one woman yelled.

Vaughan to graduate on June 3

David Bradley Vaughan will be awarded a degree in medicine from the University of Texas Health Science Center in San Antonio in commencement ceremonies set for June 3. Dr. Louis Sullivan, secretary of Health and Human Services, will give the commencement address.

Dr. Vaughan has been accepted into a family practice residency at the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine in Tulsa, Okla.

He, along with his wife and son, will remain in Tulsa for three years, after which he plans to return to Texas to establish a private practice.

Vaughan is a 1980 Magna Cum Laude graduate of Baylor University in Waco, where he earned a bachelor of music in piano performance. He is the son of Louie T. and Judy Vaughan, and the grandson of Louise and the late Louie Albert Vaughan of Snyder.

HONOR STUDENTS — These Ira Junior High School students have been named top graduates of the 1989-90 eighth grade class. Amy Holmes, left, is the valedictorian. Lana Lindsey, right, is the salutatorian. Holmes, the daughter of Michael and Sandra Holmes, has a grade point average of 95.03. Lindsey, the daughter of Jesse and Wanda Lindsey, has a grade point average of 95.01. (SDN Staff Photo)

Domino tournament slated Monday in Senior Center

A domino tournament for senior citizens will get underway at 9 a.m. Monday in the Senior Citizens Center.

Other specials will include a country/western dance at 7 p.m. Tuesday and a musical program by the Browning Band starting at 11 a.m. Tuesday. The Sunshine Choir will be performing in Abilene on Tuesday and at Snyder Oaks on Thursday afternoon.

Regular activities throughout the week include the exercise class at 11 a.m. each day, an AARP chapter meeting at 1 p.m. Monday, the Golden K Kiwanis Club meeting at noon Tuesday, an aerobics class for women at 3 p.m. Monday and Wednesday, and the Sing Along at 11:30 a.m. Friday.

Swimnastics meetings have been recessed while Western Texas College is between semesters and will resume on June 4.

All county residents 60 and older who are registered voters are urged to vote in the Silver Haired Legislature (SHL) on May 22 or to vote absentee on weekdays in the center through May 21.

Ruth West, a member of the center's advisory council, is running unopposed for representative of District 3 but would like a large voter turnout to show the community's support for the SHL and its work.

Library seeks summer volunteers

Scurry County Library is looking for summer volunteer workers age 12 and above.

Volunteers are asked to work a three-hour block of time, once a week, from June 5 through Aug. 10.

Responsibilities include checking books in and out at the circulation desk, arranging books in alphabetical order on book trucks, putting books up and straightening shelves, and meeting the public pleasantly.

Volunteers perform a service to the community and learn to use and enjoy the library. They will be presented a letter of commendation at the end of the summer, which can be helpful on college and future employment applications.

In addition, a party for all volunteers will be held in August. Application forms are being given out at the schools, or may be picked up at the library.

Anyone interested in being a volunteer should turn in their application by May 31.

Reception planned for triplets in Sweetwater

SWEETWATER — A reception is planned for Faith Davis, Hope Brock and Charity Lawson of Sweetwater from 2-4 p.m. Sunday at the Senior Nutrition Activities Program building. The three women are triplets who are turning 91. The public is invited to attend. They were born May 18, 1899, to Mr. and Mrs. Elza Cardwell in Elmont. After six months, the girls still didn't have names. President Grover Cleveland's wife heard about the girls and named the triplets, suggesting words from 1 Corinthians 13:13. It is believed that Faith, Hope and Charity are the oldest triplets in Texas — and possibly the United States.

Tammy Ritchey named Student Teacher of Year

The education department of Lubbock Christian University has named senior Tammy Ritchey Secondary Student Teacher of the Year. The award was presented at the annual all-school banquet April 27.

Ritchey completed her student teaching work at Frenship High School in Wolforth May 1 and will graduate from Lubbock Christian University in December of this year.

Ritchey, a 1987 graduate of Snyder High School, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ritchey of Lubbock and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rainwater of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Mack Ritchey of Colorado City.

Former beauty queen's dad indicted

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — A judge here has indicted the father of a former Miss El Paso on a cocaine possession charge, a published report said.

And Baldomero Fuentes, a reputed drug lord, may be charged with other crimes as early as today, according to the El Paso Herald-Post.

The indictment Friday means that Fuentes, charged with smuggling 27 tons of marijuana into the United States in the last two years, will remain in jail, said Juarez federal district attorney Cruz Lopez.

"That charge alone is enough to tie him up for some time. I'm satisfied that justice is taking its course," Lopez said.

WTC plans series of summer camps

The first of a series of summer day camps for children from 6-11 will start June 4 at Western Texas College.

Mike Harrison, physical education instructor at WTC, will be camp director. He will also be starting swimming lessons for children on June 4.

Children from 6-8 will attend Maverick Camps while children 9-11 will attend Mustang Camps. They may select a morning session from 8:30 a.m. to noon or the afternoon session from 1:30-5 p.m. Cost will be $40 per child.

Activities will include swimming, games, movies, kickball, and (for the older group) softball. To register, call 573-8511, ext. 240.

A gold spike was driven at Promontory, Utah, on May 10, 1869, to mark the completion of the first transcontinental railroad in the United States.

Egyptian president reconciles with Soviets

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Hosni Mubarak has completed a six-year process of reconciliation with the Soviet Union without damaging Egypt's special relationship with the United States.

Mubarak returned home with political and economic benefits for Egypt after a 46-hour visit to Moscow this week, the first by an Egyptian head of state in 18 years.

He won Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev's public support for his Middle East policies. It included Gorbachev's strong condemnation of Israel for allowing Soviet Jewish immigrants to settle on occupied Arab territories.

The two nations also signed an agreement that holds the promise of substantial Soviet economic aid for Egypt during the 1990s.

Perhaps more importantly, the improvement in Cairo-Moscow relations has not come at Washington's expense.

There was no hint during Mubarak's visit of any Soviet intent to revive the Kremlin's old role as Egypt's principal arms supplier, a function that the United States assumed in 1980. Nor was there any suggestion of Moscow trying to join the United States in current Middle East peacemaking efforts.

Rather, Mubarak came away with a Soviet pledge to support U.S. and Egyptian efforts to initiate a Palestinian-Israeli dialogue in Cairo. Previously, Moscow's policy focused solely on the Israeli-spurred idea of an international Middle East peace conference.

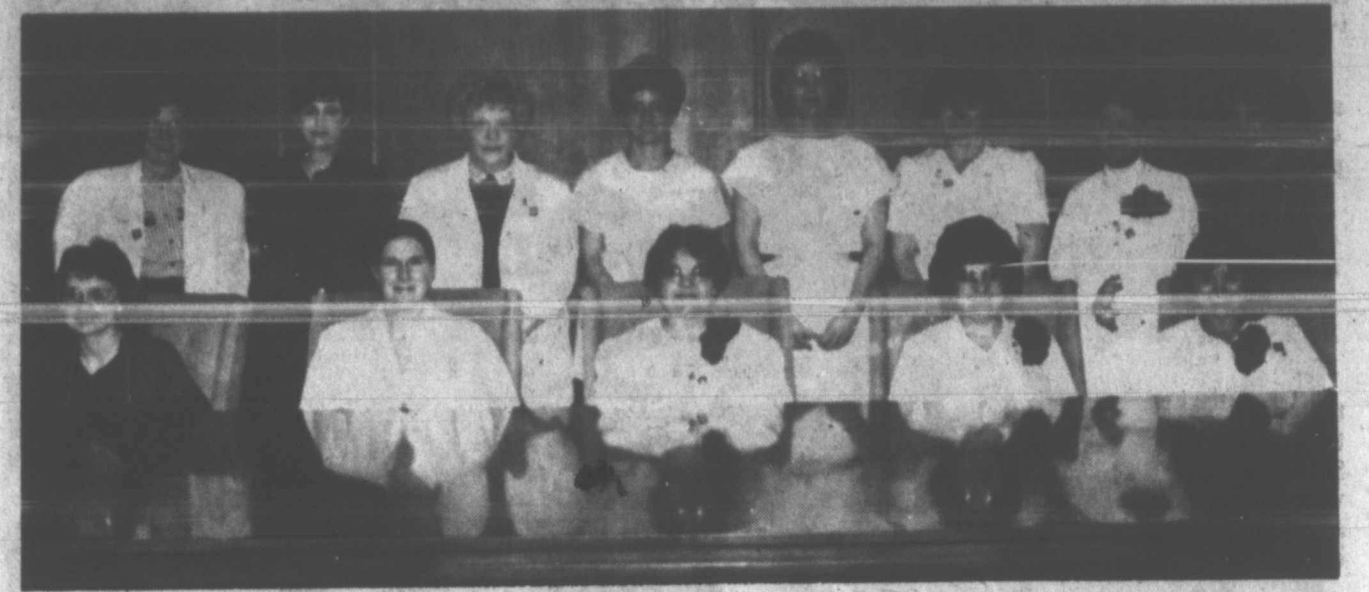

Mubarak's visit came six years after he initiated a policy of trying to normalize relations with the Soviet Union, where as a young air force officer he trained to be a fighter pilot.

He began by restoring diplomatic representation to the level of ambassador. Later, he mended other fences smashed by his predecessor, Anwar Sadat.

Sadat, assassinated by Moslem extremists almost nine years ago, was the last Egyptian head of state to visit Moscow, in 1972 just before relations soured. First the Soviets refused to meet Egypt's arms requests. Sadat reacted with sweeping reprisals including expelling 17,000 Soviet military personnel.

Despite the improvement in relations since 1984, there remained what one Egyptian official termed "a psychological absence of personal, face-to-face contact at the top."

Financial Focus

Ever wonder how to pick winners in the stock market? Some people use systems or, more professionally, "stock market theories."

Here are several theories you may want to read and then forget. If you enjoy a laugh or two, thank Richard Maturi and Sherri Buri of CHANGING TIMES magazine, who did a little tongue-in-cheek investigative reporting.

For football fans, there is The Super Bowl Stock Market Theory. It's simple. If a team whose roots are in the old National Football League wins the Super Bowl, stock prices go up that year. If, on the other hand, the winning team dates back to the old American Football League, the market gets "sacked." The scary thing is, the system has worked every year but two since 1967, when the Super Bowl began.

Prefer baseball? If the New York Mets make it to the World Series, the stock market "strikes out" the following year. The Mets have made it to the Series only three times — 1969, 1973 and 1986 — and who can forget the Black Monday of 1987?

One more for the sports fans. Horse racing. Try The Triple Crown Reverse Theory. In eight of the 11 years since 1919 that one horse has won The Triple Crown — The Kentucky Derby, The Preakness and The Belmont Stakes — the Dow wound up in the "loser's circle."

Friday the 13th has also proved unlucky for stocks. Two professors at The University of Miami tracked trading results on Friday the 13th between 1962 and 1985. They claim prices fell an average of 25 percent on every Friday the 13th during that period. Remember Friday, Oct. 12, 1989, when the market dropped 190 points? And market data for that date wasn't even included in the study.

Here's one for the Irish. The market tends to be bullish on St. Patrick's Day. Maybe that's because it has the "green light."

Politicians may not inspire investing, but presidential election years are supposed to be good for stocks. Incidentally, the fifth year of the decade is considered a plus, too.

Let's not forget fashion. Stock prices go up with hemlines and narrow neckties, and high hairdos signal a top of the market.

With wisdom like this, who needs research? The fact is that no one should put their faith in such oddball theories. William LeFevre, who writes a "Monday Morning Market Memo" for the New York-based firm Advest says it best, "Guys like me just use them to fill space."

That's what I do, too.

If you're an employee of Chevron we need to talk.

Leaving the company with a big check from your retirement plan? If so, you need to find out your investment options right away. If you don't, a big portion of that check could go to Uncle Sam. We want to make sure you get the most out of your lump sum distribution. Call or stop by today for a free consultation.

Basic gas, arc welding classes slated at WTC

Basic gas and arc welding will be taught at the same time in a Continuing Education course scheduled to begin at Western Texas College June 4.

Students will receive 45 hours of instruction in classes meeting from 6:30-10:30 p.m. on Mondays and Tuesdays through July 10. They will decide whether they will work with the gas or arc welding. Jeff Stewart, owner of Stewart Welding Co. in Snyder, will be the instructor.

Fees will be $86.25 per person including the lab fee. Students will be provided with a list of equipment they will need such as a hood and gloves.

To pre-register, call 573-8511, ext. 240. Minimum enrollment will be 10, with the maximum set at 18.

Pope John Paul II turned 70 Friday

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II turned 70 Friday but the Vatican marked the day with little fanfare and no public birthday party.

The Vatican was "overwhelmed" by messages and telephone calls pouring in from well-wishing world leaders too numerous to identify, papal spokesman Joaquin Navarro said.

No public celebration was planned and Navarro said he knew of no private celebration plans.

The Rome newspaper Il Messaggero published a front-page article written by Lech Walesa, the leader of the Solidarity labor movement in the pope's native Poland, who praised the pope for helping to transform Europe.

"Today a Europe of free nations has become a reality and I think that many people in Europe will thank God for giving the world John Paul II," it said.

John Paul held his usual audiences Friday and delivered several speeches.

The Vatican daily newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, marked the birthday with the headline "Best Wishes, Holy Father" and articles and photos on his 11½ years as head of the Roman Catholic Church.

'Cocaine Alley' found under U.S. and Mexican border

DOUGLAS, Ariz. (AP) — A fortified tunnel under the U.S.-Mexico border — and the noses of U.S. Customs agents — allowed drug dealers to smuggle at least a ton of cocaine into the United States while smuggling profits out.

U.S. authorities and Mexican Judicial Police Thursday night jointly raided the tunnel connecting a warehouse on the American side of the border and a single-family home 200 feet south in Agua Prieta, Mexico.

Thomas McDermott, in charge of the U.S. Customs Service in Arizona, described the concrete-lined tunnel dubbed "Cocaine Alley" as "the most unique smuggling operation I have ever come across."

"A tremendous amount of engineering went into it," he said.

"It was like something out of a James Bond movie," Customs spokeswoman Judy Turner said Friday.

A hydraulically lifted concrete slab covered the entrance on the Mexican side, with a pool table covering the slab.

Both the warehouse and home were owned by Rafael Francisco Camarena, 33, of Mexico. McDermott declined to say whether there was a warrant for Camarena's arrest, but said two other men were arrested near Phoenix on May 11.

About 25 or 30 pounds of marijuana were found in the Mexican part of the tunnel, he said.

The tunnel was estimated to have cost at least $1 million and was within one block of an unmarked Customs enforcement building and four blocks from the international port of entry.

McDermott said he had no estimate of how much cocaine had been smuggled through the tunnel.

The proximity to American authorities indicated the sophistication of drug smugglers and the measures such groups will take to move dope into the United States, McDermott said.

There had been speculation for years that tunnels were being used, but "they weren't talking about this type of tunnel," he said. The tunnel "really shows what the profit motive is. It's not just cocaine coming in, it's the profits probably going back.

"It's a helluva way to get cash out of a country."

Turner said, "It was something that you and I in the ordinary world would only find in the movies."

The raid followed months of investigation and the seizure May 11 of 2,258 pounds of cocaine near Phoenix that was traced to the warehouse.

SPORTS

Area squads in playoffs

MIDLAND — Pecos' Cruz Abila weathered a rough first inning to claim a 13-5 Class 4-A area baseball playoff win Friday night here against the Lubbock Estacado Matadors.

The two teams were scheduled to finish the best-of-three series here starting at 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

Abila allowed three runs in the opening stanza on a double from EHS talent Dion Thompson, four walks and three errors.

He then settled down to face just 13 batters the next four innings.

Pecos, now 18-8 on the campaign, is the District 4-4A runner-up to the Andrews Mustangs.

Andrews has already earned a berth in the Region I semifinals by defeating Pampa, 5-2, in a one-game playoff last Tuesday.

The Mustangs will face the winner of the Crowley-Belton matchup, which went to a third game Saturday.

The winner of the Pecos contest will go up against the Brownwood Lions, 10-5 winners over Boswell Thursday, in the next round of the post-season tournament.

In other local action Lamesa, District 3-3A runner-up with a 12-10 slate, will face Alpine, winners of District 4-3A, at 6 p.m. Tuesday in Monahans.

Lamesa advanced on the strength of a 6-4 win over Brownfield last Tuesday that tied them with loop foe Seminole.

The Tornados will represent the district in the playoffs by virtue of their regular season sweep of the Indians.

Snyder girls travel to national tourney

Snyder will send two teams of girls' Little Dribblers basketball all-stars to the national tournament in Seminole scheduled for June 6-9.

Other areas fielding teams for the event include Brownfield, the Dallas-Ft. Worth Metroplex, Levelland, Lubbock, Amarillo, Weatherford, Big Spring and more.

The Snyder junior and major teams are both slated to begin play at 11:45 Wednesday, June 6. The junior squad will face Levelland in their opener and the majors will battle Mid-Cities Trinity in the first game of the double-elimination tourney for them.

Michelle Arnold, Kristy Bollinger, Haley Brown, Jamie Burleson, Kacy Cole, Halae Huestis, Melanie Kidd, Lila King, Erin Maytubby, Lisa McNair, Jocelyn Pinkerton and Marissa Wilson make up the roster of the junior team coached by Luann Burleson and Sherry Kidd.

Bulls, Pistons to meet

NBA Eastern Conference finals begin today

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (AP) — Michael Jordan has been scoring more while working less. It's the sort of thing that makes Joe Dumars tired just thinking about it.

Dumars, of course, will be guarding Jordan today when the Chicago Bulls come to town for the start of the Eastern Conference finals against the Detroit Pistons.

The Bulls finished the regular season with a 55-27 record, second-best in team history and second-best in the conference to the 59-23 record of Detroit.

The Pistons and Bulls met in the conference finals last year, too, and Chicago went up 2-1 before Detroit found its stride. Those were the only two games the Pistons lost as they swept the Los Angeles Lakers in the NBA Finals to win their first championship.

Dumars remembers that series all too well.

"I was too tired even to put a smile on my face," he said. "You have to work hard against him if you hope to have any chance. Michael's a handful. How's that for understatement?"

The Bulls increased their scoring average from 106.4 to 109.5, ninth in the NBA. For the first time in recent history, five players — Jordan (33.6), Scottie Pippen (16.5), Horace Grant (13.4), Bill Cartwright (11.4) and John Paxson (10.0) — averaged in double figures.

Except for Cartwright, all increased their output from a year ago.

And Jordan won the NBA scoring crown for the fourth consecutive year.

"We've matured and improved as a team," Jordan said. "We're ready to take on the test."

Although Jordan played virtually the same number of minutes and took 169 more shots, his workload decreased. With Paxson at point guard, Jordan didn't have to handle the ball as much.

And with Pippen taking on more of the scoring load inside, Jordan didn't have to be involved in as many isolations and screen-rolls.

The best-of-7 series begins at 1 p.m. EDT. The second game will be Tuesday at 8 p.m., then action shifts to Chicago Stadium for afternoon games Saturday and Monday.

The winner of the series advances to the NBA Finals against the Western Conference champion. If the Pistons get past Chicago, they could become only the third franchise in NBA history to repeat as champions.

Crenshaw takes Colonial lead

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Ben Crenshaw battled back from a pair of penalties on one swing and gained a share the lead Friday after two rounds of the Colonial golf tournament.

But for a losing skirmish with the rule book on the 12th hole at the Colonial Country Club, Crenshaw would have a two-shot advantage over Russ Cochran at the tournament's halfway point.

As it was, a self-imposed penalty and another assessed a couple of holes later turned Crenshaw's potential 63 into a 65 and left him in a tie for the top spot with the

Junior clinic is scheduled

A pair of local golf pros are teaming up to present the Snyder Junior Golf Clinic June 5-8 at Snyder Country Club.

Rick Mammolite of Snyder Country Club and Dave Foster of Western Texas College, both Class A pros, will be the instructors for the clinic.

Instruction will cost $35 and pre-registration is required.

"It's a great way for the young golfer to learn or improve their basic skills," said Foster.

Classes for ages 10 and under will commence at 8 a.m. and run until 9:45 a.m. while the 11-17 group will attend the clinic from 10-11:45 a.m.

For more information or to register contact Snyder Country Club at 572-7101 or the pro shop at Western Texas College at 573-9291.

Crenshaw, who won this tournament in 1977, was addressing his ball in the 12th fairway when it moved in the gusty winds.

Crenshaw, one off the pace at that point, promptly called a one-stroke penalty on himself.

"The ball must have been on a little tuft of grass, because when I soled my club, it moved a good three inches toward me," he said.

Crenshaw hit into a greenside bunker, then holed a 50-foot sand shot and marked it down as a par-4.

"I'm thinking it's one of the great pars I ever made," he said.

He then birdied the 16th and 18th to tie Cochran at six under par.

"I'd put this among the three or four best rounds I ever played."

Girls softball results

DIVISION I

Bubble Gum Babes 19, Skittles 4

Mandy Hess and Christine Dunham each ripped two singles and Sabrina Davidson added one as the Bubble Gum Babes moved to 2-0 on the young season.

Shannon Hall and Mindy Thompson contributed singles for the Skittles.

DIVISION II

Cool Mint Kids 13, Coral Cuties 8

Amy Church was the winning pitcher for the Kids and smacked two singles to aid her cause.

Melanie Prichard pounded two homers while teammate Emilee Blocker lashed two base hits and Amy Arrendale, Chassy Rains, Crissida Taylor and Kendra Dacus popped a single apiece for the Coral Cuties.

The Heat 18, Kool-Aid Kids 16

Jodi White blasted a double and two singles to go with a two-sacker and a base hit from teammate Christy Williamson to lead the Heat to the Friday night win.

Hitters for the Kool-Aid Kids included Haley Ingram with two homers, Melissa Davis with a home run and a single, a triple and two doubles off the bat of Linley Rinehart and a two-base hit by Scarlet Towerly.

In addition, Brandy Gill ripped two singles and Shanna Fisk and Monica Harbin each tossed in a base hit.

DIV. IV No. 2 22, DIV. III Rattlesnakes 11

Shelly LaRoux's double and three singles added to a two-sacker by Dayla Church and two hits each from April Blair and Jennifer Spence led the No. 2 squad to a win in the inter-divisional contest.

Also getting hits were Sandra Morin, Angee Crawford and Theresa Martin with a single each.

Billy Jones paced the Rattlesnakes with her two doubles.

Zee Jenkins, Stephanie Fambro, Hailey Grimmett, Samantha Boyd, Melissa Myers, Christina Pippin and Jamie Franks slapped a base hit apiece.

WTC booster club sets annual roping

The Western Texas College Rodeo Booster Club will sponsor its annual roping event to raise scholarship funds for the WTC rodeo program at the Scurry County Rodeo Association Arena on Gary Brewer Road next Saturday, May 26.

The event is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. and will include tie-down calf roping for a three-head $50, team roping in a round robin format at $100 for three head and a timed event championship which includes a tie-down calf, a breakaway calf, one run in steer wrestling, a heading steer and a heeling steer for $100.

Winners in each event will receive a Skyline buckle valued at $600 each.

Entry deadline is Thursday, May 24 at 4 p.m. and registration may be made at Brewster's Saddle Shed.

A steak lunch will be available at 12:30 p.m. for $6.

For more information contact Bob Doty at 573-8912, Aubrey Brewster at 573-7175 or Keith Hackfield at 573-6763.

Csonka proposing new players union

NEW YORK (AP) — They were inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame together three years ago, but now Larry Csonka and Gene Upshaw are on a collision course and the NFL players are caught in the middle.

Csonka is proposing a new union for the players and promises a collective bargaining agreement within three months if they authorize him to bargain for them.

"The climate is right for a contract now," Csonka said. "I don't think the players understand that. I'm not looking to overthrow

WTC to host golf tourney

The Taylor Made-Western Texas College Golf Tournament is scheduled for June 23-24 on the links at WTC.

Entry fee for the individual event is $50 per person and deadline to register is June 21.

The tourney is set to be pre-flighted into six divisions, flighted by verified handicap. Tee times will be posted Friday June 22.

An additional two senior flights will be added if enough entries are received.

Prizes include a 1990 set of Daiwa irons for first place, 1990 Advisor metal woods with a graphite shaft for second place while the third place winner receives a Taylor Made Carry Bag.

A trophy will be presented to the winner in each flight.

For reservations or additional information call the WTC pro shop at 573-9291 or write Western Texas College Golf Shop, Snyder, Texas, 79549.

the union. I don't see it as a fight for control of the union but an opportunity to get all the facts to all the players and let them decide."

Upshaw, executive director of the NFL Players Association, was at the center of the strategy to decertify the association as a union last November and vows to oppose Csonka's effort.

"We don't have a union and we have no intention of having a union," Upshaw said. "The players understand why. It's not in their interest to have a union. It gives management the ability to negotiate, declare an impasse and implement wage scales."

Jeff Kessler, a New York attorney involved in two suits against the league, said Csonka's effort was certain to have encouragement from the NFL. He cited a ruling of the Eighth Circuit Court which said if there is a union, there can be no finding of antitrust against the league. The U.S. Supreme Court has been asked to hear appeals of the ruling.

"The NFL is frightened if it doesn't have a union to deal with," Kessler said.

That is why Upshaw will battle Csonka's effort.

SHS banquet is scheduled

The annual Snyder High School All-Sports Banquet is scheduled for Saturday, May 26 at 7 p.m. at Scurry County Coliseum.

The event will honor boys and girls involved in all sports at SHS.

Tickets are available from Snyder cheerleaders and the school office for $7 each.

Tornado strikes

PFLUGERVILLE, Texas (AP) — Tornadoes touched down Friday and damaged several homes in north Travis County, but no injuries were reported, authorities said.

Two miles west of the town of Pflugerville, a few miles north of Austin, a tornado struck about 12:30 p.m. in the Wells Branch subdivision, according to the Travis County Sheriff's Office.

Authorities originally said the roofs of four homes had been blown off, but later said damage was limited to downed fences, shattered windows and one home sustained minor roof damage.

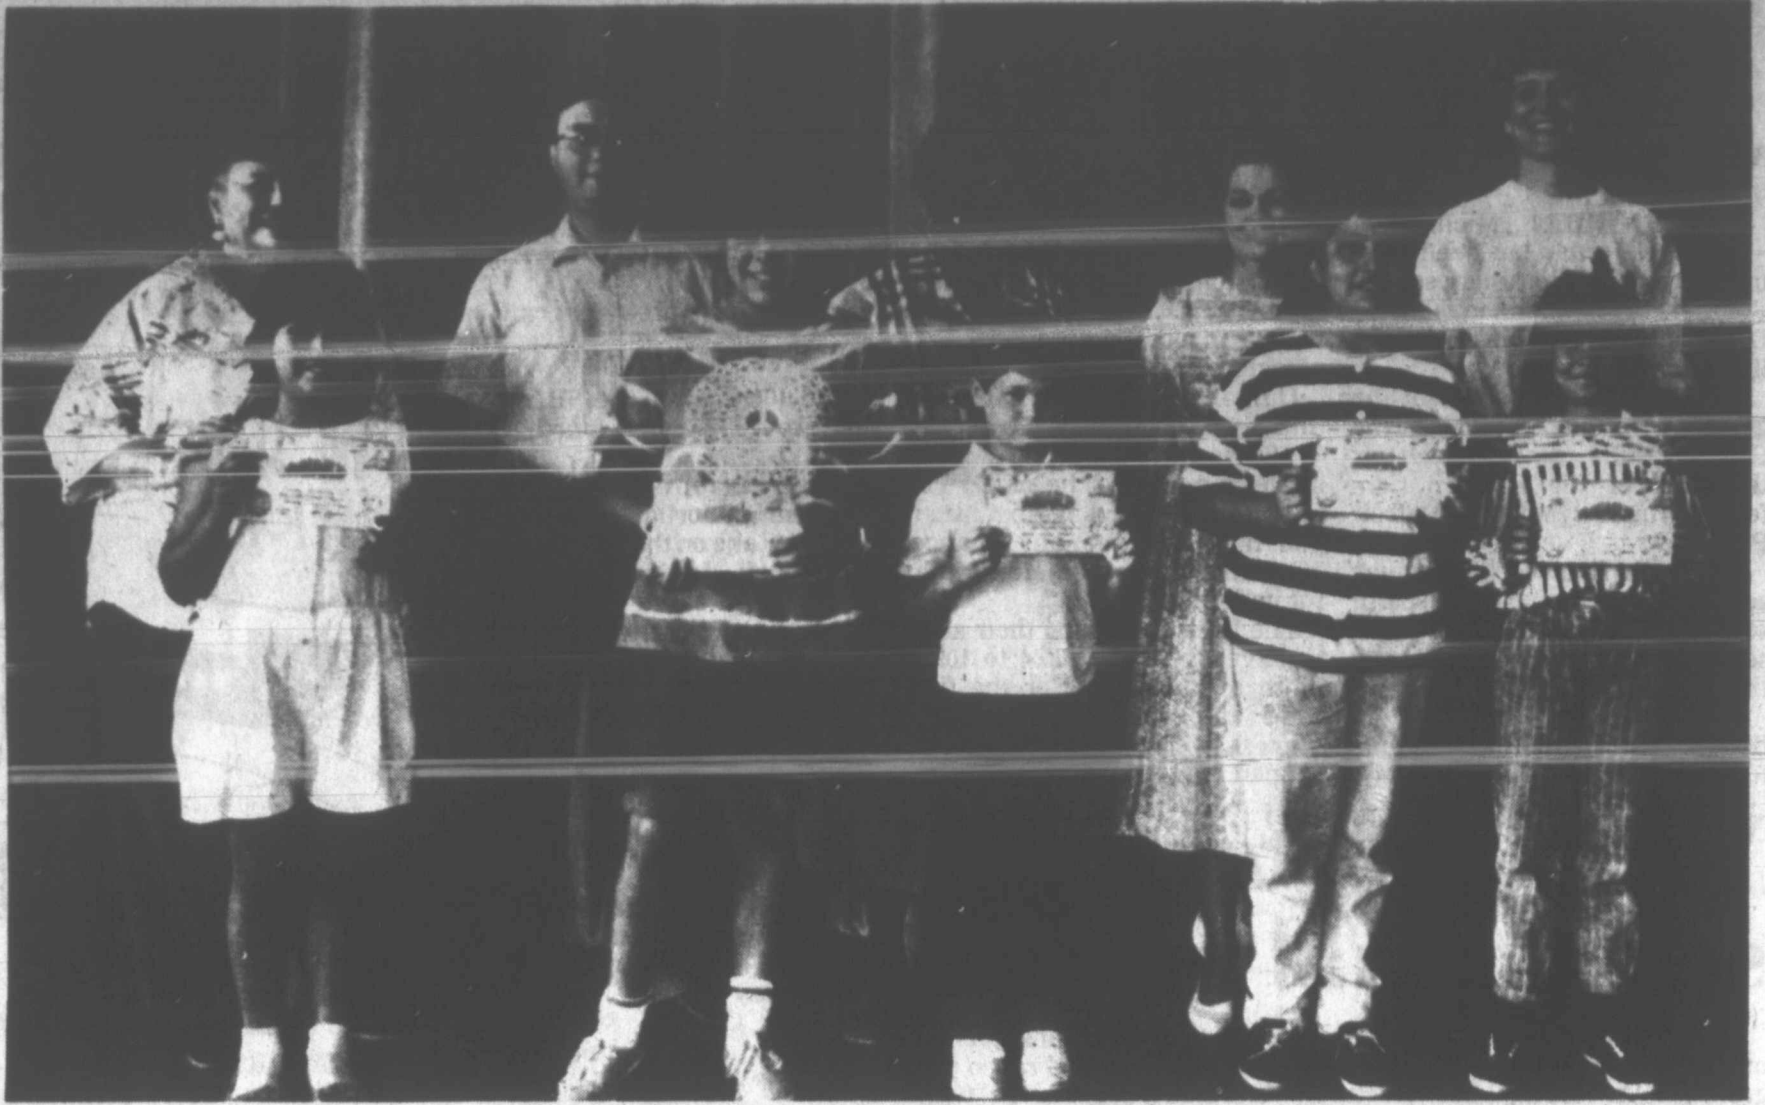

Another tornado destroyed a mobile home and damaged some others in the northern part of the county, according to Travis County Deputy Sheriff Mark Sawa.

Sgt. Robert Ames of the sheriff's department said there were sightings of other funnel clouds "that would touch down for a few moments and then go back in the clouds."

In nearby Round Rock, in Williamson County, a tornado sighting was confirmed, according to Sgt. Dick Coble. But he said no damage or injuries had been reported.

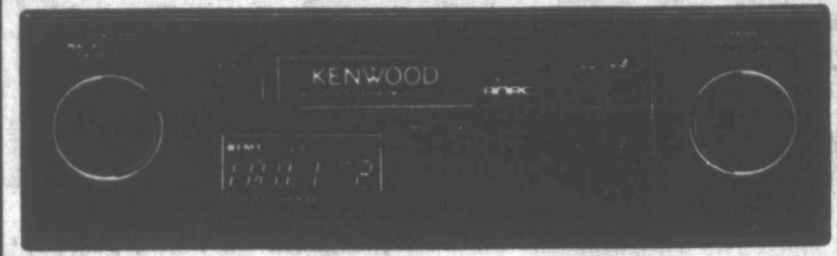

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences was founded in 1927.

TEACHER APPRECIATION — Central Elementary School declared the week of May 7-11 as "Teacher Appreciation Day." Students were invited to write an essay on "My teacher is special to me because..." Winners, pictured with their teacher, are from left, Cynthia Gutierrez and her teacher, Mary Jimm Floyd; Amanda Gutierrez and her teacher, Malcolm Crawford; Brian Hankins and his teacher, E.N. Jenkins; Dorothy Campos and her teacher, Shirley Jones; Crystal Lee and her teacher, Wanda Hudgins. Not pictured is Roseann Martin who had the most students from her class enter the contest. Winners in grades 1-3 are Hankins, first, and Cindy Gutierrez, second. Fourth through sixth grade winners are Amanda Gutierrez, first, and Campos and Lee tied for second. Special days during Teacher Appreciation Week included "Hug A Teacher Day," "Special Deed Day," "Hats Off To Teachers Day," "Write A Note Day;" and "Dress-Up Day." (SDN Staff Photo)

Antivenin rushed to hospital

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A Lufkin zoo said it is prepared to send more antivenin to help save a snake handler who was bitten by a deadly cobra after he picked it up with a stick to see if it was dead.

David S. Estep, 37, of Bayside was listed in satisfactory condition at Humana Hospital in Corpus Christi early this morning, hospital officials said.

Department of Public Safety officials relayed antivenin from the Ellen Trout Zoo with an airplane that had been seized from drug smugglers.

Estep's wife said the snake bit the hand that usually feeds it after seemingly springing back to life.

Estep, who displays the snake along with rattlers in demonstrations on snake safety, had told her he thought the cobra had died after earlier eating a mouse, so he lifted it up with a stick. It suddenly turned back and lashed out at him, striking him on a finger of his left hand, she said.

"I just know that the snake bit him on the finger ... and the snake hung on for about 25 seconds," said Charlotte Henley, education director at the Lufkin zoo. "That scares me. Twenty-five seconds is like a year and a half. That is a long time for a snake to hang on."

After being bit, Estep managed to get out some of the venom with an extractor, then he had a neighbor drive him to the Corpus Christi hospital.

Estep reached the hospital about 4 p.m. and emergency room physicians called a poison control center in Galveston, who referred them to a center in Arizona. The Arizona center referred them to a supply of the antivenin in Lufkin, about 300 miles away.

The doctors called the DPS office in Corpus Christi and requested assistance. DPS spokesman Mike Cox said a plane capable of flying 400 mph left Austin at 4:45 p.m., picked up the antivenin, and delivered it to Corpus Christi at 7:22 p.m.

Estep was out of trouble by 9 p.m., hospital officials said, but he probably will have to stay under observation for three or four days to make sure the danger has passed.

Estep was bitten by a monocol cobra, a species native to Asia that is raised by a number of snake collectors and zoos in this country.

The Lufkin zoo sent half of its cobra antivenin supply, which is imported from Thailand, to Corpus Christi.

"That may be enough, or it may be just enough to get it (recovery) started," said Gordon Henley, director of the Lufkin zoo.

Cobra bites are not automatically fatal, but a person can die within six hours if no treatment occurs, Henley said.

Estep's wife, who also handles snakes with her husband, said it was the first time he has been inflicted with poison although she said he has been "nicked" by rattlesnakes before.

Window Coolers

Unlike air conditioning systems that recirculate dry, stale air over and over, Arctic Circle's evaporative coolers circulate clean, fresh air using as little as 1/4 of the electricity required for air conditioning. That's up to 75% savings in electric costs.

EW338 $409⁰⁰

ED430 $493⁰⁰

Arctic Circle ducted coolers have a 5-year limited warranty on cabinet leakage due to rust-out which is backed by the industry leader with over 37 years of evaporative cooler manufacturing experience.

Bush rearranges schedule to visit flooded area

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — President Bush said he was astounded when he caught a glimpse of the flood-swollen Trinity River, and rearranged his schedule to visit a dam and some of the hardest-hit areas near Houston.

Bush told his GOP audience at a fundraiser in Dallas Friday night that he and his wife Barbara were astounded when Air Force One flew over the Trinity and they "could only see the tops of some trees."

The president rearranged to schedule to visit the Livingston Dam Spillway morning before appearing in the Doug Sanders celebrity pro-am golf tournament in Houston. Bush also will give the commencement address at the University of Texas in Austin.

"In this terrible disaster, the losses have been heavy ... But one thing this state will never lose, and that is its soul," Bush said of his adopted home state.

The president has declared 38 Texas counties as disaster areas, and more declarations are expected. The floods have claimed 13 lives in Texas and one in Oklahoma, and caused hundreds of millions of dollars in damage.

Floodwaters from rain-swollen Lake Livingston, about 75 miles northeast of Houston, were expected to inundate more than 200 square miles along the Trinity River.

Meanwhile, more rain fell across Texas Friday. In Far West Texas, a funnel cloud packing 95 mph winds ripped the roof off a hotel room in Marfa, but nobody was hurt, and rescuers pulled three teen-agers to safety from a rain-swollen creek.

The Trinity River Authority said heavy thunderstorms that dumped more than a half inch of rain in less than two hours around the Lake Livingston Dam threatened to worsen flooding downstream.

"That is exactly what we didn't want to happen," said Grady Manis, TRA southern region manager.

The dam has been releasing a record 100,800 cubic feet of water per second since Thursday. Greater releases are possible, but Manis said there would be less warning for people living in low-lying areas downstream.

"We don't have the week or two warning we had when (raining) occurs upstream," Manis said. "Our normal warning is two days and those immediately below the dam may have 30 minutes ... to get out of there."

The lake level at Livingston, which is considered full at 131 feet, rose to 132.88 late Friday after rains began at 5:30 p.m.,

Manis said.

Many frustrated residents who have been homeless for several days got some relief Friday when U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm and a team of state and federal officials arrived to distribute disaster relief checks.

"I'll be able to get out of there now," said Laura Baird, who had refused to leave her water-surrounded home near Kenefick because she had no money.

"Now I can go find a place on dry land. I'm about to cry I'm so relieved," she said, holding a $415 check.

Gramm took a 10-minute helicopter tour over the Trinity in Liberty County, about 50 miles east of Houston, before meeting with flood victims.

"No government money is going to take the water away," Gramm said. "But we do have programs to help the people rebuild their lives."

Officials from the Federal Emergency Management Agency dispensed checks to flood victims who have been forced from their homes by the rising water of the Trinity, swollen by heavy rains more than two weeks ago some 200 miles to the north.

Below the dam, much of the flooding is confined to a few rural areas.

"We have been trying to explain to people the city of Liberty is not being washed out into the Gulf of Mexico," said Scott Parker, mayor of Liberty, a city of 8,300. "We feel like we're in pretty good shape."

Five more counties were added to the disaster list Friday: San Jacinto, Polk, Leon, Madison and Henderson.

Also Friday, a tornado passed within 200 feet of the La Petite Preschool Child Care center in Wells Branch in Travis County.

The center's director, Melinda DeRoock, said 100 children, ages 6 months to 5 years huddled in the center of the building. Nobody was injured.

"We tried to get them calmed down," Ms. DeRoock said. "We started singing songs like 'Row, Row, Row Your Boat.'"

Two thefts are cleared with arrests of three juveniles

Two separate thefts at Jack's Used Cars were cleared Friday with the arrest of three juveniles.

One 15-year-old was arrested in connection with both thefts, and two other juveniles, ages 16 and 14, were identified in the second theft.

Jack Dupree on May 12 and May 16 reported the loss of an undetermined amount of cash from his business at 1212 25th St. The case was turned over to the district attorney for prosecution and the three juveniles were released to the custody of their parents.

In other police action on Friday, officers were called to the Travel Inn on 25th St. three times. At 10:17 p.m., the manager reported that a male and female were having a disagreement and a window had been broken in one of the rooms. The manager declined to file charges.

At 3:50 a.m., police returned to the Travel Inn where another male and female were reported to be fighting. Police were called to the same room less than an hour later.

At 5:27 a.m., officers were called to 1915 Coleman where a male and female were reported to be fighting in the back yard. Neither of the subjects wanted to file charges.

A misdemeanor assault was filed following a fight between two females in the Varsity Square parking lot. Police answered that call at 10:03 p.m.

At 2:17 p.m. Friday, three subjects were observed hiding a black plastic bag under bushes in the 5400 Block of College Ave.

The bag contained clothing from Wal-Mart. Three subjects were located and transported to the police department and later released after an offense report was taken.

At 9:52 a.m. Friday, officers were called to the 2300 Block of Sunset where a resident had reported a salesman in the area. Officers advised him that the city ordinance required a permit to solicit.

At 4:02 p.m. Friday, city police worked a minor accident in the 2100 Block of 37th St. Involved were a 1977 Buick driven by Steven Kellams of 217 29th St. and a 1988 Ford pickup driven by Justin House of Clairemont Route, Snyder. There were no injuries and damage was minor.

At 11:45 p.m. Friday, police received a complaint that a house was being "toilet papered" in the 3600 Block of 41st. There were numerous reports of noise disturbance and two complaints of reckless driving.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama authorities have finally got a firm hold on Carl Guenther Jr.

Twenty-eight years after staging a holdup in Montgomery, Guenther is behind bars serving out a 25-year sentence.

In the intervening years, he escaped from a state prison, won asylum in his home state of Michigan, pulled a fat income as the owner of a tree-pruning business, got married and raised two children.

Guenther, of Port Huron, Mich., was 16 years old and working for a traveling carnival when he robbed a man of his car at gunpoint in Montgomery in 1962, authorities said. The police caught up with him but Guenther got loose, slipping back to Michigan when he was released on bond.

In 1965, he was convicted of burglary and served 18 months in a Michigan prison. When he got out, Alabama authorities said they wanted to talk.

"They sent me a letter, and I bought a bus ticket down here," Guenther, 45, said in a recent interview at Montgomery's Kilby Correctional Center. "I wanted to get this thing resolved."

A Montgomery court did just that, convicting him of robbery and sentencing him to 25 years on Oct. 12, 1967, according to state records. A year later, Guenther broke out with three other inmates.

He lived in New Orleans, Florida and South America, then moved back home in the 1970s, working as a farm manager in Benton Harbor, Mich., before opening a tree service in Port Huron in 1977.

"I was making $50,000 or $60,000 a year," Guenther said. "I thought I was a pretty damn productive citizen."

When he was picked up on a traffic violation in 1976, police discovered he was wanted in Alabama. Gov. George C. Wallace sought his extradition, but Guenther found help in Michigan Gov. William Milliken.

Mark Blumer, an assistant Michigan attorney general who represented Alabama in extradition proceedings, said an aide to Milliken recommended asylum. While Blumer said there was no records showing it was formally approved, Guenther was never extradited.

In 1983, Guenther was convicted of drunken driving and Wallace's office again intervened. But Guenther got protection from Gov. James Blanchard.

In a letter to Wallace, Blanchard wrote that Guenther "has lived in Michigan successfully for 20 years, established a profitable business, and supported a family. ... He has never broken the law."

In 1986, Guenther pleaded guilty to sexually abusing the adolescent daughter of a woman he was living with, and was sentenced to 4-to-15 years in jail.

When he won parole, Guenther went to federal court to try to block his extradition. But U.S. District Judge Richard A. Enslin ruled in March that he could be extradited under a 1987 U.S. Supreme Court ruling that said federal courts could force states to honor extradition requests by other states.

Guenther arrived in Montgomery on April 11, said Kilby prison spokeswoman Debbie Herbert. Unless he is paroled, he is due to finish his sentence on May 22, 2003, she said.

New relief may be needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The flooding in Texas is hitting farmers the hardest and some lawmakers say new relief measures may be needed.

"I think the most devastating impact will be on agriculture," Sen. Phil Gramm, a Republican, said after touring flooded areas Friday.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, a Democrat, said he planned to introduce a measure Monday to make sure Texas farmers receive the same type of assistance those hit by drought in other states did two years ago.

"In each of the last two years Congress has enacted disaster legislation to assist farmers who lost crops to natural disasters," Bentsen said. "From the looks of East Texas, I think we need to do it again this year."

A hearing had been scheduled May 12, but has been postponed until June, said Elna Christopher with the AG's office.

Some literature that has surfaced in Snyder claims that the network marketing system is legal and has been endorsed by the Better Business Bureau.

"It is not legal, and no BBB has signed off on it, and neither has the attorney general," Ms. Christopher added.

Sheriff Keith Collier and Police Detective Steve Warren, in addition to Armstrong, said their departments have received no complaints.

Armstrong said, however, that residents should be warned to stay away from any type pyramid or program that promises an easy way to make money.

HOMETOWN PROUD

Scurry County Folks

By Shirley A. Gorman

In the fall of 1987, Martha Schiebel thought her life was over. Doctors in Lubbock had just confirmed her worst fears — Alzheimer's Disease. It would be another two years before she would learn that they were wrong.

Alzheimer's, which affects some 4½ million people, is the most common form of dementia. Dementia is a deterioration in intellectual performance that always involved memory loss or social activities or both. There is almost always a loss of problem-solving ability and other aspects of abstract thinking as well.

Even though she said she had suspected that her problems with short-term memory and confusion might be linked to that dread disease, it was still a shock for a woman who had "lived by her mind all of her life" to realize that within a relatively short period of time that she might not be able to take care of herself at all.

Not only that, but Schiebel said she could not then bare the thought of being a burden to her husband, Bill. At one point she even considered donating her brain to Alzheimer's research. She had even gone so far as to tell her children that she had Alzheimer's.

She even put a deposit down on a room at a nursing home in Abilene that has a special wing for Alzheimer's patients which features a protected courtyard where patients can "wander" without getting hurt.

Since she had "lived by her mind all her life," Schiebel did not think she could go on living. And she wasn't sure then that she even wanted to. She started giving away cherished possessions to members of her family.

That first month after the Alzheimer's diagnosis was a "living nightmare" for Schiebel who felt she had no hope left at all. But people she met in Alzheimer's support groups and her own church family at Trinity United Methodist Church gave "her the faith to turn her life around."

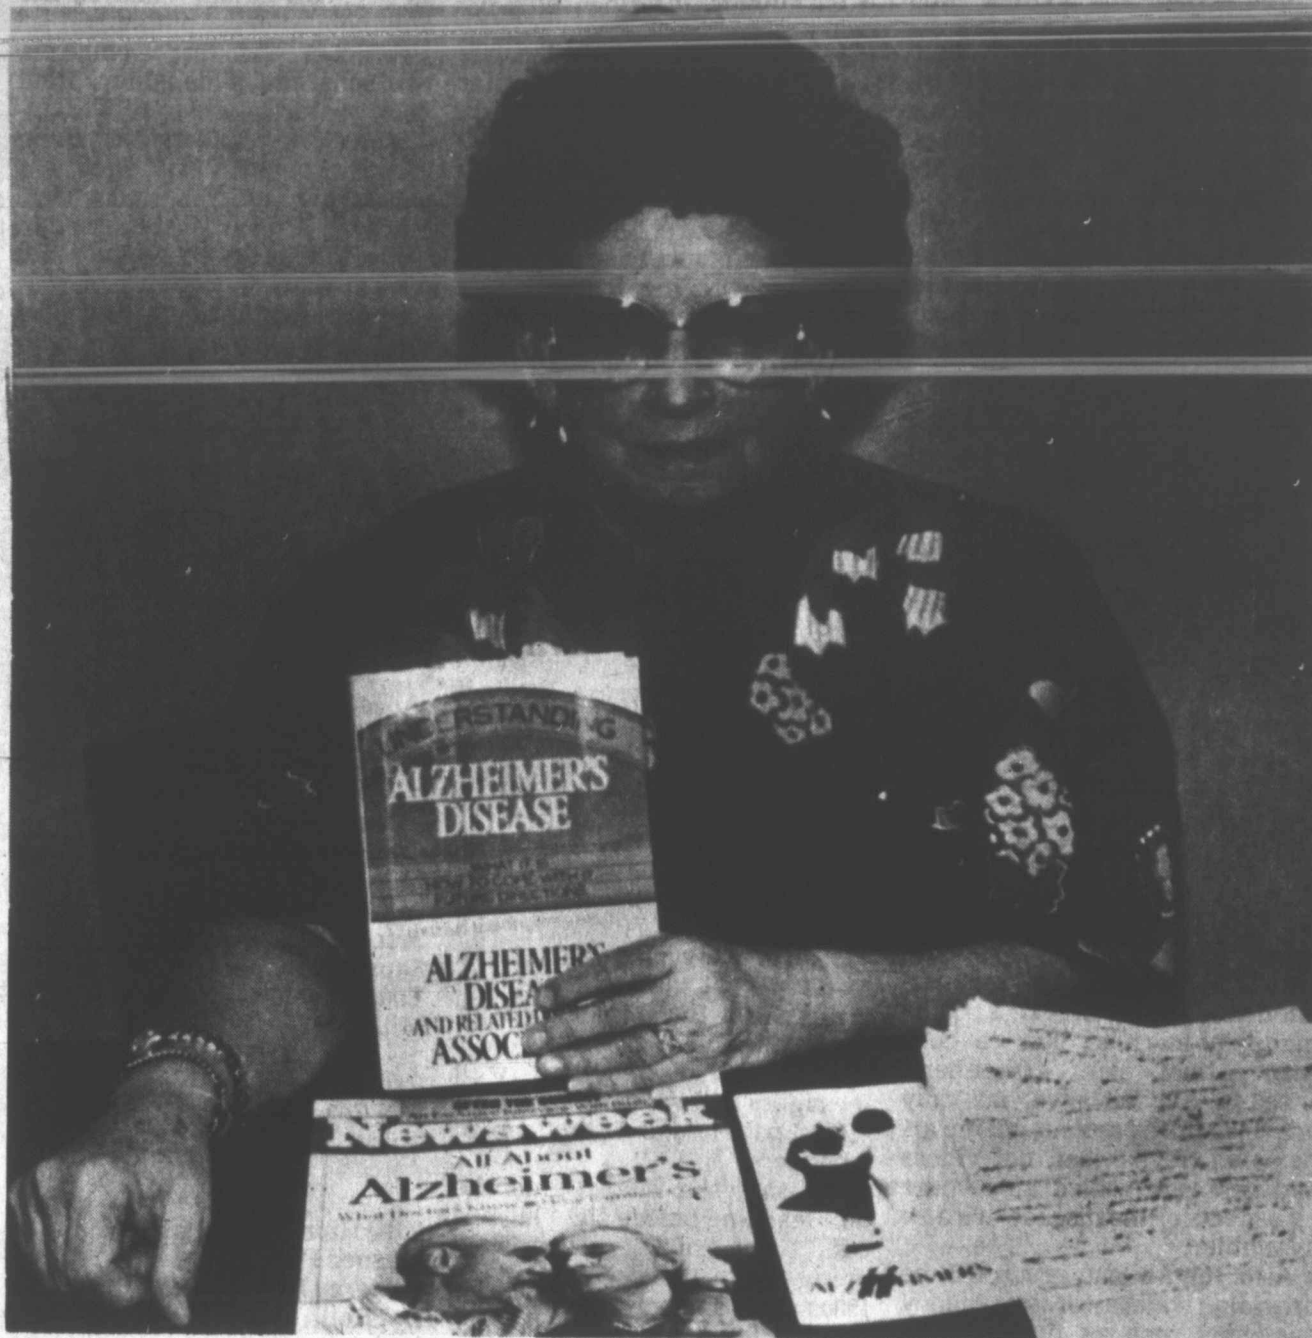

She also receives unwavering support from her husband, who never accepted the Alzheimer's diagnosis, and her family. Schiebel's husband accompanies her to group meetings and she said the main thing they both get from the group is "love and acceptance."

Schiebel credits them with helping her get over the initial shock and depression and to resolve to start living her life again.

She was determined to do all she could to help herself and her family and friends through the terrible ordeal that she then believed awaited them all.

But, Schiebel was one of the lucky ones who as it was later discovered did not have Alzheimer's after all. Her symptoms, though identical to Alzheimer's in many ways, were actually caused by a series of small strokes which affected her left brain hemisphere.

However, that medical fact was not discovered until about two years after she had been identified as an Alzheimer's patient. And during that time period not only did Schiebel learn how to cope with short-term memory loss and confusion, but she also organized an Alzheimer's support group in Snyder which meets the third Monday of each month at 7 p.m. in Trinity United

ORGANIZES LOCAL SUPPORT GROUP — Martha Schiebel, who was once told she had Alzheimer's Disease, was instrumental in organizing a local support group for Alzheimer's patients, others with severe memory problems, and their families. The group meets at 7 p.m. on the third Monday of the month at Trinity United Methodist Church. (SDN Staff Photo)

Methodist Church.

Though it is an Alzheimer's support group, Schiebel said they offer support for anyone with severe memory problems, regardless of the cause, and all family members and patients are welcome to attend.

Schiebel said they offer each other strength and hope by sharing their experiences, problems, successes and failures with each other.

At present, only a handful of county residents take advantage of the group's monthly meetings, but Schiebel is hoping that once the word begins to spread that more people will attend.

She still remains active with the local group as well as the Abilene chapter because, due to her strokes, she suffers permanent brain damage. And she continues to use knowledge gained from the support groups to help her to cope with the after affects of the strokes.

But to put everything in its proper perspective let's turn back the clock to the year 1986 when Schiebel was still teaching English and health at Snyder High School. That's when her short-term memory problems began.

Schiebel began to notice that while she could remember the names of all the bones in the body she could not remember which ones she had taught the day before. She had no problems with factual knowledge, just with short-term memory.

Driving out-of-town was also becoming a problem because she started having trouble remembering how to get to different places.

To counteract this once debilitating problem, Schiebel said she keeps a good supply of maps with her and when she needs to go somewhere she just marks her entire route on the map and then just follows her own directions.

During this period, Schiebel said she mentioned her short-term memory problems to her doctor in Lubbock but he did not think she had anything serious to worry about. Finally, she insisted that tests be run (cat scan, blood tests etc.) and two-months later she was given the Alzheimer's diagnosis.

After being diagnosed as an Alzheimer's patient, Schiebel, accompanied by her husband, began to attend Alzheimer's support group meetings in Abilene. On the second Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m., the Abilene support group gets together at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center. She still attends those meetings today and often takes other people from Snyder with her when she goes.

After attending the Abilene meetings, Schiebel became instrumental in forming the local Alzheimer's Support Group. She remains active in both groups because she needs constant contact with people who "understand what she has been living with since that first, but now known to be incorrect, diagnosis of Alzheimer's."

Schiebel said Alzheimer support groups teach the patient and family "coping skills" and takes the fear out of being labeled "crazy."

"People need to talk and we are there to listen," she explained.

Schiebel combined helpful tips from the support group meetings with her own ideas and began to come up with ways to offset her short-term memory problems. To better cope in the classroom, she began to write down everything she taught on a daily basis. At home, she placed calendars in every room and tacked a big bulletin board on her refrigerator in order to make a list of all the things she needed to do everyday. She wrote notes on sticky paper and placed them everywhere and on everything. She also bought double supplies of everything such as bobby pins so she did not have to always worry where things were.

Schiebel finished the 1987-88 school year and the following school term on the "orders" of her doctor who felt she needed to do so for her own "self-esteem," before retiring in 1989, at least seven years earlier than she had originally planned to.

During the last year that Schiebel taught school, she said she began to notice that her short-term memory was beginning to improve and she wasn't as confused anymore.

That's when she told her Lubbock doctor that she wanted to go through the Alzheimer's Memory Disorder Clinic at Texas Tech University's Health Science Center, where Dr. Tom Hulton, a neurologist, heads the special Alzheimer's team.

Clinic doctors performed the same battery of tests that Schiebel had undergone some 18 months before, but this time the diagnosis was that she had suffered a series of small strokes which had affected the left hemisphere of her brain.

Her speech and writing skills were not affected (since they are controlled by the right hemisphere of her brain), but the reflexes in her right hand are now different due to the strokes. But, since she is left handed, she has been able to manage quite well.

Based on results from the second group of tests, Schiebel said she was then told that a combination of stress plus the strokes had caused her symptoms to mimic Alzheimer's disease.

This is a common problem, because patients, especially older ones, can exhibit Alzheimer's like symptoms which are unrelated to that disease.

For instance, Schiebel said if you forget where you put your car keys that's not necessarily an indication of Alzheimer's Disease; however, if you forget what car keys are for, then that might be an indication of Alzheimer's. However, Schiebel stressed that it is very important for persons who are having memory or other problems similar to Alzheimer's to be examined by doctors.

Schiebel said she is very excited about the progress being made in learning how to cope with patients with Alzheimer's Disease. For instance, not only are their books and magazine articles on the subject, but videos and cassettes which also cover all aspects of the disease are also available.

Also, the Abilene group will be providing videos for emergency personnel such as firemen and emergency medical technicians that will help them to recognize Alzheimer's patients and to learn how to deal with them.

In order to avoid more strokes, Schiebel said she had to lose weight. After she was told she had suffered a series of strokes, she was placed on a liquid diet (closely supervised by the Health Science Center) which allowed her to lose 40 pounds in six weeks. She later lost 30 more pounds. She maintains her weight loss by following a diet of complex carbohydrates, moderate protein and lot fat. The diet is similar to ones followed by diabetics or hypoglycemics. In addition, Schiebel also belongs to a 12-step program which helps her maintain her weight loss.

She said that the 70-pound weight loss has helped improve her self-esteem and has lessened the stress that she was under from constantly overeating which is what she did that last year she taught school.

Last year, Schiebel had to have a pacemaker installed, and she said if she had still been carrying that extra 70 pounds her life would have been in greater jeopardy.

Even though Schiebel resigned her teaching position earlier than she had intended to, she said she does not regret her decision because she now has more time to spend with her husband and because she leads a very full life which is now filled with lots of volunteer work.

She is a member of the auxiliary at Cogdell Memorial Hospital where she often serves in the surgery waiting room. "I like to interact with people who are under stress," she said.

She is also a Laubach volunteer. This program is designed to teach adults how to read and is offered through Scurry County Library. "I just love being a tutor. It's some of the most fulfilling work I have ever done."

Schiebel is also an active member of Trinity United Methodist Church and is currently involved with a 24-hour prayer chain.

At one time she was also a foster parent and was the first president of the Oilpatch Foster Parent Association.

Schiebel likes working with teenagers and when serving as a foster parent she often took in teenagers.

She said she is also glad she quit teaching before she "burned out." One of her cherished memories though occurred in the 1980s when she and her husband, who are avid sports fans, were dubbed joint "Tiger Fans of the Year." One of the benefits to attending Tiger games was that she could conduct a parent-teacher "conference" without making a "big deal out of it."

Schiebel has lived in Snyder since 1952. From that year until 1975 she taught at the junior high, but then transferred to the high school.

Schiebel earned a scholarship to Texas Christian University when she was 16. She married at age 19, but stayed at TCU for another 18 months so she could complete its RN program, which was then a pioneer class in nursing. However, she later moved before taking the state "boards." She finished her undergraduate degree at Midwestern University with a double major in biology and English. She has also earned a Masters Degree at Texas Tech.

Through the years, Schiebel has taken many refresher nursing courses but has never obtained her RN license. She has served as a camp nurse at numerous church camps. She has completed Emergency Medical Technician training and has volunteered for a medical mission trip to the interior of Mexico.

but has not gone yet.

Even though Schiebel never practiced as a registered nurse she received the unofficial name "Band aid" which she used both as her "CB handle" and on her automobile license plates.

Schiebel has three children, two sons and a daughter. Paul Zeck is the co-owner of Y-Z Industries and presently serves on the city council. Mark Zeck is a part-owner of Y-Z Industries. Margaret Edwards is married to a pilot for Northwest Airlines and lives in Minnesota.

Schiebel's husband also has three children and between them they have 10 grandchildren.

Martin Sheen arrested

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Martin Sheen and three others were arrested for splashing blood on the downtown federal building to protest U.S. policy on El Salvador.

"This is the blood of the innocent!" activist Valerie Sklarevsky shouted Wednesday as she knelt on the steps and poured the blood on her white dress and the pavement.

Sheen carried a large cross in his arms during a march by about 200 protesters to the steps. He was arrested when he grabbed the bottle that Sklarevsky dropped and smeared its contents on a building sign.

Couple united in ceremony dotted with Aggie tradition

Shana Diane Hart became the bride of J. Reed Butler at 7:30 p.m. March 3, at Colonial Hill Baptist Church in a double-ring ceremony officiated by Rev. Miller Robinson, pastor of the church.

Shana is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hart of Snyder and the granddaughter of Ruby Hart of Snyder. She is the great-granddaughter of Thelma Bishop of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barrier of Meadow. Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hester of Ira are the "special" uncle and aunt of the bride.

Personal vows written by the bride and groom were read with the couple's parents attending. The family Bible held the promises, and the families joined in lighting the memory candles.

J. Reed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Butler of Trenton and the grandson of Mary Charles Anderson of Trenton.

The front doors of the church were decorated with two grapevine wreaths featuring dark rose, silver sprigs and pinecones. Seating for pews within the ribbon were marked and lighted with crystal votive cups draped with needlepoint ivy, silver and pearl accents. Other pews were marked with greenery and accents only.

The choir loft was filled with 84 white branched candelabra with white candles. Candelighters were Brooke Cozart and Patrick Jordan. Brooke wore a tea-length dress of spruce-green velvet, black patent shoes and matching hair clip. A wrist corsage of dark roses accented with pearls and silver adorned her hair.

Patrick wore a tuxedo similar to the ones worn by other male members of the wedding party. Brooke and Patrick also served as junior attendants.

Grant Jordan and James Allen handed out programs of the wedding to the guests.

Lynn Bethel of Bethel Studio co-ordinated the music in addition to playing the organ and harpsichord. Kim Gorman was the harpist and Cathi McFaul and Gerald Garner played the trumpets. Vocalists were Loretta Dodson, Donnie Blaketer of Lubbock and Teresa Dodson McLaughlin of Wichita Falls. McLaughlin played the chimes and piano. Anthony Gilbert of Leonard played the guitar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown from the Illissa designer collection made of white satin and Alencon lace. Large beaded appliques encrusted the front of the cathedral-length skirt and the hemline, trimmed in Alencon lace, featured pearls and sequins. Large puffed sleeves, highlighted by beading, came to a point at the hand. An open neckline adorned with lace and beading accented the fitted bodice.

An open neckline adorned with lace and beading accented the fitted bodice.

Her headpiece, designed especially for the bride, featured a headband richly embellished with pearls and sequins. Pearls were scattered throughout the netting.

She carried a bouquet of 30 dark, cascading roses with sprays of pearls clustered throughout with silver accents.

Pennies minted in the birth year of both the bride and groom were a gift from her parents, Brad Hart, and were placed in her shoe by her father. A sixpence was a gift from the groom and was also placed in the bride's shoe.

For something old, the bride carried a handkerchief embroidered with her initials given to her as a child by her great-grandmother Schriener. The handkerchief was previously carried by many of the bride's friends at their weddings.

Her wedding dress and a strand of pearls, a gift from the groom, were something new.

She borrowed a friendship handkerchief from Audra Blackard von Roeder and pearl and diamond earrings from Banu Karayel.

Something blue was a garter made by Vickie Bell. A second garter was worn in Aggie colors by the bride.

Banu Karayel of College Station and Leigh Case of Houston served as maids of honor. Matron of honor was Audra Blackard von Roeder. Bridesmaids were Deean Collins and Alicia Horton, both of College Station, Becky Gray Coltharp of Fort Worth, Janetta Pylant of Lubbock and Kristy Butler, sister of the groom, of Denton. They wore tea-length, drop-waist dresses of spruce-green velvet featuring handmade bridal lace collars. They carried three, long-stemmed roses with strands of pearls at the stems accented with silver, sprays of pearls and greenery.

Kayla and Kylee Hall of Henderson, nieces of the groom, wore matching black velvet dresses and lace collars matching those of the bridesmaids. White petticoat lace peeped out of the hemline. Matching bows adorned their hair. The girls carried white baskets lined with spruce-green velvet featuring pearls and silver accents designed by Bobbie Anderson.

Chase Smith of Dallas, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer. He wore a tuxedo and a rose boutonniere shining with silver accents.

Jim Butler served his son as best man. Honor attendants were Craig Roundtree of College Station and Ricky Rule of Blue Ridge. Groomsmen were Joe Adickes of Schulenburg, John Coleman and Butch Buck, both of Dallas, Brad Connelly of Trenton and Brad Hart, brother of the bride.

Ushers were Bob Spikes of Aften, Barry Buschell of Irving, Anthony Gilbert of Leonard and Kevin Barrett of College Station.

Male members of the wedding party were outfitted in Christian Dior-Vendome tuxedos. The groom wore a black tux with tails, a white vest and tie. Others wore black, pleated cummerbunds and ties.

The Aggie War Hymn played as the recessional.

Guests were registered by Shana Hays of San Angelo. The table featured a large hurricane globe on a base of roses, silver and pearls. Wedding pictures of both the bride and groom's parents and an engagement picture of the couple, all in silver frames, decorated the table. A Waterford crystal pen was used by guests to register in the lace and pearl wedding book.

A reception was held at Willow Park Inn following the ceremony. The wedding theme was continued in the reception decor.

The pool boasted a float created with two large hearts with a candle and Texas A&M emblem with an arrangement of roses and greenery on both sides.

shaped mints and chocolate covered nuts.

Servers at the groom's table were Julie Schultz and Coleen McReynolds, both of College Station.

Both cakes were done by Ida Mae's of Jacksboro. Flowers were done by Travis Flowers.

J. REED AND SHANA HART BUTLER

It was complimented with six smaller candle floats.

Individual tables featured centerpieces and candles sitting atop white cloths.

The bridal table featured a silver candelabrum used in her parent's wedding, her bouquet, a silver wine cooler, maroon heart-shaped mints and a white Battenburg overlay on a floor-length white cloth. Crystal appointments were from the bride's great-grandmother Bishop. The table also held a silver punch bowl and a silver coffee service.

The wedding cake was the focal point of the table. It was a two-tiered white citrus cake with white icing covered completely in the front with shades of maroon and white roses, dark green leaves and multitudes of pearls. Each rose and leaf were handmade and assembled on site. There was an A&M symbol placed on the back. The keepsake top of heavy roses, leaves and pearls crowned the cake. Martha Abello, Aylin Karayel and Melody Morris, all of College Station, served.

A separate table hosted the champagne fountain decorated with greenery, roses and pearls.

The groom's table was covered with a white Battenburg cloth over a maroon floor-length cloth. The chocolate cake featured differing shades of chocolate with maroon berries circling the base. The filling was of cherries and almonds. The entire top was a handmade emblem of A&M. Silver trays held maroon, heart-

The bride was valedictorian of Snyder High School's class of 1985 and graduated from Texas A&M University with a bachelor's in biology and health. She was a member of Eta Sigma Gamma honor society and three year member of Diamond Darlings, serving as captain her senior year.

She is currently employed at Baylor University Medical Center and is pursuing her MBA at the University of Dallas.

Center and is pursuing her MBA at the University of Dallas.

The groom is a graduate of Trenton High School and Texas A&M University. He is currently in his second year of study at Baylor College of Dentistry and was recently internationally honored for his research efforts in dental materials.

The couple will reside in Dallas.

game in hearts. Of course North had no intention of passing three hearts, but bidding three diamonds gave her a chance to see how well South liked her hand. When South jumped to game, North took over, asking for aces and bidding the slam.

The opening spade lead went to East's 10 and declarer's queen, and declarer immediately led a club. East won the ace and led back a spade. Now declarer ruffed a low club, played a heart to dummy's jack and ruffed another low club. When the queen of hearts was cashed, West showed out. That was bad news. Declarer's only remaining chance was to try to get to dummy safely with a high spade to draw East's last trump. When East had to follow to the third spade, that made the slam. Despite the good fortune that declarer needed at the finish, the small slam was still an excellent contract that would easily make on any normal 3-2 trump division.

MRS. JAMES ASHLEY

Ashley and Mitchell...
 Pair wed in Lubbock

LUBBOCK — Kara Mitchell and James Ashley were united in marriage at 2 p.m. April 28, 1990, at Indiana Ave. Baptist Church in Lubbock. Pastor Jon Randles performed the double-ring ceremony.

Kara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mitchell of Snyder, and James is the son of Mr. Roy Ashley of Lubbock and Mrs. Gisela Webb, also of Lubbock.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar adorned with large baskets of white roses and tree fern. Pews were accented with white satin bows.

Music for the occasion included Ollie Carroll of San Angelo singing "Doubly Good to You," Daeon Harris of San Angelo singing "Always" and Kelly Randles of Lubbock singing "El Shaddai." Jean Latham of Lubbock was the pianist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk taffeta gown designed by Ilissa. The Italian bodice, fully covered with satin ribbon lace, featured a bateau neckline, short puffed sleeves accented with a ruffle at the shoulder, and a basque waistline. The full skirt, trimmed with a Schiffl hemlace, flowed into the chapel train.

In keeping with tradition, for something new, the bride wore an elbow length white tulle veil that was designed and created by her sister, Laura Asbell of Fort Worth. It featured a bouffant headpiece, accented with satin lace ribbon appliques. She borrowed a string of pearls from her sister, Dessie Mitchell of Dallas. For something old, she carried a New Testament Bible she received at birth. Something blue was a garter trimmed in blue lace.

The bride carried a bouquet of white glamelia, pink alstroemeria and lavender wax flowers with white picot, satin streamers.

Serena Conally of San Angelo served as matron of honor. Laura Asbell of Fort Worth served her sister as bridesmaid. They were attired in tea length polished cotton dresses in spring pastels with puffed sleeves and deep V-backs accented with wide sashes. The dresses were the creation of Mrs. Charlene Webb of Wilson, grandmother of the groom, as a gift to the couple.

Lindsay Asbell of Fort Worth, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

David Stephens of Abilene was the best man. Kenneth Ashley of Lubbock served his brother as a groomsmen.

Usher was Steve Lynch of Lubbock.

The groom and father of the bride were attired in black tuxedos featuring black ties and cummerbunds. Other male members of the wedding party, wore black tuxedos with pink cummerbunds and ties.

Guests were registered by Tammy Webb of Lubbock, step-sister of the groom.

At the close of the ceremony, the congregation participated in the song "I Love You Lord."

A reception featuring an afternoon buffet with punch and coffee was held following the ceremony in the home of the groom's mother.

The wedding cake was a three-tiered rolled fondant, Italian cream accented with fresh flowers. Tammy Webb served as the table.

Following a honeymoon trip to Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fla., the couple makes their home in Snyder.

Kara is a graduate of Snyder High School and attended Western Texas College. She is employed by Kids Kampus.

James is a graduate of Texas Tech University and is employed as regional sales representative for White Swan Foods.

HIGH HEELS CAN BE DANGEROUS

Any shoe with a heel higher than one inch is detrimental to the health of your feet, ankles, calves, knees and back, with more harm occurring with increased heel height.

Problems begin where there is a lack of space in the toe areas which squeezes the foot and may lead to corns, bunions and ingrown toe nails. Secondly, high heels shift your body's weight to the forefront, which places undue stress on the metatarsal heads (where the toes and foot connect). This leaves a small surface of approximately one by three inches to support the entire weight of the body.

Other problems include an increased impact at heel strike which may lead to various foot, ankle, knee and back injuries. Also, high heels decrease walking stability and thereby, increase the risk of ankle sprain as well. High heeled shoes also force the calf muscles and Achilles' tendons to shorten. Shortened muscles and tendons predispose women to such serious injuries as tendinitis or even Achilles' tendon tears. This shortening is difficult to reverse.

However, if high heels are a wardrobe must, the following tips may reduce the risk of damage:

—By shoes with a wider heel platform that will distribute weight more evenly and make balancing easier.

—Try using an over-the-counter insole to reduce some of the forces of impact on the metatarsals heads.

—Stretch before and after every brisk walk and at least twice during the rest of the day to reduce muscle and tendon shortening.

—Remove shoes while sitting at a desk.

—Try a heel lift in athletic and low-heeled shoes if tightness persists after stretching.

CULTURAL PRACTICES BEST CONTROL FOR LAWN WEEDS

Four simple but important steps will do more to provide homeowners an attractive, weed-free lawn than an arsenal of weed killing potions. Now is the time to begin those four steps.

When weeds invade lawns, many homeowners seek quick solutions through the use of herbicides. Herbicides are only one tool and have only a temporary effect on weed control unless other management practices are used.

The best weed control practice is maintaining a dense, actively growing lawn. A well maintained lawn minimizes weed competition and helps prevent establishment of new weeds.

Turfgrass vigor is generally affected most by four cultural practices: selecting a good grass variety, mowing, nutrition and irrigation.

When choosing a turfgrass variety, select those with a history of doing well in this area. This helps the grass compete under a wide range of conditions and lowers the chances of weeds invading the lawn.

Proper mowing is often overlooked for maintaining a healthy lawn. Mowing height and frequency should be adjusted depending on the type of grass and the time of year.

Cool season grasses, such as Kentucky bluegrass and fine fescue, should be mowed at one-and-a-half to two inches in the spring and fall, and at two-and-a-half to three inches in summer. Higher cutting height in the summer helps insulate the grass crown from high temperatures.

In general, bermudagrass performs best at mowing heights of an inch or less.

Regardless of the type of grass, it is best not to remove more than one third of the leaf area with any mowing.

A properly fertilized lawn may not be weed-free, but it will be better able to compete with weeds than an undernourished lawn. The most effective way to determine a lawn's fertility needs is to take a soil sample to be analyzed.

Kentucky bluegrass and fescue lawns should receive the bulk of their fertilizer in April-May and September. A total of five pounds of nitrogen for 1,000 square feet should be sufficient for most cool season lawns, with a third to a half of the nitrogen applied in the spring and the rest in the fall.

Bermudagrass should receive between four and six pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn each year. A split application in May and September is generally best.

Watering is the final cultural practice that will help a lawn compete with weeds. Irrigating deeply and infrequently is preferred over light, frequent waterings which lead to shallow root systems.

Bluegrass and fescue require significantly more water than bermudagrass during the heat of the summer. In some cases, up to two inches a week may be needed to maintain a cool season lawn through the summer.

By watering early in the morning, less water is lost to evaporation. Watering at night should be avoided since it tends to make the grass more susceptible to disease.

Area whoop 'n' holler fans don't have to be reminded of the Scurry County Rodeo the third weekend in July or the AJRA National Finals Rodeo the third weekend in August.

While those are the focus of local interest, the truth is there are a BUNCH of rodeos in Texas during the summer.

Would it surprise you to learn that during a three-month period alone — June, July and August — there will be over 130 rodeos held in Texas? I didn't ask if you cared, remember. I just asked if it surprises you.

Surprises me. I always thought all that dust that gets kicked up south of us was from the wind. I didn't realize it was just the backwash from rodeo after rodeo after rodeo.

The average length of these rodeos is three days. Compute that out and you'll come up with 390 "rodeo days" crammed into 92 days. That's because most rodeos are tied to the weekend and it's not unusual to find 10 rodeos going on at the same time across the state. During July 5-7 there are 14 rodeos in Texas, for instance.

Two sites — Fort Worth and Mesquite — have rodeos every weekend through September.

These 130-plus rodeos are at about 95 different locations, telling you there are several places like Snyder, Mesquite and Fort Worth that are holding more than one. Abilene and Seguin hold several — some youth, some county, some PRCA.

This does not include ropings or horse shows. There are a number of those, too, but I'm not going to make an attempt at counting them. I did count exactly 128 rodeos during those three months, but my source, the department of highways Texas Events Calendar, doesn't list the Scurry County Rodeo and I figure if that's been left out, several others probably were, too.

SDN Opinion Page

Texas is a big place, and the Texas Events Calendar proves it. If you're looking for a family-type event, you can probably find it going on somewhere, sometime across the state. There are easily over 1,000 events listed over the next three months and they stretch the imagination.

There are flea markets, swim meets, hot air balloon shows, cat shows, dog shows, antique shows, ceramics shows, air shows, gospel shows, literary shows, arts and crafts shows, gun and knife shows, music concerts, dance concerts, a Hawaiian Luau, duck races, bike races, drag boat races, bowling tournaments, fishing tournaments, golf tournaments, tennis tournaments, diving championships, a sand castle competition, pet fairs, police olympics, tractor pulls, home tours, zookeos of pageants and yes, even a football game.

Say you want festivals? How 'bout square dance festivals, folk festivals, little folks festivals, bluegrass festivals, art festivals, fiddle festivals, a Scottish festival, a dairy festival, water festivals, polka festivals, Shakespeare festivals, jazz festivals, art festivals, The Great Texas Mosquito Festival and The Great Texas Flea Bite Festival.

There are cookoffs for barbecue, chili, hamburger, pinto beans, menudo, fajitas and more.

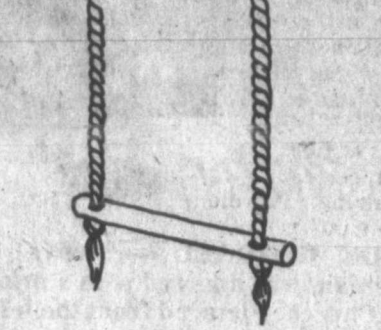

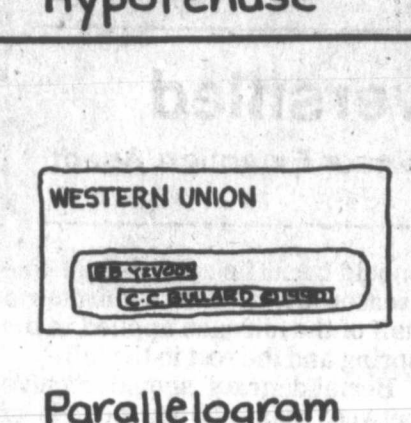

But cookoffs are only a side dish compared to the festivals and jamborees celebrating things that are edible: peaches, apples, cantaloupes, watermelons, berries, potatoes, corn, onions, crayfish, oysters, shrimp, lobsters, black-eyed peas, blueberries, blackberries, ice cream and oatmeal.

And since it's all in the name of fun anyway, the people of Fink hold National Fink Week. Finks from all over the United States congregate to the small community June 18-23.

And of course, there are rodeos on top of rodeos.

SDN Week in Review

SUNDAY

May 13

An article in Monday's paper reviewed results of state UIL athletic competition in which the Snyder High School girls' golf team won second place in the 4A tournament and junior student Katina Brandon was second in the discus with an effort of 127-feet, 3-inches.

It was noted in Sunday's edition that 108 associate degrees and certificates of technology were awarded during Western Texas College's 18th commencement exercises.

MONDAY

May 14

A delegation of 14 people appeared before Scurry County Commissioners Court Monday seeking reconsideration of the court's decision not to operate the public pool in Towle Park this summer.

Western Texas College board of trustees learned Monday that to approve a tentative budget could mean the threat of a rollback election and decided to schedule a special meeting May 23 to discuss the issue.

In separate articles Monday and Friday, it was announced that Ralph Williamson, installation and repair manager for Southwestern Bell, had accepted a new position with the company in Midland and that he would be replaced by Angel Gomez.

WEDNESDAY

May 16

The State Board of Nursing Examiners has given its approval for Cogdell Memorial Hospital to begin an Associate Degree in Nursing program.

It was announced in Wednesday's paper that Mike Banta, president of American State Bank here for the past 16 months, submitted his resignation to join Edward D. Jones and Co.

THURSDAY

May 17

Andy Anderson, Scurry County chief deputy for the past nine years, was honored as officer of the year by the West Central Texas Peace Officers Association.

Cody Stone was named valedictorian and Julie Harris salutatorian at Borden County High School.

FRIDAY

May 18

Sales tax rebates returned to Scurry County this month were up over last May's returns but down slightly for the City of Snyder, according to information from the state comptroller's office.

Country Life

By Deanie Francis Mills

The dented and dusty lid of the old trunk fell back with a cloudy clunk. We all gathered around like Indiana Jones viewing the Ark of the Covenant for the first time. Photographs and old letters littered the top tray. We weren't allowed to see all of them. (Some Aggie memories are best left in somebody else's mind.)

Then the top tray was lifted out along with a couple of pair of mom-made curtains for dorm room and first bachelor apartment. My husband reached beneath them and pulled out a cracked pair of black lace-up boots, still caked with mud. "I brought them back," he said with a shrug.

"From Viet Nam?" I whispered.

"Yep." He handed them over to me. Was it my imagination, or could I smell war?

To his son he made a present:

an old floppy green jungle hat, ringed about the band with odd little contraptions that resembled old beer pop-tops. Hanging from these were items which looked like small bobby pins.

"What are these?" asked the boy, his twelve-year-old eyes reverential.

"Grenade pins," Kent said simply.

"Like, from live grenades?" I squawked.

He nodded watching the eyes of his son round until the whites showed.

His daughter received a green fatigue cap with the black bar of the first lieutenant rank.

I got the oak cluster and the musket combat infantry badge, a parachute and oak cluster of the paratrooper (101st Airborne Division), and a gold A&M badge.

We all treasured our new possessions, hording them in new places of honor, in plain view for all to ask.

Later, at his son's request, my husband took the kids out for a moonlight exploration of the pastures. (No flashlights allowed except for emergencies. My nine-year-old daughter thought there were far more emergencies than her male companions, but they won out and she got tough.)

On the shadowy breeze porch I waited and listened as their voices faded in the darkness. After an hour, two excited children tumbled into the house. "We learned to walk without making ANY NOISE," claimed my daughter.

"Daddy showed me how to find my directions by the North Star," chattered my son, still dressed in his father's green jungle fatigue shirt, the new hat and his own camouflage pants. "Did you know that if you can't see something well in the dark, you can look slightly away and it will be clearer to you? After about twenty minutes, I knew my way around the pasture like the back of my hand, just like in daylight!"

"I stepped on a cactus THREE TIMES," my daughter added.

"I wanna be in the Army!" exclaimed my son. "You get to go exploring all the time."

"Well, not exactly," I told him. "You can't do whatever you want in the Army. They tell you what to do, you know."

He pondered this. "You mean, they might go exploring, but I'd have to do guard duty or something? Like that?"

"Like that."

"Forget it then." He left the

FIVE YEARS AGO

Some 46 of the 146 members of Snyder High School's graduating class of 1985 were announced as scholarship recipients during commencement exercises in Scurry County Coliseum.

SHS counselor Janet Wesson read the traditional list of honorees noting that the 46 seniors honored, constitute the largest percentage of a graduating class to receive scholarships. Total value of the scholarships was listed in excess of $50,000.

Western Texas College trustees unanimously approved a tuition hike effective next fall from the present $6 to $8 per semester hour for in-state students.

Three new additions were announced to the local AJRA planning committee.

New to the committee were Wayne York and Tim Riggan of Scurry County and Gary White of Borden County.

TEN YEARS AGO

Lake J.B. Thomas made its biggest catch in several years as heavy rains fell over Scurry and Borden Counties. The CRMWD reported that the amount of water impounded at the lake more than doubled as 14,000 acre feet of water poured into the reservoir.

The rains lead to local flooding and the closing of several city streets.

Snyder High School baseball team captured the District 3-3A championship. SHS accounted for six district titles during the 1979-80 school year including baseball, volleyball, boys and girls basketball, tennis and track.

Exxon Company announced the retirement of Senior Vice President Roy A. Baze effective Aug. 1.

Baze, a Snyder native, logged 33 years of service since joining the company in 1946.

Dr. Lauro F. Cavazos, then president of Texas Tech University, was the featured speaker during graduation exercises at Western Texas College.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Snyder Chamber of Commerce directors approved $10,500 for the annual Independence Day celebration.

It was the largest budget ever for the July 4 event which attracts thousands to Towle Park annually.

CD players offer superb sound

By the Editors of Consumer Reports

Since its introduction seven years ago, the compact-disc player has quickly earned pride of place in the home hi-fi system and for good reason. CD players deliver inherently superb sound quality.

Can such a near-perfect product get better? In some ways, yes. The price and selection have improved.

Store shelves are bulging with the widest selection ever — more than 550 models, including portables, players for the car and models that hold one CD or several at a time. Some models can play both CDs and laser video discs. You can even get a single-play model for as little as $150.

The basic choice in CD players is between a single-play model and a multidisc changer. Single-play models have the edge in price; a number of them sell for $250 or less. Changers tend to start at $350 and go up from there. Another advantage to single-play models is that they generally come with more features and controls. Changers, oddly enough, are more rudimentary.

The great boon to a multidisc changer is the amount of playing time it offers. Typically, changers can provide five to seven hours of music; some models can play as long as 11 hours. A single-play model can play about 70 minutes of music.

Changers hold the discs in a carousel or some form of magazine. A carousel, either in a slide-out drawer or under a dust cover, is the easier type to load. But you have to handle the CDs fairly often, thereby increasing the risk of smudging or scratching them. Magazines can double as storage racks for CDs, so you need to handle the discs less often. But they can be fussy to load.

Recently, Consumer Reports' audio engineers tested 28 models, both single-play and multidisc changers. All came with a remote control, and the prices ranged from $168 to $486.

The principal tests of these players showed how well they could handle some common adverse conditions and how quickly they could move from track to track. Most of the players, single-play and changer alike, could play flawlessly through moderate bumps — the thump of dancing feet or the bump of something heavy dropped next to the player.

Most machines moved from track to track quite speedily. Usually, it took a machine only three seconds to skip from track one to track nine on a disc. Most changers needed eight seconds to change discs.

The basic controls let you play a CD, pause in the middle of play, and shuttle through the selections on a disc to find the one you want. Changers let you skip from a track on one disc to a track on another. Other controls let you scramble the order of the tracks in just about any way you'd like.

When shopping for a compact-disc player, you should look carefully at the layout of the controls and displays. Are the buttons and knobs crowded together awkwardly or sized for Lilliputians? How easy is it to read the labels on the controls? Can you read the display from across the room or at an angle other than head on?

You can safely assume that just about any CD player will deliver excellent sound quality. Choosing a player, then, is a matter of finding one with the features you want and a price you can afford. But before you fall into the more-features-are-better trap, think about how you like to listen to music. Many people just pop a CD into the slot and let the machine play; they don't use the fancier features.

To our community:
Thank you, Scurry County, for so generously supporting May Day 1990. Your caring and giving attitude allowed Scurry County Senior Center to raise a gross amount of $26,635.74, of which $19,205 was from the auction. Without YOU, whether you were a donor, bidder or buyer, this would not have been possible.

The center serves a special part of our society, those 60 years of age or more. Participation in the center continues to rise. Center programs offer valuable support and companionship for those served. It is vital that we be able to continue these programs and once again, Scurry County folks, you have made it possible.
May we say "Thank You" again for your support of our annual fundraiser, May Day 1990. We look forward to seeing you on May 4, 1991, at May Day '91.

Straining can worsen hypertension

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 44-year-old male with hypertension. I've been lifting weights for the past 12 years with my doctor's approval, yet the media have recently stated that people with hypertension should refrain from this activity.

DEAR READER: Follow your doctor's advice.

Hypertension can be worsened by straining. Therefore, most experts agree that powerlifting or the strenuous use of weights is inadvisable for patients who have high blood pressure.

However, if you use relatively light weights and engage in repetitions, rather than relying on heavy weights for your workout, you're probably not harming yourself. In addition, when you lift, exhale; this way, you will prevent yourself from straining.

Make sure you describe your weight-lifting technique to your doctor. Depending on the seriousness of your hypertension, he or she may advise you to modify your training program or engage in alternative conditioning pursuits, such as swimming, bicycling, walking and other forms of aerobic exercise.

To give you additional information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Hypertension." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm plagued with bronchial congestion. I use inhalants, but they leave me with a dry mouth and irritated throat. Can you offer any suggestions?

DEAR READER: It's not clear from your question why you have bronchial congestion and why you use inhalants.

Asthmatics are often aided by inhaling aerosolized medication. However, the over-use of such therapy can cause dry mouth and throat irritation, as well as worsening of the asthma.

Bronchial congestion can also result from allergies (such as hay fever), tobacco smoke, industrial fumes, air pollution and infection (chronic bronchitis). Rather than addressing the cause(s) of the congestion — for example, giving up cigarettes — some people prefer to use over-the-counter inhalers, such as Primatene Mist, in an attempt to solve the problem. This practice rarely succeeds.

I urge you to be examined by a doctor to discover the cause of your respiratory symptoms. If you are asthmatic, your physician might prescribe pills to help your congestion — and discontinue the inhalers — to give your throat and mouth a rest. If you are not asthmatic, the doctor will suggest more appropriate therapy.

How cells send messages in the body

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

How do the body's cells communicate with one another? This question has tantalized research scientists because, until recently, the answer was unknown. If we were able to understand the basis of communication between cells, we could begin to unravel the complex mystery of why cells behave as they do, why some cells remain normal, while others mutate or malfunction to cause disease.

The basic pattern is deceptively simple. A signaling cell transmits a chemical message — usually a steroid, a peptide hormone or a neurotransmitter (such as acetylcholine) — that attaches to receptors on a target cell. These receptors are proteins specially designed to be activated by a single, specific chemical signal. When this signal interacts with the appropriate receptors, the target cell responds by performing its normal function, such as contraction or secretion.

This over-simplification is all well and good, but it fails to explain why the cells respond as they do. Scientists have now discovered a new and crucial piece to the puzzle. A class of membrane proteins, called G proteins, appear to mediate responses between cells by coupling receptors to other membrane proteins; the chemical combination activates the cell. Thus, a chemical signal, after binding to receptors, can initiate more than one response, depending on its reaction with the G proteins.

Let me illustrate this sequence of events with a practical example: whooping cough (pertussis). Pertussis bacteria excrete a powerful toxin that circulates through the body. It is a chemical signal, a protein that attaches to receptors on billions of the body's cells. However, depending on the presence of G proteins, the pertussis toxin causes varied cellular responses.

First, certain cells are sensitized to histamine (a natural chemical irritant), causing inflammation and swelling, the characteristic signs of infection.

Second, other cells — primarily in the nervous system — are activated by the toxin in a different way, resulting in violent coughing. This cough response appears to be mediated by a G protein that is unlike the one affecting histamine sensitivity. The cough of pertussis can persist long after the whooping cough infection has disappeared. It is due to toxin-initiated, G protein mediated nerve-cell responses that are unrelated to the actual infection itself.

Third, children with pertussis often experience periodic attacks of low blood sugar (hypoglycemia). Of particular interest is that hypoglycemia also affects some children after pertussis vaccination. This low blood sugar is due to an abnormal increase in the secretion of insulin from the pancreas. The natural (and deactivated vaccine) toxin interferes with G proteins on insulin-producing cells, uncoupling the normal insulin-release system, which leads to excess insulin levels in the bloodstream.

Therefore, at least three consequences of pertussis are directly attributable to the interaction of chemical signals with G protein on cells that appear, at first glance, to bear no relation to each other.

In addition, G proteins have been implicated in other diseases, including pseudohypoparathyroidism (a rare kidney ailment), some forms of mitral valve prolapse (a poorly understood, progressive weakness of one of the heart's valves), certain types of diabetes and growth-hormone-secreting tumors of the pituitary gland.

On a more mundane level, traveler's diarrhea — a ubiquitous complaint of visitors to underdeveloped areas of the world — is caused by the interaction of bacterial toxins and G proteins. This reaction promotes the rapid transport of water from the intestinal lining to the interior of the bowel, leading to frequent diarrhea that can, in some cases, cause profound dehydration.

Finally, although the role of G proteins and chemical messengers in heart disease is as yet unclear, evidence suggests that the interaction of these substances may alter the mineral balance in heart muscle, inhibiting cardiac muscle contraction and varying pulse rate.

In the next few years, breakthroughs in cellular biochemistry may provide new treatments for disease — as well as making G proteins a household phrase. For the present, however, we must be content to marvel at the complex workings of the human body and to put our trust in the brilliant research scientists whose goal is to improve the quality of our lives.

Flooding, wind damage reported in Pecos County

FORT STOCKTON, Texas (AP) — Some West Texas residents on Thursday night got a small taste of the flooding that has been plaguing the other side of the state.

Extremely heavy rain, large hail and high winds strafed several Pecos County communities causing scattered damage, said a jailer, who asked not to be identified.

"The flooding is pretty bad in Iraan," said the jailer, who was monitoring the weather situation from the sheriff's office. "We are in the process of blocking low-lying streets so no one drives into the water."

Fort Stockton, where the sheriff's office is located, didn't receive as much rain but was hammered by wind gusts of 50 mph or more, the jailer said.

"We had a report of a carport being blown into the middle of the street," he said.

There also was a window blown out of a muffler shop and several other homes sustained roof damage.

Flooding also was reported at Sheffield, but no updated information was available shortly before midnight.

"I lost communication with them," the jailer said. "A deputy was going out there, but he turned around because the hail was so heavy."

There had been no immediate reports of damage.

The jailer said officials will not be able to determine the extent of damage throughout the county from the heavy thunderstorm until daylight Friday.

"I never saw that boy so happy as he was in that jungle hat and shirt, skulking around in the dark." He gave me a bashful grin. "They're easy to please these days."

"They've always been easy to please," I said. "All it takes is a little time."

That's all it takes, sometimes, even with dusty memories that could use a good polishing. Just takes a little time.

DHS faces $36 million wage tab

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Department of Human Services officials expect that a federal ruling on overtime may add another $36 million to a budget deficit already projected at more than $200 million.

DHS Commissioner Ron Lindsey said he expects the U.S. Department of Labor ruling on overtime next week.

The six-member DHS board this week agreed to "strongly support" a legislative bailout of $95 million, far less than the projected $211 million shortfall. Officials said they hope to make up the difference by obtaining more federal funds.

In addition, DHS internal budget projections show the agency will need $700 million more in its 1992-93 budget and 3,700 new employees to meet congressional requirements and to serve a growing number of clients in existing programs.

Lindsey said a legal opinion issued by Attorney General Jim Mattox will prevent the agency from saving $10 million by delaying a program to provide Medicaid coverage to about 5,000 poor children under age 6. That money will have to be spent on schedule, he said.

Jesuit investigation hits stone wall

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Military stonewalling and lying obstruct prosecution of the slayings of six Jesuit priests, their housekeeper and her daughter, according to foreign sources following the case.

The Bush administration says the outcome of the case will be a major factor in future relations. Washington provides more than $1 million a day in aid to El Salvador, more than to any other country in the Western Hemisphere.

Judge Ricardo Zamora has been handling the case since shortly after the bodies of the six educators and two women were found Nov. 16 at their Central American University residence.

Zamora says there is not yet enough evidence to try the four army officers and four soldiers in custody. A ninth defendant is a fugitive.

President Alfredo Cristiani says there may not be enough evidence to convict Col. Guillermo Benavides, charged with ordering the assassinations. Benavides headed the Military College, from where the detail that killed the Jesuits set out.

The slayings came five days after leftist rebels launched their biggest offensive of a 10-year-old civil war. The right had long considered the six Jesuits Marxists.

Benavides is the highest-ranking officer ever indicted on human rights charges. Only one other officer has been indicted, and he has yet to stand trial.

Between 40 and 60 men took part in the killings, and several more likely knew about it soon afterward. But no military man has voluntarily come forward to testify.

"It's total stonewalling," said a source very close to the case who refused to be identified further. "It demonstrates eloquently the military's willingness to close ranks."

A European diplomat whose country has helped in the investigation said: "What we're dealing with is 'Omerta' — a reference to the Sicilian Mafia's code of silence. He and other diplomats also refused to be identified further."

The Salvadoran armed forces, the U.S. Embassy and a U.S. congressional panel agree someone is lying.

Earlier this year, U.S. Army Maj. Eric Buckland, who was attached to the embassy, informed his superiors that a Salvadoran colonel had told him Benavides was responsible.

The embassy confronted the Salvadoran military's chief-of-staff with the allegation — and named Col. Carlos Aviles as the informant.

Aviles later denied telling Buckland that Benavides was responsible.

Both Aviles and Buckland failed lie detector tests. Neither has been questioned by Judge Zamora, and Buckland has been transferred out of El Salvador.

Three lieutenants have admitted their participation in the massacre in testimony given Jan. 13-14 to U.S.-trained investigators. Two of those officers told of an explicit order from Benavides to kill the Jesuits. The case against Benavides is particularly weak. The colonel has been implicated only by co-defendants — the two lieutenants. In Salvadoran law, testimony from a co-defendant is inadmissible.

All three lieutenants reneged on earlier testimony when taken before Zamora Jan. 16.

Cristiani and Defense Minister Humberto Laros have pledged full support for the investigation.

Several members of the military Commission of Honor appointed by Cristiani in January to investigate the murders have testified before Zamora.

The head of the Special Investigative Unit, a separate police-led body, told U.S. lawmakers the honor commission questioned implicated soldiers who confessed.

That ostensibly was what permitted Cristiani on Jan. 13 to name the nine alleged culprits.

But the honor board members who have appeared in court this week said they limited themselves to reviewing evidence and to simply telling the soldiers to tell the truth.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Guard against inclinations today to look at developments through rose colored glasses. Wishful thinking should not be identified as optimism.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If an agreement you've recently negotiated has proven to be heavily weighted in favor of the other party, try to renegotiate it now. Time could make things worse.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Persons with whom you are involved will lose respect for you if you try to blame them for mistakes you make today. Accept the consequences when in error.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It might prove to be an unwise practice today if you poke your nose into another's complicated affairs. Your curiosity could get you involved in something you may regret.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Strive to put more emphasis on action today and less on evaluating. If you weigh and balance your alternatives too long, you might not even get out of the starting blocks.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you jump to conclusions today, it could make you very angry about something you totally misinterpret. Be sure you have all of the facts before you put your temper in gear.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your well planned budget could end up being just a scrap of paper today if you cater to your momentary whims. Extravagance might be your worse enemy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Take nothing for granted today, especially in a situation where you think you are holding all of the trump cards. When the hand is played, you could be severely disappointed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Don't believe everything you hear today, particularly if it is some gossip about a person you like but the teller doesn't. It may just be malicious fabrication.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Today if you get involved with friends who are in a better position to spend than you are, you might do something economically foolish just to keep up appearances.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If your focus is too self-centered today, it will greatly reduce your possibilities for achieving your objectives. In fact, associates might even try to thwart your efforts.

Don't get discouraged if your big plans are subjected to a few early snags in the year ahead. They should be able to survive these initial developments and come out OK in the long run.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try not to put yourself in a position today where you have to borrow funds from an outside source. You might get what you want, but there could be some undesirable strings attached. Major changes are ahead for Gemini in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Share endeavors today only with associates with whom you feel comfortable. If you link up with cool, unresponsive cohorts, the project could turn out to be a bummer.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Any duties or responsibilities you leave unattended will weigh heavily on your mind today. Do what you know you should do, even if it's not your first choice.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll be better off today passing up arrangements where you're compelled to cater to people you don't appreciate. Little of value will come of it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't put outsiders in an awkward position today where they might have to arbitrate a domestic disagreement between you and your spouse. They might not support your stance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Usually you're reasonably considerate when dealing with persons in subordinate roles. Today, however, you might treat such individuals as undesirables.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be on guard today so that a person you know doesn't attempt to manipulate you in order to gain her ends. Her methods are quite clever and you could be caught unaware.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your progress could be rather limited today if you fail to detach yourself from a situation that has been holding you back. Sooner or later you are going to have to sever this link.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you might have to deal with a disagreeable matter that in actuality, isn't really that bad. However, negative thinking on your behalf could make it so.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Unless you exercise proper control, an involvement with another today could end up costing you either financially or emotionally. Be very careful regarding with whom you team up at this time.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Use only methods and tactics you would want others to know about when pursuing your ambitious objectives today. Your procedures will not go unnoticed and they'll be graded by your peers.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There's a possibility you haven't yet learned a lesson you should have learned from a critical past experience. A mistake of a similar nature might be repeated today.

TU officials will play fine for N-plant

DALLAS (AP) — TU Electric officials have decided to pay a $25,000 fine stemming from apparent violations of U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission requirements at the company's Comanche Peak Steam Electric Station near Glen Rose.

"While we don't agree with the fine, we will pay it," TU spokesman Dave Fiorelli said Thursday.

The NRC announced Thursday its intention to levy the fine because it felt the company had violated requirements last fall during an employee dispute over deficiencies in the fire-retardant insulation at Comanche Peak.

An inspector, who was laid off, had raised questions about deficiencies in material being used to insulate electrical conduits and cable trays. Employees had been directed not to put the deficiency on non-conformance reports, the inspector told the NRC.

Eventually, the deficiencies were documented. But NRC officials said the dispute created a perception among employees that documenting deficiencies would place their jobs at risk. The NRC found, however, that the inspector who complained about deficient insulation was laid off as part of a workforce reduction.

The NRC said TU has made a management change in quality control and reiterated its company policy on the importance of finding and identifying deficiency conditions.

Dim future seen for rose growers

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — After December's killer freeze and recent record rains and flooding, the future is not looking rosy for East Texas rose growers and distributors.

Gone from Longview and Tyler street corners are most of the street vendors selling cut roses that usually appear this time of year.

Experts trying to determine the extent of the industry's losses disagree, but a $60 million estimate has been floated.

"When we did the freeze damage survey two months ago, we couldn't determine an exact dollar amount because some plants damaged in the freeze aren't due to produce for another year," said Sherman Clem, nursery specialist for the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Area growers caught with crops in the field when the freeze dropped temperatures to a record low 7 degrees below zero lost anywhere from 15-100 percent of their fields.

"It takes two years to grow a rose, so you have at least two crops in the ground in December, a crop of two-year plants ready for harvesting, and a crop of one-year plants in a delicate budding stage," said grower Derrell Cooper.

Cooper, a 33-year veteran of the rose industry, said he had crop damages of about $100,000.

"You just have to start over because you don't have any income when plants were within a few days of harvest and two years worth of investment ... is gone," he said.

Poor weather this growing season will affect crops through the 1991-92 harvest, Cooper said. He said the heavy rainfall this spring is an added deterrent to rose growth because it encourages fungus disease.

Mark Chamblee of Chamblee's Rose-Arama in Tyler said he lost about half of his crop, or about 20,000 bushes.

The company usually wholesales between 2,000 to 3,000 dozen cut roses every week to distributors as far outside the East Texas area as Austin, more than 200 miles away. This year, he won't be distributing at all.

"Mine is a small loss compared to many others," Chamblee said. "Roses, even the East Texas Hardy variety, can't take that kind of freeze. When you have a real bad winter, it will reflect in production for at least two years, and maybe three."

As for the future, Chamblee said, "Well, you just bite the bullet, let nature take its course and hope for three good years to improve production and build crops back up."

Documentary premieres in hometown

INDIANOLA, Miss. (AP) — A documentary of bluesman B.B. King's life, produced for the British Broadcasting Co.'s "Omnibus" television series, had its world premiere in his hometown. Proceeds from $10 ticket sales for the one-hour film will go to Indianola's parks. Nearly 100 people turned out for the film, which was shown at the Mid-Delta Arts Association theater. The film has yet to be broadcast in England.

PLAYGROUND INJURIES
Over a 4-year period, a record of over 300,000 injuries to pre-schoolers involved playground equipment. Falls onto hard surfaces caused most of the injuries. A 4-foot fall onto solid ground - even a 1-foot fall onto concrete or asphalt - can be fatal. With soft ground covers, such as cushioning mats, wood chips or sand, even an 8-foot fall may be tolerated.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Most of my guests use my personal bath towels to dry their hands, even though I have guest towels in plain view.

I recall some time ago you printed a poem in your column to encourage guests to use the guest towels. Would you kindly print it again? I want to frame it and hang it in my powder room.

ANNALEE BOSSON,
DES MOINES, WASH.

DEAR ANNALEE: The poem was written by Mabel Craddock of Ventura, Calif., who had grown weary of having her guests drying their hands on toilet paper, bath mats and even her curtains, leaving her pretty little guest towels untouched. Here it is:

A GUEST TOWEL SPEAKS

Please use me, Guest;
Don't hesitate.
Don't turn your back
Or vacillate.
Don't dry your hands
On petticoat,
On handkerchief,
Or redingote.
I'm here to use;
I'm made for drying.
Just hanging here
Gets very tiring.

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand one more letter about "drop-ins"? What does that idiot mean, "If we drop in, and see that they aren't happy to see us, we can always leave."

Now I've heard everything! What can these poor trapped people say when uninvited guests appear at their door?

"Gosh, I'm sorry, I was just cleaning my garage. My hair looks terrible and I don't have any makeup on, the house is a mess, I have no snacks, not even a soft drink in the fridge, I'm dead tired, and had planned on resting when I finished with the garage—give me a break!"

As usual, Abby, you are right on the money. There is absolutely no excuse for people dropping in without calling first. And just for the record, I did an office survey. We have approximately 200 employees in this office, and I circulated a "memo" throughout the place with the question: "How do you feel about drop-in guests?"

Not one person said they would be welcome. Several expressed the opinion that "drop-ins" should drop dead or drop out.

FORT LAUDERDALE, FLA.

DEAR FORT LAUDERDALE: It's official. The drop-ins lose by a landslide. Now you handful of folks who love to be dropped in on: Hang a "Welcome" sign on your front door. Be sure you have plenty of soft drinks in the fridge, chips and dips and cookies galore, and the world will beat a path to your door.

DEAR ABBY: What do parents do when their beautiful, college-educated, 23-year-old daughter becomes engaged to a high school dropout, and it's fairly evident that she is going to end up supporting him? Her father and I are heartsick about this relationship, and it's killing both of us.

We realize that parents must let their adult children lead their own lives, but how do other parents handle a situation like this without losing their children altogether?

You must have heard from hundreds of other parents who have been through this. How have you advised them?

MISERABLE IN MARYLAND

DEAR MISERABLE: I have said: "Don't bad-mouth the fellow. If you do, your daughter will try to defend him, and then it will be them against you. Don't make any predictions concerning the young man's future. You could be wrong."

"If the marriage fails, it's not the end of the world. Don't say, 'I told you so.' Just be around to pick up the pieces.

"Some people have to learn life's lessons the hard way, and your daughter could be one of them."

DEAR ABBY: Another night of sleeping with my back to my husband because of his bad breath and body odor, so I had to write to you. Some days are worse than others, but nothing that bathing and deodorant would not eliminate.

His excuse is that he is just too tired to bathe. In the past, I have tried to let him know in a loving way that the odor was offensive to me, but he says I am too picky and a nag. Abby, I am not picky, but he knocks me (not physically) with words, belittles me with put-downs and beats me up with his mouth, then he says he was "only joking" and tells others that I have no sense of humor.

We have two bathrooms with showers, and plenty of towels, soap, shampoo, toothbrushes, toothpaste and mouthwash. By the way, this man is no slob. If he is going somewhere else, no matter how tired he is, he gets cleaned up.

After years of holding my breath to have sex, I am convinced that my husband couldn't care less about me. I have never had sex with a man other than my husband. I enjoy sex, and am beginning to wonder how great it would be to cuddle and have sex with a clean-smelling man without holding my breath. It would also be nice to hear kind words instead of ridicule and criticism. Each year I'm getting older, and I would like to be young enough to enjoy it. What would you suggest?

AGING FAST

DEAR AGING: Surely, it must be obvious to you that this poor excuse for a man has no respect for himself — and even less for you.

You complain about having been brutalized and belittled by his cutting remarks and repulsed by his bad breath and body odor — which you have tolerated for years.

What would I suggest? I would suggest that you tell this selfish slob to either clean up his act, or you are leaving! Then I would make good my threat. I have no idea where you would go, or how you would live without him, but nothing could be worse than your present situation.

Commission chairman said pessimistic on track futures

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Racing Commission Chairman Hugh A. Fitzsimons Jr. says horse racing won't be profitable until lawmakers lower the state's take on wagering.

"We better recognize what our problems are and quit daydreaming," Fitzsimons said Thursday after two Class I race track applicants for the San Antonio and Dallas-Fort Worth areas said they needed additional time to file for licenses, in part to lengthen the search for financing.

The commission gave them an additional 60 days.

Across Texas, other would-be parimutuel race track owners are also struggling with financial problems that have delayed construction of most tracks and caused the only operating horse track — G. Rollie White Downs in Grady — to declare itself insolvent.

Reflections

THE CHARLEY CHAP HARLESS FAMILY, PLAINVIEW COMMUNITY, SCURRY COUNTY, TEXAS ABOUT 1910. Pictures identified as follows: Freddie Harless Crenshaw and her parents, Chap and Addie Martha Cotner Harless, are sitting in the buggy. Maude Harless Mitchell, sister of Freddie Crenshaw, is on the white horse. Others in the picture are Ben Harless, Claude Harless, Charley Harless, and Bob Harless. Freddie had the following to say about Scurry County: "We came to this old Scurry County and liked it so well that we decided to stay here." Upon arrival in Scurry in 1906, the family camped in the Plainview Community. "When the wagon was wet," she said, "we were all wet." Later the family moved to a half-dugout. Mrs. Crenshaw wrote the following in 1983: "I came to this wonderful country in an old covered wagon. Our Father in Heaven helped along the way. We had no house to camp in, just the cold, cold ground. We lived and cooked on the ground. Our days and nights were all the same - cold and wet - but we stayed warm by God's beautiful light. We would get in our wagon and come up here to town and tie our horses to the post which was on the square." Excerpted from Footprints. Courtesy: Howard and Bonnie Crenshaw, Snyder, Texas.
