Wreck injuries fatal to pioneer county resident

A 93-year-old Snyder man, J.C. Dowdy, sustained fatal injuries this morning in a two-vehicle accident west of Snyder at the intersection of U.S. 180 and FM 1611.

Dowdy, a retired employee of Von Roeder Seed Farms, died after the Ford pickup he was driving collided with a Grimmitt Brothers gravel truck operated by 71-year-old Virgil Allen of 207 24th St.

A resident of Scurry County for more than 92 years, Dowdy was pronounced dead at 8:35 a.m. at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Allen was being treated for minor injuries in the hospital emergency room and was expected to be released. Dowdy was taken to the hospital by Snyder EMS and Allen was transported to the hospital by private vehicle.

Dowdy was traveling east on U.S. 180, and the gravel truck was traveling north on FM 1611. DPS Trooper Don Massey of Mitchell County said the truck had stopped at the intersection and then pulled into the intersection into the path of the Dowdy pickup.

Dowdy retired from Von Roeder Seed Farm in 1987 after working for 31 years. During World War II, he had worked at the Fluvanna Gin.

At the March 31 chamber of commerce banquet, Dowdy was recognized as the citizen present who had lived in Scurry County

Snyder man wounded at former wife's home

A 36-year-old Snyder man was admitted to Cogdell Hospital Tuesday night after suffering a gunshot wound at his former wife's residence at 2306 30th St.

Moody Thomason of Route 2 in Snyder, was taken to Cogdell Hospital following the shooting which was reported at 9:20 p.m.

Police received the call from LouAnn Thomason, who reported that her husband had been shot. Thomason was taken to the emergency room at Cogdell Hospital.

He was admitted to the hospital and treated for a gunshot wound to his right arm and lesser wounds to his left chest and neck.

Police investigators said four rounds were fired from a .38 caliber pistol which was loaded with alternate rounds of a .38 slug and bird shot.

Thomason declined to file charges, but police officers said the incident could be investigated by the district attorney's office.

Western Texas sets summer registration

Western Texas College will hold registration for day and evening summer classes on Thursday, May 31.

Classes will begin June 4. Day classes will last six weeks, ending on July 12. Evening classes will last nine weeks and will conclude on Aug. 2.

Classes will meet Monday through Thursday, with no classes on Fridays.

Registration hours will be from 9-11:30 a.m., 1-4:30 p.m. and 6:30-7:30 p.m. in the admissions office in the Resource Center. Students must be present for registration and must have a Social Security number and current driver's license.

Students who do not have ACT or SAT scores will be required to take the WTC placement test.

Placement tests are scheduled at 9 a.m. on Wednesday, May 30, and at 1:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 31. This is a $10 fee for the placement test.

Students who have completed their junior year in high school may enroll for deferred college credit through the early admissions program. Permission of the student's parent or guardian and high school principal is required. Permission forms are available in the admissions office on campus.

Information concerning registration and courses on the summer schedule can be obtained by calling the college at 573-8511 during regular office hours. Offices on campus will be closed on Monday, May 28, in observance of Memorial Day.

WTC trustees set for special budget session this evening

Dr. Harry Krenek, college president, is expected to present a budget proposal to trustees today in a specially-called board meeting at Western Texas College.

The meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m. in the board room.

Trustees set the meeting at their May 14 regular session after learning a tentative budget could evoke the threat of a rollback election.

Krenak had told trustees during that meeting that a proposed budget of just under $6 million would leave a shortfall of an estimated $380,000 at current tax revenue, if trustees want to give raises. The current tax rate set by the college is .1964 cents per $100 valuation, leaving an effective tax rate of .1705. The college cannot raise taxes more than 8 percent over the effective rate without being subject to a rollback. An 8 percent hike would be .1841 cents per $100 valuation.

However, Dr. Krenek said this morning that one proposed budget he plans to show the board this evening does not exceed the 8 percent hike over the effective rate and would still include raises.

Trustees have voiced their concern that faculty salaries at Western Texas rank 48th out of 49 public community colleges in Texas.

Krenak said today that proposals include tuition fee increases of $2 for students living in the district and $3 for students residing out of the district. The proposed budget also indicates

Medrano is found guilty

A 5-man, 7-woman jury in 132nd District Court took only 40 minutes Tuesday afternoon to return a guilty verdict in the trial of 42-year-old Raymond Medrano Jr.

Medrano, 1900 Ave. I, was on trial for the attempted capital murder and aggravated robbery of Gilberto Jimenez of 1401 20th St. The jury found Medrano guilty of the Sept. 9 stabbing and robbery.

The jury got the case about 3:45 p.m. Tuesday following about an hour of closing arguments by District Attorney Ernie Armstrong and defense attorney James Clark.

The jury was to return at 1:30 p.m. today for the punishment phase of the trial in District Judge Gene Dulaney's courtroom.

Medrano faces a maximum penalty of 99 years or life imprisonment and a maximum $10,000 fine.

Medrano, who was indicted by a Scurry County grand jury on Oct. 2, was indicted the same day for aggravated assault of Ralph Torres. That charge is still pending.

Senate override effort falls short

AUSTIN (AP) — Despite the threat of a court-written school finance reform plan — and lapel buttons warning "Here come da judge!" — senators who back a vetoed reform bill failed in an attempt to resurrect the measure.

An angry and dispirited Sen. Carl Parker, bill sponsor, said he didn't know if he would try again to override Gov. Bill Clements' veto.

"Not unless some of the people who flaked off today come and ask me to," Parker said Tuesday. He abandoned an attempt to override Clements without a vote being taken, after an alliance of Senate Republicans and Hispanic Democrats opposed the effort.

"You're all playing your little political games and I'm sick of it," said Parker, D-Port Arthur.

He flung his microphone to his desk after withdrawing his motion to enact the bill over Clements' objections. The governor opposed lawmakers' plan to pay for school finance reforms largely through a half-cent sales tax increase.

"I care about little children that can't speak English, that are

SHS releases grid schedule for 1990

While Snyder High School moves into a new district for the upcoming school year, the varsity Tigers football team will see some familiar opponents, including an old rival.

The 1990 football schedule was released this week by Athletic Director David Baugh.

Snyder opens the 1990 campaign on the road Friday, Sept. 7, against the Lobos of Monahans — one of two former District 4-4A opponents the Tigers will play.

The home opener follows on Friday, Sept. 14, as Snyder entertains Clyde in Tiger Stadium. Snyder's next opponent will be Littlefield on the Wildcats' home turf in a Friday, Sept. 21 meeting.

The Black and Gold then enjoy a two-game home stand before opening District 2-4A competition. Snyder hosts District 4-4A defending champion Big Spring on Friday, Sept. 28, followed by the Seminole Indians on Friday, Oct. 5.

Loop competition begins Thursday, Oct. 11, as the Tigers travel to Lubbock to tangle with the Estacado Matadors. They return for consecutive district home games against Levelland on Friday, Oct. 19, and Lubbock Dunbar on Friday, Oct. 26.

The Tigers finish the regular season on the road, traveling to Friendship on Friday, Nov. 2, and to Lamesa in the revival of an old rivalry on Friday, Nov. 9.

What does Snyder football coach David Baugh think of the new schedule?

"Well, I'm not tickled to death to be playing on a Thursday night (against Estacado to open district play), but it's better than Saturday," he said.

All the varsity non-district games are scheduled for 8 p.m. kickoffs while the loop battles all commence at 7:30 p.m.

Q—If a child is 18 years old, does the district court have jurisdiction to consider child support?

A—Yes. Although normally child support would stop at age 18, the court may order it to continue if the child is still in high school.

MOSCOW (AP) — The government plans to call its first national referendum to seek public approval of an economic reform plan that could throw tens of millions of people out of work, Soviet officials said today.

First Deputy Premier Yuri Maslyukov told a news conference that the government believes it must have a clear indication of public support before instituting a program that will switch the country to a market economy.

Fight brewing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some members of Congress are telling President Bush he could face a heated battle if, as expected, he renews major trade benefits for China.

Lawmakers from both parties have criticized China's human rights record, since June 4, 1989, when Beijing massacred pro-democracy student demonstrators in Tiananmen Square.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A revision of government support for dairy farmers and new regulations for the seafood industry are being included in the 1990 farm bill.

The House Agriculture Committee completed work Tuesday on the key portions of its dairy section of the bill that will set government policy on agriculture for the next five years.

MADD: El Paso's arrest, conviction record very poor

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Drivers stand a better chance of avoiding arrest and conviction for drunk driving in El Paso County than in comparable counties, records show.

El Paso County trails Bexar (San Antonio), Travis (Austin), and Tarrant (Fort Worth) in DWI arrests along with misdemeanor and felony DWI convictions through 1989, according to the Texas Department of Public Safety and the State Office of Court Administration.

"El Paso is probably the softest on DWIs," said Ann Sledd Vigil, victims services coordinator for the state office Mothers Against Drunk Driving. "Especially since El Paso is the only large Texas county that still uses pretrial diversion. That shows El Paso certainly searched for ways to get DWIs off peoples' records — when other counties did away with deferred adjudication."

Deferred adjudication keeps first-time DWI convictions off criminal records after offenders complete non-jail sentences. Convicted DWI offenders do community service and take classes in exchange for clean driving and criminal records.

El Paso and Tarrant each have about 4,000 pending cases. Travis and Bexar each have about 7,000 cases pending.

"Those numbers on pending cases need to be questioned," said Nueces County prosecutor Dick Barry in Corpus Christi.

"These backlogs are due to two reasons: either prosecutors are not pushing cases or the courts and prosecutors are not pushing the defense attorneys to bring their clients to trial," he said. "It seems like El Paso is getting a reputation."

Only Tarrant recorded an increase in DWI arrests last year while Bexar and Travis had moderate declines in DWI arrests since 1987. El Paso had the largest drop in DWI arrests, from 3,823 in 1987 to 2,292 in 1989, according to state statistics. There were 5,033 DWI arrests in El Paso in 1985.

Tested as never before, flood control projects proved useful

DALLAS (AP) — A year's worth of rain in four months washed out crops, damaged homes and caused some $900 million in damage in four states, but experts say dams and levees built since 1950 prevented a far worse catastrophe.

Downtown Dallas, for example, probably would have been swamped by the Trinity River had five dams not held back 390 billion gallons of water — enough to cover Rhode Island under nearly 2 feet of water.

"This would have been the new flood of record," said Ron Ruffennach of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. "Our economists ... think $2 billion in damage was prevented in the Dallas area because of these water projects."

Instead, water was held back or channeled away from populated areas, and flooding in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana was confined mostly to rural, low-lying flood plains. In those areas, development is sparse, and agriculture and recreation are the only industries.

Exact counts of the damage are unavailable because many areas are still under water, and may remain flooded most of the summer.

So far, 76 counties in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas have been declared eligible for federal disaster assistance.

But as water recedes in most areas, officials say it seems clear that given the record volume of water, flooding could have been far worse.

"A lot of the area that was flooded was agriculture area and much less populated than other places. And particularly downstream, it's safe to say a lot of people received an early warning," said Lauren Chernow, a spokeswoman for the Texas Office of Emergency Management.

"There's no doubt it could have been a lot worse. The system worked as it was supposed to," added Carol Weathers of the Trinity River Authority.

In Louisiana, the Corps of Engineers, which operates flood-control dams, warned that 700,000 acres of land could be flooded. With cleanup operations under way, authorities count fewer than 110,000 flooded acres because levees held.

About 110 homes sustained damage in five counties, and counts from six others affected by flooding haven't been made, said Janet Merritt, chief of disaster services in Louisiana.

Only two counties in Louisiana apparently will qualify for a federal disaster declaration, she said. Agricultural losses are estimated at $7 million.

Elsewhere: — In Oklahoma, President Bush declared 13 counties eligible for disaster aid. One child was killed during storms, about 500 homes were damaged and highways and bridges sustained about $8 million worth of damage, officials said. No crop or livestock losses were reported.

— In Arkansas, 22 counties have been included in the disaster declaration, no deaths were reported, about 500 houses were damaged and agriculture losses were estimated at $4.8 million.

— In Kansas City, 206 houses were destroyed, 302 sustained major damage and 224 minor damage after flooding, which has also covered 800,000 acres of corn. Damage is estimated at least $5 million.

— In Mississippi, 345 houses have been damaged by flooding, and cleanup efforts are well under way.

— And in Texas, 13 people died because of the floods, which began April 15. So far, 41 counties have been made eligible for federal disaster aid, and the Federal Emergency Management Agency has received applications for aid from 3,473 Texas families.

Last year, 22 people died in flooding that made 89 Texas counties eligible for federal disaster assistance. FEMA paid out $35 million in aid last year.

"It's impossible to compare with last year at this time," said FEMA spokesman George Burgess. "We won't know for some time."

What officials do know is that flood control techniques, tested as never before because of the record volume of water, helped to lessen the impact of the torrents.

The flood problem began in January and February when heavy rains drenched the ground, National Weather Service hydrologist Ernie Cathey said.

"There was no place for the water to go," he said.

Record rains continued through April and into early May. Dallas, for example, averages 29.46 inches of rain a year. So far this year, the city has had 29.15

Bogus reps are bilking residents

HOUSTON (AP) — The U.S. Census Bureau, already busy trying to track down residents who did not return census forms, now is having to contend with bogus "census takers" who may be bilking residents out of money.

Some residents in the southwest section of Houston said they were approached by people claiming to work for the agency and demanding $50 in fines each for not returning census forms. Several said they paid the money.

The Census Bureau does not levy fines.

"What we worry about are the elderly and those people who are taken advantage of while trying to obey the law," said Vonette McBride, assistant manager for field operations in the Southwest district.

inches. The city experienced its worst flooding ever in 1906, when 184,000 cubic feet of water per second raced down the Trinity at Dallas. The second highest recorded reading was during floods of 1942 — 110,000 cubic feet per second.

But this year the peak was 82,000, and hydrologists estimate that if not for the dams holding back the 390 billion gallons, the flow rate would have topped 260,000 cubic feet per second.

Still, the work of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has come under attack in Arkansas where Gov. Bill Clinton has questioned decisions to release large amounts of Red River water upstream in Oklahoma. That water washed out fields in Arkansas and threatened to crumble a levee at Texarkana.

The corps is "taking a second look" at decisions made in Oklahoma and Arkansas after Clinton's complaints, Ruffennach said.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 34-year-old son has pityriasis, for which our doctor says there is no cure. What causes the disease, and are there any new treatments that are effective?

DEAR READER: Pityriasis rosea is an extremely common, harmless skin condition that usually causes consternation because it looks worse than it is.

The rash begins as a "herald" patch on the trunk: an oval, slightly raised, scaly lesion. Soon thereafter, other round reddish patches appear, often coalescing into large, irregular, slightly itchy areas that may cover the body and the extremities; the face is usually spared.

New lesions continue to appear for days or weeks. Finally, out of desperation, the patient seeks medical attention, only to be told that there is no treatment, be patient, the rash will eventually disappear. Lotions and creams often help the mild itching that accompanies this skin ailment. The cause of pityriasis is unknown. The condition is not associated with any disease and, once the lesions fade, they rarely return.

To give you more information about two other, more serious skin ailments, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Eczema and Psoriasis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: The doctor is positive my husband has ocular myasthenia, even though tests are negative. What is this disease, and will it lead to myasthenia gravis? When my husband gets fatigued, his eyes go out of focus and the lids droop.

DEAR READER: Myasthenia gravis is a disorder of nerve-impulse transmission, leading to muscle weakness that can be severe. The eye muscles are commonly affected, causing periodic double vision and inability to raise the eyelids. Patients may also experience trouble swallowing and speaking, as well as arm and leg weakness.

Ocular myasthenia is a subclass of the generalized disease in which only the ocular muscles are affected; the rest of the body is spared. I am not aware that ocular myasthenia will progress to the more serious myasthenia gravis. Both conditions are diagnosed by blood tests, electrical tests of muscles and the edrophonium challenge (intravenous administration of this drug leads to sudden, short-lasting improvement in myasthenic patients).

The treatment for the two conditions is similar: pyridostigmine (Mestinon) or neostigmine (Prostigmin). Both drugs relieve muscle weakness by re-establishing normal nerve transmission. Myasthenia can be difficult to manage. I believe patients with the condition should be under the care of experienced specialists, such as neurologists. In your husband's case, the neurologist will want to re-test him to confirm or disprove the doctor's tentative diagnosis.

Paying attention

By James Jacoby

This deal should cause even the best of us to do some soul-searching about our attentiveness at the table. After East's logical diamond overcall of North's very minimum one-club opening, South jumped to three no-trump. Although this was bull-in-a-china-shop bidding, an attempt at more sophistication would have resulted in the same final contract.

West led the heart jack and declarer played low from dummy, winning the ace. Declarer led a spade to dummy's king and a spade back to his jack, noting the fall of East's 8-9 as West won the ace. West continued the heart nine, and declarer played low from dummy. (It was quite plausible that East might have started with only three hearts to the king.) West carried on with the heart 10, East winning his king and cashing his seven as South threw diamonds. Next came the diamond king to South's ace. By this time declarer, having read East for five diamonds and four hearts, knew he would have to do some nimble stepping to take the rest. So he led the seven of spades. When West played low, declarer ducked in dummy and then played a club to dummy's 10. (If East had only two clubs, it was odds-on that the jack would be with West.) When that won the trick, declarer had the rest.

Well-played, but do you remember the opening remark about attentiveness? If West covers the spade seven with the 10, declarer has to win the trick in dummy. He is then in the wrong hand and can no longer play the clubs to take all four tricks.

Tents taken down; onslaught never came

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Immigration officials have shelved plans to put up to 10,000 Central Americans in tents at a South Texas detention camp, because the expected wave of asylum-seekers never materialized at the border.

Commissioner Gene McNary of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service visited the detention camp near Port Isabel in February and announced a "blitz" to discourage illegal immigration from Central America.

McNary said he was prepared to spend $11 million to hold up to 10,000 people in tents if necessary at the 347-acre Port Isabel Service Processing Center. The commissioner said the plan also included increased Border Patrol activity.

INS officials removed the tents last Friday, said Red Somerville, deputy director for the Harlingen INS District covering the southernmost part of the state.

"The apprehensions weren't there, so that's the reason we weren't using (the tents)," Somerville said Tuesday. "If the program works, we're happy."

David Trevino, with the U.S. Border Patrol intelligence office in McAllen, said the number of undocumented Central Americans apprehended in South Texas dropped shortly after McNary's crackdown announcement.

"The tents sent a very clear message," Trevino said.

Apprehension of undocumented, non-Mexican aliens, primarily Central Americans, dropped from 1,848 in January to 878 in March, and has continued to decline, Trevino said. McNary on Feb. 7 said his message was that, "We're not going to allow border crashing."

Some officials had speculated that civil war violence in El Salvador and uncertainty over the recent elections in Nicaragua would drive thousands of new immigrants northward.

But instead, the detention camp's population began to drop, the minimum-security facility's regular dormitories never filled up and the tents never were used. No extra Border Patrol agents ever were transferred to South Texas for the crackdown.

"Partly it could be because the people didn't leave El Salvador like they thought," said Robert Lang, an attorney with the American Bar Association's legal aid office for Central Americans in Harlingen.

Most aliens under INS detention are awaiting deportation or hearings before immigration judges.

There were 998 detainees, primarily Central Americans, at the camp on Feb. 7. On Tuesday, the camp held 823 people from various countries, including 317 Salvadorans, 134 Nicaraguans, 124 Hondurans and 78 Guatemalans.

Another 361 Central Americans were held Tuesday at centers for family groups and unaccompanied juveniles in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Those centers held 632 Central Americans on Feb. 7.

McNary said his crackdown was an effort to prevent a repeat of late 1988 and early 1989, when more than 50,000 Central Americans came across the border to apply for political asylum in South Texas. The Brownsville area is the closest U.S. point by land to Central America.

Political asylum is granted to those able to prove they are fleeing persecution in their countries.

Dignitaries lobby for hotel space during next summit

HOUSTON (AP) — Hotel rooms have been assigned for the dignitaries and their entourages planning to attend this summer's economic summit, but the task wasn't an easy one.

"It was a very positive hassle," said Philip von Hardenberg, general manager of the exclusive Ritz-Carlton, which attracted requests from nearly every delegation but the Japanese.

The July 9-11 meeting will be attended by officials from Canada, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, the United States, West Germany and a NATO delegation, creating a protocol nightmare.

"For us, it's like a big VIP group," Hardenberg said. "We do a lot of extra things for them: We teach the staff Italian, provide extra power, we're bringing in 30 extra fax machines and extra telephones and converting a lot of suites into offices."

"You have to understand the countries that will be here will be run out of Houston that week," Hardenberg said.

The Japanese delegation called the Inn on the Park the day President Bush announced Houston would be the site of the summit last December asking to book rooms, said John Blanton, director of marketing for the Galleria-area hotel.

"It's been kind of a frantic time," Blanton said. "There's been quite a bit of debate and politicking, in terms of people trying to get the most desirable place in town. And, of course, the Inn on the Park is one of those places."

The hotel is a frequent host to Japanese business interests in Houston since it caters to Tokyo travelers, offering an authentic Japanese menu and breakfast service. The Canadian delegation, however, will be staying at the Canadian-owned hotel.

reservations at the nearby J.W. Marriott Hotel.

"The Japanese delegation wanted the Inn on the Park as its first priority, but we are now quite happy with J.W. Marriott and the accommodations they are offering," said Japanese Consul-General Yasuo Hori.

The British won rooms at the Ritz-Carlton, but the Italian prime minister and a small entourage also will be bunking there. The remainder of the Italian delegation will be staying at the Wyndham Warwick, the organizers' first choice for the Italians.

Boxer Rocky Graziano dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Rocky Graziano, whose rise from "world's champion punk" on the streets of the Lower East Side to world middleweight boxing champion was chronicled in the movie "Somebody Up There Likes Me," has died.

Graziano, who put his dese's and dese's to work after his boxing career as a TV pitchman for products from yogurt and foot powder to dog food and auto mufflers, died of cardiopulmonary failure Tuesday at New York Hospital.

Hospital spokeswoman Diana Goldin gave his age as 71, but other sources listed him as young as 68.

He was hospitalized April 8 after a stroke. He had a heart attack in February.

Graziano's reign as middleweight champ lasted less than a year, but he became one of boxing's most popular figures. "Somebody Up There Likes Me" was a best-selling book that was made into the 1956 movie starring Paul Newman.

The wisecracking boxer later appeared frequently on television as a sidekick to comedian Martha Raye and in commercials.

Growing up on the streets of

New York's Lower East Side, Graziano learned to steal before he learned to read.

Born Thomas Rocco Barbella, the son of a former boxer who used the name Fighting Nick Bob, he ran with a tough crowd. Recalling those days later in life, he called himself "the world's champion punk."

At age 12, he was arrested for the first time after he was caught breaking into a subway gum machine. While on probation, he stole a bicycle and was sent on the first of three trips to reform school.

In 1939, a friend took him to New York's famous Stillman's Gym to see if he could put his street-fighting instincts to use in the ring.

When a seasoned pro named Antonio Fernandez beat up the 17-year-old, the kid swore he'd never box again. Two months later, however, he was back in the ring, this time fighting under the name of his sister's boyfriend, Rocky Graziano. He won the Metropolitan AAU welterweight championship.

"The AAU gave me a medal which I hocked for $15," Graziano recalled years later. "Maybe this is not so bad a racket after all, I think. I will give this a shake."

Graziano turned pro in 1942, and in his 11-year career had a 67-16 record with 52 knockouts. He was elected to the Boxing Hall of Fame in 1971.

Funeral arrangements were not immediately known.

DeLeon rips 'Rabbits 12-0

Brian Harris of DeLeon tossed a one-hitter against the Ralls Jackrabbits as the Bearcats coasted to a 12-0 2A baseball playoff victory at Moffett Field Tuesday.

DeLeon is slated to meet Wall, 8-4 winners over Presidio in another bi-district battle Tuesday, as post-season play continues.

The Bearcats got only six hits but took advantage of five Ralls errors and scored in four of the five innings.

The DeLeon club started out strong with a three run first inning as Clay Stewart singled and stole second before being driven in on a Greg George single.

Ralls hurler Rudy Salazar, saddled with the loss, balked home a score and another came in on a wild pitch.

The Bearcats lead grew to 8-0 in the fourth inning as DeLeon pushed four runs across in the stanza.

Harris struck out the side in the bottom of the fifth taking down Ulysses Zuniga, Ruben Hernandez and Ricky Martinez to end the game.

Snyder will host a Class 4A baseball playoff Thursday at 7:30 as Pecos and Brownwood battle in a post-season tilt.

Assistance centers are now open; flood areas expand

HARDIN, Texas (AP) — As flood victims lined up for Red Cross assistance, the swollen Trinity River continued to go out of its banks "into places it has never gone before."

Five Red Cross centers serving seven flood-ravaged southeast Texas counties began interviews Tuesday to arrange food deliveries, clothing, temporary housing, household furnishings, medical aid or other needs.

Meanwhile, Liberty city employees and volunteers are continuing their efforts to shore up a mile-long levee that had floodwaters going over the top in places, threatening the Travis Park subdivision's high-priced lakefront homes.

"There's no question that this is the worst bout with the river that people have ever seen," City Manager Roy Bennett said.

For two weeks, truckloads of dirt and sandbags have been hauled to the top of the levee, which has been raised about 2 feet in an effort to stay ahead of the floodwaters.

"But as soon as we get one low spot fixed, the waters seem to come over someplace else," City Secretary Beth Staton said.

Floodwaters already have backed up and sneaked around the side of the levee, threatening a two-story home, she said.

"Our crews are working their hearts out," Ms. Staton said. "We feel like it's been effective so far. If we hadn't done anything, it would have been washed out by now."

Red Smart was trying to keep water out of his Liberty home with a three-foot-high wall of corrugated tin, wood and plastic sheeting running 600 feet around his home, but floodwaters kept seeping into the yard.

Rising water actually came over a low portion of the wall Tuesday, but the 54-year-old electrical contractor and several friends scrambled to add planks to heighten the barricade and used pumps to bail the water out.

"I'm getting kind of tired, but I feel pretty good," he said Tuesday.

Smart said he doesn't have flood insurance because it's too expensive. The $3,000 he estimates he has invested in the wall and three pumps will be economical if it prevents several thousand dollars in repairs to the five-bedroom home he built himself six years ago, he said.

Curfews maintained by Israeli soldiers

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli soldiers today enforced curfews in the occupied lands, confining about 1.5 million people to their homes, and Palestinians observed a general strike to protest the killing of seven Arabs by an Israeli civilian.

Hundreds of police reinforcements, meanwhile, poured into Jerusalem to guard against unrest as Israel marked the 23rd anniversary of the capture of the Old City and surrounding Arab east Jerusalem from Jordan in the 1967 Middle East war.

Right-wing extremist groups staged marches to the walled Old City. Groups of armed youths wearing Jewish skullcaps marched around the eastern sector beginning early this morning.

No violence was reported early today. On Tuesday, Palestinians in the occupied territories and in neighboring Jordan took to the streets in escalating protests over Sunday's massacre of the seven Arab laborers.

some increased state funds for remedial education and reflects some additional tax revenue.

"One of the points we want to get over, is the budget will reflect a reduction in the tax rate if the board eventually adopts it," said Krenek, comparing the .1964 rate to a proposed .1841 rate.

Krenek said the proposed raises amount to about $136,000 and would include on the average a 4 percent raise for college employees, including administrative and maintenance employees as well as faculty. There would also be a 1 percent merit raise to selected employees.

Among the cuts used to get the budget lower were reductions in travel, both for students and staff; reductions in equipment purchases; reductions in funds for books and periodicals at the Learning Resource Center; and reductions at the senior center, museum and college farm.

"Nobody escaped. We scrutinized everything," said Krenek.

Krenek said the board may still want to consider increasing the tax rate and being subject to a rollback because taxpayers would still be paying less taxes than they are now.

Trustees will consider the new and previous budget proposals and direct the administration as to how the board wants to proceed.

not fed well when they come to school, and some of you don't care ... Let it be on your conscience," said Parker, chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

Parker said he initially thought he had the 21 votes required in the 31-member Senate to override the Republican governor's veto.

However, he met with opposition not only from Senate Republicans, but from Hispanics who said his bill didn't do enough to meet a Texas Supreme Court order to make more money available to poor school districts.

Sen. Hector Uribe, D-Brownsville, said it felt strange to be "voting with my Republican brethren."

But Uribe said he didn't think Parker's bill fixed the inequality that caused the Texas Supreme Court to declare the school finance system unconstitutional.

He said the measure still would allow wealthier school districts to raise local property taxes and so outstrip the spending of poorer districts — even with the $55 million in state aid that lawmakers want to put into the bill.

Three treated, released after city mishaps

Three persons were treated and released from Cogdell Hospital following two mishaps which occurred Tuesday inside the Snyder city limits.

At 7:17 p.m. at the intersection of 30th and College, a 1988 Ford driven by Noah Robert Clements of 3005 Ave. U was in collision with a 1981 Chevrolet pickup driven by Jerry Dean Holloway of 2010 26th St.

Clements, 79, was taken to the Cogdell emergency room by Snyder EMS where he was treated and released. Holloway, 33, was taken to the hospital by private vehicle, and he was also treated and released. Both vehicles had to be towed from the scene.

At 6:25 a.m. at the Park Village Apartments, an 82-year-old resident of the apartment complex was injured when his automobile backed over him.

He was taken to the Cogdell emergency room by a unit of the Snyder EMS.

A minor mishap occurred at 11:40 a.m. in the 3800 Block of College Ave. A 1967 Chevrolet driven by Larry Martinez of 1000 13th St. was in collision with a 1986 Oldsmobile driven by Misty Gordon of Route 2, Hermleigh. There were no injuries and damage was minor.

In other police activity on Tuesday, city police officers made two arrests. A 27-year-old female was arrested on a county warrant for theft of services, and a 30-year-old male was arrested on the access road of U.S. 84 for driving while license suspended. At 9:50 p.m. police also recovered a vehicle reported stolen from Lubbock.

At 7:57 p.m., police picked up three male juveniles who were reported setting fire to pine cones in the 2700 Block of 28th St. The juveniles were released to their parents.

At 2:03 p.m. Tuesday, Ronnie Morris of 1304 20th reported that a rifle had been stolen from his residence. Police were summoned to Snyder High School at 12:23 p.m. where a fight was in progress. However, none of the subjects wanted to file charges.

Debate on Disabilities Act turns to AIDS exemption

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate negotiators must decide whether the Americans with Disabilities Act can limit the employment rights of AIDS sufferers and still be regarded as landmark civil rights legislation.

The House voted 403-20 Tuesday to pass the disabilities act. The act guarantees the millions of disabled Americans equal access to jobs, businesses and services, transportation and telephone service.

Three Democrats and 17 Republicans voted against the bill.

Except for an amendment letting employers remove workers with "contagious diseases" from food-handling chores, the House bill closely resembles the Senate bill that passed last September on a 76-8 vote.

The bill, which has White House support, has been hailed as the most significant piece of civil rights legislation since the 1964 act that opened doors to blacks and other minorities.

"We have just assured that 43 million Americans who suffer from a disability but who have great abilities, if accommodated, will be included in our American society," said Rep. Steny H. Hoyer, D-Md., lead House sponsor.

"This is landmark legislation which extends civil rights protections to those with disabilities," said Steve Bartlett, R-Texas, who managed the Republican debate on the bill. "It is legislation that is 20 years overdue."

Both agreed that a bill would likely be ready for Bush's signature before the July 4 break. But Bartlett and Hoyer disagreed on whether the final version will include the food-service workers amendment, which was sought by the restaurant industry.

"When the facts are known ... the Senate may not feel it is necessary," said Hoyer, who attributed the amendment's passage to misunderstanding of the protections already offered in the bill.

"My view is that the Chapman amendment needs to survive" the House-Senate negotiations, said Bartlett. "Either the Senate can include it or the House can revoke it. ... I think everybody understood it really well."

Bartlett was referring to the 199-187 vote Thursday on an amendment by Rep. Jim Chapman, D-Texas. The amendment would let employers reassign a worker with an infectious or contagious disease so that worker wouldn't handle food.

Both sides agreed that the amendment was intended to address irrational public fears about AIDS.

"This Congress should not license discrimination of any kind," Rep. John Miller, R-

Wash., said last week. He said the same argument about public perception was used to justify discrimination against blacks.

Memorial Day's birthplace dedicated to original meaning of nat'l holiday

WATERLOO, N.Y. (AP) — Memorial Day for many means picnics, beach outings and the Indianapolis 500. And that bothers people in this village that claims to be the holiday's birthplace. People in Waterloo take Memorial Day seriously.

"The meaning of the day's been lost," said Joseph C. Donahue, a retired postmaster and World War II veteran. He is co-chairman of the Waterloo Memorial Day Committee planning next year's 125th anniversary observance.

"Nowadays, Memorial Day is thought of as a reason for a three-day weekend. A day for boat races, fishing derbies, marathon races or fireworks. There's a lot of activities, but nothing that really has to do with Memorial Day."

It's difficult to say exactly where Memorial Day was first observed. Southern communities like Columbus, Ga., and Columbus, Miss., began paying tribute to their war dead by decorating graves as the Civil War wound down, said Ruth Sentner, curator of Waterloo's Memorial Day Museum.

Carbondale, Ill., held a community observance for its Civil War victims on April 29, 1866.

Six days later, all businesses in Waterloo closed for the day while local citizens honored the war dead.

Women prepared wreaths, crosses and bouquets for each veteran's grave, said Sentner. The community was decorated with flags at half staff, and veterans and townspeople marched to martial music to the three village cemeteries.

Waterloo adopted May 30 as the observance date in 1868 when the commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, Gen. John A. Logan, established that day for the national observance of Declaration Day.

The American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars say Congress' decision in 1971 to shift Memorial Day from May 30 to the last Monday in May — so workers can enjoy a long weekend — diminished the holiday.

Rain kills crops, cattle in North & East Texas

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — While farmers wade through water and mud left in their fields by record flooding in North Central Texas, growers in South Texas and outlying areas are finding the rains cooperative. "This is easily the best-looking crop we have had in three years," said Darrell Smith, Uvalde County agriculture extension agent. "Our crops are nourished and we have put much less in them because our water costs are almost nothing." Smith said 2 inches of rain in Uvalde Monday night lifted the season total since January to 12 inches, 4 inches above normal. All of the 20,000 acres of corn and 15,000 acres of cotton projected for this season in the county have been planted, he said. Grain sorghum, hay, grass and vegetables are also on schedule, Smith said. Rains in the High Plains, the nation's largest cotton producing region, have crops in good shape heading into the West Texas hail season, officials said. Lance Keith, a spokesman for the Texas Department of Agriculture in Lubbock, said about 280,000 of 300,000 acres of the region's cotton are planted and beginning to sprout. "The rains have been very beneficial," Keith said. "Barring any major hailstorms, we should be in good shape." But farmers in counties crossed by the Red and Trinity rivers in North Central and parts of East Texas continued to watch their crops and cattle wash downstream today in the worst flooding in nearly a century. "It's terrible, simply awful," said Ed Lepley, Bowie County agriculture extension agent. "Many farmers will never recover from this." Record rains have pounded the region, causing lakes and dams to overflow into low-lying flood plains. Heather Ball, a TDA economist, estimated Tuesday the state's crop and cattle losses to be over $300 million. Officials released water out of Lake Texoma on the Texas-Oklahoma border at around 150,000 feet per cubic second over the past week to alleviate levels exceeding the lake's control spillway. "That water has some of our fields under 10 feet of water," Lepley said of Bowie County, which borders Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas in the northeastern corner of Texas. "Maybe five percent of our wheat crop will survive. Everything else is dead." Lepley said more than 1,000 head of cattle in Bowie County have disappeared in the Red River downstream of Texarkana. Most are presumed dead. Other herds are stranded on pockets of dry land but may not be reached before they die of starvation, he said. TDA officials, members of the National Guard and some local ranchers were able to airlift 150 head of cattle to safety, he said. Lepley estimated the crop and cattle damage in Bowie at about $11.8 million, but said many farmers will not be able to collect insurance for their losses.

Issue of Bedroom Privacy Divides Husband and Wife

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Paul (not his real name) and I have been married for two months. Paul is 35 and I'm 27. This is my first marriage. Paul was married briefly in college and has a 14-year-old daughter who lives with her mother in another state. His daughter is coming to spend the summer with us. She's a sweet girl and I like her, but Paul has told me that while his daughter is here we will have to put our lovemaking on "hold."

At first I thought he was kidding, but he explained that he has this "little hang-up" — he can't perform sexually unless he has total privacy, which means there can be nobody in the next room, or even in the same house! I tried to tell him that it's perfectly normal for married people to make love, and it shouldn't matter whether somebody is in the next room or not. Paul can't understand why I don't accept his little hang-up, but I'm losing sleep over his obsession for total privacy because it may be indicative of other little hang-ups I don't know about. Besides, we're still honeymooning.

Your opinion, please.
LOSING PATIENCE

DEAR LOSING: Paul could have been "surprised" during lovemaking at some time in his life, which may account for his obsession for total privacy. However, asking you to put your honeymoon on hold for the entire summer is expecting too much.

For his sake and yours, Paul should seek counseling from a psychiatrist or sex therapist in order to hang up this "little hang-up" once and for all.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "From Connecticut" who complained about screaming babies on airplanes. I have a feeling we've met before, and here's why:

While stationed in Wyoming with the USAF, my family had to fly to Connecticut for an emergency. The flight took all day, and we had to change planes twice. My husband took charge of our 2-year-old daughter and I carried our 5-month-old son in my arms. The baby began to scream the minute we took off. I did everything I could to calm him, but he continued to scream as though he were in terrible pain. I gave him infant pain relievers, his bottle, pacifiers — I walked and walked him, sang endlessly, jangled donated car keys before him, made faces, and even gave him a lollipop to suck on — and I don't normally give sweets to children. I did everything I could think of to quiet him, but to no avail.

Most passengers were sympathetic. One very kind woman even took a turn walking the baby for me. I received some angry glances from a few irritated passengers, which made me feel terrible. When we landed, I took my sweaty, exhausted, crying baby into the ladies room to change his diaper. A woman who had been on my plane said, "I don't know where you're going, but you have no business taking that baby on an airplane!" I was too shocked to reply. Then tears welled up. I was on my way home — to bury my mother.

STILL GRIEVING IN PA.

Homeport supporters, official with cutback authority meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Boosters of the Ingleside Homeport downplayed a threatened lawsuit as they lobbied to save the naval base from the Pentagon chopping block. A group led by Corpus Christi mayor Betty Turner met Tuesday with Deputy Defense Secretary Donald Atwood, who is preparing a list of military construction projects that may be discontinued. "While he was certainly not willing to commit at this point what he intends to do, I think he was extremely receptive to our presentation," Ms. Turner said.

The group Monday released a memo from the South Texas Homeport Project that said a lawsuit might be necessary to recover local investment in the project if the military axes the facility before completion. "Nobody's advocating a suit," Ms. Turner said. "We're here to get funds released to save the project," said Tony Bonilla of the Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce. On May 1, Defense Secretary Dick Cheney extended a three-month moratorium on new military construction until June 15.

That freeze includes $25 million to complete the homeport in Ingleside, north of Corpus Christi. In addition, Cheney asked Atwood to prepare a list of construction projects that may be cut. Cheney himself suggested cutting 207 projects, including all the Navy homeports under construction in the Gulf of Mexico. The delegation doesn't want to see the homeport on Atwood's list, due next month. "If it is on that list ... then our work is cut out for us in Congress," Ms. Turner said.

Mexico's leader to seek free trade agreement

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Carlos Salinas de Gortari has accepted legislative recommendations for a free trade agreement with the United States fashioned after a trade accord between the United States and Canada, but economists and advisers said such an agreement isn't likely to happen any time soon.

Salinas said Tuesday he would study a list of 52 senate recommendations with an eye toward integrating Mexico in the changing economic world.

"Mexico will not be left out of the new world configuration. The speed of the changes requires decisive answers on all fronts, in all markets," Salinas told 55 senators at the presidential residence.

The recommendations advise Salinas to take advantage of Mexico's strategic location next to the United States to expand trade with Pacific Rim countries and Europe.

"We have given the president a broad mandate in all foreign trade relations," said Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairwoman Blanca Esponda.

President Bush, meanwhile in Washington, D.C., addressing a U.S. business group interested in promoting Latin American trade, said the United States would do all it could "to ensure the future of free markets in the Americas."

Mexican Commerce Department adviser, Jaime Zabludovsky, denied reports that a partial free trade agreement would be signed when Salinas and Bush meet June 10-12.

The goal is for an agreement like the U.S.-Canada accord, which was proposed in 1985 but not signed until last year.

"The recommendations will be the framework in which ... my administration will carry on Mexico's trade negotiations," Salinas said.

The 64-member senate is the only authority that must approve presidential agreements with foreign countries. Its recommendations were based on trade strategies proposed by academics, entrepreneurs and politicians in seven forums sponsored by the senate at Salinas' request.

"The majority of the participants said that one of the main advantages of free trade agreement between Mexico and the United States, would be a greater flow of foreign investment to Mexico due to the unbridled access to the U.S. market that Mexico would have," senate president Maximiliano Silerio Esparza said in reading recommendations to Salinas.

The recommendations were based on hopes of permanent access to the U.S. market and lowering U.S. trade barriers on agricultural, textile and cement products, Silerio Esparza said. He said the recommendations include a transition period to let Mexican industry change to survive an onslaught of American goods onto the Mexican domestic market.

Until recently, high Mexican tariffs kept out many American goods or made them more expensive than similar Mexican products. Because of a lack of foreign competition, the prices of Mexican products were in some cases artificially high.

Mexican industry began feeling the pressure from lower-priced imports after Mexico joined the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade in 1986.

Salinas agreed to Senate recommendations that Mexico stop short of seeking an economic union with the United States of the type planned by Europe for 1992.

He said such union "is not compatible with the national objectives of sovereignty that we will always defend."

War with Japan ended officially in 1952 when a treaty that had been signed by the United States and 47 other nations took effect.
